SENATOR BOB KERREY DISCUSSED his Health USA plan in Wayne last Wednesday. Of agents available for interviews, two who attended the meeting did not look favorably on Kerrey's plan.

Local agents give mixed reviews to Health USA plan

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

U.S. Sen. Bob Kerrey's Health USA plan is receiving mixed reviews from, at least, two local insurance agents who attended the town hall meeting last Wednesday.

Both agents agreed that Kerrey's health plan would create another level of federal bureaucracy and each said his visit sounded like a campaign stop. Kerrey, D-Neb., said he will announce if he intends to run for the Democratic nomination for president in 1992 sometime soon.

"This is a nice sounding idea but so was Communism and we see how that worked," said Prudential Agent Matt Polhamus. "Health care needs to stay in the hands of the private sector. Despite what their statistics show, a federal program won't be more cost effective, but rather another level of bureaucracy."

Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agent Cap Peterson said he has doubts about the program. He said if it gets through Congress the government could find itself pulling double duty, similarly to the way it did with crop insurance programs. He said, "the government found it couldn't do it, so it put it back in the hands of the private sector. I'm not sure we want to see that happen again."

ONE OF THE major concerns expressed by both agents available for interview is that the program would put another harness on already burdened health care services by physicians and hospitals, alike. Peterson said he wonders how the government can provide care to everyone. Polhamus added that the proposal will cripple health care, especially in rural areas. Polhamus cited the change in exemptions for Medicare and Medicaid as examples.

"The only way they can do anything different is to control health care prices," Peterson said. "But the costs to health care providers aren't fixed costs."

Polhamus said if costs are fixed for health care providers through the Health USA program, then providers will have to require that costs from suppliers be fixed. He said this could create a ripple effect, creating widespread ramifications.

"If you go to a car dealer and say I have $5,000 to spend will you get a Yugo or a Cadillac?" he said. "The programs are heading in a direction to rename what already exists through Medicare and Medicaid. What we need to do is provide better publication and utilization of those programs for the indigent, the needy and for those unable to attain health insurance."

IN HIS PRESENTATION, Kerrey said he encourages public debate on the issue. He said he is not proposing socialized medicine but he is proposing this plan based on his own experiences. He said currently there are 23 million Americans working without insurance and another 27 million going on welfare to pay for insurance. He said this package will help both those groups, along with the general public.

In an interview with KWSC radio following his presentation at Wayne State College, Kerrey outlined his program. He said his proposed system will provide health care for everyone, regardless of medical condition and it will do so without inflating costs at a rate higher than inflation.

"We're talking about a dramatically low cost of health care that can change people's lives," Kerrey said.

In addition to addressing concerns with the plan, Peterson said he is concerned that Kerrey never outlined how the plan will be paid for. Polhamus added that people don't realize what this plan will mean.

"Every 19 hours the government spends $1 billion," he said. "To just examine what $1 billion represents, one billion seconds ago it was 1947 and one billion minutes ago Christ walked on earth."

"There is no doubt that there is some crisis in providing health care to certain segments of the population but as far as it being available, that's not a problem. The crisis is in affordability. It's not going to bring costs down because the government has never been able to do anything cost effective during my lifetime."

Wayne County Court keeps justice on track

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

'I find that my job is interesting but crime is appalling.'

Judge Stephen Finn
County Judge

A 22-year-old woman appeared in front of Wayne County Judge Stephen Finn on a count that she had written a bad check. She quietly admitted to doing it in exchange for money. It wasn't the first time she had been tried on bad check count.

Finn told her he didn't want to see her again.

"You can't go out and steal property with bad checks and think everyone will blink when you pay for it," the judge said.

The woman was sentenced to two days in jail and fined $50. She wasn't required to make restitution since that had been done before she went to court.

"If you think you can do this again and appear before me again, you'll think two days is a piece of cake," Finn told her.

LATER THURSDAY morning, Finn sentenced three youths for minor in possession charges after each pled guilty. Each received fines of $200 and a warning from the judge.

In two instances, with an 18-year-old man and a 19-year-old woman, the judge said, "I don't care if you drink, your Mom might; but I don't. But I want you to remember what happens and what the penalty is."

A third, a 20-year-old man, was told when he turns 21 that he could be in big trouble if he purchases alcohol for minors.

These instances are commonplace in the Wayne County Court, just as Thursday was a pretty routine court day. Still, the county court has kept busy with the case workload, not only for criminal cases but civil cases as well.

In 1989, the Wayne County Court saw 202 criminal case filings. That number jumped to 311 in 1990, primarily due to approximately 110 cases following a beer bust last September. This year, the court has 152 filings on record, which will probably surpass the 1989 figures.

ACCORDING TO Wayne County Court Clerk Magistrate Pearlta Benjamin the Wayne County Court has seen an increase in cases over the years. While the office does a pretty good job of staying on top, there are times when they fall behind.

What concerns her is the attitude she sees displayed in the people who face criminal cases. While most of the people who wind up in court take the matter seriously, there are some who don't.

"It bothers me when I see a young person who doesn't take the situation seriously," Benjamin says. "I think it can become the beginning of them having more problems. If they take it seriously, I think maybe they're going to do something about their behavior."

Still, she says, she enjoys working with the people who come to court.

"That's why I got into this," she says. "I enjoy working with the people and I enjoy working with the attorneys and the judges."

LATER DURING Thursday's court session, Judge Finn sentenced one man on an amended charge of disturbing the peace. The 26-year-old man had been charged with first degree assault. The same individual, and the 27-year-old woman he agrees he had a dispute with, each face more serious charges. He faces a charge of delivery of a controlled substance. She faces a charge of aiding and abetting the delivery of a controlled substance.

A preliminary hearing in each respective case will be heard later this month.

As a judge, Finn says he sees situations from all sides. He adds that the only thing that's disappointing about his job is seeing that people have committed crimes. That's why he often gives warnings to individuals once they have received their fines or sentences.

"I find that my job is interesting but crime is appalling," he says. "... I deal with so many people in so many courts that it's difficult for me to remember all the cases. But I hate to see situations where someone commits a crime."

Finn adds that he would like to see more people participate in what happens in the courts, as well as every other level of government.

"I think it's good for people to know how every governmental agency works and what it is they do," he says. "... In my job I see all kinds of different people representing all sides of society. The job offers me a great deal of variety."

School going great guns Wayne enrollment up

With school just getting underway for the Wayne Community Schools, enrollment appears to be up again in 1991, over the 1990 census figures.

According to statistics provided by the District 17 school district, teachers in Wayne and Carroll will be teaching 934 students, which is a jump from 911 students to start the 1990 school year. District totals, based on a five year average, are also on the rise.

For instance, in 1987, the schools recorded 835 students to start the year. That figure climbed to 895 in 1988 and despite a small drop to 882 in 1989, the 1991-92 school year reflects the increase trend. Over the four year period of time, the largest group of students is for the 1991-92 school year.

THE BIGGEST classes appear to be in kindergarten, third grade and fifth grade. Fifth grade is the largest, with 82 students listed. Kindergarten and third grade have 80 youngsters, respectively.

The next largest class of students is the twelfth grade class, which has 76 students. Eleventh graders have 71 students in their class and tenth and ninth grades each have 70 apiece.

The smallest class of students this year is in sixth grade, where there are 56 youngsters enrolled for classes. The next smallest grade is fourth grade, where 67 youngsters are enrolled.

IN THE middle school, there are 68 eighth graders, 69 seventh graders and 56 sixth graders.

In the Wayne and Carroll elementary schools, there are 67 fourth graders, 70 second graders and 72 first graders.

The largest class of students at Wayne elementary has 73 youngsters in third grade. The largest class in Carroll is kindergarten, which has 14 students.

In all, there are 47 students in the Carroll Elementary school and 320 in the Wayne Elementary school. There are 278 students in the Wayne Middle School and 287 students in Wayne High School.

In Carroll, first grade has 10 youngsters and second grade has nine. Third and fourth grade each have seven youngsters enrolled.

Separate accidents occur at same spot

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department investigated two separate accidents at the same location one mile east and 1 1/2 miles north of Wayne about midnight Sunday, Sept. 1.

A pickup driven by 16-year-old Aaron Walton of Wayne went into the west ditch just before a bridge at the accident scene. A pickup driven by 18-year-old Eric Rühr then passed the Walton vehicle and ended up striking the bridge railing, causing extensive damage to the pickup.

THE FIVE occupants of the Ruhr vehicle were taken to Providence Medical Center by ambulance.

The majority of the injuries included minor cuts and bruises but also included one person having fractured ribs and another with a back injury. All except one of the persons were treated and released from Providence Medical Center.

None of the four occupants of the Walton vehicle were injured. The Sheriff's department was aided at the accident scene by the Wayne Fire Department's Rescue Squad and Providence Medical Center's ambulance team.

Wayne Methodist Church setting for Traci Gamble-Clarence Wingett rites

Heart-shaped candelabras, white pew bows with teal trim and white and pink altar bouquets decorated the First United Methodist Church in Wayne for the Aug. 17 ceremony uniting in marriage Traci Lynn Gamble and Clarence Edward Wingett.

Parents of the couple are Larry and Linda Gamble of Wayne and Terry and Lorna Wingett of Thurston.

The bride is the granddaughter of Marvel Corbit and Albert and Mildred Gamble of Wayne, and the bridegroom is the grandson of Viola Schmeckpepper and Loren and Uldean Strong of Pender.

The Rev. Donald Nunnally of Wayne officiated at the 6 o'clock, double ring service.

SEATED AT the guest book were Kelly Fleming of Wayne and Terri Booth of O'Neill. Ushers were Brent Gamble and Brian Gamble of Wayne, brothers of the bride, Lance Corbit and Skip Gamble of Wayne, and Doug Burmester of Pender.

Brent Gamble and Brian Gamble lighted candles and Kall Jo and Heath Corbit of Wayne handed out programs.

Honor attendants for the couple were Lori Bruns of Wayne and Larry Ballinger Jr. of Pender.

Bridesmaids were Robin Lutt and Kim Triggs, both of Wayne, and Brenda Noll of Sioux City, and junior bridesmaid was Caycie Clow of Balaton, Minn.

Groomsmen were Bill Rager of Emerson, Rob Gamble of Wayne and Scott Ostrand of Pender, and junior groomsman was Jeffery Kelly.

Flower girl was Crystal Schmeckpepper of Pender, and ring bearer was Kyle Triggs of Wayne.

Wedding music included "He Has Chosen You For Me" and "All My Life." Vocalist was Delwin Kai of Pender and organist was Shelley Gilliland of Wayne.

THE BRIDE was given in marriage by her parents and her brother, Robbie Gamble.

On her wedding day, she chose a white satin gown featuring a Queen Anne neckline and short cuffed baby doll sleeves detailed with candy box bows and a pearl cluster.

The fitted bodice of pearls and sequins formed a dropped V waistline. A large bustle with a bow highlighted the semi-cathedral train which was detailed with medallion cutouts, pearls and sequins.

Her veil was attached to a circular band of silk flowers and beads and she carried a cascade of pink roses, pink minis, baby's breath and white stephanotis with white pearls, greenery and white ribbon.

Personal attendant was Tonya Erkleben.

THE BRIDE'S attendants wore teal taffeta frocks in tea length with raised fronts. The dresses were designed with short sleeves and open backs with a large bow at the back waistline.

Each carried a nosegay of pink alstroemeria, white minis and baby's breath with greenery and teal ribbon.

The bridegroom was attired in a charcoal black full dress tuxedo with a white vest and tie, and his attendants wore charcoal black tuxedos with teal ties and cummerbunds.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gamble selected a teal split skirt suit made of polyester with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a pink lace dress with white accessories.

A RECEPTION for 300 guests followed in the Wayne National Guard Armory. Hosts were Tim and Cindy Corbit of Balaton, Minn. and Jack and Pat Kelly of Thurston. Arranging gifts were Shannon and Jana Kelly of Thurston and Paula Schmeckpepper of Pender.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wingett

Cutting and serving the wedding cake were Sharon Corbit and Jan Gamble, both of Wayne, Connie Mohlfeld of Wisner and Gail Harrison of Omaha.

