Geno's fire Officials ascertain source

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

A rag which caught on fire during renovation work is being blamed in the fire which destroyed the entire top level of Geno's Restaurant in Wayne Friday.

According to State Fire Marshal Curly McDonald, a roofer apparently went to light a cigarette and inadvertently caught a rag he was holding on fire around 1:30 p.m. Friday. McDonald said the rag, covered with highly flammable glue, ignited along with the roofer's glove. The glue was used to seal the rubber material to the roof.

McDonald said in the process of realizing the glove and the rag were on fire, the roofer apparently shook the glove off, which ignited a can of glue.

"In my opinion the roofers assumed they got the fire out and my feeling is that the insulation border under the rubber roofing developed a hot spot and it burned through until it got to some more oxygen," McDonald said.

Apparently, the roofing company, which is from Norfolk, has no policy about employees smoking near flammable materials, McDonald added.

THE TYPE of insulation which was on top of Geno's is a pressed organic material, which is highly combustible.

According to Wayne Fire Chief Dutch Sitzmann, the age of the wood in the building did play a factor in the spread of the blaze. He said the wood is old and dry. He added that it was probably the original wood used when the structure was built in 1928.

In all, it was estimated that the water in the four alarm fire totalled 2 million gallons.

Another problem the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department ran into was the fact the newly-installed rubber roofing held in the heat and the fire, which made the blaze nearly impossible to battle. Sitzmann said firefighters had to wait until the fire had burned through the rubber before they could directly hit the flames with water. Because of the danger to firefighters, Sitzmann said he couldn't afford to send firefighters inside the building to battle the blaze.

AS OF LATE Tuesday afternoon, insurance adjustors from Chicago were still investigating the building

Dixon County officials nab suspects

The Dixon County Sheriff's office has made some arrests in connection with two related incidents in Wakefield and Allen and a burglary at Uncle Smurfs in Wakefield.

According to reports from Dixon County Sheriff Dean Chase, three individuals were arrested Sept. 5 in connection with burglaries which occurred at the Farmers Union Co-op Exchange in Wakefield and the Farmers Co-operative Elevator Company in Allen. The incident in Allen occurred Sept. 5 and the incident in Wakefield occurred June 23.

Arrested in were Christopher Fischer, 19, of rural Allen; Richard Iddings, 18, rural Emerson and a 16-year-old male juvenile from Wakefield, whose name is being withheld due to his age.

THE DIXON County Sheriff's office also arrested two male juveniles from Pender in connection with a burglary which occurred Aug. 19 at Uncle Smurfs in Wakefield. The juveniles were released to the custody of their parents and charges are pending in this separate incident.

Investigation was conducted by the Dixon County Sheriff's Department, the Wakefield Police Department and the Thurston County Sheriff's Department. The two juveniles are allegedly responsible for numerous burglaries in the tri-county area, Chase said.

The individuals involved in the Wakefield and Allen Co-op burglaries are tentatively charged with three counts of burglary, a class III felony, punishable by one to 20 years' imprisonment by one to 20 years' fine or both. Additional charges are pending. Bond has been set for Fischer and Iddings at $30,000. Fischer was released on bond Sept. 6.

Woman badly hurt in one-vehicle mishap

A 32-year-old Columbus woman suffered multiple injuries Friday when the pickup she was driving went off the road near Oak Drive and Highway 35.

Kathleen M. Dreger was heading east at a high rate of speed along Highway 35 when her 1983 Chevrolet pickup crossed the center line and entered the south ditch.

Upon entering the ditch, the pickup struck an embankment, going airborne and flipping over. Dreger was the only passenger in the vehicle.

According to police reports, she was not wearing a seat belt. Reports said she had been drinking.

POLICE diagrams showed the pickup left 380 foot skid marks on the highway and 136 foot skid marks in the ditch. Reports indicated the pickup was airborne for 60 feet after striking the embankment.

Dreger was taken by the Wayne Rescue Squad to Providence Medical Center, where she was air flighted to Marian Health Center in Sioux City.

Officials at Marian Health Center said she is in stable condition but declined to offer any more information. Before leaving Wayne, officials at Providence Medical Center said Dreger's condition was guarded.

The pickup was reportedly totalled in the accident.

School board discovers debt can be erased early

The Wayne School Board received some good news Tuesday night.

If taxes are collected as planned, tax anticipatory notes for the addition to Wayne Elementary will be paid off in August of 1992, according to Superintendent Dr. Francis Haun.

The payoff is due to increases in school district valuation increases in 1991 to $1.28 million, the Wayne School Board learned at Tuesday's meeting. In 1990, the school had a valuation of $1.25 million.

In addition to discussing the school's valuation, the board set a new tax levy for the school district at $1.21 for the general fund with the sinking fund adding $.1167 for a grand total of $1.3281 per $100 valuation.

One reason the tax anticipatory notes will be paid off early was due to action by the board, authorizing $100,000 payment toward the notes.

BUT THAT was only one item on the school board's agenda Tuesday night. The board discussed a number of other matters dealing from street crossings near Wayne Middle School to reviewing a committee formed to study technology.

In dealings with road crossings, the board listened to a report from board member Cap Peterson concerning plans and procedures being considered to make street crossings at the middle school safer. In dealing with the procedure, the board requested that Peterson prepare a map of the street crossings which could be painted for attracting both pedestrian and driver attention. In conjunction with Peterson's plan, Haun was asked to write a letter to accompany the map and direct it to the city council for their consideration.

The matter had been discussed at two previous city council meetings in August.

The board also reviewed an agenda submitted from a newly formed self-study committee for technology. Wayne Middle School Principal Dick Mettetter will head up the committee, composed of volunteer staff members from Wayne Public Schools and Wayne State College. The committee will be advised by Melodee Landis of the State Department of Education.

IN OTHER matters, the school board:

- Presented a Distinguished Service Award to Genevieve Carmichael, who has retired as a kitchen worker after 23 years.
- Reviewed enrollment data which showed the school's census to be up from the 1990-91 school year by 23 students. This year's enrollment lists 911 students in the system.
- Noted that Wayne Public Schools have made progress toward Project 100 in the area of mathematics as a result of a faculty committee study.

Active parenting class designed for parents and child care providers

"Parenting and caring for another person's child require similar means of understanding, communicating and dealing with children and their behavior and misbehavior," says Extension Agent Karen Wermers of Concord.

An "Active Parenting" program is being offered at Wakefield Community School beginning Monday evening, Oct. 7 and continuing for six weeks from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

The program is designed for parents and child care providers to empower their children to develop self-esteem, responsibility and mutual respect.

Ideas for everyday parenting situations will be shared through small group discussions, with Wermers serving as the discussion facilitator.

"Parents will feel good and confident by being reinforced on communication they already use and also gain additional ideas that further extend their ability to promote positive growth in their child," said Wermers, adding that child care providers deal with the same issues in helping children develop and can benefit equally from the program.

The program is being sponsored by the University of Nebraska Extension at Concord, Northeast Community College and Wakefield School. Pre-registration is requested by Sept. 27 and interested persons are asked to call the Wakefield School at 287-2012 or the Dixon County Extension Office at 584-2234.

Safety a concern for many in pork industry

For several years, the pork industry has researched occupational hazards associated with pork production. Farm worker safety and health is a major interest area in educational activities of the National Pork Producers Council (NPPC).

Health screening tests were offered to the public at the 1991 World Pork Expo. Two hundred forty nine pork producers and 155 non-producers were screened for hearing loss, lung function, cholesterol and skin lesions. No information about the non-producers occupations was gathered.

Pork producers who aren't already should consider taking some kind of measures to protect themselves against health risks in the areas of hearing loss, lung function and skin cancer. More than half of the pork producers screened do not currently use hearing or respiratory protection devices to minimize these losses. Of the three areas, the greatest potential for loss appears to be hearing, especially in the left ear. Their hearing loss was slightly higher than the additional 155 non-producers who completed the entire battery of screening tests conducted in the Farm Health Center sponsored by American Cyanamid Company and Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc. Fewer than half (47.1 percent and 45.2 percent) of non-producers had abnormal hearing in their left and right ears, respectively.

