Council unveils ward plan

Wayne's city council gave first approval to redistricting plans for city wards Tuesday night, allowing public input before the redistricting gets final approval.

The council approved the first reading of a city law, which makes slight changes to the makeup of Wayne's four wards. The second reading died for lack of a motion. The matter will be discussed at the next three meetings.

What this means to Wayne residents of voting age is that there will be some minor shifts in wards.

Ward Four will take over a portion of Ward Three, which includes Bressler Park from Douglas Street to Main and from 10th Street. The ward was formerly to 8th Street on the north for three blocks.

The First Ward will lose three city blocks to Ward Four, while picking up an area along Walnut Drive to Main Street and north to 10th Street. Ward Three loses one block across from the college between Pearl and Main Streets and 12th and 13th Street. To make up the difference, the Third Ward will pick up a portion of residents on the Wayne State campus.

The Second Ward actually changes very little, with the exceptions of the areas designated that go to Ward One and Ward Three.

IF THE PROPOSED redistricting plan goes through, this city map shows how each ward will be composed.

"WE TRIED to average 1,047 voters in each of the wards," Salitros told the council. "The way this works out, each ward will be close to that figure."

As a result of the redistricting plan, Ward One has 1,051 voters; Ward Two has 1,052 voters; Ward Three has 1,040 voters and Ward

Four has 1,053 voters. The number of voters is determined by the 1990 census.

"This will probably change again in 10 years as the population continues to shift," Salitros added. "Wards Two and Three will probably see increases. The First Ward can't grow much more because of zoning and the waste treatment plant. The Second Ward will probably see nominal growth."

IN DEALING with another census figure, the city council gave support for student crosswalks around the city's three public schools but opted to have a specialist study the feasibility of having a four-way stop placed at the 4th and Douglas intersection.

Included in that study will be the feasibility of placing flashing lights near crosswalks for west-bound traffic on 3rd and 5th streets before the Douglas intersection and a flashing light for eastbound traffic along 3rd street before the Sherman Street intersection.

The issue of placing stop signs at the 4th and Douglas intersection was brought to the council at an August meeting. After discussing the matter with resident Brad Wieland, who lives near the intersection, the council asked the schools to conduct a feasibility study.

Wayne Schools Supt. Dr. Francis Haun presented the results of the study, conducted by board member Cap Peterson, at the meeting Tuesday night.

Sandra George

Association to be led by area native

Dixon native Sandra George has been named the new director of the Nebraska Press Association. The announcement was made last week.

"I thought this was the perfect opportunity to work in journalism but still get benefits from my law degree," she said. "This will be a nice opportunity to work with people I went to UNL law school with."

George, 32, is the daughter of Harold and Marie George of Dixon.

A 1976 graduate of Laurel-Concord High School, she received her degree in journalism from the University of Nebraska in 1979 and her law degree in 1983.

AFTER EARNING her bachelor's degree, she worked at the Grand Island Independent through 1980. After a year at the Independent, she returned to the University of Nebraska to earn her law degree.

Upon graduating from law school, she was an attorney in Columbus until 1985, when she returned to the Independent as a management trainee. Since her marriage to Dr. Michael McGonigal in 1987, she has been the publisher of the Hillsdale (Mich.) Daily News.

George will replace retiring Nebraska Press Association Director Jim Raglund.

"Basically, my hope in this job is to keep Nebraska safe for journalism," she said. "Nebraska is special because many people read newspapers and the literacy rate in the state is high. That's something I hope to maintain."

"NEBRASKA has a vast need for the community newspaper and that's something I want to help keep strong," she added.

George will officially take the helm of the Nebraska Press Association Jan. 1, 1992. She will begin working at the NPA office Nov. 1.

Making use of United Way funds

PAL utilizes money for special event

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of three articles about organizations assisted by the Wayne United Way.

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

Although this is the first year the People Are Loved (PAL) organization has asked for support from United Way, the money the organization receives will mean a great deal to some special people.

PAL, which first began some five years ago, is a group which has three basic goals.

One goal is to provide a structured social evening for people with disabilities

A second goal is to bring people who are disabled and the community closer together.

PAL's third goal is to have people look past the handicap and see a person who has the joys and sorrows and wants to be loved.

"We've grown so much," says Lynette Carmichael, one of the original organizers of PAL. "We're reaching out and doing bigger things with everyone and we feel we need more donations."

Five years ago, PAL started with 25 people. Today, its roster boasts over 60 people, who attend regular, monthly meetings at the Wayne United Methodist Church.

WHILE MANY of the organizations asking for money will use the United Way support they receive for various purposes, PAL has one specific use for the $750 it has asked for: to hold a spring formal for the organization's clients.

"The first time we had a formal was last year," Carmichael says. "It was the first time many of the clients ever got to get dressed up and attend a formal. It was pretty much like a regular prom. Some clients dressed up in formals and others came in casual attire. Really, it didn't make any difference because we had such a great time."

Last year's spring formal was the biggest event PAL has ever put on for the handicapped.

In addition to PAL's formal, the organization has been an active participant in the Fantasy Forest for four years. For three years, they have had an entry in the Chicken Show parade and for two years, they have taken part in Pumpkin Days. Also, for two years, PAL has put on Christmas banquets at the Black Knight.

PAL VOLUNTEERS range from participants to volunteers. Many volunteers have found that their lives have been enriched from getting to know PAL members.

"They are handicapped, but they still need friends," says Nancy Johnson of the Laurel Girl Scout program. "I feel good that we could help them. I liked them because they are different."

"They like to be treated like anyone else," adds Doris Nelson, of Concordia Lutheran Church in Concord. "The group was so loving. It was a satisfying feeling of helping and it was one of the nicest things we have done."

During their regular meetings, PAL participants will share information about happenings followed by entertainment. Following sing-alongs or games, the organizers of the evening's event will draw five door prizes, followed by a game of Bingo and refreshments.

While PAL has been around for five years, Carmichael says there will soon be some new people

Officials warn retailers about fake IDs

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

Attention underage party animals: the word is out and so are fake IDs.

