Crump explains his view of Bill of Rights

By Mark Crist Managing Editor

Gene Crump thinks the most important aspects of the Bill of Rights and the Constitution are the opportunities the documents provide U.S. citizens.

Crump, a former assistant Ne-braska attorney general and in-terim director of the state's waste compact, spoke to a small audience of students and faculty Monday night at Wayne State College. Crump's visit and discussion on the Bill of Rights, was sponsored by the college's Young Democrats organization. His discussion focused on the Bill of Rights' 200th anniver-

"There isn't a time when you stop learning about the Bill of Rights, as I learned the other night when I talked to my son," Crump said. "We are looking at my story of the Bill of Rights and we will compare that with the history of it, which is someone else's percep-tion."

CRUMP SAID the Bill of Rights was written when it was discovered that the Constitution didn't meet the needs of the citizenry. Al-though the Constitution established a balance of power between the legislative, executive and judi-cial branches of government, he said the public wanted to make sure that all men would be treated equally.

Crump said despite the efforts of the initial 10 amendments, rights of the citizenry did not begin to take shape until after the Civil War, and for women, not until after World War I.

Council decision on hold to study alternatives

By Mark Crist Managing Editor

The Wayne City Council Tuesday sent a clear message to anyone looking to replace irrigation wells around Wayne: They're going to take a long, hard look at proposals before approval.

That could be the conclusion following a 30 minute public hear.

following a 30 minute public hear-ing Tuesday night. The council quizzed Engineering Consultant John Franklin about the effects of a possible new well on the aquifer south of town. Franklin said the well poses little threat to the city's water supply, but added that it could lower the water level of the

ACCORDING TO Mayor Bob Carhart, the council's primary con-cern stems around tapping into the aquifer. He said he's concerned with the threat of leaching contaminants into the aquifer.

"I'm concerned on behalf of the citizens as to the proximity of the well to anywhere we draft water," he said. "I see Bruce Gilmore and the engineer we had here tonight testifying that that well won't im-pact us. I can buy into that bearing their expert testimony.

"My personal feeling is that it should be a real concern for this council about the renewal of licenses on irrigation wells where we're being asked to see a new well with higher capacity going in. We just can't be too cautious at point relative to what we do

As a result of council discussion, the matter was tabled until the May 14 meeting.

IN DEALINGS with the construction of well number 10, the council gave 5-0 approval to accept the $188,479.90 Christiansen Construction bid. Absent were council members Jane O'Leary, Stan Hansen and Darrel Fuelberth.

According to Franklin, who presented the project's two bids, both were over estimates. He said Christiansen Construction's bid was 8.2 percent higher than project estimates but the lower of the two. Franklin said bids coming in higher than estimates has been a problem this year. problem this year.

"They're telling us that prices of all materials except concrete has increased 15 percent since January," he said. "This isn't the first bid we've seen that's higher than the estimates since the start of the year, so it really didn't surprise us." Franklin said a pre-construction conference with Christiansen Construction is scheduled for May 15

IN OTHER matters, the council: Passed a Drug-Free work place policy, which takes effect June 1 for all city employees.

• Gave Carhart and City Administrator Joe Salitros the di-rective to apply for a housing Community Development Block Grant. If the city receives the grant from the Nebraska Department of Economic Development, the $146,250 will be used to renovate low- to middle-income housing. Once the city receives the funds, the money can be loaned out to landlords. When the money is returned to the city, it revolves back out for other housing projects.

· Decided to wait on giving approval to a new contract with Western Area Power Administration (WAPA). Salitros told the council he and City Attorney Bob Ensz had concerns with the initial contract and an amended one should be received soon. If given council approval, the contract will be good until Dec. 31, 2000.

According to Galen Wiser, chairperson of the ag council, the farmers market will be held every Thursday, beginning June 27. The market will be held at Henry Victor Park, located at the south end of Main Street in Wayne. It will probably run through October or until no more produce is available for "The growers thought the ingress and egress of Henry Victor Park will be easy for potential buyers," he said, "Since the parking list paved, buyers will have an easy-time just coming off the highway to buy their produce. We looked at several locations and this one several locations and this one seemed to work best."

Wiser added that the market vill be open Thursdays since that is the night downtown merchants are open. He said he thinks the Thurs-day operations will complement operations will complement other well. Patent said he thinks the market will appeal to both in-town residents as well as

FOR GROWERS to participate in the program throughout the summer, there is a one-time $50 charge. If growers want to participate on a random basis, it will cost $20 each time they use the market, unless they pay the $50 annual charge.

According to Wayne Chamber Executive Vice-President Curt Wilwerding, the market will be beneficial because it promotes "farm fresh quality." He said he thinks this will create strong interest in produce buyers.

"When we first heard about it, we really got behind it because we thought it was a good idea," Wiser said. "I think it will be really well accepted by the community and it.... will really grow."

Schools should seek agreement to alternate graduation days

Somehow, someway area secondary schools are going to have to better coordinate graduation exercises.

