Investigation continues after sexual assault at Wayne State

The Wayne County Attorney's office and the Wayne Police Department are still investigating an alleged sexual assault on the Wayne State College campus. The incident was reported to Wayne Police Sunday at 4:37 a.m. According to Wayne County Attorney Mike Pieper, the incident is still under investigation.

ACCORDING TO Wayne Police Department reports, the alleged sexual assault was reported to police when the victim was taken to Providence Medical Center. He did not say where the incident occurred nor did he name the victim. Pieper would not say if there are any suspects in the incident.

Concord man surrenders

A Concord man turned himself in to Dixon County authorities Friday, Oct. 25 after warrants had been issued for his arrest. Kenneth Ellis, 31, formerly of Concord, turned himself over to the Dixon County Sheriff's office after allegations had been made that he assaulted his estranged wife. The alleged assault occurred Wednesday, a full month after he was sought for allegedly trying to set fire to his estranged wife's residence in Concord. According to Dixon County Sheriff Dean Chase, Mr. Ellis assaulted Susan Ellis, Concord, Wednesday near Concord and again near Emerson. Chase said Ms. Ellis attempted to escape from her husband by jumping from a car near Concord but was apprehended by Mr. Ellis. AFTER MR. ELLIS got her back into the vehicle, the couple traveled eastbound. Ms. Ellis reportedly jumped from the vehicle again near Emerson, and flagged down a passing vehicle, which took her to Providence Medical Center in Wayne, where she was treated for cuts and bruises. Reports of the incident allege that Mr. Ellis would not let her get out of the vehicle. They also allege that he had a knife but did not use it. On Monday, Ellis was charged with arson and bond was set at $20,000. During the arraignment procedures, he was appointed an attorney. Ellis faces four other charges: first degree assault, false imprisonment, terroristic threats and criminal mischief. First degree assault is a Class III felony. The others are Class IV felonies. He had been sought since the Sept. 15 incident, in which he allegedly set fire to his estranged wife's residence. Chase said thanks to a quick response from the Concord Volunteer Fire Department, the blaze did not cause severe damage.

WHS, Stater settle dispute

An agreement has been reached between Wayne High School and the Wayne Stater, Wayne State College's student newspaper, to allow the Stater to return delivery to the high school. According to Wayne High School Principal Dr. Donald Zeiss, the high school administration agreed with Wayne Stater officials to put it out and let the kids have access to it. "The media blitz wasn't worth it," Zeiss said. "After discussing it with the superintendent, we figured no one was winning in this whole situation. We know the school wasn't and we decided it would be better to bring it back in." The controversy over placing the Wayne Stater in the high school began two weeks ago when school administration officials pulled the Oct. 16 issue because a student-teacher had asked that it be removed. The student-teacher's request came because of Planning Commission faces decision with zoning

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor
When the city planning commission meets Monday, they face a decision which could have far-reaching effects on the future of Wayne's B-2 zoning. At 7:35 p.m. Monday, the commission will hold a public hearing to amend Wayne zoning ordinances to allow, by some restrictive process, first or ground floor level apartments in the B-2 central business zone. The amendment is being requested by Gene Claussen, owner of Geno's Steakhouse and Lounge. Geno's Steakhouse was destroyed in a fire Sept. 6 while undergoing renovation for upper level apartments. Since the fire, the top portion of the building has been condemned. If the city planning commission approves the amendment, it could potentially affect all property in Wayne zoned B-2.

CLAUSSEN WOULD not comment on the matter. He said his attorneys have advised him not to while insurance companies square away settlements. "This could involve what I might end up doing with the steakhouse," he said. "It will allow for planning and decision making." According to City Planner Don Siefken, if the proposed amendment goes through, it doesn't mean that Claussen will put in ground floor apartments. Siefken said all changing the city's laws will do will open up avenues for Claussen to pursue. "As I see it, there's a number of options he'd like to look at," Siefken said. "He'd like to determine what roadblocks there are before he begins." ACCORDING TO city law, no multi-family residences may be located on the first or ground floor of any structure in the B-2 zone. The law includes restrictions of basement level apartments. What Claussen is asking for is to have the

Reeg: Office gearing up for property assessments

With the placement of personal property taxes on the rolls appearing imminent, Wayne County Assessor Joyce Reeg and her staff appear to have their hands full. "We have already received the mailing list from the Department of Revenue," Reeg said. "Schedules will be sent out to the individual taxpayers around the first of the year." The scheduling will be a self-assessment, meaning the property owner will assess his own property. While this may seem like an easy thing to do, the county assessors office has received valuation manuals and will use these in the assessment process. ACCORDING TO the Nebraska Department of Revenue, county officials must prepare to assess certain classes of income-producing personal property for the 1992 tax year. In one ruling, Natural Gas Pipeline vs. State Board of Equalization, the Nebraska Supreme Court found that the exemption from property tax for railroad rolling stock was unconstitutional. In another ruling, MAPCO Pipeline Company vs. State Board of Equalization, the court found that the exemption from personal property tax for business inventory, feed, fertilizer and farm inventory, grain, seed and livestock and agricultural income-producing machinery and equipment is unconstitutional. The two rulings, together with LB 829 passed by the Nebraska Legislature in a special session this year and sunsets on Dec. 31, 1991, will result in the taxation of these five classes of tangible personal property for tax year 1992.

