Hoppner makes Wayne stop

WAYNE - Pender native Bill Hoppner D-Omaha, is highly critical of the leadership Gov. Kay Orr has shown during her four years as Nebraska's governor.

That's part of the reason he's running for governor.

Hoppner, who made a campaign appearance in Wayne Saturday, April 14, said Orr has shown faulty leadership time after time and he thinks the state deserves better.

"I think there's been one series after another of failed leadership, like educational funding," he said. "The legislature worked on the bill for 50 days and she doesn't respond. For the state, and Wayne County, it's important to have good education. The governor's got to see areas of the state rather than just Omaha and Lincoln and involve people in the government."

He said since he is a Pender native, he understands the values of the rural area and he is prepared to lead the state into the 21st century.

"I believe Nebraska is at a crossroads and we need to make some long-term decisions," he said.

"I'm prepared to work with them in that effort. I have 12 years experience representing the state with Kerrey and Exon in Lincoln and Washington, so I know the state's needs."

RETURNING TO HIS previous claim that Orr has not led Nebraska accordingly, Hoppner said without hesitation that he would have signed LB 1059 into law. He said Orr's veto of LB 1059 was a perfect example of her failed leadership.

"What she's done is waited until the end to involve herself in the bill," Hoppner said. "She's made it so how does it benefit the taxpayer. Before, there were big winners and big losers of the way the schools were being financed and now it's much more equal. It's a bill that's not just for the taxpayers but for the kids."

Hoppner focused his disapproval of Orr's leadership on LB 1059. He said the state's education funding system needs restructuring as well as improvements in educational services.

"A governor needs to see the uniqueness of northeast, southeast and the panhandle of Nebraska and help people in those areas for economic development," he said. "You can't sit in Omaha and Lincoln and think what's happening there is sufficient."

He said he will reach beyond Omaha and Lincoln to work for the entire state.

Second in a series Support groups lend caretakers hope

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a three part series dealing with the effects of Alzheimer's disease.

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

For the caretaker of an Alzheimer's patient, there's an emptiness — that of being trapped in their own home as the care provider and as they have to watch their loved one deteriorate.

But there is hope. The care provider can find support groups or counseling. According to Peg Wheeler, social worker for the League of Human Dignity in Norfolk, support groups in northeast Nebraska exist in Wakefield and Norfolk but not in Wayne.

"Support groups are (primarily) for family members, so they don't feel alone," she said. "The care provider can go to professionals, but professionals don't know what they're going through. For that reason, it's important to have a support group nearby."

Support groups offer Alzheimer's caretakers more than a way to learn about the disease, which gradually short-circuits the victim's brain by destroying the cortex, but it provides an emotional network of friends experiencing the same feelings. It's a network that providers can rely upon, she said. "We need to make the providers understand what's going on

Wheeler said. "Support groups are for family members or friends of Alzheimer's victims or those with a related disease. It provides them with some help to deal with the emotional trauma they're required to experience."

PROGRAMS ARE modeled after the Alcoholics Anonymous groups which gained momentum in the late '70s and early '80s. According to Menter, Henry Community Hospital in Norfolk is an organizer of some of the area's support groups, there is a need to model a support program for caretakers of Alzheimer's patients.

Progress being made for Wayne

WAYNE - Efforts are being made to develop an Alzheimer's support group in Wayne.

According to Peg Wheeler and Ann Wittwer, of the Home Health Care Agency in Wayne, there is interest in a support group for families which have members suffering from Alzheimer's.

The Wayne Ministerial Association has proved a grant application which would cover the cost of a home care agency, according to Wheeler. She said the grant's deadline is May 1 and it would be for one year. If the grant is approved, it would provide respite care, which provides relief for the main caretaker; personal care attendants, which would work on a regular schedule; and additional hospice care for terminally ill patients.

According to Menter, once a patient is diagnosed with Alzheimer's, and Respite accepts the diagnosis, Respite workers will provide some hours of relief during the week to the caretaker.

"Until just recently, we haven't seemed to have the interest in an Alzheimer's support group," she said. "The problem is that not enough doctors and nurses are willing to get involved."

She said Peg Wheeler is trying

Sholes school to close Rural area schools face big decisions

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

closure will not affect the Wayne County tax rolls.

Things aren't looking that promising for area rural schools. According to Wayne County Superintendent Harry Mills, when Sholes closes its doors at the end of the school year, it may be for the last time.

Such is the case with the District 47 school five miles east and one mile south of Wayne.

Mills said the Sholes school will close at the end of the school year and its students will be transported into Randolph, while District 47 may close, depending on a decision following a meeting Wednesday night of its board. Results of the meeting were not available at press time.

Mills offered no comment about the Sholes closure since its students will be transported into Randolph. He said since the students will be going into Cedar County, "it's a Cedar County problem."

Currently, approximately 10 students attend the Sholes school and three are registered for enrollment in District 47 for the 1990-91 school year.

According to Neil Kluever, superintendent of the Randolph schools, a petition was circulated to have the Sholes school join Randolph in the fall of 1990. He said it represented 100 percent of the Sholes district.

Mills added that the Sholes closure will not affect the Wayne County tax rolls. IN DISTRICT 47 in Wayne County, Mills said students will have the option of transferring to the Wakefield schools, the District 57 rural school or the Wayne Community Schools, if the closure occurs. He said right now the District 47 board has three options.

"They can hire a teacher for next year, contract with another school for their children or they can close it," Mills said. "If they close it, the patrons of the school can decide where their children can go."

He added that two of the board's members recently resigned for undisclosed reasons. He also said the three teachers presently in the District 47 school were not given contracts for next year.

Mills noted, too, that neither the Sholes closure or the District 47 closure is anything like the recent decision to close the Hoskins school. That case is presently in court. Mills said Sholes and the District 47 schools have followed proper procedure.

In addition, Mills said the closure and potential closure are the result of difficulties experienced in rural schools. He said closures may be a thing of the future due to LB 259, which requires accreditation for all rural schools and forces schools to affiliate with K-12 systems by 1991.

AUCTION GOERS take a close look at items they may be interested in purchasing. Above, Skip Kinshlow looks over a propane torch kit which he is interested in bidding on during a recent auction held at the Wayne City Auditorium. Auction goers seem to attend for a variety of reasons, according to local auctioneer Stan Baier.

