Fire causes minor damage

WAYNE - A fire Thursday resulted in an estimated $1,000 damage to Heritage Homes of Wayne, but the blaze was contained to a small portion of the northwest corner of the building, near a new addition.

According to Heritage Homes President Rod Tompkins, the fire started from a torch being used to cut a hole in the metal outside the furring, but the fire was contained thanks, in part, to quick action by Heritage Homes employees.

"IF IT hadn't been for a lot of quick-thinking, courageous employees, it would have been a very serious fire, Tompkins said through a press release. "They emptied over 17 handheld fire extinguishers and the property of the property of the property of the present and the ers and braved a lot of ugly smoke to contain the fire to a small area until the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department arrived."

Wayne Fire Chief Dale Preston said the fire burnt a hole approximately 10 feet high and 20 feet wide but did not result in any structural damage. He said the blaze damaged interior paneling, a conduit and insulation.

Tompkins added that he appreciates everyone's cool-headed response and help in the situation.

The fire occurred at approximately 10 a.m. Thursday.

Report shows big gains in taxable sales

By Mark Crist Managing Editor

Despite talks of a nationwide recession, that might not be the word on the street in Wayne. Recent reports indicate that Wayne cent reports indicate that Wayne and Wayne County's economy has blossomed since 1989.

According to figures provided by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, the taxable sales in November 1990 for Wayne is $446,642 ahead of the same month in 1989. For the year through November, for which the most recent data is available, taxable sales in Wayne County were up almost $4.6 million and sales in Wayne were up $4.3 million.

Wayne were up $4.3 million.
Despite the fact that taxable sales were up through last November doesn't mean that the area won't be affected by the nation-wide recession. According to Wayne State College associate professor Meena Dalal, there are a number of factors which have to be considered while interpreting the data.

ONE OF THE factors is the im-portance of the agricultural indus-try to Nebraska. Dalal said although Nebraska is diversifying, it is still agriculturally dependent and that may mean good news if farm-ers aren't hit by another drought ers aren't hit by another drought this summer.

"What these figures mean is that we're seeing a delayed effect of the recession of the 1980s and the drought of the last few years," she said. "Because the farming in-dustry is up, farmers are more likely to spend more at the retail level." to spend more at the retail level.

Although the ag industry was up Although the ag industry was up in 1990, due in part to increased livestock prices, that might be only one of two possible reasons the economy was reportedly up. The other could be a slight change in shopping habits by local consumers.

ACCORDING TO Chamber of Commerce President Mark Sorensen, the news that taxable sales were up is a good sign for area businesses. He said, however, his optimism for a continued rise is dependent on a number of factors. Daial agrees with Sorensen's as-sessment. Although the agricultural indus-

Attnough the agricultural indus-try showed improvement in a num-ber of areas in 1990, Dalal said Wayne will need to identify what is bringing shoppers into the city and county. She said by doing that, a spill-over effect may create a con-tinuous trend. tinuous trend.

Sorensen said it is important for the towns in the Wayne area to the towns in the Wayne area to work together because together, they can all profit.

"We'll have to see ourselves as neighbors rather than competi-tors," he said. "What's good for Carroll, or Wigside, or Wayne, or Wakefield is good for all of us. Our competition isn't each other but Sioux City, Norfolk, Omaha and Lincoln."

ONE REASON that the increase in taxable sales might continue depends on the continued growth of Wayne State College and major employers like Waldbaums, Great

Winside Schools to receive $5,000 energy grant

WINSIDE - The Nebraska Energy Office has awarded grants of $5,000 from the Nebraska School Weatherization Program to Win-$5,000 from the Nebraska School Weatherization Program to Winside Public Schools to perform technical analyses of the Winside Elementary and Winside High Schools to identify energy saving building improvements, according to Director Robert Harris.

The director said that the Nebraska School Weatherization program is funded from a portion of the oil and natural gas severance tax collected by the state.

"About $112,500 is currently available from the fund for public school districts in the state which want to identify the potential financial benefits from making energy saving building improvements," Harris said.

GRANTS ARE limited to $2,500 per building, according to information from the Nebraska Energy Office.

The technical analyses will not only identify what money saving improvements can be made on the buildings but what those improvements should cost and if they are a wise investment, Harris added.

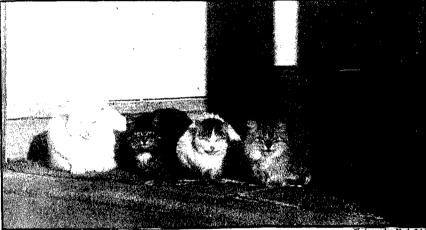

According to Nebraska Energy Office information, an estimated 45 grants remain to be awarded over the next year.

