Education savings accounts Once again I am cosponsoring a bill to establish Education Savings bin to establish Education sawings Accounts designed to help families meet the rising costs of higher ed-ucation. Modeled after the highly successful IRA legislation, this bill would allow families to put up to $1,500 a year in a special, tax-ex-empt savings account.

The account holder could draw on the account at any time without penalty as long as the money is used for college or vocational edu-cation expenses. As a result of-compound interest, an Education Savings Account can grow signifi-cantly by the time a child is ready for college. This is a way of helping families meet their own educa-tional expenses without burdening a student with years of debt pay-ments.

ments. This Education Savings Account would be entirely tax exempt. A family would not pay any taxes on the individual contributions, the compound interest, or the with-drawn amounts. EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is taken from the December 1917 edition of The Wayne Watch-word, the now-defunct Wayne High School newspaper. It is written by a U.S. serviceman from Wayne, who was killed in World War I. It has been revised and shortened due to its original length.

Medicare Funds Release In January I joined more than 50 other House members in signing a letter urging the Office of Man-agement and Budget to release $101.3 in extra administrative funds needed by Medicare to avoid delays in reimbursements to beneficiaries, hospitals and doctors. I am pleased to note that OMB has decided to release $75-million of decided to release $75 million of these funds. Floor debates consume lawmakers time

LINCOLN - The Nebraska Leg-islature completed one third of its 1991 legislative session with adjournment on Friday, February 22. Floor debate, public hearings, and an election contest have occupied much of our time during the past

oted/ legis ature mornings of debate this week to the 30th Legislative District elec-tion contest between Senator Dennis Byars and Paul Korslund, both of Beatrice. Although most election contests are handled by the courts, it is the legislature's constitutional responsibility to decide election contests of its own members. This is unusual for the legislature as it has only occurred four times in the history of the Unicameral.

The election contest was filed by Mr. Korslund because more than 500 absentee ballots counted in the general election returns did not comply with a state statute that required absentee ballots to that require absence ballos in-be signed by election officials. In-stead, the Gage County election officials initialed the ballots much in the same manner that they do at the polls on election day rather than using a complete signature. The Legislature's Executive legislature that Mr. Korslund be declared the winner and that the 500 absentee votes should not be counted. However, I disagreed with the committee's report and voted with the majority of the senators not to accept its conclusion. I believed that we could not disenfranchised the absentee voters simply due to a technicality that is designed to prevent fraud, when fraud was not alleged. Following the vote of legislature, Mr. Korslund withdrew his contest of election and the senators voted overwhelmingly to permanently seat Senator Dennis Byars as the representative of the 30th Legislative District. GOVERNOR'S APPOINTEES

As chairman of the Government. Military, and Veterans Affairs

Even though most of the Goveven though most of the Gov-ernor's appointments are con-firmed without significant opposi-tion, this procedure is an important legislative role in the "checks and balances" between the executive branch and the legislative branch of state government.

Unlike other weeks, this week's column will address three issues of concern to myself and our readers. In addition, it will provide some insight into an upcoming series. For quite some time I have re-ceived about 12 (or so) comments from the Committee for the Preservation of the English Language (CPEL). This quote-unquote committee occasionally sends in anonymous complaints about newspaper con-tent, writing or commentaries. While I appreciate their outspokenness, their tactics leave room for improvement.

IT IS MY personal wish that the individual (or group of individuals) would step forward and identify their cause. Just like you have seen in this column before — that we would like any story suggestions from the community - we would also like any suggestions to im-prove the newspaper's content, not just complaints outlying perceived mistakes.

acronym? To whomever the party is which has expressed this concern. I would appreciate having a direct re-sponse rather than a hidden one — in other words sign your name or give me a call to talk about this pparent problem. I won't bite and we might actually find that we have something in common. This is the community's news-paper and I want to make sure that goal continues. Just like mistakes offend you, they bother me. Only through a cooperative effort can we make substantial improvements; negative, idle criticism of-ten finds its place in the round file.

INTERESTINGLY enough, this last item of concern is a good starting point to the next two points of commentary.

burns are the worst kind of injuries I've read columns and columns some pro, some con, some proud, some sarcastic. I shuddered as 1 read about an interview with an American woman married to a Kuwaiti man as she described the invasion of Kuwait and the atrocities committed there.

I sympathized as the mother of a serviceman in the Gulf described how she felt as President Bush continued to goif and fish last Au-gust and when he recently de-clared that he slept well. A de-scription of General Schwartzkopf's sitiful sleep and "agonizing deci-sions" made far more sense to me I'm quite sure that "the Bear" ranks with Patton, Eisenhower, and McArthur.

I prayed that it would not be another Vietnam. The importance of a strong peace-time military seems obvious. I read in amazement of Russia attempting to be a peace maker. And I struggle to understand the Arabian mind. My heart goes out to all the Arabian citizens of all the countries of the Gulf, and to those Jewish people in Israel. I have a copy of "Armageddon, Oil, and the Middle East", but have not had time to read it.

