START holds final session

Clark: 'If you work together, you'll accomplish your goals'

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

"If you work together, you'll be able to accomplish your action goals," said Ray Clark, UNO professor and facilitator of the Wayne START committee, during the third and final planning session held Thursday, May 24.

The day three planning session saw the unveiling of the five sub-committees' plans to help improve Wayne.

The five plans will be presented at a town hall meeting with Gov. Kay Orr in the future. According to Clark, town hall meetings with the governor are usually held six to nine weeks after the final planning session.

"Part of the town hall meeting is to inform the public about what has been taken on and why," Clark said. "One of the things you can tell those who attend the town hall meeting is that 'we know we haven't addressed everything but once these issues are addressed, we can focus on some of the other issues.'"

SOME OF THE goals from the meeting include:

- Improving physical accessibility to public facilities.
- Provide after-school care for latch-key youth.
- Study the housing shortage in the Wayne community and provide recommendations for alleviating the shortage.
- Use focus groups to determine the needs of students and the rural population to help Wayne merchants better serve these groups with goods and services.
- Organize a Beautify Wayne program to include a community-wide cleanup day and flower planting campaign.
- Form a council to foster cooperation/communication among business, industry, government and education. This group would hold regular meetings to identify and resolve issues before they become problems and to develop cost-sharing programs were appropriate.

According to information from the meeting, these are just five of the action items the five START task forces will be working on in the next year. The START team scheduled plans for a review meeting to be held Thursday, Nov. 8, 1990.

Clark explained to the START committee that the review is necessary for three reasons. He said

Improving Wayne's atmosphere

Task force addresses attitudes

WAYNE - As improving the business and civic atmosphere of Wayne is important, so too is community attitudes, image and communication, according to findings by one of the five START task forces dealing with those issues.

According to Wayne Wessel, chairperson of the committee, many of the issues discussed by the community attitudes, image and communication task force are things people around town have been thinking about but not acting upon.

The task force broke its plans into three objectives, each with its own activity areas.

The first objective deals with improving the physical appearance of the town followed by a community clean-up day and the organization of a beautify Wayne campaign. The fourth activity in the first objective is to resolve the appearance of certain spots in Wayne.

THE SECOND objective was to develop a framework to facilitate the communication of civic and volunteer activities to the various groups in-

Housing needs get focus

START team to research housing needs

WAYNE - Housing needs were not something which the START housing task force wanted to jump right into, according to Fauneil Bennett, chairperson of the task force.

From there, the housing task force developed a plan to gather information about the needs of housing in Wayne by contacting employers concerning the need for housing following any anticipated growth and expansion.

The group also plans to gather data from employees concerned about housing needs, information from local construction businesses as well as realtors and housing managers, Wayne State College housing officials and local government housing officials as well as local financing institutions.

Five activities fell under the first objective:

- Expand the START housing task force by inviting other interested persons to join.
- Compile a file of resource people who can offer expertise in con-work conducted by the START team fails because of lack of support by the public; goals are too optimistic; the issues are wrong; or lack of funding.

Rough copies of the START task force's plans were distributed at Thursday's meeting and articles about each of the five committees' reports are included in today's Wayne Herald. The final draft will be drawn up and will be distributed to START committee members,

Council purchases loader

City takes second lowest bid

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

It looks as though the City of Wayne will get the four wheel drive loader it wanted.

The City Council approved 7-0 the second lowest bid Tuesday night for the purchase of a Caterpillar 926E, submitted from Nebraska Tractor and Equipment of Omaha. The lowest bid, submitted from Case Power and Equipment of Omaha for a Case loader was $55,585. The loader the city will purchase is $56,926.

Bids for the loaders were taken at the Tuesday, April 24 meeting.

According to City Administrator Joe Salitros, in his inaugural meeting as the Wayne city administrator, several factors entered into the decision to go with the second lowest bid.

Salitros said research conducted by Vern Schulz found that the Caterpillar loader was a better buy. He said Schulz's research found that the Caterpillar has a lower operating cost, better performance evaluations from other cities and better resale value.

There was a clause in the bid spec which gave consideration to serviceability. Salitros said parts for intensive research he conducted," Salitros said prior to the meeting.

IN ANOTHER matter, the City Council voted 7-0 to review parking restrictions on Crescent Drive to provide consistent parking restrictions.

The new ordinance results in the enforcement of no parking from 5 a.m. to midnight on the south and west side of the street and no parking any time on the north and east side.

The only city street which has a curve resulting in direction change is Crescent Drive. Salitros and Wayne Police Chief Vern Fairchild said the change was necessary.

"It's not only the residents who have a problem," Fairchild said, "but the police officers as well. If we make this change it will make things much easier."

Property at 509 Walnut gets look from Council following complaints

WAYNE - Property at 509 Walnut has fallen under the scrutiny of the Wayne City Council following numerous complaints from neighbors there about the property.

The City Council voted 7-0 Tuesday night to have attorney Bob Ensz investigate the situation.

According to City Administrator Joe Salitros, the property has fallen under the Council's scrutiny because neighbors have a fear of vandalism or the possibility of vagrants using the vacant house.

According to Ensz, the correspondence with the owner, whose name is withheld for the privacy purposes, dates back to Feb. 5, 1990. He said the owner was contacted about 12 years ago for a similar reason.

"You look at it closely and there's no windows in it and it's difficult to even enter into," Ensz said of the vacant property. "I need your direction to know if it's a case where we should file a civil lawsuit against the owner to have it cleaned up."

The investigation into the condition of the property follows a similar one by Vern Fairchild, the Wayne Chief of Police. Ensz said after receiving numerous complaints about the property from people in the neighborhood, he had Fairchild look into the property's condition and from there it was recommended to pursue a possible claim.