Exposure to hog squeals might account for some of the differences in hearing loss between the two groups. Pig squeals register approximately 105 decibels — well above the 85-decibel safe level, says Des Moines audiologist Don Kurth who conducted the hearing tests. Wearing protective ear plugs or headsets when working with the animals can help reduce the decibel level to a safe range.

Not many pork producers wear hearing protection presently. Almost 60 percent of the producers who went through the hearing tests said they never wear protection. An additional 25 percent said they wear hearing protection less than half of the time.

Respiratory problems are more comparable between producers and non-producers than are hearing problems. Only 10.5 percent of producers were unable to inhale to a minimum acceptable capacity based on their age, height and weight. About 6.5 percent of non-producers were unable to inhale to a minimum acceptable capacity.

By the same token, 12.5 percent of producers were unable to exhale to a minimum acceptable level. Slightly more than 9.5 percent of non-producers had exhalation problems.

Usage rates of protective respiratory devices such as masks are comparable to rates for hearing protection. Nearly half (42.6 percent) of producers said they never wear masks, and an additional 30 percent said they wear masks less than half of the time.

Almost half (47.7 percent) of the non-producers failed to indicate their mask wearing habits. Of those who did, 38 percent said they never wear masks. An additional 11.5 percent said they wear masks less than half of the time.

Some support exists for tying mask usage to reduced respiratory problems, especially as it affects the ability to exhale (known as FEV1 in medical terms).

"When we looked at all the patients that were screened, we found that there was a marginally significant relationship between the amount of time a mask was worn and FEV1," says Dr. David Schwartz, director of occupational medicine at the University of Iowa who was involved in analyzing the results. "Which means, as you increase the amount of time that a mask was worn, the FEV1 actually improves. So, that would be in the direction you would expect. The less time the mask was worn, the worse the FEV1 would be."

"However, that was not true when you looked just at the non-farmers in the population, which is kind of what you would expect," he adds. "In analyzing the result just for the farmers, it looks like there's a marginal relationship between the time the mask was worn and the FEV1."

A benefit of a skin cancer screening program is that it educates individuals on self examination.

Dr. Roger Ceilley, a Des Moines dermatologist, who coordinated the skin cancer screenings, says the main signs a person should look for as indicators of potential skin cancer are new growth of a spot, a change in existing growth, or a sore that doesn't heal. Doctors also look at the size of the spot, whether or not the border is asymmetrical and the color.

Early treatment will cure nearly all forms of skin cancer, Ceilley says. If they are neglected, the more serious types such as melanoma are almost uniformly fatal.

Wearing a hat, long sleeved shirts, if possible, and putting sun screen on exposed skin, particularly during the mid portion of the day can help reduce the risks of developing skin cancer, he says.

The Farm Health Center, held for the third consecutive year at World Pork Expo, is part of NPPC's Worker Health and Safety program. It is important to remember that these problems are both preventable and treatable in most cases if people are informed about the environment they work in and take the proper precautions.

The Library Card

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

September is Library Card Sign-up Month, a time when the American Library Association and its 50,000 members remind parents (and grandparents) to make sure children have the most important school supply of all.

Throughout the month, libraries across the country will encourage children and their parents to sign up for a library card.

"Kids who read succeed," says Sue Buryanek, director of the Wayne Public Library. "A library card is one of the best gifts a parent can give a child because it encourages a love of books and reading that will last a lifetime. Research has shown that children who are good readers are more likely to do well in school and throughout life."

The Wayne Public Library is encouraging others, not just children and parents, to make use of the library. Getting a library card is very simple. We ask that you fill out a short registration card for our records and listen to a brief explanation of our rules and services. There is no fee for Wayne residents, however, residents outside the city limits pay a $10 fee, renewable the first of each year.

The library can be an important source of learning and enjoyment for all ages. The American Library Association offers these tips for how your library card can help:

1. How far away is Abu Dhabi? What time is it in London? Get answers to all kinds of questions — ask a librarian.
2. Find out whether there's toxic waste in your community's "backyard". At least one library in every county now has the Toxic Release Inventory (TRI) Database published by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency listing chemicals and wastes released by manufacturing firms (Call 1-800-535-0202 for the library nearest you.)
3. Impress your dinner guests. No matter who's coming to dinner or their dietary habits, your library has cookbooks with the perfect recipe.
4. Be a better sport. Name your game — the library has books to help you improve your technique and mental attitude. The Wayne Library has several instructional videotapes also.
5. Plan your dream vacation. Former President Jimmy Carter and First Lady Rosalyn are among those who say they start every trip with a visit to the library.
6. Shop smarter. Before you buy that new VCR or car, check out the library's consumer buying guides.
7. Check out a job. Whether it's finding names and addresses of companies, writing a resume or perfecting your interviewing technique, the librarian can help you.
8. Find out what it's worth. Before you donate Great Aunt Bertha's wedding gift to the church rummage sale, check out the library's collection of books on antiques and collectibles. That white elephant could prove to be a valuable heirloom.
9. Feeling stressed out? Take a break at the library. Check out some records or tapes. Browse the magazine racks. Ask the librarian to recommend a good read — or listen — we also have books on tapes for those of you who plan to drive some distance and don't want to listen to the radio all the time.

Library Card Sign-up Month is a good month to check out your public library!

POINTERS ON PLAQUE

Dental plaque is a film that forms on the teeth. If not removed it can lead to bacterial infection that can result in tooth loss. You can remove plaque by brushing and flossing daily. There are products available to help you fight against plaque. The important point is that 24 hours after brushing and flossing, plaque begins to form again. Spend a few extra minutes each day on dental hygiene. It will be well worth it. You don't have to floss all your teeth, just the ones you want to keep.

Grip's too tight

It hasn't been that long since Congress tightened its grip on what cable TV companies can and can't transmit. The time is long past that Congress start to act like big boys and realize its mistake.

The blackout law, passed in 1987, establishes that cable systems within a certain radius of network TV stations cannot duplicate the same programming on one channel as is being shown on another.

For instance, if a Sioux City TV station broadcasts the same program as an Omaha TV station at the same time, Sioux City can request that the Omaha program be blacked out. Network TV affiliates argue that blacking out competitors is necessary for advertising purposes. The contrary is true.

If America is based on a free market principle, then why does Congress restrict that market? Probably because Congressional members listen to interest groups, rather than consumers and constituents.

Besides, what is the likelihood that people in Wayne travel to Omaha when Sioux City businesses offer the same goods at relatively the same prices. The TV industry argues that without blackout laws, the big network affiliates hurt the "little guy." Predominantly, in the TV industry, there is no "little guy." Many of the network affiliates are owned by major companies or multi-millionaires. The "little guy" argument has little value by any stretch of the imagination.

If there is one amusing anecdote which has occurred due to federal legislation, it's that politicians who advertise during campaign time are losing valuable air time. The blackout law affects the air time they might get from the "big guy" because the "little guy" has areas blacked out.

We encourage the Washington bureaucrats to throw out the blackout law and start listening to the public, not interest groups. We also suggest that the network affiliates in Sioux City stop advertising their support for "Free TV", when their actions indicate otherwise.

Diversity acknowledged

People of many ethnic, racial, and cultural groups have created a rich and diverse heritage for Nebraskans. This diversity was acknowledged by organizers of events in 1929 which commemorated the diamond jubilee of Nebraska's establishment as a territory. The McCook Tri-Weekly Tribune reported:

"One of the interesting features (of anniversary parade) was the parade of nations, portraying the progress of different nationalities from foreign lands who settled in Nebraska in the early days and since then have become successful and responsible citizens. Their industry and character have helped make Nebraska what she is today. They, together with native-born people, were among the pioneers who suffered the hardships of prairie homemaking. Although proud of their native land and its customs, these people accepted the responsibilities of citizenship and government in the United States and in Nebraska, have become assimilated with our people and have all joined together in the march of progress.

