Board focuses discussion on visitation report

WAYNE - A long-awaited external visitation team report on the conditions for education in the Wayne Public Schools was the highlight of the Wayne Community School Board meeting Tuesday night as board members discussed the 82-nage report the 82-page report.

The report, initiated in October, is to make a school system a better place to learn. The process allows the administration, staff, board members and community the opportunity to take an objective look at the program it objective look at the program it offers to students. The comprehensive process involves a self-study and an external evaluation by a team of visitors. The team of visitors was headed by Darryl Kile, superintendent of schools in West Point.

The primary concern of the visitation team was to identify the objective situation as it exists in the school and not to determine the specific causes of the prevailing conditions, according to the report.

As a result of the report, Super-intendent Dr. Francis Haun was dir-rected by the board of education to contract with the University of Nebraska and the state Depart-ment of Education for the purpose of compiling a community and school plant needs assessment.

Changes underway at Wayne Herald with WAYNE - Starting in April, The Wayne Herald will be changing its subscription renewal procedures for customers who receive the newspaper by mail.

The change comes on the heels of a postal rate increase that went into effect Feb. 3, a hike that would have been passed on to Wayne Herald customers unless a change was made.

The good news is that this change is not a complicated one. What it entails, is simply that customers who have received notification that their mailed newspaper subscription was about to expire will no longer be notified by mail, rather a subscription renewal notice will be printed on the front page of The Wayne Herald in a screened box located below the "At a Glance" column the second and third Thursdays of each month.

located below the "At a Clance" column the second and third I husdays of each month.

Customers who receive their newspaper by mail can find out when their subscription expires by locating the date next to their name on the white address label on the newspaper. For instance, the renewal date appears: John Doe, April 1, 1991, means that your subscription runs out with the last newspaper date in March.

To avoid missing any issues, customers are asked to pay by the 25th of the month preceding the date on the address label.

As a courtesy to our customers, The Wayne Herald will send out subscription renewal hotices in March, but this is the last month that will be done.

will be done.

The change in procedures does not affect customers who receive their newspaper by carrier. These customers, in Carroll, Concord, Wayne and Winside, will still be notified by mail. For more information about the change, feel free to contact The Wayne Herald at 375-2600 or 1-800-672-3418.

Following public sentiment expressed against the proposal at a meeting two weeks ago, the Wayne City Council voted unanimously against its initial plans to opt for a newly designed commission.

The purpose of the new commission will be to take the place of the former recreation board by utilizing all the same board mem-bers with the addition of a council representative and an expanded number of people interested in recreation and leisure services. All members on the new commission will be appointed by the mayor and approved by the city council.

OPINION

Viewpoint_ Memo creates concern that precedent may be set

Recently, Wayne City Administrator Joe Salitros distributed an interoffice memo to city department and division heads which dealt with the dissemination of written positions to the media.

While the purpose of the memo was to allow Salitros to see, and approve or disapprove, of items before publication, there are some concerns of which the public must be made aware.

In the city administrator's job description, Salitros is designated as the public relations liaison with the media and the public. It is understandable, therefore, why he would want written material passed by his desk before it's made public. But the premise of the situation is a form of prior restraint, a condition opposed by the Supreme Court of the United States in a landmark 1938 ruling. 1938 ruling.

Out of respect for the city administrator's position, the memo reads: "As a matter of policy, before written material of an opinionated nature is disseminated to the media by representatives of the city, it must be pre-approved by the city administrator. Examples of opinionated material might include letters to the editor, professional association viewpoints, newspaper columns, etc."

The concerns we must focus on in this issue are twofold. One, does this memo encourage a chilling effect in media relations, and two, does it set a precedence in the future which will make the information gathering process more difficult?

In a 1938 U.S. Supreme Court case, the court ruled that "the liberty of circulating is as essential to that freedom as liberty of publishing; without the circulation, the publication would be of little value."

Later, the Supreme Court expanded its view to read: "Any law that makes the right to disseminate a point of view dependent on the judgement of a public official is a form of prior restraint made intolerable by the First Amendment."

If we do not oppose this one small step toward censorship, we will then be endorsing it. Let's put an end to it before it gains more momentum.