REEG SAID the assessor's office in Wayne County will be listing all personal property as of Jan. 1, 1992. "Whatever happens in 1992 will be determined by the 1992 legislative session which begins after our Jan. 1 deadline for assessing," Reeg said. "My office will have to go ahead and list all personal property whether or not it goes back on the tax rolls. It will be a major expense to the county if we list the personal property and then don't put it on the rolls."

Bird is the word
SIGNS OF WINTER FLEW INTO southern Dixon and northern Wayne counties Tuesday night as a flock of thousands of Canadian and Snow Geese settled into a corn field south of Concord. The geese, which covered the field with white and brown patches, made for a pretty Nebraska sunset as they took to flight along the horizon. The birds provided viewers with a great conversation topic and they were a hunters' dream. Dark goose season opens Nov. 9. One farmer, who lives in the area, said he couldn't believe that there was snow on the ground. He then said when he opened his back door, he heard the flock squawking away.

Court denies Conway's request for rehearing

Senator Gerald Conway, R-Wayne, now faces a dilemma. He must decide whether he wants to continue working at Wayne State College or if he wants to be a state senator. The Nebraska Supreme Court denied Conway's request for a rehearing of his case last Thursday. The denial comes on the heels of the court's July 26 ruling which found Conway in violation of the state's separation of powers clause in the constitution.

AS A STATE senator, Conway serves in the legislative branch of government and as a tenured assistant professor at Wayne State College, he serves in the executive branch, the court ruled. Conway could not be reached for comment in time for Wayne Herald deadline. According to other newspaper reports, the state senator from Wayne has told colleagues that he will resign his post with the legislature. An article about Conway's intentions will be in an upcoming edition of The Wayne Herald.

Viewpoint So senseless

It's a little bit difficult to write an editorial pointing a finger at some moron who stole decorations from the District 51 school but whomever the individual is, s/he deserves chastising. That's exactly what we're about to do.

Who in the world would serve the discourtesy of stealing Halloween decorations from a school, especially when the decorations were made by children as young as 5 years of age?

Whomever stole these decorations must not have much of a self-image. We'd be willing to bet that this was the same type of person who used to steal candy from others trick-or-treating. What this individual has done is so senseless that s/he deserves to be punished.

Why? Why do you steal from babes? Why do you terrorize young children who were making their effort to better the world? What satisfaction have you received from it? Are you proud of yourself? If you are, you're sick.

We can only hope that whomever stole the children's decorations has the courtesy of returning them. We can only hope that the students of District 51 can learn from this too: Don't steal from others.

It's a crying shame when members of our society don't respect others. We hope the youngsters at District 51 don't lose their respect for others but we can't help but wonder if that may happen.

Special memory returns with meal

There's something special about going to cafeteria restaurants. I think it dates back to my childhood.

Often times when I go to Sioux City, and I'm there over the lunch hour, I'll want to eat at Bishop's Cafeteria in Southern Hills Mall. More often than not, a debate ensues between Rhonda and myself over whether to eat at the food court or at Bishop's. Occasionally, I'll get my treat and get to eat at Bishop's.

That was the case Saturday.

WHILE GOING through the line and then sitting down to eat, I couldn't help but notice the two ladies at the table adjacent to the one we were seated. (Rhonda wasn't eating because she wanted to go to the food court and have Chinese food. That worked well because I got the "all you can eat" and stuffed my stomach to my heart's content while she watched Bryce.)

Anyway, back to the two ladies seated at the table next to ours. I don't know who either of them were but they reminded me of days past when my parents would take Grandma Crist to Furr's or Wyatt's cafeterias in Denver.

The one lady, probably in her early 50s, was seated with someone I presumed to be her mother, a lady in her late 70s or early 80s. It was a reminiscent scene that took me back to the Mile High City during the 1970s.

I ALWAYS hated to go to Furr's or Wyatt's cafeterias, when Mom and Dad would force me to eat there with Grandma. Being a youngster, there was always some place better to eat, like McDonald's or International House of Pancakes. (That's where they served the good food.) Despite my protests, I always took more food than I could eat. My eyes were often bigger than my stomach. They still are.

Today, taking me by a cafeteria is like taking me past a bookstore. You can't do it without me wanting to stop and see what's available.

I miss Grandma Crist. She died in 1984 from pneumonia. She caught pneumonia because she didn't want to see the doctor with her cold: She was too caught up in the excitement of sharing Thanksgiving with her family.

I see the similarities of my childhood every time we go to a cafeteria. That lady sitting with her mother at the table adjacent to ours reminded me of my Mom sitting with Grandma. They were there just to enjoy a quiet meal.

By the way, the food was delicious. I just wish Grandma could've been there to share it with me.

NEBRASKA TIMELINE

By the Nebraska State Historical Society

Women's clubs vital to Nebraska women settlers

Women's clubs played a significant, sometimes vital role, in the lives of Nebraska women's settlers. One such group was featured in "Nebraska History and Record of Pioneer Days" in 1918.

"Mrs. T.H. Graves and her husband located in a prairie schooner on 160 acres of the rich land (in Thurston County) in October of 1884. When their home was established, Mrs. Graves, ambitious and farsighted for her home surroundings, invited all the women within five miles of her home to meet at her house August 6, 1885, where they organized the Farmers Wives Society. The by-laws of the organization present an interesting view of the ideals of its founders." They include:

1. This society shall be called the Farmers Wives Society and shall meet once in four weeks at any place designated by the president. Its objects are to promote social intercourse, to profit by the experience of others, and to seek instruction in the duties of the farmer's wife.

