Council approves plan

Agenda items offers city officials some rest

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

After facing controversy over curb-side garbage pickup and the approval of a grant to Griess Rexall over the past month, the Wayne City Council took a little break from the commotion during its meeting Tuesday.

Probably most pressing on the agenda was the approval of the Wayne County Local Emergency Operations Plan. The council approved the plan Tuesday night 7-0 with councilwoman Sheryl Lindau absent from the meeting.

According to city administrator Joe Salitros, the plan is rather detailed. Upon introducing it to the council, he asked police chief Vern Fairchild to elaborate.

"This is the first major revision of the plan since 1970," Fairchild said. "It's taken 1 1/2 years to complete but it has the blessing of the state agency."

In a nutshell, the purpose of the plan is to offer a response system in the event of a major disaster.

IN OTHER AGENDA items, the council:

- Approved a request by Janner Photography to place a sign on the front of his building on Main street pending approval by the state highway commission.
- Introduced Terry Frye, Brian

Loberg and Betty McGuire as new employees of the city.

- Approved a special designated liquor permit for the Windmill Restaurant, Inc. for a special fundraiser put on by Heritage Homes, the Windmill and Aid Association for Lutherans Friday in the Windmill parking lot for Dennis and Candi Schlines; a wedding dance Oct. 6 at the National Guard Armory; and WSC homecoming Oct. 19 at the National Guard Armory.

- Approved a special designated liquor permit for the V.F.W. to host a Ducks Unlimited banquet at the National Guard Armory on Oct. 1.

Hobby keeps Laurel man's head in the clouds

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

Some may say Laurel's Frank Wickett has his head in the clouds, but that might just be the way he likes it.

Wickett, one of the organizers of the annual Laurel Fly-In, is the proud owner of a Pitt Special, an airplane he built from scratch.

Although 6'5" tall, Wickett says he wouldn't trade much for the plane he built for $9,000. Since the Pitt Special was originally built for pilot Betty Skelton in the 1930s, it wasn't designed for someone as tall as Wickett but modifications he's made solved the problem.

"I made it so it was comfortable for me," he says.

Wickett, who lives north of Laurel and houses his plane in Wayne, said the model 51C originally flew with only 85 horsepower. His model has 190-horsepower, which enables it to fly at a peak speed of 170-plus mph.

FOR THE MOST PART the plane has a number of resemblances to its predecessor. Wickett said his aircraft's wings are longer than the previous model by a little over two feet and the tailpost has been moved back 4-inches. Those modifications were necessary for not only the pilot but the added horsepower.

"When you build your own plane you really have to realize your own faults," he says. "You don't start on it unless you know you'll finish and getting it done is very time consuming. Some projects take 10-15 years to complete."

AIRPLANE ENTHUSIAST FRANK WICKETT stands next to his pride and joy, a modified model of the Pitt Special.

Probably some of the strongest resemblances Wickett's model has to the original is that the original was built with a wood frame and molded in canvas. Wickett's Pitt Special's frame is built of spruce wood and its molding is dacron.

According to Wickett, when the Pitt Special was built for Skelton, it was designed for a person around

Board approves teacher salaries, tutorial grant

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

The approval of a special needs grant awarded to the Wayne-Carroll Schools and the finalization of teacher salaries for the 1990-91 school year capped the agenda items for the school board during its monthly meeting Tuesday night.

The base salary for teachers in the 1990-91 school year is $16,775, which is a small increase over the 1989-90 base salary pay of $16,325.

In addition to the increase in the base salary, the increases in health, dental and disability insurance payments will be paid by the school district.

Currently, the district pays the full premium for term life insurance, full payment on long-term disability insurance and single dental coverage is paid by the district for full-time employees, according to the 1990-91 salary schedule for teachers.

The average salary for all teachers, based on years experience and number of college education hours, is $26,349.59, according to data provided by the schools. The total number of dollars put out for teacher salaries is $1,586,579.97.

IN A BIT OF GOOD NEWS to the board, the Wayne Community Schools has been awarded a vocational special needs grant, according to a letter from Bob Uhing.

The vocational special needs grant is for the 1990-91 school year in the amount of $6,100. It is a federal grant funded for one year. In order to maintain the money, the school district will have to apply for it annually. No local money is involved in the grant.

The special needs grant is designed to offer tutorial assistance to students in grades 9-12.

Students who can be served by the tutorial help include: the economic disadvantaged, which is determined by students eligible for free and reduced price meals; academic disadvantaged, which refers to students who score below the 25th percentile on standardized achievement tests; students of limited English proficiency; handicapped students verified under Rule 51 and eligible for special education service; and potential dropouts, which includes students with a high rate of absenteeism, show a lack of motivation or those who exhibit delinquent behavior in the school and/or community.

According to the letter from Uhing, 25 percent of the students enrolled in the district meet one of the criteria to be eligible.

IN OTHER MATTERS, the Wayne School Board:

• Learned from superintendent Dr. Francis Haun that enrollment figures were close to projections. He said the 1991-92 census figures show the enrollment increase will continue but historically, that has not been the case. He added that many of the new students to the

Bonds for addition, tax levies given attention by board

WAYNE - Municipal bonds for the addition to Wayne Elementary and changes in valuations and property tax levies weighed heavily on the Wayne School Board agenda Tuesday night.

The actual valuation for the 1990-91 fiscal year was figured at $120,900,390 for Wayne County, according to figures provided by superintendent Dr. Francis Haun. In Dixon County, the total valuation for students in the Wayne schools was $3,870,010.

In Wayne County, the valuations increased $5.1 million over 1989-90 figures. In Dixon County, the figures represented a $420,000 increase.

Total valuation for the schools in Dixon and Wayne County was figured at $124,770,400, which is a $5.5 million increase.

As a result of LB 1059 and the changes in valuation figures, tax levies for the general fund was estimated to have fallen to 1.2419 in 1990-91 from 1.57078 in 1989-90. In the sinking fund, the figure was estimated at 0.1, up from 0.0524, due to the addition to the elementary school, Haun said.

THE SCHOOL BOARD learned

Charges filed in alleged assault

WAYNE - Charges have been filed against Darrin D. Fulford, age unknown, of Wayne, who was arrested Tuesday night following an alleged assault on a male college student late last week.

Chad Honeywell, 18, of Battle Creek, sustained head injuries when he was apparently struck in the head with a baseball bat Friday night, according to county attorney Bob Ensz, who filed charges Tuesday. Honeywell is a freshman at Wayne State College.

Ensz said Fulford has been charged with second degree assault. If found guilty, Fulford could receive up to five years in the state penitentiary and a $10,000 fine for the class IV felony.

According to Wayne Police reports, the incident occurred at 10:54 p.m. on Sept. 7 near 10th and Main.

According to Ensz, Wayne State College football coach Dennis Wagner was one of four individuals who witnessed the incident. He said Wagner observed an individual he identified as Fulford running across north Main carrying a baseball bat. He said Wagner then saw another individual lying on the ground.

No reports about the extent of the injuries or Honeywell's condition were made available, but he was treated and released from Providence Medical Center.

Fulford was a 1990 graduate of Wayne State College.

Mrs. Audrey Wiseman, a member of Wayne Chapter 194 Order of the Eastern Star (OES), was honored during a special ceremony conducted Monday evening at the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Wiseman received her 50-year pin, a gift from the Grand Chapter of Nebraska OES.

Mrs. Wiseman was initiated into OES in Sutherland, Neb. in May of 1940. She was a member of the Hastings OES chapter for many years before transferring her membership to Wayne.

She is a past matron of OES and served as a district supervisor for a number of years.

PAST matrons and past patrons of the chapter also were honored at Monday night's meeting.

Guests at the meeting included Thomas Nye, executive director of the Plattsmouth Masonic Home and Past Grand Master of Nebraska Masonic Lodges, and Mrs. Ruth Holley, Past Matron of Miriam Chapter 175 at Laurel.

