Office helps by promoting jobs

Oberle helps people find work

By Mark Crist Managing Editor

As economic development is important to the growth of communities, so is making connections between people and jobs.

That's part of the job of Karen Oberle, the representative for Job Training of Greater Nebraska.

Oberle, who visits Wayne every Wednesday at the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, said she understands where people are coming from when they're looking for work.

As a Wayne State student, Oberle worked her way through college by doing a variety of jobs. She said what she experienced is similar to what people seeking employment are experiencing. Af-ter graduating in 1989, Oberle began employment with Job Training of Greater Nebraska.
"What I do is especially important to the changing workforce," she said. "Companies today have dislocated some workers who need retraining. Others need math and reading skills, so with those pushes, there's definitely a need for additional occupational training."

IOB TRAINING of Greater Nebraska does provides counseling to clients about the available options. For employers, Job Training provides a list of potential employees.

Oberle said one example is the youth works program, which pre-pares anyone from age 16-21 to develop entry-level skills. Additional programs offer potential employees a year of training through classes at a community college, trade school or technical

The Wayne Herald, Monday, January 14, 1991

The house has a "post-holiday" look: bare spaces where the decorations were, a few pieces of candy and cookies around, Christmas cards in a pile, tree on the porch, and puzzles on the card table

The snow is beautiful, and has it been blown around. I even tried a few rides on the sled today.

tried a few notes on the sied today. It is cold, though.

It's Epiphany Sunday, the day of the Magi. As our pastor reminded us last week, the time from Thanksgiving until the 24th is actually advent; and Christmas is really the twelve days following the 25th.

The minister said today that he

The minister said today that he was no longer a kid when he learned that the Three Kings did not come to the manger on the heels of the shepherds.

And he went on to say that the story of the Magi is also our story: they made a long journey, they needed help to achieve a goal, and when they found the Christ Child, He was different from what they expected. He reminded us that our time on Earth is only one little piece of our lives.

Of course, the Star is associated with this long journey, because the three wise men followed it. And so we sing songs about light on Epiphany.

I remember noticing that there was a very bright, full moon on New Year's eve. I read later that it was a Blue Moon, the second full moon in a month. Hence, the say-ing, "one in a blue moon" I'd never own that.

The lights have been lovely on the new snow. Nebraska pulled out over Kansas State in Manhattan. Winside wrestlers set a record for first round pins and for total points in a tournament. Actually, they were awesome.

And under all the activities as the new year takes off, and all the newspaper articles featuring the news in review, there continues to be an undercurrent of concern as the calendar moves closer to lanuary 15th. As I walked today, I prayed; as I'm sure everyone else is handily Wayne State hoop teams win

By Kevin Peterson

The Wayne State women's and men's basketball teams were in action Thursday night in the friendly confines of Rice Auditorium and both squads picked up wins in big fashion.
Mike Barry's women's squad evened their season record with a convincing 85-60 victory and Mike Brewen's men's team followed suit with an 88-68 thumping of Western State College of Colorado.
In the women's game both teams went back and forth early in the contest and at the 11:41 mark of the first half it was all knotted at 16 each. Then the Wildcats went on a 15-0 run in the next 2:47 to on a 15-0 run in the next 2:47 to lead 31-16.

Chamberlin proved not only to be a scoring threat but she dominated the boards by pulling down eight first half rebounds, several of which were offensive boards. In the first three minutes of the second half the Wildcats went on an 11-0 run to lead by 16 at 54-38 and from then on they were virtually never threatened. ally never threatened

The game started fast as Western State center Steve Fendry slam dunked the ball with authority in the game's first five seconds. Wildcats freshman Chad West however, was not intimidated and popped consecutive 3-pointers to give Wayne State a quick 6-2 lead.

As it turned out, Western State's 2-0 lead was the only time during the contest they led the game. The Wildcats out scored Western State 17-5 in the final six minutes of the first half to take the 18 point lead into the locker

Wayne State hit seven of its 14 three point attempts in the first half while Western State was 3-10 from bonus range. Wildcats head coach Mike Brewen was pleased with his teams effort in the first 20 minutes.

"I just can't say enough about our defensive effort," Brewen said.
"Offensively, we we get good ball movement we have a good offense. In the first half I thought we did a nice job of ball movement."

At the 12:51 mark of the second half Wayne State's lead had ballooned to 31 points at 64-33. Then the Wildcats got a little too conservative which allowed the Colorado visitors to mount a come back which at one point had the back which at one point had the Wildcat lead trimmed to 10 points at 75-65 but the Cats scored the game's final 11 points—all on free rows. "Western State picked up the that's because they had to," Brewen said. "We got a little con-servative and we answered their runs with our own."