Baier: Auctions are like 'playing poker'

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

"You look for quality," he said, as he looked over a tool kit. "I want to make sure it's good enough to buy. I'm not an antique buyer or a collector but I like to see what other people have."

Gamblers take note. If you want something back for your money, try auction bidding.

"Most of the time you can see it in a person's eyes," said Stan Baier, auctioneer and partner in Lage-Baier Auctions. "Some people will jump up and down because they're the last bidder and others won't show much emotion at all. It's about like playing poker but with different personalities."

Competition is a big part of auctions. Like poker players sitting around a table betting on their hand, auction bidders gauge their opponents much the same way — either by bluffing or by having the best hand.

"Sometimes they'll see the other bidder and give more than they intended to do because of the person who's bidding," Baier said, "but sometimes it will be a friend they're bidding against, so they'll stop bidding."

Then their elementary-age daughter Lisa said, "We look for toys, too."

According to Baier, auctions are unique because of the cross section of society they represent. He said you'll see anyone from the very wealthy to the very poor at auctions and that's representative of American society.

"It's an interesting study in people," he said. "You can't put it in a box and say 'this is how they'll react.' I'm never bored at auctions and I've been doing them for 23 years. They all aren't a complete hope," she said. "I know that's a cliché phrase but you need that when you're dealing with a relative who has this chronic illness."

MEIERHENRY SUGGESTS that it's a good idea to build a support group the same way you'd grow a plant.

"A group needs to have a facilitator who will get out notices to those interested in the program. It's important to have the meeting meet regularly at the same place and at the same time and if it's important enough for those who are interested, they'll make time to be there," she said.

Progress

to get a support group restarted in Wayne since the last one failed about four years ago.

More problems exist with Alzheimer's caretakers. According to Witkowski, some will accept the diagnosis while others won't.

"They'll grasp for straws and they'll look for a different doctor to see if there's another diagnosis," she said. "It's such a gradual process that when do you ask for help? There's a lot of decisions going on and care providers are looking for answers that we can't give. It all works together better if support groups are there to answer some of the questions."

For more information about possible support groups, you can call the Wayne Care Centre at 375-1922 or Home Health Care Agency in Wayne at 375-3800.

"People come initially for information but if their information, or education, needs are met, they'll stop coming. Then, you need to expand to meet all of their interests so they'll keep coming."

Wheeler added that as a facilitator, it's important not to get too emotionally involved. She said "if you do, it could put a strain on the success of the group."

She also said that a support group provides caretakers with discoveries which help them understand the decline of an individual.

"It makes you feel sad, depressed that this is happening," she said. "But there's a hopefulness because there's a support group there."

Mark'n' the Spot

by Mark Crist

I don't know about you, but I'm not real wild about the prospect of having nuclear waste transferred through my neighborhood. Such is the case in Boyd County.

I don't know if you had a chance to read the transcript from ABC's Nightline, which appeared in the Nebraska Edition of the Tuesday, April 10 Omaha World Herald, but I hate the idea that nuclear waste could be travelling through Wayne, America or could even be stored nearby.

Of course, then again, Pluto is too nearby for my likes. The problem with developing a nuclear arsenal or having our homes heated by nuclear energy is nuclear waste. It's hazardous and no matter what the government officials say, it's downright dangerous to have it transported, let alone stored where, if it leaked, it could destroy one of northeast Nebraska's most treasured natural resources — it's underground water supply.

WE COULD SAY let's blame Gov. Kay Orr for this mess but that can't really be substantiated since it was the now-Sen. Kerrey who authorized Nebraska's interest in a nuclear waste site facility when he was Nebraska's governor.

Kerrey may have all the charisma in the world and he may be a little like Jack Kennedy, but his policies as governor have proven as faulty as Kennedy's were in his relations with Cuba.

Let's forget politics for a moment, however, and take a look at the potential threat that facility could result in.

A good place to start would be Rocky Flats near Denver. For years and years, Rockwell said it was doing a good job of safe management of the facility.

Then people began to get sick and the fingers were starting to be pointed at Rocky Flats as the contaminant.

Of course, though, Rockwell said it was doing a good, safe job of management.

The more reports of problems with the area's residents health began to surface and the health problems didn't go away.

Following a government report initiated by Rep. Pat Schroeder, D-Colo. (yes, she's the one who cries on command when she decides not to run for the presidency), it was found Rocky Flats was contaminating nearby groundwater and not enough was being done to make sure the waste removed from the plant was safe.

Guess what happened next? Employees got sick.

Is this what we want happening in Boyd County? Sure, maybe it's not a nuclear plant like Rocky Flats, but it has the same type of waste as Rocky Flats produces.

I don't know about you, but I don't want to be drinking that in my morning cup of coffee. Heck, the caffeine is bad enough.

AUCTION GOERS represent a wide range of ages, Baier said. Usually the people selling items are those who are retiring or elderly moving into a smaller home, so there's a need for the excess. Baier said there's usually younger bidders for everything.

"Some come because they like auctions and others come because they want something," he said. "It's just a nice mix of people."

Kiwanis to play host to LEAD program

WAYNE — The AgriBusiness Council of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce will be co-hosting the LEAD program at the Wayne Kiwanis Club meeting on Monday, April 23 at 12 p.m. at the Black Knight Restaurant. Cost for the luncheon is $3.25.

two-year program offering intensive study and travel for future leaders in agriculture. It is designed to increase knowledge and understanding of economics and social changes affecting agricultural and rural areas.

Nebraska's largest industry — agriculture — plays a profound and overriding role in every phase of Nebraska life, according to Linda Smith of the Chamber office. Thus the development of agricultural leaders as effective spokespersons is one of the areas greatest keys to success, she added.

The program provides an opportunity to develop knowledge of organizational decision-making processes and the role of political institutions.

"It will help you develop a greater sensitivity to the needs of all society," Smith said. "It will encourage and facilitate practical application of leadership skills in order to represent agriculture at all levels."

"Ensuring that leadership cannot be left solely to chance, it calls for a solid program to develop leadership on an on-going basis," Smith said. "It calls for a practical program. That program is LEAD" (Leadership Education/Action Development).