The City Council directed Ensz to make contact by telephone with the alleged party. Following that, no decision will be made until some attempt is made to clean up the property and possibly get it rented.

Salitros heads into his new position as city administrator

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

After just two weeks on the job, Joe Salitros knows he has his work cut out for him.

Salitros, a 42-year-old native of Little Falls, Minn., assumed the city administrator's position Tuesday, May 15. He said the most pressing items he has to face in the immediate future are the city budget for the next fiscal year and the work being done by the Airport Authority Board to get federal and state funding for a new runway.

He also said he has taken great interest in the possible review of the comprehensive plan, something which hasn't been updated since 1979.

Salitros, who worked as an investment financier for Edward D. Jones for four years before being named to the Wayne city administrator's position in April, said he thinks his experience with Edward D. Jones will prove valuable for the city.

"Investment financing is like government work because you have to deal with people," he said. "The last four years have been extremely valuable to me."

SALITROS SAID his first love, however, is in municipal government. He said his career change at age 38 was necessary.

"At 38 I went through a mid-life career crisis and that's why I went to work for Edward D. Jones," he said. "But I like what I do in municipal government and I know I'm good at it. The strongest realization was that the business part of

Healthy diet related to healthy lifestyle

CONCORD - The connection between diet and health is becoming increasingly clear, said Darlene Martin, University of Nebraska nutrition specialist at the Northeast Research and Extension Center.

Citing such sources as "The Surgeon General's Report on Nutrition and Health," and the National Research Council's Report, "Diet and Health: Implications for Reducing Chronic Disease Risk", Martin said leading health organizations and health care professionals advise consuming less fat and more complex carbohydrates. This practice may be helpful in reducing the risk for some diseases such as heart disease, obesity, non-insulin dependent diabetes and some forms of cancer, she said.

Most registered dietitians agree that adult Americans should eat more complex carbohydrates foods and less fatty foods. Although there is no Recommended Dietary Allowance for carbohydrates, Martin said most authorities would agree that consumption should be 50 percent to 60 percent of the daily caloric intake.

The link between heart disease and eating high cholesterol and high-fat containing foods has put the food spotlight on complex carbohydrates, the IANR staff member said. The public has become more sophisticated in its knowledge of carbohydrates, recognizing that carbohydrates may be simple or complex.

Despite the source, carbohydrates contain 4 calories per gram except fiber, which is largely indigestible; therefore, will contain fewer if any calories.

Fat, whether in the form of saturated, unsaturated, monounsaturated, butter, margarine, salad oil, or fish oil, will contain 9 calories per gram. For comparison, 1 tablespoon of sugar or pure starch contains 48 calories, while 1 tablespoon of fat contains 115 calories.

Most complex carbohydrates come from plants and consist of starches and fibers. Grains are the seeds of varieties of grasses and the main source of starch for most of the world: rice for the Orient, wheat in the United States, and corn in South America. Several foods make up the group of complex carbohydrates commonly known as starch and fiber food. Good choices of complex carbohydrate food include:

Grain and Cereals--bran, shredded wheat, whole-wheat and rye bread, barley, cornflakes, oatmeal and pastas.

Legumes--navy beans, pinto beans, kidney beans, garbanzo beans and canned baked beans.

Fruits and vegetables--unpeeled apples, peaches, and pears, and oranges and grapefruits; all vegetables, particularly broccoli, green peas, Brussels sprouts, carrots, tomatoes and green beans.

Additional information on healthy eating practices is available from University of Nebraska extension home economists in local extension offices.

Lutt makes all tourney team along with four Wakefield players

Wayne Legion earns fourth place in Chuck Ellis; Wakefield places second

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne Junior Legion team started out the baseball season with a 1-2 record and a fourth place finish in the Annual Chuck Ellis Memorial Baseball Tournament recently.

Wayne blistered opening round foe Dodge-Howells 19-0 last Thursday, with Jeff Lutt taking the win and Jim Hoffman earning the save. Lutt pitched the first four innings and didn't allow a hit while striking out 10 and walking just two. Lutt retired the first nine batters with eight strikeouts in the process.

Hoffman had the first two batters retired in the fifth inning before Dodge-Howells recorded its first hits of the game—two bloop singles. Wayne had 12 runs in the game and no errors.

Rusty Hamer led the charge from the plate with a 3-3 outing including a triple, double and a single and four rbi's. Matt Bruggeman was 2-3 with a triple and a single and Brian Lentz was 2-3 with a pair of singles and two rbi's. Matt Peterson ripped an rbi triple and Eric Cole and Cory Wiesler each had rbi singles. Jim Hoffman and Jason Ehrhardt rounded out the hitting attack with a single apiece.

Wayne did most of its damage in the first inning as they scored eight runs on three hits, six walks and one Dodge-Howells error.

On Saturday night Wayne played host Wakefield in the semifinals and fell 14-8 with Matt Peterson taking the loss. Jim Hoffman, Chad Metzler and Brian Lentz all saw action in the game from the pitching mound.

Wayne led 5-3 heading to the bottom of the fourth inning when Wakefield exploded for five runs. The host team then scored three additional runs in each of the fifth and sixth innings to put the game on ice. Wayne managed to score three runs in the top half of the seventh inning.

Wayne had just four hits in the game while scoring eight runs. The local legion team also had five errors which hurt drastically. Wakefield meanwhile, pounded out 11 hits and committed just two errors.

Jeff Lutt had two of Wayne's hits with a single and a double while Matt Bruggeman and Matt Peterson each had rbi singles. Matt Tappe was the work horse for Wakefield with a 4-5 performance from the plate including a pair of doubles and a same dose of singles.