"Nebraska is proud of her law-abiding, loyal citizens of foreign ancestry. It speaks well for our people of Nebraska and for our government to make possible the merging of people of many tongues into one industrious and harmonious group. Nebraska is a great state, so well described in the words of Governor Weaver in accepting a tablet at the celebration of Nebraska's 75th anniversary. He said:

"Nebraska has no mines of gold or silver, or precious stones, but it has a soil which will last forever with proper care and which will feed many times our present population. In addition it has a salubrious climate and a wonderful water supply.

"Civilization is not at its best where men dig in the bowels of the earth. Its richest bloom is found in the wide open spaces where the winds blow and the sun shines on God's creatures and where the food that sustains life is nature's rich gift to free men. Such a state is Nebraska. Its people... will do their bit in the future years in the building of a greater Nebraska which will come primarily from the character and ideals of a people who believe in freedom of opportunity, equality before the law, and that the only justifications for organized society is the happiness and contentment of the citizens who constitute the state."

Governor ushers in Nebraska 2000

This past week, we welcomed to Nebraska Education Secretary Lamar Alexander and ushered our state into a new era; Nebraska 2000.

Education is one of the most critical investments we can make in Nebraska's future. As Governor, education is one of my three priorities; one of my Three E's (along with a clean environment and sound economy). We cannot have one without the others.

We can be very proud of our schools for their quality offerings and the excellent performance of our students in nationwide testing. In order to ensure the continued excellence of education, and to make sure our young people are prepared to take their place in this everchanging world, we need to think and work creatively for the future of education. That's where Nebraska 2000 comes in; as one of the first states to take part in the President's America 2000 program. This is a special honor for our state.

Because of the far-reaching potential education holds for Nebraska, I am excited to share with you an innovative approach that is at the heart of our Nebraska 2000

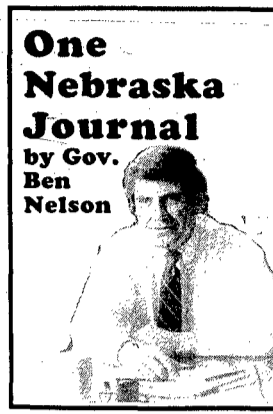

Initiative; High Performance Learning. We'll be hearing more about it in the coming weeks as we bring Nebraska 2000 to the entire state.

A major thrust of Nebraska 2000 will be enlisting all Nebraskans in our work. Substantial progress will not occur at the local level without major commitments of time, energy, creativity and even money (some of which may have to be redirected).

By emphasizing grass-roots, community-wide involvement in Nebraska 2000 and the implementation of High Performance Learning, we must make sure this is a cooperative effort for the future, not to a top-down mandate.

There is much we can do to make this a team effort; we have already accomplished a lot.

In order to help fund educational innovations at the local level, we have worked hard to give Nebraskans the opportunity to create a state lottery. With lottery revenues we can create the Educational Innovation Fund. While not intended to fund on-going programs, lottery revenues would go into the fund to benefit techno-at all levels-including a state-level partnership with business...long a missing link in Nebraska.

In order to build upon the promise of Nebraska 2000 and America 2000, we must strengthen our partnerships among government at all levels; federal, state and local. I am very grateful to the entire Nebraska Washington delegation for their assistance in bridging the federal/state gap.

The communities of Nebraska 2000, whether cities, collections of school districts and town or counties, will build on these partnerships and commitments. The communities of Nebraska will define Nebraska 2000 through their commitment to High Performance Learning and the National Education Goals.

Nebraska 2000 will be fueled by these partnerships, by innovative funding and programs like the lottery and High Performance Learning, and by the commitments of time, energy and ideas that we all (including students) make in our communities.

The future is here today, and in Nebraska 2000 we have a unique opportunity to give it definition.

Peace Corps jumps into 'Wise Schools'

Little attention has been focused on the Peace Corps's goal of sharing its unique international experience with the American people. World Wise Schools, a program launched in September of 1989, is an effort to advance at home the kind of international understanding that Peace Corps Volunteers have spread overseas for thirty years.

The beginning of World Wise Schools coincided with the growing national awareness that many of our young people are woefully ignorant of geography, a fact noted by the importance given the study of geography in the education goals set by the National Governors' Association and by President Bush's AMERICA 2000 education initiative.

World Wise Schools has three objectives: to promote the study of geography, to stimulate interest in the world's many cultures and to demonstrate the value of volunteer service and citizenship in a free society.

In meeting these goals, World Wise Schools brings together classrooms throughout the United States with the Peace Corps Volunteer experience. The program is carried out as follows:

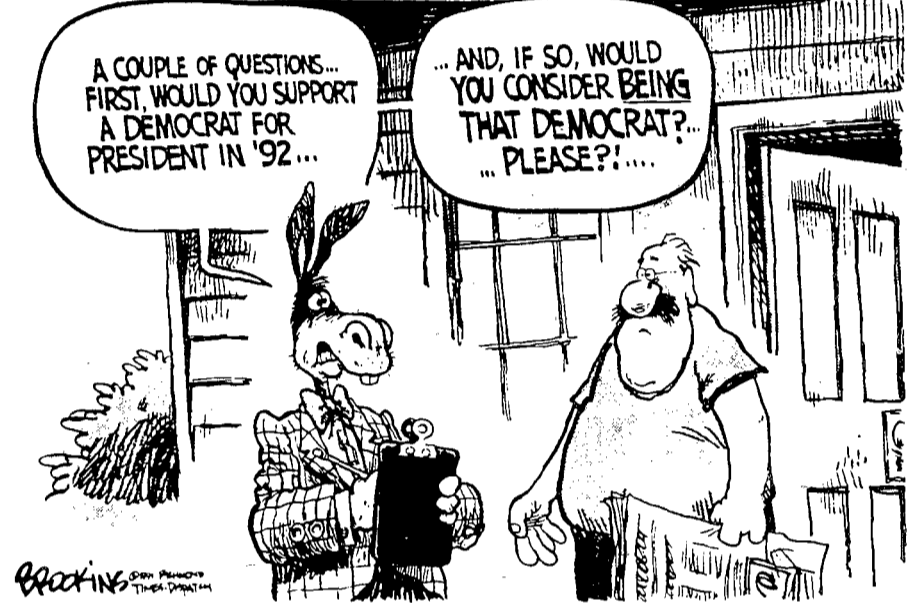

- Peace Corps Volunteer are matched to classrooms (grades three through twelve) according to teacher requests made to the office of World Wise Schools. The request may be general in nature for a Volunteer in the nearly ninety countries served by the Peace Corps, or it may be for a Volunteer in a particular country, or region and/or for one who works in a certain field, such as the environment, education or agriculture.

- Once the match is made, the Volunteer and teacher of the matched class determine the shape and scope of the World Wise relationship. Most volunteers write to their matched class, and many send other items such as photographs or artifacts. In a number of cases, where the volunteer is also a teacher, students in that class have written individuals letters to the matched students in the United States.

- In addition to correspondence between school classes in the United States and Volunteers, the office of World Wise Schools sends videotapes to the library/media center of each school that has a matched class. The videos focus on classrooms where Peace Corps Volunteers serve, providing teachers and students with an informative look at that country. An accompanying handbook contains suggested lessons and cultural education exercises.

- Returned Volunteers are participating in the program in growing numbers. There are more than 200 Returned Peace Corps Volunteers who have indicated a willingness to serve either as classroom consultants or speakers.

Since 1989, World Wise Schools has enrolled some 3,000 classrooms, with 100,000 students. Question about the program can be directed to World Wise Schools Program Director, 1990 K Street, N.W., Suite 7621, Washington, D.C. 20526, or call (202) 606-3294.

Wayne volleyball team downs Schuyler after sluggish start

Marlene Uhing's Wayne volleyball team opened up the home portion of their schedule with Schuyler Tuesday night at the high school and the varsity team started off very sluggish but rebounded to win in three games after losing the first, 8-15, 15-10, 15-4.

The 3-1 Blue Devils were led in the serving category by Erin Pick who was a perfect 16-16 with three aces and 11 points while Danielle Nelson was 13-13 and scored nine points.

Nelson finished the match with 11 set assists while Erin Pick and Liz Reeg led the team in hitting as each pounded out seven kill spikes. "We didn't look very good early on," Uhing said. "It was nice though, to not play well in a contest and still win. That is very important because you are going to have games where you don't play well the whole match and if you can still win some of those matches it can do a lot for the team's confidence."