Nye spoke to the group and presented a film of the Plattsmouth Masonic Home and the various activities offered to the residents.

TWENTY-FIVE members of the Wayne OES chapter attended the Grand Officers of Nebraska OES annual visitation hosted by Wisner Star Chapter 149 on Aug. 28 in Wisner.

Co-hosting the visitation were members of Beulah Chapter 40 of Norfolk, Stanton Chapter 156, and Wayne Chapter 194.

Members of the Wayne chapter also attended the annual 4-H Achievement Program and barbecue on Aug. 28 at the Masonic Eastern Star Home for Children at Fremont, along with a reception for Shirley Frink, Grand Secretary, at the Masonic Temple in Fremont on Aug. 25 and a reception for Robert Jones, Grand Chaplain of Nebraska, held Sept. 9 at the Masonic Temple in Wakefield.

THE WAYNE OES chapter will participate in the "Adopt a Highway" program on Sept. 15. The program permits organizations to clean designated areas of highways surrounding Wayne and other parts of Nebraska.

Members of the Wayne Masonic Lodge and Wayne Chapter 194 OES will meet for a picnic on Sept. 18 at 6 p.m. in Bressler Park, hosted by Wayne Lodge 120.

Viewpoint Amendment would cripple the entire state

What is the 2 percent solution? If you don't know by now, it's time to learn because it will affect us all.

If passed, the amendment will hold Nebraska's budget increases to 2 percent a year. If a budget needs to increase more than 2 percent a year, voters will decide the budget's fate. If voters turn down a budget increase, the school cannot raise its budget at all for that fiscal year.

In this day and age, it is not the answer to the state's rising economy. For years, Nebraska has been behind economically and since the economy reversed its recessed trend in the late '80s, we've been trying to catch up with the rest of the nation. At this point, the last thing we need is a two percent spending lid.

With inflation at 5 percent a year and budget increases limited to 2 percent, Nebraska would fall behind 3 percent a year. If that's economic progress, who needs it.

For instance, let's look at a worst case scenario: In November, voters pass the 2 percent spending amendment, as a result of its passing, all governmental budgets are slashed.

Wayne State College, primarily funded from state money, lays off all its non-essential personnel (whatever that means); contracted teachers at the college file lawsuits due to the layoffs and several hundred professionals are unemployed.

Such is the case with non-essential employees of Wayne County ... and the City of Wayne ... as well as Wayne-Carroll Public Schools.

If that's not enough, the amendment's passage will most likely shut down senior care facilities, hospitals and a variety of other governmentally funded facilities, like the Northeast Extension Center. Sports teams may be eliminated across the board and if you enjoy Nebraska Big Red football, you might end up kissing it goodbye as well.

As a result of fewer services by our governments, fuel prices and electric prices will most likely increase. If Wayne draws another major industry to town, the city cannot provide sewer or water to that industry because it doesn't have the money in its budget. That fact doesn't even begin to touch upon the effect the amendment might have on our public schools.

Did I mention that if the amendment passes, it can't be repealed for (at least) three years. If we pass it, we're stuck with it and this one we can't blame on some stupid politician.

The question we should ask ourselves is why should we run the state into financial ruin for the purpose of falsely slowing the rate of inflation. Additionally, why do we want to reverse Nebraska's progress over the past two years?

These are just a few examples of what the 2 percent spending lid will do. Such a drastic measure would be regressive and throw us back to the stone ages economically; because of that, who needs it?

Letters

A letter home

For the past month now we've been cruising the waters just outside the Persian Gulf. Like millions of other Americans, our lives have been directly impacted by one crazy individual. A man who many of us had never heard of before, now has us glued to the latest news reports.

On Aug. 2, the USS Independence Battle Group got orders to steam into the North Arabian Sea. A sudden sense of reality and professionalism came over the crew. We knew this was our job, yet we had our fears. We thought about poison gas. We thought about our families back home. The first few days were filled with uncertainty. We arrived on station and waited. The planes on the deck filled to their max with every possible combination of rockets, missiles and bombs. We felt a bit uneasy. We drilled and drilled. We had prepared for these kind of situations and now felt ready. Listening to the BBC and VOA shortwave broadcasts, we stayed in tune with the situation. Each hour that went by had another country condemning the Iraqi invasion and showing support for the U.S. presence in the region.

It made us feel good to know that we were being noticed by the rest of the world. Dan Rather on CBS, and a number of other reporters came to visit our little world. We felt like real people. And the world continued to show their support for the American military. All over the U.S. and abroad, families started to ship over to the Middle East. A move that left thousands of families separated from Mom's and Dads, brothers and sisters. Yet Americans continued to show their support.

I know that I am only one body in the U.S. Armed Forces. I am nothing alone. But together with the American public, I feel terrific today. It means a lot to be noticed. We have received letters from people all over the country addressed to "Any Indy Sailor". Everyone telling of their support. The letters are printed in the ships daily paper. Each one leaves us with a greater sense of pride. I am proud to be a part of the Armed Forces.

Things are still tense in the region, but we are much more prepared, should something go astray. I know that the military advisors have thought out the best possible actions for all personnel involved. We are working together as the Armed Forces this time, and we are doing it well. We realize that this is not the Hilton, but we're doing just fine.

Now it's my turn to say thanks...to all of you for showing your support and letting it be heard. It does feel good. There are two people on the Indy from the hometown area. Myself, from Concord, and David Krueger from Belden. I know there are many others here, in the Gulf area, being missed back home. Your support has made all of our jobs much easier.

Coming here, we have left our families in Nebraska. Our Moms have never felt comfortable watching us grow up and move away. It's a natural instinct of theirs to worry. My mother is a Pro. Through all of this, mothers need a bit of support themselves. So we, the crew of the USS Independence would like to pass on this simple request to all of you...if you know a Mom, Dad, Sister, Brother, Husband or Wife, with a family member involved in the Iraqi Crisis, please take a few minutes and see how they are doing today. A little love and understanding would mean the world to those who worry. It would mean a lot to us too; Thanks...

We look forward to an early and safe trip home. We think of our families each and every day. We go to church on Sunday and pray, each in our own way. So all and all we're doing okay. We ask our families not to worry. Just say a prayer for us from time to time. We're missing you now, loving you always...

Terry L. Rhodes
For the crew of the
USS Independence

Thank you

I would like to thank you for the little article you had in the paper about me.

Another reason for this letter is to discuss the men overseas. I just got back from Virginia and while I was there I saw something I thought was very touching. All over Hampton and neighboring cities, there were yellow ribbons on everything; mostly trees. Upon seeing this I remembered the song "Tie a Yellow Ribbon around the Old Oak Tree." They say Tony Orlando wrote that song for the release of hostages in the '70s. You might want to check that part but feel Nebraskans should show the same concern for the boys who are over there. Why not start tying yellow ribbons around our trees. The sooner our soldiers return the better.