Mary Gamble of Wayne and Lois Kratke of Thurston poured, and Laura Gamble and Kecia Corbit of Wayne served punch.

Waitresses were Jennifer Hammer of Wayne and Beth Ballinger, Tracie Cadwallader and Deb Burmester, all of Pender.

THE BRIDE graduated from Wayne Carroll High School in 1989 and is attending Wayne State College.

The bridegroom, a 1986 graduate of Pender High School, is employed by Automatic Equipment Manufacturing Co., in Pender and plans to attend Wayne State College. He is a member of the Omaha Reserve Unit and served nine months in Saudi Arabia with the 172nd Transportation Co.

The newlyweds are making their home in Pender.

New pastor serving Redeemer, WSC

The Rev. Mike Girlinghouse arrived in Wayne last month and is serving as associate pastor at Redeemer Lutheran Church and as the Lutheran campus pastor at Wayne State College.

Girlinghouse joins the Rev. Frank Rothfuss, head pastor at Redeemer Lutheran, and will be installed there on Sunday, Sept. 15 at 3 p.m.

The public is invited to attend the installation service and reception which will follow.

GIRLINGHOUSE, 30, was born in Milwaukee, Wisc. and spent his early years in the community of Grafton, located just north of Milwaukee. At age 13 he moved with his family to central Wisconsin.

He graduated from high school in Nekoosa, Wisc. and from the University of Minnesota in 1983 with a BA in "Theological Study Preparation," a broad liberal arts degree which prepared him for seminary.

Girlinghouse attended the Lutheran School of Theology in Chicago and graduated from there in 1987. He interned during 1985-86 at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Meriden, Conn.

Following his ordination in June 1987, he accepted his first call as associate pastor of Mount Zion Lutheran Church in Wauwatosa, Wisc.

GIRLINGHOUSE and his wife Terrie, a native of Jamestown, N.D., met at the Lutheran Campus Ministry Center at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis and were married there in 1983.

They are the parents of one daughter, 10-month-old Rebbecca.

AS ASSOCIATE pastor at Redeemer Lutheran, Girlinghouse said he will perform the regular duties

of preaching and teaching, as well as having special responsibilities for Christian education, including youth groups, social ministry and fellowship.

As Lutheran campus minister, he will provide spiritual nurturing and support for college students. In addition to counseling the students, Girlinghouse said he hopes to build a worshipping community as well as one of fellowship.

GIRLINGHOUSE said he and his wife have felt very welcome since arriving in Wayne on Aug. 14.

"The people have been just outstanding, friendly and helpful. We expected a small town to be friendly, but our reception has been overwhelming."

Girlinghouse will divide his time between Redeemer Lutheran and the Lutheran Campus Ministry House. He added that his schedule may be adjusted according to the changing needs and programs of the church and the college.

A noon buffet, catered by Herb and Joyce Niemann, was served in the First United Methodist Church fellowship hall and was attended by 91 relatives.

Following the meal, guests reminisced about the couple's lives and Tim and Shirlene Boeckenhauer sang "All the Way My Saviour Leads Me."

THE COUPLE'S children and grandchildren hosted an open house reception in the afternoon with guests attending from Phoenix, Ariz.; Kerrville, Texas; Rosemead, Calif.; Boulder and Denver, Colo.; Sioux Falls, S.D.; Chicago, Ill.; Kenosha and Analaska, Wisc.; Perry and Sioux City, Iowa; Hutchinson, Kan.; St. Paul, Burnsville, Longville and Roseville, Minn.; Kearney, Stromsburg, Funk, Lincoln, Omaha, South Sioux City, Emerson, Oakland, Wisner, Norfolk, Bancroft, Wakefield, Laurel, Dixon, Concord and Wayne. Lori and Stacy Kardell registered the guests and Todd and Aaron Kardell received cards and gifts.

Terry Kardell was in charge of the day's celebration. The afternoon program included a piano solo by Lori Kardell, readings by Todd and Stacy Kardell, and a trombone solo by Aaron Kardell. Megan Kardell said "Happy anniversary, grandma and grandpa," and Janet-Kardell gave a tribute to her parents.

The Rev. David Dickinson of the Evangelical Free Church closed the program with a devotional and prayer. Kenneth Headlee played piano selections throughout the afternoon.

THE OPEN house reception also was catered by the Niemanns.

Nieces assisting at the serving tables were Verlie Brown, Pam Middleton, Gloria Carlson and Sharol Carlson who cut and served the anniversary cake; Jeanne Ann Kardell and Patty Wisnes who poured; and Lorene Fredrickson and Marlyce Carlson who served punch.

Assisting with serving at noon were Marge Kudrna, Dianne Mayberger and Gail Gray. Serving at the open house were Bonnie Fluent, Carolyn Zetocha and Pam Dickinson.

Beverly Van Fossen of Rosemead, Calif. arranged the orchids, roses and greenery which were flown in from Hawaii. She also assisted with the decorations.

VIRGIL AND Verna Kardell were married Aug. 23, 1941 at Wayne and have resided here since that time.

Their children are Janet Kardell of Wayne, Terry and Ruth Kardell, Lori and Todd of St. Paul, Minn., and Virg and Jan Kardell, Aaron, Stacy and Megan of Wayne.

Nebraska PEO chapters hosting international convention in Omaha

An estimated 3,000 women from across the United States and Canada are expected to attend the biennium convention of the PEO Sisterhood which convenes Sept. 9-11 at the Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum in Omaha.

Two hundred and thirty-seven PEO chapters in Nebraska are hosting the 1991 convention in conjunction with the 100th anniversary of the Nebraska State PEO Chapter's founding in 1890-91.

Convention workers from the PEO chapters in Wayne include Kay Cattle, Marian Clark, Jean Griess, Sheryl Lindau, Donna Liska, Bonnie Lund, Margaret Lundstrom, Evelyn McDermott, Jennifer Phelps and Marjorie Porter.

Marjorie Bellar of Chapter EP, Wisner, will serve as a delegate and will be reporting to Chapter GS, Norfolk; Chapter AL, Madison, Chapter DF, Stanton; Chapter HZ, Hartington; Chapters ID and AZ, Wayne; and Chapter EO, West Point, as well as her own chapter.

THE PEO Sisterhood was founded in 1869 in Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, one of two collegiate sororities, and soon developed into an international philanthropic organization interested primarily in the education of women.

Viewpoint

Irrigate fields, not roadways

Occasionally drivers will notice that irrigation systems are spraying water onto roadways. If this is a practice that is by accident, we understand because we know most irrigators are responsible. But if it occurs due to negligence, we hope that measures are taken to correct the problem through the proper channels.

At any given time, we have seen where irrigation systems are spraying the roadways, whether the roads be rural gravel roads or paved state highways. We want to encourage irrigators to resolve the problem and help preserve our precious water.

If irrigators persistently continue to water roadways, or have systems which malfunction, we hope the public contacts the authorities, who then solve the problem. Where there are irresponsible irrigators, we hope that law enforcement will punish them to the full extent of the law and keep after them until the problem is corrected.

Most farmers are smart enough to solve this problem themselves but there are a few who choose to ignore it. We hope those who ignore it take measures to correct the problem before an accident occurs or before they're forced to do so.

Welcome back to WSC students, we're glad that you're here

For almost 100 years, Wayne has been host to students seeking degrees of higher education. This year, like others, we would like to welcome Wayne State students back.

While the break between spring and fall classes sometimes comes as a welcome relief, your presence is missed by the community. We want the students to know that now that you're here, we're glad you've returned. Without all the students the college brings in, there is a void in the community.

We look forward to providing news and information that you will find usable during your stop in Wayne. Businesspeople, we are sure, will also be more than happy to have you here. We hope that you will check Wayne first for whatever goods and services you seek because our community has a lot to offer.

In addition, we want to welcome your presence. Now that you are at Wayne State College, you are a part of the community.

Good luck this year with your studies and thank you for picking Wayne.

Letters

Problem with letter

The Constitution, of which the Bill of Rights is a significant part, is frequently the focus of political debate. Sometimes the solutions to the issues raised are not clearly defined. However, there is a vague implication that restricting specific constitutional rights will solve problems. Some of these issues were raised by Mr. Meierhenry in his recent letter (Aug. 1) quoting Patrick Buchanan on the alleged accomplishments of Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall. In addition, the letter went on to list a number of character traits of the nominee, Clarence Thomas. The implication was that Justice Marshall did not have these traits, such as hard work and the knowledge of right from wrong. I don't know either man, but I imagine Justice Marshall has worked hard all these years.

I will list the four "accomplishments" sarcastically attributed to Justice Marshall in the letter and give an alternate interpretation to each.

1. "Breakdown of all local barriers to filthy speech and dirty books." This is a direct attack on free speech and freedom of the press. The countries that have cracked down on sexually explicit materials also crack down on independent newspapers, radio stations and religious institutions. The best examples are the Communist countries. If people didn't want these books then they wouldn't be produced. The free market should take care of this problem. Should the government decide what we should read or see? Is this really the most important issue facing the nation? I think improving educational opportunities would be a higher priority for me. Mr. Marshall's record in this regard was proven even before becoming a Supreme Court Justice.

2. "Expelling of prayer, Bible reading and the Ten Commandments from public schools." This is a direct attack on freedom of religion and separation of church and state. Prayer was never expelled from school. People can pray any time they want. What is illegal is group led prayer. Not everyone who goes to a public school believes the same thing. Separation of church and state is a protection of the minority from the religious views of the majority.

In a free society, parents may teach their children the religious beliefs and practices they choose. However, the values that represent the best of religious teachings — tolerance, forgiveness, compassion and understanding — should guide all our social institutions. I believe Mr. Marshall tried to implement these values by listening to the poor, the oppressed and the various minority views presented during his time on the Supreme Court.

3. "Stripping of every right to life of every single unborn child." Most pregnant women do not have abortions. The degree of controversy that this issue provokes clearly puts it in the realm of a religious belief dispute. No pregnant woman is forced to have an abortion. Is it a decision of the state or the family involved? Romania is a good example of a country that denied people contraception and the option of abortion. The country is unable to provide adequate medical care for many of these children. They are living and suffering, some with AIDS, many more in substandard conditions.

While Justice Marshall was for reproductive freedom, he also was committed to care and opportunity for children, regardless of race or economic background.

4. "Rights of the criminally accused now exceed the rights of their victims." Our constitution clearly states a person is innocent until proven guilty, that the accused have the right to counsel, due process, and be protected from having to incriminate themselves. I agree that it is frustrating when people who seem obviously guilty are let free on a technicality. However, one must remember the principle on which our legal system is designed — to protect the innocent from being convicted falsely. It is easy to say that those safeguards are unimportant until you are the one who is the defendant.

It is rather bold to attribute all the Supreme Court decisions of any period to one justice. Justice Marshall wasn't even on the Supreme Court when the first major decision on school prayer was made (1962) or when the famous Miranda decision on the defendant's rights (1966) was made. Justice Marshall joined the court in 1967. This letter would not be complete without reviewing some of the social gains that may be the result of Supreme Court decisions. In addition to the expansion of personal liberties the following are positive changes in our society:

Handicapped and special children receive equal educational opportunities.

Women have gained access to equal opportunity in school athletic programs and in many other areas.

Reversal of years of discrimination in housing, employment and in voting opportunities.

The concern that I have about a Supreme Court nominee is whether the nominee has an understanding of individual rights in a pluralistic society. Many times these rights are in conflict with the government and with people or companies with great economic power. The courts remain the only place to resolve these disputes.

Are we a nation of free individuals or a nation of citizens marching in step with what the government thinks is best of us? I do not want to relinquish my freedom to others who think they know what is best for me.

There are many important problems facing our nation and the world today that will affect our lives for years to come. It is easy to use the above issues to pull attention from real problems and focus on emotional issues. Rather than jumping at restricting constitutionally protected individual rights, we should try to find solutions to the problems that affect Americans on a daily basis such as poverty, poor access to health care, lack of adequate housing, environmental degradation, financial scandals, industrial shrinkage and nuclear proliferation.

Proposing parole changes

One of the most difficult and costly issues facing modern society is the need for prisons and correctional services. Through years of review and refinement, and massive investment of public funds, the system of incarceration and rehabilitation has been generally effective. Unfortunately, however, there are times when the process tragically breaks down as it did in the parole of Ronald N. Fort.

