Christmas stars

WAYNE - Holiday spirit and astronomy will be mixed for three Sundays in December when WSC presents the "Stars of Christmas" in the Fred G. Dale Planetarium on the college campus.

The shows, which are free and open to the public, are on Sundays, Dec. 2, 9 and 16 at 3:30 p.m. The planetarium is located on the south entrance of Carhart Science Building on the WSC campus.

Special showings can be arranged for school groups and organizations by contacting Carl Rump at 375-7343.

Adoption tree

WAYNE - The Wayne Toys for Tots Adoption Tree, sponsored by Goldenrod Hills, will open to the public during the Fantasy Forest 1990 display which begins today (Thursday) in Wayne city auditorium.

Hours for the Adoption Tree are today (Thursday) from 6:30 to 9 p.m., Friday from 5 to 9 p.m., and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Individuals who adopt children are asked to take their gifts to the Mineshaft Mall on Friday, Dec. 7 between noon and 5 p.m., or Saturday, Dec. 8 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Holiday concerts

WAYNE - The public is invited to attend a vocal and strings Christmas concert presented by students of Wayne Middle School on Tuesday, Dec. 4.

The concert begins at 7:30 p.m. in the lecture hall of Wayne-Carroll High School and is under the direction of Bonnie Day, strings, Keith Kopperud, fifth grade vocal, and Kathryn Ley, sixth through eighth grade vocal.

Groups singing will be the fifth and sixth grade classes, seventh and eighth grade choir, the Music Makers (a fifth and sixth grade swing choir) and the seventh and eighth grade swing choir.

Mrs. Ley also will direct the Wayne-Carroll High School vocal Christmas concert on Monday, Dec. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school lecture hall and invites the public to attend.

Groups performing will be the high school varsity choir, swing choir and girls triple trio.

A Christmas tea will follow for concert goers and there will be a brief meeting of Wayne-Carroll Music Boosters.

Monthly test

WAYNE - The City of Wayne will be conducting its monthly testing of the civil defense outdoor warning system and the Cablevision Emergency Alert System, according to Vern Fairchild, assistant civil defense director.

All signals will be tested in the silent mode at 11:45 a.m. tomorrow (Friday) except the hi/lo signal, which will run approximately 15 seconds at each location to test the effectiveness of the system.

Immediately following the testing of the outdoor warning system, the Cablevision Emergency Alert System will be tested, which will mean the disruption of both the audio and visual programming of every TV set on the system. This test will also last for 15 seconds.

Ikes to meet

WAYNE - The Wayne Izaak Walton will hold their monthly meeting Monday, Dec. 3 at 7 p.m. in the third floor meeting room of City Hall.

Effort to help rural health care

WSC entering joint program with UNMC

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

Just days after a report by the State of Nebraska outlining the agenda for rural health care, Wayne State College and the University of Nebraska Medical Center (UNMC) have announced plans for a joint operation to address the shortage of rural health care professionals.

The announcement involving WSC and the University of Nebraska was made Monday at a press conference by Dr. Donald Mash, president of Wayne State College and Dr. Charles Andrews, UNMC chancellor.

According to information provided prior to the 30 minute press conference, Wayne State College is the second Nebraska four year college to implement the program. Chadron State College is acting as the pilot location for the 1990-91 school year.

THE PROGRAM — called the Rural Health Opportunities Program — was originated by UNMC and Chadron State College. The arrangement with WSC will be almost identical to the Chadron State program, Andrews said.

Under the program, incoming college freshmen at WSC who have an interest in going to medical or dental school will be able to reserve a spot in UNMC's college of medicine or college of dentistry before they begin their undergraduate studies.

"We're looking for bright people with abilities in the sciences, but we're also looking for people who like to work with other people," Mash said. "We want people who are patient-oriented and people-oriented."

The report released late last week by the State of Nebraska recommended strategies to recruit and retain health professionals serving rural areas.

One of the guidelines included in the report was to meet the increased need for rural health care professionals and that is what the joint venture between Wayne State and the University of Nebraska appears to be doing, officials said.

IN ORDER to find the type of potential students outlined by Mash, the WSC Math and Science Division will establish guidelines incoming freshmen must meet, according to Dr. J.S. Johar, head of the Math and Science Division.

Johar said a committee, which is in the process of being established, will not only include members of the Math and Science division, but also members of the Humanities and Social Science divisions.

"We want them to have some preparation for this type of study," Johar said. "We're still looking at what qualifications we will be looking for but we want students to be well-prepared through high school classes in biology, chemistry and such, but we also want all-around students with established academic records in other fields."

THE REASON THE program has been established is not only to assist with rural health care needs but also to assist with often burdensome costs.

"We're looking for the kind of individual who knows the area and the people and wants to practice in the rural areas," Andrews said. "We're trying to help them clear hurdles like the medical aptitude test which, in itself, takes three years to prepare for. There are some people who would never start their college career in Omaha and that makes Wayne State an ideal location for this program."

As a way to assist students seeking careers in medicine, Wayne State will provide tuition remission for students in the program while the University of Nebraska will provide a "variety of resources for additional financial assistance," Mash said.

In the event a prospective med-

student doesn't go into medicine, or locates in an urban area, there is no penalty for the decision, Andrews said.

WHILE AT WAYNE State, pre-med students will be expected to follow an established course outline, according to Johar.

Along with meeting regular general education requirements, students will have to take the following classes: cell biology, human anatomy and physiology I and II, and genetics; general chemistry I and II, analytical chemistry and organic chemistry I and II; applied math with calculus and applied probability and statistics; and general physics I and II.

According to curriculum guidelines, five students will be selected by Wayne State for the College of Medicine while two students will be chosen for the College of Dentistry. In addition, two other students will be identified to pursue careers as dental hygienists through the College of Dentistry.

"We are hoping we will be able to attract some outstanding students," Mash said. "The University of Nebraska has asked Wayne State to look broadly at individuals' abilities early to help meet the growing need for rural health care."

Wayne State reaches a new all-time record enrollment in 1990 with 3,615 students

WAYNE - A 26 percent increase in students during the past two years has resulted in two successive years of all-time record enrollments at Wayne State College.

This fall, 3,615 students are enrolled in classes at Wayne State College, compared to 2,856 in the fall of 1988 and 3,324 in the fall of 1989.

The size of the incoming freshman class size has increased nearly 30 percent during this same period, while dormitory occupancy has increased over 20 percent.

Wayne State College President Donald J. Mash says these increases are particularly gratifying because they include large numbers of traditional full-time students whose numbers are on the decline nationally and in Nebraska.

"I believe our enrollment increase reflects a growing interest in solid teaching and out-of-class support activities delivered in a small, personalized setting," Mash says. "Couple these factors with our cost and we become a great buy for students seeking a quality undergraduate experience at our affordable price."

The dramatic enrollment rise at Wayne State began with a 26 percent increase in freshman students during the fall of 1989, according to Jim Hummel, assistant vice president for records and admissions. He says 497 freshman enrolled in 1988, compared to 631 this fall. Additionally, he says more older, non-traditional students are enrolling at Wayne State College.

According to an October 1990 report from the American Association for State Colleges and Universities, Wayne State's 1989 freshman enrollment increase ranked it fifth highest out of 160 public colleges with 5,000 or fewer students.

"We're seeing a greater number of students enrolling from Northeast Nebraska, as well as the Omaha, Lincoln and the Grand Island area," says Jim Hummel assistant vice president for records and admissions. "We're also attracting a large number of students from Northwest Iowa, especially the Sioux City area."

"We're doing a better job of letting people know what we're about," Hummel says. "We've sharpened our image and we've clarified our role as a regional public college. Therefore, we fully expect that interest in Wayne State will continue growing."

BECKY KEIDEL SPEAKS to local businesspeople during the business appreciation breakfast Tuesday.

WSC transformation important to Wayne

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

Within the past 12 years, Wayne State College has seen a dramatic transformation not only in the composition of its student body but in the variety of programs the college offers and the increased importance of the Wayne State Foundation.

That was the message Tuesday morning during a business appreciation breakfast held at Wayne State's student union. The breakfast also kicked off the Wayne State Foundation's fund drive for 1991.

PROBABLY ONE of the most telling statistics was of the transformation of Wayne State to a comprehensive college.

According to an early version of a case statement which will be presented to the Nebraska State Board of Trustees, WSC's distribution of degrees in 1989-90 represented 36 percent in arts and sciences, 34 percent in business and 30 percent in education. Those figures differ from 1977-78 tallies which had 53 percent of the student body enrolled for education degrees, 28 percent in arts and sciences and 19 percent in business.

Another telling statistic is in the support by the Wayne State Foundation.

According to information in the same case statement, the Foundation had $1.4 million in assets in 1990 and generated $540,000 in revenues for the same year. Those numbers are up, however, from 1984 figures which showed $287,000 in assets and $60,000 in revenues.

