The same property tax dilemma facing the State of Nebraska appears as though it may strike Wayne County with a torrent of problems.

According to information provided by the Wayne County officials, if Great Dane Trailers wins a lawsuit filed in District Court, the county could wind up short $75,000 in personal property taxes monies it would have collected monies it would have collected from the Wayne employer. The taxes-in-question date back to the second half of 1989 and all of 1990, Great Dane's personal prop-erty is valued at $1.67 million. Wayne County Attorrey Bob Ensz said the county, and Great Dane Attorney Carl J. Sjulin, are FOOTE SAID the PWs gave his unit very little trouble until regiments from the Iraqi Republican Guard began to arrive two to three days after the land war began. not in dispute over any of the facts. He said based on the Ne-braska Supreme Court ruling, Great Dane "stands on better ground than the county to get their taxes adjusted downward." ACCORDING TO a 1987 Federal Court ruling, all carlines and railroad property are not taxable under guidelines of the Nebraska Constitution. A Federal Court ruled that carlines and railroads are exempt from personal property tax under the current Nebraska system. The Nebraska Supreme Court under the current Nebraska sys-tem. The Nebraska Supreme Court-ruling March 1 found that the whole property tax system in the state is unconstitutional. As a result of those rulings, Great Dane ar-gues that it should be taxed on the same level with railroads and carlines, which represents a zero assessment.

Ensz said the problem he has with Great Dane's lawsuit is "that they're getting all the benefits of local government protection but it's unfortunate that they won't be levied if they win this suit."

According to documents from Great Dane Trailers of Nebraska, Inc., plaintiff, against the Wayne County Board of Equalization, the board denied Great Dane's personal property protest June 11, 1990 following a May 21, 1990 appeal a discriminatory tax, you first have to request equalization and give the taxing authority ... the chance to remedy the different valuations that exist." In his meeting with the county board, Sjulin cites Article 8, Section of the Nebraska Constitution which provides that taxes must be levied uniformally. He later said that the ruling on the Northern Natural Gas case states that the Natural Cas case states that the Wayne County Board of Equalization is required by law to equalize the value of Great Dane's personal property to that of the lowest percentage of any property in the county. The lowest valuation in the county is zero. county is zero.

"It would erase money from "It would erase money from their budget because that money has already been planned in the budget," he said. The next year, the entities which use the money would have to raise their levies to make up the shortfall."

The entities which receive tax money from the Great Dane taxes include: Wayne Public Schools, Educational Service Unit 1, Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District, Wayne County Fair Board, Wayne County Wayne Fire District and County, Wayne Fire District and Northeast Community College. Of the money collected through taxes, 72 percent of that goes to the schools, Meyer said.

Care Centre seeks larger facility

By Mark Crist Managing Editor

The Wayne Care Centre has announced to the State of Ne-braska that it intends to file a certificate of need replacement of its existing 94 bed facility with a new 104 bed nursing facility.

"At this point, plans are vague but hopeful," said Care Centre Disease.

rector Gil Haase.

According to information provided by the Wayne Care Centre, an area east of Providence Road and west of the water tower has been chosen for the possible new site. He added that much more is Haase said the next step of the process is to approach the City Planning Commission. If the City Planning Commission gives its approval, architectural designs, financing plans and contractors will have to be lined up. He said the project could be done as quickly as a year or it could take as long as five years. He said if any point in the process breaks down, a new facility may never be constructed.

"We are a skilled nursing facility so we have to provide care for much more seriously ill people," he said. "The current building we have with three stories and an elevator, does not provide the requirements we need by law but that does not mean we diminish our care in any way."

Haase said the present building, constructed in 1954, has rooms which are distanced too far from the central desk and the hallways are not wide enough according to

If the new building is constructed, it would be an one-floor building constructed with a brick design and sloped, shingled roofs, which would fit in well with the aesthetic design of the proposed neighborhood. It would include ancillary areas with a chapel and an activity area.

Although the present facility is not completely full, Haase said with the general populous growing older, this is a prime time to build a new facility.

If it is built, the Haase said initial estimates figure the new facility to cost $2.5 to $3 million.

Administrator plays down short-term effects of waste bill

WAYNE - A waste transfer bill WAYNE - A waste-transfer bill sitting before the 1991 Nebraska Legislature doesn't appear to have any short-term effects on the City of Wayne, according to City Administrator Joe Salitros. That's because Wayne has already complied with most of the bill's requirements.

LB 406 requires that an entity transporting transferred waste give the state Department of Environmental Control 72 hours notice. which includes approximate weight and volume, point of origin if the waste traveled and where it was transferred.