If you are an agriculturalist between the preferred ages of 25 and 40, and committed to Nebraska agriculture in its relationship to local, national and international issues, you can apply for a two-year fellowship beginning in the fall. The value of each fellowship is $10,000.

Area agriculturalists are invited to attend this informative meeting. The Nebraska LEAD program is a

How my Wayne-Carroll experience helped me prepare for life after high school graduation:
 "In addition to providing an excellent academic program with dedicated teachers (all of whom I still remember), I had the opportunity to participate in a wide range of activities, including music, drama, debate, athletics and clubs. All of these experiences have been of value to me. Upon graduation from college, I worked in industry before returning to the field of education. My high school preparation was significant in earning a M.S. and Ph.D. degree. The broad range of experiences that I had in high school are still important to me to this day. I am indebted to Wayne-Carroll High School, Wayne State College, and the City of Wayne for having the opportunity to enjoy the 'good life!'"

The day began at the long jump pit for Jacobsen where she established a new meet record as well as leaping farther than she ever had on the varsity level at 17-4. The jump was also a new school record for Winside.

She then focused her attention on the oval track for the remainder of the day, winning the 400 meter dash in 60.8 seconds, winning the 100 meter dash in 12.9 seconds and winning the 200 meter dash in 26.8 seconds.

The Winside boys did could not manage to place higher than eighth place in the 11 team boys field but no one placed higher than junior Brian Thompson in the shot put as the Class D heavy-weight wrestling champion broke the 50-foot barrier for the first time in his career by launching a 51-11 throw. All three of Thompson's throws in the championship bracket were over 50 feet.

Softball team improves to 22-12

The Wayne State women's softball team moved their season record to 20-12 over the weekend by notching a 2-2 record at the Southwest State Invitational in Marshall, Minn.

The Wildcats fell, 1-0 to Valley State University and 8-0 to Morningside but downed St. Mary University, 9-0 and the host team Southwest State, 4-3. Incidentally, Roni Johnson pitched the Wildcats to victory over Southwest State and former Wayne State coach Marilyn Strate.

The Cats scored in the bottom of the seventh inning as Beth Clark singled in Dee Henningson who had led off the inning with a walk.

WSC splits games over the weekend

Lenny Klaver's Wayne State baseball team went 2-2 over the weekend but not in the traditional way. Last Friday the Cats fell on hard times as they fell to Kearney State in Kearney with scores of 8-1 and 7-5. Then on Saturday the Wildcats swept a twin bill from Hastings College in Hastings, 11-7 and 8-2.

In Friday's first game Joe Fulcher took the loss to drop his season record to 2-3. Kearney State pounded out nine hits while Wayne State mustered just two hits and one error. WSC scored its lone run in the second inning on a Tim Wobken fielder's choice.

Kearney State scored three times in the third inning, four times in the fourth inning and once more in the fifth.

In the nightcap the game was much closer with the Wildcats getting edged out by a 7-5 count. Kearney State's Randy Ruff hit a two run shot in the bottom of the seventh inning to break a 5-5 tie and give the Antelopes the victory.

Steve Kellner took the pitching loss and his record fell to 2-2. WSC recorded five hits and again suffered an error while the host team had six hits but suffered three errors.

Mark Wewel notched an rbi single in the second inning and Scott Schultz scored on a wild pitch. In the fourth inning Rob Zulkoski slapped a 2-run single and in the seventh inning Wewel hit a sacrifice fly which scored the Cats fifth run.

"This was just a case where we just didn't hit the ball well enough to win," Klaver said following the losses.

20-hit attack

Wayne State did not treat its host very kindly on Saturday as the Wildcats ripped Hastings 11-7, and 8-2. In the first game WSC rapped 13 hits en route to the win. Jeff Gohr got the win from the pitchers mound to go 4-2 while Corey Weinmaster got the save—his Marti Hunt then moved Henningson to second on a sacrifice before Clark singled in the winning run.

WSC had six hits in that game. Kristi Wishart notching two singles while Tanya Gappa, Carla Gilbertson, Eva Coons and Clark rapped the other hits—all singles.

Against St. Mary, WSC was never threatened as Tina Blackburn picked up the pitching victory. The Cats scored twice in the second and four times in the third inning as they went on to record the 9-0 route.

WSC pounded out 11 hits in the contest with Tanya Gappa supplying most of the power on two home runs—the first in the second third of the season.

Gohr struck out six batters in his five innings and Weinmaster came in for the last two innings and struck out five batters. WSC scored once in the first inning on a Scott Schultz rbi single and they added one more in the third on a Shane Kober rbi single. They crossed home plate five times in the fourth inning as Dusty Sheets hit an rbi single as did Shane Kober. The real fire power came on a 3-run double by Troy Test.

Scott Schultz hit an rbi single for a run in the sixth inning and Kober hit another rbi single in the seventh. Troy Test notched an rbi on a squeeze bunt also in the seventh inning.

Kober went 3-3 in the game while Schultz was 3-5 and John Staab was 2-3.

In the nightcap 13 WSC batters reached base via the walk as the Cats posted the 8-2 win. Kevin Boham got the win to go 3-3 on the season while Weinmaster and Dan Savery also saw pitching action.

Shane Kober ripped an rbi double in the first inning and the Cats scored three times in the second inning on a bases loaded double by Dave Shields. Dave Roby walked with the bases loaded in the third inning and Mark Tegels recorded an rbi double in the fourth inning.

Dave Shields hit a sacrifice fly for a run in the fifth inning and the other Wildcat run came on an error. "It was nice to come back and play well after two disappointing losses to Kearney State," Klaver said. "I thought we played very well and we had some of our younger players like Troy Test, Dave Shields and Dusty Sheets give us a real boost."

WSC was scheduled to play Briar Cliff in a twin bill on Monday afternoon in Sioux City but it was postponed due to wet grounds. The game has been rescheduled for April 30, at 2 p.m. in Sioux City.

inning was 2-run shot and the other was in the sixth inning and was a solo shot.

Kristi Wishart, Eva Coons and Dee Henningson all had two singles each while Beth Clark tripled. Carla Gilbertson and Megan Dolesh each singled.

The heart break game of the tournament was the Valley State game. Both squads were forced into extra innings at a 0-0 dead lock. In softball each team puts a runner on second base to start the extra inning and they have three outs to try and get them in to score.