Mike Mogus had the long ball in his repertoire with a 2-run dinger in the fifth inning. Mogus also had an rbi single. Doug Stanton was 2-4 as well with a pair of doubles and two rbi's. Chris Loofe, Anthony Brown and Kyle Torczon all laced singles. Lose to O'Neill

In the consolation game held on Memorial Day the Wayne Legion fell 8-7 to O'Neill in a game that saw Wayne lose its grip on a 6-2 lead. Jeff Lutt took the pitching loss as he struck out eight but walked nine.

Wayne had eight hits but once again suffered five errors while O'Neill had seven hits and four errors. Rusty Hamer cranked his first home run of the season in the sixth inning and added that to his 2-run triple in the first inning. Jeff Lutt notched a double and a single and Jim Hoffman laced a pair of singles. Brian Lentz and Chad Metzler also singled.

The game ended in the bottom of the seventh with O'Neill reaching base on an error and then advancing to second on a sacrifice. Following a walk and a single to load the bases, James Parks, a WSC baseball recruit, singled in Brad Riley from third.

Wakefield loses in final

On Monday night following the consolation game between Wayne and O'Neill, the championship game between Norfolk and Wakefield took place with Norfolk coming out on top of a 4-2 decision.

Matt Tappe took the loss from the mound for Wakefield despite striking out four and walking five. Wakefield mustered just three hits in the game and suffered one error while Norfolk notched seven hits and suffered four errors.

Shawn Meyer got Wakefield's first hit of the game—a lead off single in the fourth inning. Doug Stanton and Anthony Brown also singled in the game to record all of Wakefield's hits.

WAYNE-Wayne bowler Doug Rose took part in the annual Nebraska Mens Bowling State Tournament and placed in both the singles and the all events categories. Rose rolled a 678 in singles to place 33rd out of 4,210 bowlers. Rose also placed in the all events with a 19th place finish of 1842. There were 872 competing in the Class A All Events category.

Matt Tappe, Mike Mogus, Chris

Loofe and Doug Stanton all made the all-tourney team for Wakefield while Jeff Lutt was Wayne's only selection. Kent Harte was O'Neill's only selection and Norfolk had four including Tom Sullivan the MVP of the tournament. Scott Magnusen, Derek Mickelson and Mike Sullivan.

Conference slated in June

WAYNE - Northeast Nebraskans are encouraged to attend a three-day Chemical Awareness Conference at Wayne State College June 13-15.

The purpose of the conference is to provide an awareness of chemical hazards that may exist in the workplace and everyday environments. Specific areas to be addressed are home, work, agriculture, education, children, elderly, industrial technology, medical profession, science, arts, and custodial and maintenance.

"The use of chemicals has become controversial," says Dr. Pearl Hansen, conference director and associate professor of art at Wayne State. "In every part of our daily lives we can practice control, or influence the selection of chemicals and their safe use."

Conference speakers will include Monona Rossol, industrial hygienist from New York City, and Dennis D. Weisenburger, professor of pathology and microbiology at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha.

Early registration deadline is May 31.

For more information, contact Dr. Pearl Hansen, Wayne State College, Wayne, NE, 68787, (402) 375-2200.

WSC registrar releases names

WAYNE - The registrar at Wayne State College has released the names of students who have earned honor roll status during the second semester of the 1989-90 academic year at Wayne State College.

To be named to the honors list, a student must have attained a 3.5 or above grade point average and have been enrolled for at least 12 credit hours during the semester. The following Wayne State students from the area have fulfilled these requirements:

The GOLDEN YEARS

In a national survey of 1,750 Americans age 50 and up, 66 percent said they consider the 50-plus years as their personal "best of times." Of the others, 21 percent said the years between 35 and 49 were best, and 11 percent said the same about the period from 18 to 34.

Jane Evans, longtime executive director of a national women's organization and an authority on parliamentary procedures, is proud of her age. Evans says: "I was born in 1907, which clearly marks me as an octogenarian. However wise or foolish it may be, I have never denied my age nor been unduly concerned about it—perhaps because I've been too busy." She still drives her car, works in several capacities with heavy responsibilities, and pursues her hobby of boating by piloting her own motor cruiser.

Remember When? July 2, 1932 — Franklin D. Roosevelt became the first presidential nominee to fly to a political party convention to deliver an acceptance speech. He made the flight from Albany to Chicago in a chartered trimotor plane.

By Pat Melerhenry

First, we pray for rain; then for sunshine! I watched the television reports regarding floods on the Floyd River and Perry Creek, and shuddered. We drove around in that area during Rivercade last summer. The water was so low at that time. The Big Farmer's bluegrass is finally growing, and a lot of corn is up.
I finally had some days at home the past week. I put some flowers in the old barrel in front of the old pump that replaced the scraggly tree at the back door (after Dick and Mike did the hard part and filled it with dirt). I washed and ironed curtains; Ann washed the windows and moved all the furniture. She says she found some interesting things under the couch. I can imagine. She kept the money.
My friend, Dick Lindberg, in the West Point News, reports that an 81 year old Cuming County farmer says not to worry about a late spring. He assures us that in all his years of farming, he's never seen a crop failure after a late spring. Sometimes they had to put up more silage than they wanted to, but that sure would be nothing to complain about.
I so enjoyed last Thursday's issue of this newspaper, reading about state track meet and about all the graduations. There were great photos of valedictorians and salutatorians, athletes, and a happy coach receiving a hair cut.

I don't know the Dyer twins, but they had quite a weekend! It just capped it for me when I read that they also vocalized at their commencement ceremony. What a well-rounded pair.
I didn't get to any awards nights or graduations because I was working the afternoon shift. But I think I need to share Ann's description of the special Marine award that Max Kant received. There were twelve of these given in all the U.S. They are not applied for. It's called a scholar-athlete award, and recognizes poise, courage, and leadership.
Apparently, our principal was the only one who knew about it, and he announced at the beginning of the evening that there would be a U.S. Marine coming to give a special award, and that whoever was at the podium was to yield to him when he got there.
There is obviously something about the military bearing and the uniform anyway.