Nebraska State Patrol Inspector Dave Nicholson gave a presentation to area alcohol retailers about the problem of fake IDs Monday at the Black Knight Restaurant in Wayne.

"We've experienced a lot of problems in Wayne, especially this year," Nicholson said. "It's incredible what we've seen this year and we want to alert you to what's happening."

Apparently enrollment increases at Wayne State College have facilitated the problem. He said law enforcement officials are investigating an increased number of fake ID complaints this year over others.

PART OF THE problem is that bar owners haven't been made familiar with the fake ID look. Another problem is that students can freely obtain fake IDs from companies in California, which sell them.

"If a document is good enough to fool me, it'll fool you and I won't likely press charges," Nicholson said.

Some of the indicators retailers were advised to look for include the following:

- Changes in type style on the license.
- Obvious shadows when holding the license up to light.
- Indications that the licenses have been relaminated.
- Identification photographs taken where patron is wearing a hat or glasses.
- Identifications which have incorrect physical descriptions.

• If licenses have expired dates, they might be fake.

• When given an ID that is believed to be fake, ask the patron simple questions like what their social security number is, what year they graduated high school and how old they are.

• If a patron is believed to be carrying a fake ID, have them sign their name.

• If an ID has nothing on the back, then it most likely is fake.

• If an ID is poorly trimmed, than it is most likely fake.

RETAILERS were also told that they have the right to refuse service to anyone they believe is using a fake ID. Nicholson added that if retailers are given a fake ID, they can seize it without permission of the patron. Basically, patrons have to follow house rules, Nicholson said.

Another way retailers were advised to protect themselves is to have suspected underage patrons provide their name, social security number and date of birth. By doing this, the retailer can contact the state patrol or the local police for a background check.

American Heart Association announces 1991-92 events

The Wayne County Affiliate of the American Heart Association met recently with 14 members at Providence Medical Center and discussed the 1991-92 fund drive.

Marian Simpson, a member of the Wayne County Affiliate, said the 1991-92 campaign is off to a great start following the Swim for Heart event which raised $1,200.

Approximately 25 swimmers took part in the event and Melissa Fluert was named the 1991-92 Swim for Heart Champion, raising $197.05.

Simpson said plans are currently underway for the next American Heart Association sponsored event — the Celebrity Waiter Event — scheduled Oct. 20.

Runners are asked to mark their calendars for the second or third week in April 1992. These are the tentative dates for the Heart and Sole Classic.

A REPORT from the 1990-91 year showed the Wayne County Affiliate raised approximately $2,000 more than in 1989-90.

The total for the 1990-91 year was $6,052, up from the 1989-90 total of $4,038.

"The report of the 1990-91 drive should make the residents of Wayne County proud of their contributions," said Simpson, adding that the local affiliate reached the goal set by the Nebraska Heart Association based on population and income.

Funds were raised through a teleparty, residential drive, memorials, direct mail, Swim for Heart, and Heart and Sole Classic.

A VIDEO, entitled "Every 30 Seconds," was shown as a reminder that cardiovascular disease remains a serious threat and that someone suffers a heart attack every 30 seconds.

"Research and education are still needed," said Simpson, who encourages Wayne County residents to continue their efforts in the drive to control cardiovascular diseases.

FAT CELLS DON'T INCREASE

A recent study reported in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association found that for every additional hour sitting in front of a TV your fat cells INCREASED IN SIZE by 2%. This is true both in adults and children. The study also showed that those who are overweight are gaining even more weight. Exercise and diet can REDUCE THE SIZE of your fat cells. Inactivity can INCREASE THE SIZE of your fat cells. Fat cells only increase or decrease in SIZE not numbers.

Democrats' only choice

As the time grows near for Nebraska Sen. Bob Kerrey to announce his candidacy for president, it's growing more and more obvious that Kerrey represents the Democratic party's only chance to unseat the Republican White House.

Kerrey, called the only candidate to challenge traditional Democratic positions, stands as the lone viable candidate who can beat a Bush-Quayle ticket. Since New York Gov. Mario Cuomo, Missouri Sen. Dick Gephardt and Tennessee Sen. Al Gore seem unwilling to run for the land's highest office, Kerrey may be the Democrats' next best bet.

If former Massachusetts Sen. Paul Tsongas were to win the Democratic party's nomination, the election would turn into the same landslide the nation saw in 1988 when Bush plastered Dukakis.

If former California Gov. Jerry Brown does go ahead and run for president, the likelihood of his beating Bush is about as likely as a snowball's survival in Death Valley during a 140 degree summer day.

While there is some support for the Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, campaign, Harkin lacks the finesse of Kerrey. The Iowa senator has oft been criticized for being too boisterous and too outspoken to become president. While Harkin represents the Democrat party's second best choice, his aggressive nature serves as a mark against him.

That leaves the democrats with Kerrey. While the Nebraska senator served only four years as governor and will have served only four years as senator if he is nominated, he is the only candidate fit to challenge Bush in 1992.

In his two campaigns in Nebraska, Kerrey, a relative unknown, was able to defeat a rather popular governor in Charles Thone. In his campaign for U.S. senate, he was able to defeat a strong Republican senator appointed by former Governor Kay Orr.

If Bush can continue to nominate and have selected relative unknowns in Supreme Court Justice David Souter and Justice-candidate Clarence Thomas, than it is possible that a relative unknown candidate for president can defeat a Bush-Quayle ticket. Kerrey may be that person providing he selects a running mate who will compliment his ticket appropriately.

Perhaps we should support a Kerrey run for president for lack of any better Democratic choices.

Editorial Briefs

Keep the money in Nebraska

Three cheers for State Attorney General Don Stenberg. His calling Gov. Ben Nelson a "tax waster" may be a bit much, but his calling our attention to Nelson keeping an out-of-state law firm on the payroll was warranted.

... The message from the state the last few years has been "promote Nebraska." Sending $85 grand to Washington, D.C. isn't promoting Nebraska. Nor is hiring a Denver firm to do a study on the location of US Highway 275, which is what the State Department of Roads has done.