Because the system failed so drastically in the case of Mr. Fort, who allegedly committed a second murder after being paroled for a killing fourteen years ago, I believe serious steps must be taken.

First, I have asked for the resignations of the members of the Parole Board who voted to grant the parole. After discussing with each of them their decision making process and the information on which they based their vote, I have concluded that is the best course of action; for them, for future potential parolees and for the state.

Second, I have directed members of my staff, the chair and vice chair of the Parole Board (both of whom were absent when the vote on Mr. Fort's case was taken) and the director of the Department of Correctional Services to examine the parole process and report on their findings.

Third, when their initial report is completed, further action will be considered in concert with members of the Legislature and Nebraska's law enforcement community.

Tragic happenings sometimes increase the priority assigned to situations that may not have enjoyed very high status in the past. Unfortunately, priority status also sometimes causes knee-jerk reactions and gamesmanship which don't always further the public policy process.

There are those who are now advocating construction of new prisons immediately and the discontinuation of the parole review process.

Nebraska's prisons are currently

One Nebraska Journal by Gov. Ben Nelson

operating at 148 percent of capacity and new prisons will take time to build. Prison housing alone costs nearly $50,000 per bed to construct. Discontinuing the parole process without consideration of factors involved in new prison construction would further jamb our prisons, increase the costs of incarceration beyond the roughly $18,000 we spend each year per offender, and could be dangerous to the public safety.

Earlier this year, I proposed to the Legislature that we begin planning for new prisons and consider financing their construction with cigarette tax funds which currently are used for other capital construction projects.

At the time, that was not an option members of the Legislature were willing to consider. In light of the recent tragic flaw in the parole process, there will likely be renewed interest in that concept.

The need for correctional facilities and rehabilitation services will always be with our society. Avoiding future potential flaws in the system will take planning and a commitment of resources that lawmakers and the people of Nebraska must be prepared to make; a commitment that will be in the best interest of Nebraska if it is made rationally and with the benefit of facts.

Buffalo hunt finds place in state history

A copy of an 1871 advertising poster recruiting English sportsmen for an autumn Nebraska buffalo hunt is in the collections of the Nebraska State Historical Society. The Burlington had recently completed its track from Plattsmouth to Kearney, and vigorously recruited European travelers. The sales pitch:

"A grand buffalo hunt will be held in September next on the prairies of Nebraska and Colorado, U.S.A., and through the magnificent valley of the Republican river, the rich alluvial feeding grounds of the buffalo.

"The Burlington and Missouri River Railroad company owns millions of acres, is one of the most wealthy corporations in the western states of America, and will assist this hunting party in every way in order that the sportsmen of England may see the western country, and on their return be able to corroborate the statements as the climate, resources, and the gigantic advancement made in so new a country.

"There are no hostile Indians in Nebraska whatever: friendly chiefs of the Otoes, Pawnees, and other tribes will accompany the party.

"Sportsmen will be provided with army tents and beds during the hunt. There will be servants to take care of the horses, and in fact all arrangements have been made to give the hunting party the greatest amount of pleasure with the least possible trouble.

"Wagons will be provided for the conveyance of any trophies of the chase, such as buffalo skins, elk horns and antlers in limited quantity.

"The sportsman has there a field of nature's own planting on which to roam in pursuit of his healthy and invigorating pleasures; and where can the lover of scenery find greater, grander, lovelier views than are to be found on the continent of America?

"Fare for the round trip of about seven weeks, including every expense except wines, liquors, cigars, guns, rifles, and ammunition, 90 guineas.

"The arrangements will be such as to admit of ladies joining the party, but the charge for ladies will be 100 guineas each." (A guinea is equal to one pound and one shilling in English currency.)

Wrist problems, the golf game and the accident-prone, powerless car

If there's one thing you don't want to do, it's make a right hand turn and not watch where you're driving. I found that out recently when I did just that and almost ran into one of Wayne's police cars.

The next week, Wayne Police Chief Vern Fairchild teased me about it.

I had it coming. You see, I've grown accustomed to driving a car with power steering. Since my car was (formerly) claimed by my wife, I was driving her car for a couple weeks. Needless to say, her car didn't have power anything. Today, the car I normally drive is back in my hands.

To make matters worse, I was attempting to be a friendly neighbor when I almost had the accident with the police car. One of our neighbors was walking across the street and by waving at her and turning the corner, I wasn't watching where I was going. It's that simple.

Chief Fairchild teasingly said maybe we need a stop sign at that corner. I didn't disagree with him but boy is it embarrassing to almost hit a police car.

I'm not kidding. This almost happened.

IF YOU EVER want to get a dirty look, come as close as you can to hitting a police car. The officer who was driving the car really sneered in my direction when the almost-accident occurred. I don't know if it was luck that kept me from getting a ticket or not but I sure breathed a sigh of relief when the whole thing was over.

Still, I could hear the thoughts racing through the policeman's head.

"That (blankety, blank) newspaper guy. He almost hit me. Mumble, mumble, mumble. @###@*#)(##*#&."

Mark'n' the Spot

by Mark Crist

I blame the almost-mishap on that stupid powerless car. Sure, the engine works but what good is an engine if you have power nothing? My response to the car was, "that (blankety, blank) car. Mumble, mumble. #$(**%)#+@.

My response to the police officer was, "thank you. Thank you. Thank you, for not pulling me over and writing me a ticket."

RECENTLY, I had to go to the doctor with a sore wrist. My right wrist had been giving me fits the past two weeks and I couldn't figure out why.

The doctor told me that it might be from golfing but if that was the case, why didn't it show up earlier in the summer, I asked him.

Then, I told him I was driving that powerless car that has an engine that works fine.

He said that might be the cause of my problem.

To quote him directly, he said, "that may be the cause of your problem."

So I blamed it on the car. It couldn't be my golf game since it was labor day weekend and I had golf on my agenda the entire weekend. It had to be that car. That stupid powerless car with an engine that works fine hurt my wrist.

I must have injured my wrist while attempting to avoid the police car. That's got to be it.

Story about Flight 232

Former Wayne man in TV movie

It didn't take much for former Wayne resident Greg Walsh to decide he wanted to try out for a part in the upcoming movie "1,000 Heroes", but when he auditioned, he didn't know if he'd get a part. After all, over 1,000-people applied for rights to appear in the show.

Much to Walsh's surprise, however, was the phone call he received from Glendale Productions to play a role of an extra in the show after returning from a vacation in Chicago with his daughters. He will be a radio control tower operator.

"1,000 HEROES" is the story about Flight 232 from Denver to Chicago which crashed in Sioux City over two years ago. The crash was caused by the loss of the hydraulic system due to rear engine failure. By the way the plane was forced to land, it was a miracle anyone survived but 185 lived through the crash.

"The title of this movie stands up for itself: '1,000 Heroes,' he says. 'It just wasn't one person but it was everybody working together as a team. That included people not only from Sioux City but from around Siouxland.'

Pretty soon, he'll be rubbing shoulders with movie and TV greats Charlton Heston, Richard Thomas and James Coburn.

"It's exciting to believe that I'll be working with people as great as Kevin Costner," he said. "I grew up watching all three on TV but it will be hard knowing that you're working with TV and movie greats."

WALSH, WHO lived in Wayne from 1982-83 and again from approximately 1986-89, currently lives in Sioux City. Although professional acting was never in his career plans, he admits it's something he's always wanted to try. Aside from trying his hand at acting, he works as a private investigator and as a doorman at Club 201.

When Glendale Productions called Walsh, they informed him that he had been typecast for either a firefighter, a pilot, an air traffic controller or a crash scene victim. Walsh, along with his daughters Shawna, 5, and Erin, 3, had submitted a questionnaire with photographs for the chance to be in the show.

"The thing I like about this movie is that they're using real people," he said. "They're using many of the same people who had to deal with the crash when it happened. That's really nice."

The shooting of the made-for-TV movie is to begin Monday, Sept. 9. It will air sometime next fall.

Army Corp of Engineers applies for wetlands advice

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will apply guidance contained in the 1987 Corps Wetland Delineation Manual (1987 Manual) to identify and delineate wetlands potentially subject to regulation under Section 404 of the Clean Water Act until revisions to the Federal Manual for Identifying and Delineating Jurisdictional Wetlands (1989 Manual) are finalized.

The transition from the 1989 Manual to the 1987 Manual is directed by the 1992 Energy and Water Development Appropriation Act, which provides corps funding for civil works projects and its regulatory program. The act was signed by President Bush on Aug. 17.

Permit applicants and individuals with enforcement cases who have pending actions with the corps as of Aug. 17, 1991, must be given the option of redelineation under the 1987 Manual. After consultation with appropriate parties, the corps will make the final decision as to whether a substantial difference exists between delineations under the 1987 and 1989 manuals.

Also, all first-time delineations from Aug. 17, 1991, until the revisions to the 1989 Manual are finalized through rule-making, will be made with the 1987 Manual. Proposed revisions to the 1989 Manual were published in the Aug. 14 "Federal Register," beginning a 60-day public comments period.

In addition to restrictions on the use of the 1989 Manual, the appropriation act also disallows use of funds for the implementation of the proposed regulatory fee structure, as published in the Oct. 11, 1991, "Federal Register." The Army will take no further action, at this time, on the proposal to amend regulatory fees.

Copies of the proposed revised Manual can be obtained from the Environmental Protection Agency wetlands Hotline at 800-832-7828. Hotline representatives can also provide referrals for answers to questions about the revised manual.

Economic contributions of hospitals to communities very important to many of Nebraska's rural areas

Smaller rural communities that have a hospital need to develop a greater appreciation of the economic contribution the hospital makes to the community, according to two Nebraska economists. Professor Keith Turner of the University of Nebraska at Omaha (UNO) and Professor Fran Mallory of Dana College in Blair report that rural hospitals are more important to the community's economy than usually is perceived.

In a presentation to groups of business leaders and concerned citizens last month in Ord, the researchers emphasized that hospitals bring in outside money that otherwise would not be available. The income to hospitals in the form of medicare and medicare reimbursement payments are an important source of cash inflow to small towns. Hospitals receive government payments from "outside" and recirculate this income in the local communities through payroll and other expenditures. This spending is multiplied at least twice by the economic "multiplier." Hence one dollar brought in creates at least two dollars of income as it circulates.

"Rural economic development," said Turner and Mallory, "is a constant battle between leakages and injections. Those communities that bring in outside money (injections) to offset money leaving the community to be spent elsewhere (leakages) are the ones that grow.

The communities that leak out more than they bring in decline."

Professors Turner and Mallory have analyzed the factors that led to the closure of five rural hospitals in Nebraska in the past five years and have conducted extensive interviews with many smaller hospitals in rural areas. They report that many creative and hard-working administrators are engaging in some noteworthy efforts to maintain good quality health care in small hospitals, but are not enjoying support from local hospital boards, county boards or local citizens. Turner indicates that many people in small towns do not think about how hospitals are different from other businesses. Hospitals frequently are not on mainstreet and often are not seen as an "economic player." This is very frustrating, Mallory pointed out, since hospitals often are the forgotten payroll when in fact they frequently are the largest payroll in small towns or even in the entire area.

Hospitals not only employ a large number of people and generate an important payroll, but also buy goods and services from local businesses. Most important, however, is the fact that hospitals receive funds from the outside as an injection. This injection is similar in nature to the farm program payments received from the government under the 1985 farm program.

Another important role of hospitals, according to the two researchers, involves the outflow of dollars spent by patients when they go to another hospital in a larger town. The Medicare money then also goes to the larger town. An additional outflow occurs when family and friends travel to visit the patient in larger hospitals. Local hospitals, if they provide good services for the residents, stem this outflow of patient and visitor spending. This retardation of outflow is very important since any injection or leakage triggers the multiplier. In the community that suffers the leakage, the effect of the leakage is magnified. The inflow to the larger hospital generates the multiplier there. The support that a community gives to its local hospital should be regarded as an investment not only because it helps maintain quality health care, but because it also helps maintain the economic viability of the town. Hospitals themselves serve as an engine for economic development.