"We are getting close to reaching some of our goals," said Dr. Donald Mash, president of Wayne State. "The information we are giving you today is rough but next time you see it, it will be polished and it will represent our case well."

PART OF THAT CASE is for the construction of a new business technology building, which would be the first new building built on the campus since the addition of a recreation center in 1988 to the physical education building. It would be the first totally new

City starts plans on new well

WAYNE - During its meeting Tuesday night, the Wayne City Council established plans to accept bids for the construction of a new water well to be located six miles north and one mile east of Wayne.

According to City Administrator Joe Salitros, estimated costs for the project will be between $140,000 and $174,000. The project has been anticipated by the city since the construction of well number nine in 1988.

Bids for the project will be accepted in January. Salitros said the well will be dug approximately 300 feet deep and it will be located 2,000 feet north of well number nine. Construction is expected to begin sometime in late March.

IN ADDITION TO establishing the groundwork for a new water well, the city council continued its revisions and amendments to city codes and ordinances.

One adjustment dealt with the repealing of a tax for fire insurance companies. The ordinance, number 90-25, will eliminate the occupation tax for fire insurance companies doing business in Wayne. Salitros said the reason it was adjusted was because it was more cost efficient to do so.

"The council cleaned out the duplicative language," he said. "The main thrust was to get rid of the tax since we weren't making any money on it."

The reduction will result in a $140 reduction in the general fund revenues, he said.

IN OTHER UPDATING measures, the council voted to increase taxes paid by plumbers and electricians from $5 to $10.

Salitros said the reason for this is because registration for plumbers and electricians is something towns must require.

The last time the tax was increased was in 1984.

IN SEPARATE MATTERS the council:

• Listened to a presentation by Wayne Police Chief Vern Fairchild about the AAA traffic safety award presented last week. A related story can be found on page 1B of today's Wayne Herald.

• Heard about the presentation of an award by the Water Industry Service to Public Works Director Vern Schulz for 25 years of service.

Honored for their birthdays were Betty Heier, Ila Noyes and Rodella Wacker.

SANDY Rothfuss was the Thanksgiving lesson leader for all circles and conducted a thank offering service.

The groups sang "Now Thank We All Our God" and presented their thank offering boxes. Other hymns were sung and the program closed with prayer.

Janice Barelman, contact person for Lutheran Women Magazine, also attended the meetings and announced that subscriptions must be ordered by the December meeting.

Marilyn Pierson announced that Christmas cards and napkins are available for sale.

It also was reported that 40 quilts, 15 health kits, nine layettes and three boxes of used clothing were sent to World Relief. One quilt was sent to Camp Carol Joy Holling and one quilt was presented to the Dennis Schlines family who lost their home in a fire.

Correspondence was read from the family of Floyd Raymer.

Date announced for PAL Christmas party

The People Are Loved (PAL) group will meet for a Christmas party on Thursday, Dec. 6 at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne with Deb Daum and Margaret Ritze in charge.

The PAL organization provides a structured social evening for persons with disabilities.

Persons wishing additional information about the group are asked to call Deb Garwood, 375-3129; Jeanette Geiger, 375-2179; Kay Cattle, 375-4073; Emily Haase, 375-2243; Lynette Carmichael, 375-4040; or Sue Denklauf.

THE PAL group met Nov. 15 at the Region IV Workshop with 55 persons attending.

The Wakefield Christian Church was in charge of the evening with Karen Jones handing out name tags.

The group made ornaments for their Fantasy Forest tree. Materials were furnished by the Wakefield Christian Church.

Bingo was called by Don Cattle with everyone winning. Receiving door prizes were Heath Corbit, Leah Hanson and Carrie Strivens.

THOSE attending also assembled a "care box" for Rick Haase, son of Larry and Emily Haase, who is stationed in Saudi Arabia. Larry and Emily brought pictures of Rick and told about his life as a Marine.

Honored for their November birthdays were Karen Nieman and Kristy Lockman.

Women of the Wakefield Christian Church served refreshments at the close of the evening.

Recipe gift exchange planned at December meeting of OES

Election of officers and a recipe gift exchange will take place at the Dec. 10 meeting of Wayne Chapter No. 194 Order of the Eastern Star. Refreshment chairman is Prudence Thiel.

Members are asked to bring a recipe on a card and one ingredient wrapped as a gift. Those attending also are asked to bring one and a half dozen cookies for Christmas plates which will be presented to 50-year members and shut-ins.

All members are encouraged to visit shut-ins and members who are residing at Wayne Care Centre.

OES MEMBERS met Nov. 12 at the Masonic Temple. Donna Liska, worthy matron, opened the meeting with the reading of Psalm 138.

Veryl Jackson of Winside, Trixie Newman and Lee Ware were substitute officers.

Plans were made to donate to the Knights Templar Eye Foundation which provides financial aid to persons in Nebraska with eye disease or injury, as well as supporting treatment and research in this area.

The chapter will again support the Masonic-Eastern Star Home for Children in Fremont to purchase gifts for children who otherwise may not be remembered.

SEVERAL members attended Friendship Night with Beulah Chapter #40, Norfolk, on Oct. 11 and Miriam Chapter #175, Laurel, on Nov. 5.

An invitation was received from Wausa OES Chapter #159 and Wausa Lodge #25 AF & AM to attend Friendship Night on Nov. 18.

Mildred Richardson and Joanne McNatt attended the Grand Chapter Session of South Dakota in Rapid City last month.

A memorial service was conducted for Herbert Evers, worthy grand patron of Grand Chapter of Nebraska during 1949-50. Evers died Sept. 6.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening with Betty Morris of Carroll as chairman.

Rural health care moving forward thanks to venture

Following the announcement Monday of the creation of a joint venture involving Wayne State College and the University of Nebraska Medical Center, rural health care has taken a step forward of being guaranteed a future in this state.

The announcement by Wayne State College President Dr. Donald Mash and University of Nebraska Medical Center Chancellor Charles Andrews, opens new horizons to students statewide of the prospects of going to med school.

As is the case with a number of students from rural areas, going to school in Lincoln or Omaha can be intimidating, but offering programs at Wayne State College, as well as Chadron State College, which piloted the program at the start of the school year, might help insure a future in rural health care.

During a time of decreased federal aid for rural health care, the program being implemented at WSC, Chadron State College and the University of Nebraska, is likely just one answer to rural health care concerns. It is the start of something which might take smaller communities by storm as general physicians, dentists and dental hygienists are few and far-between in the smaller community.

If this state is to secure its heritage, having a doctor in every town might help save the state from seeing many of its smaller communities dwindle in size since medical professionals are not readily available.

We applaud Wayne State College and the University of Nebraska for implementing this program for the welfare of its rural citizens.

Troops deserve our support

If you haven't heard, there are a number of people from Wayne who have been sent to Saudi Arabia and that doesn't even begin to represent the number of Wayne State students who have been sent to serve this nation.

While there are a variety of reasons to be for or against Operation Desert Shield, we need to make every effort we can to support the troops by doing what we can, regardless of our point of view.

If you know of someone who has been sent to Saudi Arabia, please let The Wayne Herald and the Wayne County Veterans Service Office know so we can get the troops' addresses to the public.

To have an impact on someone's life who might be involved in Operation Desert Shield, it is important not only for The Wayne Herald and the Wayne County Veterans Service Office to provide the addresses for servicemen and women abroad, but it's important to send them letters of praise, small gifts like Christmas cookies or clippings from the hometown newspaper.

We can work together to brighten the day of the troops. Let's get the network going.

Why don't we let our troops know we're thinking of them at Christmas but most importantly, "Let there be Peace on Earth."

Personality Profile

Kenneth M. Olds attorney partner Olds and Enz

Family: Inez, wife; Dr. Kenneth M. Olds, Jr., son, Greeley, Colo.; Sandra Lorenzen, daughter, Lincoln; Diane McCarty, daughter, Beloit, Kan.

What aspects of your job do you enjoy the most: Helping people who need assistance with their legal and business matters.

What job or occupation are you sure you would not like? Why: Being an abstracter. Checking real estate records would be dull, tiresome and boring.

What recently made you laugh out loud: Our granddaughter when asked if she wanted skim milk on her cereal replied, "Well, it's better than nothing."

What would you like to accomplish if you were governor of Nebraska or president of the United States: Provide work and homes for the low income people in cities and rural areas, and thus giving them a chance to earn a living and provide for their family needs.

What's your favorite hobby? Why: I really do not have a favorite hobby unless it would be working.

What is the most unusual or daring activity you would try ... if you had the courage or nerve: Skiing on the snow in the mountains.

Briefly explain your ideal vacation: Going to the mountains where it is cool in the summer time.

What do you remember most about being 10-years-old: My parents offered me a birthday gift of a clarinet or a bicycle. I chose the clarinet but received both on my birthday from my parents.

How would your friends describe you to strangers: I would be hesitant to ask and probably end up embarrassed by the response.