When this fellow arrived, it caused some goose bumps. Our friend Max received it, and everyone was surprised and delighted.
Incidentally, the guy plays a pretty fair trumpet, too. Also well rounded!
Tim Jacobson's little sister continues to burn up the track. In fact, she single-handedly brought home the girl's runner-up trophy.
Another little friend, Teresa Stelling, formerly of Wakefield, completed a four year all-class gold medal reign in the 1600. An unbelievable accomplishment.
Whether they brought home medals or not, it's an honor to be there, another great memory to store away.
When they get together at alumni banquets, as I did last night; they'll reminisce, and laugh, and remember. All these things have helped to prepare them for the great track meet of life. Some will acquire the gold medals, others will participate, and still others will only cheer them on. Each of us has a unique part to play-out. Some are sprinters, some go the distance, and others only time the events. It will be so interesting to see the final scores.

50th birthday Local Dairy Queen doing its part in celebration

In honor of the 50th birthday of International Dairy Queen, the Wayne Dairy Queen/Brazier store will take part in the celebration June 18 through June 22, according to Jacque Kinnett, manager of the Wayne store.

Among some of the activities planned by the Wayne Dairy Queen are a 25 cent cone sale, various giveaways and events and balloons for the kids. The Wayne Dairy Queen will also take part in the event by celebrating its sixth year in Wayne.

"We opened six years ago just in time for the Chicken Show," Kinnett explains. "We trained the staff in four days and opened on a Thursday and the Chicken Show was the following Saturday."

During those six years, the Wayne Dairy Queen made several capital improvements for its customers. Kinnett said since the store opened, it has added a drive-through overhang, various decor changes and new signage. She said the improvements are part of the store's plans to improve the service it provides.

"Everybody has to grow," Kinnett said. "We've made many of the changes for the benefit of our customers. We've done what we can to enhance the appearance of the building and improve our service."

SINCE 1986, the Wayne Dairy Queen/Brazier among others has added items to its menu. Kinnett said one of the most popular additions has been the Blizzard, which came in 1986. She said it and the Peanut Buster Parfait are two of their most popular Dairy Queen products. New to the menu this year is the addition of frozen yogurt.

In addition, the food line serves several popular items. Kinnett said those items include the chicken sandwich and its wide variety of hamburgers.

Since its inception 50 years ago, the Dairy Queen franchise has expanded from a small mix plant in Green River, Ill. to over 5,000 stores worldwide. The franchise began in 1930 when J.F. McCullough and his son, Alex, began experimenting with the idea of creating a marketing a new product—a soft, semi-frozen dairy dessert similar in texture to home-made ice cream. On Aug. 4, 1938, "Sherp's Ice Cream Store" in Kankakee, Ill. became the first dispenser of the new ice-cream like sensation. The result of the opening was a line of 1,600 people who lined up in a two-hour period to try out the new dessert.

Since then, the expansion of Dairy Queen has been somewhat of a phenomenon. Kinnett said when the opportunity arrived for a Dairy Queen/Brazier store in Wayne, she took the chance.

"At the time, nothing else was here," the Ulysses, Neb. transplant, said. "For the longest time, this corner was empty. Since we've opened, we've found it's a prime location for business and Dairy Queen has fit well into Wayne's economy."

We're Out To Win You Over!™
602 Main Street Wayne, Nebraska

Mark'n' the Spot

by Mark Crist

Is it really possible to win this so-called drug war or are we kidding ourselves?

The reason I pose this question is because over Memorial Day weekend, my wife and I traveled to Ainsworth for her sister's wedding. During our stay, Rhonda's parents took us out to Keller State Park located north of Long Pine, Neb. for a picnic.

The trip was a little out of the way but very pretty since it sits in a gully and is quite lush. If I would have been breathing harder from the short hike we took, I would've sworn I was in the Rocky Mountains of Colorado.

To make a long story short, there is about four fishing holes there and a shallow creek which runs through the park. Surrounding the campground area among the gorgeous pine trees is a very pretty, leafy plant called cannabis.

To make it a little more clear, cannabis is the Latin name for ditchweed, otherwise known as marijuana.

Now granted, this ditchweed, as it's commonly referred to throughout Nebraska, is probably as harmless as a dried banana peel on a hot cement sidewalk, but the principal of finding it readily available in a state park is really disturbing.

If we're going to win the drug war, maybe we should start battling it on our home front. When a drug is that readily accessible (not to mention free) what's the purpose of declaring a war that can't be won?

ONTO ANOTHER FAVORITE topic of mine. My congratulations go out to Sen. Bob Kerrey. For the first time since he has held a public office, he's done something I approved of by providing the deciding ballot on a gun control bill late last week.

Again, I must emphasize that I am not opposed to the public's right to bear arms. While I understand that advocates of the bill think their rights are being stepped upon, it's all-too obvious that weapons like the Uzi or the AK-47 were not designed for hunting. They were designed to be used in war.

It seems to me that those opposed to the bill have never lived in the city where they fear for their lives because some loony toon may be carrying one of these things around in his pocket. Why do those people want to turn the city streets into Mad Maxdom — a warlike fictional place in the future? Placing these weapons in the hands of criminals will do just that.

Kerrey's idea of keeping warlike weapons out of the hands of criminals was right on the money. Sure, it may not stop the drug trade or keep weapons out of the hands of criminals, but it will make it more difficult for automatic firearms to be readily available.

Right on, Senator Kerrey. Good choice.

Task force works on accessibility

WAYNE - The goal of the public facilities task force is simple: to provide efficient access to public agencies/services.