According to Turner and Mallory, Chambers of Commerce and economic development committees need to strengthen their working relationships with the hospital committees. In an earlier study on the relationship between chambers of commerce and hospitals, only half of the communities that had both a hospital and a chamber reported working together. The professors point out that if local business leaders understand the contribution of hospitals, they can educate county supervisors and hospital board members to actively work to support them. The members of hospital boards need to have business skills and can understand the economics and finances of the hospital and the impact of related health care businesses on the community.

Turner and Mallory plan to deliver a series of workshops to interested community leaders to further explain how the hospital stimulates the local economy. They also are working with some hospitals to help them develop the statistical information needed to demonstrate their economic importance.

Chinese pigs get high marks

Pork from Chinese swine is just as tasty as meat from American pigs, U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists report.

That's the word from the United States' first comprehensive sensory panel tests on the meat from Chinese hogs, conducted by Agricultural Research Service scientists at the Roman L. Hruska U.S. Meat Animal Research Center (MARC) at Clay Center.

"You can sum it up in one sentence: There's no difference between the taste of Chinese pork and domestic pork," said ARS meat scientist Tommy L. Wheeler.

Three breeds of swine — Meishan, Fegging and Minzhu — were imported from the People's Republic of China in 1989 for students of their genetic potential to increase swine production in the United States.

Known for their prolificacy, the Chinese breeds average three to four more pigs per litter than U.S. breeds. Clay Center researchers are working to combine the increased litter size of Chinese pigs with the growth and meat production of domestic swine breeds to increase saleable lean meat.

"We're getting an idea of how much Chinese germplasm is useful in a market hog to produce larger litters and still keep the taste consumers want," said Lawrence D.

Young, a MARC geneticist on the Chinese swine project.

Boars from the three Chinese breeds and the domestic Duroc breed were mated to White composite females (equal parts of Landrace, Chester White, Yorkshire and Large White breeds).

A trained sensory panel found no differences in juiciness, amount of connective tissue, flavor intensity or tenderness of chops from the four breed cross groups, according to Wheeler. The researchers also found that shear force values, an objective measure of tenderness, were the same for the breed crosses. Marbling of the Chinese-cross pork was slightly less than that of the Duroc-cross, but not enough to affect juiciness or flavor. The fatter Chinese-sired pigs had about 17 percent less lean meat than Duroc-sired pigs.

TIPS FOR BETTER SLEEP

If you have difficulty sleeping, you may be able to help yourself by following some simple steps.

1. Go to bed at the same time and get up at the same time.
2. Avoid stimulants such as caffeine, nicotine and some cold remedies.
3. Avoid alcohol before bedtime.
4. A light snack before bedtime is OK but don't go to bed immediately after a large meal.
5. Avoid strenuous exercise just before bedtime.
6. Your bedroom should be dark, quiet and the right temperature.
7. Set aside time before bedtime to mentally unwind.
8. Don't lie in bed and try to plan tomorrow's activities.

Wildcats lose gridiron opener, 46-27

Wayne State falls victim to Mo. West air assault

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne State football team opened up the 1991 season campaign in St. Joseph, MO Saturday night against Missouri Western and it was a beginning that head coach Dennis Wagner and his staff would like to forget.

The Wildcats were thumped 46-27 by the host Griffons in front of 3900 fans. The final score however, was not indicative of the type of game it really was. WSC came out on the opening drive and marched 64 yards for a touchdown culminating with an eight-yard pass to Marlon Goolsby despite the fact that the first play of the game was a 31-yard pass play negated by an illegal motion call. Following the Blain Branscum extra point the Cats' held a 7-0 lead.

Missouri Western however, was not intimidated by the score as they took the ball at their own 26 yard line and went 74 yards in just four plays to tie the game. The Griffons scored on a 32-yard pass from Joe Reid to Terren Adams.

WSC was held on the next series and punter Adam Valencia kicked the ball to the 24-yard line where the Griffons took over for the second time of the game. This time the host team marched 76 yards in seven plays which culminated in a three-yard run by Dameon Kazee. The extra point attempt however, failed which left Missouri Western with a 13-7 lead.

WSC started its third possession of the game on their own 37 and the Cats' needed just five plays to punch the ball into the endzone as Troy Mott connected with Goolsby on a would be touchdown pass of 53 yards, except Goolsby was jarred loose from the ball around the 10-yard line and teammate Lee Harper fell on the loose ball in the endzone for the touchdown. Branscum connected on the point after to give WSC a 14-13 lead after one quarter of play.

Although the Wildcats were hit with several first quarter penalties they were still having success against the Griffon defense. Offensively however, the host team was virtually having their way with the Wildcats defense.

The second and third quarters belonged to Missouri Western as they scored 27 unanswered points to lead 40-14 heading into the final 15 minutes. Troyce Gill ran one in from five yards out with 11:44 remaining in the first half to give the Griffons a 19-14 lead which followed an interception. James Whitley was the recipient of a 22-yard pass from Reid with 8:47 remaining in the first half and the extra point kick was good which gave the hosts a 26-14 lead.

Later in the second quarter the Wildcats took over possession of the ball at the 20-yard line when the Missouri Western field goal kicker missed a 20-yard attempt. WSC moved the ball down to the three yard line of the Griffons where they had fourth down and one with just over a minute to go before the intermission. The Wildcats went for it on fourth down and fumbled it away which kept the score at 26-14 at the break.

In the third quarter Missouri Western took the opening kickoff to the 41 yard line where they needed seven plays before they hit paydirt. The point after was good and the host team found themselves up by a 33-14 score with 12:35 remaining in the third period.

On Wayne State's first possession of the second half Mott was intercepted by Glenn Dubois who returned it 52 yards for a touchdown which made the score 40-14 with the point after.

In the fourth quarter WSC scored on a 41-yard pass from Mott to Lee Harper with Branscum connecting on the point after. Missouri Western's final score came on a six-yard pass from Mark Ramstack to Chris Holt. WSC scored on a three-yard pass to Goolsby from Mott with just 10 seconds remaining in the game to round out the scoring.

"Missouri Western is a much improved offensive team," Wagner said. "They brought in what they needed from junior college's including running backs, receivers and a quarterback."

Wagner however, was not convinced that Missouri Western was much better than his Wildcats. "I'm not taking anything away from the Griffons," Wagner said. "They came ready to play with enthusiasm and we didn't. We were ready to play physically but not mentally. We were inside the Missouri Western 10-yard line three different times and we came away with no points."

Wagner said that his staff was a little concerned about the Cats' opener during the week when the squad kept making mental mistakes in practice. "We just looked like we showed up to go through the motions," Wagner said. "I think we thought it was going to be a walk through game and it wasn't."

"Overall, I was disappointed with our effort. I think football is a game of three E's: Effort, Enthusiasm and Emotion. We showed up and weren't ready to go. The team was lethargic all week in practice, and we didn't overcome that. We have to make an effort to practice in order to be successful in the games," Wagner added.

Wagner said that offensively the squad played well at times and that was evident by scoring touchdowns on two of the first three possessions. "We played alright on offense for about a quarter and a half and then things started bogging down," Wagner said. "We had three interceptions which all resulted in touchdowns."

In the statistical category Wayne State finished with 21 first downs while Missouri Western had 22. The Cats' rushed the ball 39 times for 165 yards while the host team carried it 43 times for 162 yards.

Quarterback Troy Mott in his first game as a Wildcat was 21-35 in the passing department with three interceptions and three touchdowns and 244 yards. The signal caller also rushed the ball 14 times for 84 yards giving him 328 all purpose yards.

Missouri Western was 16-24 in the passing department with no interceptions and three touchdowns and 326 total yards. The Wildcats suffered 11 penalties for 80 yards and punter Adam Valencia averaged 40 yards per kick in four punts. WSC was 4-13 in third down conversions while Missouri Western was 7-14.

Mott was the Wildcats leading rusher with 84 yards while Adam Valencia rushed 19 times for 69 yards. Lee Harper gained 10 yards on four carries and Clint Williams rushed the ball twice for two yards.

Marlon Goolsby was the Wildcats leading receiver with six catches for 89 yards and two touchdowns. Lee Harper caught two passes for 73 yards and one touchdown and Mario Gonzalez caught three passes for 23 yards. Dave Mentzer was on the receiving end of two catches for 17 yards and Adam Valencia picked up 15 yards on five receptions. Bill Blondin and Tom Kleespies each caught one ball.

Defensively, the Wildcats were led by Bob Sterba's 13 tackles. Jerry Kleidosty finished with 10 while Mike Kennedy and Terry Bear were each credited with eight stops. Rick Starling finished with six tackles and Brad Otis had four including one for a five yard loss.

Otis also had one of three WSC quarterback sacks for a minus 12 yards. Sterba also had a quarterback sack for a minus six yards and Jeff Lutt had the third quarterback sack for a minus four yards to go along with his four tackles. Scott Yokoun also had four tackles for the Wildcats.

"Defensively I didn't think we did a good job of putting pressure on the quarterback," Wagner said. "We were disappointed in our defensive line effort which we felt would be a strong suit on our team and we still do think it will be one of our strengths."

"We just have to be more aggressive. We can't rely on the defensive success we had last year to get the job done. Just because you may finish among the leaders in tackles for a game doesn't mean you played a great game," Wagner added. "We played passive defense after Missouri Western's first score. We were on our heels all the time."

WSC will now focus on Saturday night's game against UNO at Al Caniglia Field in Omaha. "They (UNO) will be excited to see us roll into town after last year's game," Wagner said. "This is a new year. We have to be ready to play every down but we also feel we have a legitimate chance to win this game if we execute and play with the three E's I've already mentioned."

Wagner said UNO has the majority of its team back from a year ago and that their front three on defense will be among the best the Wildcats see all season.

"UNO has a veteran offensive line and a lot of running backs," Wagner said. "They have a defense that is always very good. Their trademark is ball pursuit and they do it very well."

Senseless destruction

THE WAYNE GOLF course recently came under some senseless destruction when a few idiots decided to tear up number 15 green. The incident is being investigated by the Wayne Police Department. Wayne Country Club is offering a reward for the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the damages. All information replies will be kept confidential.

All-American

Booster Club selling 'Gold Cards'

WAYNE-The Wayne Booster Club will be selling the "Gold Card" all this week and next. The cost is $6 per card and the seventh and eighth grade classes of Dan Johnson will be selling them with the profits going toward the athletic fund at Wayne High School.

The "Gold Card" gives the consumer a reduction or special prices at 20 different businesses in Wayne and the specials are good for one full year. Those interested in purchasing a "Gold Card" but are not contacted by the seventh and eighth grade classes of Dan Johnson can contact Vicki Pick or Bob Dyer.

FM station joins WSC network

WAYNE-Nebraska's biggest FM station recently joined the Wayne State Wildcat Sports Network, according to Wildcat Sports Network Producer Lyndon Wieseman.

KZEN-FM radio (KZ-100) of Central City will broadcast five Wayne State football games this fall, joining flagship station KTCH-AM/FM of Wayne as Wayne State Wildcat Sports Network affiliates.

"The opportunity to have KZ-100 join our network is a positive step in the right direction toward serving KZ-100, Wayne State, and the northeast Nebraska region," Wieseman said. "We proudly welcome Nebraska's biggest FM station into Wildcat country."

Veteran sportscaster Mark Ahmann will provide play-by-play for all eleven WSC football games for the network. All Wildcat football games, both home and away, will be broadcast on flagship station KTCH AM/FM of Wayne.

Area youth place in Heavy Hitters

WAYNE-Seven-year-old Brad Hochstein of Wayne captured first place in the Nebraska Jaycees Heavy Hitters contest on the state level. A total of seven Wayne youths participated and all did very well placing in the top 15 of their respective age groups.

Adam Jorgensen placed seventh in the eight-year-old division while Ryan Haase placed 11th in the nine-year-old category. Ryan Dahl placed 11th in the 10-year-old division and Matt Meyer placed 11th in the 11-year-old category. Jeremiah Rethwisch placed in the top 15 in the 12-year-old division and Jamey Holdorf placed 13th in the 13-year-old category. The top 10 in each division received medals.