ACCORDING TO the bill, waste that weighs more than 20,000 pounds in a load and transferred between transportation units will be subject to increased regula-

The reason this won't have an immediate effect on Wayne is be-cause when the city's solid waste is removed by L.P. Gill, Inc. of Jackson, Neb. to the landfill site there, Wayne's average weight per load is 40,000 pounds. Salitros said the only concern is that the long-term effect of the bill will clash with recycling efforts being promoted by the Wayne City Council. "We don't believe under our current waste stream that it will create a problem today but 3-5 years from now, what may be good for recycling may not be good for us to meet the 72-hour rule," Sal-

An Active Summer Can Mean Healthier Children

Adults often assume that physical fitness comes naturally to chil-dren. However recent surveys con-ducted by the Federal Office of Disease and Prevention and Health Promotion reveal a significant de-cline in children's fitness. The agency's National Children and Youth Study II found that overall, younger children weigh more and have more body fat than they did 20 years ago.

· What has contributed to this problem? Those children who watch more television, have less active parents, participate less in community activities, tend to score lower on health-related fitness measures, according to the study.

If your family needs to improve its fitness habits, summer — with its warm weather and free time — is an ideal time to begin. And there's no need to invest in expensive ex-ercise equipment or club-memberships. A few single changes in your routine are all that are needed.

The first — and perhaps most important — step is to turn off the TV set at regular intervals. The fitness survey found that children who watch greater amounts of television tend to have lower activity levels. "IV watching takes away from time that could be spent in more constructive activities including exercise" the study ties including exercise," the study

Second, make regular activity a family goal. The study found that parents, on average, exercise less than once a week with their children rather than three times per week recommended for optimum health. About 50 percent said they never engage in vigorous ex-ercise at all. The frequency with which parents and children exer-cise together tells the child what value nagents attach to exercise value parents attach to exercise.

"Some small changes can become even in the most dedicated TV viewing family, such as choosing one thirty-minute time slot each evening to get out of the house for a walk," say David and Barbara Bjorklund in their "Parents" magazine article, "Physical Fit Families."

From there, graduate to more ambitious activities. Some relatively inexpensive options include bicycling, hiking or backpacking, swimming, bowling and roller skat-ing. Also check out community-based park or recreation departments which offer family programs at nominal cost.
"The surprise a family finds as it

"The surprise a family finds as it takes the difficult first step toward fitness is that the second step is easier," say the Bjorklunds. "Replacing one TV show with a walk each evening helps clear the mental cobwebs, paving the way to other creative ideas for more active family fun."

Another note: when encourage

Another note: when encourag-ing kids to participate in team sports, try to emphasize fun over competitive excellence. The fitness study suggests that too much fo-cus on competition discourages many youngsters from trying team sports at all, thus depriving them of another opportunity to get adequate exercise.

Kindergartners create dragon

The Library Card

This column is written twice a month to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at Wayne Public Library.

There are a lot of new books on the shelves and we'd like to tell you about some of them - both fiction and non-fiction.

"The Businessperson's Legal Advisor," second edition by Cliff Roberson is designed to help the small-to-medium sized business owner or manager who doesn't have a company counsel. Chapter headings indicate a broad range of subjects: Legal Aspects of Business Planning; Starting a Business; Business Insurance; Business Records; Leasing Business Property; Home-based Businesses and other helpful topics.

A Consumer Guide book prepared by the American Bar Association, entitled, "You and the Law": gives clear, understandable answers to hundreds of legal questions. The book contains explanations of when and how to use a lawyer, your legal responsibilities to your loved ones, personal injury and criminal justice, wills, trusts and more.

An interesting book just in, entitled "Panati's Browser's Book of Beginnings" by Charles Panati, should satisfy the person who loves elusive facts and trivia. The author has written to answer the questions where or when did it come from - or happen - and how did it all come about. Are you a fruit lover? You can find out where the orange came from, or the peach or strawberry. Like dogs? Who domesticated dogs and when? He includes a genealogy of the dog just for fun. This book is filled with all kinds of archane facts for dedicated however.

Along the lines of interesting facts, "Where On Earth?" is a geography-lover's book of questions that will send you to your encyclopedia or atlas. Questions about landmarks, about the planet Earth, name the country, mountains, people and many other topics. Maybe one of these times we will give you a quiz from this book. If you are a long way from your courses in geography, it could be a challenge!

Of course, we don't want to ignore the national pastime of base-

all. Two books about baseball are on the new books shelf.