The task forces' action plan was presented by Sam Schroeder, who headed up the task force. The group came up with four areas which needed addressing, including:

- Improve the physical accessibility to public facilities.
- Determine cost-sharing opportunities through inter-local agency service agreements.
- Define and support community development of recreation/leisure services.

Support timely expansion of the Wayne airport.

Schroeder said part of the problem the task force found is public input to local elected officials. He asked those listening to the task forces' plans to keep that in mind.

"We're hoping that we're not stepping on any toes but that we're making some feet shuffle," he said. "We can't just stand there and take the heat."

SCHROEDER SAID the first thing is that there is a need to have the public facilities accessibility surveyed by the League of Human Dignity, followed by a determination of the requirements to have further assessments done.

As a group, the public facilities task force found six areas which need immediate addressing. According to one of the activities, the county courthouse led the pack since it is presently not handicapped accessible. Others included city hall, the post office, the library and a need for public restrooms in downtown shopping areas.

The group then hopes to hold two meetings with city officials and county officials to formulate an action plan.

Child care plans falling into place

WAYNE - Of all the task forces' plans, Child Day Care looks to be among the most promising.

According to Mary Temme, who headed the task force, Providence Medical Center has applied for a grant to house 30 children in a child care facility. She said although it is known the need is twice that amount, she knows the task force still has its work cut out for it.

There were three objectives the task force decided to guide itself toward. Temme said the first is to provide after-school care for school-age children, grades one through six. She said a poll conducted recently found there is a need for this type of care.

The second objective dealt with the establishment of a child care resource center, which may be housed in the Wayne Public Library. The resource facility would be an information source for home day care providers as well as a facility where children could go for entertainment.

In conclusion, Temme said the establishment of a day care center, in addition to a potential one by Providence Medical Center, is needed.

She said the sub-committee would analyze the organizational structure followed by a site search and investigation of funding sources. Once this center is established, it would maintain communication with other centers and home day care facilities in Wayne to probe what additional care needs to be provided.

Team works to help business

WAYNE - Expanding and attracting new businesses is something which has been difficult in the past, according to findings by the START Expand/Attract Business Task Force.

The task force, which focused its efforts upon three activity areas, was chaired by local businessman Randy Pedersen.

The first activity will be to develop a brochure/resource library on doing business in Wayne.

"We found it was difficult for people to find resources to start a business in Wayne," Pedersen said. "We also found that people didn't know how to design a business because they had no resources to discuss what the market potential is."

Pedersen said this resource guide would help potential businesses in that direction.

THE SECOND activity the task force chose to direct its efforts was to analyze survey results from the community to find out why money's leaving Wayne. It's hoped that the findings will give local businesspeople some guidance why the money is going out.

"Our plans are to take zip codes from outlying areas and bring in people at random to find out what they're looking for," Pedersen said. "We feel the rural areas and outlying towns' input is important because there's a lot of dollars out there which we aren't tapping into. This survey will also include the college population since the survey turnout from college students was low."

Ninety-five percent of the respondents on the START survey said they were not college students. The surrounding rural areas were not included in the survey.

The third focus area was to research and develop a mentor program for the Wayne area to identify potential new businesses and industries. This program would monitor the age of business owners and the potential for closure of a store due to retirement. The plans include bringing people together to help maintain the retail and industrial base in Wayne.

investment financing is not what I anticipated."

His move to Wayne was not something he and his wife took lightly. His wife Irene, who is eight months pregnant with their third child, is staying in Litchfield, Minn., until the baby arrives. The couple's two children — Nick, 9 and Ben, 6 — will stay with their mother.

He said, in selecting a site for a possible move, they tried to locate within a 300-mile radius of where they were living. When the Wayne job came open, it was a good opportunity, so they looked into it.

In addition, Salitros said he has been pleased by Wayne's polite professionalism. He said the community currently has a freshness about it since so many new people have or will be coming here.

"Every community has professionals who will move on," he said. "Life is transitional but at the same time, it's refreshing. From what I've learned, Linda Smith had a very positive influence on the community. The next person who takes over her job may bring in something that's even more impressive. In my case, I'm just another professional who will bring in some new viewpoints as well. It's a change that's good for a community to go through."

AT THIS POINT in his tenure, Salitros said his primary duties are to ask a lot of questions. He said he needs to learn as much about the city as he can but also, he wants to learn as much about it as possible.

While in Litchfield, Salitros served as the Kiwanis club president. He was a den leader and a tiger cub coordinator for Boy Scouts and he was an active mem-

Since assuming his duties, Salitros has had a chance to meet with all the city's department heads and he said he is impressed.

He said that quality of leadership in the city government is something which laps over to the professionalism and enthusiasm shown by the community.

"I have been impressed with what the town has for facilities," he said. "You sense a certain enthusiasm within the community and I sensed that as did my family."

Ronda Kay Elsberry

Elsberry earns bachelor's in nursing

WAYNE - On May 19, Ronda Kay Elsberry, daughter of Ronald and Karen Elsberry, Wayne, received her bachelor of science degree in nursing from Indiana Wesleyan University.

Indiana Wesleyan University is located in Marion, Ind. It is an accredited four-year, co-ed college sponsored by the Wesleyan Church.

Commencement speaker was Mr. Joseph Watkins, associate director of public liaison for the White House. Watkins has served with the Bush Administration since 1988.

MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

A Memorial Day program was held in Winside on Monday at 10:30 a.m. at the Village Auditorium. It was sponsored by the Roy Reed American Legion Post 252 and the Auxiliary.

Jason Bargstadt read the Gettysburg Address and Jennifer Wacker read "The Name of Old Glory". Guest speaker Wag Wagner, director of the Nebraska Department of Veterans Affairs in Lincoln and a past State Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is originally from Culbertson, NE. He emphasized this was not only a day to honor those who served in the military fighting for this country but all those who gave their lives for this country. They supplied the necessary "fuel" for those serving by providing food, clothing and other needed items.