Valley State managed to score its runner but WSC could not for the 1-0 loss. Eva Coons, Carla Gilbertson and Megan Dolesh all notched singles for WSC's only three hits of the contest. Roni Johnson took the loss from the mound despite striking out eight and allowing just one hit.

WSC could only muster five hits against Morningside and thus did not score as Morningside rolled to an 8-0 win. Laura Stuerman took the pitching loss. Megan Dolesh had two of the hits on a pair of singles while Laura Stuerman and Tanya Gappa singled and Beth Clark belted a triple.

Sweep Dordt

On Tuesday afternoon at the College Field in Wayne the Wildcats improved to 22-12 as they swept Dordt in a double header. In the first contest Dordt took a 1-0 lead into the sixth inning when WSC scored three runs to clinch the victory, 3-1.

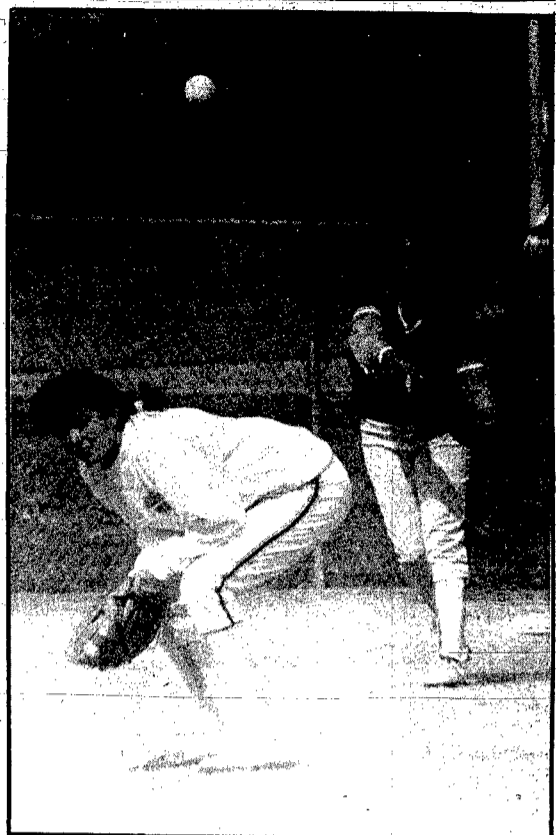

Roni Johnson got the win from the mound as she struck out seven and scattered three hits in the process. Eva Coons led the Cats five hit attack with a pair of doubles while Beth Clark and Megan Dolesh smacked triples.

In the second game Tina Blackburn picked up the pitching victory in a 4-2 Wildcat victory. Blackburn scattered five hits while earning the win. WSC had seven hits with Megan Dolesh capitalizing on two of them including a 2-run triple.

Carla Gilbertson, Eva Coons, Beth Clark, Marti Hunt and Dee Henningson each hit safely in the game as well. Incidentally, WSC's games with Dordt were the final time they play in Wayne this season.

The Cats will take part in the Kearney State Invitational this weekend playing Metro State, Peru State, Kearney State, Air Force, St. Mary's and Kansas Wesleyan.

Wayne State was rained out of Monday's game with Kearney State scheduled to be played at the College Field. The games will not be made up.

Dixon centennial logo

ELEMENTS DEPICTING VARIOUS aspects of Dixon's heritage are incorporated into the community's official centennial logo, designed by Cindy White, Norma Penlerick and Velma Dennis. In designing the logo, the three chose a circular format featuring the railroad, an important factor in the settling of Dixon; the old red elevator, an early landmark that has been replaced by a more modern facility; St. Anne's Catholic Church and the Dixon United Methodist Church, important to the community's religious heritage; the Dixon school, representing the education of the youth; and the plow and wheat, depicting the agricultural community. The logo is being used on various souvenir items to promote the Dixon centennial, scheduled to be celebrated Aug. 12, 1990.

April 11 Dollar Day celebration kicks off Allen centennial year

Square dancers raise $375

Local square dancers hosted a dance in the Allen school auditorium on April 7 as an April fund raiser for the 1991 Allen centennial celebration. There were 10 squares of dancers, along with several area residents who came to watch. Proceeds from the dance totaled $375, including $119 raised from the sale of tickets for an Afghan. Winner of the handknitted Afghan, which was donated anonymously, was Bob Jones of Allen.

A PLAY depicting the community's early history was written by the Allen-High-School drama department, assisted by instructors Connie Roberts and Marcia Rastede.

Participants appeared in full costume of the day in apparel donated by the Centennial Shop of Smithland, Iowa, owned and operated by former Allen resident Ardith Armour.

Scenes during the play included surveying of the land, church organizations, schools, naming of the town, and an afternoon meeting of neighbor ladies.

FOLLOWING THE play, two squares of local dancers performed for the crowd, and musical selections were led by a trio comprised of Vicky Hingst, Glory Koester and Gary Troth, accompanied by Shelly Malcom.

Scenes of yesteryear included the entry of Allen centennial chairmen Kathy and Larry Boswell on a bicycle built for two.

The afternoon closed with the presentation of a birthday cake in the shape of Nebraska and decorated in the Allen centennial colors of red and white with a large red candle signifying Allen's location in Nebraska, surrounded by 100 birthday candles.

Blowing out the candles were members of the centennial committee, including the Boswells, Gary Troth, Marcia Rastede, Julie Sullivan and Doris Linafelter.

Members of the audience joined in singing happy birthday to Allen and were served cupcakes, punch and coffee.

All those in attendance also received a souvenir wooden dollar. Sixty wooden dollars were placed under cupcakes to be refunded for $1 at a local business.

ALSO ON SALE during the afternoon were Allen centennial T-shirts, along with deeds to purchase one square inch of land in Allen's Heritage Park — the community's mini park renamed in honor of the centennial.

A limited edition of deeds (500) are available. The deeds are signed in calligraphy with wording similar to the original deed signed by Henry Allen.

Persons still wishing to purchase a deed for $1 may do so by contacting the Allen village office.