In my talk called "How to be a survivor", I use a song based on Isaiah 43:2-3, and it struck me one day how appropriate the words are: "You shall cross the barren desert, but you shall not die of thirst. You shall wander far in safety though you do not know the way. You shall speak your words to for-eign men and they will understand. You shall see the face of God and live. Be not afraid. I go before you always. Come follow me,and I will give you rest." Pray for Peace.

Caring for Fever Blisters

In some individuals, exposure to the herpes simplex virus may result in blister formation on the lips or around the ouside of the mouth. There is no cure for fever blisters also known as cold sores and these sometimes painful blisters may apseveral times during one's lifetime. The virus can be spread from one individual to another in saliva or by other means. Fever blister care in-volves promoting blister healing by keeping the af-fected area moist and soft. A variety of nonpre-scription creams, lotions, and gels may facilitate this process. Fever blister products often contain skin softeners and a local anesthetic such as benzocaine to help relieve discomfort. Sunscreen lip balms reduce excessive exposure of the lips to sunlight and may be helpful in pre-venting blister outbreaks.

Desert Storm Relief

Ease the minds of our Persian Gulf personnel — help their families here at home!

Like so many other area organizations and businesses, we wanted to do our part for our servicemen and women in the Persian Gulf. Our research in-formed us that it is very difficult to send goods to the Gulf — letter mail has priority. We also learned, through military and government officials, that the real need is right here at home. It was stressed repeatedly that our personnel in the Gulf are being cared for properly, but that many families right here in northeast Nebraska are living on reduced incomes as spouses have left their regular jobs to serve with their guard and reserve units - often times with pay cuts.

We will be working with officials who are already working with the State Department of Social Services and the families themselves. The need is real the need is now! We have been assured that relief will reach those area families in need - and they will be reached promptly.

Please join with us in support of the "families left behind." Pick up an extra canned good or two and drop it in our box at the front of our store. To cover the cost of perishable goods, such as eggs, milk and meat, a cash contribution can be made at Pac 'N' Save or directly deposited in "Desert Storm Relief" nonprofit accounts at the three Wayne Banks: State National Bank & Trust Co., Frist National Bank and Farmers & Merchants State Bank. These accounts are active now, and contributions have already been made - but to help out, stop by our Pancake Feed - all proceeds will go directly to the aforementioned ac counts.

The Wildcats came out on fire and built leads of as much as 11 points in the first half despite giv-ing up-several offensive rebounds to the much taller and more physical Broncos.

Hastings made a late run in the First half but Barry's troops were still on top at the intermission by a 42-40 margin. "We really controlled the game in the first-half," Barry said. "We were hitting well from the outside and we got good output from our bench." The latter statement was evigood output nom our perch. The latter statement was evi-dent by the fact that Kairi Backer came off the bench and poured in 10 first half points. Amy Rueger, Keri VanVeldhuizen, Linda Heiler, Cyndi Savage and Lisa Schwab also contributed in positive ways.

In the second half Hastings In the second half Hastings started changing their defenses and Barry felt that was one of the keys to their win. "We just didn't adjust very well to the changing back though, I'd say they won the game on offensive rebounds and free throw shooting." Wayne State was out re-bounded by a 54-39 margin and Hastings pulled down 23 offensive boards in which several resulted in boards in which several resulted in second and third chance points.

The Wildcats were led in scoring by sophomore Mary Schnitzler who finished with 16 points including four, 3-pointers. Backer followed with 15 and Jodi Otjen poured in 13. Lisa Chamberlin added nine points while Lisa Schwab and Keri VanVeldbuitzen scored five apiece VanVeldhuizen scored five apiece Cheri VanAuker scored four and point guard Dana Olmsted added three. Linda Heller and Cyndi Sav-age each-made a free throw. Otjen was the leading re-bounder for WSC with eight car-oms while Olmsted pulled down six. Backer and VanVelhuizen each six. Backer and varveinuizen each hauled down five rebounds. The Wildcats were 18-27 from the free throw line while the host team connected on 34 of 46 attempts. Olmsted led WSC in assists with seven and the junior point guard percended four that. The Wildcatt recorded four steals. The Wildcats were guilty of 16 turnovers while forcing the Broncos into 18.

The loss sent WSC home with a 12-15 record for the season which is nine wins more than they experienced in the 1989-90 season, and the team's best mark since the 1987-88 season. "We finished with an 11-9 record against NAIA with an 11-9 record against NAIA teams and a 1-6 record against NCAA Division II teams," Barry said. "We really started coming to-gether on defense during the last five of six games which will help us heading into next season."

Schnitzler finished the season as the leading scorer for the Wildcats with a 15.6 per game average while Otjen finished as the team's leading rebounder with 8.2 caroms per outing. Chamberlin capped her freshman year with a 10.8 point per game average. Barry will now play the waiting game until April 11, the official signing day for all prospective col-lege women's basketball players on both the juco and high school level.