Pac 'N' Save aids war effort

The Tuesday Pancake Feed involving Pac 'N' Save and the Wayne Vets Club resulted in $350 in proceeds to provide relief to families of troops serving in the Persian Gulf, according to Don Endicott, co-owner of the Wayne Pac 'N' Save store.

Endicott said he was pleased with the turnout for the event. He

'The response that I got from people was that this was a good thing for us to do," Endicott said. "They realize that this was for a good cause."

The money from the fund-raiser will be used to purchase groceries for families of troops serving in the Persian Gulf. Endicott said they have been approached by a few area families in need of relief, although names were not provided for privacy purposes.

LIKE THE WAYNE store, the Pac 'N' Save stores in Wahoo and Seward are conducting similar projects. Endicott said one family which will receive some relief is in the Lexington area. He said they are in desperate shape.

Apparently, the grandparents e taking care of the children while both parents are stationed in the gulf. As a result of the parents' absence, the military is yet to provide anv ents are limited to social security

"The need is going to continue,"
Endicott said. "I would imagine it will be hard to get people excited about it for months down the road since the war is over, but this problem will remain for a long pe riod of time.

ENDICOTT SAID the Seward benefit resulted in the same amount of proceeds while the Wahoo spaghetti supper was scheduled for last weekend and results of it were not available at press time.

Endicott said he was pleased with the turnout in Wayne and Seward while adding that neither would have been as successful without the help of a variety of businesses and organizations.

"I, personally, would like to thank the Wayne Vets Club, the Wayne National Guard, The Wayne Herald and the people of the community who helped support this," he said. "I would also like to extend thanks to the companies which provided materials for the benefit free of charge, although they wish to remain anonymous."

Wayne-Carroll Schools schedule plans for annual round-up for kindergartners

According to Wayne Elementary Principal Dave Lutt, children who will be 5-years-old by Oct. 15 are being recruited for kinderwho will be 3-years-old by out. 13 are being recruited for kinder-garten round-up at the Waynes Carroll Elementary schools.

The March round-up is March 27 from 1-2:30 p.m. in Carroll and March 28 from 9-10:30 a.m. and 1-2:30 p.m. in Wayne. Round-up is intended to let school officials know how many children of kindergarten age are in the school attendance area. The round-up also introduces the child-to the kindergarten classroom and informs parents of the require-ments for entering kindergarten.

At the meeting, parents will be informed that state law requires children to have a physical exami-nation and be immunized against measles, mumps, rubella, polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus before being permitted to attend school. In some cases waivers are granted.

WAYNE - Wayne County Farm Bureau President Don Liedman, Vice-President Bill Claybaugh and dairy commissioner Dennis Anderson, state board representative John Anderson and Harley Greve of the county board, were invited participants in Nebraska Farm Bureau's 1991 Leadership Conference, held Feb. 18-20 in Lincoln.

This biennial conference is designated to provide leaders with upto-the-minute information on current state and national issues affecting agriculture and opportuni-ties to improve their leadership skills. The rural health care crisis was addressed by Rodd Korves, chief policy analyst for the American Farm Bureau. While certain factors are unique to rural America, rural health care concerns are part of the total national health care crisis, and can't be considered senaand can't be considered sepa-rately, Korves said. There are many commonalities between rural areas and inner-city areas in terms of unmet health care needs, he said, unmet health care needs, he said, though the solutions for each will probably differ.

To help solve the rural health care problem, farmers and ranchers must chose which bite of the elephant of the issue they want to work on. Kongs said because the work on, Korves said, because the whole issue is so broad. He identified eight issue areas involved in the health care dilemma: restructhe health care delivery system, tax policy, Medicare reim-bursement equalization, tort re-form, physician training and place-ment, health insurance mandates,

Also at the conference, the Wayne County Farm Bureau leaders were hosts for State Sens. Gerald Conway and Elroy Hefner of district 17 and 19 at a legislators' appreciation banquet held Feb. 19.

Dakota County jail running cash short

SOUTH SIOUX CITY - Overcrowding problems at the Dakota County Jail has left the jail's 1990-91 operating budget cash short, according to Dakota County Sheriff Jim Wagner.

According to reports, the Dakota County Jail has only $32,798 left in its 1990-91 budget with five months yet to go. As a result of the cash shortage, the office has had problems making arrests on warrants that have been issued.

The amount budgeted for the jail's operation for 1990-91 was $292.271.

Death-sentence imposed in murder

VALENTINE - A three-judge panel has sentenced Randy Drinkwalter to die in Nebraska's electric chair as a result of what they cited as heinous, atrocious and cruel way in which Esther Drinkwalter was murdered Nov. 1, 1989.

The sentencing was deliberated by the panel for three months. It comes following Drinkwalter's conviction of first degree murder by a Cherry County livy in August 1990. Cherry County jury in August 1990.