Wayne High observes eligibility requirements for students

Eligibility for competing in inter-school activities (music, speech and drama as well as athletics) is dependent upon maintaining adequate citizenship and scholastic standing. The school, in cooperation with the Nebraska School Activities Association, has established the following standards of eligibility. In order for a student to represent Wayne High School in scheduled inter-scholastic competition the student must:

- have received passing grades in at least four subjects (20 credit hours) the previous semester;

- be a student enrolled in good standing (student suspended from school may not participate in or attend inter-school contests during the period of suspension);

- all participants must be in attendance at school the immediate half day prior to the contest they are involved in. (e.g. evening event - 1:00 p.m.; afternoon event - 8:30 a.m.) Special circumstance with regard to this will be ruled on by the principal and person involved;

- on Thursday of each school week teachers will be given a failing list upon which they will indicate students doing failing work up to that point in the semester. Any student not passing at least 20 credit hours becomes ineligible to participate in any co-curricular activity, from Tuesday to Tuesday. Should the next failing list (the following Tuesday) not include the student's name, he/she is then eligible to compete.

REWARD

Dixon County will pay a $300.00

News Briefs

Students awarded Regents Scholarships

AREA - University of Nebraska Chancellor Martin A. Massengale announced that 309 high school students have been offered Regents Scholarships to the UN-L.

Among those students are four from the area. Included in the list are: Kevin D. Macklin, Laurel; Perre Shane Neilan, Wakefield; Casey Lynn Dyer, Wayne; and Eric Dean Rasmussen, Wayne.

Regents scholarships are renewable annually if the student maintains a 3.5 cumulative grade point average by the end of each spring semester.

Regents scholarships are awarded on the basis of high school rank as well as ACT scores. Consideration is also given to extracurricular activities and leadership in selecting among students with similar high school records and test scores.

All Regents Scholarships provide resident tuition.

Heier named David Scholar

AREA - Kevin Ray Heier, Wayne, was named as one of 103 top high school students from across Nebraska to have been selected to receive a 1990 David Scholarship to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, according to Chancellor Martin Massengale.

David Scholars provide a $1,000 stipend per year toward the cost of tuition at UNL and are renewable for up to four consecutive years.

Scholarships are funded from the John C. and Nettie V. David Memorial Trust, established in 1973 by the late Adrian H. David in memory of his parents. Adrian David was a prominent Minneapolis attorney and a 1908 graduate of the UNL college of law.

At the time of its establishment, the David Memorial Trust was funded by a $3.3 million gift to the University of Nebraska Foundation.

Winside student qualified as finalist

AREA - Shannon Lea Bargstadt, Winside, qualified as a finalist in the Young Entrepreneur Contest held by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The program, sponsored by the UN-L Center for Entrepreneurship, is in its third year of existence.

Zimmer attends training meeting

AREA - Jerry Zimmer, Wayne, recently attended a regional training meeting conducted by representatives of Farmers National Company in Norfolk.

Highlighting this session were reports of new records in number of farms managed and real estate sales this past year. Company officials were optimistic about prospects for continued sales growth, with more than 150 farms sold by Farmers National Company in the first three months of 1990.

Agenda items included review of environmental issues as they relate to farm ownership and management, plus a discussion of maximizing farm returns through profitable farm management training.

Conservation tips

Soil erosion turning toward all land

by Michael Lance
Soil Conservation Service

Although most of the agricultural production and soil erosion in northeast Nebraska is turned toward cropland, pastureland deserves a respective amount of consideration.

Grass pastures are susceptible to many of the same problems and limiting factors that reduce production on cropland. Insects, weed infestation, gully erosion, flooding, sedimentation, drought, nutrient and soil limitations hurt production.

Pastures can be divided into two basic types, 1) cool season types — those grasses that grow vigorously during the cooler months (spring and fall) and go dormant during the hot summer months, and 2) warm season types — those grasses that grow vigorously during the hot summer months. These two types will vary not only in growth habit but also in the types and degrees of problems that occur. Here are a few basic land maintenance procedures that can prevent problems and increase production without degrading the resource.

Frequent trips through the pasture before, during and after its growing season will give an idea of the condition of the grass and reveal any gullies, soil washing, flooding weed or insect levels that might need attention. If livestock are allowed to graze continuously, take some precautions in those critical areas by temporarily fencing or restricting access until you can address the problem. A good example would be a weed population threatening to expand into other areas of the pasture. If this area were grazed the desired plants (grass) would be reduced by livestock selection and the undesirable plants (weeds) would be enhanced by lack of competition and increased fertilization. By restricting access until after treatment we reduce the potential for the undesirables to grow and expand their range.

Missing or limiting components in the pasture can be constantly evaluated by taking those trips through the entire pasture. Windbreaks and taller shade trees are good pasture additions that reduce heat stress in summer and conserve energy in winter. A properly fenced, maintained and strategically located water source (pond, dugout or stream) is beneficial to the livestock, the manager and general public by providing a cheaper, safer product and by reducing potential water pollution problems.

Proper livestock stocking rates with pasture rotation takes advantage of the plant's characteristics to produce forage and reduce energy costs. A good rule of thumb to remember when grazing is to remove 50 percent of the new year's growth and leave 50 percent. If you have a smooth brome grass pasture for example with an average grass height of 15 inches, graze this until the average height is reduced to 7 inches and if the new growth cannot maintain that height then remove the livestock. In drier years with an average height of 6 to 7 inches remove livestock when the average grass height is reduced to 3 inches. This will allow the grass to rebound and store enough energy and nutrients to maintain itself and compete against hostile elements (insects, weeds and weather). A two season area containing both cool and warm season pastures provides more diversity and flexibility for the manager. The options include grazing, renting, harvesting for hay, harvesting for seed or enrolling in a wildlife program.

Carroll ESPN not allowed Royal games

CARROLL - Carroll CableVision has been notified that Kansas City Royals baseball games scheduled to air on cable channel ESPN on Friday, April 20 will be blacked out in Nebraska.

Under a contractual agreement between the Kansas City Royals and ESPN, the entire state of Nebraska is claimed as part of the Royals home market territory. Therefore, ESPN is restricted from broadcasting the club's games to Nebraska cable television affiliates on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays, even if the team is playing on the road.

The exception to the rule involves Sunday nights, when ESPN presents a national game of the week. Should the Royals be scheduled for a Sunday night game, it will be shown in its entirety because it is an exclusive game not covered by the ESPN/Royals contract.

Future telecasts of the Royals on Sunday nights will be announced.