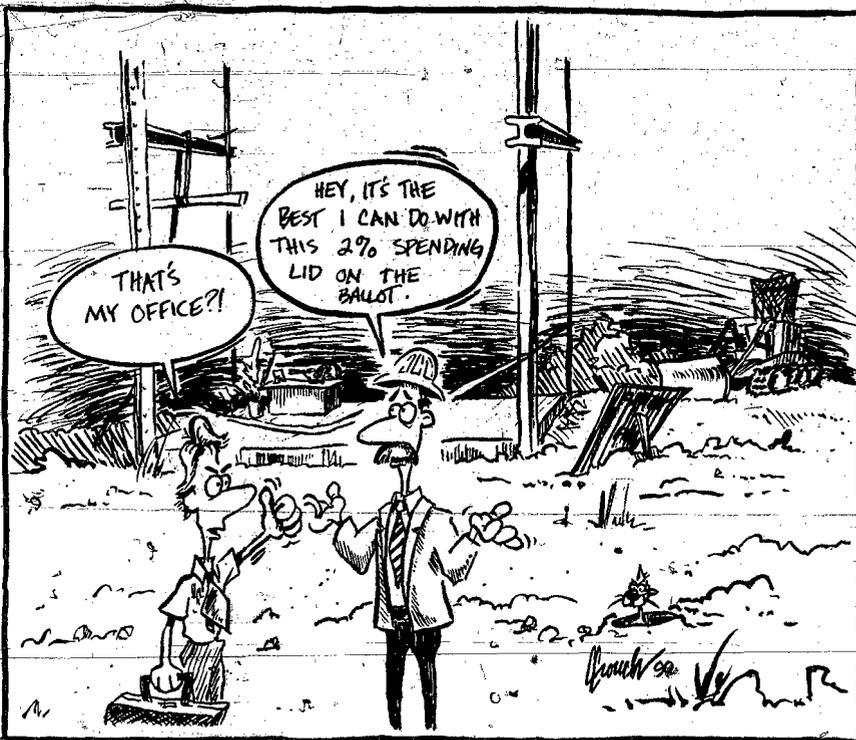

Thanks for taking the time to read this. I will be sending this idea to Norfolk, too, so it spreads but I wanted to send it to you for the article you did. Again, thanks.

Deb Obermeyer, Winside

A Message from the City Administrator's Office

By Joe Salitros

In the last decade or so, the Community of Wayne has experienced a healthy expansion from its efforts in economic development. Because of our market and growth potential, several nationally franchised chains—Dairy Queen, Pizza Hut, Godfather's, Hardee's, Casey's, and 7-11—have launched successful businesses in our community. Expansion of our manufacturing base has taken place with the addition of Heritage Homes, Restful Knights, and Great Dane Trailers. The attraction of First National of Omaha's Bankcard Service Center provides us with an important step in building a base of "jobs for the future" in the telecommunications field.

Economic development is a dynamic process in which communities must engage if they are to reap the benefits of new jobs, more payroll to be spent in the community, increased demand for housing, higher levels of consumption of local goods and services, and additional property tax valuation. What and how much we sell on "Main Street" is directly related to our successful efforts in the economic development arena. In the last five years, economic development activities in Wayne have resulted in an additional 400 jobs, $5 million in annual payroll, and $6 million of increased property valuation. We can credit in a large measure Wayne Industries for this increase.

However, if we are to be competitive with the myriad of other communities looking to increase their economic health, we must realize that economic development is everyone's business—from the individual worker and taxpayer all the way up to our largest corporations, educational institutions, governmental agencies, and energy vendors. The State stimulates economic development by providing tax incentives, education, and job training. City and county governments often provide incentives relating to financing tools, utilities, and transportation. Other key players include Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) and Peoples Natural Gas who often bring forth commercial and industrial prospects interested in Nebraska or particularly in Wayne.

Our success in attracting Timpte to establish their headquarters in Wayne grew out of a collaboration of efforts between the State, the City, the County, Wayne Industries, and NPPD. Wayne State College (WSC) played a key role in bringing First National of Omaha's Bankcard operation to Wayne. By initiating changes to their computer curriculum, WSC can provide their students with the skills necessary to fill many of the new jobs. While the players and incentives may change for each opportunity, the City is generally a pivotal element in the process.

There are also costs associated with economic development:

- More people mean more children and increased school costs.
- More houses require additional infrastructure such as street, water, sewer, electric, and natural gas utilities.
- More cars add to the traffic control and street maintenance budgets.

Quality of life can be affected by economic development. Wayne has been fortunate in that the people, businesses, and industries who have located here have exhibited the same midwestern work ethic as has been evident for many years. Because of our economic diversity, we have a mix of manufacturing workers, business people, professional workers, and educators with a strong sense of community pride.

Currently, one of our newest corporate neighbors, First National of Omaha Bankcard Center, has a strong desire to increase its presence in Wayne. We have been told by officials of the bank that the people who are employed at the Wayne facility are among the best and most productive employees in their similar operations. According to one official of First National, "The quality of employees and (job) applicants, as well as the work ethic, has made our operation a success."

The most economically feasible location for First National of Omaha to expand is within the building in which they are located. This space is occupied by Griess Rexall. The City has been asked to provide some assistance in relocating the drugstore. A request for a $40,000 grant was submitted by Wayne Industries to cover about 30 percent of the relocation costs. The benefits to the community by the card center expansion are an additional 35-40 new jobs, an increase in payroll of approximately $500,000 annually, and the additional tax base resulting from the new furnishings and equipment in both of these businesses. At the public hearing Tuesday evening, this request was approved by the City Council.

Our goal as a community is to continue to work together to enhance the economic development efforts in Wayne. We can be as equally successful in the 90s as we were in the 80s. Wayne can look forward to a bright future as we approach the rising sun of the 21st century.

Despite focus on Iraq, other changes occurring

While the world's attention is riveted upon the Middle East, major internal changes continue in the Soviet Union. In particular, the Baltic States of Latvia, Lithuania, and Estonia are formalizing a break with Moscow.

This month marks the fifty-first anniversary of the infamous Molotov-Ribbentrop Pact, where the Soviet Union and Nazi Germany agreed to divide Eastern Europe. As a result of this agreement, Hitler invaded Poland and Stalin seized the Baltic nations. It appears, however, that this old wrong soon will be corrected. It is no longer a question of whether the Baltic states will achieve true self-determination, but when.

Latvian officials have announced that their negotiations with Soviet Authorities on independence will begin at the end of August. It is reported that the Soviets have agreed that during these talks they will treat the Latvian delegation as equals. This is an important step, because it signifies that the Latvians are no longer merely representatives of one of the Soviet republics.

Lithuania and Estonia have appointed similar delegations and plan to push for independence as soon as possible. And while the Baltic states are pressing most aggressively, other Soviet republics are also considering a break with Moscow. Armenia, Georgia, and Ukraine have active independence movements. Interestingly, the Rus-

U.S. Trade Mission Set to Discuss Agricultural Trade with Central Europe.

A U.S. agricultural trade and development mission is slated to travel to Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, and elsewhere in Central Europe. The delegation will include officials from the Department of Agriculture, the Department of State, and the U.S. Agency for International Development.

The movement toward democratization and free market economies in Central Europe have opened up exciting new markets for U.S. agricultural products. Central European nations imported over $200 million in agricultural commodities from the U.S. last year, and there is no reason this trade cannot significantly increase. In particular, the United States has an opportunity to greatly increase trade in bulk commodities such as grains and soybean meals.

Harvest crews offer cultural scene

Traveling harvest crews have long been part of Nebraska's agricultural scene. But the ways of these itinerant workers change with the times, as this 1925 account reports:

"There is a peculiarly lonely and deserted atmosphere this year about the best known 'Hotels de Hobo,' otherwise known in the lingo of the knights of the bumpers as the 'jungles.' In other years (but not this one), these popular havens of rest have fairly teemed with the odors of boiling coffee, roasted chicken and steaming pots of pork and beans.

"Today only a straggling, old timer drops in for the night and then, disgusted, hops on the earliest morning freight for other parts. But still no happiness—no more swapping of yarns—for even the box car pullmans, which once creaked under the burden of numerous passengers are sharing the similar fate of the 'jungles.'

"The harvest season is not the same as it 'uster be.' A startling revolution has taken place. Something of the aristocratic tendency has gained a foothold. Reports of the field agents of the United States employment service show that approximately 50% of the traveling harvest hands are now making use of automobiles. The others are either paying full railroad fare or are taking advantage of the reduced rates offered in some states.

"In other years these followers of the harvest helped themselves to free transportation at the expense of the railroads, riding the box cars and bumpers, and confiscating the hobo jungles for the nights.