He also recited the poems "In Flanders Field" by John McCrae and also "The Unknown Soldier".

He reflected on Jennifer Wacker's reading on the flag, commenting on what's happening to our flag today by those who want to have the right to burn it, step on it, spit on it, etc. They are trying to bury our flag today. That's wrong and it should be stopped. We need to help the youth of today understand what the flag means to this country and those who fought for it.

Experience helps

There are times when we hear so many negative stories about young people. However, I would like to share some positive feelings about high school students and teachers from across Nebraska who were recently in Washington, D.C. to participate in the Close Up Foundation government studies program.

For a full week, the 750 participants from Nebraska had the opportunity to visit Washington to develop a better understanding of our democratic process. While here, they saw and questioned Congressional proceedings, journalists, and government experts and shared their views with students from other areas of the country.

They returned home with a deeper awareness of their responsibilities as citizens and the realization that a single individual can make a difference. Their enthusiasm for involvement in the democratic process is to be admired.

The experience in Washington was possible only through the strong support of their parents, teachers and schools. Also various companies and organizations helped make Close Up fellowships available to students in economic need. These sponsors include: Burger King Corporation, Burlington Northern Foundation, Cooper Foundation and Union Pacific Foundation.

All those who helped make the opportunity a reality deserve special recognition.

Guam residents upset

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the first installment of a collection of information resulting from 32 letters to the editor written by students and officials of Inarajan High School in Guam. Their letters are in response to an article which appeared in the Monday, Dec. 4 edition of The Wayne Herald.

Mr. Bob Schroeherr, we strongly suggest that before you commit yourself to telling untrue and maybe even made up statements about the island, due to your inability to locate proper and adequate information, you should first put forth the effort and contact the people who do know about the soil of the island. ... In conclusion, we are sorry and yet piteous that you did not enjoy your stay or appreciate what the island had to offer.

We feel that we have to specifically correct the portion concerning a high unemployment rate. Especially in the youth population: The comment that the youths are unable to attain jobs is quite contrary to the actual employment rate. As of December 1989, Guam has a 2.1 percent unemployment rate and it is continually decreasing.
Ruth F. San Nicholas

The Schoeherrns gave their true picture of Guam through their own perspective, and their own personal biases, but we feel that a true perspective and a true picture should be based on facts.
Mr. Chargualaf's
U.S. history class

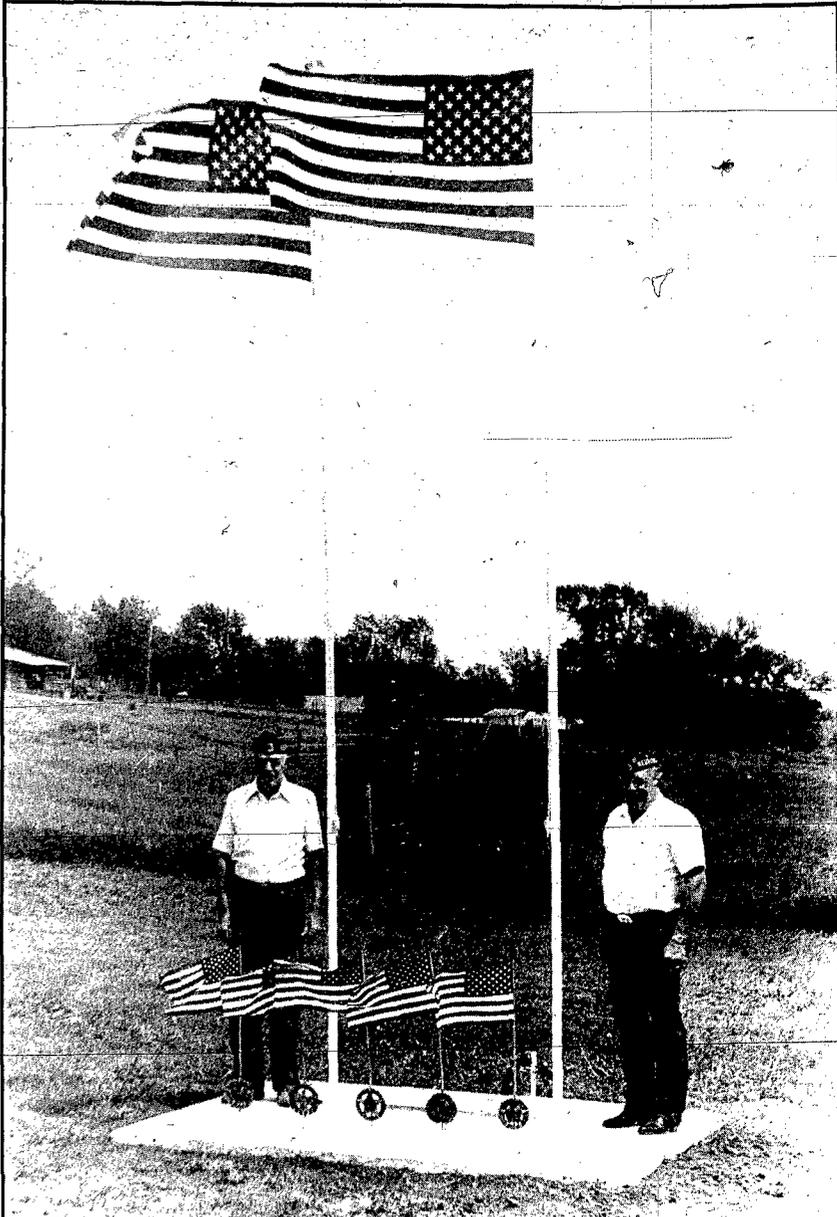

In one particular section of that article it states that the temperature deviates. It stated that the coldest it got was near 80 degrees and the hottest temperature was around 90 degrees. The maximum temperature on Guam is 90 degrees and the minimum is around 70 degrees.
Jolen Tainatongo

We read the section of the article that states there are dangerous remnants of World War II and off-limit parts of the jungle due to booby traps. Also the article states the jungle is so dense that it hasn't been traveled upon in over 40 years. This is false. There are absolutely no booby traps in the jungles of Guam. The only off limit signs in the jungle areas are those posted by owners of the piece of land.
Joseph K.S. Naputi

After reading the actual facts, we hope that you realize the remarks you have made were inaccurate and false. Because of this, we advise you to think twice, if your information is really accurate, before you make any harmful or defacing remarks about others.

