Mash: vote may benefit Wayne State By Mark Crist Managing Editor

Wayne State College President Dr. Donald Mash said he was not alarmed by last week's 5-3 vote by the University of Nebraska Board of Regents to allow for LB 1141 to be placed on the November ballot. If accepted by Nebraska voters, the bill would result in an amend-ment to the state's constitution for ment to the state's constitution for ment to the state's constitution for a coordinating commission for state-funded colleges. Currently, the Board of Regents and the State College Board of Trustees act as separate entities but the commission would have some control over both boards if the amendment passes.

The amenument passes. "If the plan is adopted, we still have two systems but the differ-ence is that this bill gives power to the coordinating commission," Mash said. "Under the plan, both boards will have to submit budgets. to the coordinating commission and then make recommendations to the governor." to the governor.

THE BILL WAS a compromise to an earlier bill discussed by state lawmakers which would have re-sulted in governing boards over each of the state's seven college each of the state's seven college institutions with one central com-mission. The former bill failed, however, because it lacked the support of the Board of Regents. LB 1141 provides for the coor-dinating commission with both the Board of Trustees and the Board of Regents to stay in place but with-out as much power.

out as much power. "You will end up with one list going to the governor, rather than two," Mash said. "It will give priori-ties to projects rather than forcing projects to stand on their own merit."

Degradable materials are good for our economy because they are made from U.S. grown crops. Corn is the primary ingredient, but wheat, soybeans and potatoes also can be used. One day, we may be able to replace plastic materials with products made with up to 95 percent cornstarch. Oil is a depletable resource, while we have an abundance of corn. The eco-nomic benefits to the United States are obvious. Another benefit is that cornstarch-based biodegradable materials are recyclable. That means they could either be disposed in landfills or recycled.

How much Vitamin C?

Books and numerous magazine articles have been written on the benefits of taking large doses ("megadoses") of various vitamins including vita-min C. However, most health experts consider taking more than about 100 mg of vitamin C wasteful and, possibly, danger ous. There is controversy regarding the "best" dose of vitamin C that provides optimum benefits for most persons. Individuals who decide to take more than locide to take more than 100 mg of this vitamin each day should guard against possible health hazards by taking the vita-min in divided doses and with meals in order to minimize irritation to the stomach and intestines. Because taking large doses of vitamin C has been linked with insomnia, it would be best not to take the vitamin directly before bedtime, if one is prone to having sleeping difficulties.

Ehrhardt wrestles in national tournament

Wayne wrestler Jason Ehrhardt recently took part in what is termed "the most prestigious high school wrestling tournament in the nation" in Cedar Falls, Iowa from live 15.20 July 15-20.

In order to go to this national tournament you have to win in the qualifying tournaments in your respective state. In all over 1500 kids took part from 41 states during the five day double elimination tournament.

Jason participated at 191.5 lbs. Jason participated at 191.5 lbs. for Team Nebraska and in his first match he wrestled a kid from Wis-consin and won 10-6. In the sec-ond match Ehrhardt defeated a kid from Minnesota by pin. Ehrhardt then defeated a Col-orado wrestler 10-3.

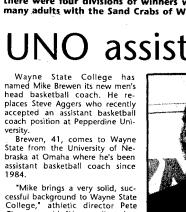

"There were 68 kids in Jason's weight class," Lonnie Ehrhardt said. "Jason lost his fourth round match to a high school all american from Pennsylvania, 10-6." Jason's fifth match ended with a California kid decisioning him 10-6. "Jason was ahead 5-0 in the fifth match before losing," Lonnie said. Allen Post Office celebrates 100 years of service to area

The Allen Post Office cele-brated 100 years of service to the Allen area during an open house held Saturday morning at LeAnn's Hilltop Cafe, located next door to the post office.

Over 150 persons turned out for the celebration which included a brief program.

Audrey Harder decorated a special cake which was served by Allen Postmaster Judy Olson and Clerk Rowena Ellis.

THE REV. T. J. Fraser gave the invocation and former Allen Post-master Clarence Jeffrey led the flag salute. Remarks were given by State Senator Gerald Conway and by Kathy Boswell, Allen centennial co-chaims co-chairman.

Special recognition was given to former Allen postmasters in atten-dance, including Rick Hank of Ne-ligh and Clarence Jeffrey and Heb Ellis, both of Allen.

Other former postal employees recognized during the program in-cluded Mildred Smith of South Sioux City and Richard Olson and Bill Loukota, both of Allen. Clarence Jeffrey and Marcia Rastede also were recognized for RECORDS SHOW that the application for a post office at Allen was filed by W. A. Hickman on June 13, 1890. Hickman was appointed postmaster on June 21, 1890. The seal on the document shows the date of July 19, 1890.

The village to be served was described as having about 40 residents, with the population of the area to be served by the office estimated at 200.

