WAYNE - The Wayne City Council now has a better idea where it would like to see the city where it would like to see the city direct its efforts, thanks in part to its first retreat since 1987.

The city council held an open-session retreat Friday evening, Feb. 22 and all day Saturday, Feb. 23 in Omaha to establish goals for the community over the next year, the next three years and the next five. The retreat was facilitated by David Chambers, the director of the League of Nebraska Municipalities.

Although no cost figures of the retreat were immediately known, it was planned in the city budget, according to City Administrator Joe

While major emphasis was placed on goals for the coming year, at least 40 ideas were discussed as possible aims for the next five. Salitros said, "some of these objectives were consolidated into specific goals. Some were considered for their value in guid-ing the council's transition to new strategies and policies needed in the future."

AS A RESULT of the retreat, 13 goals were proposed for the city council for the coming year. The goals, however, are not listed in any particular order or priority.

Develop an environmental awareness program including, but not limited to, the initiation of a recycling program and a tree manvaying Pac N Save store is doing its part to show support for the troops and their families.

The project, entitled Operation Desert Storm Support, includes a variety of fund raisers by the Wayne Pac 'N' Save and its counterparts in Wahoo and Seward. In addition, the project stems into a addition, the project stems into a variety of companies which sell goods in the Pac 'N' Save store, along with United AG, the ware-houser for Pac 'N' Save.

According to store co-owner Don Endicott, the importance of the various fund raisers continues in its importance despite the war's apparent and apparent end

"The troops won't come home tomorrow and they may be stuck there for a long time, so support is needed for the financially strapped families that have troops in the gulf," he said. "Even if the troops come home tomorrow, these families will continue to need help." THERE ARE A number of projects the Pac 'N' Save stores are taking on. Along with the sales of bumper stickers showing support for Desert Storm troops and collections of non-perishable food items, which will be donated to collections of non-perishable food items, which will be donated to families in need of help, the Wayne Pac 'N' Save, in conjunction with the Wayne Vets Club, will be holding a benefit pancake feed Tuesday, March 5 at the Wayne Vets Club.

Beautification effort underway in Wayne

WAYNE - As a result of the START committee discussions on START committee discussions on improving the image of Wayne, a separate beautification committee has sprouted and has spent the winter developing a plan for adding color in various places.

According to START Gardening Committee Chairman Gail Korn, the general idea is to give the impression that Wayne cares about its pression that Wayne cares about its image. By the establishment of some public flower gardens, the committee hopes to improve the appearance of some areas.

GARDENS HAVE been designed for the park at the corner of Second and Main Streets, the old water tower location in the 900 block of Main and for the southwest corner of Viken Park at the corner of 10th and Walnut.

The downtown garden will consist of five small gardens, one of them egg-shaped. Each garden will include a combination of annual and perennial flowers that requirelittle maintenance.

Iittle maintenance.

The committee hopes to get a lot of help from volunteers in planting and maintaining the gardens. It is hoped that individuals will adopt a garden or a portion of a garden and be responsible for occasional grooming, weeding and watering. Each volunteer will be supplied with instructions on what needs to be done.

THE COMMITTEE also hopes for a number of the perennial plants to be donated.

"Wayne gardeners may have some of the plants to be used in the gardens and be willing to do-nate divisions. Costs can be kept to a minimum and the gardens will truly be a community effort," Korn said.

The following is a list of what is needed: three Yucca filimentosa;

five Tradescantia 'Purple Dome'; 14 Verbena canadensis; five Boltonia 'Snowbank'; two Miscanthus sinensis Verbena caraaensis; rive Boltonia 'Snowbank'; two Miscanthus sinensis 'Purpurea'; 14 Liatris 'Blazing Star'; 11 Coreopsis 'Zagreb'; 45 Hybrid Daylilies; 19 Chrysanthemum 'Grandchild Pink'; four Iberis sempervirens; 10 Heuchera sanguinea; one Euphorbia polychroma; three Yellow spuria iris; one Sedum spectabile aureo-variegata; two Enchinacea 'Bright Star'; 34 Gold Midcentury Hybrid Lilies; 60 Aquilegia McKana's Giant; three New England Aster; 10 old-fashioned hollyhocks; eight Aster 'Snow Cushion'; 10 Aster 'Prof. Kippenburg'; three Dictamuns fraxinella; six Statice dumosa; five Geranium sanguineum; and 65 Tall Bearded lris, which have already been donated by Hummels and Dick DeNaeyer. ## Kober finds home at WSC

By Ken Misfeldt
Special to the Wayne Herald
'Come back Shane. The team needs you...and the fans want you. We know they do.'
Wayne State College shortstop

Wayne State College shortstop Shane Kober, (Jr., Mesa, AZ) hasn't heard anything from his former coaches at Grand Canyon College since he left the Arizona school in 1988. However, if Kober were to receive any correspondence from his former coaches, it wouldn't be surprising if the message mirrored a phrase from the classic western mode. "Shape." movie, "Shane."