According to the article you stated that the drop-out rate was around 50 percent. Please, get your facts straight. According to the Department of Education here on Guam, the drop-out rate at the time you were here was in fact 6.41 percent.

Social Security payments available

AREA - Some people think that if, for any reason, they delay filing an application for social security benefits, they are entitled to benefits retroactively to the month of their first eligibility. That's not the case. If you apply before reaching 65, with few exceptions, you cannot receive payments for months before you apply. If you apply after you reach 65, you may be entitled up to six months retroactive payments. This happens if you meet all the requirements for entitlement to benefits except for filing of an application.

Suppose you reach age 65 in June 1990 but you don't file an application for retirement benefits until June 1991. You can be entitled to retroactive payments back to December 1990. Let's suppose now that you reached 62 in June 1990 and don't file an application until June 1991. Benefits cannot be paid to a retired worker, a spouse or a widow or widower for months before applying, if this would result in a permanent additional reduction of the benefits.

We say "if" because the retroactive payments do not always result in a permanent reduction of benefits. If your spouse is over 65, or under 65 with a child in his or her care, there benefits as your dependents are not subject to reduction and they can receive retroactive payments and so can you. You can receive retroactive benefits for months prior to 65 if you had excess earnings in the first year of entitlement, and these earnings can be applied to months before applying. The number of retroactive months than can be paid depends on the amount of the excess earnings and the months you worked.

Retroactive benefits can also be paid to a disabled surviving spouse or a disabled surviving divorced spouse who is entitled to retroactive benefits for any month before reaching age 60.

Also, a widow(er) or a surviving divorced spouse who files an application in the month after the month of the worker's death may be entitled to benefits for the month of the worker's death.

Social Security is always concerned about the rights you have to retirement and survivors benefits under the program, as well as to Medicare. There are certain rules and waiting periods that insured people have to meet before Medicare is available to them. However, to permit a disabled widow(er) or disabled surviving divorced spouse to have Medicare as soon as possible (provided he or she meets all the requirements for eligibility) he or she is deemed entitled retroactively for up to 12 months, even if monthly benefits are not payable retroactively.

To get more information about retroactive payments, call Social Security. The telephone number is 1-800-234-5772 or 402-371-1595.

Bernier selected to take part in national program

WAYNE - It was announced recently by Robert E. Bernier that the Nebraska Business Development Center (NBDC) at Wayne State College has been selected to take part in a national pilot program designed to uncover and evaluate technological innovations being developed by individuals or small businesses.

Under the pilot program, the Nebraska SBDC will forward promising ideas for inventions to the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST, formerly the National Bureau of Standards) to be evaluated under the Energy-Related Inventions Program, which has been conducted since 1975 by NIST and the Department of Energy (DOE). Inventions believed to have energy-saving potential will be recommended to DOE for possible support. DOE can provide financial support or help in marketing the inventor's idea. Grants typically have ranged between $50,000 and $200,000, with an average of $70,000 per invention. If NIST finds the invention lacks the required energy-saving potential, but nonetheless has commercial promise, it will be referred back to the originating small business development center with suggestions for further development.

The Wayne Nebraska Business Development Center office is participating as part of the statewide NBDC program and the Association of Small Business Development Centers (ASBDC). The ASBDC is a coalition of 54 state and regional SBDC's with a nationwide network of nearly 700 local offices. The centers provide training and guidance to small businesses and entrepreneurs.

"We deal with a great many people, and some of them have good ideas that could be commercially feasible," says Robert E. Bernier, president of the Association and state director of the Nebraska Business Development Center, "but we don't have the expertise to properly evaluate those ideas for the funding to help get their ideas from the workshop to the marketplace. That's where the Energy-Related Inventions Program comes in. We will assist our clients in applying for federal funding, and we will offer counseling during the application process."

Since the Energy-Related Inventions Program started 13 years ago, NIST has recommended over 400 inventions to DOE for support out of 24,000 requests for evaluation. DOE has awarded grants totaling over $20 million.

"Says George Lewett of the National Institute of Standards and Technology's Office of Energy-Related Inventions, "The networks of small business development centers will greatly enhance our ability to find inventors with new ideas. Of course, the more inventions submitted for evaluation, the more are recommended to FOE support, and the more become successful in the marketplace."

Statistics show that only 15 or 20 inventions are recommended to DOE for every 1,000 inventions submitted to NIST for evaluation. Of those recommended, three to five become commercial successes.

The program was developed on a pilot basis during 1989, when inventors' applications for federal assistance through Small Business Development Centers were submitted at a rate of 3.5 times greater than usual. During 1989, 11 SBDC's participated in the program; the 1990 program includes 15 SBDC's.

SCHOOL BOARD

During the regular meeting of the Wakefield School Board on May 14, Barb Meyer's resignation as elementary vocal instructor was accepted. Neal Schnoor of Wisner has been hired as 5-12 instrumental teacher and Brenda McCreedy of Garnavillo, Iowa as the K-12 vocal teacher. The vocal position has been increased from a half-time to full-time position. Earlier this year the board accepted the resignation of Denise Whipple as 7-12 music instructor.