Variety of topics deserve attention

Rep. Bereuter addresses issues

Child Care Legislation

Among the many provisions contained in the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act were a new child care and child development block grant program, as well as certain tax credit provisions, which were agreed upon during the House-Senate Conference on the child care legislation passed by Congress earlier this year.

Earned Income Tax Credit

Under current law the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is only available to low-income working families, and it is not related to family size. This means that eligible families with the same income receive the same amount of tax credits regardless of the number of children they have.

In 1990, the maximum EITC is equal to 14 percent of the first $6,810 of earned income—or $953. This maximum credit begins to be reduced when the adjusted gross income reaches $10,743, and it is totally eliminated at an income level of $20,270. The conference agreement increases the amount of the EITC and adjusts the credit for family size, so that families with two children would receive larger tax credits than families with one child.

Specifically, the agreement increases the EITC from 14 percent to 16.7 percent in 1991 for eligible families with one child, and to 17.3 percent for eligible families with two children. In 1992, it increases the credit to 17.6 percent for eligible families with one child and 18.4 percent for those with two children. In 1993, the credit is increased to 18.5 percent for a one-child family, and to 19.5 percent for a two-child family. In 1994 and thereafter, the measure increases the credit to 23 percent for the one-child family and 25 percent for the two-child family.

The agreement also provides for a supplemental EITC in the amount of $500 for families with a child under one year of age. And, a new child health insurance tax credit was approved, having the same eligibility criteria and income phase-in and phase-out requirements as the EITC.

Child Care Block Grant Program

The agreement also authorizes a new child care and child development block grant program. Under the agreement, a state must use 75 percent of its funds for the purposes of providing direct child care services, improving quality, and increasing the availability of child care services. The agreement requires states to provide parents whose children receive child care financed through this share of the funds with the choice of receiving a voucher or placing their children in a program receiving a grant or contract. Parents receiving vouchers could choose any licensed, regulated or registered child care provider that complies with applicable state or local laws.

The agreement reserves 25 percent of a state's funds for early childhood development or before and after school child care services, and quality improvement activities. Of this 25 percent, 75 percent must be used for early childhood development or before and after school care, 20 percent for improving the quality of child care, and 5 percent for either use.

Keeping in Touch

By Cong. Doug Bereuter

All programs funded under the block grant must meet minimum health and safety requirements, including building safety standards, health and safety training, and standards designed to prevent and control infectious disease. The measure also requires states to ensure that parents have unlimited access to their children who are in programs receiving block grant funds.

A New State Grant Program

A new state grant program is established under the Social Security Act for families that need child care in order to work or that would otherwise be at risk of becoming dependent on AFDC. Providers will have to be licensed, regulated, or registered, except that there are no requirements for care provided solely within an extended family.

These provisions reflect a compromise between the White House and the Senate leadership. In my opinion, as well as the opinion of Representative Charles Stenholm, the author of the substitute that was narrowly defeated on the floor of the House when child care legislation was considered last March, the new child care provisions support several important principles. First, the new program recognizes that parents, states and localities are better decision-makers than the Federal government on how best to care for children. Second, the newly-approved provisions do not discriminate against child care delivered in a church or synagogue. Additionally the new provisions do not discriminate against the family which chooses to have one parent remaining at home for child care. Finally, the bill does not establish a complicated new Federal bureaucracy to administer the new child care funds.

I disapproved of H.R. 5835, the Budget Reconciliation bill, for its over-emphasis on $138 billion in taxes over the next five years as opposed to a smaller tax hike combined with an agency spending freeze or inflation-indexed spending freeze. Yet when one looks at the child care provisions incorporated in this legislation, one must conclude that they offer an exciting and long-awaited new day for American families. I have been somewhat involved in shaping the final product at various stages, and believe that the overall provisions balance the need for the Federal Government to support safe and adequate child care with the rights of parents to choose the most suitable day-care setting for their children.

Thank you

A big thank you to everyone who helped make the Wayne Child Care Potato Bake a huge success. The response from businesses and individuals with donations of food, equipment and volunteer labor was tremendous.

Special thanks to Cheryl Kopperud and elementary students and Diane Ehrhardt and Stepping Stones Preschool students for the delightful entertainment. We met our goal thanks to community support.

Pets childlike response uncanny

'It must have been the excitement of Thanksgiving'

It must have been the excitement of the Thanksgiving weekend but it's interesting how pets behave like children.

On Saturday, Rhonda and I went shopping and found some new toys for our dogs, which we purchased with the intentions of saving for Christmas.

Like most pet owners, and I'm sure some parents, we couldn't wait until we saw the excitement in our dogs' eyes when we gave them one of their new toys so instead of waiting for another month, we gave them their new toy early.

THE RESPONSE was entertaining for about five minutes. Corky, our black and white cocker spaniel-sheltie mix, whose mouth is bigger than his brain and whose bark is worse than his bite, played with his new toy by looking at it, sniffing it, jumping on it and pawing it like a cat after rolling on it.

Then, all the interest of his new toy was gone and he had reverted back to his old ball, which has a side of it missing and should probably be thrown away.

Squirt, our white dog with black spots, or our black dog with white streaks (depending on which way you look at it), took one look at the toy and seemed to say, "Forget it guys. That thing's not like anything I've ever seen before and it's not like anything I'll see again."

It must be the disposition of a beagle-Australian shepherd mix to say "forget it guys."

ANYWAY, ON WITH the rest of the story, as Paul Harvey would say.

It was Sunday afternoon when Rhonda and I cut up the rest of the Thanksgiving turkey and as a treat to the dogs, we gave them the giblets, jiblets or wiblets, whatever you call those things.

At any rate, the dogs, like only dogs will do, devoured the things like they never existed. Corky, who is a little more finicky than Squirt, had to smell them over a little before he decided he liked them but Squirt chomped them right down. Both of our pets seemed to enjoy their Thanksgiving feasts.

That is until Monday morning. While Corky had pretty well finished his surprises for the weekend by playing with his toy for five minutes and ignoring it, Squirt decided his fun was all but over. In the same manner he had chomped down on his Thanksgiving delight, the hound (Rhonda hates it when I call him that) decided he would try his hand at acting like a cow and seeing what the regurgitated version was like — all over our bedroom floor. That's not all he did but for purposes of taste, we'll leave it at that.

WHILE BILL COSBY used to say that if you want to have kids, you should try your hand at having some dogs first, I think the time will come when we agree.

Corky's quick enjoyment of his new toy and Squirt's cow imitation have given us first-hand indications that we definitely should not feed too much turkey to our pets (or our kids, when we have them) nor should we give out Christmas presents early.

Isn't it funny how things work out?

Wayne High offers classes in languages

Foreign Language courses have historically been electives in our schools because most Americans have considered them to be worthwhile only for college-bound students.

Today, however, foreign languages are enjoying widespread attention. The interest level declined sharply in the 1970's and led to a dramatic decline in foreign language enrollments, but perspectives on foreign language study have changed radically in just one decade. An emerging consensus places the study of foreign language and cultures alongside the five basics of English, mathematics, computer sciences, social studies, and the natural science as fundamental components of a sound education.

As the support for foreign language education in the schools has grown several states have instituted language requirements for graduation. Nebraska has a two year requirement for candidates for a scholar's diploma. Locally, at Wayne High School, students often meet the one year fine arts requirement for graduation through enrollment in foreign language.

We are indeed fortunate to be able to offer students four years of study in either German or Spanish. The teachers in the department, Edith Zahniser (German) and Carmen Ekdahl (Spanish), are convinced that language competence and cultural awareness are essential to the personal growth and enjoyment of the individual student and to responsible, and sensitive fulfillment of our country's international role. Information concerning specific course objectives and expected learning outcomes are available upon request.

St. Mary's rep to visit WHS on Dec. 4

WAYNE - Joan Berlie, an Admissions Counselor from College of Saint Mary, Omaha, will visit Wayne High School on Dec. 4.

College of Saint Mary is the only four-year, independent, liberal arts college for women in a five-state area including Nebraska and Iowa. Located on a 45-acre campus in southwest Omaha, College of Saint Mary is able to take advantage of its small size (1280 students; 1-13 teacher/student ratio) within the metropolitan setting.

The GOLDEN YEARS

By Joe Lorne
What can be done for older workers, laid off because of plant closings, whose skills no longer are in demand? New York City's Department of Employment has come up with one answer: a two-year pilot grant to a nonprofit agency to train unemployed older men and women in computer use for word processing. At the end of each 12-week training cycle, a placement specialist arranges job interviews. Updating the skills of older Americans is timely because of population and employment trends: By the year 2000 it's expected that more than 20 million new jobs will have to be filled, while the 20-to-29-year-old age group will have shrunk from 18 to 13 percent of the population.

