UNMC sets sights here

Wayne to be RHEN site

By Mark Crist Managing Editor

A program that started at the University of Nebraska Medical Center that has spread across the University of Nebraska system ap-pears to have some long-reaching effects for the state and rural hos-

That was the message delivered by three associates from the Uniby three associates from the Uni-versity of Nebraska Medical Center Thursday during a visit with Wayne businessmen, college officials and health professionals.

The UNMC officials stopped for a luncheon to gather input on how to run the Rural Health Education Network (RHEN).

ACCORDING TO Math-Science Division Head Dr. J.S. Johar, the program coordinates well with the RHOP (Rural Health Opportunities Program) adopted by the college earlier this year. RHOP provides undergraduate students interested in going into the medical profession in rural areas, the chance to study for two years at either Chadron State College or Wayne State College, while preparing for medical school. Upon admittance to the program, undergraduates are almost guaranteed of acceptance into programs at UNMC.

"It's not going to affect us dramatically but we hope that RHOP students who have gone through here will be able to return," Johan "It's a continuation of the RHOP program."

The purpose of RHEN is to change how and where primary care students at UNMC are education. The endeavor will require a unique partnership among rural communities, primary health care providers, health care institutions, higher education institutions and UNMC.

UNDER THE program, there will be eight spoke communities in Scottsbluff, North Platte, Kearney, Grand Island, Hastings, Lincoln, Omaha and Norfolk.

Communities in The Wayne Herald coverage area which will be affected by the program include Wayne and Wakefield. These two communities will be spoke communities to the Norfolk hub. Overall, there are 93 spoke communities in the state.
"We need your help in identifying young people from rural areas who want to return to rural areas," said Jesse Edwards, program direc-

Burglars strike at Hoskins bars

Two burglaries were reported Wednesday, Dec. 4 to the Wayne County Sheriff's Office.

The burglaries, which occurred at Dad's Place and Big Ern's in Hoskins, were believed to have occurred between 2 a.m. and 6 occurred between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. Wednesday.

According to Wayne County
Sheriff LeRoy Janssen, entry was gained into the Hoskins liquor establishments by breaking into the front doors of both places.

He said it is believed that the doors were pried apart, loosening the lock from the frame. He said a hammer was found left at the scene but it was undetermined whether the hammer was used to gain entry.

TAKEN DURING the burglaries was beer, cigarettes and money in the form of large amounts of coins. The dollar amounts for loss and damage are undetermined at this

The incident was reported to the Sheriff's office around 8:15 a.m. Wednesday, Janssen said information about the burglaries is being sought but, he added, there are no apparent witnesses.

No suspects are in custody at this time and the investigation is continuing. Janssen said Friday that suspects in the matter have not been narrowed down.

Sheriff responds to early morning accident

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department was called at about 6 a.m. Friday, Dec. 6 to investigate a pickup-truck accident four miles east of Wayne on Highway 35.

According to Wayne County
Sheriff LeRoy Janssen, a north-bound, unloaded semi-tractor and trailer driven by Thomas Hattig, 34, of rural Wayne, was unable to stop on the icy county road intersection and a westbound pickup driven by James Rutor, 29, Pender, was also unable to stop in time to avoid going under the trailer of the semi. AS A RESULT of the accident, the Wayne Fire and Rescue Teams and Providence Medical Center's ambulance crew freed Rutor from the wreckage. Janssen said Rutor was freed using jaws for life. Following the accident, Rutor

City planning takes first step

By Mark Crist Managing Editor

Approximately 80 residents attended four quadrant meetings Thursday night to voice their ideas over what direction the community should go in the next five to 10

Among the key issues slated to be discussed at each of the "neighborhood" meetings were: housing; urban design; land use and land use regulations; commercial districts; transportation; parks and recreation; public facilities; and community and economic devel-opment. One item which received some discussion was the possibility of constructing a multi-purpose community center.

THE MEETINGS headed by officials from Hanna: Keelan Associates of Lincoln, resulted in a great deal of information being passed on to the firm updating Wayne's comprehensive plan.

"I thought we had a great turnout," said Wayne Planning Commission Chairperson George Phelps, who attended the meeting is the parthypers of conference. in the northwest conference.