Mau in running for honor

WAYNE-Former Kearney State volleyball standout player Jenni Mau of Lincoln has been selected as a NCAA Woman of the Year award-winner by Hanes Her Way.

Mau, along with 52 other winners, one each representing the 50 states, Washington, D.C. and Puerto Rico, has now advanced to the finals of the competition and is eligible to be named the NCAA Woman of the Year on Oct. 30.

The award involves all NCAA institutions and all women's sports. Award competition balances academic achievement, athletic accomplishment and community service: A national panel of sports journalists will narrow the list of 52 to ten finalists from which the Woman of the Year will be selected.

Mau, who was a member of the Lady Lopers' 40-1 squad last year, was named to the second team NCAA Division II District VII Academic All-American team. She is the granddaughter of Hazel Mau and Dean and Margaret Schram of Wayne.

Seating changes for Wayne opener

WAYNE-There will be some seating changes for this Friday's opening high school game for Wayne High. Because of construction on the west stadium they will seal that area off.

Seating then will be limited to one third of the west stadium and all of the east stadium. There will still be seating in the west stadium for about 800 people.

WSC spikers off on right foot

WAYNE-The Wayne State volleyball team opened up the 1991 season with a straight sets victory over host Dana College of Blair Tuesday night. Nancy Clark's squad won by scores of 15-7, 15-13, 15-13.

"We looked pretty good," Clark said. "We were a little slow but we are still getting used to our new offense." Shelly Lueders led the team with 13 kill spikes while Tracy Kuester and Cori Weinfurter led the team in serve receive with a 20-23 and 18-21 performance respectively.

"Probably the most important thing we were happy with is that our transfer setter Shannon Dunning did an excellent job of running the offense," Clark said. "She also had a couple of kill spikes."

WSC will host Hastings College in action Thursday night in Rice Auditorium.

WSC reserves to play Sunday

WAYNE-The Wayne State Wildcats reserve football team will be in action for the first time Sunday at Memorial Field in Wayne against Iowa Central. Action is slated to begin at 1 p.m.

Blitz week gets underway Sunday, Sept. 8 with international literacy day and it will end Saturday, Sept. 14. A variety of activities will be advertised in the next few days.

The Farmer's Wife

By Pat Meierhenry

It's a warm, windy Labor Day. We are still running the air conditioner. Silage cutting is in full swing. We're enjoying fresh tomatoes and potatoes and cantaloupe and melons, crickets and spiders are moving in.

We've watched in amazement as communism has literally collapsed. Secretary of State Baker said it best, "once the genie of freedom is let out of the bottle, you can't get it back in." As we feast on our steaks and pork chops, we contemplate the lack of groceries in Russia.

I read a story about the shopper who poked her head into the government grocery store and said, "You have no meat?" The shopkeeper replied, "Wrong store. We have no vegetables!"

The Big Farmer and I observed the old grey Buick turning over 200,000 miles this week, in a solemn moment of silence. The Ford is up to 192,000. I've literally worn out two cars in Home Health Care.

But what a rich, rewarding experience it's been to bring nursing care to folks in their own homes; getting to know their families and pets, look at their photos, marvel at their knitting, and sharing a cup of coffee after the treatment.

WE ATTENDED a baby shower for Sue this weekend. Yes, we are finally going to be grandparents!

We only have two more months to wait, and I'm beginning to allow myself to get excited.

Reading Mark and Rhonda Crist's experiences has only made me more impatient. I'm sure I'll be just as overwhelmed by a grandchild as I was with a child.

I've been ready for grandchildren for years. Most of our friends and relatives have them. I've admired so many snapshots, and listened to so many stories.

I've kept all the Fisher Price toys. I still have a playpen and an old high chair. The Big Farmer found an old wicker bassinet at a garage sale, and I'm renovating it. Watching the lady in maternity clothes opening all the pink and blue wrapped packages gave me a sense of wonderment, again. How did all the years go by so quickly? They just had a shower for me the other day!

For your sakes, I will try to restrain myself when the day finally arrives. But you know how grandmothers are!

Music Boosters plan magazine sale

WAYNE - The Wayne Music Boosters will start on their annual magazine sale Monday, Oct. 9. The sale will run through Oct. 29. "Our children benefit greatly from this program," says Bonnie Fluent, who is helping to organize the drive. "It does not cost any more than you would ordinarily spend to renew the magazine you carry. All special offers our coupons may be used when purchasing or renewing your subscriptions."

According to Fluent, 40 percent of the purchase price of each magazine is returned to the music boosters and is used for purchasing uniforms, choir robes, trips and to defray other music expenses.

Program on how to impact laws

AREA - The University of Nebraska Extension is offering a program, entitled "Laws That Impact Our Lives," on Monday, Sept. 9 at 1:30 p.m. at the Northeast Research and Extension Center near Concord.

The program is designed to teach participants the policy making process so they can maximize their influence on government decisions.

Obituaries

Frank Prawitz

Frank Prawitz, 93, of Wayne died Friday, Aug. 30, 1991 at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Services were held Tuesday, Sept. 3 at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne. The Rev. Jeff Anderson and the Rev. Merle Mahnken officiated.

Frank William Prawitz, the son of August and Anna Lehman Prawitz, was born Jan. 24, 1898 on a farm in Cuming County. He was baptized at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church in Pilger and confirmed at St. Peter's Lutheran Church in Pilger. He attended school near Pilger. He married Esther Glaser on Feb. 15, 1939 at St. John's Lutheran Church parsonage in Pilger. The couple farmed in Cuming County for 10 years before moving to a farm three miles east of Winside and retiring to Wayne in 1963. He was a member of Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

Survivors include his wife, Esther of Wayne; one daughter, Mrs. Nancy Sivill of South Sioux City; two grandchildren, Monica Sivill of San Francisco, Calif. and Bart Sivill of Lincoln; and one sister, Frieda Glaubius of Norfolk.

He was preceded in death by three brothers and four sisters.

Pallbearers were Willard Prawitz, Charles Bergstrom, Clifford Koch, Lee Tramp, Robert Glaser and Stanley Kruse.

Burial was in the Pilger Cemetery with the Schumacher-McBride-Wiltse Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Roy Sundell

Roy Sundell, 99, of Wakefield died Saturday, Aug. 31, 1991 in the Wakefield Care Center.

Services were held Tuesday, Sept. 3 at the Salem Lutheran Church in Wakefield. The Rev. Kip Tyler officiated.

Roy S. Sundell, the son of John and Helen Peterson Sundell, was born Nov. 14, 1891 at Wakefield. He was baptized and confirmed at Salem Lutheran Church. He attended Wakefield High School and the Lutheran College Academy in Wahoo. He married Mamie Anderson on March 26, 1919. The couple resided south of Wakefield. He owned and operated the land that has been in the Sundell family for over 100 years. He was an active livestock producer and feeder. He was honored many times for his interest in raising livestock and his unusual techniques demonstrated in land conservation. He had a dedicated interest in the community, church and school as he was an active fund raiser for the Wakefield Hospital, an officer in Salem Lutheran Church and a member of the District 13 school board. The couple built a home and moved to Wakefield in 1953.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Joe (Dorothy) Von Gundy of Green Valley, Ariz. and Mrs. Dale (Jean) Tinstman of Lincoln; one sister, Helen Sundell of Wakefield; five grandchildren; 11 great grandchildren; nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his wife in November, 1990; one brother, Clyde; and two sisters, Myrtle Sundell and Edna Johnson.

Pallbearers were Lowell, Alan and Glenn Johnson, Keith and Robert Krueger, Tom Gustafson, Kirk Busby and Dr. Tom Tinstman.

Burial was in the Wakefield Cemetery with Bressler-Humlicek Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Memorials may be given to Salem Lutheran Church or to the Wakefield Health Care Center.

Mildred Johnson

Mildred Johnson, 94, of Wakefield died Saturday, Aug. 31, 1991 at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Services were held Wednesday, Sept. 4 at the Salem Lutheran Church in Wakefield. The Rev. Kip Tyler officiated.

Mildred Anna Johnson, the daughter of Charles and Ida Johnson Lundberg, was born Jan. 26, 1897 in Wakefield. She attended rural school and was confirmed at Salem Lutheran Church. She married Erick G. Johnson on March 9, 1920 at Omaha. The couple farmed near Wakefield until 1969. She was a member of Salem Lutheran Church and was active in the Lutheran Church Women and Wakefield Hospital Auxiliary. She assisted in the making of many quilts for the Lutheran World Relief.

Survivors include one daughter, Adelyn of Long Beach, Calif.; one brother, Rudolph Lundberg of Wakefield; and two nieces.

She was preceded in death by her husband on Feb. 3, 1972 and one sister, Ada Dahlgren.

Pallbearers were Joe Keagle, Paul Burman, Aldeh Johnson, Jim Gustafson, Al Hitz and Alvin Sundell.

Burial was in the Wakefield Cemetery with Bressler-Humlicek Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Rudolph 'Rudy' Kai

Goldenrod Hills officials head to national meeting

Goldenrod Hills Community Services in Wisner has been asked to present information on two topics at the National Association of Community Action Agencies conference in Seattle Sept. 3-6. Jim Deitloff, Executive Director and Corrie Kieley, Drug Free Project Administrator will be presenting information on Goldenrod's drug free program and setting goals for the future.

This year's conference theme is "Agenda 2000: New Challenges and New Realities." On Sept. 4, Mr. Deitloff has been asked to give a presentation based on strategic goals to assist communities in preventing substance abuse into the year 2000.

Mr. Deitloff will talk about the challenge alcohol and other drug abuse poses to our health care system, national costs, and our ever increasing service oriented society. The Community Action agencies have the local, regional, and national outreach personnel to provide drug prevention programs at all age levels, from the WIC program, through Head Start, Family Planning/Papenting, Community Resource Utilization and at the Senior Center Level.

Sept. 5, Mr. Deitloff and Ms. Kieley will present an overview of the Northeast Nebraska Intervention/Prevention Project. This is a drug free project that Goldenrod Hills has been coordinating for two years.

This brings services to youth, parents, and other community members through a three year grant that combines drug intervention and prevention services. This project provides services to more communities than any other funded nationally in that period.

Currently, Bancroft/Rosalie, Battle Creek, Bloomfield, Creighton, Crofton, Elgin, Emerson/Hubbard, Hartington, Madison, Neligh, Norfolk, Plainview, Tilden, Stanton, South Sioux City, Wayne, West Point, Wynot, and Verdigris have all received some training from this project.

WAYNE STATE COLLEGE PROFESSOR Dennis Linster demonstrates how the electronic bulletin board works. The system allows the college or local business persons to transmit extensive data anywhere in the nation and to parts of the globe.

System offers look at future

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

If you want to have your mind boggled, talk to Wayne State's Dennis Linster about the college's electronic bulletin board.

Wayne State College's bulletin board provides the community with a national and international link of information by way of a massive data file.

For instance, a year ago when then-Provost Dr. Donald Whisenhunt had completed editing information for the 1990 World Book Encyclopedia, the information had to be to Florida immediately.

Since sending the information via facsimile was unrealistic and the mail wasn't fast enough, he turned to the WSC bulletin board and in 15 minutes, one complete section of the encyclopedia was in the hands of World Book officials.

THE BULLETIN board operates off three IBM computers. Information is transmitted via a modem, connected with telephone lines.

Each computer has its own telephone line and information is transmitted via telephone. Messages and information in the system can also be picked up by businesses or households if they link up with the electronic bulletin board. All it takes is a computer hooked into a modem and a live telephone line.

"Let's say somebody in Laurel wants to give somebody in Wayne a data file," Linster said. "They can call one of these lines and through the bulletin board, they can transfer the information across the phone lines. Then the people in Wayne can retrieve the information."

While the system is similar to a fax machine, where hard copy is transmitted via telephone lines, it differs in that the information is transmitted from computer disk to computer disk and is only retrievable on computers hooked into the system. If necessary, data can then be printed with the use of a printer or a laser writer.

PEOPLE WHO are hooked into the system can also get information from other places in the nation on a regular basis or they can retrieve information from various locations throughout the world. For instance, people who study the German language can retrieve information in German. Unfortunately, however, the information cannot be transmitted in German and then have the computer compose it into English.