What does it take to turn trashy lots in low-income urban neighborhoods into blooming gardens of flowers and vegetables? In Boston, the answer was Ed Cooper, who took a shovel to such a lot in the mid-1970s. His example led first to the creation of a community garden with 25 plots tended by people 55 or over. Neighborhood leaders, landscape students, nonprofit groups and city officials lent support and there now are 120 such gardens in low-income neighborhoods.

Remember When? 1939 - Clark Gable was nominated for the Oscar as best actor for his role as Rhett Butler in "Gone With the Wind." He lost to Robert Donat who played the beloved schoolmaster in "Goodbye Mr. Chips."

Wayne Herald All-Area Volleyball first and second teams announced

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Annual Wayne Herald All Area Volleyball Teams were released today by the Wayne Herald sports staff. The first team includes Wayne's Deanna Schluns, Winside's Kelly Pichler and Jenny Jacobsen, Allen's Denise Boyle and Cindy Chase and Wakefield's Wendy Kratke.

The second team include Wayne's Jennifer Hammer and Erin Pick, Winside's Shannon Holdorf, Wakefield's Kristen Miller, Allen's Carla Stapleton and Laurel's Bree Bebee.

Those earning the status of honorable mention include Wayne's Kari Lutt, Laurel's Jennifer Fritz, Wakefield's Christy Otte, Allen's Wendy Boyle, and Winside's Wendy Rabe and Holly Holdorf.

Much like previous years the selections for first and second team were very difficult—perhaps even more difficult this year considering two Wayne Herald teams were represented at the state volleyball tournament.

The following is a view of each of the first and second teamers from the Wayne Herald sports staff. Incidentally, the selections for the all-area team are based on the performances of each athlete according to the Wayne Herald. Coaches had no bearing on the selections.

Deanna Schluns—Deanna really came on during the second half of the year for coach Marlene Uhing. Her leadership abilities and communication skills on the floor were vital to the Blue Devils success.

Kelly Pichler—Kelly had a phenomenal year for Paul Giesselmann's Winside Wildcats. She was the quarterback of the team and provided excellent leadership skills which enabled the Wildcats to earn their first ever state tournament berth. Pichler has excellent hands and should make a fine collegiate setter.

Jenny Jacobsen—Jenny is one of three juniors to make the first team and an obvious candidate to return next season. Jacobsen is perhaps the finest all around female athlete in all of Northeast Nebraska. Her jumping ability enabled her to lead Winside in all the spiking categories and her hustling and want to win at all cost attitude helped lead Winside to a 20 win season.

Denise Boyle—Denise Boyle is another junior who makes it on the first team all area volleyball squad. She, like Jacobsen, has uncanny jumping ability which aided the Eagles to their first state tournament berth in six years. She and teammate Cindy Chase were the dominant forces in coach Gary Troth's successful season.

Cindy Chase—Cindy is the third and final junior to make the all area team. Cindy is perhaps one of the area's most fundamentally sound players. Her on the court savvy and ability to take control of a match by herself often brought Allen back into a match during games in which they were nearly out of.

Wendy Kratke—As long as Paul Eaton is coach at Wakefield High School the Wakefield Trojans volleyball team is going to be successful. The Trojans were expected to do no better than .500 this season because of a down year following the loss of several seniors the season before but the Trojans had nary an idea of a .500 season and Kratke's ability to put down the hard spike was a major reason.

Jennifer Hammer—Jennifer is the first selection for the second team all area and in an ordinary year when no more than one area team qualified for the state tournament, she would have been a first teamer. At any rate, Jennifer enjoyed a fine year as a spiker for the Blue Devils and she also provided the leadership which enabled Wayne to a winning season.

Kari Lutt—This is a prime example of why the Wayne Herald sports staff selects the all area teams and not the coaches. Kari Lutt was one of the finest unsung players of any team in the area. Lutt's communication on the floor in the way of telling younger players where to stand in certain offenses was a must in the success of the Blue Devils.

Carla Stapleton—Carla was the quarterback of the Allen Eagle attack all season and was a vital reason as to why the Eagles qualified for the state tournament. Her hustle ability often made it much easier for the likes of Cindy Chase and Denise Boyle to spike the ball because they didn't have to move to hit the ball, it was always right there for them.

Shannon Holdorf—Shannon was one of Paul Giesselmann's most significant contributors this season because of her hitting and serving abilities. It was Holdorf who stepped to the fore front when opposite teams were trying to stop Jacobsen. Holdorf made it difficult for any team to really key on one person.

Bree Bebee—The Laurel Bears did not enjoy a successful season as they never fully recovered from the crop of seniors that graduated from the season before. Bree however, made the most of her opportunity and her hustling ability earned her a spot on the second team.

Kristen Miller—Kristen was a prime reason by the Wakefield Trojans enjoyed so much success this season. Not only was she a very fine setter but the junior was also a consistent server for Paul Eaton's troops.

Wayne women defeated

The Wayne State women's basketball team fell 92-66 last Tuesday night at Vermillion, S.D. against the University of South Dakota. Coach Mike Barry's team was down by 18 at the intermission and could not fully recover in the second half.

USD forced the Wildcats into 29 turnovers in the contest while WSC made the host team turn it over 27 times. Norfolk freshman Lisa Chamberlin led the Wildcats in scoring with 18 points including a pair of three pointers.

Chamberlin also led the Cats in rebounding with nine caroms to her credit. Two other Wildcats were in double figures as well with Mary Schnitzler scoring 13 points and Dana Olmsted netting 10.

Lisa Schwab managed seven points while Jodi Otjen added six. Linda Heller followed with four and Cheri VanAuker, Kairi Backer, Norma Berg and Vanveldhuizen all added two points.

Wayne State was only out rebounded 48-43 with Otjen offsetting Chamberlin's nine boards with seven. Meanwhile, Vanveldhuizen pulled down six rebounds.

USD put up a total of 74 shots while WSC attempted 71. The difference was that USD connected on 39 of them while the Cats could only hit 25 of their attempts—the difference in the outcome.

Wayne State connected on 12 of 17 free throws compared to a 9-11 performance by USD. The Wayne State women will travel to play Dakota Wesleyan on Friday before returning to the friendly confines of Rice Auditorium on Saturday night for the first home game of the season against Simpson.

Dusenberry heroics net two WSC victories

Wayne State captures Annual Hardees Classic Tournament

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne State Wildcat cagers did not get off on the right track in the season opener against Briar Cliff, but Mike Brewen's troops rebounded nicely in Marshall, Minn. over the weekend as they captured the championship of the Hardees Thanksgiving Classic held at Southwest State.

In the opener last Friday the Cats had to go up against Huron, S.D., and we say go up against because Huron boasted a 6-10 center. WSC gave Brewen his first win as a head coach of Wayne State in a dramatic fashion.

The Wildcats trailed 69-67 with 16 seconds remaining in regulation when Ricky Watson got fouled and was sent to the charity stripe to shoot two. Watson, who had a marvelous overall game, missed both free throw attempts but managed to foul the Huron player who got the rebound allowing just two seconds to escape off the clock.

"Ricky really kept his head after missing both free throws," Brewen said. "He could have hung his head but he never gave up and he was whistled for a one and one foul instead of an intentional foul which really helped us."

The Wildcats iced the Huron shooter and it paid off as he rimmed the one and one opportunity. Point guard Todd Dusenberry grabbed the rebound and headed down court with 14 seconds remaining. He threw the ball to Doug Kuzak who had been hot all night from the three point line. Huron did a good job of covering Kuzak so he threw it back to Dusenberry at the top of the key and he drained the shot—ironically, his only shot made of the game.

Huron had just one second left on the clock to get a shot off and the inbound lob attempt to their big man was knocked away by the Wildcats defense, thus giving WSC its first win of the year and at the same time advancing themselves into the finals against Mayville State of North Dakota.

"I thought we really played a nice game," Brewen said. "We came out gunning from the three point range right away. In fact, we missed our first five shots of the game—all of which were three point attempts. We then settled down and started going inside but we got down right away by a 10-2 margin."

The Wildcats managed to come back and take a 35-31 lead at the break. WSC came out in the second half and scored the first four points to stretch the four point lead at half to eight.

Ricky Watson led all WSC scorers with 20 points while Doug Kuzak blistered the nets for 17 including five three point goals and five assists. Michael Parks poured in 12 points and Casey Gates added 11. Gerry Sagehorn netted four and Todd Dusenberry scored his lone three points on the game's last shot. Davy Summers added two and Gerard Ras had one.

Summers dished out three assists as WSC finished the game with 17 assists as a team. Both teams managed to pull down 30 rebounds with Watson leading the Cats with seven boards. Parks pulled down five caroms as did Gates.

"Casey did a real good job of guarding the big man from Huron," Brewen said. "He still finished with 21 points but we got him in foul trouble." Both teams also finished with 13 turnovers apiece. The Wildcats were 14-22 from the charity stripe.

In the championship game with Mayville State Brewen said the Wildcats fore pressed the whole game. "In Mayville's first round game with Southwest State they pressed the whole game as well and they pulled out a 102-100 win."