"We had a good cross-section of residents attend these meetings. The town is being saturated and everybody had a chance to voice their opinion. I think that's a pretty good use of the democratic pro-

Interestingly enough, comments made at residential meetings seem to stem around the same theme: housing.

One example was in the southeast quadrant meeting, housing rehabilitation and cleanup of neighborhoods seemed to domi-nate discussions. Sidewalks, making homes affordable for low to mod erate income buyers also received a great deal of discussion and the possibility of establishing a renter's association was discussed, since

IN THE NORTHWEST quadrant meeting the key issues were traffic flow in new housing developments, water runoff, the widening of Highway 35 and B-2 zoning uses.

One theme which was discussed revolved around the possibility of constructing a multi-purpose community center. While at least half the résidents seem to favor the idea of a multi-purpose center, affordability seemed to be a con-

In addition to holding the quadrant meetings, Hanna:Keelan officials also visited with about 15 members of the Wayne Educators members of the Wayne Educators Association, 30 people from the governmental entities, 10 people from the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce and Wayne Industries, approximately 15 Wayne State College students and approximately 10 people from the ag community and the Wayne County Fair Board. RHEN Continued from page 1 Provide a problem-solving ap-proach to the study of primary health care disciplines.

WHAT RHEN does is to provide current physicians with students interested in locating in rural communities who will study medicine under the physician's guidance. Improve the availability of health care professionals to under-served areas of the state.

According to Providence Medical Center Administrator Marcille Thomas, who attended the meeting, the program could be a big boost to rural medicine.

"I think it should help our chances of recruiting allied health professionals because they'll have a chance to live here and get to know our community," she said. "I think they'd like to see Wayne become one of the opportunities for students practice. It can't help but enhance the process."

The Wakefield Trojans girls and boys basketball teams opened the season with a home contest against Pender Thursday night and with the new season comes a new head coach for the boys as Brod Hoskens debuted for Wakefield, taking the place of Paul Eaton.
Hoskens was unsuccessful in his first outing as Pender defeated Wakefield 59-47. The score was knotted at 12 after the first period but Pender doubled Wakefield's count in the second quarter to lead 28-20 at the intermission.

The Trojans trimmed the lead to six at 41-35 after three quarters but could not overcome the visitors lead. "I think we just suffered some first game jitters," Hoskens said. "We were just 17-57 from the field so we got the shots we wanted but they just digit fall. ve wanted but they just didn't fall

Hoskens gave Pender a lot of credit for their play. "Pender has a real good team and they have good size," Hoskens said. "All five of their starters finished in double figures in scoring." Wakefield's achilles heel proved to be the second quarter according to Hoskens. "We just didn't play good defense in the second quarter," Hoskens said. "We allowed Pender to score six real easy points which hurt us."

The Trojans had cut the lead to five in the fourth period and had possession of the ball hoping to trim at least two more points off the deficit when they suffered a turnover which led to an easy bucket for Pender. That put the visitors back up by seven with well under three minutes to go in the Anthony Brown led the Trojans in scoring with 24 points including three 3-pointers. Marcus Tappe had nine points all on 3-pointers and Ben Dutton scored nine as well. Steve Clark added three on a long jumper and Dalton Rhodes rounded out the attack with two.

Pender outrebounded the host team 41-39 despite 11 caroms by Dutton and nine from Brown. Wakefield had 23 turnovers compared to 25 for Pender, Wakefield was 6-16 from the foul line while Pender was 13-23. Trojan gals win

The Wakefield girls jumped out to a 12-4 lead, after one quarter of play and hung on for a 43-39 win play and nung on for a 43-39 win in their opener. Second-year-Coach Gregg Cruickshank watched as his team built a 22-8 lead before suffering some foul trouble late in the first half which allowed Pender to score the last five points of the second period to close the or the second period to close the gap to 22-13.

The nine point lead was trimmed to eight after the third period at 31-23 and Pender outscored Wakefield 12-4 to start the final period to tie the game up at 35. Wakefield was further ham-pered when leading scorer Lisa Blecke fouled out with five minutes left in the game. Kristen Miller, however, rose to the occasion and sank four of five free throw attempts down the stretch to preserve a Trojan victory. "It was your typical first game," Cruickshank said. "There were over 45 turnovers and fouls but we were pleased to come away with the win to start our season off on the right foot."

