Ad draws fire from members

By Mark Crist Managing Editor

A paid advertisement in the The Wayne Herald resulted in a protest letter to the Herald from State Sen. DiAnna R. Schimek, D-Lincoln, and five other members of the Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee.

The advertisement, located on page 2B of the Thursday, May 30 edition, criticized Sen. Gerald Conway, R-Wayne, for his performance as the chairperson of the committee. Schimek serves as committee vice-chairperson.

The ad requested that the public contact Conway's office in Lincoln to preserve a legislative seat in Madison County divided under a redistricting plan proposed by the Government Committee of by the Government Committee of the Nebraska Legislature. The loss of the seat comes as a result of the Bernard-Stevens redistricting plan.

The letter signed by Schimek and other members of the Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee will appear on the letters to the editor space of the Thursday, June 6 Wayne Herald. It will be printed in its entirety. will be printed in its entirety.

ACCORDING TO the non-so-licited advertisement, paid for by Concerned Citizens against the Loss of a Voice in Northeast Nebraska, northeast Nebraska will lose a state senator under the proposed redistricting plan. The ad alleges that the plan is not fair to northeast Nebraska. It says as chairperson of the committee Conway could have done something to preserve the seat.

In response to the advertisement, the six committee members write: "With regard to the allegations in the ad, only a person unaware of requirements of state law, mandates of federal courts and braska, northeast Nebraska will lose

In the letter, the committee added: "It might be noted that Senator Ed Schrock (Elm Creek) a member of the committee whose district was eliminated, voted for advancement of the plan." Neither Schrock's nor Conway's name was included in the letter from According to records with the clerk of the legislature, the group which ran the advertisement in The Wayne Herald is not a registered lobbying group with the Uni-

IN A TELEPHONE conversation with Jim Scheer, one of two representatives who signed the advertisement, the Madison County group criticizes Conway for not being able to preserve the seat being lost. Scheer is the chairperson for the Madison County Republicans. The other individual who signed the advertisement was Connie Day, the chairperson for the Madison County Democrats.

"We aren't lobbying anyone."

"We aren't lobbying anyone," Scheer said. "We have placed two ads from free will contributions to get support to get leadership from Senator Conway. He is in a position where he should be able to do something. When you look at avenues to affect something, he is the chairman and he should be able to do that.

"I would consider Senator Conway one of those people with more influence than some of the other senators. The fact he has one vote is meaningless. Two days ago, the legislature came up with a viable alternative in the Owens plan. The only senator from north-east Nebraska to vote against it was Senator Conway."

ACCORDING TO Schimek, Conway should not be blamed for the Bernard-Stevens plan. She said any criticism of his performance is clearly unjustified. Conway was unavailable for comment Friday af-

"The primary protest to what has happened is that it unfairly blamed Jerry for not getting the plan northeast Nebraska wanted," Schimek said. "Redistricting was an extremely difficult process. It took literally hundreds of staff hours to put these plans together. People have tried to draw up the plans, we just advanced the Bernard-Stevens up to final reading. No other plan had the consensus the Bernard-Stevens plan had."

The Government Committee advanced the Bernard-Stevens plan on an 8-0 vote. Other information about the measure was unavailable

Allen receives CDBG funds

ALLEN - The State of Nebraska

ALLEN - The State of Nebraska Department of Economic Devel-opment has announced that Community Development Block funds have been awarded to the Allen Development Group, Inc. Allen is one of three communi-ties to receive a share of $222,000 in Community Development Block Grant funds. The other two are Schuyler, which will receive $46,000 assistance and Elwood, which will get $94,300.

According to DED and Allen officials, Allen's CDBG funds are for down payment assistance for eight first time home buyers.

"The way we're applying for this is different than any others," said Bob Bock, president of the Allen Development Group, Inc. "... A lot of times people will apply for these and they'll have to apply for several years following to get the

"We were one of the first ones to get this money and that's over-whelmed us," said Jackie Mitchell, mayor of Allen. "I've been sur-prised at how fast this has moved. It's been a big help to us all.

WHILE THE grant application has been approved, the Allen Development Group, Inc. has a 45-day deadline to finish paperworth before the grant becomes final. After that time period, low to moderate income residents may apply for the money. According to Bock and Mitchell, a local survey indicated 46 percent of the respondents believed additional housing was needed in the community. Presently, there is only one rental vacancy.

Of the housing survey the community conducted, over 80 percent of those polled responded, Bock said. DED informations of the policy of the pol tion noted nearly half the renters indicated a desire to purchase

"It would be great if this would result in an increase in businesses.
We're always looking for a route to add businesses."

ACCORDING TO the DED, the program will target four established residences and four newly lished residences and rour newiy constructed units. Each home must sell for less than $55,000 and maximum down payment assis-tance will be $10,000 or 20 percent. whichever is less.

Bock said details about how the program will work are yet to be discussed. He said he isn't sure if the money will be used as grants to low to moderate income families or if it will be a loan. He said if it is a loan, it could establish a revolving loan fund which could be used by low to moderate income residents.