For, at least, the second year in a row, all five of The Wayne Herald's coverage schools — Wayne, Winside, Laurel, Wakefield and Allen — hold their graduations on the same day at approximately the same times

While this makes it difficult for the media to provide ample coverage to each of the schools' respective graduations, it makes it impossible for relatives to make all five. The practice of holding graduation on the same day for each of the schools is unfair to families which have more than one graduation to attend.

Take the grandparent who has a grandchild graduating from Wayne and Winside schools, or Wakefield, Laurel and Allen, a the same time. The grandparent, undoubtedly, cannot attend all the graduations. This could cause some hard feelings.

One person cannot be in two places at once. Even though modern technology provides the opportunity of taping one of the graduations, the feeling of being there, supporting your graduate, leaves a lasting impression the graduate will remember for years

There is a way to solve this problem and it should be encouraged. We recommend that each of the schools contact one another during the summer to schedule graduations differently.

For instance, Allen, Wakefield and Laurel could hold graduation on a Saturday at 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 7 p.m., respectively.

Meanwhile, Wayne and Winside could hold Sunday graduation at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m., respectively. To make this suggestion more appealing, schools could interchange times and days and alternate on an annual basis. It's a cooperative effort that the public would like to see and it encourages the uniqueness of each class which walks across the stage.

Just like we have interlocal agreements, why can't we have interlocal cooperation with graduations to preserve the sanctity of

Input helps solve state's tax woes

Input from the Legislature, local officials and the public has been very helpful in our efforts to further define my property tax proposal. My plan represents the best elements of the valuable input we've received since we first announced our proposal two weeks ago.

My proposal removes all per-sonal property from the tax rolls. Before moving into the second stage of a summer working com-mittee, this proposal places a statutory limit on local government statutory limit on local government and subdivision budgets to protect property tax payers. Rather than the previously considered income tax credit, or a direct payment proposed by the Legislature's Revenue Committee, my proposal will provide $90 millionito be returned by the state to local covernments. by the state to local governments to make up for revenues lost by removing all personal property from the tax rolls.

The budget cap and direct aid payment are two very effective means of protecting Nebraska's property tax payers from possible increases, which is what everyone from city officials to the person on the street has been saying we

My proposal will raise the $90 million to be returned by the state variety of sources. Among those being considered are: a depreciation surcharge, a repeal of the energy sales tax exemption for business and agriculture, and a repeal of the sales tax collection for for the sales tax collection for for of the sales tax collection fee for

The measure asks the legisla-ture to amend state refund statues to protect local governments from property tax protests not filed within proper legal procedures.

Also, a fee structure on motor vehicles is part of the proposal. That structure would include a luxury vehicle surcharge, a separate table for Douglas and Lancaster counties because of their unique circumstances, and a statewide structure based on the age of vehicles in three-year increments.

A specific addition to my initial proposal is a sunset clause of Jan. 1, 1992 by which all personal property would be placed back on the tax rolls in the event a permanent solution to the property tax situation cannot be found.

I will name very soon the Revenue Revitalization and Restructuring Committee to take action over the summer with the charge of presenting a plan to this office and the Legislature by September

The 3-R Committee is the se ond phase of my proposal to the Legislature and represents, I be-lieve, a significant opportunity for us-to-continue to build upon the input and expertise of Nebraskans one of the most serious challenges ever to face our

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was sent to the Allen community from Major John Warner, an Allen native. Since the time it was sent, Warner has returned home to his family in Oblahama

Thanks for support Dear Allen friends

Dear Allen friends, 1 want to thank each and everyone of you for your cards, letters, prayers and support during my deployment to Saudi Arabia and its war with Iraq. Your love, care and encouragement gave my men and I that necessary will to go on and fight for the people in this United States. Allen (small town U.S.A. with a big heart) and its U.S.A. with a big heart) and its citizens will always be very special to me. The people of Allen know to me. The people of Allen know how to rally around and help each other out. I thank you for helping my family through the hard times when they had no idea where I was nor what action my unit was under. One person wrote me and said, "if love and prayers and support of the American people can win a war, we've got this one licked hands down."

Our unit traveled 200 miles into Our unit traveled 200 miles into Iraq with our final destination approximately 15 miles from Basra, the second largest city in Iraq and the home of Hussein's Republican Guard. I am fine and my clothes fit a little baggy, but anxiously waiting to go home and see my family which I have not seen since September last year. Our unit is once again waiting in the Saudi desert for our ship to come in so desert for our ship to come in so desert for our ship to come in so we can load our equipment then board planes. My family and I plan to attend Allen's centennial in July so I can thank you all in person for your support. God bless the people of Allen, Neb. and God Bless the U.S.A.

From the sands of Saudi Major John Warner Response to letter

This is in response to Dianne Jaeger's letter about the centennial committee in the April 25 edition of The Wayne Herald.