Uhing said she felt that neither team really got into the flow of the match until the third game when Wayne pretty much dominated. "We did a lot better job of serving the ball," Uhing said. "We connected on 94 percent which is a lot better than we had been serving."

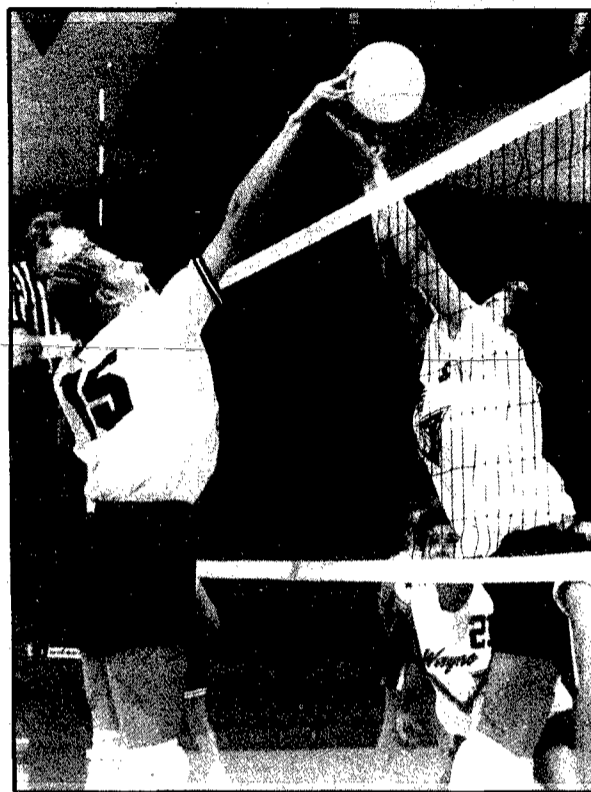

The Wayne junior varsity was not as fortunate as the varsity as they dropped a straight games match to Schuyler, 3-15, 12-15. The "C" team however, defeated the visitors in three games, 9-11, 11-7, 11-2.

"One thing we have to really work hard on is being aggressive on every point," Uhing said. "We are showing good hustle on the floor but at times we are about a half a step slow in getting to the ball."

Wayne will now shift its focus to the North Bend Invitational Saturday. Wayne will play the defending state Class B champions in Columbus Scotus in the first round at 1 p.m.

The other first round match is North Bend against Schuyler. The finals are slated for 4 p.m.

The Blue Devils harriers will travel to Norfolk on Thursday to take part in the Norfolk Catholic Invitational which is slated to begin at 3:30 p.m.

Winside spikers drill Osmond in straight games

The Winside volleyball team went into Tuesday's game with Osmond at Osmond without starting power hitter Wendy Rabe who suffered an ankle sprain in practice on Monday.

Paul Giesselmann's team however, rallied around her injury and rose to another level in drilling the host team in straight games, 15-7, 15-2. The highlight of the second game was when Patty Oberle served 12 straight points to end the match.

"We only had three serve rotations in the second game," Giesselmann said. "Patty really did a nice job of serving for us." Winside was 95 percent successful in serving which was well up from how they served at Battle Creek on Saturday.

Oberle led the team with a 15-15 outing that included five aces while Kari Pichler was 13-15 with four aces. Christi Thurstonson was 6-6 with two aces and Yolande Sievers was 4-4 with one ace.

Pichler finished with nine set assists. "Kari really did a nice job of running our offense," Giesselmann said. Jenny Jacobsen led the hitters with four kill spikes while Holly Holdorf had three kills. Patty Oberle and Chris Colwell each finished the match with two kills. Jacobsen led the Wildcats in blocks with four while Christie Mundil had one.

"Christie Mundil did a real nice job of filling in for Wendy," Giesselmann said. "I was very proud of the way our girls reacted in stepping up the intensity with one of our starters out."

Winside will host Laurel Thursday night before hosting the Wildcat Invitational on Tuesday in which Winside plays Wakefield in the opening match while Coleridge plays Osmond.

Allen Eagles capture victory over Wynot

The Allen Eagles volleyball team defeated Wynot in straight games Tuesday night in the home opener for the Eagles, 15-8, 15-7. Buffy Romshek's squad improved to 3-1 with the win.

"We played a real good game overall," Romshek said. Heather Sachau was the leading server for the Eagles with a perfect 14-14 performance while Steph Chase was 9-10 with one ace.

Christy Philbrick ran the offense from her setter position and the sophomore was 19-21 with six set assists. Denise Boyle was Allen's top hitter with a 13-16 outing that included three kill spikes. Cindy Chase was 8-8 in hitting with no kills. Boyle also led the Eagles in blocks with three.

"Christy Philbrick is really doing a nice job of running our offense," Romshek said. Allen's junior varsity team was defeated in straight games by Wynot, 11-15, 2-15 while the freshman team also lost in straight games, 3-11, 9-11.

Allen will travel to Coleridge Thursday to play the Lady Bulldogs in what should be one of the best matches to be played this year in classes C and D in northeast Nebraska.

Following that match the Eagles will return home for a Tuesday match-up with Ponca before traveling to play Emerson-Hubbard on Thursday the 19th.

Injuries costly for Wildcats as they fall to 0-2

WSC blanked by UNO

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

Dennis Wagner's Wayne State football team fell to 0-2 on the season Saturday night against the UNO Mavericks at Al Caniglia Field in Omaha, following a 28-0 setback.

The Wildcats had been in search of their second consecutive win over the Mavericks following last year's 24-17 win in the same place and things started out real good for WSC as on the first play from scrimmage UNO coughed up the football which was recovered by Chris Nelson at the UNO 32-yard line.

Wayne State came out on the first play with Troy Mott hitting Adam Valencia on a six-yard pass to the 26-yard line. Then Valencia gained one yard up the middle to put WSC in its first third down of the game—a position the Wildcats had trouble with all night.

The Wildcats missed on the third down pass attempt and Blain Branscum's 43-yard field goal attempt failed which meant the scoring opportunity that WSC was given was all for not.

The Cats' held UNO on its next possession and once again WSC found themselves in good field position at the Maverick 48-yard line. WSC moved the ball to the UNO 31-yard line before Mott suffered an interception which was returned to the 21 of UNO.

The Mavericks then sustained a 79-yard drive in 10 plays which culminated in a touchdown of one yard by Abel Fernandez with 4:15 remaining in the first quarter. The host UNO team was aided by three WSC penalties on that drive.

WSC failed to move the ball on its next possession and UNO began another drive which ended early in the second quarter when Brian Ruch's 43-yard field goal attempt was blocked by Chris Nelson.

Bad news then struck the Wildcats as starting quarterback Troy Mott was injured on the first offensive play of the second quarter. Mott sustained a separation of his pinky finger on his throwing hand and will be out several weeks.

Back-up signal caller Clint Williams stepped in and failed to move the Cats' which forced them into punting once again. UNO moved into would be field goal range again but the 38-yard attempt was muffed with a bad snap from center.

WSC and Williams then mounted a drive which began with a 17-yard run by Valencia. The drive stalled however and Valencia was forced to punt once again. UNO moved the ball to its own 41-yard line in three plays before quarterback Paul Cech had a pass intercepted by Todd Alberti who returned it to the Maverick 42-yard line.

The Cats' moved the ball down to the five-yard line and faced a fourth down and one call. The snapped was muffed and it appeared the Cats' were stopped. A deadball illegal procedure call however, moved the ball back five yards and WSC decided to go for the field goal which could have tightened the score to 7-3 at the half.

Instead, Branscum's field goal attempt was blocked and UNO returned the blocked field goal to the Wildcats 43-yard line with little time remaining in the half. UNO ran out the clock for a 7-0 intermission lead.

The Wildcats were pretty even with UNO statistically after one half of play. WSC had 96 total yards while UNO had 121. The Cats' had just four first downs compared to seven by UNO and the Mavericks had 1:26 advantage in time of possession.