Ruling puts issue back on agenda

LINCOLN - On Friday, March 1, the Nebraska Supreme Court ruled that a bill passed by the Legisla-ture in a 1989 special session did not cure inequities in the state's system of taxing personal property. The ruling has again put the issue of fair and equitable taxation on the front burner.

Currently, two different concepts are being discussed. The first would be to repeal all farm and commercial property tax exemp-tions. The other would exempt all personal property from taxation. Both options need serious study because solutions that seem rela tively simple and straight forward often have significant ramifications. A final solution must be developed by the legislature during this ses-

A public hearing was held this past week on my bill, LB 405, which would allow a person to designate another individual as a patient advocate for health care decisions if the individual is found

A number of studies have been done to see what pages appeal to what age groups and more often than not, young people say they turn to the sports page first. The second most popular page is the social page, which is a predominant favorite among girls.

That's not to say other pages in the newspaper aren't important, because each page serves a purpose. But the importance of the sports page shouldn't be denied or it might hurt the continued growth

One of the reasons for having such expanded coverage of area sports teams is the hope that young readers, by developing an interest in reading sports, will ex-pand that interest in later years to pand that interest in later years to other pages, whether it be social

WSC sweeps UNO in twinbill

Sports Editor
The Wayne State baseball team opened up the home portion of its schedule Sunday afternoon with a twinbill against the University of Nebraska at Omaha, (UNO).

The Wildcats—0-3 after playing Division I Creighton and traditionally strong Regis College, rated in Division II, cracked the win column in fine fashion against UNO with a sweep, 7-1, 11-1 (five innings).

In the opener it was sophomore Jeff Gohr stealing the show as the right hander from Omaha tossed a 3-hitter to earn the win. Gohr, (1-0), went the distance and struck out nine while walking four.

The lone run he gave up was a

The lone run he gave up was a solo home run in the fourth inning. The Wildcats trailed by that 1-0 score until the bottom of the fifth inning when they chased UNO starter Scott Lilleskov off the mound after scoring five runs. The 'Cats scored two more runs in the sixth inning to close out the scoring. Wayne State recorded five hits and committed just one error. Left fielder Dave Shields was the offensive catalyst with a 2-3 per-formance. Shields scored two runs and notched an rbi.

Second baseman Troy Test slapped a two-run single and Shane Kober singled as well. WSC's only extra base hit of the game came off the bat of Chris lones with a triple. The 'Cats left three on base and turned one double a bouncing hall at second base and flipped it to short stop Kober who flipped to first to Tim Wobken for the D.P.

UNO scored its lone run in the fifth inning. Kelliher struck out six and walked two in his pitching stint before being relieved for the last two outs of the fifth inning by Bill Guenther. Guenther.

UNO got five hits—all off Kelli-her but the Wildcats shellacked the Maverick pitchers for T1 hits-led by Chris Jones and Jeff Bjerke. Both players belted three hits from their second and fifth place positions in the batting order respectively.

Jones belted a single, double and a triple in the contest while scoring two runs and notching two rbi's. Bjerke had two singles and a double and scored once while knocking in three rbi's.
John Staab rapped a double in one of his two official plate appearances while Kober, Wobken, Brent Cameron and Dusty Sheets all laced singles. Despite the lopsided 11-1 score the Wildcats still left seven on base.

Barry to coach All-Star game

WAYNE-Wayne State College women's basketball coach Mike Barry will guide the north squad featuring WSC guard Lisa Schwab in next Wednesday night's NAIA District 11 All-Star game at Hastings. Tipoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

Barry turned the Wildcat program around in his second year leading WSC to a 12-15 mark and a berth in the district playoffs. The 'Cats were 3:23 the previous season.'

The Cats were 3-23 the previous season.

Schwab, a 5-6 senior from Exeter, Nebraska, finished second intended district in three-point field goal accuracy at 43.1%. Schwab averaged 7.5 points per game and provided leadership to the young 'Cat squad.

WSC athletes earn All-American honors

WAYNE-Wayne State College student-athletes Bob Sterba and Dee Henningsen were recently honored as All-Americans by the National Strength Coaches Association.

The NSCA All-American Athlete is in recognition of achievement in the development of improved athletic performance through total conditioning. Criteria for selection is based on speed, jumping, lifting, academic and athletic achievement.