Blecke led the Trojans with 21 points while Angi Peterson scored seven. Kristen Miller finished with six and Sarah Salmon netted five. Lisa Anderson rounded out the attack with four points.

Wakefield won the battle of the boards, 40-37 as Blecke and Salmon led the way with nine and seven caroms respectively. Wakefield committed 24 turnovers while Pender suffered 22. Both teams Pender suffered 22. Both with shot free throws poorly with Wakefield hitting 7-19 while Pender was 5-19.

"Our kids gave a good effort," Cruickshank said, "We played well together and they really did a nice job when Blecke fouled out."

Wayne led by just three points after three quarters of play at 55-52 but the defense totally shut down Battle Creek in the fourth quarter as they allowed the Braves just six points while scoring 18.

"I was very pleased with the way our kids played for the first game," Wayne coach Bob Uhing said. "We kept our intensity the whole four quarters which is what whole four quarters which is what we need to do every game."

Uhing said his squad seem to play with more confidence as the game wore on. "It was a complete team effort," Uhing said. "Our veterans really played well and I was pleased with the bench play we got from Robert Bell, Mike Fluent and Matt Blomenkamp."

The Blue Devils ball movement

The Blue Devils ball movement and ability to move and set screens and cuts without the ball had a major impact on the game as Wayne was whistled for just nine turnovers while the defensive intensity put on by the Blue Devils led to 23 Battle Creek turnovers. "We need to keep improving,"

Uhing said. "We have to keep working hard and improve on both ends of the floor." Battle Creek's size led to a narmen's basketball team improved 2-3 Friday night in Rice Auditorium as they rolled to a 100-60 victory over Wisconsin-Parkside in front of an estimated 700 people.

The Wildcats sprinted to a 44

24 halftime advantage and never looked back as they tallied 56 second half points to reach the century mark. Thirteen Wayne State players saw action and all 13 scored.

Carlos Moore led WSC's potent offensive attack with 19 points while Ricky Watson came off the bench to pour in 15 on 6-9 shootfoul line.

Steve Dunbar finished with 12 points including two, 3-pointers and Billy Patterson scored 11 with two, 3-pointers. Doug Kuszak was the fifth Wildcat in double figures with 10 points and he also drained two from bonus range. David Allen finished with nine points and Davy Summers scored five. Omar Clark, DaVarryl Williamson and John Schott each scored four points with Schott nailing a 3-pointer and Keith Whit-field finished with three points. Kevin Thurman and Jason Bangs rounded out the scoring for WSC with two points each.

Wisconsin had just two players in double figures with John Evans scoring 13 and Tihomar Juric adding 12. The Wildcats shot 47.4 percent from the floor in the contest on 36-76 while the visitors hit 41.4 percent on 24-58. WSC was 21-29 from the foul line for 72.4 percent while Parkside was 5-11.

Both teams hit seven, 3pointers and Parkside held a slim 43-41 advantage on the boards. The Wildcats were led by Moore in rebounding with seven caroms. Allen, Whitfield and Watson each hauled down five rebounds while Patterson and Bangs had four boards each.

The Wildcats defense forced Parkside into 27 turnovers while WSC took very good care of the basketball with just five turnovers. Brewen said earlier that he would like to see his team have a two-toone ratio of assists to turnovers and the Wildcats responded with 14 assists and five turnovers.
Allen led WSC with four assists while Dunbar led the team in steals with four. The Wildcats had 13 total steals while the visitors had just

Trojans cruise to 70-42 victory

Wakefield boys blast Bancroft

The Wakefield boys basketball team didn't take long to shake off the blues following Thursday night's loss to Pender as they blew out third-rated Bancroft-Rosalie Friday night in Wakefield, 70-42.

The game was scoreless for about three minutes before the Trojans broke the ice and when they finally broke into the scoring column there was no holding back as Wakefield poured in 20 points in the remaining five minutes of the first period while holding Bancroft-Rosalie to four points.

"We came out and took control of the game once we scored," Wakefield coach Brad Hoskins said after he recorded his first coaching victory as head coach of the Trojans. "We played very good de-fense and we did what we had to do on offense. We pretty much dictated the style of game we wanted to play."