WSC lost the services however of Mott with his finger, wide receiver Dave Mentzer, who suffered a separated shoulder and linebacker Mike Kennedy who sprained an ankle.

On Williams first full series of downs after entering the game for the injured Mott, he was hit hard in the head which caused a concussion. Doctors examined Williams at half and determined he could still play.

Second half blues

The second half turned out to be disaster for the Wildcats who finished with minus six total yards during the final 30 minutes of play. The Cats' got the second half kickoff and failed to move the ball with the aid of two penalties and Adam Valencia was forced to punt the ball from the endzone.

Valencia could not handle the low snap and never got the kick away as UNO separated Valencia from the ball and covered it for a touchdown to make it 14-0.

WSC had it three plays and punted again on the next possession. UNO got great field position and mounted a seven-play 61-yard drive for a touchdown which was scored when Cech sneaked in from one-yard out to make it 21-0 with 7:00 left in the third quarter.

On the ensuing possession, Williams was sacked on the first play and he fumbled the ball back to UNO at the WSC 18-yard line but UNO's Cech returned the favor a couple plays later to give WSC back the ball at the 18-yard line. The fumble recovery was made by Scott Fleming.

WSC failed to move the ball and was forced to punt. UNO then began driving the ball but on a fourth down and one call the Wildcats stopped the Maverick attack and took over.

Williams lasted five plays which took the Cats' into the fourth quarter before he was forced to leave the game following another hard hit. "Clint was just incoherent," Wagner said. "He still does not even remember what happened in the game. We were then forced to use our third string quarterback, freshman Jeff Gall from Schuyler who had never taken a varsity snap before but we had no choice."

Gall fumbled his first ever varsity snap from center and WSC was forced to punt again. Both teams traded possessions pretty much for the rest of the game but UNO scored a touchdown on a 12-yard run by Aaron Vactor with just 16 seconds remaining to account for the 28-0 margin.

"I thought defensively we played well enough," Wagner said. "We held UNO to just 202 total yards of offense but offensively we managed only 90 total yards."

UNO finished with 10 first downs compared to six by WSC. The Wildcats had just 58 yards rushing on 42 attempts and just 32 yards passing on 6-16 with two interceptions while UNO had 149 yards rushing on 44 carries and 53 yards passing on 6-19 with one interception.

WSC did have 76 return yards while UNO managed 55. Valencia punted the ball seven times in the contest with a very respectable 43.4 yard per kick average. UNO punted five times for a 40.8 average. The Wildcats were penalized 12 times for 101 yards while UNO had six flags for 45 yards.

The Wildcats suffered four turnovers compared to three by UNO. WSC was just 3-16 on third down conversions while UNO was 4-14. "We never had a condition in the game where we had a second down and less than five yards to go," Wagner said. "We were always in a long yardage situation which played to the advantage of the defense because they can dictate to you instead of the offense dictating the defense."

September 28 will become an open date for the Wayne State football team. According to National Collegiate Athletic Association rules, the game will be recorded as "no contest." The "no contest" will not effect either team statistically.

Attempts were made to reschedule the contest, but a suitable alternative was unavailable, according to Chapman.

Wildcats participate in UNO Invitational

The Wayne State volleyball team traveled to Omaha to participate in the UNO Volleyball Tournament last Friday and Saturday and Nancy Clark's Wildcats came away with a sixth place performance.

Action began on Friday with the Cats' playing against South Dakota State. After a five-game match the Wildcats were handed a 12-15, 8-15, 15-9, 15-10, 9-15 loss.

"I really felt that after the fourth game of the match that we were in complete control," Clark said. "Then SDSU started pounding the ball hard and got some key points which turned the momentum back to their side."

Following the weary two hour match the Wildcats received about a five minute break before playing the University of Nebraska at Kearney where they went four games before losing by scores of 9-15, 15-8, 3-15, 6-15. "Kearney really had some big girls on the team," Clark said.

"They weren't as quick of team as we were and I wish we could have taken more advantage of that fact than we did. We felt it was tough to play right after we played a tough five game match with SDSU and keep the same intensity."

WSC then defeated Missouri Western in four games with scores of 10-15, 15-12, 15-12, 15-13. On Saturday the Wildcats defeated Northwest Missouri State University in five long games with scores of 19-17, 15-7, 12-15, 12-15, 15-8. That victory put WSC into the match for fifth place with Northeast Missouri State in which they lost in four sets, 13-15, 15-12, 10-15, 4-15.

Cori Weinfurter led the Wildcats in serving over the weekend with an 86-88 performance. Shannon Dunning led the team in serving with 96 set assists in 327 attempts.

"I was pleased with our play," Clark said. "We were playing without one of our top players in Kristi Jaminet who is still nursing an injured ankle. Everyone at the tournament was calling us "Five game Wayne" because it took so long when we played."

Clark was pleased with Weinfurter's efforts all weekend. "Cori really did a nice job of serve receiving and hitting," Clark said. "She finished with 39 digs to lead us while Tracy Kuester was right behind her."

Shelly Lueders led the Cats' in hitting with 84 kill spikes in 194 attempts. She also led the team in blocks with 60. "Each team in this tournament was very even," Clark said. "Overall, it was a very good tournament for us to play in because it can only help us down the road playing that type of competition this early in the season."

Allen spikers place in Pender

The Allen Eagles volleyball team placed third in the Pender Invitational which finished up on Saturday. First-year coach Buffy Romshek was pleased with her squad's performance.

In the opening match on Thursday, Allen need very little time to dispose of Homer with scores of 15-2, 15-10. In semifinal action on Saturday however, Allen was defeated in three games by Oakland-Craig, 4-15, 15-12, 1-15. Then in the consolation finals the Eagles soared over Bancroft-Rosalie in straight games, 15-8, 15-7.

"I thought our team played very well with the fact we have only two starters on the team from a year ago," Romshek said. "Against Oakland-Craig we went up against a team that was very tall and very good. Our tallest girl matched Oakland's smallest," Romshek added.

Romshek also noted that after the Oakland match that several of her players got down on themselves but that they showed poise by coming back and defeating Bancroft-Rosalie soundly for third place.

Steph Martinson and Denise Boyle led the Eagles in serving against Homer as Martinson was 11-12 with four aces and Boyle was 9-10 with five aces. Christy Philbrick was 27-28 in the setting department with 11 set assists and Cindy Chase led the hitters with a 7-7 outing that included four kill spikes. Denise Boyle was 4-4 in hitting with two kills and Heather Sachau was 5-7 with one kill. Denise Boyle led the team with two blocks.

In the Oakland-Craig match Christy Philbrick was 9-10 in the serving category and Cindy Chase was 6-7 to lead the Eagles while Philbrick was 34-38 in setting with 14 set assists. Chase was the leading hitter with a 13-15 outing that included six kill spikes. Heather Sachau was 11-12 with one kill and Chase led the team with three blocks.

Finally, in the consolation match with Bancroft-Rosalie, Philbrick led the servers with an 11-14 performance while Chase was 7-7 and Sachau was 10-13. Philbrick was 27-30 in setting with 13 set assists.

Chase was 5-6 in spiking with three kills while Boyle was 7-8 with three kills. Shawna Hohenstein was 5-5 with two kills.

Wayne girls third in tournament

It seemed two different Wayne Blue Devils volleyball teams showed up Saturday to take part in the Beemer Invitational. Wayne played Wisner-Pilger in the semifinals of the tournament on Saturday morning and the match didn't take long at all as Marlene Uhing's team was blasted 15-0, 15-2.

Then in the consolation finals the Blue Devils showed some resiliency as they took it to Scribner-Snyder, 15-11, 15-7 for a third place finish. "In the match with Wisner it was a combination of inexperience plus not showing up ready to play," Uhing said. "The kids went into the match knowing how good Wisner is and did not react well to it."

Erin Pick did have three kill spikes in the match. "Erin was really into the match," Uhing said. "She showed a lot of leadership in the game. It was kind of an embarrassing experience for our girls but volleyball is 90 percent mental and if you don't show up ready to play the good teams than you will get beat badly."