That Stenberg is willing to speak out against the governor is another indication that more and more Nebraska public servants are working for the best interest of the public.

West Point News

Volunteers often forgotten in projects

Last week's open house at Synhorst and Schraad Telemarketing in Wisner is another positive sign that there are good things happening in small communities.

... But there were two people among many volunteers who were unable to be present for the ribbon cutting Thursday that, without them, much of the work would not have been completed. They are Don Miller and Clarence Schmitt, both of Wisner. The two retirees contributed a great deal of valuable knowledge and time doing some of the work in the remodeling process. It's little contributions like this that top oftentimes go unnoticed and unappreciated.

Wisner News-Chronicle

Complaining serves no purpose

It seems to us that many Nebraska school district officials who are moaning and groaning about the state's new parental notification law for minors seeking abortions, are being unnecessarily alarmed.

... School districts should follow directives, send along the information, and quit whining over whether they are the proper authority to distribute information.

Developing the resources

Protecting the environment

Knowing that we have environmental problems and concerns doesn't mean anything unless we have the will and resources to solve them. As our awareness of the environment grows with each local project and environmental campaign, we will be increasingly challenged in Nebraska to protect the quality of the environment we currently enjoy, and be asked to do more to remedy problems.

By conducting a statewide environmental tour this week, I hope to carry a message highlighting many of the things we are doing right in Nebraska.

So very often in talking about the environment we spend a lot of time talking about problems; we are catching people doing things wrong. Occasionally, we have the opportunity to catch some people who have done the right thing in the process.

We need a safe environment to not only be true to our heritage as a land of vast natural resources and incredible agricultural production, but to offer all our citizens the quality of life they deserve and for which Nebraska has come to be known around the world.

I believe that by getting acquainted with the natural beauty and resources of Nebraska, much can be done to build and strengthen partnerships needed to preserve the environment and remedy existing damage.

There are many things that should be considered when natural resources and environmental policy are discussed.

Nebraska has a great heritage in terms of the environment and the historical past that we should be identifying and talking about in the process of dealing with the question of "How do we preserve what we have and how do we build for the future?"

One Nebraska Journal by Gov. Ben Nelson

I do not believe Nebraskans want to "shut off" the development of reservoirs and other projects, but that it must be done carefully to preserve the quality of Nebraska's natural resources.

Development has to be done very carefully, and it has to be planned. Otherwise, we will not have the kind of environment to leave for the next generations that we've inherited.

I can sense, from my conversations with people everywhere I go, a very strong concern about leaving not only our country and our state and our county and our city, but the world, better for the next generations. And it begins at home; at home in the One Nebraska.

Five reasons for Husker losses

Like the Super Bowl game a few years ago between Denver and San Francisco, I couldn't help but remark on last weekend's Nebraska-Washington game.

Anyway you look at it, there is some rhyme and reason behind Nebraska's 35-21 loss to Washington. As I sat watching the Huskers launch a similar attack as the Japanese had on Pearl Harbor (or Colorado had on Nebraska a year ago), I couldn't help but grumble like every other armchair quarterback.

While I read the comments about the apparent demise of the Nebraska program, I enjoy watching the Huskers play on TV. Nevertheless, I have concluded that there are five reasons why the Cornhuskers cannot beat ranked opponents.

1. Bob Devaney is no longer Nebraska's coach. I'm serious about this folks. For years critics have said Coach Tom Osborne is not Devaney. I don't think Osborne should be Devaney, nor do I think Devaney should be Osborne. The problem is that I'm starting to wonder if Osborne realizes that I'd like to see all Nebraskans chase the ghosts out of the closet and let the coach coach.

2. Washington is a better team than Nebraska. The Huskers did well for three quarters against an opponent that is better than they are. Nebraska's only problem is that the Cornhuskers haven't been able to run the marathon. The Huskers also have to get over getting ahead and enticing their fans into believing that "they're going to do it this time." By now we should realize that just because the Huskers get ahead against a ranked opponent doesn't mean they're going to win.

by Mark Crist

3. During televised games, I'm too active. I have to get up from my chair at least five times to go to the kitchen or to take the dogs out. I think this definitely has an effect on the Huskers because they always get beat when I get up more than three times.

4. Someone wears the wrong colors. Whenever anyone in my family wears Cornhusker red, or clothing which denotes favoritism when Nebraska plays a ranked opponent, the Huskers get beat. I, personally, have decided that this is an influential factor that results in Nebraska's demise. That's why you'll usually find me wearing my Colorado T-shirt or my University of Alaska-Anchorage sweat shirt when Nebraska plays anyone worth noting.

5. I'm rooting for the wrong team. Three years ago, when Nebraska just squeaked by Colorado, I was rooting for the Buffs. Had I been cheering for Washington Saturday, Nebraska surely would have won.

So there you have it. It's not Nebraska's fault they can't win the "big one." It's my fault. I'm rooting for the wrong team. I have to get up more than three times during the game, someone in my family wears Cornhusker red, the marathon is too long and there's too many ghosts in the closet.

I think we all need to take a second look at this dilemma. Don't blame Osborne and his staff or team, blame me. On second thought, blame Osborne, his staff and his team.

NEBRASKA TIMELINE

Our legal system, and the need for its reform, is often the subject of news and editorials these days. But this is not the only time when the mechanisms for administering jurisprudence have required adjustment. Native son Roscoe Pound, then Dean of the Harvard Law school, shared these thoughts about the difference between pioneer and "modern" law with readers in 1929.

"...it cannot be denied that the faith of the America pioneer that he could achieve great things by intelligently directed effort brought about great things. His faith was realized not only in the conquest of the wilderness, not only in the setting up of political and social educational institutions which have endured, but in legal institutions which, allowing for all that can be said against them in their application to the urban industrial society of today, were instruments of justice in their own time..."

"A great pioneer judge, on being asked what he considered had been the greatest force in improvement of the law in pioneer America, is said to have answered: 'Ignorance. The judges did not know enough to do the wrong thing, and following their good sense did the right thing.'"