Sterba, a 6-0, 230-pound junior linebacker from Omaha, had 113 tackles for the 7-4 'Cats last fall. He previously has earned NAIA All-American and all-conference honors.

Henningsen a 5-3, 118-pound sophomore short stop from Albert.

Henningsen, a 5-3, 118-pound sophomore short stop from Albert City, lowa, set the WSC career and single-season stolen base record with 44 thefts in '90. She hit .326 last spring in earning honorable mention all-district honors.

Viewpoint Memo creates concern that precedent may be set

Recently, Wayne City Administrator Joe Salitros distributed an interoffice memo to city department and division heads which dealt with the dissemination of written positions to the media.

While the purpose of the memo was to allow Salitros to see, and approve or disapprove, of items before publication, there are some concerns of which the public must be made aware.

In the city administrator's job description, Salitros is designated as the public relations liaison with the media and the public. It is understandable, therefore, why he would want written material passed by his desk before it's made public. But the premise of the situation is a form of prior restraint, a condition opposed by the Supreme Court of the United States in a landmark 1938 ruling.

Out of respect for the city administrator's position, the memo reads: "As a matter of policy, before written material of an opinionated nature is disseminated to the media by representatives of the city, it must be pre-approved by the city administrator. Examples of opinionated material might include letters to the editor, professional association viewpoints, newspaper columns, etc."

The concerns we must focus on in this issue are twofold. One, does this memo encourage a chilling effect in media relations, and two, does it set a precedence in the future which will make the information gathering process more difficult?

In a 1938 U.S. Supreme Court case, the court ruled that "the liberty of circulating is as essential to that freedom as liberty of publishing; without the circulation that the publication would be on the publication would be on the court of the co

Later, the Supreme Court expanded its view to read: "Any law that makes the right to disseminate a point of view dependent on the judgement of a public official is a form of prior restraint made intolerable by the First Amendment."

If we do not oppose this one small step toward censorship, we will then be endorsing it. Let's put an end to it before it gains

A number of studies have been done to see what pages appeal to what age groups and more often than not, young people say they turn to the sports page first. The second most popular page is the social page, which is a predominant favorite among girls.

OFTEN TIMES, when I go to one of the area schools to speak to a class, I'll ask the kids what pages, they turn to first and more often than not, they'li say the sports page.

ge. That's not to say other pages in the newspaper aren't important, because each page serves a purpose. But the importance of the sports page shouldn't be denied or it might hurt the continued growth of the industry.

One of the reasons for having such expanded coverage of area sports teams is the hope that young readers, by developing an interest in reading sports, will expand that interest in later years to other pages, whether it be social items, agricultural ones, business or news items. I guess you could call this an osmosis effect.

INTERESTINGLY enough, there are some people who will argue against the importance of sports. against the importance of sports. As a former sports editor this is a point I will argue against feverishly. Sports play an important part in our society — they teach young people how to win with grace and how to lose with dignity — two things everyone must deal with at some point in their liver.

One of the things the sports page does is allow newspapers to not only inform the public about the teams' latest achievement, but it also highlights what studentathletes have learned through winning and losing. For that reason, it's a very important part of the newspaper.

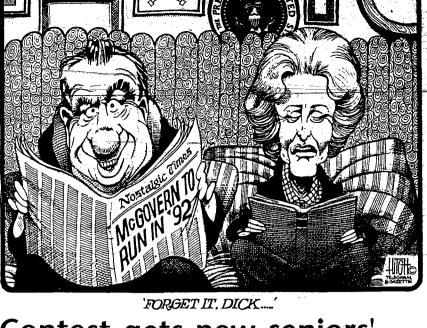

In conclusion, I do appreciate it when people ask me questions about the newspaper — your newspaper. That's one of the reasons for this month-long series about what we do. Again, if you about what we do. Again, if you have an interest in why things are done the way they are, please feel free to contact me, whether it be on the street or by telephone or in church, I'll be glad to talk with you.

Currently, two different concepts are being discussed. The first would be to repeal all farm and commercial property tax exemptions. The other would exempt all personal groperty from taxation. personal property from taxation. Both options need serious study because solutions that seem rela-tively simple and straight forward often have significant ramifications. WSC sweeps UNO in twinbill

By Kevin Peterson

Sports Editor The Wayne State baseball team opened up the home portion of its schedule Sunday afternoon with a twinbill against the University of Nebraska at Omaha, (UNO).