"The use of the automobile by harvest hands began last season, but only a few had come to favor the idea. This year, five or six men put in a few dollars together and purchase a used car at small cost. This car carries them from the Texas fields on north into Canada. When the season is over they are able to sell the car for little less than the original output.

"Another rather important change which has a considerable influence in this evolution is that of the character of the men who follow the harvest. A few years ago these traveling harvest hands were for the most part the confirmed class of hobos. Today they are made up chiefly of factory workers from eastern cities who follow the harvest as a sort of summer outing. Many have families back home whom they are supporting. Another large class is made up of college men, mostly from eastern and east central states."

Of course, this change was not permanent. All too soon the hard times of the 1930s would force many to again "ride the rails."

Wayne State earns ranking after win

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne State Wildcat football team has started off the 1990 season with a 2-0 record after defeating Evangel College 28-20 Saturday afternoon in the friendly confines of Memorial Field in front of an estimated crowd of 2300.

The last time a Wayne State football team started off their season with two straight victories, the year was 1965. Evangel came into Wayne with a top 20 rating in NAIA Division II but it was Wayne State who made the most noise and following the win the Wildcats were rewarded for their efforts on the young season with the number 14 ranking in the nation for all NCAA Division II teams. Incidentally, it's the first ever ranking for WSC on the NCAA level.

"After we beat UNO a lot of people thought we would have a relatively easy time with Evangel," WSC coach Dennis Wagner said. "We were not surprised that the game was as close as it was because Evangel has a very good football team."

Wagner did say however that his squad didn't play with the same intensity they did at UNO. "I didn't think we had the enthusiasm that we had in Omaha," Wagner said. "But you got to give our kids some credit because they came back when they had too."

Wayne State grabbed the first lead of the game on a four yard pass from Gale Lawton to Troy Jackson with 8:50 remaining in the opening quarter. The score capped a 10-play 88 yard drive which took nearly five minutes.

One thing Wagner was concerned about coming into the Evangel game was the specialty teams of the visitors. "We knew that Evangel's specialty teams were very good," Wagner said. "In every film we've seen of them they have either blocked a punt, a field goal or something."

Wagner's concern became a reality in the first quarter as WSC punter Mark Jacona had a punt blocked and recovered on the nine yard line which set up an Eddie McKenzie three yard run which knotted the score at seven.

The score remained tied at seven until there was 23 seconds remaining on the clock before the intermission. WSC drove the ball 84 yards on 12 plays and consumed 4:30 off the clock and scored on Troy Jackson's seven yard run to put the Cats up 14-7 at the break.

Evangel however did not fold and they came out fired up in the third quarter scoring 13 unanswered points in a nine minute span to take a 20-14 lead. Evangel quarterback Doug Miolen connected with Anthony Ray for 64 yards to tie the game just one minute into the third quarter.

Then Evangel field goal kicker Chris Nowels, a transfer from a Division I school, drilled consecutive field goals from 44 and 53 yards to give the visiting team a 20-14 lead.

But as Wagner mentioned earlier, you have to credit the Wildcats for clawing their way back and less than two minutes after Nowels had given Evangel a 20-14 lead, Lawton hit Marlon Goolsby on a 49 yard pass play to give the Cats a 21-20 lead following Blain Branscum's point after. The drive spanned 78 yards on five plays and took 1:54.

In the fourth quarter WSC put together a 60 yard drive in four plays and scored on a 12 yard run by Lawton to put the game on ice with just 1:38 remaining.

"Evangel showed what they were made of when they came out in the second half and scored 13 straight points," Wagner said. "But we showed what we were made of as well by coming back after falling behind."

Wayne State dominated the time of possession by nearly 10 minutes as they maintained control of the ball for 34:07 compared to 25:53 for Evangel. The Cats came away with 19 first downs while Evangel managed 11. WSC ran for 171 total yards while Evangel mustered 115.

Lawton was phenomenal through the air for the Wildcats completing 16 of 25 pass attempts for 224 yards. Evangel was 9-25 for 197 which gave WSC a 395-312 total yard advantage.

WSC had six penalties in the game for 47 yards while Evangel was flagged five times for 30 yards. "We had four or five of our total penalties in the first half," Wagner said.

Quarterback Gale Lawton was the leading rusher for WSC with 87 yards on 23 carries while Troy Jackson gained 75 yards on 19 carries. Todd Schmaderer had one carry for nine yards.

Lawton spread the wealth among his pass completions as six different players recorded receptions with Bill Blondin leading the way with five catches for 93 yards. Marlon Goolsby caught four for 78 yards and a touchdown.

Lee Harper, Todd Schmaderer and Troy Jackson all caught two passes apiece with Jackson catching a touchdown pass while Lamar Daniels caught one pass for 21 yards.

Evangel's Eddie McKenzie led all rushers on the day with 104 yards on 15 carries. Defensively the Wildcats were nothing short of spectacular as Jerry Kleidosty and Bob Sterba led the charge with 13 and 10 1/2 tackles respectively. Todd Alberti and Mo Walker were each credited with six tackles apiece while Mike Kennedy and Randy Rouse had five apiece. Terry Bear was in on four stops for the Cats while Joel Ott and Scott Vokoun had three apiece.

Wayne State recorded three sacks on the day with Mike Kennedy doing the most damage with a sack which lost 14 yards. Mo Walker sacked the quarterback for a five yard loss and Bob Sterba and John Lanier combined to sack the quarterback for a three yard loss.

There were six total tackles for losses excluding the sacks with Mo Walker and Jerry Kleidosty earning two apiece and Mike Kennedy and Matt Holly picking up the other two.

"Jerry Kleidosty and Bob Sterba had outstanding games," Wagner said. "With the defense that we play our defensive line has to play well in order for Jerry and Bob to have that many tackles."

Wagner pointed to Randy Rouse, John Lanier and Scott Vokoun for doing a great job of drawing the blocks and allowing Kleidosty and Sterba to step into the gaps to make the plays.

"We are still a very young football team," Wagner said. "We still make young football team mistakes and any team we play is capable of beating us if we don't perform well."

Wagner said that the Cats have to maintain a balanced attack of running and passing in order to remain successful. "I thought coach Simons did an outstanding job of calling plays against Evangel," Wagner said. "When we want to,

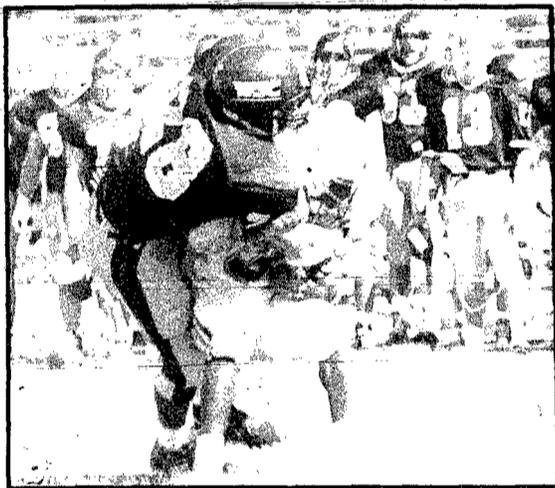

we are capable of doing some fine things offensively."

This week the Cats will travel to Morris, Minnesota to play the University of Minnesota at Morris. "Morris has a very big football team," Wagner said. "They will average around 270 lbs. a man across the line and they are not real fancy they just come at you."