"We realized there was a need for housing in Allen," Bock said. "Wakefield has a similar program going and that's what made us aware of these funds being avail-

The computer automation, called Connection, will link all the resources in the WSC library to others at Chadron State and Peru others at Chadron State and Peru State Colleges and the university schools in Kearney, Lincoln and Omaha. Eventually, it may also in-clude all the four year institutions

According to Dr. Willis Wiseman, chief of staff at Providence, two changes are set to be imple-

FIRST, ALL the physicians on the staff of Providence Medical Center started to share night and weekend call for emergency pa-tients June 1. Each clinic will contients June 1. Each Clinic Will con-tinue to care for hospital inpatients as before on weekends but will share call on a rotating basis for weekend outpatients as well as hospital admissions.

weekend outpatients as well as hospital admissions.
Secondly, the staff is working on a plan to utilize family practice residents from two nearby programs to cover weekends whenever possible.

"This will increase the amount of physician coverage at the hospital and at the same time enhance our recruiting possibilities for new family practice physicians," Wiseman said.

The second plan will be implemented as soon as possible, perhaps by the fall of 1991 if all goes well, Wiseman said.

ONE OF THE main obstacles to the survival of rural hospitals is the difficulty in recruiting physicians to rural areas. Of the several factors which combine to make this fact is the often extraordinary time de-mands on the physician, especially nights and weekends.

"We are asking for support from the communities and areas we serve in this new emergency cov-erage plan," he said. "We realize that patients will not always be able to see the physician of their choice but hope that the greater goal of more physicians and in-creasing the health services of our hospital will offset any inconve-niences."

WISEMAN said the reason for nese changes is simple. He said it is being done to help insure the future of the hospital in light of the current trend of rural hospital closings and the general loss of medi-cal personnel from rural areas, es-

Wayne Swimming Pool should open soon if all goes well

WAYNE - If everything goes as planned, the Wayne Municipal Swimming pool could be open as soon as the second weekend in June, according to City Administrator Joe Salitros.

The Wayne city administrator said work crews tore out all the sealant in the swimming pool since Wednesday, replacing it with new caulk. Salitros said it will take three to four days for the new sealant to cure before water can be added to the pool.

ONCE THE sealant cures, water will be put in the deep end Monday or Tuesday to see if it holds. If the water table does not drop, the pool will be chlorinated Friday or Saturday.

Once the chlorine stabilizes, the best case scenario would see the pool open Sunday.
Salitros said the problem with the pool leaking is not believed to be the result of any design flaws. He said there is a certain time period in which city officials must wait because of the caulking, its reaction to water and to chlorine.

The city pool underwent $330,000 worth of renovations during the winter.

Barry inks two more forwards for team

Wayne State College women's basketball coach Mike Barry re-cently announced the signing of two power forwards to his squad.

Ann Kramer, a 5-10 forward from Pierce, and Tawnya Bakke, a 5-11 forward/center from Sheridan, Wyoming are the newest additions to the Wildcats.

Kramer co-captained Pierce to a 21-3 record last season while averaging 12.3 points and 8.6 re-bounds a game. She also con-tributed 2.4 steals a contest while shooting 45.5 percent from the field and 71 percent from the free

She was an all-state honorable mention selection and a Norfolk Daily News Top Ten pick. In addition, Kramer earned two-time allconference honors and was named to the WSC Holiday All-Tourna-ment team as a junior and a senior.

"Ann is a very good all-around athlete," Barry said. "She runs the floor well, and has the ability to give us depth at the forward position."

Bakke joins the Cats' after transferring from Casper Junior College, where she averaged nine points and five rebounds a game for the 23-5 Lady T-Birds. She was an all-state, all-region, and all-con-ference performer at Sheridan High School.

"Tawnya is a very versatile player," Barry said. "She can play inside and outside, and will give us much needed depth at the power forward and post position. She started and played a lot of minutes for a very good program the last two years. Her experience could be invaluable to what we consider a young Wildcat squad."

Cooperative experiences good year

WAYNE - A new cooperative program between Wayne State College and Educational Service Units in Wakefield and Neiigh exome in wakerield and Neligh ex-perienced a very successful first year, according to Dr. Larry Harris, division head of education at Wayne State College.

The "Northeast Nebraska Master Teacher Partnership" program, designed primarily to retain new teachers who may have second thoughts about a teaching career, named 150 Master Teachers during the first year of operation.

Master Teachers assisted and advised 135 novice teachers throughout northeast Nebraska during the year.

"After one year of operating, the program has been successful beyond what we initially thought it would be," says Harris, coordinator of the program. "The number of novice and Master Teacher partici-pants turned out to be much higher than we initially planned."

Harris says northeast Nebraska school administrators indicated that the program was very helpful for new teachers. Master Teachers were the most beneficial component of the program, he adds.

Master Teachers were trained to help new teachers with chal-lenges they faced in their first years of teaching, Harris says. "Many new teachers who have well-designed preparation prowell-designed preparation programs have less than successful beginnings," he says. "Because of this situation, many potentially outstanding educators leave the profession after only a few years."

Master Teachers were recognized for their volunteer service recently at Wayne State College.

"One thing that people are rojecting is that books may eventually be warehoused on computi," said Jan Brumm, coordinator technical services for Conn Library. 'There are already some journals that are published only on computers. There are things that are moving in that direction."

While total computerization of libraries is a ways off, Middendorf and Brumm said they expect Conn-ection to be up and running by August or September. It is expected that the barcoding procedure will be complete by next week.

The automation project at Wayne State is part of a $3 million state-wide project to automate the college libraries. Middendorf said the computer advances in the library services field makes it an exciting time to be involved in the industry

"This is a big world and there's a lot of information to access out there," he said. "This is one step to bring the world closer together."