The Wildcats-0-3 after playing Division I Creighton and traditionally strong Regis College, rated in Division II, cracked the win column in fine fashion against UNO with a sweep, 7-1, 11-1 (five innings). In the opener it was sophomore Jeff Gohr stealing the show as the right hander from Omaha tossed a 3-hitter to earn the win. Gohr, (1-0), went the distance and struck out nine while walking four.

The lone run he gave up was a solo home run in the fourth inning. The Wildcats trailed by that 1-0 score until the bottom of the fifth inning when they chased UNO starter Scott Lilleskov off the mound after scoring five runs. The 'Cats scored two more runs in the sixth inning to close out the scoring. Wayne State recorded five hits and committed just one error. Left fielder Dave Shields was the offensive catalyst with a 2-3 performance. Shields scored two runs and notched an rbi.

Klaver was very pleased with the pitching performances he got from his starters in Gohr and Kelliher. "Anytime you can have a pitcher go the distance this early in the season its a plus," Klaver said. "Usually, early in the year we monitor the pitches and pull our monitor the pitches and pull our pitchers out after they reach a certain number but Gohr was getting by with a minimal amount of ting by with a minimal amount of pitches in every inning."

Klaver feels his squads success this season will depend on the pitching and defense. "If we can hold people down with our pitching and defense I believe our offense will get the job done," Klaversaid. "Obviously the thing that burst us is the fact that we play so hurts us is the fact that we play so many NAIA schools but we have to do that in order to get a full schedule."

WSC got three points for losing to Creighton and four total points for the two losses to Regis. Then on Sunday the Wildcats picked up eight points with the two wins over NCAA Division II UNO.

Barry to coach All-Star game

WAYNE-Wayne State College women's basketball coach Mike Barry will guide the north squad featuring WSC guard Lisa Schwab in next Wednesday night's NAIA District 11 All-Star game at Hastings.
Tipoff is set for 7:30 p.m.
Barry turned the Wildcat program around in his second year leading WSC to a 12-15 mark and a berth in the district playoffs.
The 'Cats were 3-23 the previous season.
Schwab, a 5-6 senior from Exeter, Nebraska, finished second in the district in three-point field goal accuracy at 43.1%. Schwab averaged 7.5 points per game and provided leadership to the young 'Cat squad.

WSC athletes earn All-American honors

WAYNE-Wayne State College student-athletes Bob Sterba and Dee Henningsen were recently honored as All-Americans by the National Strength Coaches Association.

The NSCA All-American Athlete is in recognition of achievement in the development of improved athletic performance through total conditioning. Criteria for selection is based on speed, jumping, lifting, academic and athletic achievement.

Sterba, a 6-0, 230-pound junior linebacker from Omaha, had 113 tackles for the 7-4 'Cats last fall. He previously has earned NAIA All-American and all-conference honors.

Henningsen, a 5-3, 118-pound sophomore short stop from Albert City, Iowa, set the WSC career and single-season stolen base record with 44 thefts in '90. She hit .326 last spring in earning honorable mention all-district honors.

WSC football schedule among toughest

WAYNE-Wayne State College will play one of the toughest football schedules in the school's history, according to Athletic Director Pete Chapman.

"There are eight NCAA Division II schools on the schedule, plus the defending NAIA champion in Peru State," Chapman said. "Add to that a traditional NCAA Division II playoff team in East Texas

The Wildcats, 7-4 last fall, enjoyed their finest season since Chapman's 1984 squad went 8-3, Third-year coach Dennis Wagner's squad lost six seniors to graduation, including the entire backfield, but had an outstanding recruiting class.

"It is probably the toughest schedule in the history of the school," Wagner said. "We have several players returning from last year's team, but we lost some key players. We have the potential to be as good a football team as we were last year, but with the schedule it will be difficult. We'll just have to take it one game at a time."

The Wildcats open at Missouri Western August 31. The 'Cats host Morningside College in the home-opener September 14.

WSC's first two games of the season, at Missouri Western on August 31, and at UNO on September 7, will be night games with kickoff slated for 7:30 p.m. in both games.

The first home game against Morningside on September 21 has been slated as Band Day and the following week's home contest with Wisconsin-Sevens Point will be the Shrine Bowl.