The location of the new office was described as 19 miles south of the Missouri River and two miles south and east of South Creek. The document also describes the site as being near the Ne-braska and Western Railroad — 600 feet south of the track.

The names of the nearest existing post offices were listed as Springbank in an easterly direction at 2 1/2 miles; Concord in a westerly direction at 9 miles and Martinsburg in a northeasterly direction at 7 miles.

THE POST office has served the community for 100 years under the direction of 17 postmasters. Their names and dates of ap-pointments include W. A. Hickman (6-21-1890); Sherman E. Reinius (1-27-1892); Charles A. Coffin (2-16-1892); Olav W. Farrell (4-10-(1-27-1892); Charles A. Cottin (2-16-1892); Oley W. Farrell (4-10-1896); William F. 4-H plans for bonus sale for August 5

AREA - As the livestock industry is important to the health of the Wayne County economy, anything businessmen can do to promote livestock in Wayne County can benefit us all; therefore, a 4-H live-stock bonus sale can help promote the industry. the industry.

The Wayne County 4-H will hold a livestock bonus auction Sunday, August 5 at 4 p.m. at the Wayne County Fairgrounds in the livestock arena

This is how the Wayne County 4-H livestock bonus auction will function:

• Each 4-Her who exhibits live-stock is entitled to auction one market beef, hog, sheep or one beef pen of three.

• A businessman may bid a bonus on any animal going through the auction. In 1989, bids on single beeves averaged $168.33; swine $114.05; and lambs $109.33. The bonus bid you make will be the amount the 4-Her receives. The 4-Her retains ownership of the ani-mal and will pick up the bonus check from you on a business day following the fair.

• There is also a separate pool that will be pro-rated among breeding beef, feeder and bucket calves, dairy and dairy goat ex-hibitors who do not have a market animal going through the ring. The animal going through the ring. The contribution to this pool is a mini-mum of $10. This will be a special borus to these 4-Hers, but they will not take their animal through the auction. You may send this pool money to either the First Na-tional Bank, the State National Bank, both of Wayne, or to the Wayne County Extension Office.

· People who wish to participate in the auction will receive a pate in the auction will receive a complimentary ticket to the fair-grounds if they contact any of the following committee members: Dennis Puls, Mick Topp, Bob Hansen, Howard Greve, Bill Dickey, Galen Wiser, Randy Miller, Robert Merchant, Swede Frederickson or John Dorcev. John Dorcey.

If you have any questions, please contact a committee mem-ber. They will be glad to explain the program to you. If you wish, they can do the bidding for you, All donations for the bonus pool must be received by Monday, Aug. 6.

Thousands of older Americans who want to compete in sports are getting the chance to do it in Senior Olympics, which are conducted in many communi-ties. While the list of individual and team events may vary, they often range from archery to volleyball and can be as strenuous as a 10-kilometer road race. The Wayne Herald, Thursday, July 26, 1990

How do you describe it? All of the planning, ordering, telephon-ing, writing, organizing, cussing, and discussing? My senses are still reeling, and I was only a very small part of it.

You will "read all about it", and see countless pictures, and if inter-ested, there is videotape, but you "had to be there!"

From the torch run from Northside early Friday morning, to the lighting of the birthday cake, all the way through to the square dance and gospel sing on Sunday night, it was an unqualified success.

How could we have had better weather in July? a soaking rain on Thursday, cool clouds in the day time, sunshine at intervals, and downright cool at night.

Two ladies co-chaired the cele-bration: two tireless, cheerful ladies who were everywhere; singing, dancing, cooking, and smiling all the time. They were incredible.

But so were all the others But so were all the others. There was Judy, riding herd on 22 kids who performed in the pageant; Mick and Randy, who moved props, pulled curtains, and engineered the balloon drop; Jim and Crash, lining up truck beds for the band to use as a stage in soaking rain; the guys who hauled tables and chairs from all the churches in town to the H.S. gym. churches in town to the H.S. gym, and had some back in time Sunday school. for

We should have been smart, and sent a contingent of workers to each of the other communities celebrating this year, and asked them to come here and help.

Many of the town's residents were so busy, they didn't see the show!

Someone had to get up at 4:00 to greet the bread man; the guy who runs the barbecue started at 6:30 Sunday morning, and I heard that 3000 were served.

Speaking of serving, Herb and Joyce Nieman served 700 folks in 1 hour at the alumni banquet. That's efficiency!

There were officials and score-keepers for 24 teams of sand vol-leyball, not to mention all the hauling of sand.

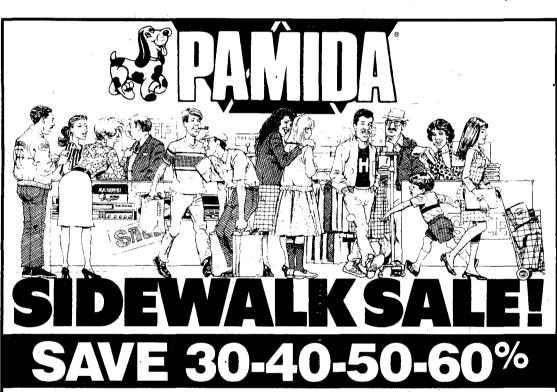

The auditorium floor was cleaned after three dances; the choir director prepared two choirs and all the baton twirlers.