The Wildcats were led by the play of Todd Dusenberry who scored 28 points including a 13-15 effort from the free throw line. "Todd really did a nice job for us," Brewen said. "He is a good free throw shooter and when the game is on the line he just doesn't miss." Freshman Michael Parks scored 22 points in the contest including an 8-10 outing from the charity stripe. Don Smith added 14 points for the winners and Chad West netted 12. Doug Kuszak finished netted 12. Doug Kuszak finished with five points while Gerry Sagehorn and Eric Priebe scored four and three respectively.

West drew one of the game's toughest defensive assignments in trying to stop Steve Fendry who came into the game as Western State's leading scorer. "Chad did a great job of playing defense on Fendry," Brewen said. "He held a good offensive player to 13 points. All in all it was a heck of a team effort."

Wayne State started the game with three freshman in Michael Parks, Chad West and Don Smith.

"I thought Don Smith did a real nice job for us," Brewen said. "I was going to start him regardless of Casey's broken hand." Smith finished the game with 14 points and eight rebounds in his first home start of the year.

Wayne State out rebounded Western State 43-39 as Smith and Kuszak led the way with eight caroms apiece. Chad West and Michael Parks each had seven rebounds while Eric Priebe and Gerry Sagehorn recorded four apiece.

The Wildcats were 27-36 from the free throw line while Western State was 16-21. WSC had 16 turnovers but forced Western State into 19.

The Wakefield girls and boys basketball teams made it a clean sweep of the Winside Wildcats Fri-day night in Wakefield with Gregg Cruichshank's girls team downing Paul Giesselmann's squad 40-35 in the opener while Paul Eaton's boys team proved to be too much for Randy Geier's Wildcats in a convincing 77-37 final score.

In the girls game Winside held Wakefield's leading score Lisa Blecke to just four points in nearly three full quarters but the junior hit two free throws at the end of the third quarter and then scored all 12 of Wakefield's fourth quarter points to finish with a game high 18 points.

The Trojans led 10-8 after one quarter but at halftime Winside had managed to force a tied at 20-20. Wakefield held a point advantage heading into the final eight minutes before Blecke took over the context the contest.

Kristen Miller followed Blecke in the scoring column with eight points while Lisa Anderson and Wendy Kratke netted six apiece.

Wendy Kratke netted six apiece. Heidi Muller rounded out the scoring with two points.

Winside was led by Wendy Rabe with 16 points while senior point guard Kelly Pichler scored 10. Holly Holdorf netted four points while Christi Mundil and Shannon Holdorf rounded out the scoring with three and two points respectively.

Uhing was also pleased that ome of her other players hit some outside shots as well with Danielle Nelson and Amy Tiedtke hitting some crucial shots. "We got some good play out of everyone," Uhing said. "Amy Wriedt came off the bench and got a couple big re-bounds for us and she hit two free throws which helped. CONSERVATIONISTS HONORED

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources district honored several outstanding conservationists from northeast Nebraska at its annual awards banquet held recently in Norfolk.

Since 1973, farmers from the 15 county district have been honored annually for their contributions to soil and water conservation. The 1990 Honor Farm Award winners are Ervin and Bonnie Tuck-er of Norfolk, and Richard, Helen, Mark and Betsy Langemeier of Scribner.

The E.E. Tucker farm north of Battle Creek is an excellent example of how conservation farming and wildlife habitat improvement can work hand in hand. Erv has used a variety of practices to control erosion and save soil such as terraces, grade stabilization, range seeding, minimum tillage and windbreaks. Most striking of these are the windbreaks that Bonnie and Erv first started to plant in 1952. Erv will proudly show visitors row upon row of windbreaks on his land, his four acre Christmas tree planting left for wildlife and two ponds. When asked why he decided to plant so many trees, Erv sim-ply says, "Dad always planted trees, and I've always liked wildlife."

Richard and Helen Langemeier began farming on Helen's family's farm northeast of Scribner in 1960. From the beginning, the Langemeiers have utilized conservation techniques to save the precious topsoil on their farm. Beginning with two row terraces put in by Helen's father in the late 1940's, push-ups in the 1970's and over 21,000 feet of terraces installed in the 1980's, it is apparent that the Langemeier farm is well protected from soil erosion. Richard and son, Mark are always interested in experimenting with applying various conservation tillage methods. Mark has established a tree planting area north of his house and plans to continue adding trees to the Langemeier Farms. Both Honor Farm award families receive a photo collage of their farm, a fence sign and a Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Steward Certificate signed by the governor.