The brightest spot of the contest was the fact that Brewen's bench scored 40 of WSC's 86 points. "We got great bench play," Brewen said. "We had to play all 12 players with the press to keep fresh, plus it helped playing a lot of people when we played back to back games on Friday and Saturday."

O'Neill freshman Chad West made the biggest contribution from off the bench as the 6-6 outside shooting scored 15 points and was 3-3 from three point range.

"We really played well right from the get go," Brewen said. "We came out and got up 9-4 and we did a good job of breaking Mayville's trap, especially Michael Parks who had seven assists off the trap."

Mayville ran a 1-2-1-1 trap in the first half but came out in a man to man press in the second half. In the first half they were 1-14 from three point range but they heated up in the second half hitting 8 of 16 from the bonus range which helped erase a 48-38 lead WSC had at the intermission.

"We were up 52-38 early in the second half," Brewen said. "Then Mayville hit three consecutive three point field goals to close the gap to 52-47. And they were good shots because we had a hand in their face when they were shooting and they still hit."

Much like the first round win over Huron, the Wildcats won in dramatic fashion. Mayville caught WSC with just under five minutes remaining in the game at 78 all. In fact they actually went ahead 80-78 before the Cats came back to tie it up.

With the score tied 82-82 Mayville State was looking for the go ahead bucket with time running out. "We had a great defensive stand," Brewen said. "We made them throw 10 or 11 passes before they finally threw it away. We came down and scored to lead 84-82 but they came back and tied it up on the next possession."

The Wildcats had 35 seconds remaining in the game and the ball. They called time out with 21 seconds left and the game plan was to take the shot with about six seconds remaining so if they missed they would have time for a tip in but if they missed and Mayville got the rebound they wouldn't have enough time to get off a good shot.

Point guard Todd Dusenberry penetrated and got fouled with six seconds remaining. "It was a one and one foul and Mayville called time out to ice Dusenberry," Brewen said. "But Todd had a lot of confidence on the sideline. All we talked about was playing defense after Todd made both his free throws. Even Todd said he had no doubt he would make both free throw attempts." And that's exactly what the junior college transfer from Wyoming did.

Following his free throws Mayville called timeout once again. The Wildcats set up in a 3/4 court man to man press. "We played great defense once again," Brewen said. "Mayville didn't even get a shot off."

Brewen said that the Wildcats practice on those special situations a lot in practice. "We started practicing on special situations during our very first practice," Brewen said.

Casey Gates led the Wildcats in scoring with 16 points while Chad West finished with 15. Todd Dusenberry—the game's hero both nights scored 11 points including two three point field goals. Doug Kuzak scored nine points including two three pointers and Eric Priebe added eight. Davy Summers scored seven points and Michael Parks netted six. Gerry Sagehorn rounded out the attack with four.

The Wildcats out rebounded Mayville State by a 39-32 margin led by Casey Gates who hauled down nine rebounds. Kuzak and Priebe added strength to the boards with six and five rebounds respectively.

The Cats shot 59 percent from the field and they shot 57 percent from three point land as they connected on 8 of 14 three point attempts. "Our downfall came in the turnover category with 26," Brewen said. "Our goal is to have twice as many assists as turnovers and against Mayville we had 26 of each." WSC did a better job at the charity stripe hitting 14 of 17 free throw attempts.

Brewen attributes a great week of practice as to why the Wildcats turned things around so quickly following the big loss against Briar Cliff. "I still think it will take us at least 10 games to really show us what we have to improve on as a team," Brewen said. "But we had a great week of practice. What we do is have the top eight players dress in black and the rest dress in gold when we scrimmage. The gold team had a great week of practice which helped the black team."

Players like Tim Wobken, John Schott, Dave Irwin, Chad West and Gerard Ras were the gold team players," Brewen added. "That's why our bench scored 63 points in the two games combined over the weekend which is great."

Brewen says the gold team gets the credit for the championship trophy. "I also felt that our junior college players did a nice job over the weekend," Brewen said. "I was critical of them after the Briar Cliff game and they responded." Brewen of course is referring to Todd Dusenberry and Ricky Watson.

Wayne State will travel to Texas this weekend for the Southwest Baptist Tournament and then travel to St. Joseph, Mo. on Monday for a game with the sixth rated team in Division II in Missouri Western.

Sports Briefs

Winter Sports preview coming

WAYNE-The Winter Sports preview for Allen, Laurel, Wakefield, Winside and Wayne will be in the Monday edition of the Wayne Herald.

Wrestling to sponsor Open House

WAYNE-There will be an Open House for wrestling on Nov. 27 at 8 p.m. in the high school gym which will consist of introductions, demonstrations and an explanation of the sport. Everyone is welcome to attend. Prior to the Open House there will be a wrestling club meeting in room 101 which begins at 7 p.m.

Mens City Rec basketball to begin

WAYNE-Practice for Men's City Rec basketball will begin for "A" League on Monday, Dec. 3 from 7-10 p.m. "B" League practice will run from the same time on Tuesday, Dec. 4. "C" League practice will begin on Wednesday, Dec. 5 from 7:30-9 p.m.

"A" League is for those 26 and under with "B" League for those 36 and under. "C" League is for those 37 and over. If anyone is interested in playing city league basketball but is unable due to other commitments on the night scheduled for your age, you may contact Hank Overin or Jere Morris and something will be worked out.

Anyone may play up a division but no one can play down a division unless given permission by Overin or Morris. College students are ineligible to play because of the small facilities.

Cost is $20 for the season and money must be turned in before the first game which will be after Christmas vacation. Practice will be for three weeks before teams are picked. Practices for "A" League and "B" League will be divided by alphabet with those with the last name beginning between A-L coming from 7-8:30 and the rest coming from 8:30-10 p.m.

Anyone with further questions may contact Overin at 375-2584 or Morris at 375-5435.

Meyer wins football contest

WAYNE-Terry Meyer of Wayne captured the top prize of last week's Wayne Herald football contest. Meyer was the only contestant who missed just one game as he missed the winner of the Hawaii-Colorado State contest. Lois Lessmann, also of Wayne was the runner-up winner by way of the tie breaker.

Lessmann missed just two games as did Ken Thomas of Bellevue, Elaine Hedell of West Point and Michael McQuistan of Pender but Lessmann was closer on the tie breaker.

Shelly Lueders earns All-America mention

WAYNE-Wayne State College middle hitter Shelly Lueders was recently named as an honorable mention All-American by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, (NAIA).

The 6-0 senior, with junior eligibility, finished second in District 11 "Player of the Year" voting to Midland Lutheran's Jill Mulvihill. Lueders also earned All-District honors in 1989.

The Wayne native earned first-team All-Conference honors following the 1990 campaign which saw her lead the district in blocks and finish fourth in kills with 398.

Lueders helped WSC to a 19-18 record under first-year coach Nancy Clark. She is the daughter of Gary and Vickie Pick of Wayne.

Cross Country runners inks with WSC

WAYNE-Wayne State College Track and Field coach John Johnson recently announced the signing of Jennifer Kennedy of Papillion Nebraska. Kennedy was a three-time competitor in the Nebraska State Cross Country Championships for Papillion LaVista High School. The Lady Monarchs missed this year's team title by three points.

Kennedy placed 11th in this year's event, after finishing sixth as a junior and 40th as a sophomore. She also has participated in basketball, swimming, soccer and cheerleading.

"Coming from a strong, well-coached high school team, Jennifer has shown the potential to be a fine collegiate runner," Johnson said. "She should fit well into the WSC program, giving us increased depth and added team strength."

Kennedy, the daughter of John and Deborah Kennedy of Papillion, will major in elementary education at WSC.

WSC

building project since 1972 when Benthack Applied Science Hall was built.

The addition of a new business building is something the college has discussed since the creation of its master plan earlier this year. With business student enrollment up dramatically since the late '70s, Mash said it is a project which the college needs to keep up with community demands.

"The college's future is closely tied to the community's future," he said. "I promised a couple years ago that we needed to build upon your support and it has been due to the support that we've been able to do that."

It was thanks, in part, to money raised by the Wayne State Foundation, that the college's master plan was completed this year.

TO TAKE ON ALL the projects the college and the Foundation would like to accomplish, the price tag is estimated at $12.2 million from 1991-94. Although the figure is subject to appropriation by the Nebraska State Legislature, Wayne Groner, vice-president for Institutional Advancement, said it is one that is within reach.

The cost for the business and information technology building is estimated to cost $5.8 million. Connell Hall renovation is estimated at $2 million and other campus maintenance/improvement projects are expected to cost $6.2 million.

The structure of gifts to reach their $12.2 million total over the next four years relies on $6 million coming from gifts of $25,000 or more. The foundation said it hopes to raise $2.4 million from 960 gifts of $1,000 to $15,000 and gifts under $1,000 are anticipated to reach $775,000 for the final 9 percent. The balance of the money raised by the foundation is anticipated to be from $3 million secured from estate plan gifts.