2. Any woman may become a member by signing the constitution, all money being raised by subscription.

3. That the society may not be a burden or a care to any one person every woman shall bring from her store of eatables anything she may find convenient; the one receiving the society provides tea, butter, biscuits and other condiments.

4. That this society shall not say bad while it aims to do good, a fine shall be imposed on any woman who speaks disparagingly of another.

5. At every meeting some subject shall be presented for consideration at the next meeting. The subject shall relate to anything that pertains to the happiness or comfort of the farmer's wife.

6. Lest we forget the object of our society, and make it an advertisement of the latest styles in fashionable attire, every woman is required to wear a plain home dress.

7. Every woman may bring her own work unless some case of destitution shall be presented to this society, or some member through sickness or other domestic affliction needs assistance.

8. While this society is designed for the farmer's wife, none are excluded and all are assured a cordial welcome.

Lastly, "Each member is taxed 10 cents a year, which shall be paid at the annual meeting for papers and other magazines."

Delays, opinions could hurt

One Nebraska Journal by Gov. Ben Nelson

year in increased funding ($209 million over the life of the bill),

Although the House of Representatives passed its version of the Highway Bill on Oct. 23, procedural delays and differing opinions could affect Nebraska's highway projects and our economy.

Our staff has been working all year with Nebraska's Washington delegation to get a Highway Bill that is good for rural states like Nebraska.

We support the Senate bill which is an excellent five-year proposal. The 86 percent increase it includes for Nebraska is a real shot in the arm, and we are very grateful to Senators Jim Exon and Bob Kerrey for their help.

However, the leadership of the House of Representatives apparently does not understand the importance of highways to this nation's rural economy.

The House version gives Nebraska almost $42 million less each while continuing an increase in the federal gasoline tax.

That is outrageous! For too long, rural states have been footing the bill and getting left behind by the gravy train.

Washington needs to remember where the backbone of the nation's economy is and stop trying to dictate to the states policies that are neither well thought out, nor fair.

The House version places many restrictions on how highway funds would be spent and is the target of a threatened Presidential veto.

This process has already been delayed by Capitol Hill politics. I know Nebraska's representatives in the House are up against some tough opposition, but delays on Capitol Hill mean delays on Interstate 80, Highway 77, Highway 2 and many other projects.

Those delays also mean lost construction jobs, which is disastrous, especially at a time when Nebraska leads the nation in low unemployment.

If the House leadership fails to compromise with the Senate in conference committee, and the bill gets vetoed, there will only be more delays.

That's not good public policy and it certainly won't do anything for the transportation needs of rural states like Nebraska. The Senate version of the highway bill is what Nebraska needs to prepare to meet its transportation needs in the future.

I have written to members of Nebraska's Washington delegation to convey our concerns on the issue, and to offer any assistance we might provide to help obtain the best possible results for Nebraska.

Letters

Help sought

We wish to thank you all for the support you have given to the Historical Society in the past. It has been greatly appreciated. We do have, I think, one of the better museums in the state and it deserves our support. By support we don't mean only financial. We are in desperate need of people who would give of their time and energy as directors and leaders.

For a number of years now we have been going along with seven or eight members doing all the directing and much of the labor needed to operate a museum. We give special thanks to those who helped during the restoration work following the "big flood." Also, we appreciate the help and donations everyone has given for the ice cream socials.

I would also like to give thanks to the other member/directors of the society: Wayne Gilliland, Staff Johnson, Leon Meyer, Al and Donna Shufelt, Bill Burris, Lu Hiltori and special thanks to Loreta Tompkins. These are all dedicated people.

We are asking all interested people to come forward and offer their time and talents to become leaders and aids to the society. If we don't get volunteers for this we feel the museum will have to close in the future. Those of us who have been doing these things are wearing out. Help us by volunteering.

Theft unkind

I can sympathize with the children, teacher and parents of District 51: You see someone stole my pumpkin last Wednesday night.

It's not the monetary but the sentimental value that disturbs me. My Uncle Art was visiting from Denver in October 1990 and he filled a pumpkin garbage bag with newspapers and a couple of bricks for me. It had an exceptionally pretty face and I enjoyed it very much. It stayed so nice, so I decided to keep it until this year.

I'm handicapped and there's many things I can't do. I really did enjoy that pumpkin. Thanks to whomever took away one of my joys. I sure do miss its smiling face.

Support for Omnibus bill

Omnibus Crime Control Act

The Omnibus Crime Control Act (H.R. 3371) contains provisions to protect our youth, make our streets and homes safer, and combat the rising violence of gangs in our cities. It would increase the mandatory minimum penalty for distributing drugs in drug-free zones (near schools or playgrounds) from one year to three years for a first offense. For a second offense, the measure increases the mandatory minimum sentence from three to five years. The bill triples the penalty for distributing or manufacturing drugs in or near public housing-making public housing a drug-free zone.

The bill combats street gangs by imposing additional penalties of up to ten years (on top of the sentence for the actual crime) when a gang member commits certain Federal offenses such as a drug felony, if the crime was committed by an individual as a member of, on behalf of, or in association with a criminal street gang, and if the gang member has one or more specified Federal or state convictions within the past five years.

A Program for Women Entrepreneurs

As women entrepreneurs increase their role in the business world they face ever present problems. Some of them, through no fault of their own, face training and experience problems in business skills, and they experience discrimination in lending and access to capital. I am cosponsoring the Women's Business Development Act (H.R. 2629), which would extend and refine programs created in the Women's Business Ownership Act of 1988, which I also cosponsored.