Drains Run Slow?

You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again! The secret? Clean drains don't run slow.

Slow drains, or periodic clogs, are SIGNALS that a thick layer of GOOK is choking your pipes. Grease, hair, and other waste stick to your pipes, with every use. This gook deposits along the entire length of the pipe. It chokes your pipes gradually, as it gets thicker and thicker.

Conventional drain openers can't fix slow drains. They react chemically on the surface of the gook. To be effective, they must remain in contact with the waste. Even a small tunnel through the gook lets them flow out to the sewer, leaving the gook behind.

In the past, the only way to remove this build-up was to rooter your pipes. An expensive, temporary measure.

Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes... and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean. Its totally unique formula clings, and penetrates deep into the gook. That is what allows it to liquify even years of build-up. Plumb Clean will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, we stand behind Plumb Clean with a money-back guarantee!

Saves Money. A 1 lb. container of Plumb Clean holds up to 41 drain treatments. Even if drain openers could fix slow drains, it would take over 10 quart bottles to get the same number of treatments. Plumb Clean costs about 35¢ per treatment. We don't know of anything that cleans drains for less.

Safe Too. Conventional drain openers are dangerous chemicals. They can injure eyes on contact. They can release deadly vapors, in some situations. Some may damage your fixtures. Plumb Clean will not burn skin, or eyes. It will not release harmful fumes. When used as directed, it is 100% safe for people, and of course, all plumbing.

So, if your drains are giving you a SIGNAL, act now. Get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean today!

Allen schools get award to improve energy costs

ALLEN - The Nebraska Energy Office has awarded grants of up to $5,000 from the Nebraska School Weatherization Program to Allen Public Schools to perform technical analyses of the Allen School and Music/Shop Building to identify energy saving building improvements, according to Gov. Kay Orr.

The governor said that the Nebraska School Weatherization Program is funded from a portion of the oil and natural gas severance tax collected by the state.

"About $120,000 is currently available from the fund for public school districts in the state which want to identify the potential financial benefits from making energy saving building improvements," Orr said.

Grants are limited to $2,500 per building. According to Nebraska Energy Office information, an estimated 48 grants remain to be awarded over the next year.

Public school districts interested in applying for technical analysis grants should contact Leonard Pewthers in the Nebraska Energy Office in the State Capital in Lincoln.

The GOLDEN YEARS

While some companies are cool to keeping or hiring older employees, others single them out as star performers. Example: a large refining company in Texas. Sixty percent of the people in its sales force are 55 or over — and three of them are in their 90s. The company finds that older employees outproduce younger people, and a vice-president explains why: "Older salesmen aren't as interested in making a quick buck as much as they are in establishing a long-term relationship with the customer." That's something that isn't learned overnight, he says, but evolves from going through "the school of hard knocks."

Betty Kessler made her first visit to the Veterans Administration hospital in Chillicothe, Ohio, during World War II because her brother was a patient there. Then, in 1950, she became a volunteer during the Korean War. Now 62, she still drives the 100-mile round trip between her home and the hospital four or five times a month to cheer patients, help write letters and the like. She pitches in, she says, "to bring smiles to some faces as they're passing through."

Remember When? April 5, 1943 — Poon Lim, a steward, was rescued by a Brazilian fishing vessel from a raft on which he survived 133 days alone in the Atlantic after the British merchant ship Ben Lomond was torpedoed by a German submarine.

SCHOOL BOARD

The Wakefield Board of Education met April 5. Denise Whipple, music instructor, submitted her resignation, which was accepted by the board.

In other action, the board offered contracts to the elementary and secondary staff.

Also discussed was the driver's education program. The board voted to raise the fees charged the local students from $50 to $60. They also set the non-resident student fee at $85 and the instructors pay at $60 per student for each student who completes the course.

Jim Stout, chairman of the building and grounds committee, reported on his committee's recommendations on several projects that could be completed this summer. After extensive discussion, the board referred the projects back to the committee and asked them to prioritize the projects with a list of costs for discussion at the May meeting.

Superintendent Hartman told the board that the school roof was damaged during a recent hail storm and that the school will use insurance money received to repair the damage. Hartman also reported on the Arbor Day program which is planned for April 23.

The board approved Gerald Muller's request to use the school pastureland. They also approved the request from Mr. and Mrs. Id-dings for Heather to finish the school year in Wakefield. The Idings recently moved into the Emerson district.

In other action, the board approved the school calendar for the 1990-91 year. The first day of classes will be Tuesday, Aug. 28 and students will pick up their report cards on Saturday, May 25. The board will contract for one and a half days of nursing service from the ESU for the upcoming year at a cost of $1,500. A special education contract for serves was approved in the amount of $51,119.

Superintendent Hartman recommended to the board that the school remain on interruptible natural gas service for economic reasons. The board agreed with the recommendation.

After reviewing the report by the transportation committee on bus communication systems, the board voted to purchase a Motorola VHF (business band) radio system for the busses in the amount of $6,444.

The Library Card

This column is written twice a month to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

We've talked about services to adults in this column, but we really need to talk about our services to our young readers.

We have some of the most excited, bright-eyed, enthusiastic readers you can imagine. Preschoolers and grade schoolers proudly bring their choices of books to the main desk to be checked out. Elementary and middle school pupils seek assistance for reports and papers they have been assigned.

Granted, not all doing research for an assignment are doing so enthusiastically, but they are becoming experts in library use in the process.

The juvenile library is located downstairs in an attractively decorated room. The murals on the walls depict Mother Goose characters familiar to every child.

Books are arranged according to ease (or difficulty) in reading. Picture books and board books intrigue non-readers. There are books in paperback and books on tape that even the youngest can "do it all by myself!"

Books for intermediate readers are shelved separately. These offer greater challenges and a wider range of subjects.

Books are displayed topically as well. There are sections for holiday themes — books on Christmas, Easter, Halloween, etc.

Biographies are available. We have a new series, for instance, of biographies of all the presidents. Sports figures are well represented also in this section.

Right now the tops of the center bookshelves are lined with books to compliment the popular Reading Rainbow TV series. We have added several new titles to this collection recently.

Our biggest influx of young readers comes during the Summer Reading Program which runs for six weeks in June and July. The theme of this year's program is "Summer Safari," and we are busy collecting books on animals — wild and otherwise. More about our plans for the Summer Reading Program will be announced later.