"We're on the right track to meeting our four year goals," Groner said. "What Dr. Mash said about our being here for student development and regional development is true. That is what we're all about."

Rapid change in dairy herds expected to continue at same rate in the future

No other industry has gone through as much rapid change as the dairy industry and it looks as if the industry will continue changing at the same speed in the future, according to a University of Nebraska-Lincoln dairy specialist.

Jeffrey F. Keown said that 25 years ago there were over 15 million dairy cows on 1.1 million dairy farms producing an average of 8,300 pounds of milk per cow each year. Today 10 million cows are raised on 200,000 dairy farms and produce 14,200 pounds of milk per cow each year.

"The use of superior genetics, improved feeding, housing and overall management has influenced the rapid change in the dairy herd," the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist said.

Cows are artificially inseminated to top sires which can produce heifers that will give more milk than their mothers.

Computerization of the milking parlor aids in feeding and balancing rations that best fit a cow's individual production capability.

In the future, more computers will be seen in dairy barns and on dairy farms. More rapid change will occur since the dairy barn will become more mechanized, Keown said.

"Computers and robots will control and monitor most of the day-to-day chores in the dairy farm milking the cows, to feeding cows and cleaning barns," he said.

Entire herds of dairy cattle will be cloned, he said. Herds producing 17,000 pounds of milk per cow per year today will be able to produce 25,000 pounds in the future due in part to the excellent genetic background.

He predicts the future of feeding cattle to become a specific science.

"A producer will be able to custom order a ration fine tuned right down to the specific amino acid needed," Keown said.

Biotechnology will play an ever increasing role in milk production, he said.

Scientists will isolate the gene or genes that produce human milk, inject it into a cow embryo and have a cow produce milk of the exact composition as human milk, he said.

"The future of the dairy industry will be one of change, but certainly not without excitement," he said. "When one looks at the changes that have occurred one can only guess what the next 25 years will bring."

Organization selects board

WAYNE - Wayne Industries, Inc. has announced the selection of three directors for the 1991 term.

These terms on the board of directors begin Jan. 1 and will be three-year terms.

Those elected are Max Kathol, CPA; Julie Mash, Office Systems Consulting; and Dave Gardner, Milton G. Waldbaum and Company. All are new members to the board.

Remaining on the board are Bill Dickey, First National Bank; Rod Tompkins, Heritage Homes of Wayne; Bud Froehlich; David Ley, State National Bank; Sam Schroeder, Wayne County Public Power District and Duane Schroeder, Schroeder Law Office.

The officers for Wayne Industries, Inc. will be elected by the entire board of directors at their January meeting and will assume the office immediately.

Retiring from the board this year are Swede Fredrickson, Fredrickson Oil Company; Ken Berglund and Bob Merchant.

Etiquette guidelines a part of history Dining rules a century ago

Entertaining for the holidays is a time-honored Nebraska tradition. These "golden rules of etiquette," from the Nebraska State Historical Society, outline what was "proper" dinner party behavior a century ago.

"Gentlemen should stand behind their respective chairs until all the ladies are seated, and then take their own seats. Care should be taken that their chairs do not stand upon the dresses of the ladies beside them.

"Always say 'thanks' or 'thank you' to the servant or waiter.

"Never decline wine by clapping your hand on top of your glass.

"Do not eat ravenously. Do not smack the lips.

"Make no noises in your mouth or throat.

"Do not suck your teeth or roll your tongue around the outside of your gums.

"Never, no NEVER, put your knife in your mouth.

"Do not pick your teeth, or plunge your finger into your mouth.

"Do not spit out fish-bones upon your plate.

"Never take the bones of fowl or birds up in your fingers to gnaw

By the Nebraska State Historical Society or suck them. Remove the meat with your knife, and convey it to your mouth with your fork.

"Never watch the dishes as they are uncovered, or cry out when you perceive something dainty.

"Do not attempt to tuck your napkin, bib fashion, into your shirt collar. Unfold it partially and place it in your lap, covering your knees. A lady may slip a corner under her belt if there is a danger of its falling upon her dress.

"Wipe your finger-tips upon the table napkin.

"Do not use the tablecloth to wipe your mouth.

"Never spit the skins of grapes, the stones or pits of fruits. Receive them upon the prongs of your fork, laid horizontally, and place them as best you can upon the edge of your plate.

"Do not play with your knife and fork, fidget with your salt-cellar, balance your spoon on your tumbler, or make pills of your bread.

"Never take a long, deep breath after you finish eating, as if you were tired of eating.

"Never consult your watch before taking your departure.

'Fantasy Forest 1990' scheduled to open Thursday for viewing

WAYNE - The annual Fantasy Forest program is up and ready to go today (Thursday) when the four-day event gets underway.

The times of the Fantasy Forest 1990, held at the Wayne City Auditorium, are today (Thursday) from 6:30 to 9 p.m.; Friday from 5 to 9 p.m.; Saturday from 10 to 4 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

According to Sandra Metz, who is the advisor to the Wayne State College Home Economics Club, in addition to events tonight (Thursday) the lighting ceremony will get things officially underway at 7 p.m. followed by small music group presentations by students from Wayne High School and the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus.

Ballots will also be accepted from the public for this year's favorite trees.

The Home Economics department at Wayne State will also be sponsoring a bake sale and raffle tickets will be sold for drawings from Christmas tree ornaments and a gingerbread house.

The event is free and open to the public.

In addition to Fantasy Forest 1990, the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce will hold the weekly Chamber coffee at the City Auditorium Friday at 10 a.m.

MAYNARD OHL, A SALES REPRESENTATIVE, for AAA presents an award to Wayne Police Chief Vern Fairchild and City Administrator Joe Salltros.

City gets award for safety

WAYNE - The City of Wayne was among the safest places to be a pedestrian in the United States during 1989, according to the American Automobile Association.

In recognition of this accomplishment, Wayne was presented the AAA's Pedestrian Safety Achievement Award, which is presented by AAA clubs throughout the U.S. for work in pedestrian safety.

During 1989, a total of 2,454 communities representing 49 states participated in AAA's 51st annual Pedestrian Protection Program. Participating cities are grouped by populations and evaluated on safety programs, enforcement levels, traffic engineering and pedestrian death and injury rates.

During 1989, Wayne reached its 24th year without a pedestrian death, according to Rose White, traffic safety director of AAA in Nebraska.

Wayne was one of 258 cities nationwide to receive this award.

Communities of 5,000 or more qualify for the program. Nebraska had 100 percent participation of the qualified cities. A total of 32 Nebraska cities participated in the program.

Local students to participate in two concerts

WAYNE - Several Wayne youth will be performing with the 74-member Wayne State College Concert Choir during its annual Christmas concerts Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 1-2, on the college campus. The concerts are free and open to the public.

They are Missy Eckhoff, Kelly Fleming, Brett Fuelberth, Jed O'Leary and Heather Thompson.

The performances will be held on Saturday at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Peterson Fine Arts Building's Ramsey Theatre.

This year's guest choir is the Pender High School Choir, under the direction of Connie Smith. She is a Wayne State College graduate and former soloist of the Wayne State Concert Choir. The Pender High School Choir received outstanding ratings in last spring's district high school music contest. It will perform solo pieces as well as singing with the college choir.

Also performing will be the Wayne State Madrigal Singers, the Women's Chorus, conducted by Rob Stuber, and A Touch of Brass, the well-known northeast Nebraska brass ensemble.

LUTHERAN CHURCH WOMEN

Salem Lutheran Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America met Nov. 20 for a regular meeting. Mae Greve and Miriam Haglund presented a Thanksgiving service that included Bible readings, hymns and responsive readings. Pastor Kip Tyler sang "I Was There To Hear Your Morning Cry" and also served as guest speaker. His thought provoking talk was on "Families of the 90s." He emphasized the need to strengthen the family and marriages and to share our faith with today's children and youth because of the multitude of problems in today's society.

The business meeting was conducted by Clarice Schroeder, president. Helen Muller, Christian action chairman, read a thank you from Immanuel Hospital of Omaha for items sent to their fall bazaar. Cheer boxes will be packed on Monday, Dec. 17 at 9 a.m. Monetary gifts are needed and may be given to Emma Harding, Ruth Johnson or Helen Muller. Twelve quilts will be given to the Lions Club for local use.

The next meeting will be a Christmas luncheon on Saturday, Dec. 1 at 12:30 p.m. It will include the installation of officers.

With Margaret Fischer, vice president, presiding, nominations were accepted for president. Clarice Schroeder was nominated and accepted the position for another year.

The meeting closed with the benediction by Pastor Kip A. Tyler and the singing of the table prayer by all. Lunch and fellowship followed.