Transmissions are not interactive, which means they don't go two ways. So if you want to converse with the sender back and fourth, it has to be done through one-way transmissions. People, however, can go into the Echo program and leave a message if they want to open a dialogue.

"People can converse with others outside or northeast Nebraska with people all over the country," Linster said. "It is rapidly becoming a very popular way to communicate."

WAYNE STATE'S bulletin board system is tied into a state-wide network, which is run out of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. UNL's system is linked into a system out of a Dallas, Texas suburb. From Dallas, it goes to New York and San Francisco. Information is transmitted via codes, similar to telephone numbers.

Information with the University of Nebraska system is constantly being exchanged. At midnight each day, the Wayne State system transmits information to the UNL system and vice-versa. It is a general exchange program which connects Wayne State with the nation and the world.

"This gives people in this area a tremendous opportunity for people to communicate," Linster said. "The advantage for most people is that it's quick, it's easy and to a certain extent, it's live. We can basically deliver a message to anyone in the state instantaneously."

Area communities see NPPD returns

Two hundred and one Nebraska cities and towns are receiving $6.1 million as a result of agreements leasing their electric distribution systems to the Nebraska Public Power District, according to Wayne E. Boyd of South Sioux City, member of the NPPD board of directors.

Area communities which will receive funds include: Hoskins, $8,747.65; Allen, $11,343.62; Concord, $4,202.33; and Dixon, $3,131.83.

The money represents one-half of the annual payments made by NPPD under terms of the lease agreements. The payments are for the first half of 1991. The money may be used by the community any way it desires.

NPPD operates the electric system and makes all additions and improvements to the property to maintain efficient service. NPPD pays the community 12 percent of the adjusted gross revenues realized within the corporate limits.

The money turned over to cities and towns by NPPD at this time does not include the annual 5 percent in-lieu-of-tax payments required by state law.

In addition to the money realized, the agreement between NPPD and the communities provide for a one-third discount on the electricity consumed by governmental agencies within the corporate limits.

Board reaffirms position

The board of education, Wayne Public Schools, district 17, wishes to reaffirm its position that all children ages 0-21 in the Wayne-Carroll School district regardless of their handicapping condition are entitled to a free appropriate public education and an equal opportunity for education according to the individual's needs.

The board assumes the responsibility to assure that handicapped children are identified, evaluated and verified, and are provided or contracted for program services for all resident handicapped children who benefit from such programs.

If you have a child or know of a child which may require special education, contact Bob Uhing at 375-2230.

Cattlemen schedule fall meeting

The Northeast Nebraska Area Cattlemen will hold their fall outlook meeting Monday, Sept. 9 at the Black Knight steak house in Wayne. Social hour is at 6:30 p.m. with the meeting at 7:30 p.m.

The First National Bank of Lyons and Walco International Health Products of Fremont will sponsor the social hour.

Those participating in the outlook program will be Doug Friendli of First National Bank of Lyons and Logan McClelland of Logan Limited Feedyard in Allen. Winners of the market guesses will also be announced.

All members, wives and guests are welcome to attend.

For further information, contact Gale Lander, president of the Northeast Nebraska Cattlemen group in Pender at 385-3176.

Company names Dam to area post

Dave Dam has been appointed District Sales Manager for Golden Harvest/ J.C. Robinson Seed Company of Waterloo. He is responsible for overseeing all Golden Harvest sales-related activities for ten counties in northeast Nebraska: Dixon, Dakota, Thurston, Burt, Wayne, Stanton, Cumings, Dodge, Colfax, and Washington.

Dam is a 1991 graduate of University of Nebraska-Lincoln in agricultural education. His hometown is Hooper. He and Michelle Landholm are planning a Nov. 9 wedding.

Dam is replacing District Sales Manager Floyd Geiser upon Geiser's retirement in November.

The J.C. Robinson Seed Company is a founding member of Golden Harvest Seeds, Inc. an association of five family-owned seed firms, who develop, produce, and market Golden Harvest hybrid corn, sorghum, soybean, and alfalfa throughout the Cornbelt.

Allen burying time capsule

ALLEN - All persons who assisted with Allen's centennial observance are invited to attend an appreciation barbecue on Friday, Sept. 13 from 5 to 7:30 p.m. at the Allen fire hall. The date for the barbecue was changed from Sept. 6 to Sept. 13 to correspond with Allen High School's first home football game.

The centennial time capsule will also be buried that evening at 6:30 p.m. under the bell in Heritage Park. Envelopes for the capsule may still be purchased for $5 at the Village Office on Monday through Friday during the morning hours.

Persons purchasing an envelope to be buried with the capsule are asked to place family items and mementos in them. Plans call for the capsule to be opened in 2041.

Ikes slate work night at lake

WAYNE - The Wayne Izaak Waltons will hold a work night at the lake Monday, Sept. 9 at 6 p.m.

All Izaak Waltons members are encouraged to attend.

LENRD eyes nitrate levels

High levels of nitrate-nitrogen in groundwater are being detected in parts of northeast Nebraska. In 1990, the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District targeted an area east of the city of Pierce for irrigation well sampling.

The majority of the wells sampled in 1990 and 1991 contained water at or over the 10 parts per million (ppm) maximum contaminant level for nitrate-nitrogen.

In an effort to further explain these results and to suggest practices to reduce this problem, the Lower Elkhorn NRD, University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service and the USDA Soil Conservation Service in Pierce County are sponsoring the Third Water Quality Tour.

The tour will leave from Gilman Park, four blocks east and one block north of Highways 13 and 98, in Pierce at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 24.

The stops on the tour will include a nitrogen management and irrigation scheduling demonstration northeast of Weetown, a wetland

Anderson at meeting

John Anderson of Wayne was among 11 Farm Bureau community leaders who met in Lincoln Aug. 27-28 to discuss ways to promote and serve Nebraska agriculture.

Members of Nebraska Farm Bureau's Advisory Committee on Programs and Finances reviewed progress on current agricultural programs, discussed new programs, evaluated Farm Bureau's five-year strategic plan and looked over financial projections based on anticipated membership growth.

Anderson, a member of the Wayne County Farm Bureau, is a member of the Nebraska Farm Bureau's board of directors.

area where Corps of Engineers and Soil Conservation Service personnel will be available to answer questions, and Willow Creek State Recreation Area where Lower Elkhorn NRD staff will discuss the Pierce County nitrate-nitrogen analysis results, the LENRD Deep Soil Sampling and Water Analysis Cost Share Program, and the Clean Lakes Study.

The tour will conclude back at the park at 8 p.m. with a meal provided by the Battle Creek Coop.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The retiring officers and the newly elected officers of the Allen Alumni Association met together last week to give reports, office information and duties. A detailed report was given on the centennial alumni banquet, in which 900 were served. It was decided to keep in touch with alumni by sending a newsletter in the near future with information of the alumni and centennial events.

The association is hoping that the alumni will cooperate in keeping their address current. Any address change should be sent to Rita Mattes at Waterbury. The retiring and new officers voted to present $1,000 to the Allen Public School Foundation, established this past year for the purpose to receive and allocate funds to promote quality education in the Allen Public Schools with the funds received to provide supplemental funds for the benefit of students, staff and community.

Foundation board members are Dale Jackson, Stan McAfee, Marcy Roebler and John Werner. Allen Alumni Association retiring officers are Duane Koester, president; Chris Isom, vice president; Barb Strivens, secretary; and Doris Linafelter, treasurer. Newly elected officers are Sally Lubberstedt, president; Wayne Jones, vice president; Rita Mattes, secretary; and Gaylen Jackson, treasurer.

RESCUE SQUAD CALLED

The Allen rescue squad was called twice last week. They went to the Vic Carpenter home in Allen Tuesday morning where he had fallen and injured his shoulder. He was taken in the unit to Marian Health Care Center in Sioux City where he was treated and released. On Wednesday evening they were called to the Bill Magnuson farm southwest of Allen where Mrs. Annie Magnuson was taken to the Wayne hospital, where she was pronounced dead.

LEGION AND AUXILIARY

The annual American Legion and Auxiliary family potluck supper will be held in the Senior Citizens Center on Sept. 9 at 6:30 p.m. Following the meal, 1991 Boys and Girls Staters, Brian Stewart and Michelle Kraemer, will give reports of their week's activities. A memorial service will also be held for Alta Holmes, a 45 year continuous member, who died Aug. 14. Next regular meeting will be Oct. 14 at 8 p.m. in the Senior Citizens Center. Phyllis Swanson and Delores Koch will be serving lunch.

VFW scholars program means more than cash

"Students win more than awards and scholarships when they participate in the VFW Voice of Democracy Scholarship Program" said Program Chairman Eddie Baier of VFW Post 5291 in discussing the broadcast scriptwriting program conducted annually by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary.

Some of the fringe benefits, according to Chairman Baier are increased self-confidence and poise, experience in communicating with others and valuable training in self expression. For the state winners, there is also the broadening experience of a five-day tour of Washington, D.C., and the opportunity to make lasting friendships with the other state winners.

In the 45 years that the VFW and its Ladies Auxiliary have been involved with the Voice of Democracy Program, more than 5,000,000 high school students have participated. Participants write and then tape-record a three-to-five minute broadcast script expressing their views on "Meeting America's Challenge". From among the state winners, national winners are chosen to receive a total of over $62,500 in scholarships.

"One of the greatest benefits to young people who take part in the program is that by thinking, writing and speaking up for their country, they gain a better appreciation of their obligation and freedom in America" Chairman Baier said.

In Wayne interested students should contact Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Baier at 375-1662.

Janke gets funds from Buena Vista

A student from Winside has been awarded a scholarship from Buena Vista College for the 1991-92 academic year.

Chris Janke, son of Terry and Mary Janke, of rural Winside, was awarded a Madge White Math/Science Scholarship.

The Madge White Math/Science Scholarship is awarded to outstanding students interested in a career in any of the following areas: natural science (biology, chemistry, physics, or general science), mathematics, computer science, or the medical or health professions.

Janke, a graduate of Wayne High School, plans to major in pre-medicine. He will begin his freshman year of college this fall.

Disaster survey focuses on Nebraska

At the request of Governor Ben Nelson, Larry Sitzman, Director of the Nebraska Department of Agriculture, has asked State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) Director John Neuberger to implement a natural disaster survey of all Nebraska counties.

Although much of the state has fared very well this growing season because of timely rains and extended irrigation, dryland areas of the eight counties surveyed are anticipating crop losses from 40 to 70 percent.

The results of the natural disaster survey from ASCS will be presented to Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan by Governor Nelson and Sitzman.

Following this, Governor Nelson will designate which counties in Nebraska warrant a Damage Assessment Report (DAR). The reports are assembled by the USDA Food and Agricultural Council (FAC) and are required before a formal declaration of disaster can be declared.

After these reports are completed and evaluated, Governor Nelson may request a formal declaration of disaster from Secretary of Agriculture Madigan for producers in the affected counties. This would make producers eligible for disaster assistance, including emergency credit.

Nutritional Supplements and "Stress"

The Handbook of Nonprescription Drugs lists five vitamin/mineral supplements that contain the word stress in their names. Are these products really different from other supplements? For the most part, these products have ingredients and amounts of ingredients that are no different from many other multiple vitamin/mineral supplements that are not labeled for "stress." However, one difference is that they all contain 300 to 600 mg of vitamin C in each tablet or capsule. Most other supplements contain 50 to 250 mg of this vitamin. The Recommended Daily Allowance for vitamin C is only 60 mg for adults and children 4 or more years of age. Vitamin C has been advocated by some experts as especially necessary during periods of stress.

Many older people regularly use more than one prescription, sometimes at the direction of different doctors, and some also take over-the-counter nonprescription remedies. But certain combinations of medications can be harmful. That's one reason the New York State Medical Society has launched an educational program called Medication Safety Project. To avoid harmful drug interactions, make sure your doctors know all of the medications you take, including any pills, tablets, eyedrops, suppositories and other products you buy without a prescription. Also, as a person ages, the body's ability to handle some medications may change. If any medication produces side effects, tell your doctor promptly.

When a three-year-old boy broke an arm in a fall, a doctor told his parents to buy him a violin for therapy. Joseph Fuchs still plays, 88 years later, and is acknowledged by other concert violinists as their model — "you can play differently but you can't play better," says Nathan Milstein. At 91, Fuchs performs in concerts, teaches at the Juilliard School of Music — and practices daily.