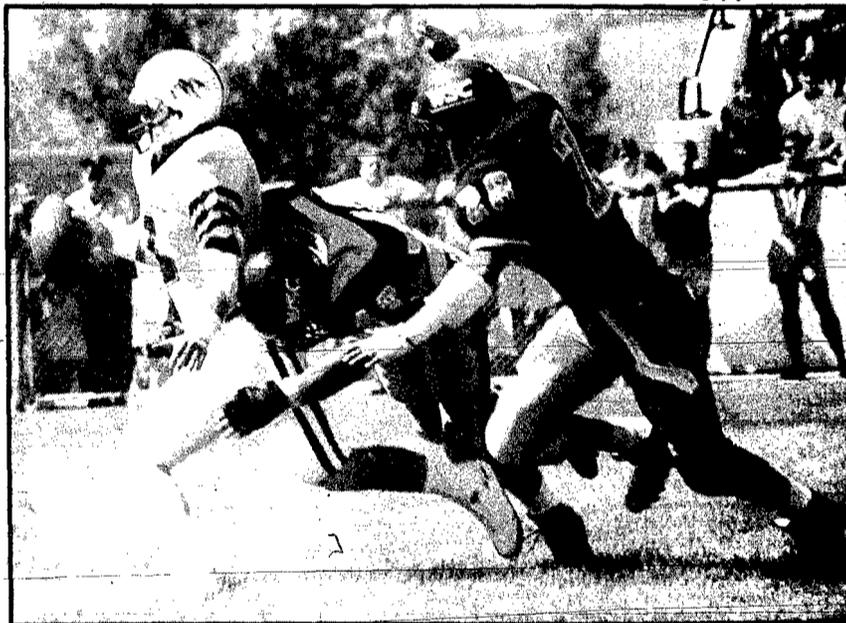

Wagner said that Morris uses a multiple formation offense. Last season Morris handed WSC its worst home defeat last year at 30-6.

Wayne harriers win dual with Wisner-Pilger

The Wayne girls cross country team remained undefeated on the season after claiming top honors at the Norfolk Catholic Invitational last Friday and then by defeating Wisner-Pilger in dual action in Wayne on Tuesday.

The boys cross country team finished runner-up to Crofton at the Norfolk Catholic Invitational and then defeated Wisner-Pilger on Tuesday at the Wayne golf course.

Tammy Geiger continued her winning ways by copping first place in the individual standings in Norfolk with a 17:21 effort. That time is the third all time best for that course which includes all Class A, B and C schools. Susie Ensz and Tami Schluns finished in the number three and four spots respectively with times of 18:15 and 18:25 respectively.

Amy Wriedt finished in 16th place with a 20:20 clocking to give Wayne 24 points which edged O'Neill by three. Crofton finished third with 31. ## WSC spikers lose to South Dakota State

The Wayne State College women's volleyball team lost to South Dakota State for the second time in less than a week Friday night at Brookings, South Dakota.

The SDSU Jack Rabbits had an easier time with the Wildcats in their home confines winning, 15-8, 15-11, 12-15 and 15-4. Last Saturday, these same two teams battled for nearly three hours before the Jack Rabbits prevailed 16-14 in the fifth set.

The loss dropped the Wildcats to 2-3 on the season. First year head coach Nancy Clark was frustrated with the Wildcats' performance. "Even though we are an older team we still act young on the court," Clark said. "We are still very inconsistent. We play awesome one night and then let down the next."

Clark singled out the play of Stacey Deterding, a 5-11 senior hitter from Fairmont, and Amy Newton, a 5-8 freshman setter from Laurel. "Stacey Deterding got back in the lineup and played with a lot of confidence, and Amy Newton did a great job coming off the bench," Clark said. "She led us to victory in the third game."

Tracy Kuester was the leading server for the Wildcats on the night as she connected on 20 of 22 serves with two aces and 10 points. Shelly Lueders led the Wildcats in spiking with 13 kills. Pam Sullivan led the Wildcats in setting with 13 set assists.

Puttin' up with Pete
By Kevin Peterson

First off I would like to extend my congratulations to the Wayne State football team and its coaches for putting together a good start to the 1990 season. The last time the Wildcats started off the season at 2-0 I was just one year old but that was then and this is now.

Dennis Wagner, the Wildcat mentor, deserves a lot of recognition for what he has accomplished in the short time that he has been in Wayne. From 1986-88 the Wildcat football team won just three legitimate football games, tied one and received a forfeit from Washburn, Kansas. That is three victories in 32 outings.

Dennis Wagner came to Wayne State in the spring of 1989 and began to work his magic. After weeding out players who he didn't feel had a winning attitude he guided the Wildcats to a 4-7 record.

Hey, 4-7 is by no means a winning record but for Wayne State and all the success they had been experiencing in the recent years, 4-7 seemed like a giant step in the right direction.

And that is exactly what Dennis Wagner feels is happening. "We are taking steps in the right direction but we have a long way to go," Wagner said. When you consider that the Wildcats have only six seniors on the team this year and yet they went out in successive weeks and beat a traditionally strong North Central Conference team in UNO and then beat top 20 ranked Evangel in Division II NIAA, forget the steps they are taking huge strides.

One of the things that Wagner faced heading into this season was that the Wildcat football team declared that they were NCAA Division II only, giving up their NIAA status.

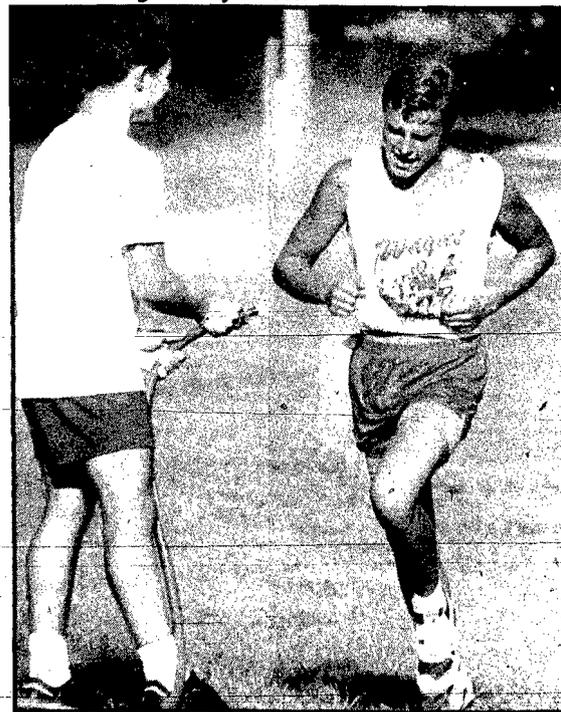

In Tuesday's edition of the Omaha World Herald the Wayne State Wildcats are listed as the 14th best team in the United States among all Division II schools on the NCAA level. That is quite an honor for the college, the football team, the coaches and the players.

The Wildcats have shed the image of being a "patsy" and have quickly become a very respected ball team and it's this writer's opinion that all of the credit goes to Dennis Wagner and his coaching staff for recruiting quality individuals for on the field, in the classroom and off campus.

Wagner is quick to point out however that his squad is still very young. "We still make a lot of young team mistakes. Any team we play on our schedule can beat us if we don't do a lot of things very well," Wagner said.

But for now the Wildcats are doing a lot of things well and it is very pleasant to walk down the streets of Wayne and here people saying "how about them Wildcats," instead of always saying "how about them Huskers."

Gale Lawton incidentally, was named as Channel 4, (KTIV) athlete of the week for his performance in the first two games.

Allen spikers place second

Allen volleyball head coach Gary Troth was hoping at the beginning of the season that his team could find a way to win during the first half of the season because the schedule was very tough.

In fact, the first six opponent's that the Eagles faced this season all had winning records a year ago and several are expected to do very well again this season but the Lady Eagles have managed to play with these teams and following a third place performance at the Stanton Tournament on Saturday the Eagles are 3-3.

Allen defeated Stanton in the first round after dropping the first set, 8-15, 15-9, 15-11. The Eagles then lost to Clarkson in three sets, 12-15, 18-16, 6-15. "We played a very long match against Stanton and to come back and play with that much intensity against Clarkson finally wore us down in the third set," Troth said. "Clarkson is a defending state qualifier and they are a good team but we were playing right with them until the third set."