One provision of the 1988 act which provides for the Small Business Administration's small loan program that guarantees loans up to $50,000 is permanently reauthorized by the Women's Business Development Act. These small loans are integral in aiding women entrepreneurs in the start-up of a new business.

In addition, the bill extends for three years a program within the Small Business Administration to provide financial assistance to private organizations which conduct demonstration projects for small businesses owned and controlled by women. Such projects help provide training and support needed for business owners and operators to be successful.

American women have made great strides in creating and operating businesses over the last few years, despite many factors working against them. This legislation will remove some of these roadblocks and set the stage for even greater achievements from women entrepreneurs in the future.

The House passed the Women's Business Development Act in early October. The bill now awaits action in the Senate.

Editorial Briefs

Leave the pumpkins alone

'Tis pumpkin bashing season again. Is it any wonder the traditional carved jack-o-lantern is being replaced by the decorated leaf bags? The bags don't make enough of a mess when slammed onto a city street.

We caught one pumpkin basher in the act and asked him why he is bent on destroying the thing. "Duh, Halloween. Make big splash," was his reply. So you can see the intellect of the people we're talking about here.

If you brats really must cause destruction, leave the pumpkins be and go after those wooden cut-outs that resemble the hind-view of ladies bending over in the garden. On second thought, leave those alone, too.

Let's be fair with taxes

News stories in the daily papers tell us the tax thinker of the state are talking about personal property taxes again.

It's a good tax to talk about. It's a horrible way to attempt to fairly collect revenue from citizens. It's horrible unless you're looking for someone else to tax. In that respect it would work well in the minds of a number of citizens.

If it's justifiable to tax persons property, it's justifiable to tax the education and training a person buys, an item essential in performing an earnings task. Costs of public service should be fairly shared. The personal property tax doesn't do that.

Vitamin C & Colds: Care & Prevention
 Vitamin C - ascorbic acid - has been promoted for the prevention and treatment of the common cold. But is this vitamin really good for either purpose? Some persons approach this question emotionally - based on their own experience. However, a publication of the American Pharmaceutical Association objectively reviewed many studies in which the vitamin was used by thousands of individuals.
 Concerning these numerous studies, the Association reports: "Positive findings could not be repeated in subsequent trials by the same investigator. At best, megadoses resulted in only a small reduction in the severity of cold symptoms. No consistent decrease in the incidence of colds in subjects taking prophylactic megadoses was found."

Todd Fuelberth places third at state cross country meet Wayne teams compete at state

TODD FUELBERTH STRIDES toward the finish line in his final high school cross country meet. He finished third.

The Wayne boy's and girl's cross country teams traveled to Kearney Friday to take part in the Annual Nebraska State Cross Country Meet. The Wayne boy's placed seventh of the 18 teams represented through district qualifications.

Lincoln Pius X won the state team title with 82 points while runner-up Ogallala scored 82 but lost in the fifth runner tie-breaker. Elkhorn placed third with 89 edging York through the same tie-breaker system. Gretna was fifth with 104 points and McCook was sixth with 110. Wayne scored 143 for seventh and Crete had 159 for eighth.

Rounding out the field in order of finish was Nebraska City, Auburn, Elkhorn Mt. Michael, Central City, Grand Island Northwest, Albion Hershey, Norris, Minden, Grand Island Central Catholic.

Wayne senior harrier Todd Fuelberth entered the state tournament undefeated on the year but he was edged in the individual standings by Paul Hallett of York who was clocked at 16:27. Justin Briggs of Imperial was runner-up with a 16:31 effort and Fuelberth was third at 16:32 in what turned out to be a three-man race.

Matt Ley finished 31st in 17:28 while Aaron Geiger was 67th in 18:23. Nate Stednitz was 76th in 18:34 and Randy Johnson placed 90th in 18:50. Jason Johs was 91st in 18:50.

"I guess I'd have to say that I was a little disappointed with our team finish," Wayne coach Rocky Ruhl said. "We felt coming into the tournament that we should finish at least in the top five. I will take the blame for that because maybe our practices were too light and we weren't mentally ready to run."

Ruhl was pleased with the way Fuelberth ran in unofficially becoming the first Wayne runner to ever qualify for the state cross country meet four straight years. "Todd had a great season and a great career for us," Ruhl said. "The race at state came down to a sprint and Todd isn't a sprinter but he felt that if he had to run the race over that he wouldn't have done anything different so he laid it all out on the line."

The Wayne girls placed 16th of 18 teams in the field with 227 points. Pius swept the boy's and girl's team portion of the meet with 25 points while runner-up Columbus Scotus had 80.

David City Aquinas placed third with 88 and Lexington was fourth with 96. Ogallala was fifth with 127 and Norris was sixth with 133. Holdrege was seventh with 147 and York was eighth with 152.

Rounding out the field in order of finish was Beatrice, Plattsmouth, Elkhorn, Grand Island Northwest, Blair, McCook, Gothenburg, Wayne, Auburn and Wahoo.

Angie Peglow of Imperial was the individual gold medal winner with a 15:19 clocking while Wayne's top finish came from Tami Schluns with a 28th place effort of 16:52. Susie Ensz was 37th in 17:12 and Tammy Geiger was 104th with an 18:58 effort.

Jill O'Leary was 105th in 19:00 and Jessica Wilson was 106th in 19:02. Carrie Junck finished 111th in 19:10.

"Again I was a little disappointed in our effort at state," Ruhl said. "We felt we should at least place in the top 10 but it seemed that we weren't as competitive as we were last year. We didn't seem as hungry which means we'll have to work harder next year."