In the consolation finals Wayne was led at the service line by Danielle Nelson who scored seven points and had three ace serves. Kristine Swanson had six points and two ace serves.

Nelson finished the match with 17 set assists while Erin Pick led the team with nine kill spikes. Pick also led the team with four ace blocks while Liz Reeg finished with four kill spikes.

"We played a pretty good match against a good Scribner-Snyder team," Uhing said. "I was glad to see that we could come back and play well after a poor performance against Wisner."

Uhing noted that the difference between the two matches was the confidence level. "We went out against Scribner-Snyder and felt we were going to win the game," Uhing said.

WSC however, scored the rest of the points as Jeff Gall scrambled five yards to hit paydirt with 3:42 remaining in the second quarter. The extra point run failed which left the score tied at six apiece.

Chad McNeese connected on a 24-yard field goal with 1:03 left in the half to give WSC a 9-6 lead which is how the game ended.

Wayne State however, did not have the game in the bag until the Iowa Central Junior College finished with 12 first downs while WSC managed nine. WSC gained 72 yards on the ground in 43 attempts while the visitors had 70 yards on 38 attempts.

Wayne girls cross country team wins meet while boys place 2nd

The Wayne girls and boys cross country teams began the 1991 season Saturday at the Wisner-Pilger Indian Trails Cross Country Invitational. Rocky Ruhl's girls team was crowned champions on the day after scoring 22 points while runner-up Crofton finished with 27 and South Sioux, 32.

The Wayne girls ran in the meet without varsity runners Susie Ensz and Jill O'Leary who are both nursing injuries. Tammy Geiger and Tami Schluns paced the Blue Devils by crossing the finish line in first and second place respectively with some fantastic times.

"Tammy Geiger's first place time of 16:50 was third on the all-time chart," Ruhl said. "Then Tami Schluns crosses the line in 17:25 which is the seventh all-time best clocking. The girls ran very well for the first meet especially without Susie and Jill."

The top 15 runners medaled at the meet. Jessica Wilson earned a ninth place finish in a time of 19:24 and Carrie Junck placed 18th with a 21:07 effort. Emily Wiser also ran for the varsity and was clocked at 21:59 for 21st place. In the boys division the Blue Devils finished runner-up to Crofton with 28 points while the champions had 20. Norfolk Catholic finished third with 64 and Lyons-Decatur finished fourth with 80. South Sioux finished fifth with 81 and Logan View was sixth with 98. Bloomfield rounded out the field of seven teams with 107 points.

The highlight for Wayne was when Todd Fuelberth crossed the finish line in first place with a 17:36 clocking which turns out to be second on the all-time charts. Fuelberth's effort was just three seconds shy of the all-time record of 17:33 held by Jon Hoag of South Sioux.

Fuelberth finished 38 seconds ahead of runner-up Trevor Preston of Lyons-Decatur. Nate Stednitz and Matt Ley finished sixth and seventh respectively for the Blue Devils in times of 19:06 and 19:09 each. # Winside spikers place third in Battle Creek tourney Saturday

Paul Giesselmann's Winside volleyball team placed third in the Battle Creek Tournament held Saturday. The Wildcats squared off against the fourth rated team in Class C1, Hartington Cedar Catholic in the first round and lost in straight games, 15-9, 15-10.

Winside however, fought back to win the consolation round with a straight games victory over Winnebago, 15-3, 15-9. In the Cedar Catholic match Winside got up 5-0 right away and still led 8-6 before suffering some serving problems.

"We missed four of five serves after being ahead 8-6 in the first game," Giesselmann said. "We just can't afford to miss serves against the caliber of teams like Cedar Catholic and still expect to win."

All in all however, Giesselmann wasn't disappointed with his teams outing against the traditional powerhouse Trojans. Christi Thurstensen led the team in serving with a 9-13 performance while Jenny Jacobsen was 5-5 and Holly Holdorf was 4-7. Yolande Sievers finished with a 4-5 outing.

"We missed a total of 10 serves in the two games with Cedar," Giesselmann said. Kari Pichler finished with five set assists in a match that saw the Wildcat hitters suffer as well.

Holly Holdorf was 9-14 in hitting with three kill spikes while Jenny Jacobsen was 5-10 with two kills and Wendy Rabe was 3-6 with two kills. Patty Oberle was 5-5 with one kill. Jacobsen and Rabe led the team in blocks with two and one respectively.

"I was real happy with the fact that we didn't let up on our intensity against Winnebago," Giesselmann said. Yolande Sievers was the top server in the consolation match, going 8-9 with five aces while Holly Holdorf was 6-6 with three aces. Patty Oberle was 9-10 and Jenny Jacobsen was 7-7 while Kari Pichler was 6-7 with an ace and Christie Mundil was 4-5 with an ace.

Pichler finished the Winnebago match with 12 set assists. Jenny Jacobsen and Holly Holdorf each were 7-10 in the hitting department and each managed four kill spikes while Wendy Rabe was 5-8 with four kills and Chris Colwell was 4-4 with three kills. Patty Oberle finished with two kills. Wendy Rabe led the team in blocks with four.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK'S SENIOR CITIZEN CORNER

CAREGIVERS FACE HEALTH RISKS: A recent study done by the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio reveals some shocking facts, and timely warnings, for seniors who care for chronically ill spouses or other members of their families. According to the study, these caregivers may face greater health risks than almost any other senior group. Sue Doty, M.D., Ph.D., is the principal investigator who presented the findings of the study to the Texas Academy of Family Physicians this month. She points out: "Individuals who must care for their spouses may be trapped in a cycle of caregiving without time for their own needs, health maintenance, or even regular exercise. And that puts them at increased risk for impaired health." Doty says that one of the risks involves late detection of cancers, a leading cause of death among men and women over age 75 in this country. "These people are dying because their cancer isn't being caught and treated early," Dr. Doty says. For those who think early detection probably isn't significant in surviving cancer after a certain age, Dr. Doty says, not so: "If you treat an older person who has early breast cancer, she responds to treatment as well as a young person." Doty goes on to say that physicians need to be more aware of these problems and find ways to ensure care for the whole family, caregivers as well as those with health problems.

City hikes electric rates

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

Increasing electric rates, setting a hearing date and approving the quit claim deed of some property topped the Wayne City Council agenda Tuesday night.

According to the 1991-92 budget, an additional $16,000 in revenue is needed to pay for anticipated rate hikes by Western Area Power Administration (WAPA) and changes by Nebraska Public Power, which will result in increases in rates charged to the city for electrical usage during the summer and decreases during the winter.

According to City Administrator Joe Salitros, this means residential consumers will see a net change in their electrical billing from $3 per kilowatt hour to $3.30 per kilowatt hour and a change from $3.30 per KWH to $3.65 per KWH. The latter figure applies only to 90 commercial and industrial customers which use substantial amounts of electricity.

"We've tried to keep rates in line with other communities our size and I think that speaks well of the city," Salitros said.

In 1990, the city had an utility operating deficit and with the increase from WAPA expected in 1991-92, the hike is necessary.

THE CITY council also approved a public hearing date for two applications for use of the city's revolving loan fund.

The two applicants are Ivonne Sporr, who is opening Wayne Dry Cleaners and Rick Benson, who has opened the Big Dipper deli.

Wayne Dry Cleaners is asking for a $10,000 loan for the purchase of new equipment and working capital and the Big Dipper is asking for $5,000, which will be used for sewer and pavement work for customer parking.

Each business will have a five year payback period on the loans if their requests are approved. The council set their hearing for the next meeting, Sept. 24 at 7:35 p.m.

IN DEALING with the approval of a quit claim deed, the council approved to create a quit claim deed for Eating Establishment of Wayne, Inc., which is also known as Runza.

What apparently created the need for the quit claim deed was that lot 13 in the Pine Heights Addition to Wayne was deeded to the city from the state at the time the armory was built. The property was initially to be used for utility easements but that never evolved since the armory received its utility service from a different direction.

"We're just cleaning up the records," Salitros said. "Runza's attorney and our attorney agreed this would be the best way to handle the situation."

IN OTHER MATTERS the council:

- Supported a proposal to create city financing of an improvement district along Grainland Road for two investors interested in purchasing some property. The district will be for water and sewer improvements, providing the deal is eventually approved by the council.