The GOLDEN YEARS

By Sel House A deluge of mail aimed at older Americans is getting the attention of Congressional investigation of Congressional investiga-tors, the Postal Service and the IRS. They are looking into ques-tionable practices of mailers— whose pitch is "send money," usually "to save" Social Security or Medicare. Some ask for fees for information about Federal programs that is available from Government agencies at no charge. And some make their mailings look like official Government notices. Investigators say these practices are not typi-cal of longtime associations that work on behalf of the elderly, but of a wave of new entries in the

After 17 years of off-and-on studies, the 60-yar-old mother of three finally got her bachelor of arts degree. Actress Joanne Woodward and daughter Clea Olivia Newman both turned out in caps and gowns for graduation at Sarah Lawrence College. Commencement speaker was Paul Newman, Woodward's hus band of 31 years. Her college studies included psychology and creative arts as well as literand creative and as well as liter-ature and language. While she will continue to act, Woodward told an interviewer, "writing will occupy me more and more."

PROGRESS ON ALZHEIMER'S: A British research am found evidence of a genetic link to Alzheimer's Disease. This probably doesn't come as much of a surprise to those who have long been aware of families in which the condition seems to appear more frequently than in others. However, until now, there was no scientific backno for these observations. The new findings are focusing ng for these observations. The new findings are focusing in a recently detected mutated gene that may be the cause of the changes in the brain associated with Alzheimer's.

of the changes in the brain associated with Alzheimer's. A friend who works as an administrator of a nursing home says this can be a very important first step in dealing with a disease which, previously, always struck when no one was ever really prepared for it. While we all hope the research ultimately leads to a cure, in the meantime, it may be an effective way for doctors to detect those who are potential victims. This can help families prepare for the cocurrence, if and when it appears.

On a related note, Gary L. Trick, Ph.D., and his colelagues at Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis have found that Alzheimer patients have more difficulty detecting motion than do normal adults. The study indicates that motion tests should be included in visual tests that are used to detect Alzheimer's Disease.

slow me down. March in Nebraska is always windy, as are several other months, actually.

If you didn't get enough basketball yesterday, it was because you didn't have your TV set on. The Huskers somehow got past Oklahoma in the Big Eight tournament on Friday night, in overtime, with four starters on the bench, fouled out. One hundred Nebraska fans walked out when their team was down by ten. What a mistake. We went on to defeat Kansas on Sat-urday, after being 13 behind in the first half.

But we couldn't stop Missouri today. Now it's Xavier College in the first game of the NCAA on Thursday. Creighton also goes to the NCAA

Our married kids love cats. When Sue and Monte lived on an acreage near Vermillion, they acquired several. When they moved to Columbus, they couldn't take them all.

We were temporarily out of cats, so I agreed that Spooky and Sparky could live in our garage.

I cannot believe the lengths the Big Farmer has gone to encourage those cats to stay around. He buys them cat food, and puts their water in the house to thaw it. He cut held in the garage does so they

And, of course, they hang around. They sneak into the house when he is bringing in wood.

And now, they are inviting every stray tomcat in the area to join them in this easy life. There has been a scruffy white one and a tough yellow one around. I call the garage Mike's cat house!

I'd been having fits about the pampered lives these pets live when in the mail, as a thank you for a recent order, came a cat calendar. It's already been given to a friend. Give me a dog any day.

NOTICE

The Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act of 1986 (referred to as AHERA) was enacted by Congress to identify and develop solutions for any problems that schools may have with asbestos.

ESU 81 recently had our facilities inspected by a certified asbestos inspector, as required by AHERA. The inspector located, sampled, and rated the condition and hazard potential of all material suspected of containing asbestos. We are pleased to report that our programs located at 1210 E. 7th Street, and RR 82, in Wayne, do not contain asbestos materials which are reported to be damaged or significantly damaged.

which are reported to be damaged or signifi-cantly damaged.

Under the law, we still must maintain an asbestos management plan for the school and assign a designated asbestos coordinator to ensure no asbestos is introduced into the school. This plan is "available for inspection at the Unit during regular school hours.

We will confirue to ensure that a healthy, and safe environment is maintained. Any in-quiries may be directed to Mr. Rodney Gar-wood, the designated asbestos coordinator at (402) 287-2061.