Both the girls and boys teams enjoyed a very successful season however, regardless of how they finished at state, according to Ruhl.

WAYNE JUNIOR SUSIE Ensz paces herself in the Class B girls state cross country meet last Friday in Kearney. Ensz placed 37th in the meet and second for Wayne.

TAMI SCHLUNS AIMS to pass the girl ahead of her during the state cross country meet. The sophomore was Wayne's top placer at state with a 28th place finish. The Wayne girls placed 14th as a team.

Football contest won by Nicholson

The Wayne Herald Football Contest was won for the second consecutive week by Jackie Nicholson. Her entry was the only one with two misses on it while eight others missed three. Allen wins after four overtimes

ALLEN-Mike Busselman's Allen Eagles hosted Wausa last Thursday in the final home game of the season and the Eagles made sure the home town fans weren't disappointed as they not only gave them their money's worth with a four-overtime game—but they won 40-34.

Wausa jumped out to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter but Allen had closed the gap to two by intermission at 14-12. The two first half touchdowns for the Eagles came from quarterback Curtis Oswald on runs of three and 26 yards.

Following a scoreless third quarter Lane Anderson caught a six-yard touchdown pass from Oswald and Steve Sullivan ran for the two-point conversion leaving the Eagles with a 20-14 lead.

Wausa however, ran the ensuing kickoff back 60 yards for a touchdown to tie the game, thus sending it to overtime. Sullivan scored the touchdown in the first overtime for Allen which sent it to a second overtime.

Wausa scored in the second overtime and made the two-point conversion but Oswald retaliated with a 10-yard pass to Jay Jackson and Casey Schroeder caught the two-point conversion which sent it to a third overtime in which nobody scored to send it to the fourth overtime where Allen held Wausa and then scored when Sullivan plunged over from one yard out.

Sullivan ran for 111 yards on the night while Oswald had 42 rushing yards and was 7-13 for 80 yards in the air with two touchdowns. Jackson caught three passes for 28 yards and Schroeder caught two passes for 41 yards.

Kevin Crossgrove and Bren Mattes led the Eagles defense with 25 tackles each while Bob Kumm had 15 and Sullivan, 12. Schroeder and Anderson had 11 and 10 respectively. The 3-5 Eagles will travel to play Coleridge on Friday.

Wrestling Club to rake leaves

WAYNE-The Wayne Wrestling Club will be raking leaves in the community on Saturday, Nov. 9. Anyone interested in having their lawn raked needs to contact John Murtaugh at 375-5070, or Aaron Schuett at 375-2422.

It is important to contact the above people as soon as possible because the number of lawns that can be raked in one day is limited. In exchange for the raking of these lawns, the Wrestling Club will request a money donation. The amount of the donation will be left up to the individual lawn owners.

Lawn owners will need to supply bags for the leaves and owners will be responsible for getting rid of the leaves.

WSC football team victimized by air raid

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne State Wildcats football team fell to 2-6 Saturday in Mount Pleasant, Iowa as Iowa Wesleyan handed Dennis Wagner's squad a 56-32 defeat.

The host team came into the game as one of the top rated teams in NAIA and the victory improved Iowa Wesleyan's record to 8-1. "They are a very good team," Wagner said. "We couldn't stop them. When we would blitz they picked it up and threw long and when we played zone they did an effective job of short yardage passes."

Iowa Wesleyan quarterback Dustin Dewald is one of the top NAIA quarterbacks in America and the senior signal-caller did nothing to alter that position as he completed 42 passes on the day for 534 yards and seven touchdowns along with two interceptions.

"I think obviously their quarterback and receivers did good things," Wagner said. "But the group that did the best was their offensive line. They gave Dewald time to pass, protected him well, picked up our blitzes and allowed their offense to perform."

Wayne State came out and struck paydirt early as Lamont Rainey scored on a five-yard run and with Blain Branscum's point after the Wildcats had a 7-0 lead with less than a minute gone in the contest.

"We did a good job of holding Iowa Wesleyan on its first three possessions," Wagner said. "After their first possession we took the ball down into scoring position again and Troy Mott threw a nice pass to Marlon Goolsby in the endzone but one of their defensive backs made a great play and intercepted the ball for a touch-back."

Wagner said after Wesleyan's initial three possessions they made some adjustments which proved effective for the rest of the contest. Wesleyan scored for the first time at the 5:32 mark of the first quarter and again with just under three minutes left in the period to take a lead of 14-7—a lead which they never relinquished.

The host team scored two more touchdowns in the second quarter and WSC scored on a 28-yard field goal by Branscum. The intermission score was 28-10. Dewald threw three third quarter touchdowns to give Iowa Wesleyan a comfortable 49-10 lead after three quarters of play.

Lamar Daniels scored on a two-yard run in the fourth quarter and the Wildcats converted the two-point conversion. Fifteen seconds later Iowa Wesleyan retaliated with a 66-yard touchdown pass.

Goolsby caught a 12-yard touchdown pass from Mott later in the fourth quarter and the Wildcats final scoring of the game came on a 14-yard pass to Bill Blondin.

"We had two potential touchdowns that turned into interceptions," Wagner said. "Iowa Wesleyan intercepted two balls in the endzone and we had another touchdown called back because of a clip so we had our chances but we didn't capitalize."

Despite the fourth consecutive loss for Wayne State, Mott continued his assault on the WSC record books and Saturday's 27-55 outing with three interceptions and two touchdowns for 337 yards put Mott atop the all-time completion per season total with 182—12 past the record of Ed Jochum set in 1984 and Mott still has three games to go.