Terry Nicholson, representing the park board, visited with the school board members about the cost of maintaining the park area and what would be a fair rental rate for the school to pay for playing its football games there. No action was taken by the board.

Sandy Bartling and Steve Dalton reported on school owned band instrument inventory and the condition of those instruments. Gregg Cruickshank talked to the board about athletic department needs for the next school year. The board approved the purchase of 12 girls basketball warm-up suits. The board previously approved the purchase of 30 high school football helmets.

Jim Stout, chair-person of the building and grounds committee reported on the results of his committee meeting where they had prioritized future maintenance projects and equipment purchases. Some of the items that were given high priority status for possible completion this summer included continue building cupboard storage space in elementary rooms; painting the lower walls and West wall in the auditorium; improve ventilation in the high school rooms; replacement of certain paved areas between the high school and elementary building; construct sidewalk on north side of elementary playground; maintenance work on swings on playground; installation of bus radios which have been purchased; more computer equipment for business department; new display case for senior pictures, and football bleachers and press box.

One project which has already been completed is the installation of outdoor lights east of the elementary building. The board also accepted the low bid from Fredrickson Oil Company for tires for school vehicles.

The board discussed a no smoking policy in the school buildings. A motion to initiate such a policy for the next school year was defeated. Superintendent Hartman was instructed to poll surrounding schools to see what their policy on smoking is and report to the June board meeting.

In other action the board approved Troy Krusemark as an unpaid aide in supervising the summer weight program; approved the successful teaching of Val Bard and Paul Eaton as they work to renew their teaching certificates; named Hartman as the administrator of federally funded programs and increased the administrators salaries five percent for the 1990-91 school year.

Wayne stop

Program to focus on home economics issues, Craig says

WAYNE - Karen Craig, dean of the college of home economics at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, will speak on the future image and direction of the home economics field during a week long program in June.

One of Craig's stops will be in Wayne on June 6 at the Black Knight Restaurant. She will speak at 11:30 a.m.

"The college is changing to meet the contemporary needs of society," Craig said. In response to these changes in family structure, working patterns of women and the age of the population, the college is modifying its curriculum, Craig said.

This meeting is open to the public as well as home economics alumni, she added. Input is welcome from individuals and groups on topics that could be addressed by educators and researchers in home economics.

CARDS OF THANKS

WE WANT to thank everyone for coming to our open house, for the good wishes by phone, the beautiful cards and gifts. Special thanks to Marlene, Norma and Nyla for getting it all together, to our boys, nieces and nephews and friends for the entertainment, beautiful cake and flowers. Everyone did a good job. We will never forget the shock of opening the Randolph paper and finding out we were having an open house. We appreciate everyone's good intentions. Vince and Ronnie Meyer. M31

I'D LIKE to express my heartfelt thanks for the excellent care I received at PMC. In particular to Drs. Lindau and Folber who stuck with me until the diagnosis was made. The nurses and staff were so friendly and helpful. A special thank you from the bottom of my heart to Pastor Frank and Sister Gertrude. Thanks, too, to all my friends who sent cards and flowers to PMC and Rochester. All of you here in Wayne County have my deepest gratitude. Marilyn (Kirk) Swanson. M31

IN LOVING MEMORY OF RAY LOBERG

Just a short time ago,
God saw that Ray was getting weak
And a cure was not to be.
So He put His arms around him
And whispered "Come to Heaven to live with Me."
With tearful eyes we watched him suffer
And saw him fade away.
Although we loved him dearly,
We could not make him stay.
A dear heart stopped beating,
Hardworking hands were put to rest.
God broke our hearts to prove to us
He only takes the best!
To his grave we wander,
Flowers we place with care.
But only God knows the heartache
As we turn, and leave him there.
We want to thank all of our friends, relatives, and neighbors for food, flowers, cards, memorials and visits during the past months and loss of our loved one, Ray.
A special thanks to the Wayne Family
Practice Doctors, to the Home/Health nurses Ann, Terri, and Kathy, who gave Ray such loving care.
Thanks to Fr. Don for his visits and prayers, to the EMC's for bringing communion to our home and to St.
Mary's funeral committee for preparing and serving the dinner.
A "very special" thank you to the 1st National Bank and their employees for all the support they have given our family and giving me these last few months off to stay at home and care for Ray.
This time together can never be forgotten.
May God bless each and everyone of you who have touched our lives.

Three Ways to Prevent Cancer

Medicines are used for a variety of purposes, including treatment of various types of cancer, but we cannot rely on medicines to help prevent cancer. Many health and cancer authorities recommend the following: •Stop smoking. According to the U.S. government, about 30 percent of all cancer deaths are attributed to use of cigarettes and smokeless tobacco. •Improve your diet. The National Cancer Institute recommends that fat be reduced to no more than 30 percent of total calorie intake; dietary fiber intake increased; and a variety of fruits and vegetables eaten daily. •Reduce alcohol. Alcohol is associated with about three percent of all U.S. cancer deaths.

Nebraska has always been known for its "good life" but our state is gaining a reputation nationwide for good health, too.

Currently, Nebraska boasts the sixth highest life expectancy of any state in the union (73.88 years). Part of the credit for this statistic has to be given to our excellent statewide health care. Nebraska places third nationally in the ratio of hospital beds to population. In addition, our medical costs are a very healthy 73% of the national average.

Of course, when you live in a state where air and water pollution are practically nonexistent, stress levels are barely measurable, and the crime rate is the sixth lowest in the U.S., you just naturally stay healthy.

So the next time you find yourself enjoying the good life here in Nebraska, take a little extra pleasure in the knowledge that you get to enjoy it longer too.

LET'S GET INTO A POSITIVE STATE.