Troth said that Clarkson did a lot of quick setting which was to their advantage with their tall girls. Alyssa McGrath led the team in serving with a 16-16 performance which included two aces. Tami Malcom was 7-7 with one ace and Robin Schroeder was 9-9.

Carla Stapleton was 68-68 in setting with 17 set assists while Cindy Chase and Denise Boyle led the charge in the spiking department.

ment. Chase was 15-18 with nine kills while Denise Boyle was 16 of 21 with nine kills as well.

In the Stanton match Chase was the leading server with a 17-18 performance including five aces. Denise Boyle was 14-16 with three aces and Heidi Lund was 9-11 with three aces. Stapleton was 58-59 in the setting category with 26 set assists while Cindy Chase was 18-19 in spiking with nine kills. Denise Boyle was 15-19 with 10 kills.

Eagles down Coleridge

In last Thursday's home match with Coleridge, Troth's Eagles soared to a three set victory after losing the first set, 14-16, 15-13, 15-13. "We were behind 14-0 in the first set and we managed to come back and tie it before losing," Troth said. Then we played pretty good in the second and third sets to win the match."

Heidi Lund led the team in serving with a 19-20 performance with five aces while Denise Boyle was 12-12 with three aces. Carla Stapleton was 67-68 in the setting department with 22 set assists.

Cindy Chase was 13-14 in spiking with seven kill spikes and three ace blocks while Denise Boyle was 13-17 with five kills and four ace blocks. Heather Sachau was 8-10 with two kills and one ace block.

"Overall we are playing better volleyball right now," Troth said. "We haven't played a relatively easy team yet." Allen will host traditionally tough Emerson-Hubbard on Thursday.

Wildcat volleyball team loses

WAYNE-The Wayne State women's volleyball team dropped a pair of matches to Midland College and Morningside College Tuesday night in Fremont.

Wayne State won the opening game against Midland, 15-7, but the hosts came back to sweep the next three by scores of 15-12, 15-12, 15-8. The District 11 contest was the first of the season for WSC.

Morningside defeated the Wildcats for the second time in two weeks, this time by scores of 15-13, 15-13 and 15-9. It's going to take time to get consistency," WSC coach Nancy Clark said. "We had Morningside down 9-0, but everything fell apart. We had some great play from our freshman. We had fantastic games from Shelly Lueders and Kristi Jaminet. Lisa Skradski also contributed in a positive way. We just haven't gotten everything together at one time."

Against Midland Nancy Kennedy was the high setter with 11 assists while Shelly Lueders led the attack with 10 kill spikes and 17 blocks. Tracy Kuester was 20-25 in serving with three aces. Against Morningside Lueders again led the Cats in hitting with 15 kill spikes and 15 blocks while freshman Amy Newton had 30 set assists.

The Wildcats, 2-5 will compete in the Nebraska Wesleyan Tournament this Friday and Saturday in Lincoln.

Junior high loses to Norfolk Catholic

WAYNE-The Wayne junior high football team fell 32-6 Tuesday afternoon in a game with Norfolk Catholic at Norfolk. Jason Carr scored the lone touchdown for Wayne on a five yard run in the fourth quarter. Dusty Jensen was the leading rusher with 39 yards while Ryan Pick was 6-9 in the passing department for 84 yards. Jeff Hamer and Ryan Newman led the Blue Devil defense with eight tackles apiece.

Wayne reserves down South Sioux

WAYNE-The Wayne junior varsity football team defeated South Sioux by a 6-2 margin in South Sioux recently. "Our defense played outstanding," head coach Ron Carnes said. "South Sioux had the ball three times inside our 20 yard line and they came away with nothing."

Wayne scored the lone touchdown of the game in the second quarter on a fourth down and goal play from the four yard line as Regg Carnes ran a quarterback sweep into the endzone.

Matt Metz led the defense with eight tackles while Chad Paysen and Shane Guill each had seven. Gary Longe and Brian Lentz had six tackles apiece. Wayne will host Pierce on Monday at 5 p.m. at the Wayne high school field.

Wayne State fields first golf team

The Wildcats' under the direction of Tom Cook will return to the links on Friday when they play at the Briar Cliff Tournament in Sioux City, Iowa.

Cross Country ladies finish second

WAYNE-The Wayne State women's cross country team placed second of five teams in the Fort Hays Invitational held on Saturday while the Wayne State men placed third. Anne Lunsford paced the women's attack with a third place finish of 26:09 in the four mile race.

Junior Lucy Peter placed ninth with a 27:50. Mark Johnson, a freshman from Wakefield covered the 6.2 mile men's course in 34:41 to take 19th place. Both teams will compete in the Augustana Open on Friday.

Wayne takes part in tourney

Marlene Uhing's Wayne girls volleyball team traveled to North Bend on Saturday to participate in the Annual North Bend Invitational. Wayne played Schuyler in the first round which turned out to be the second meeting between the two schools in five days and for Wayne it was back-to-back matches with the Lady Warriors.

Although the Blue Devils defeated last year's central ten conference volleyball champs on their home floor five days earlier, Saturday belonged to Schuyler as they won in straight sets, 15-11, 15-7.

"We started out the match good," Uhing said. "But our serving really hurt us and we were real tight during the match. We weren't aggressive and we made a lot of errors."

Rachel Haase led the Blue Devils with five points and one serving ace. Kari Lutt had four points but managed three serving aces. As a team Wayne managed to connect on just 76 percent of its serves.

Haase and Liz Reeg did the setting chores for Wayne and Reeg was successful on all 18 of her set attempts and recorded five set assists while Haase was 14-15 with three set assists.

Erin Pick led the Blue Devils in the spiking department with seven kill spikes. "Schuyler played a much better game than we did," Uhing said. "They have a good team but we seemed like we were playing not to lose and not aggressive."

Wayne however, bounced back in the consolation match against North Bend, winning in straight sets of 15-9, 15-6. Kari Lutt had six points to aid in the victory including one ace serve. Jennifer Hammer also had six points and was 9-9 from the service line including one ace serve.

Wayne again had trouble from the serving line connecting on just 84 percent. "We should be a very good serving team," Uhing said. "The girls have very good serving techniques but it's just a matter of concentration."

Liz Reeg was 20-21 in the setting department with five set assists while Rachel Haase was 18 of 20 with four set assists. Jennifer Hammer and Liz Reeg led the team in spiking with seven and six kill spikes respectively.

Liz Reeg and Rachel Haase were named to the all tournament team. Uhing also pointed to the play of Kari Lutt for the tournament. "Kari Lutt had a very good tournament for us," Uhing said. "She communicated well, served well for us, hit the ball hard and did everything she was supposed to do. Unfortunately, the coaches can not nominate their own players on the all tournament team."

Wayne, 4-2, will host Pierce on Thursday night.

Winside spikers move to 5-2

The Winside Wildcats hosted a volleyball invitational Tuesday night with Osmond, Wakefield and Coleridge. In the opening match Winside defeated Osmond despite dropping the first set, 9-15, 15-5, 15-3.

"We started off really sluggish against Osmond," Winside coach Paul Giesselmann said. "We managed to get it going though and dominate the second and third sets."

Holly Holdorf put on a serving expedition for the host team as she went 20-20 with five aces. Kelly Pichler was 10-12 with four aces while Jenny Jacobsen was 9-9. Patty Oberle was 7-7 with one ace while Kari Pichler was 4-5 with an ace and Shannon Holdorf was 5-7 with an ace.

Kelly Pichler recorded 19 set assists in the setting department while Jenny Jacobsen led the spikers with a 21-27 outing with 15 kill spikes. Wendy Rabe was 9-10 with four kills and Shannon Holdorf was 4-5 with three kills. Patty Oberle and Kari Pichler recorded two and one kill spikes respectively. Wendy Rabe and Jenny Jacobsen each had two blocks.