ADOPT A CHILD

Annually the Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency sponsors different activities to provide Christmas gifts for needy children in the 12-county area which they serve. The Wakefield Senior Center will assist through the Adopt a Child program. A Christmas tree will be set up at the center with

Safe, attractive Christmas trees require some care

After Thanksgiving, many Nebraskans head for their local Christmas tree grower or lot to buy this year's tree. Getting a good tree and taking care of it will mean a safer and happier holiday season, advises a University of Nebraska-Lincoln forester.

Michael Kuhns, member of the NU Department of Forestry, Fisheries and Wildlife, said freshness and moisture are the keys to getting a tree to last through the holiday season.

"Once a tree's needles dry out they won't easily remoisten, even when the tree is placed in water," the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist said. "The best way to get a fresh tree is from a local grower, either at a choose-and-cut operation or at a lot."

Nebraska has scores of Christmas tree farms, mostly in the eastern third of the state. Locations of nearby growers can be obtained by calling local extension offices.

If trees grown locally are unavailable, Kuhns offers guidelines for making a good selection from trees grown elsewhere, some of which may have been cut as early as August.

Check for freshness by gently pulling on several needles. If many come off, freshness is suspect, Kuhns said. Or, lift the tree and strike the butt end on the ground. If many live needles fall off, keep looking. However, brown dead needles falling out probably don't indicate a problem. They were shed earlier and lodged in the crown. Finally, pull off a couple of needles and break them. They should be moist and fragrant, he said.

Once the tree is home, cut a thin slice from the butt end to open up pores and keep the butt covered with water. Keep the tree out of sun and wind.

Cut the butt again when the tree is brought in. Use a sturdy stand that holds at least a gallon of water. A fresh tree will use this much or more water per day, Kuhns said. Place the tree away from heaters, furnace vents, television sets and other heat sources.

Kuhns said lights should be UL-approved and protected by an in-line fuse. Small, pin-point lights are good because they stay cool. Old lights with cracked insulation or loose sockets aren't worth the risk and should be thrown out, Kuhns said. Turn off the lights when the tree is unattended.

Flammable decorations should not be used on Christmas trees with electric lights, and candles are a major no-no.

While a fresh tree that is watered daily may stay safe for several weeks, Nebraska State Fire Marshall's regulations limit the display of trees in most public places to 15 days. The regulations also require butt-trimming, treatment with a flame retardant, daily watering and prevention of direct contact between people and trees. Trees are prohibited in all health care facilities.

A NebGuide, "Christmas Tree Selection and Care," is available at local cooperative extension offices. It includes tree selection tips, the merits of various tree species, and even provides plans and directions for building an inexpensive and effective tree stand.

American Legion and Auxiliary have established support network

The National American Legion and Auxiliary have established a family support network in cooperation with Safeguard Systems, Inc. to provide assistance to military families of regular active duty personnel and those who have been activated in the National Guard and Reserves.

when assistance is needed while family members are on active duty.

Families are encouraged to call the toll-free number with their requests for assistance. Each request will be logged into a confidential central data bank and assigned to local posts and units for personal follow-up and action at the community level.

Area families needing any type of assistance are urged to call the number with their requests.

The Farmer's Wife By Pat Melerhenry

In all the discussion of things I'm thankful for, I forgot to mention four new tires on the ford! How could I forget that? November is Hospice Month, and the last week in the month is Home Health Care Week. The two go together, and I need to remind you all about caring for the terminally ill and home. Wayne is blessed with an active group of volunteers, and an energetic coordinator named Wanda. They call themselves Community Care Hospice Group, and have provided many hours of support for patients and families in Wayne, Emerson, Allen, Laurel, Beemer, Wisner, and points in between. I received the December newsletter recently, and I'd like to share some things from it with you. The first is an article titled "Confessions of a Hospice Spouse." The author, Mike Gorodezky, waits dinner for his wife Sarah, who is a director of a large Hospice in Oakland, CA. He writes, "I have a theory that our house is filled with friendly ghosts. Over the years, my wife has met so many people who are now dead that I figure some of them hang around and visit us. I don't know if they protect us, but it is possible. "Like the doctor's spouse, I have learned a lot about cancer--it's bad, folks; death--not so scary; dying--it should not be bad, but it can be; pain--avoidable; durable power of attorney--we have one. "Live today, my wife says, and she has many, many stories to support her philosophy. Mostly, they are about people who waited all their lives to have fun, but got cancer instead. My wife does have a point. I try to stop and smell the flowers, but mostly I forget and rush on."

The newsletter goes on to quote lines from a song written by Deanna Edwards that reiterates that thought: "When you live, live every day as if it were the last day that you'll be living. "And when you give, give every day as if it were the last gift that you'll be giving. "Don't ever give with half a heart, or shine with half a light. "Live each day as if it were the last day of your life." Important thoughts as we enter the season of gift-giving. We did a little shopping on this, the day after Thanksgiving, the biggest shopping day of the year. We visited one large discount store. The merchandise was literally piled high and people were mauling through it. Gift wrap in large rolls, tree lights in stacks, gloves and sweaters and boots and toys marched up and down the aisles. I couldn't help contrasting the scene with a picture I'd recently seen in a newspaper of empty grocery shelves in Russia. The paper does report nativity scenes and Christmas carols for the first time in many years. We placed a few items in our grocery cart, discussed what things were actually needed by family members, and walked back out into the sunshine. My personal goal of deemphasis of material gifts becomes stronger every year. And I'm including a memorial gift to community care Hospice group, Box 116, in Wayne, a worthy recipient. May you holiday season be blessed.

Parents, 'Did you Know?'

Section 81-527, Nebraska Revised Statutes (Reissue 1987) requires teachers of public and private schools and educational institutions to conduct regular fire drills in accordance with rules and regulations they may adopt and to keep all doors and exits unlocked during school hours.

Tornado or disaster drills do not substitute for fire drills. At least two fire drills must occur the first two weeks of the school year and eight additional drills during the remainder of the year. In our climate area we are allowed to perform six drills at the beginning of school (early fall) and four drills after the winter months to complete the ten required drills.

These drills are to be executed at different hours of the days so as to avoid distinction between drills and actual fires. A written record of all drills must be maintained by the school and a copy of such record forwarded to the state fire marshal's office at the end of the school year.

Occasionally, Deputy State Fire Marshalls will visit schools to check on drills being held in accordance with state law.

Children's Book Week observed

WAYNE AND CARROLL ELEMENTARY students in kindergarten through fourth grade observed National Children's Book Week (Nov. 12-16). The theme was "Read to Somebody Every Day" and reading coupons were turned in each morning and the minutes were totaled for each class by a group of fourth graders during their math class. The hourly reading results were then recorded on a bar graph. Over 140 students received certificates for treats from the Wayne Dairy Queen. During the week, over 180 hours of reading in the evening with family members, students came near or surpassed their goals. In these separate pictures (left) students in kindergarten, first and fourth grade are pictured; (right) second graders representing their classes read the most books as the bar graph indicates.

Wayne American Legion represented at conference

Roy Sommerfeld and Chris Bargholz represented the Wayne American Legion at the District III fall conference on Nov. 18 hosted by South Sioux City American Legion Post 307.

Mrs. Ardell Mueller of Pender was in charge of morning program guides for volunteer workers, followed with a film and noon meal served by Legionnaires of Post 307.

District III Commander Jeff Swanson of Wakefield conducted the business meeting, assisted by District III Vice Commander Gene Twilford of Laurel.

Dale Johnston, Dakota County Veterans Service Officer, presented a report regarding recent changes in veterans benefits and encouraged those in attendance to write senators and congressmen regarding the changes.

Steve Bartos of Lincoln, department membership chairman, spoke on the department membership program. Bartos told the group that Congress has approved an expansion of membership eligibility for the American Legion at the request of delegates attending the American Legion National Convention this past July.

The bill, which has been signed by President George Bush, will enable servicemen and women whose active duty service ranged from Aug. 24, 1982 to July 31, 1984, and Dec. 20, 1989 to Jan. 31, 1990, to be eligible for membership in the American Legion.

Slightly more than 23,000 Nebraska individuals are projected to come within the eligibility period.

The 1991 District III Convention is scheduled March 9 and will be hosted by Irwin L. Sears Post 43 of Wayne.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK'S SENIOR CITIZEN CORNER

WASHINGTON WATCH: Get ready for a new chorus of the old Washington refrain. We're about to hear why they must reduce entitlements to reduce the deficit. Be prepared to hear and read some (dubious!) explanations of why our country's elders are getting too many benefits at the expense of the deficit.

This is, of course, intolerable. The fact that some respected columnists have been picking up the budget makers' line does not add respectability to the arguments. Whatever Medicare beneficiaries receive, it's a pale shadow of what is provided by most European countries. If you assess a nation's debts by how much you allow for health care for seniors, then you need to reassess your priorities. Growing older is a blessing we can attribute to both God and science, and should not be penalized by penny wise, pound foolish politicians. Besides, Medicare is not a giveaway; it's paid for by the beneficiaries.