"...it may be conceded that the meager libraries, scant legal training and inability to command all the resources of common law, which from one standpoint were handicaps to the pioneer judge, in other respects did make for an application of creative common sense at times and places where common sense was adequate to its tasks and creative work was imperative..."

The pioneer "built for jurisdictions of magnificent distances in the days of slow and inconvenient transportation. He built for a society in which to no small extent each household, and certainly each neighborhood, was an independent economic unit. He built for a society in which to no small extent each household, and certainly each neighborhood, was an independent economic unit. He built for a society in which the problems of police and administration were simple, in which the criminal was a neighbor well known to his fellows who sat upon the jury and tried him. What pioneer courts achieved was well adapted to the problems of pioneer life. We ought not to expect it to be well adapted to the problems of a different order of life. If we of today had the faith in intelligent effort, the energy in reshaping our materials, and the strength of mind in grappling with difficult legal problems which were manifested by the pioneer judges, I venture to think the needed remaking of American justice would go forward more rapidly and much more surely." --Omaha World Herald.

WSC overcomes eight turnovers

Wildcats survive game of mishaps for win

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

Taking a look at Wayne State's opening drive of Saturday's football game with the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point in which the Cats' drove the length of the field in four plays before scoring a touchdown, one wouldn't have guessed that the fate of the ball game would end with Todd Albert's endzone interception with 1:09 left in the game.

Wayne State came away with a 22-17 victory over the visiting Pointers but Wildcats head coach Dennis Wagner will be the first one to tell you that the Cats' did everything but give the game away.

"It was a win," Wagner said. "There were some very positive things that happened for us during the course of the game but the negatives far out weighed the positives."

Negatives such as eight Wildcat turnovers including six fumbles and two interceptions. "Looking back our quarterback Troy Mott had a great day throwing the ball but he had four fumbles," Wagner said. "He has to be more aggressive on his running ability. He has to be more of an all-around player for our team to be successful."

Wayne State did go 80 yards on the opening drive with the aid of a 54-yard pass from Mott to receiver Marlon Goolsby on the first play of the game. Goolsby would go on to tie his own record of 10 receptions in a game. The drive culminated with a 15-yard pass to Lee Harper and with just 1:51 gone in the quarter the Cats' led 6-0.

That would be as easy as it got for WSC on the day. At the 3:45 mark of the first period Jimmy Henderson ran in from three yards out to give Stevens Point a 7-6 lead after one quarter of play.

The Wildcats scored nine second quarter points to take a 15-7 lead at the intermission. The highlight of the quarter came at the 7:49 mark when Cory Reeder tackled Henderson in the endzone for a safety to put the Cats' back on top 8-7—a lead they never relinquished.

Then with 29 seconds remaining until the break Lamar Daniels caught a seven-yard pass from Mott and with Blain Branscum's point after WSC led 15-7.

WSC held Stevens Point on the first possession of the third quarter and following the punt WSC set up shop at the Pointers 40-yard line. It took the Wildcats just three plays to score a touchdown as Mott connected with Goolsby from 20 yards out to give WSC a 22-7 lead.

Stevens Point however, never gave up as they scored on a 46-yard pass from Roger Hauri to Scott Zwirschitz at the 10:29 mark of the third quarter and then scored on a 46-yard field goal by Dave Schneider with 8:40 remaining in the fourth period to close the gap to five at 22-17—the final score.

"You really have to give Wisconsin-Stevens Point some credit for not giving up after we got up 22-7," Wagner said. "On our side however it was one of the worst offensive performances I've ever been associated with as a college coach."

Wagner said his offensive line did a good job as a whole but many times there would be just one person who didn't do their job and it affected the play. "We made entirely too many mental mistakes but the bottom line is that we won," Wagner said. "It doesn't do us any good to dwell on the negative because we all know we can't get by doing what we did against Stevens Point against our next opponent or we'll get beat."

Despite the fact that the Wildcat defense played an overall good game, Wagner felt there were many times when they had tackles for losses that turned into gains for the Pointers because of mistakes.

"We have to work on a balanced attack," Wagner said. "We finished the game with a minus on the net rushing and we can't afford to have numbers like that and expect to win. Once we started getting penalties and turnovers we got frustrated and we need to work on not getting frustrated but overcoming."

Wagner said his squad learned a valuable lesson from the Wisconsin-Stevens Point game. "We have to be mentally ready to play every game," Wagner said. "We just weren't mentally into the game Saturday."

Offensively, WSC was led in rushing by Lamar Daniels with 43 yards on 24 carries. Mott was 26-43 in the passing department for 334 yards with two interceptions and three touchdowns. Goolsby caught 10 passes for 135 yards and a touchdown while Lee Harper caught four passes for 63 yards and a touchdown.

Daniels caught four passes for 41 yards and a touchdown and Mario Gonzalez caught four passes for 32 yards. Adam Valencia and Bill Blondin each caught two passes for 34 and 29 yards each.

Adam Valencia punted the ball nine times with a 40.5 average including punts of 61 and 71 yards. The Cats' were 3-14 in third down conversions while Stevens Point was 4-18. WSC sacked the Pointers quarterback five times while Mott was dropped behind the line twice.

Defensively the Wildcats were led by the 19 tackles of Jerry Kleidosty including three stops behind the line of scrimmage with a quarterback sack. Kleidosty also had two fumble recoveries.

Bob Sterba followed Kleidosty with 17 tackles while Cory Reeder had eight including a quarterback sack. Mike Kennedy had seven tackles while John Lanier, Jeff Lutt, and Todd Alberti had five each. Lutt had a quarterback sack while Alberti had the game saving interception.

Scott Vokoun had four tackles including two quarterback sacks while Joel Ott, Chris Nelson, Terry Bear, and Roderick Starling had four stops apiece. Bear had the other interception for the Wildcats.

Wayne State will have a week off before facing a very strong Fort Hays State team at Memorial Field in Homecoming. Last year the Cats' defeated Fort Hays State, 13-3 after the visiting Tigers came in ranked number five in NAIA.

"They are a very big and physical football team," Wagner said. "They love to run the ball. Their defense is very similar to ours."