In the other first round match Coleridge disposed of Wakefield in straight sets, 15-2, 15-12. The consolation match was won by Wakefield over Osmond, 15-4, 15-3.

The finals pitted Winside against Coleridge, two teams who will face each other a couple more times this year as both are in the same sub-district. Winside won the first set 15-7 and was leading 11-4 in the second set before losing 15-12, 15-7.

"We just came out and dominated that first set," Giesselmann said. "We were actually up 8-0 in the second set and 11-4 before we started falling apart and our passing game broke down. All of a sudden the score is tied at 12. We got a couple of times on their serve and they got the momentum."

Giesselmann said the same thing happened in the third set with Winside leading 7-4 before Coleridge went on an 11-0 scoring spree to win the tournament.

Once again Holly Holdorf led the servers with a 15-16 performance with three aces. Kelly Pichler went 13-14 with two aces while Jenny Jacobsen was 12-12 with an ace. Shannon Holdorf was 8-8 while Patty Oberle was 7-7 with an ace. Kari Pichler was 6-6 with two aces.

Kelly Pichler was once again the setting leader as she recorded 24 set assists. Jenny Jacobsen was 22-32 with 15 kill spikes while Wendy Rabe was 13-17 with eight kills. Shannon Holdorf was 6-7 with two kills while Kelly Pichler and Patty Oberle each went 2-2 with Pichler gaining two kills and Oberle, one.

FARM SAFETY WEEK SEPTEMBER 16 - 22

If you are thinking of building new grain bins for storage this fall, you should be aware of the new 1990 National Electric Safety Code clearance envelope. The location of your bins in relationship to existing power lines has been clarified by this code. Utilities are required to maintain these clearances for new installations.

The code states that the clearance on the loading side of the bin must be 18 feet above the highest filling or probing part of the bin. This clearance must be maintained for a distance equal to the height of the bin, plus 18 feet measured out from the edge of the bin. The best solution to this problem is to contact the District Office prior to picking the new grain bin site, and have District personnel check for possible clearance problems. We would also like to remind everyone to practice an extra margin of safety during the busy fall harvest season.

Mark 'n' the spot
By Mark Crist

As an interest to our readers, we are seeking the addresses of any military men or women sent to Saudi Arabia or reserves called to active duty. If you have the address of any service personnel who have been sent or called up, please send us their address.

I don't know if anyone saw a report on CBS last week, but soldiers who have been sent are anxious to receive any letters. As is the case with the military, the soldiers have been told to "hurry up and wait" and in the meantime, they are finding themselves with little to do. Any and all letters, I'm certain, would be welcome.

As you will find in today's paper, we received a letter to the editor from Terry L. Rhodes, whom we wrote a story about two weeks ago. Rhodes is stationed on the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Independence. His address is: Terry L. Rhodes, USS Independence (CV-62), AIMD QU Division, FPO San Francisco, CA, 96618-2760.

According to the CBS report, even anonymous letters are helpful to the soldiers, so even if you don't know who you're writing to, it might be helpful to write, anyway.

IF YOU DIDN'T NOTICE a article in The Wayne Herald about a week or two ago, or if you haven't heard, the CROP walk will be held in Wayne on Sept. 30. If you've never participated in one of these, they're loads of fun. Not only do you get to raise money for those in need but you also get to meet a lot of wonderful people as well as seeing some old friends.

If you're looking for more information about the CROP walk, contact your church's pastor or any of the following people: Jack Hausman, Leona Jaeger, Lyle Seymour, Nancy Heithold or Galen Wisner.

LAST BUT NOT LEAST, with school getting underway, if there are any teachers out there looking to take their students on a tour of The Wayne Herald or any classes which would like to have me come and speak about how a newspaper works, please contact us.

One of the things I've been working on in the past couple weeks is a "Newspapers in Education" program, since I was already asked by District 57 teacher Shelly Schultz to speak to her class. Since I have the materials in hand, I'd be more than willing to come and speak to any other classroom. Feel free to call the paper and talk to one of us about it.

Also, in conjunction with the "Newspapers in Education" program we're starting, we will be observing the "National Newspaper Week" which runs during the first part of October. We will have more information about that in the future.

Native forests may be more valuable to farmland than most think

LINCOLN - Landowners thinking of clearing native forests and other woodlands for conversion to crops might want to do some close figuring before starting, an associate forester with the Nebraska State Forest Service said.

Thomas Schmidt said that assigning proper economic value to woodlands could help reduce the long-term loss of Nebraska's forest acres. Schmidt and Michael Kuhns, state extension forester, described that loss in "Nebraska's Forest Resources: Acreages and Ownership," a NebGuide recently published by University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension.

Schmidt explained that if both the cost of clearing and the value of existing woodlands are considered, letting the trees stand may turn out to be the most profitable option. That is especially true when lower-value lands are involved, or if the intended conversion is to pasture, Schmidt said.

For example, clearing with heavy equipment will cost a minimum of $200 an acre, perhaps much more. In some cases the cost of clearing can exceed the value of agricultural land in the area, he said. In these cases, it might be better to manage the land for the production of wood products, which Nebraska is surprisingly well suited to, Schmidt said.

"In Nebraska, we can produce wood fiber as well as anyone," Schmidt said. "We have excellent soils and adequate rainfall, and there is a ready market for many of our forest products."

Some Nebraskans have begun shipping red cedar to Korea in the same containers used to bring Korean cars to the United States, Schmidt said. The Koreans like it because it's colorful and unlike any of their native woods. Nebraska also exports black walnut to Europe and Asia, and even the lowly cottonwood has made the state one of the largest U.S. pallet producers.

The threat of higher energy costs and growing interest in wood-fired boilers means even firewood may have greater value in the years to come, Schmidt said. And standing woodlands contribute additional benefits such as erosion control and wildlife habitat.

Placing proper value on woodlands could help slow down the long-term tree loss, Schmidt and Kuhns, both faculty members in the NU Department of Forestry, Fisheries and Wildlife, describe in their recent publication.

The report compared results from U.S. Forest Service surveys taken in 1955 and 1983. A 308,300-acre loss was recorded between the two surveys, or an average of about 11,000 acres per year, Schmidt emphasized that is a net loss, which takes into account the 6,000 to 8,000 acres of trees planted annually in the state.

He said the 11,000-acre annual loss has continued since 1983, although the rate of loss eventually may slow down and even bottom out. However that's far from good news, Schmidt said. It will just mean that virtually all of the flatter forest land will have been cleared, leaving only forests on steeper land.

That trend is visible when changes in acreage are broken down into forest types, the report shows. Classifications of bottomland forests have shown the largest decreases, while upland forests are declining more slowly. One exception to the rule is the increase of red cedar in range and pasture lands, Schmidt said, although that is more often viewed as a problem than a boon.

Plenty of help is available for landowners who want to fully consider the pros and cons of clearing.

Hot weather aids pests

Trees affected by weather, bugs

AREA - The hot dry period northeast Nebraska has experienced since mid-August has brought along with it two major troublesome tree and shrub attacking insects.

The first is spruce or spider mites. These small microscopic insects are mostly a problem in evergreen plants, particularly spruce or junipers. They have the capability of producing many generations each year and if conditions are favorable can complete development in 10 days. Eggs hatch in 3-5 days. The damaged needles (leaves) become stippled, bleached and brown and may fall off. Most damage is toward the center of the tree. Severely infested trees are less vigorous and could occasionally be killed. To identify if there is a mite population in a tree, hold a white paper under a browning branch and shake the branch. Look on the paper for small moving specks or rub your hand across the paper to smear and streak the mites for easier seeing.

If you identify that you have a mite problem, control can be accomplished in two ways. First, mites can be washed off plants with frequent, high-pressure spraying of cold water. Also, mixing a small amount of soap can help break down the waxy protection on the mites predisposing them to fungus or chemicals if used later. The second control measure is through the use of insecticides. Malathion, Cygon, Kelthane, Orthene or Diazinon are some frequently suggested insecticides, though coverage into the center of the tree is important and repeated sprayings every 7-10 days may be necessary.