Lee Harper had a great day receiving for WSC with seven receptions for 136 yards while Goolsby had seven receptions for 76 yards. Daniels had five catches for 53 yards while Blondin had four receptions for 46 yards. Adam Valencia caught three passes for 19 yards and Rainey had one catch for seven yards.

Daniels led the team in rushing with 71 yards on 19 carries while Rainey had 38 yards on seven attempts. Mott gained 21 yards and Valencia, five. Valencia punted eight times for a 32 yard per kick average.

Defensively Wayne State was led by Jerry Kleidosty with 11 tackles including two for losses. Bob Sterba, Todd Albert and Terry Bear had eight stops apiece with Bear also intercepting a pass and John Lanier had six tackles and a quarterback sack.

Adam Boryca, Scott Vokoun, Cory Reeder and Rod Starling all had four tackles with Starling also intercepting a pass.

"We aren't going to quit," Wagner said. "We still have three games to go and we feel we can win all three if we play up to our potential," Wagner said. "They won't be easy games but we can't afford to hurt ourselves with inopportune turnovers, penalties, mistakes or other mental mistakes."

NAIA champs next

Saturday's contest with Peru State will be a good one as the Bobcats come into Memorial Field as the defending national champions in NAIA and highly ranked again this season.

Peru State head coach Lou Saban coached in the National Football League with the Buffalo Bills earlier in his career. Saban also coached at the University of Miami (Florida), and at one time he recruited Wayne State coach Dennis Wagner out of Ellsworth Junior College but Wagner chose the University of Utah where he went on to become an all-America offensive lineman.

"Peru State has a great offense, led by an experienced quarterback in Nate Bradley," Wagner said. "They have players who were part of a national championship last season. As a unit this may be the best defensive front we've seen."

Wagner said that Peru State has four NCAA Division I transfers starting on defense including three of the four down linemen and a 6-3, 250 middle linebacker with speed who all transferred from Nebraska. "They are huge on the D-line," Wagner said. "They go 6-6, 280, 6-3, 260; 6-1, 270 and 6-4, 260 so I believe the key will be how well our offensive line plays."

Bradley incidentally, is a transfer from Division I Rutgers and has rewritten the quarterback record books at Peru State.

Wildcats also down SDSU Monday

WSC spikers place second

The Wayne State volleyball team placed runner-up at the Nebraska Wesleyan Tournament held Friday and Saturday in Lincoln. Nancy Clark's Wildcats stretched their win streak to 14 matches before losing to SW State of Minnesota in the finals.

Wayne State went 5-1 in the tournament with wins over the host Nebraska Wesleyan, 15-10, 15-11, Emporia State, 12-15, 15-12, 15-10, Winona State, 15-9, 13-15, 15-7, Doane, 15-13, 6-15, 15-10 and Emporia State once again, 15-5, 15-13.

WSC lost in the finals 11-15, 7-15. "We played very well in the tournament until the last match," Clark said. "Cori Weinfurter did not play at all because she was sick on Saturday and that put more pressure on some of our younger players."

Clark said her team pretty much dominated most of the tournament because of their powerful hitting display. "Shelly Lueders had a good tournament and was named to the all-tournament team and Kristi Jaminet had a good tourney and was named to the honorable mention list," Clark said. "We also had good tournaments from Tracy Kuester who did a good job of hitting throughout the tournament and Shannon Dunning who did a great job all weekend long of setting the ball."

Monday the Wildcats traveled to play South Dakota State University and once again WSC prevailed in five, 9-15, 15-12, 12-15, 15-11, 15-13. "They call us 'five game Wayne,'" Clark said. "We didn't play very well at all Monday night. I think the girls were still tired from the weekend because we weren't mentally into the match."

Lueders led the team in serving with a 22-23 outing while Weinfurter was 15-15 with one ace. Dunning had 36 set assists while Amy Newton had 11 and Jaminet led the team in hitting with 13 kill spikes. Lueders had 11 kills and Kuester had eight.

Lueders and Jaminet led the team in blocks with 17 and 11 respectively and Kuester was 33-35 in serve receive while Weinfurter was 13-14. The win pushed WSC's record to 27-7.

Cats head to St. Louis

Clark will take her squad to Missouri this weekend to take part in the Missouri-St. Louis Tournament—a tourney which features all NCAA Division II teams.

"It will be a very strong tournament," Clark said. "We will have to play well in every match to win." WSC is in the "A" pool which features round robin play with Eastern New Mexico, Friday at 3 p.m. followed by Wisconsin-Parkside at 6:45 p.m.

On Saturday the Wildcats will play against SW Baptist at 1 p.m. before rounding out pool play against Northeast Missouri State University at 2:45 p.m. The top two teams in the Wildcats pool will move into a single elimination tournament Saturday night against the top two teams in pool "B" which features Missouri-St. Louis—the number 11 ranked team in America in Division II, Alabama-Huntsville, Indianapolis, Florida-Atlantic and Northwest Missouri State.

CITY OF WAYNE ELECTRIC

Albert and Edna chose electric heat and electric water heating for a lot of reasons.

- They chose electricity because it's clean.
- They chose it because it's safe.
- They chose it because electric rates have stayed low.
- But mostly, they chose electric heat because it comes from readily available energy sources.
- With electricity, there's an abundant supply of energy.

Edna wishes the same could be said about Albert.

