Fire destroys Geno's

Four departments respond to inferno at Geno's Steakhouse

By Mark Crist Managing Editor

The top floor of Geno's Restaurant and Lounge was completely gutted out by a fire late Friday as fire departments from Wayne, Wakefield, South Sioux City and Winside Joined forces to battle the

If the water that rushed out of the front door of the building when firefighters gained entry is any indication, the entire main floor sustained extensive water damage that may result in the condemnation of the structure, ac-cording to authorities at the scene. Damage to surrounding buildings was reported minimal.
Assistant Fire Chief Bill Woehler

said several million gallons of water had been used by 9 p.m. with the fire still burning. He said it was im-possible to tell how many gallons would be used in the four alarm blaze for a few days since each department uses water at varying

AT TIMES flames from the blaze shot as high as 15 feet from the top of the south end of the building. For about a half hour, firefighters were unable to battle the blaze from above and once they did, they found the fire's fury was next to impossible to battle.

Because the north end of the building just had a new rubber roof placed on it, firefighters could not battle the fire from the top and it quickly consumed much of the en-tire top floor. The fire department also had trouble containing the blaze since southerly winds kept

"Whenever you have a renova-tion project like this one, it just continues to spread," said one fire fighter who could not be immediwoodler said he had been told that a small fire had occurred earlier in the day while the roof was being-worked on, but he was uncertain whether it was related to the fire Friday night.

ACCORDING TO eyewitness accounts, the fire began on the ceiling of the structure and quickly consumed the north front of the top floor along west Second street. The fire on the north end continued to burn as late as 9:30 p.m.

The Wayne Fire Department responded to the blaze at approximately 5:45 p.m. and soon thereafter called for backups.

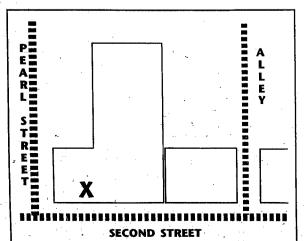

By 6:30 p.m. relief from the Wakefield and Winside Volunteer Fire Department had arrived but by that time the top floor appeared to be totally consumed. By peared to be totally consumed. By approximately 8 p.m., the blaze appeared under control, except for small patches. By 8 p.m. it was almost out. South Sioux City arrived at approximately 7:30 p.m.

Two firefighters also suffered minor problems with heat but both were reported fine. The two firefighters who had problems with

ONE EYEWITNESSES ACCOUNT OF the fire indicated it started in the southwest corner of the building.

TWO UNIDENTIFIED FIREFIGHTERS suffer a setback as the fire begins to make its way out the window of Geno's Steakhouse and Lounge. Officials at the scene said there was little they could do to battle the fire because of a newly-installed rubber roof. The fire caused extensive damage to the building.

Businessman uncertain after blaze destroys shop

Gene Claussen leaned against a pickup looking on in amazement as firefighters from Wayne, Winside, Wakefield and South Sioux City did their utmost to save what was left of his business.

"You never know what's going to happen," Claussen said.

The fire Friday, which gutted out the top floor of Geno's Steakhouse at the corner of Second and Pearl Streets, isn't the first fire which has hit the Claussens. Approximately seven years ago, the family's home burned down as well.

AT THE time Gene's son Dave AT THE time Gene's son Dave discovered the fire, the steakhouse and lounge had approximately two dozen patrons. Dave said he dis-covered the building was on fire when he went outside for a breather and noticed smoke com-ing out of the top floor. Paul Otte, owner of Otte Construction, which was doing the renovation, which was doing the renovation, went upstairs with Dave and found the entire top floor filled with smoke. Like his dad, Dave was walking around in a daze.

"I can't believe it," he said.

OTTE CALLED the fire department while Dave cleared the lounge.

The top floor of the building was being renovated for elderly, low-income housing. The project stems from a Community Development. Block Grant Geno's applied for and received for $149,000.

Group miffs Conway

A group opposing the state's redistricting plan has announced its intention to file a constitutional challenge against the Nebraska Legislature.

That has Senator Gerald Conway, R-Wayne, a little miffed. Conway is the chairperson of the Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee, which oversaw

Affairs Committee, which oversaw the redistricting process. What upsets the District 17 senator isn't the fact there is a group of people opposed to the redistricting plan. It's that District 21 Sen. Richard Peterson of Nor-folk had his chance to save his district but passed it by, Conway said. Peterson's district is one of two in Nebraska which will be lost under PETERSON, with over 100 man hours assistance from Conway's staff, put together a plan that would have saved the 21st legislative district. After the hours of work, Conway said Peterson didn't approach the legislative floor with his plan.