Judy and Dennis Kabes of Clarkson were presented a plaque and a fence sign for their selection as the Quad-States Conservation Area Award winner for the Lower Elkhorn NRD. The Kabes were chosen for this award for their strong belief in the conservation ethic as well as putting it to work on their land by implementing a wide variety of conservation practices. The Kabes also received a Ne-braska Soil and Water Conservation Steward Certificate.

The LENRD Outstanding Tree Planters for 1990 are Glenn and Janelle Gubbels of Sioux City. The Gubbels have owned a farm pond on an area of pasture and cropland south of Randolph since 1983. In 1981 they decided to contribute to the future by converting the area around their pond into a tree planting area. By participating in the Wildlife Habitat Improvement Program, the Gubbels have planted over 1,200 trees consisting of over 12 different tree and shrub species on 17-acres surrounding their three acre farm pond. They have added an additional 400 trees this past year, after their WHIP contract matured. The Gubbels receive a plaque and a Nebraska Soil and Water Conservations.

their WHIP contract matured. The Gubbels receive a plaque and a Nebraska Soil and Water Conser-vation Steward Certificate as the district's Oustanding Tree Planters.

The Lower Eikhom NRD directors expressed their gratitude to the members of the Logan East Rural Water System Advisory Committee. Director Eiden Wesely of Oakland presented certificates of appreciation to Don A. Johnson of Oakland and John Larson of Lyons. Advisory committee members Mitzi Anderson, Harvey Bartling, Karlene Johnson, Jeff Troupe and Homer Uehling will be presented certificates at the next advisory committee meeting.

Also honored at the banquet for their dedication to soil and water conservation were: •Phyllis Knobbe for 10 years of service to the Lower Elkhorn NRD at the Cuming County Soil Conservation Servie Office. -Soil Conservation Service District Conservationists Sid Cornelius of Madison County, David Speidel of Stanton County and Larry Wetterberg of Wayne County, Richard Alexander, retiring director of the Lower Elkhorn NRD from Pilger, and •Glen Olson, retiring director of the Low-

Clarifications for article

Two clarifications needed to be made to the article about Miss Nebraska U.S.A. in the Thursday, Jan. 10 edition of The Wayne

The first mistake was that Ziba Ayeen did not receive special at-tention from the Nebraska Na-tional Guard for her Miss Nebraska honors. She was formerly with the 24th Medical Air Ambulance Company but once the company was activated, they only took 117 of their 177 members. The other 60 members of the unit were transferred into other units and Ayeen was one of them. Ayeen is presently a member of the 110th Medical Company.

The second mistake is that she wants to see Communism collapse in Afghanistan, rather than *return home someday to a free country, which was incorrectly reported.

Cost-share applications being taken; rate increase approved by board

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District is now accepting applications for cost-share assistance for land treatment construction. The Lower Elkhorn NRD Board of Directors has approved an increase in the cost-share rate up to 75 percent for 1991.

The purpose of the LENRD Conservation Cost-Share Program is to encourage landowners to es-tablish soil saving practices such as terrace systems and grade stabi-lization dams on their land. These structures will not only reduce soil losses, but also will prevent large amoungs of sediment and ag chemicals present in the soil from running off the land and into area

Two clarifications needed to be made to the article about Miss Nebraska U.S.A. in the Thursday, Jan. 10 edition of The Wayne

The first mistake was that Ziba Ayeen did not receive special at-tention from the Nebraska Na-tional Guard for her Miss Nebraska honors. She was formerly with the 24th Medical Air Ambulance Company but once the company was activated, they only took 117 of their 177 members. The other 60 members of the unit were transferred into other units and Ayeen was one of them. Ayeen is presently a member of the 110th Medical Company.

The second mistake is that she wants to see Communism collapse in Afghanistan, rather than "return home someday to a free country, which was incorrectly reported.

Cost-share applications being taken; rate increase approved by board

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District is now accepting applications for cost-share assistance for land treatment construction. The Lower Elkhorn NRD Board of Directors has approved an in-crease in the cost-share rate up to 75 percent for 1991.

The purpose of the LENRD Conservation Cost-Share Program is to encourage landowners to es-tablish soil saving practices such as terrace systems and grade stabi-lization dams on their land. These structures will not only reduce soil losses, but also will prevent large amoungs of sediment and ag chemicals present in the soil from running off the land and into area lakes rivers and streams

Saving the soil is the top priority of the Lower Elkhorn NRD. Over $900,000 is available from the LENRO Conservation Cost-Share LENRD Conservation Cost-Share Program and the state cost-share fund. Approximately $670,000 has already been obligated for the fiscal year which ends June 30, 1991. Now is a good time to apply for cost-share assistance, especially for landowners who have included land treatment structures in their conservation compliance plan.

The spring construction season is from Feb. 1 to May 30. To apply for cost-share assistance, contact your local Soil Conservation Service