Wakefield congregation breaking new ground

The congregation of the Wakefield Evangelical Covenant Church held ground breaking services on Oct. 13 for a new church parsonage to be located across the street to the east of the church.

Since that time, Vakoc Construction has begun work on the 2,158 square foot brick structure.

Target date for completion of the new three bedroom home is May 1992.

NORMAN Jeppson, church chairman, was the first to break ground, followed by John and Carolyn Vakoc and members of the congregation.

For some members of the congregation it was the third time they had broken ground in the church's 104 year history.

The shovel used to break ground for the new parsonage was the same one used to break ground for the sanctuary in 1968.

Throw Thy Burden Upon the Lord

People spend their lives trying to live up to some measure of success. Sometimes they succeed. Most of the time they don't.

In church you can hear the message God prescribes for success to those who care to listen.

"Hear and observe... so that it may go well with you." Deuteronomy 6:1-6

Hebrews 7:23-28 Mark 12:28-34 Psalm 119:33-48

Council agenda has many items

During the Wayne City Council meeting Tuesday night, the council acted on several other items, including:
• Annexation approval for Longe's Subdivision to Wayne. The site will house the new ESU 1 unit.
• Heard a report from Gary Pavel, C.P.A., who did the city's audit. He said the city's finances are in good order.
• Listened to plans presented by Dave DeVries of DeWild, Grant and Reckert for the 1992 Electric Distribution Improvement Plan. He proposed burial of a section of power lines near the fairgrounds. The cost for this, and another similar project, is $500,000.
• Approval of special liquor permit for the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department dance Nov. 30. The measure passed 7-0. Councilman Ralph Barclay abstained.
• Approval of a utility hookup fee for the former church at 1st and Sherman Streets. The fee will be $1,000.
• Postponement of a request from the Wayne Chautauqua Committee for $1,500.
• Approval of $2,100 in income generation from the Recreation Leisure Service Commission. The income comes from adult activities, including: $500, men's basketball; $750, tournament entry fees; $300, women's basketball; $200, radio controlled car club; $500, Leather and Lace dancers. The measure passed 7-0. Barclay abstained.

Council bickers over liquor sales

Council members bickered over whether or not the city should allow certain types of liquor sales on Sunday. The disagreement led to a 5-3 vote approving first reading of a new law to amend the city code but on second reading, the measure stalled on the same ballot count. Because it stalled, it will have to be read again at the next meeting. Opposing the effort were council members Darrel Heier, Jane O'Leary and Ralph Barclay. Their primary opposition to the new law would be that merchants would be permitted to have off-sale liquor. Heier, O'Leary and Barclay cast the opposing votes. Arguing in favor of the merchants were council member Patty Wieland and Sheryl Lindau. HEIER SAID he had three thoughts on the proposed code change. He said liquor sales are something that can be controlled, while adding that he doesn't see the need for off-sale liquor on Sundays. He added that he doesn't see the necessity for liquor to be sold at all on Sundays since it's a family day. Wieland, however, took offense to Heier's wish to control merchants. She said that's not a proper way of thinking. She added that she doesn't think it matters if liquor is sold on Sundays or not because people will drink one way or another. O'Leary said she agreed with Heier's points. She said she doesn't favor having liquor available on Sundays because young people will go out and buy it and then either be racing down the streets or going to parties. Wieland challenged O'Leary's position. She asked her if she'd rather have young people traveling to Wakefield or any other nearby community to purchase their alcohol and then drinking it on the way back or if she'd rather see the money people might spend kept here in Wayne. IN DEALING with another new city law to assess an occupation tax for catering licenses and special designated liquor permits, the council shot the proposal down 2-6. Casting the two votes in favor of the tax were Heier and council member Pat Prather. Speaking out against the proposal were Black Knight owner Nick Sieler and The Windmill manager Cec Vandersnick. "I know there's administrative costs to this but we're being taxed enough," Sieler told the council. "I don't do this to make money. I do it for P.R.," Vandersnick said. After listening to merchants' complaints about the proposed law, O'Leary and Barclay said they opposed it because they thought the proposed rates were too high. Wieland added that she thinks it's a silly law to be passing since the city has absorbed the administrative costs for special designated liquor permits in the past.

Dispute

Williams said she was elated that the school had agreed to let the college's student newspaper return. "I admire Principal Zeiss for recanting in the broadest dictionary sense," she said. "When they decided to bring the Stater back, I think they did the right thing. The situation is normalized and it has been neutralized. Everyone is happy again. When he called, we felt a profound sense of relief." SAYING IT was "better to let the situation die by letting the Stater come back in" was the main reason for welcoming the college student newspaper's return. Zeiss said it was the best way to resolve the controversy. Wayne Stater Adviser Maureen a photograph of her and others pictured outside a Wayne tavern.