Kober, 21, sent his own message to opposing pitchers last season, his first at WSC. The rightseason, his list at WSC. The right-hander began the year with just two hits in 24 at-bats, but finished the season with 60 hits and a .349 batting average. Kober had 12 doubles, a home run, and drove in 33 rúns for the 26-25 Wildcats.

"I hit pretty well, I guess," the physical education major said." But 33 runs for the 26-25 Wildcats.

"I hit pretty well, I guess," the physical education major, said. "But if I had gotten off to a better start, I probably could have hit over .400 and maybe, we could have qualified for the regionals."

That attitude has carried Kobes.

That attitude has carried Kober throughout his career. "I just hate to lose," Kober said. "Baseball is a lot of fun for me. It always has been. But it's a lot more fun to win. and that's what it's all about."

Wayne State coach Lenny Klaver said Kober is a great com-petitor. "That's the thing that really sticks out about Shane," Klaver said. "He always gives you every-thing he's got in a ball game."

Kober's parents grew up in Wakefield, but it took nearly 20 years for Shane to come back to northeast Nebraska. After playing as a reserve at Grand Canyon Col-briane Kober lege, (a four-year school in Mesa) for one season, Kober transferred to Mesa Community College, a two-year school.

"I wasn't happy at Grand Canyon," Kober said. "There were a lot of good, senior players there and I wanted to play right away." Kober and the Mesa Community College head coach didn't see eye-to-eye on some things, so he quit the team shortly after school started. But Kober never gave up

"I still loved the game, but I wasn't going to play for someone who wasn't going to give me the time of day," Kober said. So Shane called Klaver. "My parents (Tim and Linda Kober) grew up in Wakefield and my grandmother (Lillian Kober) lived in Wayne," Kober sald. "So I was familiar with the area. When I was a kid, we came to Wayne for family reunions. So it was kind of natural that I gave coach Klaver a call."

"We had a shortstop who just graduated, so we needed someone to fill that position," Klaver said. "Shane told me he'd like to send a tape of himself hitting and fielding so I said fine, send one up."

. Klaver said he could see right away that Shane had some good skills and he knew that Grand Canyon was a good baseball school. Soon after, Klaver invited Kober to return to Wayne. Shane came back to give the story a happy ending.

Klaver, 176-156 in eight seasons at WSC, hopes Kober and the rest of the squad can give a little extra this season. "With the playextra this season. With the play-ers we've got right now, this team-has the chance to be the best team I've ever had here," Klaver said. "The team chemistry and attitude is excellent, and I think attitude is excellent, and i think the kids are ready for some challenges."

"Everybody keeps saying 'Let's win 30 this season," Kober said.
"But if we did that, it would only be four more wins than we had last year. I look for us to win 40 games and make it to the regionals."

The Wildcats, winless in three games, will open its home schedule on March 10, against UNO.

WSC softball team optimistic

With only two seniors graduating, the Wayne State College softball team is poised to make a run at the NAIA District 11 title in 1991. The Wildcats open at home

"We lost just one position player and one pitcher from last year's team," second-year head coach Dan Pollard said. "Since we were able to increase our depth at every position, we have a legiti-mate shot at the district champi-

The Wildcats finished third in '90 District 11 tournament. "District 11 is the premier district in the country," Pollard said. "Since 1981, the team emerging as champion has been national champion has been national champion twice and runner-up on two other occasions." "The highlight of our season was watching our younger players develop and improve as we entered the national tournament," Pollard said. "Even though those games were played last year, I'm hoping the players can view it as a catalyst for 1991. The potential on this team is unlimited, but we will only realize our goals through discipline and hard work."

Defense will be the Cats main strength in '91. Wayne State re-turns its entire infield. Megan Dolesh (So., 1B, Norfolk) and Carla Gilbertson (Jr., 3B, Sioux City, IA) secure the corners, while Dee Henningsen (So., SS, Albert City, IA) and Eva Coons (Sr., 2B, Ireton, IA) anchor the middle of the in-

Sophomore designated hitter Jill Gengler (Remsen, IA), Kristi Barth (Fr., 3B, Haveloch, IA) and Jenny Umbach (Fr., 1B, Anthon, IA) will also vie for playing time. Michelle Reinhardt (Fr., Cherokee, IA) and Kim Allen (Fr., Perry, IA) will handle the catching duties.

The outfield features Jodi Giffilland (Fr., Estherville, IA) in right, with either Marti Hunt (So., Omaha) or Denise Kommes (So., Lemars, IA) in left field. Freshman Chris Bahrke (Correctionville, IA) will add does het he outfield will add depth to the outfield.

The pitching staff, although young, shows a great deal of promise. Heather Hoffman (Fr., Perry, IA), Jenny Nieland (Fr., Car-Porl, IA), Alex Ross (Bass Lake, CA), and Jennifer McGowan (Fr., Commanche, OK) combined for a 123-15 mark during their senjor years in 15 mark during their senior years in

"With the addition of quality depth, we hope to challenge for the right to represent Nebraska at the national tournament," Pollard said.