- Approved requests for a special designated liquor permit from The Windmill Restaurant, Inc. for an Oct. 4 Wayne State College Homecoming dance at the Armory and a M.G. Waldbaum's Halloween Party, also at the armory.

- Approved a special designated liquor permit from the Wayne VFW for an Oct. 7 Ducks Unlimited banquet at the armory.

- Approved a resolution for sewer improvement along East First Street.

- Approved mayoral appointments of Logan McClelland to the Wayne Airport Authority, replacing Earl Tooker and Robert Oborny to the Recreation/Leisure Services Commission.

ESU 1 board studies plans

By LaVon Anderson
Assistant Editor

Members of the Educational Service Unit One (ESU 1) board of directors spent considerable time Tuesday night with representatives of the architectural firm of Dana, Larson and Roubal of Omaha to discuss plans for a new facility in Wayne to house the unit's two Wayne programs.

Located in the new facility will be the Wayne Children's Development Center, a program for severe and profound youngsters presently located in a building leased from Region IV, and the Wayne Learning Center, a behaviorally disordered program located in a building owned by ESU 1 on the east edge of Wayne.

Board members discussed design plans for the new facility, with final details to be worked out at future meetings.

A REPRESENTATIVE for the architectural firm told board members Tuesday night that the facility will include 7,000 square feet.

He also presented the board with a breakdown of estimated expenses for the new facility, including $422,500 for construction (site development, building construction and storm shelter construction); $6,500 for fixed equipment (kitchen equipment, fixed casework); $38,500 for professional fees (architectural/engineering, topographic survey/soils testing, miscellaneous reimbursable expenses); and $15,000 for project contingency (primarily the printing costs and instructions for bid letting).

The estimated figures do not include the general expenses of property acquisition and legal/miscellaneous fees.

Although a site for the new facility has not yet been secured, board members continue negotiations for purchase of a five-acre site located directly west of Wayne's new water tower.

Target date for completion of the new structure is September 1992.

IN OTHER business Tuesday night, ESU 1 board members:

- Unanimously approved a motion confirming the 1991-92 ESU 1 levy rate at 3.32 cents;

- Heard a presentation by Administrator Rodney Garwood regarding the annual report. "I'm pleased with the report," said Garwood, adding that it not only informs the schools of services provided by ESU 1, but provides a bench mark as to where ESU 1 is and where it is headed in the future;

- Heard a report by Special Education Director Duane Tappe regarding new faculty members;

- Unanimously approved a mileage policy correction which clarifies the assigned base for out-state employees;

- Unanimously approved a motion authorizing the ESU 1 administration to apply for accreditation approval;

- Approved by a vote of five to four to allow additional compensation of payment of 30 college credit hours as defined on the classified salary schedule for two ESU 1 employees who are presently at the bottom of the salary schedule;

- Unanimously approved a motion to amend the contracts of Sheila Bakker from 148 to 166 days and Rosemary Manges from 148 to 185 days;

- Unanimously approved the resignation of Michele Chwirka, school nurse, and authorized the administration to fill the nursing vacancy with a qualified candidate;

- Voted unanimously to offer a contract to Renae Thomsen, speech pathologist, for 152 days.

School night for scouting to be held in Wayne on Sept. 12

All boys in first through 12th grade will have the opportunity to join the "Wonderful World of Scouting," during the annual recruiting drive of the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts. School Night For Scouting will take place at 7 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 12 at the Wayne Elementary School.

A boy in the first grade, or 6 years of age can get his start in Scouting by becoming a Tiger Cub. This program is designed for a boy and adult to have fun while they "search, discover and share," which is the Tiger Cub motto.

Second and third grade boys can join Cub Scouts, while fourth and fifth graders can be Webelos. The boys work with other boys their age in a Den, as part of a Pack.

Any boy who is 10 1/2 years of age and has completed fifth grade, or is at least 11 and under 18 years of age, is eligible to join Boy Scouts.

During the past year the local Cub Scout's have been very active. They built and raced pinewood derby cars at the annual Scout-O-Rama, made crafts and had the opportunity to shoot BB guns and arrows at Cub Day Camp, and the Webelos also attended camporees and Webelos Camp.

Boy Scouts are active year-round, providing opportunities to hike, camp, fish, ski, canoe, swim and much more. While earning merit badges, Scouts have an opportunity to learn and grow, developing skills and knowledge, while developing leadership skills.

In October, the Webelos and Boy Scouts will be participating in a Fall Camporee which feature a "Rendezvous" theme. The Scouts will have the opportunity to work with members of black powder clubs, sleep in Indian teepees, along with other activities for a fun-filled weekend.

Although a boy can join Scouting at anytime, the fall is the best time to get involved. For an opportunity to find out more about what "Today's Scouting" has to offer boys in first through 5th grades and adults should attend the School Night for Scouting. Parents with boys in 6th-12th grades should call the Scoutmaster for more information.

The Cubmaster of Pack 174 is Rodney Hefti, 375-2157 and the Scoutmaster of Troop 174 is Chuck Rutenbeck, 375-3155.

More information regarding the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts can be obtained by calling unit leaders, or Mike McMorro, District Executive, at 371-8358.

Guard members can anticipate raise under conditions of Montgomery Bill

Members of the Nebraska National Guard enrolled as college undergraduates using the Montgomery GI Bill will soon receive a pleasant surprise.

Beginning Oct. 1, full-time students will be receiving monthly checks of $170, an increase of $30 over past checks, according to chief Warrant Officer Howard Heath, Nebraska National Guard education services officer.

Heath said Nebraska Army National Guard and Air National Guard members attending school part-time will also receive an increase. Those enrolled for three-quarter time will receive $128, half-time $85, and less than half-time, $43. The Chapter 106 program will help retain trained Guard members, and attract new ones.

The raise was recently passed by Congress to help defray rising costs of a college education, said Heath. He said Sen. Sonny Montgomery, D-Miss., was a leading force in getting the original bill enacted by Congress on July 1, 1985.

"The benefit was worth $5,040 over 36 months. It's now worth $6,120," Heath said.

Currently 2,026 of about 5,000 Nebraska Army Guard and 627 out of about 1,000 Nebraska Air National Guard members are taking advantage of the bill.

To be eligible, current Guard members must have re-enlisted or extended for a six-year commitment since July 1, 1985. New recruits must sign a six-year commitment. Members must have a high school diploma or a GED, completed basic training, and completed advanced individual training, or technical school training.

Other rules also apply.

In conjunction with the Montgomery GI Bill benefits, qualified Guard members can also get the Nebraska Guard's State Tuition Assistance Program that pays 75 percent tuition at state-funded institutions to the first 1,200 members who apply. They can also get up to $10,000 paid on students loans, enlistment bonuses for certain careers, and a monthly salary.

Security in Wayne gets high marks

For the most part, Wayne residents can feel like their police department is serving them well, if reports from the Nebraska Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice are any indication.

The report, which rates first class cities 1990 crime comparisons, found Wayne with the lowest number of crimes per 1,000 residents in the state.

Wayne came in first of the 28 safest first class cities in the state with a crime per 1,000 residents ratio of 16.9. The highest was Scottsbluff with 79.1 per 1,000 residents. Scottsbluff's population is 13,711 and Wayne's is 5,142.

Coming in with the second highest crime rate per 1,000 residents was Grand Island with a 66.7 rating and North Platte was third with a 66.6 rating. Grand Island's population was recorded as 39,396 and North Platte's census total was 22,605.

Other first class cities within the same population range as Wayne which ranked higher in the crime category were: Chadron, which ranked fourth worst with a 65.9 rating for 5,588 residents; Lexington, which placed sixth with a 53.8 rating for 6,601 residents; Plattsmouth, which hit 12th place with a 42.3 rating for 6,412 residents; Ogallala, which was 16th with a 33.0 rating for 5,095 residents.

In the same geographical region as Wayne, South Sioux City wound up with the 11th place with a 43.5 rating out of 9,677 residents. Norfolk wound up seventh from worst with a 49.7 rating for 21,476 residents.

