CDBG funds

As money returns, city works to determine use

By Mark Crist Managing Editor

As Community Development As Community Development Block Grant funds are returned to the City of Wayne, they are revolved for further economic development, according to Nancy Braden, city treasurer.

Braden said $100,000 is currently available to businesses which fall under the CDBG guidelines, but the process for allowing those loans to revolve is far from over.

The City Council will hold a loans to revolve is far from over.

The City Council will hold a public hearing at its Tuesday, July 10 meeting to finalize plans for the CDBC revolving funds. Following council approval, the Department of Economic Development for Nebraska will determine the funds' fate.

fate.
"Its purpose is to help create and maintain jobs within the city," Bradem-said. "The CDBG funds allowed us to bring in Great Dane and the economic benefit has been by far outweighed by the original cost."

ACCORDING TO the guidelines of the revolving loan fund, established by the city, "all projects funded must be funded for the creation or retention of jobs, 51 percent or more of which benefit lower income persons, and said funds used for the purpose of providing financial assistance to businesses for fixed asset acquisition, job training, relocation benefits, job training, relocation benefits, public infrastructure and working capital.

With those guidelines imposed, the level of Wayne Revolving Loan Funds funding shall not exceed $20,000 per new job created. The maximum amount per business or industry shall be $200,000, according to the guidelines.

Right now, as the City Council enters its first July meeting, modifications to the revolving loan modifications to the revolving loan fund must be made at a public hearing. Following the public hearing and the approval of the plan by the City Council, the plan will be submitted to the state for its approval. Upon state approval, businesses may apply for loan money through Wayne Industries.

BRADEN SAID just because a business applies for the money, doesn't mean it will be granted. She said if the application can pass Wayne Industries and the City Council, it must still be approved by the state.

"The main thing to consider is that we have state guidelines we have to abide by," she said. "The smaller businesses may have a problem justifying low to moderate income. If it's a oneperson shop and that's the only income for the family, will that person expect to qualify?"

One exception to that is Restful nights. When CDBG funds first became available, Restful Knights applied for the money so they could relo-cate the business from the floor above Kids' Closet to the former Region IV building. Following that move and repayment of the loan, Restful Knights applied for another so it could relocate to its present location.

"The market increased so much after their initial move, they had to relocate where they are now," Braden said. "Today, they employ

WAYNE - According to information from the Nebraska Scholastic Wrestling Coaches Association, The Wayne Herald will be presented with an award for its wrestling coverage during the 1989-90 season. According to The Wayne Herald's managing editor Mark Crist, all of the credit goes to the work done by sports editor Kevin Peter-son. Peterson has been sports edi-tor of The Wayne Herald for the

"In all the work I've done with sports writers, I'd have to say Kevin is among the best I've ever en-countered," Crist said. "His dedication to his job is really something.

The award The Wayne Herald will receive is for a newspaper under 10,000 circulation. The Wayne Herald was one of three or four other weekly newspapers nomi-nated in the state.

The Norfolk Daily News is this year's recipient for a newspaper with a circulation over 10,000.

"I think he (Peterson) has given wrestling outstanding coverage," said Paul Sok, president of the NSWCA. "Not only has he done a good job of covering Wayne wrestling, but he has done a good job for Winside as well. I think he's giving wrestling the kind of coverage it deserves."

Sok is also the head wrestling coach at Winside High School, which placed second in the Ne-

The Wayne Legion baseball team is amidst a rut they just as soon not ever get out of. The locals have won 13 consecutive games-following a 9-2 win over Scribner on Monday and a Fourth of July 5-4 victory over Wakefield in Wakefield on Wednesday.
Against Scribner Matt Peterson got the pitching victory as he scattered six hits and struck out five.

Wayne pounded out 15 hits in the contest with pitcher Matt Pe-terson doing the bulk of the damage with a single, double and a home run in four plate appear-ances. Brian Lentz also had a 3-4 evening which included a pair of singles and a triple.

singles and a triple.

Cory Wieseler belted a double and a triple and Russ Hamer laced a single and a double while Jeff Griesch and Dave Hewitt each rapped a pair of singles. Brian Moore also singled to round out the 15-hit attack.

Wayne scored twice in the first inning as Hamer hit a single with one out. He stole second and third and with two out Brian Lentz tripled him in. Jason Ehrhardt then singled in Lentz for a quick 2-0 lead.

In the bottom of the second in-ning Wayne added three more runs as Brian Moore singled with one out to trigger things. Matt Pe-terson then singled to put runners at first and second. Cory Wieseler stepped to the plate and ripped an rbi double and then Russ Hamer capped the inning with a 2-run double.

Matt Peterson hit a solo home run in the fourth inning to boost Wayne's lead to 6-0 and in the fifth inning Wayne again scored three runs with Dave Hewitt the three runs with Dave Hewitt the catalyst with a 1-out single to start things off. Matt Peterson then doubled and Cory Wieseler emptied the bases with a triple. Brian Lentz later singled in Wieseler to score Wayne's nine and final run. Wakefield trailed 3-0 heading to the bottom half of the fourth inning when the game was called because of a rain storm. Following the rain the Wakefield squad came back and scored two runs which pulled the game to within one run heading to the fifth. Wayne failed to score in the fifth and Wakefield scored twice more in the bottom of the fifth to take its first lead of the game at 4-3.

In the top of the sixth inning Cory Wieseler reached base on an error to lead off the inning. Hamer then singled and Lutt reached on an error to load the bases. Jeff Griesch then hit into a fielder's choice which scored Wieseler and tied the game.