Girls lose for first time ever

Wayne runners race past field at Scotus

The Wayne boys and girls cross country teams traveled to take part in the Columbus Scotus Invitational Friday and as it turned out, it was a history making day.

The Wayne boys had no trouble at all in winning the team title of their race with 26 points while runner-up Columbus Lakeview had 61.

Albion was third with 81 and the host team Scotus was fourth with 86. Schuyler finished fifth with 87 and Norfolk Catholic was sixth with 97.

David City Aquinas was seventh in the team standings with 98 points while Logan View was eighth with 116. Wisner Pilger and East Butler rounded out the field of 10 teams with 138 and 144 respectively.

Wayne senior Todd Fuelberth continued his domination over his Class B opponent's this year with a one second victory over runner-up Richie Beister of Albion. Fuelberth was timed in 16:20 and his one second victory was the closest anyone's come to his this year.

Nate Stednitz finished fifth in the overall standings with a 17:17 while Matt Ley placed eighth in 17:29. Aaron Geiger rounded out the team scoring with a 12th place finish of 17:50.

Also running for the varsity was Jason Johs who placed 17th in 17:56 and Mark Meyer who was timed in 18:38 for 25th.

"Todd had another outstanding race holding off the Albion runner," Wayne coach Rocky Ruhl said. "That time of 16:20 is only four seconds from his winning district time last year. We really ran well as a team getting first, fifth, eighth and 12th and having five guys run under 18 minutes."

The boys reserve team ran with the varsity and it was Randy Johnson placing second for the reserves in 18:47 while Juan Mota was fourth in 19:38. Chris Headley placed fifth in 19:40. Aaron Schnier, Joey Bartholomaus, Kyle Dahl, Rick Endicott, Mark Lentz and Damon Wiser also took part in the race.

Girls downed by Aquinas
The Wayne girls were defeated by David City Aquinas 28-29 and as it turned out, it was the first time in history that the Wayne girls cross country team had been defeated in regular season action.

Columbus Scotus was third with 31 points in the team race while Schuyler and Albion rounded out the top five teams with 71 and 88 points each.

Tammy Geiger finished first in the individual standings with a 16:37 clocking while Tami Schluns finished third in 16:45. Susie Ensz placed eighth in 17:55 and Jessica Wilson rounded out the Blue Devils scoring with a 17th place effort of 19:01.

Carrie Junck placed 26th with a time of 20:16 and Jill O'Leary was 35th in 20:49. "There was a lot of competition in this race," Ruhl said. "All of the top three teams are in the same district which makes it the strongest district in the state as far as balance goes."

Emily Wiser placed fifth in the reserves portion of the race in 21:15. The Blue Devils will compete in the Crofton Invitational Friday.

Cats' down Wesleyan Monday

WSC spikers win five in Sioux City

The Wayne State women's volleyball team has won 10 of its last 12 matches including five-in-a-row in Sioux City Friday and Saturday in the Briar Cliff Invitational.

The Wildcats placed second in the tournament losing to Morning-side in the finals in straight games, 7-15, 11-15. That followed five consecutive match victories including a miraculous come from behind win over South Dakota State in a revenge game from earlier in the year.

The Wildcats defeated the Jackrabbits 15-4 in the first game but fell behind 0-13 in the second game before rallying to win 16-14. "We called a timeout and discussed who we needed to start picking on while we were serving," WSC coach Nancy Clark said. "We got a few points and started hitting lines and suddenly the momentum had shifted to our side."

South Dakota State led 13-0 and 14-7 before the Cats' scored the final nine points to seal the victory. "The girls and I really felt that we could still win after being down so far and we fought back and did it," Clark said. "I was really pleased with that."

WSC then defeated the host team Briar Cliff, 15-10, 15-4 before disposing of Iowa Wesleyan in straight games, 15-10, 15-5. The Wildcats then defeated Mt. Mercy, 15-12, 15-7 before downing Mayville St., 15-6, 15-9 for their fifth match victory.

"Overall I felt we played pretty well," Clark said. "The competition wasn't quite what it was at the UNO Tournament but we still hit the ball harder and worked better together as a team although having Kristi Jaminet back in the lineup really helped us."

Cats down Wesleyan

On Monday following the runner-up finish at the Briar Cliff Tournament, the Wildcats defeated Nebraska Wesleyan in a match that exceeded two and one half hours, 8-15, 16-14, 15-12, 12-15, 15-7.

"After a good hard weekend it's hard to come back with the same intensity," Clark said. "But we came back for the win. Credit should be given to Nancy Kennedy for pulling us out of trouble in the second game to put us back in the match. Overall, it was a good team effort that allowed us to win."

Shelly Lueders led the team in hitting after notching 23 kill spikes in 55 attempts. Kristi Jaminet followed with 17 kills in 47 attempts and Tracy Kuester had 45 spike attempts with nine kills.

Amy Newton led the setters with 26 assists on 79 attempts while Shannon Dunning had 15 assists on 73 attempts. Lueders and Cori Weinfurter led the team in digs with 24 and 18 respectively.

The 13-6 Wildcats will travel to Omaha Tuesday to play St. Mary's in a 7:30 p.m. contest. "I'm really excited because we are way ahead of where we were at this time a year ago," Clark said. "We just have to keep improving each time out."

WAYNE STATE VOLLEYBALL player Kristi Jaminet blocks a would be spike attempt by a Nebraska Wesleyan player Monday in Rice Auditorium during the Wildcats five game match with the Plainswomen. The Cats' won the match and improved their record to 13-6.

Wayne spikers lose in two

The Wayne girls volleyball team ran into a pretty strong Norfolk team in Norfolk Tuesday night and the result was a Blue Devils loss in straight games, 9-15, 6-15.

Norfolk, rated in the top 10 of the Class A polls and a state semifinalist from a year ago may be better this season according to Wayne coach Marlene Uhing. "I think they have a real nice team," Uhing said. "They have a great setter and they run a quick offense which is very effective. I believe they are quicker than last year's team."