"People which have common

"People which have common interests, such as school districts ... should be in the same district," Conway said. "If you live in Norfolk, the community of interest ... was left in tact. The people of Norfolk have more interest with the corner of Stanton County which they are joining than they do with other communities in Madison County, such as Newman Grove." such as Newman Grove.'

According to newspaper accounts, the effort from Norfolk is being led by Jim Scheer, John Gerrard and Connie Day. According to Gerrard, close to $15,000 has been raised, with about 80 per-cent coming from supporters in Norfolk. Other individuals contributing to the effort come from McCook, Lexington and South Sioux City. Scheer and Day ran a non-solicited, paid-for advertisement in The Wayne

Herald criticizing Conway Thursday,

May 30.
THE CHALLENGE which will be filed concerns a section of the state's constitution that deals with legislative redistricting. The section registative redistricting, restates: "In any such redistricting, county lines shall be followed whenever practicable, but other established lines may be followed at the discretion of the Legisla-

Gerrard, an attorney, alleges that the Legislature violated the constitution with its plan. Conway disagrees.

"What we've lost in northeast Nebraska is 20,000 people," he said. "We had to adjust significantly and accordingly."

Conway said he thinks that any attorney the group from Norfolk hires to plead their case will-probably end up losing the battle, while laughing all the way to the bank. He said he doesn't see how they have a case. have a case.

"They're claiming they've been injured," he said. "The only way they can win is to come up with a plan that saves their district but to do that, they have to injure somebody else.

Conway added that he believes the only motivation behind those pursuing the matter is political. He said he has a problem classifying a community with over 22,000 people as rural by Nebraska's standards.

Attorneys file briefs to receive new hearing

A brief in support of motion for rehearing has been filed by attorneys representing State Senator Gerald Conway, R-Wayne. In an interview with Conway Friday morning, the District 17 senator said he is not optimistic that the ruling will be overturned. He said after the high court deliberated the matter for a year, it's doubtful that they will overturn their original ruling.

"The concern was raised by people who didn't have the government interests in mind, but rather, they were political enemies who recognized the case as a tactic to attack," Conway said. "... I don't have the description of the control of the control of the case as a tactic to attack," Conway said. "... I don't have the control of the case as a tactic to attack," Conway said. "... I don't have the control of the case as a said to the case as a sai think the Court should have interpreted my case willy-nilly but that's

THE NEBRASKA Supreme Court ruled in July that Conway cannot serve as a teacher at Wayne State College and as a state senator because it violates the separation of powers clause of the state's constitution.

Under the ruling, Conway, a tenured faculty member at Wayne State, was relieved of his duties, if he wants to continue work as a senator. Conway, however, is still employed by Wayne State.

In the briefs for a rehearing, Conway's attorneys claim that "the Court's decision not only affects the respondent, it will also affect numerous other members of the current unicameral."

The briefs also call into question whether an attorney, as a member of the Nebraska State Bar, can serve in other branches of government. If the court stays with it current ruling, it could include several state senators, who work for government agencies, and Neseveral state senators, who work for government agencies, and Nebraska Governor Ben Nelson.

Venture results in expansion

Managing Editor

After seeing the success of Wayne's first ministorage facility over the past 15 years, businessman Ken Marra realized there was an additional need.

*One of the things about having a mini-stor is that people have to be able to get ahold of you, said. "People don't wake up in the morning and realize they have that need but once they realize they have it, they need you there right now. If you're there and available, you'll get the business. If you're not available by nightfall, they've solved their prob-

Marra said as an addition to the home improvement business he owns and operates, the mini-stor-age facilities fit in well. Although the two businesses are separate, he recently finished construction of a new mini-stor facility because demand exceeded the one he already owned.

THE NEW mini-stor structure is composed of only 5 foot by 10 foot and 10 foot by 10 foot units. The older unit has 10 foot by 10 foot units and other With the older structure, Marra said, "we were just short of space. We saw that need based (the building size) on waiting lists we might have." As the advent of smaller homes with less storage space continues to evolve and business development in Wayne continues, the time seemed ripe for the new storage units to be put up.

THE PROCESS for renting one of the storage units is easy. First, prospective renters need to decide on the size they need, then sign a one-month contract for the storage. The contracts Marra uses are rented for one month and then continue on an asneeded basis. Unit cost is cheap by industry standards

For instance, in metropolitan areas, the smaller units rent for as much as $140. In Wayne, Marra rents them less than you might find in Norfolk or Marra's rates are determined by the size of the unit. A 5 foot by 10 foot unit costs $20 a month. A 10 foot by 10 foot unit is $30, and a 10 foot by 20 foot unit is $40 a month. His largest units, which are 10 foot by 30 foot in size, run $50 a month.

WHILE FACILITIES in larger cities are often times fenced. Marra's are not. Renters have to use their locks but the lease does not include security measures.

Marra said his customers use the units for any number of reasons.