EXPLAINING THE PRESCRIPTION CONFUSION: To J. Shupp of Jacksonville, Fla., and everyone else who asked for an explanation of a column discussing restrictions on prescriptions, let me try making this admittedly confusing situation a little clearer. If — I repeat IF — the so-called money-saving set of regulations now being proposed goes into effect, physicians would be required to prescribe the least expensive form of a drug or medication. If the doctor does not prescribe the cheapest form available, the pharmacist is required to make the substitution. The only exemption would be if the doctor indicates on the prescription form that no substitute is permitted and the prescription must be filled as written. Doctors who have commented say they resent even the suggestion that these rules be implemented and say they'll fight any attempt at implementation. They feel their right to treat their patients according to what they determine is the best therapy would be undermined. Pharmacists are upset because it puts an unfair burden on them. As I noted in the earlier column, because the regulations would automatically immunize pharmacists from any suit for an injury caused by the switch, it implies that injuries or mishaps are expected. So far, it's only at the suggestion stage. Let's hope it never gets beyond that point.

THESE JOINTS ARE HIP: Over half a million people a year elect to have a procedure called arthroplasty, more familiarly known as joint replacement surgery. The Sept. 15 issue of "Patient Care" magazine reports that the expected usage period for hips and knees can be as much as 10-15 years; elbows and shoulders almost as long. All normal activities are allowed and encouraged. For maximum wear, the rule is, use it, don't abuse it.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT DAY

The American Legion posts and American Legion Auxiliary units of Dixon County sponsored Cornhusker Boy's and Girl's County Government Day No. 20 at Ponca for the junior class students of Allen, Emerson-Hubbard, Newcastle, Ponca and Wakefield schools. Registration and general assembly was held at the Ponca fire hall with Dean Chase as master of ceremonies. Charlotte Calvert of Ponca served as county government chairman.

The 185th Air Guard of Sioux City, Iowa opened the program with a "Flag Ceremony." The Girl Scouts and Brownies led the Pledge of Allegiance, followed by a video on the flag. Rev. James Moores gave the welcome and Senator Gerald Conway field questions from the students. Merle Von Minden spoke on behalf of the American Legion. Several videos were shown and County Clerk Jeff Taylor, County Sheriff Dean Chase, County Assessor J.C. Conrad and County Treasurer Weldon Schwarten demonstrated "How to License a Car."

The student were sworn into office by Clerk of the District Court Irma Foulks. A Thanksgiving dinner was served at the Ponca school for all in attendance. The students visited the offices to which they were elected following the noon meal. Deenette Von Minden assigned with registration and Edna Ellis assisted in the Ponca school kitchen. This is one of the projects of the Allen Legion and Auxiliary and they also help finance the day.

COMMUNITY CLUB

The Allen Community Development Club met recently at the Village Inn for a dinner meeting. Business included the plans for the Christmas promotion. Date of Santa's visit and the drawings will be Dec. 15. Santa will arrive in Allen at 2 p.m. to visit with the children. The drawing will be held following Santa's visit. During the drawing, a movie will be shown to the youngsters at the fire hall. It is sponsored by the Community Development Club.

It was reported that the lighted sign had been installed at the site of the intersection 9 and 20 north of Allen, alerting traffic where Allen was. Larry Boswell was in charge of a survey sheet handed out to each present to determine the goals of the club for 1991. The results will be made known at the December meeting, which will be held on Dec. 17 at 6 p.m. This is a half hour earlier due to the school musical being held that evening.

For Allen centennial

Talent show nets $350

A "Community Show of Talent" last Saturday night in Allen raised approximately $350 for the village's centennial celebration slated to take place next summer.

The event was sponsored by the Future Homemakers of America (FHA) chapter of Allen High School.

Acts included the Chattersev Club with its special rendition of "Roll Out the Barrel"; five groups of The Eaglettes Strutters under the direction of Carla Stapleton; Renee Chase lip syncing "He's So Fine"; Stacey Martinson singing "Somewhere Out There"; Missy Martinson, Stephanie Martinson and Denice Boyle, vocalists, Stephanie Carlson, flutist, and Vicky Hingst, pianist, performing "Come Follow Me"; Vicky Hingst singing "Wind Beneath My Wings"; the faculty band playing a Christmas song; Candace Jones twirling a fire baton; and the Erwin Sisters (Lori, Lana, Lisa and Kari) harmonizing in a mock rehearsal.

Gary Troth, master of ceremonies, sang a special version of "Piano Man" for the grand finale.

The audience also participated in the show with some displaying their hula hoop expertise and others joining in the choruses of "Roll Out the Barrel" and "Piano Man."

Sixty-five centennial wooden stars were handed out at the end of the evening. Families are asked to decorate the stars and return them to the town tree decorating activity slated Dec. 8 at 3 p.m.

More stars will be handed out on Dec. 3 during the elementary music concert in the Allen gymnasium.

Preparing for next year Does fall nitrogen application pay?

The fall harvest is nearly completed in Nebraska, and crop producers are already preparing for next year's crop. For many producers this means soil sampling and applying anhydrous ammonia fertilizer. But two University of Nebraska specialists say producers need to ask themselves if fall application of nitrogen is a good decision.

Richard Ferguson, soils specialist and Roger Selley, farm management specialist at the University of Nebraska South Central Research and Extension Center near Clay Center said that several questions need to be addressed when considering fall application of nitrogen. These considerations include the current price of anhydrous ammonia and the expected price next spring, how much of the fall applied nitrogen will be lost over the winter, and how spring application conditions might compare to this fall in terms of application losses, time pressures and soil compaction.

Selley said a producer has to take all factors into account in determining the economic impact of fall versus spring applications.

"Last year, anhydrous prices increased about $35 per ton in the spring," said Selley. "Assuming a 15 percent loss of fall applied nitrogen, 210 pounds of nitrogen applied in the fall is equivalent to 180 pounds applied in the spring. Estimating one-per-cent-per month interest for five months, the cost of spring application of nitrogen at $185 per ton just about equals a fall application of nitrogen at $150 per ton." Application rates could be reduced 10 percent with side-dressing which would save a producer an additional $2 per acre, Selley added.

Soils specialist Ferguson said that the gamble in the fall versus spring application is between fall leaching losses and spring application conditions.

"Many producers apply anhydrous ammonia in the fall not only because the price may be lower, but because there are fewer demands on their time," Ferguson said. As a result, as soon as the soil temperature drops they apply ammonia with the impression that the conversion to nitrate will not occur over the winter months and the fertilizer will remain in the soil until spring.

Ferguson said that this impression may not be correct.

"There is nothing magic about that 50-degree mark, (the temperature considered 'safe' for anhydrous application because it slows the conversion to nitrates)," the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist said. "The conversion does not actually stop until the soil reaches freezing." Once converted to nitrate, the fertilizer can leach below the crop root zone if winter or spring precipitation is excessive.

Selley also pointed out that many producers are moving into reduced tillage programs, and this is compatible with waiting until spring to apply fertilizer because it relaxes some of the time pressures.

"As much as 50 percent of the nitrate lost from fall applications may reach the water table, with the rest lost in gaseous form," Ferguson said. "The economics of nitrate leaching into the groundwater cannot be easily calculated."

Selley agreed, saying that the cost of nitrates leaching into the groundwater is hard to calculate when the drinking water supplies are contaminated.

"Farming practices may be restricted or regulated if nitrate levels exceed the maximum contaminant level of 10 parts per million," Selley said. "As we become more aware of the environmental risks, the advantages shift to spring application of nitrogen fertilizer."

We Care

This year the "We Care" Christmas Program at Wayne's Pamida Store is aimed at providing Christmas gifts to children in the community who may not otherwise receive any. Information and assistance is being offered by a local community service organization. The information associated with the program is being handled confidentially. Essentially, a Christmas Tree is placed inside the store's entry way and decorated with tags containing relevant information about each child's Christmas wishes. Interested customers may select a tag, purchase and wrap an appropriate gift and return it to Pamida's customer service counter for delivery to the child before Christmas. Several employees from the store, along with the store manager, Robbie Bishop, volunteered to coordinate the program and are available to answer any questions. The tree will be on display from approximately November 23 through December 18. Last year the program provided more than 7,400 children with Christmas gifts through the 174 store chain.

Two Types of Cholesterol

Two types of cholesterol are referred to as LDL (low density lipoprotein cholesterol) and HDL (high density lipoprotein cholesterol). LDL cholesterol is deposited inside the blood vessels and is associated with the development of heart disease and stroke. Blood flow decreases as vessel openings become smaller. HDL cholesterol is beneficial in that it appears to clear LDL cholesterol from the bloodstream. For optimum health, it is important to keep blood LDL cholesterol levels low and blood HDL cholesterol levels high. Although a number of medicines help lower total blood cholesterol levels, many authorities believe that the most important approach is cutting back on saturated fats and cooking with polyunsaturated cooking oils. HDL cholesterol can be increased with regular, rigorous exercise.