Offensively, Uhing noted that her squad had trouble getting the ball set up. "We only had four set assists the whole match," Uhing said. "I was very pleased however, with the way we played defense. We weren't intimidated by Norfolk and we came out and had seven ace blocks and we made some digs off some extremely hard hits by Norfolk."

Liz Reeg led the team in serving with a 6-6 outing with three points and two aces while Erin Pick led the team in hitting with seven kill spikes. Pick also led Wayne in blocks with three while Reeg had two while digging seven Norfolk spike attempts.

Wayne missed eight serves in the match including a stretch of three out of four after being behind 8-6 in the second game.

The Blue Devils reserves lost in three games, 3-15, 15-11, 12-15 despite being up 11-5 in the third game before losing. The "C" team lost in straight games, 7-15, 11-15.

Wayne will travel to Madison for the Madison Tournament Saturday and will play Wisner-Pilger in the first game. The winner plays the winner of Pierce and Madison.

Wayne girls golf team loses

WAYNE-The Wayne girls golf team traveled to Stanton Tuesday and was defeated by the host team, 215-256. Stanton's Joy Dubsky was the medalist on the day with a 40 while teammate Laura Hoehne finished second with a 50.

Wayne's top finisher was a tie between Jennifer Chapman and Christi Carr with 63's while Lana Casey carded a 64 and Lisa Casey, a 66. Kim Liska also took part but her score was not added to the total. Wayne will host the Wayne Invitational on Saturday.

Junior high gridders lose to Pierce

WAYNE-The Wayne junior high football team dropped a 27-16 decision to Pierce at Pierce Tuesday dropping their season mark to 0-2. John Murtaugh's team was aided on offense by Abe Schoenherr who ran for 111 yards on just 15 carries.

Schoenherr scored the first touchdown on a three-yard run while Nick Vanhorn scored the second touchdown on a three-yard run. Both two-point conversions were scored by Schoenherr. Josh Starzl led the defense with seven tackles. The Blue Devils will host Schuyler on Oct. 8.

Wildcats down Wausa

Winside volleyball team wins again

Paul Giesselmann's Winside volleyball team improved to 6-2 on the season Tuesday night with a straight games win over a strong Wausa team in Wausa, 16-14, 15-11.

"This was a good win over a quality volleyball team on the road," Giesselmann said. "Wausa will probably be the best defensive team we play with the exception of Allen."

Winside was behind 14-11 in the first game before rallying to score the next five points. "We kept playing to win with an aggressive style and we came back," Giesselmann said. "I was really proud of our team for that."

The Wildcats were 93 percent successful in serving which was the best number they've posted to date. "That's something we really worked hard on in practice," Gies-selmann said.

Holly Holdorf led the team with a 13-13 performance with two aces while Kari Pichler was 10-10. Wendy Rabe was 9-10 with one ace and Jenny Jacobsen was 7-8 with one ace. Patty Oberle was 8-9.

Kari Pichler had 11 set assists and Jenny Jacobsen led the hitters with a 13-19 outing that included 10 kill spikes. Patty Oberle was 11-12 with three kills and Holly Holdorf was 7-10 with four kills. Wendy Rabe was 6-8 with three kills. Rabe and Jacobsen each had two blocks.

The road does not get any easier for Giesselmann's crew as they travel to play Stanton Thursday who sports an undefeated 7-0 mark. The Wildcats incidentally, dropped three spots in the Omaha World Herald from second to fifth in the ratings in D-1.

Denesia speaks to class

Wayne native speaks about life in the FDIC as deputy chairman

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

Meeting with a banking class at Wayne State College, Roger Denesia was a little hesitant to offer his opinions on what caused the Savings and Loan crisis facing the nation.

Denesia, son of Charles and Angela Denesia of Wayne, is the deputy director of the FDIC office in Kansas City. He has been with the FDIC for 20 years and he has been with the Kansas City office since 1989.

In his presentation to business instructor Jeryl Nelson's banking class, Denesia said deregulation of the banking industry in 1982 is what started the whole S&L mess.

"BASICALLY, the trust side got squeezed and started doing things on the investment side" which got the industry in trouble, Denesia said. "Many trusts got into different types of investing and didn't know much about what they were doing."

Compounding the problem,

ROGER DENESIA speaks to a banking class at Wayne State.

Denesia said, was that people working in the Federal Home Loan industry didn't use as much caution with Savings and Loan's investments. Basically, Savings and Loans ended up entering unfamiliar territory and that aggravated the problem.

Denesia, who spoke to the class predominantly about what it is the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation does, added that the S&L bailout will cost the average taxpayer anywhere from $3,000 to $5,000 if the current estimates remain as they are. Currently, Denesia said, the federal government is estimating the cost of the bailouts between $300 billion and $500 billion.

WHILE taxpayer money does not pay off failed S&L creditors and investors, it does pay off federally insured deposits up to $100,000. Denesia said the money does not pay off investors and stockholders.

The payoff of failed S&Ls provided Denesia with an example of how the FDIC operates. He said part of the FDIC's job is to periodically examine banks to determine their stability.

He said examiners use the CAMEL approach, which is an acronym for capital, assets, management, earnings and liquidity. He said the CAMEL approach helps determine the financial stability of banks.

From the Kansas City office, there are 3,000 banks in the region and 2,100 get examined by the FDIC periodically. He said state insured banks don't usually get examined unless they get into trouble. He added that there are 195 thrifts in the region, as well.

Businesses honored by the state

REPRESENTATIVES from the M.G. Waldbaum Company of Wakefield and Great Dane Trailers of Wayne received plaques on behalf of their businesses by Department of Labor Commissioner Dan Dolan and Lt. Gov. Maxine Moul. (Above) Dolan and Moul present the plaque to Tim Bebee and Dan Gardner of Waldbaums and (at right) Terry Hanson, director of the Great Dane plant in Wayne accepts the plaque from Dolan. Adult Basic Education services available

WAYNE - The month of September has been designated a time to promote the Adult Basic Education program in northeast Nebraska. Adult education tutoring is available year-round and numerous volunteer tutors have donated many hours to make the program a success.