Local businesses assisting in expanded coverage of church, religious news

Beginning this week, The Wayne Herald is offering its readers expanded coverage of church and religious news in each Thursday edition. In addition to the church service directory, the expanded coverage will include a non-denominational devotional message and other special interest news articles concerning events or items of interest to the community. "We at The Wayne Herald realize the importance of our churches to the well-being of our community and its people," said Wayne Herald Publisher Gary Wright. Wright added that financial support for the expanded church page is jointly provided by a group of 26 local business people and other individuals. The Wayne Herald welcomes comments regarding the expanded coverage and encourages local and area churches to continue submitting news articles regarding special events taking place within their congregations.

ground floor clause struck from the city ordinance. To change the proposed ordinance the city planning commission will have to approve it with at least 50 percent of the vote. If the planning commission approves it, the change will go before the city council. Still, the measure has not been endorsed by any retail merchants. OFFICIALS WITH the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce are not commenting on the matter at this time. They said they want to see what develops from Monday's meeting and whether or not the retail committee supports the measure. "It has some far-reaching effects," said Chamber President Mark Sorensen. "I'd like to see elderly housing in that location but if we allow it on the main floor, it could open up a whole different can of worms. "From the Chamber standpoint, we're all for growth in Wayne but I'd hate to take a position because we haven't looked at the negatives" of the proposed change. Sorensen added that he's concerned what it may mean to retail businesses on Main Street. Marie Mohr, chairperson of the chamber's retail committee, said she does not want to comment on the proposal at this point. She said she wants to find out what the consensus of the retail committee is. Chamber officials added that Claussen has not yet approached them with his proposal. "Some people are expressing that we need to wait until the comprehensive plan is drawn up," Siefken said. "At any rate, this proposal would affect all B-2 planning and not just the Geno's site."

Tour offers chance for new friendships

One of the fringe benefits of taking a tour is the addition of new friends and acquaintances. When a tour bus capacity is about 40, and there are two buses, you have the potential for meeting a lot of people. Everyone has a story to tell. There is plenty of time to hear the stories as you roll down the highway from one spot to another; when you aren't listening to the guide's spiel, that is.

One year after our trip to Germany, Harlin wanted to visit a couple from Newport who had been on the other bus. Lloyd had been the drummer for our impromptu band at the German supper in Rudesheim. Since I had played(?) the cymbals, and since the Big Farmer really wanted to see this ranch, we were invited to ride along. Finding a free weekend for three couples wasn't easy. How did we all get away for 12 days?

Finally, we agreed on Oct. 5 and took off in the Brugger's van. It was a beautiful autumn day, the kind that makes you glad you live in Nebraska. I'm surprised at how quickly the terrain becomes sandhills when you drive west of Norfolk. At O'Neill, just 90 miles, you are in the west.

We stayed on Highway 20, past a sign that said Newport, and then turned south off the highway. It was flat, and there were hay stacks everywhere. A sign saying Stoltpart Ranch pointed us west; and we found a lovely, modern ranch home, with a few cow's skulls appropriately decorating the yard.

First, there was the obligatory tour of the house. We feasted on steak off the grill. Then, we adjourned to the basement family room to look at each other's pictures. Much of the fun of a like this is in the recollection, and we had a great time, trying to remember names, and places.

On Sunday morning, we actually saw the ranch. Lloyd put on an old stained felt hat and we all checked the cows that were only recently brought home from pasture. Ordinarily, they feast on "aftergrass," after the prairie hay is cut, but this year has been so dry, they will need to start feeding hay. This ranch is blessed with artesian wells, the mysterious springs that run all the time and maintain the same temperature.

Then it was time to dress up and drive to Bassett for church. The service was delayed because the minister, a lady, ran out of gas.

Our final stop was the hotel in Bassett, for the buffet dinner. This frame building was the inspiration of 10 ranchers in the 40s who each put in $10,000, and it has been in business ever since. I heard the desk clerk taking reservations for turkey hunting at $18 a room. We feasted on fried chicken and bread pudding, visited with the Stoltpart son who ranches with his dad, took more pictures, and headed home.

It was just 24 hours to experience a totally different style of agriculture. The pictures in the hotel lobby of former Aksarben and Denver stock show champs showed fat, short-legged steers.

Lloyd told us the first year he used an Angus bull on his Hereford cows, he almost bawled when he saw those calves. But now his cow herd reflects the cross-breeding we've all had to get into.

We found a dead cow in a desperation. She had obviously got on her back and could not get up. A loss that good management cannot always avoid. And those who buy meat in the store don't even know about it.

Betty Stoltpart has a beauty shop in her home, and paints in her spare time. She puts ranch scenes on old saws, crocks, coffee pots, and anything else that isn't nailed down.

I just hope we can keep the west, for its beauty, ruggedness, and independence. It seems that cattle can be backgrounded commercially and fed out commercially. But when it comes to keeping cows and having calves, the owner-operator has to live with his stock. Lloyd Stoltpart is that kind of rancher. He's already getting grandson Brady indoctrinated. I pray that the tradition will go on and on.

ANGER CAN KILL

People who anger easily often have a greater risk of heart disease, diabetes, kidney problems, strokes, cancer and hypertension. It doesn't seem to matter whether or not the anger shows on the outside or it's kept inside. Either way can be unhealthy. The secret is to change the way you look at different situations. Angry people are better for the health profession because, according to this study, they are less healthy, but we would really rather have happy customers.

The GOLDEN YEARS by Pat Slichty

Heart disease is the leading cause of death in the U.S. and people over 65 account for 80 percent of heart disease deaths. High levels of cholesterol buildup in arteries are a major risk factor. Many studies have focused on just what levels are dangerous, but there is a lack of data that applies specifically to the elderly because few older people have been included in past studies. Now the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute is preparing a project called CRISP - Cholesterol Reduction in Seniors Program. To gather age-specific data, five medical schools in different regions will study 400 men and women 65 or older who have high cholesterol levels.

A cataract is one of the most common eye disorders among older people. It is a clouding of the eye's lens, forming a barrier to light rays and impairing eyesight. Blurred vision and lessened color perception may be signs of a developing cataract. Most cataract surgery is routinely done as an out-patient procedure, with patients going home afterward and resuming normal activities in a matter of days.