Our description would not be complete without mentioning the non-fiction section. Youngsters doing papers can generally find information on any topic assigned. Up-to-date encyclopedias also are available.

And, just for fun, there are records and jig-saw puzzles to be checked out. Children's videos are to be found on the first floor, but we have mentioned those in a previous column.

So, bring or encourage your youngster to come to the library. The habit of reading is one that stays with you all through your life and rewards you immeasurably.

Helping farmers and ranchers

SCS encourages volunteers

WAYNE - Volunteers provided nearly $19,000 worth of assistance in Nebraska to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service in 1989, according to Ron Hendricks, local state conservationist.

"I consider National Volunteer Week, April 22-28, to be an appropriate time to recognize the Earth Team volunteers who put nearly 2,700 hours helping SCS field offices help farmers and ranchers," Hendricks said.

This past year has been exceptional for soil and water conservation efforts. "We in SCS made a commitment to see that every farmer who wanted a conservation compliance plan got one by the deadline of Dec. 31, 1989," he added.

"Nationally, we've helped farmers and ranchers develop conservation plans on about 135 million acres of the nation's approximately 140 million acres of highly erodible cropland. Volunteers have been extremely helpful in this effort."

Hendricks said Earth Team volunteers assist in a wide range of "conservation" activities. Among these are helping design and lay out conservation practices, providing information to farmers and ranchers on the conservation provisions of the Food Security Act of 1985, and teaching young people the importance of wise use of natural resources in maintaining agriculture as a viable industry in the 21st century.

"We encourage volunteers in every office," he added.

Nationwide, nearly 13,000 volunteers contributed more than 300,000 hours to SCS's Earth Team.

For more information about the volunteer program in the area, call the local office of Soil Conservation Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

By Pat Meierhenry

The ham bone is simmering away in the soup kettle, the hard-boiled eggs are in the frig and the Easter lily is happily blooming on the organ. What a beautiful spring day it was!

We wondered when we got up on Good Friday and saw snow...It was wet and sticky and slick; but, fortunately, did not last long. It made the ground just wet enough that shoes were muddy.

We long ago established the habit of taking our shoes off on the porch, but we could hardly walk through-by the time everyone got here.

Rebecca has two friends at school who are foreign exchange students from Chile. One of them came along to visit a farm this weekend. They got a workout: checking calves, bottle feeding one, coaxing a mama to claim her baby and cleaning up brush for a bonfire.

Of course, the fire led to a sharpening of sticks and roasting of hot dogs and marshmallows. There is usually one perfect Sunday in the spring when there is no wind and the sun is warm and the rain quits. This year it happened to be Easter Sunday.

AND I MADE my Home Health visits, there were walkers everywhere! All ages, all sizes, all outfits. So after everyone left, I took mine.

Our dirt mile gives the walker a real workout because there are two steep hills. But the road leads to the place I call the birthing barn and calving parlor.

Much as we need more moisture, calving has gone well because it's been dry so much of the time. When you crossbreed, the calves come in all colors. It makes for some interesting cow-calf pairs.

When I visited Bassett three weeks ago, I saw lots of stock cow herds. Most, along the highway anyway, were straight breed. That means black, herefords or black white face.

When you introduce Simmental, Limousin and Gelbvieh blood to the red and black, you get orange, cocoa, grey, in all kinds of arrangements. We think they're cute. Traditional breeders wouldn't agree.

The forecast is for cooler weather again tomorrow, so we can't put our sweaters away yet. Time to finish the jelly beans and call it a day. Sunrise service makes a long day, even when it's such a nice once.

Northeast cooperates with organizations to assist farmers

AREA - The Northeast Nebraska Community College, the Legal Aid Society, the Nebraska Farm Hotline and the Nebraska Mediation Service announced the creation of a Farm Legal and Financial Assistance Clinic to help farmers with legal or financial problems. The clinic will begin on May 3 and will continue every third and third Thursday of each month throughout the spring and summer. The clinic is free and will be held at the Maclay Building at the Northeast Nebraska Community College in Norfolk. It will last from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The clinic will be a day-long workshop combining legal and financial preparation of debt restructuring plans. The training will provide farmers a full description of their FMHA debt restructuring options, including strategies for mediation and administrative appeals. The training will also provide instruction on cash flows and other financial analysis as well as individual preparation of financial alternatives.

Arlie Sholes, financial evaluator with the Community College, said "We see this clinic as an on-going tool to reach farmers in stress. We know from the work we've been doing that there are still hundreds of farmers who are or will be in financial trouble in the coming year. We intend to provide them a place to come to receive some help."

The clinic agenda covers such topics as financial analysis, FMHA debt restructuring and the DALR program, negotiation and mediation strategies, foreclosure, bankruptcy and tax consequences of restructuring. There will also be time available for individual meetings with a financial counselor.

"The clinic agenda and training materials will be designed to provide farmers an overview of their legal and financial options," said Nancy Thompson, Farm Desk Attorney with the Legal Aid Society. "Many farmers, especially FMHA borrowers, are still trying to work out their credit problems themselves because they can't afford an attorney. The clinic will give them a better understanding of their legal rights."

Farmers and their families who wish to attend one of the clinic sessions are encouraged to call and notify either the Farm Hotline at (402) 846-5578 or the Community College at (800) 348-9033 what day they plan to attend.