I talked to three of the four officers and the second of the ficers about my concerns and ideas. Not once was the souvenirs brought up the several different times I talked to them. The history books were. I was told that the ac-count for them was short on money and they wanted to use the money and they wanted to use the centennial money to help pay for them. This account has been separate the whole time. Why change it now? In fact, it was brought up at different meetings and an officer said not to worry because it was separate and had nothing to do with the centennial money. with the centennial money

Two of the officers I talked to agree that we should inform the that we have around $18,000 and the people should come up with ideas on what to do with it. The other officer wants to use it all on one big thing. How can you please a whole town with one thing? If that's what the town wants, let them decide, not just

There are a few groups that could use some help now. In fact, one officer and I came up with the idea that we could set up an amount to go to this group the next several years. That way you'll still have money in the bank but also be getting some use out of it. I never did say all the money should be used right away. I said the public should have a chance to say what it wants to do with the money and when to do it.

I know how much money and time I donated to the centennial. Maybe since I didn't put my nose in others affairs, it didn't seem I did as much. I also was a member of the Winside Centennial Committee and know that at our last tee and know that at our last meeting it was decided to have a meeting within a few months to start deciding some of this. It is now eight months since that meeting. Yes the officers did a lot of work, but so did the whole town.

Budget heads to floor for debate

LINCOLN - The Legislature's Appropriations Committee put the finishing touches on its budget proposal this past week and then sent it on to the floor for debate by the full legislature. The committee has worked almost nonstop during the past two weeks to wrap up its work in time to meet the May 1st deadline for submitting its proposal to the full Legislature.

BUDGET PROPOSAL

The committee's budget proposal differs slightly from the recommendation that the Governor proposed when he presented his budget message to the Legislature in January. Among the differences was

Nelson's recommendation that in order to deal with less than antici-pated tax revenues, state agencies and aid to local government pro-grams would be cut by two per-cent. The committee, however, chose not to cut aid programs and have state agencies take a two percent cut in the 1991-92 fiscal year and three percent in fiscal year 1992-93.

Historically, the senators debate the budget extensively once it is on the legislative floor. There will be numerous attempts to amend the budget proposal and most likely some minor changes will be made.

STATE BOARD

OF ELECTIONS
The Legislature gave secondround approval this past week to my priority bill, LB 579, which would create the State Board of Elections. Under this bill, a nine member board and the position of a state election commissioner would be created to try to bring more uniformity to the election

As I stated in an earlier column this year, this bill was a result of public hearing testimony by elec-tion officials from throughout the state who basically stated that there was a lack of central jurisdic-tion with the authority to advise local election officials on the laws.

local election officials on the laws. In effect, the manner in which election laws are administered now varies from county to county.

The Commission will be bipartisan (no more that five from one political party) and it will have members with experience, including the Secretary of State and three local election officials, one from each of the state's three congressional districts.

LB 579 will face one more stage congressional districts.

LB 579 will face one more stage of legislative debate and vote before it is sent on to the Governor for his approval. I hope that the Commission will be in place and working by this summer well ahead of the next election cycle in 1992.

won one game out of four over the weekend with Peru State and Kearney State. That one game however, will be a memorable one for Wildcat mentor Lenny Klaver as he garnered his 200th career win.

klaver received his bicentennial victory in the Cats' opening game with Peru State in Peru on Saturday. WSC won in convincing style in the opener 16-6 as joe Fulcher went all but one inning and picked up the win. Fulcher improved his record to 4-3 and struck out eight and walked just two enroute to and walked just two en-route to the win. Bill Guenther came in for relief in the final inning.

Wayne State finished the game with 16 runs on 14 hits and three errors while Peru State had six runs on nine hits and one error. Tim Wobken showed no mercy with his bat as he led the Wildcats with three hits in the game including Shane Kober had three hits as well including a double and four RBI's while Cory Reeder hit a home run and a single. Dusty Sheets had a pair of singles and Rick Roberts belted a 3-run homer.

WSC was not as fortunate in the nightcap as they fell by a 6-3 mar-gin. Jeff Cohr took the loss which dropped his season record to 5-2. Gohr went the distance and gave up six hits and four walks while striking out five. WSC finished with three runs on Another reader who narrowly escaped having her heat cut off this winter because she had problems meeting the started to run excepts from them and will continue to do bills, says: "I know a welfare family where they have young healthy people there who don't work because they retiree living in Florida. He says: "The first time I really retiree living in Florida. He says: "The first time I really

There's no doubt that there's a rising tide of anger over the way people on fixed incomes seem to be ignored in this era of low rise economy and continually rising prices.

I'm always lobbying for "liberal" solutions to social problems. But the fact is that without the government to help cities and states maintain services to seniors, and without some incentive — perhaps a tax break — for utility companies to offer more discounts to their older clients, a result, it now takes more time to get questions answered.

HOW OLD IS OLD? I'm having a wonderful time budget cuts. SAV-MOR PHARMACY Yeast Infection Medicine

WILL DAVIS

Candidiasis, which is better known as yeast in-fection, is a common complaint among women. And for some, this fungal infection reoccurs frequently, causing in-flammation, itching, and discharge. Although the infection sometimes occurs following use of cer-tain antibiotics, the reasons why some women seem to get the infection and others do not re-mains obscure. The Food and Drug Administration has approved the first nonprescription drug product for yeast infection. This product contains clotyrimazole, a prescription medicine that has been available for several years. The nonprescription product is in suppository and cream with applicator dosage forms. The product label will advise first-time yeast infection sufferers to consult a physician before using.