Remember When? April 11, 1953 — The Federal Security Agency was expanded and upgraded to Cabinet-level status as the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare — now known as Health and Human Services.

BOARD OF EDUCATION The Wakefield Board of Education conducted a budget hearing prior to their regular meeting on Aug. 12. The board voted to accept the budget as presented. The new budget calls for general fund expenditures of $1,734, 113 and bond fund expenditures of $110,881.

Next stop was Wimmer's Meat Products in West Point. The Homemakers ate lunch at the Neligh House and then went to Bancroft to the Neihardt Center. The next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 7 at 1:30 p.m. with Helen Domsch. CHAPTER 'CZ, PEO Chapter CZ, PEO was hosted by Kathy Potter at her home, Aug 19. She was assisted by Mary Ellen Sundell.

The program, "Put your best foot forward" from the year's theme, "Everybody Counts", was presented by Pastor Kip Tyler. He challenged the group's thoughts about the changed American lifestyle and the consequences resulting from the changes.

The Sept. 2 meeting of PEO has been changed to Sept. 26 when the chapter meets with Pender to hear the report of the International Convention delegate.

The chapter will meet locally Sept. 16. Virginia Fraser will present the program "Stick Your Neck Out". ELECTED SECRETARY Kathy Mitchell of Wakefield High School has been elected to be on the 1991-92 Nebraska Vocational Home Economics Teachers Association (NVHETA) Executive Council.

Mrs. Dudley Blatchford 584-2588 BIBLE STUDY GROUP The Dixon United Methodist Bible study group met Aug. 28 in the Garold Jewell home in Dixon with nine members present.

NEW BOOKS New books received at the Graves Public Library include "Magic Hour" by Susan Isaacs, "The Eagle Has Flown" by Jack Higgins, "The Spy Wore Silk" by Aline, "Angle Eyes" by Eric V. Lustbader and "Heartbeat" by Danielle Steel.

ATTEND CONFERENCE Lisa Newton, Susan Tyler and Kathy Mitchell, vocational teachers at Wakefield, attended the Nebraska Vocational Education conference in Omaha, Aug. 5-7. The theme for the annual conference sponsored by the Education Service Division of the Nebraska Department of Education, was "Classroom of the Future".

Walter and Dorothy Hale returned Sunday, from a two-week vacation in the western states. They visited Jackson Hole, Wyo., the Glen Hale's in El Dorado Hills, Calif. and Frances Reed in Spokane, Wash. Glen and Frances are Walter's cousins. They also stopped in the Black Hills, Wall Drug and the Corn Palace in Mitchell, S.D.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK'S SENIOR CITIZEN CORNER. THE BMBs — BIG MOVING BLUES: For many older people, moving away from the towns, cities and neighborhoods they lived in for most of their lives is done with relatively few problems. For others, it doesn't always work out quite the way they had planned or hoped. One major problem is adjusting to what is basically culture shock. People from the Midwest, for example, may find the more relaxed behavior patterns of Floridians or Southern Californians rather startling. Those who come from a population that is more or less the same may find themselves sharing the same space with folks not just from other parts of the country, but from other countries as well. While for most folks, this would be an exciting prospect, for some it can be daunting; the differences sometimes seem overwhelming. Of course, in most cases, it remains a fact of life that when you get to know a stranger you soon find a new friend. Some seniors, however, may find it's not easy making new friends. They may be shy, or find it hard to relate to those whose backgrounds are different from what they've experienced for most of their lives. Others may find they miss the changing seasons and chafe under the relative "sameness" of one day to the other. The following tips come from people who have made the move and encountered some of the culture shock described above: 1. Before you move, try to spend more time in the area. Rent an apartment or a room away from the touristy or resort areas. If possible, get one in the neighborhood you plan to settle in. Check nearby shops as well as the shopping centers. 2. What about transportation? Can you take a bus from where you plan to live to the shopping center? Or to a movie theater? 3. Get to know some of your potential neighbors. Familiarity should go a long way to ease apprehension. 4. Talk to the clergy of the church or synagogue you might attend. They can tell you about social programs, and even suggest volunteer projects. (A great way to make new friends.) 5. Read the local newspapers from cover to cover. You don't want to be surprised by anything, such as local crime statistics. You should also be aware of any problems with the local banks or area economy, especially if you plan to buy your new digs. 6. Check the local hospital and its facilities. If anyone wants to share their BMBs (Big Move Blues) or has other helpful tips, please send them to me c/o King Features Weekly Service, 235 East 45th Street, New York, N.Y. 10017. MEMBERS OF THE ALLEN football team for the 1991 season include from back row left to right: coaches Dave Uldrich and Mike Busselman. Third row: Steve Sullivan, Curtis Oswald, Mike Sullivan, Sean Moran, Justin Kelly, Bren Mattes, Jason Moran and Curtis Jewell. Second row: Aaron Thompson, Lane Anderson, Jay Jackson, Casey Schroeder, Craig Philbrick, Brian Webb and Davis Milner. Front row: Shane Fiscus, Brian Nelson, Bobby Kumm, Kevin Crossgrove, Craig Boyle, Pat Brentlinger, and Chris Sachau.

Allen football team looking for winning season with 10 seniors

A senior oriented team will don the Allen Eagles colors this year for fourth year head coach Mike Busselman. Of the 24 out for football, 10 are seniors with just four juniors, four sophomores and six freshman.

"Of the four years I've been here this squad has the best work ethic of any of them," Busselman said. "We are further ahead at this point than where we were a year ago at this time."

Busselman noted that his team is taking the no pressure approach into the 1991 season which begins Friday night in Winside. "There are a lot of expectations of this team but we aren't feeling any pressure," Busselman said. "We plan on just taking it one game at a time and playing hard all the time."

The Eagles return 17 letterman from a year ago led by Nebraska Prepland Report's Class D-1 defensive player of the year in Kevin Crossgrove. Crossgrove will play his final year with the Allen Eagles and with a little luck and hard work he will be playing next fall for a college team.

The Eagles may have gotten a boost this year with the transfer in of two brothers from Blaine, Minnesota who should have an impact on the squad immediately. Senior Shawn Moran and sophomore Jason Moran will start at tight end and center respectively.

Allen was also the recipient of a Ponca transfer, Brian Nelson, who can play quarterback and receiver. "Right now we are practicing well and the kids have a lot of enthusiasm," Busselman said. "We have to remain healthy if we wish to have a successful season."

The Allen Eagles haven't enjoyed a lot of success on the gridiron. In fact, unofficially the last time the Eagles had a winning football season was in the late 1960's so the pressure of having to win is not a constant variable for the Eagles but the search for that elusive winning season has come within grasp several times but with a few breaks here and there, the Eagles just might have something to cheer about come November.

"We feel our success hinges on the meat of the schedule which we believe is Beemer, Newcastle and Bancroft-Rosalie which is week two through four," Busselman said. In our favor however, is that two of those three games are at home for us."

Besides traveling to play Winside in the opener, the Eagles will travel to Bancroft, Wynot, and Coleridge this season.

Allen volleyball team welcomes new coach with state tournament experience from 90'

The Allen Eagles volleyball squad will be looking to duplicate the success they experienced a year ago when they qualified for the state volleyball tournament in Lincoln last November where they lost to the eventual state champions in Hastings St. Cecelia in C-2.

There is plenty of experience returning from that team but Eagles fans will notice a big difference in their team when they take the floor for the first time this season.

Long time head coach Gary Troth is no longer with the Eagles as he left the school system in Allen for another career. Instead, Allen fans will see Buffy Romshek and Sandy Chase running the controls. Romshek is still taking classes at Wayne State to complete her degree while Chase has been the assistant at Allen for several years.

Romshek played for Wayne State's volleyball team from 1988-90 and during those three years she played for three different coaches. The David City High School native will be looking to guide the Eagles back to state.

Another new look for the Allen Eagles this season is in the fact they are no longer on the Class C-2 level as the enrollment dropped during the past couple of years which means the Eagles will now be competing on the D-1 level.

The Nebraska Schools Activities Association reclassifies every two years and with Allen dropping down in class, the sub-district assignments had to be shuffled around as well.

Despite the fact the Eagles dropped from C-2 to D-1, it may be tougher for the Eagles to qualify for state this year than it would have been to stay in C-2. The reason being that Allen will now be in the same sub-district as Winside who also qualified for state a year ago and who beat the Eagles for the Lewis & Clark Conference Championship.

Gone from last year's state qualifying team for the Eagles include starters Carla Stapleton, Robin Schroeder, Wendy Boyle and Alyssa McGrath. However, the Eagles have the bulk of their hitting power back with seniors Cindy Chase and Denise Boyle. Christy Philbrick will be the starting setter for the Eagles who should step in nicely for the departed Carla Stapleton.

Heather Sachau, also returns to the lineup after seeing considerable playing time in 1990. The Eagles are a very young team this year with only three seniors in Chase, Boyle and Michelle Kraemer. "We return quite a bit of experience but we are still very young," Romshek said. "We have a very athletic volleyball team and the girls really pick things up quick."

Winside football team will rely on fountain of youth in '91 campaign

The Winside Wildcats football team will have a brand new look across the offensive line this year as the Wildcats lost 14 years of experience with graduation last spring.

Gone from last year's squad is all-state honorable mention lineman Brian Thompson, Mark Brugger, Jeff Gallop, Jason Bargstadt, Shane Frahm, Doug Heinemann, Kerry Jaeger and Matt Brogren.

"To put it mildly, we have a very young football team," head coach Randy Geier said. "We have a lot of vacancies to fill with inexperienced people." Geier however, will welcome back an experienced backfield which includes starting quarterback Cory Jensen and starting running backs Jason Krueger and Marcus Stueckrath.

"The attitude and work ethic of our kids is real good right now," Geier said. "Everyone seems to have a tremendous desire to play well every game. The kids are really competitors."

John Hancock, Brady Frahm and Kyle Frederick are expected to lead the receiving corp for the Wildcats in 1991 while Cam Shelton will take over the center position.

Trevor Topp, Jason Magwire, Cory Miller and Trent Trautman are expected to vye for the guard positions on both sides of the ball. The Wildcat defense returns five of the eight starters from last season in safety Cory Jensen, defensive end Jason Krueger, linebacker Kyle Frederick, and defensive tackles Trevor Topp and Cam Shelton.

There is one constant on the Winside football team this year and that is the schedule as the Wildcats play the exact same schedule for the third consecutive year.

Winside opens up with a home game with the Allen Eagles Friday at 7:30 p.m. Geier's troops then travel to play Hartington before returning home for a date with Coleridge.

Winside then travels to play Osmond before playing host to Walthill. On October 11 the Wildcats travel to Wausa before returning home to host the Beemer Bobcats. They then travel to play Wynot before returning home for the season finale against Newcastle.

Winside spikers set eyes on state

Winside volleyball coach Paul Giesselmann is set to enter his fourth year as head coach of the Wildcat program and if this season is anything like the last one then Winside will be playing in Lincoln in the Nebraska State Volleyball Tournament come November.

The Wildcats set all kinds of school records with their performance last year which culminated with a first round loss at state against the eventual state champions in Spencer-Naper. Winside finished the year at 20-3 with losses coming against Battle Creek and Coleridge in the regular season before the state tourney loss.

The Wildcats had a stretch of 15 consecutive wins during the year which was yet another school record so if Winside plans on duplicating the success they enjoyed last season, their work is definitely cut out for them.

Gone from that team is first team all-state setter Kelly Pichler and hitter Shannon Holdorf. April Thies was also lost to graduation but Thies did not play last season after suffering a career ending knee injury in the opening game against Wakefield.

"We're definitely going to miss those two," Giesselmann said. "They combined for over 100 ace serves and Shannon had 72 kill spikes. A lot of our offense revolved around those two."

However, before too many of the area coaches start sending sympathy cards to the Winside team for their losses they should consider the fact that the Wildcats do return first team all-state hitter Jenny Jacobsen who enters her senior season after having enjoyed a banner junior year on the hard court.