One example is of an individual moving into a smaller home and needed a place to temporarily store furniture. Others are used by business persons who need to store business inventory for those who operations run from their homes. Sometimes, will store cars in the facility after abiding by stipulations set under the lease agreement.

Under the lease agreement, there are certain things which Marra won't allow the mini-stors to house. One example is toxic waste. In the future, he said he might even consider building a garage unit near the college, providing the demand exists.

"It might be an opportunity," he said. "The prob-lem will be finding a place close enough to the college to build it.'

Wayne's Firefighters plan safety campaign

In an effort to promote fire prevention and safety, the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department is launching its Operation Silver Cross later this month. Starting Monday, Sept. 23, Wayne Volunteer Firefighters will be going door-to-door, handing out reflective silver crosses to residences in each neighborhood and stickers with the 911 emergency number to be placed on telephones in each of the community's

The silver and red crosses with a silver background will enable fire-fighters to know how many people could be in bedrooms in the event they have to gain entry in an emergency. The stickers are emergency. The stickers are reflective, so they can be detected by a spotlight.

"One reason we want to do this is to make our job easier if we have to make a search and rescue," said Brooks Widner, co-chairperson of the VFD's Fire Prevention Committee. "If it's early morning or late at night, these stickers will allow us to know how many people are in bedrooms."

FOR INSTANCE, if one bedroom has two people in it, the bedroom's window will have two stickers. The reflective, silver stickers denote how many people are in the rooms.

During the firefighters' visit to homes in Wayne, inquiries will also be made to see if homes have smoke detectors. Widner said this is a good way to ensure public safety in the even a fire occurs.

FIREFIGHTERS WILL be handing out silver crosses exactly twice the size of this one. The crosses will help the department in the event of a fire.

In the event firefighters stop at In the event firetighters stop at a home where no one is present, a list will be compiled and homes will be revisited. Widner said every effort will be made to get the stickers out to the public. Fire department officials are asking that people not contact the department for the stickers until after the campaign is completed. The drive will be over one to two weeks after will be over one to two weeks after it begins.

During the firefighters' visit, residents will be instructed on how and where to place the stickers.
Co-chairing the VFD's Fire Prevention Committee with Widner are Jeff Sukup and Art Barker.

Football contest starts in this issue

The Wayne Herald's annual football contest, which runs over the course of the football season, gets underway in this issue. The contest can be found on today's sports pages.

First place for each weeks' drawing is $15 and second place is $5

Librarians read a lot. We know that's a silly statement to make. Librarians do read a lot. They read so that they can recommend books to their patrons. They read to learn what other librarians are doing and reading. They read to keep up with technical advances in the field of information handling and to learn about new equip-ment to make information handling easier and more accessible to their patrons.

An article in the Omaha World Herald prompted this. The Omaha Public Library system is in the final stages of automating the entire system. The process started with placing the system's complete collection of books, tapes, magazines, etc. in the data base. The final steps involve issuing new plastic library cards to their patrons and putting bar codes on each book. To that end several branch libraries will be closed for a week to allow librarians time to complete coding all books in the branch. Other branches will be closed and then finally the majo library will fine closed.

and then, finally, the main library will be closed.

The bar code-similar to the code on grocery items, will be "read" at check-out by a laser pencil which will enter the information directly in the data base. This will speed up check-out time for patrons. The new plastic library cards will also be coded for reading by trons. The new plastic library cards will also be coded for reading by the laser pen and entry into the data base.

This is the beginning of new ways-to handle information and retrieve it. Some time in the future, it is probable that the Wayne Public Library will be fully automated. The first step in that process has already begun. Each shelf card is being checked and information is being added to the card to bring it into agreement with all other cards. When that step is completed, each book will be entered into the data base. Obviously, this is a time consuming process. But it has been started now so that when the decisions are cess. But it has been started now, so that when the decisions are made to automate, we will be ready.

And we are getting ready for another big event. Saturday, Sept.

14 is the first day of the semi-annual library booksale. A variety of used children and adult books will be available for purchase starting at 10:15 a.m. The sale will continue during regular library hours throughout September, but you should come early for the best selection! If you haven't used your library card recently, you'll want to bring it along and "check out" some of our new titles too.

September is library card sign-up month. This would be a good time to obtain a card if you've never had one, or to renew your rules and account of the property of the pr ral card so you can become part of our patron database on the new circulation computer arriving this month. This system will make checking out books faster, and enable us to immediately list the books you have out which has been a popular request that we cur-rently cannot do. Technology is helping us to serve you better, so visit your public library often!

Hospital utilization falls in 1990

Rural hospitals reported declining utilization in Nebraska last year, continuing a trend that began in the early '80s, according to information from the State Department

Two major indicators of utilizaindicators of utiliza-tion, occupancy rates and days of hospitalization, both dropped among Nebraska's 68 rural hospi-tals in 1990.