The second common type of insect in trees and shrubs this summer works in "leafed" trees and is a great deal more noticeable. The most common are the fall webworm, walnut caterpillar, or Mimosa webworm. The exact identification of the webworm is not critical. The most noticeable evidence of their presence is the large webbed nest and parts of branches becoming defoliated in a matter of days. On large trees, control is not usually necessary after the first part of September since the trees will naturally be done extending new growth for the year. However, on young, newly established trees, heavy defoliation will disrupt the food making process necessary to store sugars, carbohydrates and starches in the roots for winter and the following spring's growth. These younger trees can be more severely stressed and the pests should be controlled. These pests also have two methods for control. On small trees the bags can be pulled and stripped off the branches. If the bag is too large and messy clipping the end branch off with the bag will not hurt the tree. Chemical control includes the insecticides Sevin, Diazinon, Orthene, Malathion, or the biological spray Bacillus thuringiensis (B.T.) sprayed when the worms are feeding. There is only one or possibly two generations a year.

Both mites and webworms are most damaging to small trees that are not well established. Control measures should concentrate on these plants. Adequate watering and care of trees and shrubs during hot, stressful conditions is also an important way to keep the plants healthy and capable of withstanding defoliations.

Northeast to host Dale Carnegie seminar

AREA - Northeast Community College will present the Dale Carnegie Management Seminar beginning on Sept. 24 and continuing every Monday for seven weeks. The classes will begin at 6:30 p.m. and end at 10:30 p.m. each Monday.

The Dale Carnegie management seminar zeroes in on the skills and techniques all managers need.

It helps managers organize themselves, motivate others and perform with greater efficiency. By concentrating on the daily application of Dale Carnegie principles and techniques, managers become aware of the many ways available to increase productivity. Managers learn to obtain results through willing cooperation rather than through force of authority.

Participants learn to apply management techniques to achieve immediate results while at the same time learning to plan for long-term objectives.

For more information, contact Joe Ferguson at 644-0587. To pre-register telephone the Community Services Division at 644-0600 by Wednesday, Sept. 19.

The Farmer's Wife

By Pat Melerhenry

I have identified two recurring additions among my co-workers. One is counted cross-stitch; the other, auctions!

I don't know what it is about auctions, but it seems to get in their blood. Just the psychology involved causes the adrenaline to flow.

My in-laws loved auctions, the Big Farmer attends auctions, and Jon goes to some in Wichita. Obviously, it's genetic.

One rainy evening last month, Mike and I escorted a friend to a very large auction in Wayne. I just went along out of curiosity.

All of one couple's household items were spread out on tables and sitting on the floor. First, we just wandered around and looked.

There was a ten year supply of National Geographic's (I keep Reader's Digest), boxes of old records, quite a collection of owls, and every appliance imaginable; some still in their boxes. Probably gifts from the kids, who couldn't think what else to get.

Anyway, my friend had a ball. She bought pans for a daughter who is going into an apartment. She bought bowls. And she bought a clock, which put her well over her limit.

When the Big Farmer said he could have gotten the roaster for less at a garage sale, she said that was no challenge!

I think auctions are kind of sad. And I refuse to go to farm auctions, unless I now for sure that my presence is expected.

There has been a For Sale sign on my neighbor's farm for several weeks now. The first time I saw it, I drove home with tears in my eyes.

Their auction was on Saturday. They've all been working very hard to sort, clean, paint and overhaul. It hasn't been pleasant. It was hot in that tool shed. People got tired, and tempers got short.

The Big Farmer used to say that one way to make money farming was to have a farm sale.

That may be correct. But the things you were sure were worth a lot somehow don't have the appeal on that day; and other things surprise you, especially if two people "get their adrenaline flowing."

It's a social event. You see folks you haven't seen for ages. You wander around, sipping coffee and eating pie, listening to the auctioneer's chant, wondering when it will be your turn.

Finally, it's all over. Pickups pull up and claim their owner's prizes after "settling up" with the cashier. The last sloppy Joe is eaten. Kids collapse on couches.

And there is an empty feeling in my heart tonight. The dictionary says neighbor can be used as a verb, meaning to bring near or be into close association with. It's a definition I hadn't used for a long time. In the country, we need to neighbor again. But when we do, we risk loss, too.

We're praying that some awfully good neighbors will want to buy the farm across the road. They have a tough act to follow!

Japanese teacher spending time in Allen

Toshiharu Ito, a Japanese teacher of English, is spending this week observing classes at Allen Consolidated School as part of a Japanese program designed to increase understanding of American society and culture.

Toshiharu arrived in Allen last Friday and is staying with the Larry and Kathy Boswell family.

During his week in Allen, Toshiharu will observe several Allen classrooms and speak to the students about his family and native homeland.

THE PROGRAM for Japanese teachers of English was first offered in 1979 and is a two-month, in-service training seminar in which the Japanese teachers visit classrooms in the United States and Britain.

In addition to increasing the understanding of British and American society and culture, the program serves to increase participants' confidence and skills in communication as teachers and speakers of English, provide the experience of living with British and American families and taking part in the activities of secondary schools in these countries, help British and U.S. residents better understand the people and society of modern Japan, and provide an experience through which Japanese teachers gain both a new perspective on their own country and increased confidence in sharing this perspective and a broader understanding of the world with their students.

TOSHIHARU is among 21 teachers of English selected by the Ministry of Education in Japan to visit classrooms throughout Nebraska.

Four other groups of Japanese teachers were assigned to other secondary schools located elsewhere throughout the United States.

Before being assigned to the various schools, Toshiharu's group spent four weeks at Tulane University in New Orleans, La., where they attended workshops on teaching techniques and prepared their presentations to be delivered in the schools they visit.

As an extension to the campus training, the teachers also spent a week traveling to strengthen their understanding of American society.

Toshiharu and his group visited Washington, D. C., Boston, Mass. and New York City before traveling to their various schools in Nebraska.

Following his week at Allen, Toshiharu will spend three days in Los Angeles where he will report on his week in Nebraska. He will return to Japan on Sept. 18.

More Than Just Clean Hair

It is thought that 70 percent of the population has dandruff, technically an accelerated turnover of the outer layer of scalp skin. Although there is no cure for dandruff, the condition can usually be cared for with medicated and non-medicated shampoos. A nonmedicated shampoo used every day sometimes controls dandruff. Medicated shampoos contain agents which reduce the rate of turnover of skin cells (selenium sulfide, zinc pyrithione) or break up layers of dead skin (salicylic acid, sulfur) and may be effective when plain shampoo does not produce desired results. Agents which reduce the rate of skin cell turnover seem to be most effective. All medicated shampoos should be used 2 to 3 times each week and left on the skin for 5 to 10 minutes.

The GOLDEN YEARS

By Gene Staine

Among the "regulars" who visit an exercise facility in a Philadelphia suburban medical center are two octogenarians who keep fit in 90-minute sessions three times a week. One is a retired Army officer who began the exercise program in 1976. "I feel better today than before I started the program," he says. "Longevity does not run in my family. If I had not been physically active all my life, I don't believe I would still be here." The other octogenarian, a woman, entered the program after triple bypass surgery. "I try to get others my age and younger involved in exercise," she says. "My quality of life is much better due to regular exercise."

When he was in his seventies, Bob Baldock Sr., of Costa Mesa, California, was honored by the National Golf Foundation for a career of designing, and often building, outstanding golf courses. In his eighties, Baldock was still at work, with the number of courses he has designed from Maine to Tahiti approaching 400. One golf writer summed up three characteristics of Baldock-designed courses: relatively inexpensive to build, ready for play sooner than the typical new course, and "designed with imagination, even artistry."