Persons with questions regarding the services available or wish to be a part of the program are asked to call 375-1492 or 375-1258 for more information.

A spokesman for Adult Basic Education said the program in Wayne has been assisted by many volunteers and with the cooperation of several businesses and institutions, including KTCH Radio, The Wayne Herald, First National Bank, Jones Intercable, the schools, the adult education advisory board members and the local churches. The Theta Phi Alpha sorority has also assisted in the distribution of materials.

Lewis and Clark NRD represented

AREA - Harold George of Dixon, Dick Grosvenor of Ponca and Gary Howey and Tom Moser of Hartington represented the Lewis and Clark Natural Resources District (NRD) at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Association of Conservation Districts held Sept. 16-17 at Kearney.

WHILE THE organization is non-denominational, they do follow a verse from 1 John 3:18. It reads: "My little children, let us not love in word or in tongue, but in action and truth."

Carmichael says that's kind of what United Way is doing for PAL.

"It's (donations) the only way we function," she says. "It's important for us to have donations from the public."

"Really, this is the only organization of this kind. I've never come upon another one like it in Nebraska."

provided by Dr. Haun, there is a need for a four-way stop to be located at the 4th and Douglas intersection.

"We will continue to see slight growth in the schools over the next 10 years," Haun told the council. "We also will need to deal with the progression of students who will move from the elementary school to kindergarten. The findings we were able to come up with indicate a need for these stop signs and for the flashing lights we have included in the chart."

The council directed the city administrator to have a study done by officials from the state's traffic division. No timeline for the matter was discussed, however.

IN OTHER matters, the council:

- Approved a $5,000 revolving loan for Midtown Concessions. The money will be used by owner Rick Benson for sewer and parking lot improvements for the new Big Dipper store.
- Approved amendments to the purchase orders of city staff. The increase was from $25 to $50, which will make it so city employees can make purchases under $50 without having to have an approved purchase order.

ees can make purchases under $50 without having to have an approved purchase order.

- Approved two housecleaning items dealing with the definition of group home residents and combined duties of city employees.

- Approved the sale of lots 5-12 in block 2 of Marywood Subdivision to Carhart Lumber Company. The lots will apparently be used for the development of condominiums.

- Gave preliminary approval for the development of a plat of Longe's subdivision on condition. Once final approval is given, the land will be developed for the Educational Service Unit severely and profoundly handicapped program and for the relocation of the Wayne Care Centre.

WHS class takes tour of fossil bed

A group of Wayne High School students recently toured Ashfall Fossil Beds near Royal. The trip was held as part of the World Studies class at Wayne High School.

The purpose of the trip was to familiarize students with fossils, according to Ron Carnes, who teaches the class.

According to information about Ashfall Fossil Beds, some 10 million years ago, hundreds of rhinos, three-toed horses, camels and other animals died and were buried by volcanic ash around the edges of a watering hole in what is now northeast Nebraska. Still locked in their death poses, the amazing well-preserved skeletons of the prehistoric animals lay undisturbed, wrapped in a blanket of jagged glassy particles, until the 1970s, when a scientific study of the fossilized remains began.

In addition to learning about fossils, students toured through the visitor's center and they met with paleontologists. From the visitor center, the students took a short stroll to the Rhino barn, where new discoveries continue to be unearthed.

Ashfall is situated on 360 acres of rugged rangeland in the Verdigre Creek valley. Nature trails are currently being developed to help interpret the geology as well as the flora and fauna of the area.

Students taking part in the field trip include: Michelle Ankeny, Jennifer Barg, Wendy Beiermann, Chad Bruns, Kirk Carmichael, Matt Chapman, Mary Ewing, Michael Fluent, Mark Hammer, Angie Hudson, Cristy McDonald, Kelly Meyer, Jenny Nelson, Amy Post, Jason Starzl, Jason Terhune, Jenny Thompson, Angie Webb and Matt Wriedt.

As a woman grows older, the most common threat to life is heart disease. It is the leading cause of death for women, at the rate of 500,000 a year. One way to reduce the risk of heart disease is to take off excess pounds. A study reported in the New England Journal of Medicine concluded that overweight was a factor in 40 percent of heart attacks among women. The study pointed out that almost half of the women between 35 and 64 are overweight and consequently they are more vulnerable to heart disease.

Dorothy Fooks was the only woman in a graduating class of 300 at New York University's School of Law. That was in 1920, and she has been something of a legend ever since — in practicing law, running a newspaper she started in 1942 that covers her well-to-do Manhattan neighborhood, authoring 15 books and stepping out nightly to socialize. "I'm at a different restaurant or party every night," she told an interviewer. "I believe in keeping active... Retirement is a bad thing." She is proud that she was instrumental in the creation of New York's Small Claims Court in the 1930s, so that people without means could obtain justice. Until she injured a foot in a fall last year at age 91, she often spent one night a week arbitrating cases in that court.

Remember When? 1943 — You must remember this: "Casablanca," starring Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman, won the Academy Award as best movie of the year.

Centennial cookbook to be featured on TNN

Residents of the Allen community have been notified that their centennial cookbook will be featured on the TNN television show, "Cookin' U.S.A."

Melissa Cross, producer of "Cookin' U.S.A.," said the cookbook will be featured on the program sometime between March and June 1992, with the exact dates to be announced. Taping of the show will take place in January and February in Nashville, Tenn.

The beginning of the show, which is shown daily at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., will feature Allen native Merle Ellis, whose syndicated column, "The Butcher," is featured in newspapers across the United States. Ellis has been busy taping 65 one-half hour shows to be shown on TNN in 52 states with 210 television markets.

Ellis is the son of Marie Ellis and the late Merle Sr., who was also a butcher and began his career at the Sherman Store in Allen.

Use of the Allen centennial cookbook on "Cookin' U.S.A." came about after Ellis' mother, now a resident of California, purchased a book while attending the centennial celebration in Allen last July.

Ellis has several relatives in the Allen area, including cousins Nancy and Randy Ellis who received the letter from the "Cookin' U.S.A." producer informing them that the Allen centennial cookbook would be featured on the show.