Forty sheet cakes went into the birthday cake, and thirty packages of powdered sugar into the frost-

I am writing to publicly thank the chairmen and committees who worked long and hard to make the Winside centennial and alumni banquet a huge success!

You did a fantastic lob! Many people data a particle for way and all need a pat on the back, but the chairmen were the back-bone of the organization!

Thanks again! Norma Brockmoller Winsider since 1956

Letters Welcome Letters from readers are welcome. They should be timely, brief and must contain no fi-belous statements. We reserve the right to edit or reject any letter.

Recently we received two letters to the editor that are unsigned. Since it is company policy not to publish unsigned letters, we are holding on to them until we get a response from the authors. One of the letters has a Wakefield postmark and the other is from

Wayne. Until the anonymous authors notify us who they are, we can't publish them

To whom it concerns, both of these letters seem like timely, valid is-sues and others would probably like to hear your views. We are asking the authors to identify their letters so we can publish them.

IF YOU WERE wondering, the Wayne Chicken Show was a smash. Ac-cording to Chicken Show officials, over 5,000 people showed up for the decegg event and were pleasantly surprised by what they saw. In addition, the Winside Centennial saw somewhere between 8,000 and 10,000 people show up for the three-day blast. People really got a chance to see how life has evolved over the past 100 years. Winside and Chicken Show officials are to be commended for their efforts. In addition, both events made me proud to be back in Nebraska. Each event had outstanding parades and that was something you miss in Den-ver and parts of Kansa. It shows that people around here really enjoy pa-rades and both parades were worth enjoying. If you missed either event, you really missed some exciting, fun-filled times.

BACK TO A MORE serious note. Since the last time my column appeared, two national events of prominence have occurred. Obviously, the resignation of Supreme Court Justice William Brennan has held prominent space in newspaper headlines

With the changing of the guard, and the appointment of a new justice — who most likely will be David Souter — the United States faces some interesting decisions ahead on not only abortion rights but others which the Court faces annually. I hope for the sake of the nation that won't in-clude abridged first amendment freedoms.

SCHOOL BOARD The Wakefield Board of Educa-tion met and adopted a uniform dress code policy for physical edu-cation students in grades 5-10. PE instructor Paul Eaton visited with the board about a standard uni-form for students and showed an example of gray shorts and maroon t-shirt which he said would be purchased for approximately $12 per set. The board suggested the set be made available to students at $10 at $10. Larry Clay, representing the Board Policy Committee, pre-sented several policies to the board for possible adoption. Most of the new policies, according to Superintendent Derwin Hartman, deal with Rule 10 which is the school accrediation standard One school accrediation standard. One of the new policies deals with the use of tobacco inside the school facilities and vehicles. Under the new policy that was adopted by the board, according to Mr. Hartman, there will be a complete ban on the use of tobacco products in all indoor facilities and school vehion th cles Insurance values on the elementary and high school build-ing was increased by the board from $3,524,190 to $3,850,000. Insurance values are adjusted periodically, Mr. Hartman stated, to keep up with replacement costs.

ride to work together. Also the people and bosses are all really easy to get along with." FIRST NATIONAL BANK'S SENIOR CITIZEN CORNER BEWARE OF SUMMER'S DEADLY THREAT: The Fourth of July is the unofficial start of summer for most folks. It's also a reminder of how potentially dangerous hot weather can be for seniors who may not be able to afford adequate cooling facilities in their homes. Just a rew years ago, a severe heat wave in Texas resulted in a heartbreaking number of deaths among seniors who died of heat-related causes. In most cases, it was because they of heat-related causes. In most cases, it was because they either couldn't afford to run even an electric fan, or were unaware of the dangers of hyperthermia (when the body temperature reaches dangerously high levels). In 1988 alone, some 8,000 seniors died of hyperthermia. Older people living in the Northeast or Midwest, where high humidity as well as high temperatures factor into the heat problem, are at high risk for developing the potentially deadly condition. Hyperthermia is also a threat to those, particularly seniors, who have hypertension, diabetes, and heart problems.

heart problems. The American Association of Retired Persons is conducting a new outreach effort in selected regions of the country focusing on the Low Income Home Energy assistance to those on limited incomes. Information will also be provided on other available programs including CAP (the Crisis Assistance Program) which helps those threatened with utility termination for inability to pay. The three AARP pilot programs will be conducted with local cosponsoring agencies in southern Louisiana, the lower Rio Grande valley in Texas, and in the greater Omaha, Nebraska region.