Occupancy — the percentage of beds used — fell in rural hospitals from 19.8 in 1989 to 19.4 last year. Total days of hospitalization for patients in rural hospitals dropped 5.1 percent, from dropped 5.1 percent, from 164,978 in 1989 to 156,525 last Nebraska's 10 regional hospitals also showed declines in usage. Occupancy rates declined 2.4 percent and days of hospitalization were down from 200,918 in 1989 to 194,160 in 1990, a decrease of 3.4 percent.

Regional hospitals, which offer basic services and some specialty care, are located in Beatrice, Columbus, Fremont, Hastings, Kearney, North Platte, Scottsbluff, Grand Island and two in Norfolk.

Lincoln and Omaha hospitals saw improvement in their utilization indicators. The occupancy rate in the state's 11 metropolitan facilities increased by 4.5 percent. Days of hospitalization rose slightly because one percent, from by about one percent, from 590,441 to 595,874 days in 1990.

Rural hospitals are bearing the brunt of the social and economic changes that occurred in the '80s, said Dave Palm, director of the Bureau of Health Planning and Data Management at the state Health Department.

These changes included a trend toward more outpatient surgery, fewer people covered by insur-ance, a loss of population in rural areas, a shortage of physicians, changes in health insurance poli-cies to include higher deductibles and co-insurance rates, and the development of improved diagnostic and treatment methods that do not require hospitalization.

The continuing decline in usage of rom hospitals is putting increasing pressure on small hospitals in their struggles to maintain financial viability, Palm said.

Winside defeats Wakefield in season opener

Two of northeast Nebraska's finest volleyball teams clashed in the season opener for both at Winside Thursday night when Paul Eaton's Wakefield Trojans played Paul Giesselmann's Wildcats.

The host team prevailed in this match after three games, 15-6, 6-15, 16-14. "I believe the fans got their moneys' worth in the season opener," Giesselmann said. "On our side of the coin we had a few big question marks answered with that first match." Eaton on the other hand, felt

Eaton on the other hand, felt his team play alight for the first match of the year despite the loss. "We had some breakdowns but that's going to happen early in the season," Eaton said. "We have a new offense and that will take some time but overall, I think we have the makings to have a good volleyball team.* Holly Holdorf led Winside in the serving category, hitting 11-12 with four aces while Jenny Jacobsen was 11-11 with two aces. Patty Oberle was 9-11 with one ace and Kari Pichler was 9-10 with one ace. Christi Mundil was 5-6 with two aces and Yolande Sievers was 6-7

One of the biggest question marks Giesselmann had to get an-swered was if Kari Pichler could successfully take over the reigns as the setter on the team, replacing her sister Kelly from a year ago who was a first-team all-stater in Class D1.

"Kari did a magnificent job of running the offense," Giesselmann said. "That big question mark is no longer." Pichler had 19 set assists in her first match playing that position.

Jenny Jacobsen was the leading hitter for Winside with 10 kill spikes while Wendy Rabe finished with seven kills and Holly Holdorf, five. The Wildcats however, were dominating at the net with seven ace blocks led by Wendy Rabe with three. Jacobsen had two ace blocks while Holdorf and Oberie had one each.

"We have a lot of balance this we have a lot of barance this year," Giesselmann said. "We feel that we beat a real good Wakefield team. That is one thing I like about playing Wakefield in the first game of the season because play-ing that quality of a team, it gives us a chance to see what we have to work on and determine what team started the season off on the right foot Friday night with a home opening victory over Allen, 31-20. Wildcats head coach Randy Geier got some big plays from his seniors and the defense came up big by holding Mike Busselmann's quick Eagle offensive team to just 61 yards rushing on 35 attempts.

Winside defeats Allen, 31-20

The only scoring in the first quarter came with 59 seconds remaining when Marcus Stueckrath rambled in from six yards out. The point after attempt failed and Winside led 6-0 after one.

Senior fullback Jason Krueger scored on a 15 yard fumble return with 11.54 remaining in the half to give the host team a 12-0 cushion. Then with 2:14 remaining until intermission Krueger scored one a one yard plunge to make it an 18-0 contest.

drive late in the first half and time had actually elapsed with Allen on the Winside 28 yard line but Winside was whistled for a face mask and since the half can not end on a defensive penalty the Eagles had another chance which they made good as quarterback Curtis Oswald connected with Casey Schroeder for a 13-yard touchdown. The two point conversion was converted with the same combination of players to make the halftime score 18-8.

In the third quarter Krueger scored from six yards out with 7:43 remaining and Jeremy Bruggeman connected with the point after to make it a 25-8 game. In the fourth quarter Oswald ran one in from four yards out to make it 25-14