Local offices offer animal-care guidelines

Animal-care guidelines approved by Nebraska livestock producer groups now are available, said Ron Kahle of Kearney, chairman of the coalition issuing the guidelines.

Kahle said the "Guidelines for the Care and Use of Animals in Production Agriculture," produced by the Nebraska Food Animal Care Coalition, represent industry standards.

"Each animal-species group prepared descriptions of its own management practices for inclusion in the compendium report," Kahle said. "The guidelines provide clear descriptions of the humane standard of care supported by published data, scientific principles, expert opinion and Nebraska's producers."

Cooperating to produce the guidelines were the University of Nebraska, Nebraska Department of Agriculture, Nebraska Cattlemen, Nebraska Pork Producers Association, Nebraska Sheep Council, Nebraska Poultry Industries, Nebraska Livestock Markets Association, Nebraska State Dairymen's Association, Mid-America Dairymen, Associated Milk Producers and the Nebraska Veterinary Medical Association. Single copies are available.

"I drove the car the day after surgery."

Edna Degner had Cataracts.

She had "Single-Stitch" Cataract Surgery.

"My last cataract surgery was much easier than the first one I had. Three years ago they used more stitches. This last cataract was a breeze. It healed much quicker; there was only one stitch. You don't have to give up any activities. I drove the car the day after surgery. I am very happy. It was a breeze.

I knew I had a cataract. I like to read and the pages would turn yellow and after a short while I would have to stop reading.

It's a pity that anybody wouldn't have cataract surgery. I can read and see bright colors. To have your sight back for such a small inconvenience is remarkable.

I've thanked God more than once for Dr. Feidler and his staff."

By Pat Meierhenry

Weather's change good for some

At last, the crisp football weather has arrived! We went from air conditioning to heating overnight. We didn't need to set a record for low temperatures for my sake, but Sue is appreciative.

Harvest is in full swing, and the farmers are just grateful there is something to harvest. I sat in on a conversation between two young farm wives at work yesterday. They could not decide if they hated planting or harvesting season worse. One claimed that the only time her husband talked in his sleep was in the spring. And then he was figuring all night long: cost of seed, fuel, fertilizer, on and on and on.

During the summer, our church offers two services: 8 a.m. for the early birds, and the regular one at 10:30. We don't have our usual coffee hour following. I really miss that, and am glad we are back to our usual schedule. Besides, whoever plays the organ that Sunday plays for both services. I tell Pastor the early service is the dress rehearsal.

Folks who watched the football game last night seemed to agree that the Washington team deserves its rating. And we were just glad to capitalize on their mistakes.

I caught Nebraska's volleyball team against UCLA last Saturday. It was a very close contest, and I marvelled at the way those gals can spike and block and dig a ball up from the floor. It was in the Devaney center, and they set an NCAA attendance record of 11,000 plus.

The fourth set was so close, I couldn't get to sleep. So I switched channels to the Miss America finals.

What a contrast. From women in shorts and athletic shoes, with hair in pony tails and no makeup on; to evening gowns, stylish hairdos, jewelry, and cosmetics. I did read that the winner, Miss Hawaii, lifts weights, and plays volleyball. And 1990's winner is now a veterinarian. Women really have "come a long way."

I'm no believer in Unisex, but I appreciate the choices my daughters have. I only hope that females make wise choices, and really take advantage of the opportunities that are out there.

Recently, Parade magazine featured an article about Angel Ragins, of Macon, Georgia, who was offered $315,000 in college scholarships. Yes, she is bright and has good grades. She's also creative, and applied to foundations and companies.

One was from the Coca Cola Scholar Foundation, and required her to write an essay about her 30th high-school reunion. "The President of the United States is one of the people in your class, but you are the guest of honor. Explain why."

Angel's essay pictured her as the person who led the successful campaign against drugs in the nation's schools. The essay ended with: "I'm satisfied with what I have accomplished, and so is the President. She's sitting right here! She won the scholarship."

FIRST NATIONAL BANK'S SENIOR CITIZEN CORNER

WINTER RISKS FOR SENIORS: Although fall has just started, and in many areas of the country, it's still quite warm, the fact is that winter is on its way and while the season has its special delights, it also holds some potential risks — especially for seniors.

One winter-related risk is the higher incidence of heart attacks among older folks. The September 1991 issue of the University of Texas Lifetime Newsletter cites a new study published in the British medical journal, Lancet, that may explain why this occurs. The study, which was done at Queen's University in Belfast, Northern Ireland, noted that blood levels of fibrinogen — a protein essential in the blood-clotting mechanism — tends to increase as the temperature drops. Other studies have previously linked high levels of fibrinogen with the onset of cardiovascular disease.

The researchers made monthly analyses of blood samples from 68 volunteers, all age 75 or older. After a year, they found that overall, fibrinogen levels were 23 percent higher in winter than in summer. Also, individual levels of the clot-related substance increased as body and environmental temperatures decreased. The researchers linked higher fibrinogen in older folks in winter to the body's lessened ability to regulate temperature with age.

Hypothermia — the condition in which the body temperature falls too low to sustain life — and which is also related to the lessened ability of older persons to regulate body temperatures, is another winter-weather risk. Seniors must keep their homes warm enough to help prevent hypothermia. Heating systems should be checked in the fall to ensure uninterrupted service. Renters can call emergency or health agencies if they're being denied sufficient heat. It's also important to wear warm clothes both outdoors and inside the home.

In a case where it really is a matter of your money or your life, it's folly to try to save money by cutting heating. Sadly, many older folks on fixed incomes do just that. Some even cut the heat off entirely when they go to bed, believing they'll be warm enough under their blankets or quilts. However, sleeping in a cold room can lead to hypothermia and death. If you have problems with winter's usually higher utility bills, most utility companies or local agencies for the aged have programs providing full utility service to seniors in such circumstances.

Two more tips for wise winterizing: Talk to your doctor about getting a flu shot this year and a one-time vaccination against bacterial pneumonia, recommended by the Centers for Disease Control for people over 65.