"Men at Work" by George F. Will and "I Had a Hammer: The Hank Aaron Story" by Hank Aaron are both written by experts in the sport. George Will is usually thought of as a newspaper columnist, writing about politics and the national scene. But he is also an avid baseball fan with a love of the game. His book describes the craft of baseball and includes baseball history and anecdotes.

Hank Aaron tells his story about his rise from playing in the Negro

A disseball and includes baseball history and anecdotes. Hank Aaron tells his story about his rise from playing in the Negro American League to his many years with the Milwaukee Braves and then the Atlanta Braves. Who will ever forget the sight of his 715th home run, breaking the record held by Babe Ruth for so many years? If you love baseball, you will find these interesting reading. Wayne County Weed Control Authority has dedicated itself not only to noxious weed control, but also to the prevention of dessemination of noxious weed seed. The Director of Agriculture has determined that noxious weeds seed may be desseminated through the movement of machinery and equipment, grain and seed, hay, straw, nursery stock, fencing materials, sod, manure, and soil as well as articles of similar nature. Methods of treatment have also been prescribed by the Director and may be obtained from the Wayne County Weed Control Authority.

With the harvest season approaching very rapidly, please keep in mind the provisions of the law requiring owners of harvest equipment to clean prior to movement to another field. This machinery and equipment being used in the harvest of crops should be treated or cleaned as follows:

- 1. Removal of all material from the tops and sides of all parts of the machine by sweeping and the use of forced air and water.
- 2. Opening the lower end of all elevator returns, and measuring devices and removal of all noxious weed seeds and seed-lings from shakers, sieves, and other places of lodgment.
- 3. Run the machine empty for a minimum of five minutes, alternately increasing and decreasing the speed.
- 4. Follow the manufacturer's detailed instructions for cleaning the machine.

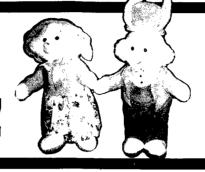

These treatments should be performed while the article or the machine itself is still on the land in which it became infested if at all possible. This will not only prevent spreading noxious weed seed from one field to another, but also from one land owner to another.

For treatment methods of all other articles and questions, please contact the Wayne County Weed Control Authority. Superintendent.

Spring drills begin for WSC

The Wayne State College Wild-cats rolled a "seven" and came up winners in their first campaign as full-time NCAA Division II full-time NCA members last fall.

The return of 17 starters combined with an excellent recruiting class has third-year coach Dennis Wagner looking to improve on last year's 7-4 mark.

The Catt' return eight starters

The Cats' return eight starters from a defense that ranked 9th in NCAA Division II. WSC ranked 12th against the rush and return four all-state defenders.

four all-state defenders.

"Defensively we have a lot of returning players who helped us attain some of our goals last year as a defense," Wagner says. "Verceruited some junior college defensive backs who should help us in the fall. The younger kids are going to get plenty of work in the spring and that will help add depth."

All-America, candidates, Rob.

All-America candidates Bob Sterba (6-0, 230, Sr.) and Jerry Kleidosty (6-0, 225, Jr.) headline the returnees. Kleidosty led WSC with 116 tackles after transferring from the University of Nebraska. Sterba, a former NAIA All-American, totalled 113 stops. Brad Ottis (6-4, 230, So.), John Lanler (6-2, 250, Sr.), Adam Boryca (6-3, 225, Jr.) and Scott Vokoun (6-3, 230, Sr.) give the Cats' a proven defensive line. proven defensive line

All-State picks Joel Ott (5-11, 180, Sr.) and Terry Beair (5-10, 180, Sr.) anchor a secondary that includes returning starters Todd Alberti (5-10, 180, Sr.) and Chris Nelson (5-10, 180, Sr.) The group will be bolstered in the fall by junior college All-American Marc Walker (6-0, 190, Jr.)

Senior right tackle Eric Colbert

(6-4, 260) anchors an offensive line that returns four starters. John Gabriel (6-2, 245, Jr.), Henry Rehberg (6-3, 255, Jr.) and Jeff Holdsworth (6-2, 235, Jr.) will be joined by Gus Zambrano (6-2, 255, So.) who was a starter in

"We have virtually everything back in the offensive line," Wagner said. "We were able to redshirt some younger players who can step in and fill backup spots." Wagner's biggest concern will be the offensive backfield. WSC

"We'll have two new people in the backfield," Wagner said. "I think Clint Williams (6-1, 185, So.) and Troy Mott (6-1, 190, Jr.) can fill in for Gale. It depends on

"Lamar Daniels (5-7, 175, Jr.) looks good at "B" back. He played some running back last year and knows the offense. To d d Schmaderer (5-10, 185, So.) got some playing time, and Ken Mills (5-11, 195, Fr.) is learning the system and should be ready by fall."