Wayne State student selected as finalist

WAYNE - Matt Stone of Pierce has been selected as a finalist in the Donald Duncan-Duncan Aviation Business Plan Competition, and recently made his business presentation in Lincoln.
 Twenty-seven students from eight colleges were competing for a $3,000 first prize and a $500 second prize.
 The winners of the competition will be announced at the Nebraska Conference on Productivity and Entrepreneurship, April 16 at the Lincoln Hilton.
 Stone, a business major with concentrations in accounting and finance at Wayne State College, is a 1987 graduate of Pierce High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stone.
 Stone's business presentation

 Donald Duncan, founder of Duncan Aviation, Inc., was an accomplished and energetic entrepreneur who embodies this entrepreneurial spirit. Robert Duncan, in honor of his father, has established the Donald Duncan-Duncan Aviation Prize to stimulate, recognize and reward the entrepreneurial zest of young Nebraska entrepreneurs.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK'S SENIOR CITIZEN CORNER

SCAMS BILK SENIORS: Former Senator William Proxmire was known as Washington's watchdog of the public purse when he was a member of Congress for over three decades and though retired from the Senate, continues to watch out for waste and mismanagement. He most recently cited the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) for helping to waste billions of its $56 billion budget on "scams, ripoffs and phony devices that don't work... (and) even worse than the pain to the taxpayer is the agony of the elderly whose suffering is not eased by HCFA's wasted millions."
 In a bylined article in the New York Post last month, Proxmire noted the motorized wheel-chairs that are supposed to give the disabled elderly more mobility but, all too often, fall apart, with the taxpayer continuing to pay for this substandard product. Another abuse is the sale of low voltage massagers touted for use with arthritis, lower back pain, and other ailments. As Proxmire said: "The senior citizen who buys the massager is set up by a sales agent often accompanied by an unscrupulous physician (who) signs the forms prescribing the massager and makes a sweet ripoff... The sales agent typically charges Medicare $500 for each massager..."
 The threat to seniors lies not just in prescribing useless gimmicky or substandard products, but in diverting the financial resources that should go to provide quality care.
CONSTRAINTS ON ELDERLY OR FRAIL PATIENTS: So far, the mall runs something like 2-1 from health-care providers who explain the need to put certain patients under constraint. In almost every such letter, the point was made that there's no intention of being cruel to the patient; rather, it's the well-being of the patient that takes priority. However, one nurse's assistant (as she describes herself) insists, "We were told this (practice) is more efficient and saves on time and personnel who would otherwise have to keep checking on the patients..." Please continue to send your comments to me c/o King Features Weekly Service, 235 East 45th Street, New York, N.Y. 10017.
 P.S. Thanks to all of you who have written to say you now regularly contact your congresspersons to act on Medicare and other programs of importance to you. And - apropos of that, why don't we start a campaign to have a discount on postage stamps for seniors who could buy a certain number of these special stamps each month so they can afford to write letters in the face of other rising costs? Send me your comments - but try to put them on a postcard to save your money.

Drugs Cause Constipation

The most common cause of constipation is lack of sufficient fiber in the diet (foods such as whole grains, fruits, and vegetables). Some drugs available with and without prescription can also contribute to constipation. Antacids containing aluminum are a major offender especially in the elderly. Magnesium-type antacids are often added to minimize aluminum's constipating effects. Narcotic pain relievers (opium derivatives) such as codeine and morphine slow the movement of the bowel and often cause constipation. For this reason, narcotics are sometimes used to treat severe diarrhea. Other drugs which slow the movement of the bowel and can cause constipation include those used to treat depression and Parkinsonism.

RUN...& RERUN

No, we're not asking you to overdo your jogging exercise.

What we ARE suggesting, though, is for you to consider one of the real advertising bargains in northeast Nebraska.

Since The Wayne Herald is published TWO TIMES each week, advertisers can send their important PRINTED message to thousands of potential customers not just once but TWICE!

And when advertisers do that, their "repeat" ad receives a NEAR 50% DISCOUNT from The Wayne Herald—a special RUN-RE-RUN RATE, if you will.

You'll benefit from the newspaper's long-standing RUN & RERUN program when:

1) You need to publicize your promotion well in advance for customers who plan ahead but you still also want to advertise just before your event to make sure people with short memories or busy schedules don't forget about your promotion.

2) You need to stretch your advertising budget as far as possible.

3) You want to keep your printed name visible to your potential customers as much as possible.

4) You'd rather have one small ad published TWO different times than one large ad published ONCE.

5) You want to get a jump on your competition by announcing your sale earlier in the week (with a follow-up reminder later in the week in The Wayne Herald's second issue).

Publish your ad first in our Thursday issue and repeat it in our Monday issue OR do the opposite by "running" it first Monday, then again Thursday.

It doesn't matter which way you do it, the special RE-RUN RATE applies in either case as long as your ad repeats without copy changes in the next scheduled issue of The Wayne Herald.

Take advantage of your ad's permanency and drawing power "when it is SEEN IN PRINT".

RUN & RE-RUN it's healthy for your advertising budget...just like jogging is healthy for your body!

ACCIDENTAL DISCOVERY MAY END OBESITY
WASHINGTON - Obesity may be controlled naturally with a new type of pill, discovered by accident, a research scientist confirmed recently.
In studies with potential cholesterol-lowering agents, scientists noted an unusual side effect. Patients receiving an ingredient in what is now being called FS-1 all lost weight, in spite of being instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, while body weight in control groups remained constant.
Scientists say the mechanism behind the weight reduction is not clear, but suggest it is partially due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calorie-rich dietary fats. Although scientists for some time have known of substances with the capability of producing this effect, the dramatic impact on weight reduction was not known until recently. Substances with a greater potential to block absorption will produce greater weight loss results.
The director of research and development at National Dietary Research, an organization committed to the investigation and research of nutritional solutions to world-wide health problems, stated "The mechanism by which FS-1 works to decrease body weight is actually a more complex and sophisticated process called nutri-bonding. When chewed and swallowed immediately before meals, FS-1 releases nutrients with low calorie content into the body, while high calorie fats are eliminated, thus providing optimum nutrition and a minimum number of calories."
Studies with FS-1 indicate weight loss results clearly superior to products currently available for the treatment of obesity. In a comparative study by NDR, whose research topics have been the subject of articles published in recent medical and nutritional journals, FS-1 was found to be the most effective treatment for obesity and the most acceptable to patients.
The discovery comes as welcome news for thousands of obesity sufferers waiting years for this type of breakthrough. According to a spokesperson at NDR, "FS-1 can be made available to the public immediately, because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients recognized as safe. A drug with essentially the same weight loss capabilities might take as long as eight years to be available, due to lengthy delays encountered in the approval process." FS-1 is currently available on a limited basis through physicians and pharmacies, but may also be obtained by sending $24.98 plus $3 postage & handling to FS-1, Suite 553, 1377 K St., Washington, DC 20005. An instruction sheet for proper use and optimum results is provided with each bottle of 100 tablets.
FS-1 is available in Wayne at: GREISS REXALL DRUG 507 Main Street 375-2922