Also returning to the team is honorable mention all-state hitter Wendy Rabe along with starters Holly Holdorf, Patty Oberle and Kari Pichler who started every game last season as a freshman.

"Obviously our first goal is to fill the vacancies left by Kelly and Shannon," Giesselmann said. "We believe that we will be successful in this transition but it might take a little time to get used to the changes. Finding a setter as consistent as Kelly was, will take some time, but having a good setter is the starting point to a good team."

Also joining the varsity again this year for Winside is Chris Colwell who played some last year, Yolande Sievers and Christl Mundil.

Wakefield hopes return of potent backfield offsets inexperience of offensive lineman

Wakefield football coach Dennis Wilbur is getting set to enter his 12th year at the helm for the Trojans with a 64-36 composite record. This year's Wakefield team will have 36 on the roster with 12 seniors, seven juniors, 11 sophomores and six freshmen.

"The numbers are down a little bit but so is the number of boys in school," Wilbur said. The Wakefield team was dealt a blow in early August when junior back-up quarterback Mike Anderson and Kelly Turney were involved in an automobile accident sidelining both for the season.

At any rate, the Trojans will have a very young offensive line which has almost no experience on the varsity level. The backfield however, is very experienced with Marcus Tappe set to enter his second year as starting quarterback with senior running back sensation Anthony Brown and Thad Nixon right behind him.

Brown comes off a brilliant junior campaign in which he gained over 1100 rushing yards. "It should be an interesting year because we are so young on our offensive line but our backfield is very experienced," Wilbur said. "We just have to make sure we don't suffer injuries or we'll be set back even further."

Wilbur noted that Wakefield was just one boy over the limit which established the Trojans as C-1 for the next two years. "We were just one over the limit from being C-2," Wilbur said.

Defensively the Trojans don't have a whole lot of weaknesses. "We return eight starters on defense this season," Wilbur said. "We have very aggressive kids on defense and we really believe that we can and will cause problems for a lot of people we play because of our speed."

Anthony Brown and Thad Nixon return to man the defensive back positions while the linebacking crew remains in tact with Larry Johnson and Ben Dutton. "We are a good defensive pursuing team," Wilbur said. "Our players have good speed and run well toward the ball."

Wilbur will be assisted again this season by veteran coach John Torczon and volunteer assistants Todd Kratke, Gary Tullberg, and former WSC player Bill Hendrick.

Wakefield's schedule underwent some changes during the off season as Battle Creek and Norfolk Catholic are no longer on the schedule. "We picked up Hartington Cedar Catholic and Laurel this year," Wilbur said. "We are pleased with the acquisitions of the new teams but we feel that our schedule this year will be one of the most competitive around."

Wakefield will open the 1991 season on the road at Tilden/Elkhorn Valley before returning home to play Cedar Catholic in week two.

Wakefield volleyball team hinging success on returning experience mixed with new offense

Wakefield head volleyball coach Paul Eaton enters his seventh year at the helm of the Lady Trojans this fall and things aren't looking too bad as 34 girls tried out for the team.

Wakefield finished last season with a 15-4 record and although they lost four girls off that team, Eaton feels this is as much experience he's had returning in quite some time.

The key loss is that of all-conference hitter Wendy Kratke while other vacancies needing to be filled are that of Renee Nixon, Amy Oswald and Christy Otte.

"We have a lot more experience returning to this team than last year's team," Eaton said. Key returnees to the Trojan lineup include Lisa Blecke, Sarah Salmon, Kristen Miller, Lisa Andersoh, Carla Boeckenhauer, Heather Gustafson, Kall Baker and Maria Eaton.

Wakefield also got a big boost when Danielle Fallesen transferred from Wayne where she started a year ago for the Class B Blue Devils. Fallesen will have some quality hitting ability to the Trojans team.

Even though the faces on the Trojan team this season will be familiar the offensive style will not as Eaton changed things around a little bit which he feels fits the personnel of his team better.

"Our new offense may take a few games to get used too," Eaton said. "But overall, we feel it is something we needed to do to enhance our chances a little."

One thing that will be different for the Trojans is the shuffling of district assignments due to the reclassification by the Nebraska Schools Activities Association.

Wakefield will no longer be in the sub-district with Laurel, Emerson-Hubbard and Ponca but instead will be with Ponca, Homer and traditionally strong Wisner-Pilger. The other half of the sub-district assignment pits Laurel, Randolph, Pierce and Hartington Cedar Catholic together.

Eaton feels there is a lot of continuity on the coaching staff at Wakefield as Arnie Cerny returns to be the right hand man again this year as does Julie Rose who helped out last season.

The Trojans will start the 1991 season with a very competitive game in Winside, one of the four matches his Trojans lost last season. "I look for Winside to be every bit as good if not better than they were last year," Eaton said. "We have a very tough schedule this year because all of the teams we will be facing have improved from last season."

One of the things Eaton will not be suffering from this season is lack of depth as 12 to 14 girls can play which is the first time in several years he has had that option.

"We're going to go out and play hard every match," Eaton said. "We have enough girls on the team with experience that we can keep people fresh all the time."

Wayne gridders set sights on good year despite being inexperienced

There will be a lot of new faces on the Wayne Blue Devils football team this year but head coach Lonnie Ehrhardt believes his young squad can be successful despite being decimated by graduation last spring.

"I really believe we can expect to have a good season," Ehrhardt said. "The kids came into camp with the right attitude of working hard and taking it one day at a time."

Gone from last year's 7-2 team which at one time was rated as high as fifth in the state Class B-rankings is the whole backfield in quarterback Cory Wieseler, and running backs Rusty Hamer and Chris Fredrickson. Also gone is most of the offensive line including all-stater and Shrine Bowl participant Matt Bruggeman.

Jason Ehrhardt, Dan Wiseman and

Jerry Williams were also lost to graduation leaving Wayne with just four returning offensive starters. Wayne returns 16 letter-winners from a year ago which Ehrhardt believes will blend nicely with the youth and inexperience.

There are 36 out for football this fall with 11 seniors and 18 freshman included on that list. "We have a lot of numbers in the freshman class and even on down to the junior high level," Ehrhardt said. "We have 35 kids out for junior high football this fall which is the most in a long time."

Regg Carnes will man the quarterback position this year after seeing limited action in 1990. Other familiar names on the offense will be Bobby Barnes and Jack Swinney at the wide receiver slots and lineman Mike Zach. Ryan Rohde and Brent Gamble will also be looking to play a lot at the receiver positions as well as playing defensive back.

The biggest impact player Wayne could have this year wasn't even with the Blue Devils last year at this time. Kyle Bensen, a transfer student from out of state moved to Wayne during the winter months where he was able to take part in track. Bensen had a say in 22 of the 23 points Wayne scored at the state track meet last May.

"Kyle is a very good acquisition for our team," Ehrhardt said. "He has good speed and will be a key running back in our system along with Jim Murphy who has great speed as a running back." Twin brother John Murphy will be a receiver.

The defensive success will center around the linebacking of senior Jason Fink who saw extensive playing time last year. "Our key early in the season is to develop depth," Ehrhardt said. "We can't expect our kids to play both ways for the whole game without breathers."

Wayne will open the season on Friday at home against Schuyler.

Wayne spikers look for improvement over last season despite absence of any seniors

The Wayne volleyball team will have an unusual look in 1991 in the fact that no seniors will don the blue and white for the Blue Devils spikers. Sixth year coach Marlene Uhing however, isn't giving up on the season that easily.

"We'll have a very young team this year with no seniors on the team," Uhing said. "But we do have some quality players returning from last year's squad which should help us quite a bit."

Uhing welcomes the return of Erin Pick and Liz Reeg who started as sophomores on the Blue Devil squad. Kristine Swanson played quite a bit last season as a sophomore and will notch down a starting role in the opener at the Beemer Invitational.

A total of 27 girls went out for volleyball this fall with 16 of them being freshman. "We have a lot of young kids who went out," Uhing said, "and right now we as coaches are very pleased with their efforts. They all went to summer camp to get better and they are focusing well in practice."

Danielle Nelson will look to start at a setting position for the Blue Devils this year while the other two starting spots will be earned in practice between the likes of juniors Angie Thompson, Jenny Thomsen and Teresa Witkowski, sophomore Audra Sievers, and freshman Carrie Fink and Jenny Thompson.

"We feel we will have a real good setting corp which is the starting point to a good team," Uhing said. "Liz Reeg is our most experienced setter but we are moving her to outside hitter so Danielle Nelson will be the setter. We will be looking to play well in the passing and serving categories which sets up the rest of the game," Uhing added.

"Basically, the keys to our season are to focus for the whole match instead of getting a good lead and slacking off," Uhing said. "We have to develop that killer instinct."

Wayne will open the season with Fremont Bergan at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Beemer Invitational.

Wayne lady runners look for more success

Although the number of Wayne girls on the cross country team is down a little from last year, Rocky Ruhl's squad should be every bit as good as the one that placed third in the Class B State Cross Country Meet last October in Kearney.

That's because they return senior Tammy Geiger who is seeking her fourth straight state tournament appearance. Geiger placed 22nd as a freshman, seventh as a sophomore and third last year.

Tami Schluns will return for her sophomore season after placing 12th in the state in Class B as a freshman. Susie Enz and Jessica Wilson also return to the varsity level as will Jill O'Leary. Carrie Junck and Emily Wiser will round out the varsity and junior varsity squad.

Wayne lost the services of senior Sheri Wortman who moved to Lincoln. "We believe we are in the toughest district of any in the state," Ruhl said. "We still believe however, that we can be as good if not better than last year's team."

Central City, O'Neill, David City Aquinas, Columbus Scotus, Columbus Lakeview, Albion and Wayne will compete at districts.

Wayne boys aiming to win again

Fifth-year boys cross country coach Rocky Ruhl was all smiles when he looked at the numbers that showed up for the first cross country practice this fall. Ruhl will have a record number of boys on the squad as 20 will don the blue and white of the Blue Devils.

Wayne will be looking to improve on the success they enjoyed last year when they placed eighth at the Class B State Cross Country Meet in Kearney. The Blue Devils return their top runner of last season in Todd Fuelberth who placed 10th in the state meet. Fuelberth will be looking to return to state for the fourth consecutive time, a feat that could only be shared by girls runner Tammy Geiger if she too, qualifies.

Also returning to aid Wayne's chances are seniors Matt Leg and Jason Johs. Sophomores Aaron Geiger and Nate Stednitz along with juniors Randy Johnson and Mark Meyer seem to be the top seven runners for Ruhl's crew which can only run five in a varsity meet with four scoring.

"I really think we have a good group of kids on this year's team," Ruhl said. "We seem to have a nice blend of experience and youth which can only help the runners who will be returning next season."

Ruhl said the team has set goals in which they will strive to attain such as winning the conference and district championships for the third consecutive year.

"Once again we feel we will have a good team but we'll be facing some pretty good competition at districts from the likes of Columbus Scotus, Central City, St. Paul and David City Aquinas just to name a few," Ruhl said.

WAYNE-CARROLL GIRLS GOLF

Wayne girls golf team is all seniors

The Wayne High girls golf team will be just the opposite as the Wayne volleyball team in the fact that everyone out for girls golf is a senior while the volleyball team has no seniors on the squad.

The Wayne links coach Dick Metteer looks for improvement over last year's efforts and believes he will get it. "We only have five girls out for golf this year and they are all seniors," Metteer said. "All of them however, put in a lot of time over the summer. They had a routine they followed and I believe because of the time they put in that we will be better."

Although the golf team boasts all seniors the experience of the golfers could be a factor. Jennifer Chapman is the only senior who has been out for golf all four years of high school while Lisa Casey enters her third year on the links. The rest of the team in Lana Casey, Kim Liska and Christi Carr will be playing in their first year of competition.

Looking ahead on the schedule the girls will travel to Valley for district competition and state this year will be at Columbus Pines Golf Course. The September 28th Wayne Invitational is the crucial meet for us," Metteer said, "because we will see many of the teams that will be in our district."

Teams that will be competing against Wayne at districts include Blair, Elkhorn, Omaha Duchesne, Omaha Roncalli, Plattsmouth, Stanton and Valley. Incidentally, Wayne will also play South Sioux this year as they field its first ever girls golf team.