WSC's four wide-receiver of-fense returns all four starters and talented group of reserves. Leading receiver Marlon Goolsby (5ing receiver Marlon Goolsby (5-10, 165, Sr.) returns after snagging 39 passes for 638 yards and five TDs last fall. Lee Harper (5-10, 165, Sr.) has been hampered in the spring with a hip injury after catching 24 passes for 324 yards in 90'. Senior Bill Blondin (6-1, 190) and sophomores Dave Mentzer (6-1, 190) and Jason Garnand (510, 175) also return.

All-state place-kicker Blain Branscum (6-2, 175, jr.) is back after connecting on 11-15 field goals in 90'. Mentzer averaged over 36 yards per punt last fall, and holds the WSC single-game punting record with a 50.4 yard per average on four kicks against Bemidji State. Redshirt freshman B.J. Buchanon (6-4, 200) will also vie for punting duties.

Nonr was a rour-time ali-conter-ence selection at Crofton High where her teams posted an 81-9 record. She averaged 11.4 points and 6.5 assists in leading Crofton to a 21-2 record and runner-up finish in the C-1 state tournament. She was a first-team all-state selection and played in the Ne-traska All-Star game. Nohr was braska All-Star game. Nohr was also named to the Super State third team and the Norfolk Daily News top ten.

"Lynn is a true point guard," Barry says. "She has all the skills necessary to make an immediate impact. She handles the ball and sees the floor as well as any player I've watched the last three years. Add to this her ability to shoot the ball and her leadership and you can see why Coach Simmons is missing her already."

Twait averaged 31.8 points and 3.5 assists per game in leading Emmetsburg to the six-on-six state championship. Emmetsburg was 44-4 with Twait in the starting lineup the past two years.

Twait scored a game-high 27 points in leading her squad to a win in the six-on-six all-star game on April 6. She was a first-team all lake. Conference, selection Lake Conference selection and second-team all Northwest Iowa pick. She was also tabbed third-team all-state in Des Moines and

Leadership scholarships available

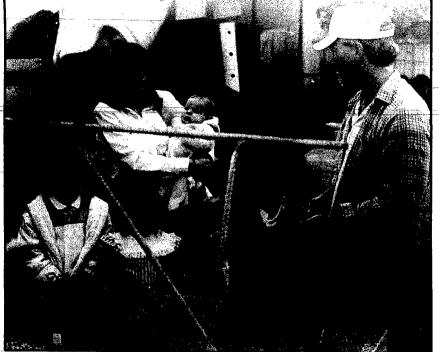

Nebraska high school students can develop their leadership skills this summer at the Youth Leadership College, said Don Siffring, volunteer development specialist for the Cooperative Extension 4-H and Youth Development at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.
Siffring said the College will be conducted on the weekends of June 7-9 and July 19-21.—Students will stay in UNL city campus dormitories.

"Participants will gain greater understanding of themselves and their communities, and increase their leadership, communication, community affairs and conflict-management skills," Siffring said.
Program presenters will include UNL faculty members, college students and representatives from the business and professional communities. Students are asked to at-business and professional communities. Students are asked to attend both sessions, commit one year to community work, select a community leader as a mentor in community service and conduct a community activity or project.

The program is open to high school sophomores, juniors and seniors. The cost is $200 per student. However, $160 scholarships will be granted to the first 50 applications, he said.

Registration forms are available at local extension offices. Forms should be returned to Siffring by

Wayne High School continues North Central accreditation

WAYNE - Wayne High School Principal Dr. Donald Zeiss an-nounced late last week that the Wayne Public Schools have been continued as an accredited school by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. The school was first admitted to membership in 1917 and has been connuously accredited since that

"Accreditation by the NCA means that the school has met the standards set for membership," Zeiss said. "These standards signify that the school has the resources, personnel and leadership neces-sary for effective education."

Accreditation must be renewed each year.

ACCORDING TO Superintendent Dr. F.R. Haun, continuation with the NCA requires a joint effort by the community and the staff to make certain that the potential for quality education remains unimpaired. mains unimpaired.

"The advantage of NCA membership is that it assures the public at large that the school has met those standards which good schools in the NCA region consider to be imperative for effective education to take place," Haun

NCA State Director Gerald Jordan of Lincoln extended congrat-ulations to the school for its continued membership in a growing league of schools whose purpose is the continuing quest for higher levels of quality education.