The mean for the crime comparisons listed the average city at 12,866 residents with a 45.4 crime rate per 1,000 residents.

The Farmer's Wife

By Pat Melerhenry

If you ever want to feel out of the mainstream, try driving away from Lincoln on a Saturday morning of a home game. I met so many cars. Wayne and Madison counties were in the majority; Cedar seemed to be in its own little convoy, and of course, Platte, Stanton, and Cuming county cars were all coming from the north.

As hot and muggy as it was, I was just as glad not to be going. And then there was a thunderstorm and they had to delay it for 20 minutes. I'm waiting for some crisp fall weather. I can't believe how the soybeans changed this week.

Nebraska's state flower, the goldenrod, is in all the ditches. Some folks are having a terrible time with allergies; itching, watery eyes and sneezing.

For the first time in ten years, we don't have anyone at Nebraska Wesleyan. Instead, we have a Wayne State Wildcat. In fact, a large part of Morey Hall has been invaded by Winside kids. It sure will be a lot handier.

I made it to the State Fair for just a couple hours. The quilt display was fantastic. So many original designs and hours and hours of work. I also enjoyed the paintings.

Boyd County had a booth opposing the nuclear waste dump, and Lowell Fisher himself was in it when I went by. One has to admire his determination, while wondering how he gets anything else done.

Just before I left, I found the photography exhibit. There were several amazing pictures of the crash of Flight 232. They were taken by an EMT, close up, and sort of take your breath away. I see by the news that they will begin filming the movie in Sioux City this week. That will bring back memories for many people.

There is a large Latvian population in Lincoln. I remember when I lived there in the late 50's, there was a lot of bitterness about Russia occupying all the Baltic countries.

This week, they are officially independent again. It's been fifty years, but they've done it. Heavens, I haven't even heard of most of the countries that are suddenly popping up.

In Tokyo, Carl Lewis set a new record for the 100, at age 30; and a teammate finally broke the long-jump record.

Last, but not least in the news, Tom-Harkin will go for the presidency next year. How are you betting on Bob Kerrey?

Norfolk Elks sponsor contest

The Norfolk Elks is sponsoring a poster contest for drug awareness. The poster contest is open to students in grades 4,5 and 6 in Northeast Nebraska.

There is no set theme, except that the poster must address the dangers of alcohol, marijuana, cocaine, or tobacco. Minimum size of the poster is 11"x17" and maximum size is 12"x18". Entries should include the child's name, sex, grade, school, and home town on the back side of the poster.

Two male and two female winners will be selected and they will win a savings bond from the Norfolk Elks. Deadline for entries at the Norfolk Elks Lodge is 5 p.m., Friday, Oct. 11. Winners will be announced during red ribbon week, Oct. 19 through Oct. 25. All entries will be on display at the Elks Lodge on East Norfolk Avenue during red ribbon week.

Northeast Nebraska winners will be eligible for entry into the Nebraska Elks Association Statewide Competition. Winners at the state level will be announced in late January, 1992, and will receive a $50 savings bond.

Adverse Drug Reactions and the Elderly

Studies have shown that the elderly have more adverse reactions to medicines than does any other age group. In fact, about one-half of all medicine-related problems are reported to occur in the elderly. To help prevent reactions:

1. Keep a record of all the medicines you take and the names and phone numbers of health providers that take care of you. Call these individuals when medicine-related problems are suspected.
2. Ask your physician and pharmacist questions about the medicines you take.
3. Take medicines exactly as prescribed. Never take medicines that have been prescribed for someone else.

The GOLDEN YEARS

Health promotion and disease prevention aren't just for the young but should be stepped up for people over 50, says a report of the National Academy of Science (NAS). Moreover, the NAS Institute of Medicine says, efforts should be broadened to prevent older people from becoming disabled by disease, and to help those with disabilities to cope with their conditions and keep them from worsening. Among the report's recommendations: Immunization of all people over 50 against influenza and pneumococcal pneumonia, more research to prevent bone loss from osteoporosis, periodic assessment by physicians of the diet and nutritional status of elderly patients, making treatment of depression available to more elderly people, and expanded cancer screening for people over 50.

There can be pluses and minuses in hiring older people for part-time jobs. A Pittsburgh company which is a distributor in the metals industry employs 10 retired people as telemarketers. On the minus side: Difficulties in scheduling because of illnesses and doctor appointments. The big plus: Since 1986 the retirees have helped to increase the company's sales by 50 percent.

Remember when? 1920 — Race horse Man O' War won 20 out of 21 races and was named by the Associated Press as the greatest horse ever to take to the track.

FARM SAFETY WEEK SEPTEMBER 15 - 21

The Wayne County Public Power District would like to remind you to practice an extra margin of safety during the busy harvest season ahead. During the month of August, eight Nebraskans died in farm accidents, making last month the deadliest month for farm fatalities since 1969.

Through August this year, 21 people have died in farm-related accidents. Statistically, September and October tend to be the worst months for farm accidents in Nebraska. DON'T BECOME A STATISTIC. Make safety your number one priority this harvest season!

Also, if you are planning on constructing new grain handling or storage facilities this fall, be sure to contact the District Office to be sure you comply with the clearance envelope for grain storage bins. District personnel will be more than happy to ensure your safety by locating these facilities away from overhead powerlines.

Remember, good safety practices always reap a bountiful harvest.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

When you hit 40
And life gets you down
Grab your life jacket
And try not to frown

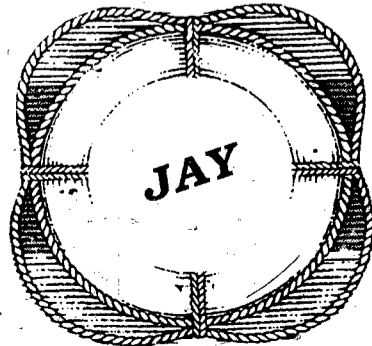

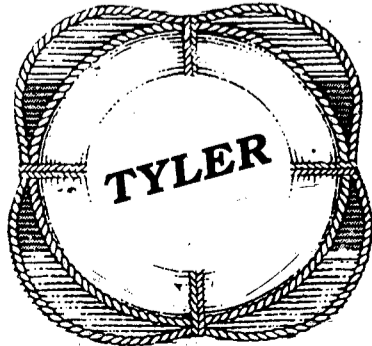

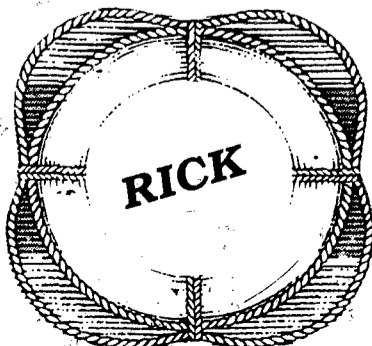

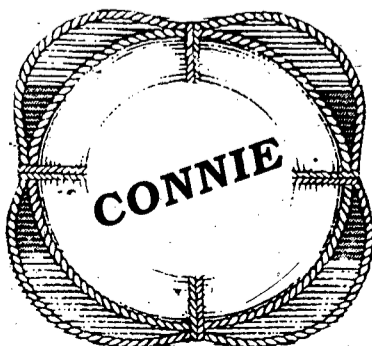

Just pick yourself up
And don't make a sound
Put on your best suit
For a night on the town

It's been a great time
All of these years
Lots of good memories
And plenty of cheers

This all has to rhyme
So just let us say
Enjoy the whole week
And Happy Birthday!

"Dr. Feidler is wonderful. I've been going to him for years."

Stella Abler had Cataracts.

She had "Single-Stitch" Cataract Surgery.

"I wasn't seeing very well. Dr. Feidler told me my cataract was ready to be removed. It took me a month or two to make up my mind, but I wanted to drive the car, so I had it done."

Cataract surgery was very simple. I didn't feel a thing. I recovered from it very quickly. The next day it didn't bother me at all.

I just talked to my daughter. She has cataracts in both eyes. Now, she's having it done because of the excellent results I had.

Dr. Feidler is wonderful. I've been going to him for years. My whole family sees Dr. Feidler."