Wakefield outscored the Panthers 18-12 in the second period to take a comfortable 22 point lead into intermission at 38-16.

The third period was also all The third period was also all Wakefield as they posted an 18-8 advantage in the eight-minute span to lead by 32 points.

The Panthers scored 18 points in the fourth quarter on many Wakefield substitutes. "We had a good balance in the scoring column," Hoskins said. "Everyone got to play and eight different players scored. We got plenty of opportunity to work on every aspect of our Hoskins also said his team got a chance to work on their stall game and it was very effective. "We went four minutes in the fourth quarter of holding the ball without a turnover or a shot attempt," Hoskins said.

Marcus Tappe led the Trojans with 19 points including one, 3-pointer while Anthony Brown poured in 16 with two, 3-pointers. Ben Dutton finished with 12 points and Dalton Rhodes added nine including one from bonus range.

Jon Johnson scored five points with a 3-pointer and Steve Clark added four. Brad Nuernberger finished with three points and Brantack with two Bancroft did outrebound the Trojans 35-24. Dutton led Wakefield with six rebounds. The Trojans Panthers were forced into 28.

The 1-1 Trojans will host Wausa on Friday night before traveling to play Lyons-Decatur-Northeast on Saturday.

WSC had nine players score led by Lisa Chamberlin who poured in 20. The Norfolk native hit nine of her 17 shot attempts from the floor and was 2-2 from the foul line.

Mary Schnitzler was the only other Wildcat in double figures with 12. Schnitzler was the only Wildcat player to hit from 3-point range and she did that twice in four attempts.

Jodi Otien scored seven points for Mike Barry's troops while Dana Olmsted, Linda Heller and Cheri VanAuker netted six points apiece. Kairi Backer finished with four points while Heather Rotherham scored three and Tawnya Bakke netted two to round out the scoring for the Wildcats.

WSC was outrebounded 50-46 despite a 10-rebound performance by VanAuker. Chamberlin hauled down seven boards and Otjen finished with five caroms.

Olmsted led the team in assists as she dished out seven and Schnitzler led WSC with three steals. WSC did commit 19 turnovers while Augustana had 16.

The Wildcats will play in Rice Auditorium on Wednesday night against the University of South Dakota in a 5:30 p.m. contest. The game will precede the men's game with Northwest Missouri State University and is a rematch of a game held Nov. 26 in which USD routed WSC 84-47.

Wayne grapplers start season where they left off last year

The Wayne Wrestling team traveled to Schuyler Thursday night for dual action with the Warriors in the first meet of the season for both schools. The Blue Devils came out on top of the host team, 36-30.

Terry Rutenbeck lost 4-2 in the only reserve match at 130 lbs., which was held before the varsity matches. cory Erxleben was to wrestle for Wayne at 103 lbs. but Schuyler did not have a wrestler at that weight, thus Erxleben was awarded forfelt and six team awarded forfeit and six team points for Wayne, Jason Wehrer lost a 2-0 decision to Chad Christensen at 112 lbs., and at 119 Matt Rise won by forfeit. Wayne's ione returning state qualifier. Brent Gamble, began his senior season on the right track with a pin over jeremy Stutzman in 3:58.

At 130 lbs., Randy Johnson lost a 7-2 decision to Dusty Stutzman but at 135, Steve Hansen won by pin over Bryan McKowan in 3:30:

Jason Shultheis lost by technical fall to Jason Lane at 140 lbs., but Wayne's 145 lb. wrestler Jason Fink won by pin over Bryan Parry in Dusty Jensen lost by pin to Kallan McClure in 1:53 at 152 lbs., and Brian Gamble lost 9-8 to Clancy Williams at 160 lbs. Dwaine Junck won by pin over Jeremiah Jensen in 3:06 of his 171 lb. match and Leon Brasch lost 15-3 to Chad Steffen at 189 lbs. Jeff Hamer lost pin to Kurt Shevlin in 1:06 of heavyweight match. "It's nice to open the season with a win," Wayne wrestling coach John Murtaugh said. "It wasn't easy and at times it wasn't pretty, but the important thing is that we won."

Murtaugh said he was pleased.

Murtaugh said he was pleased overall with the team performance. "We do need to improve in a number of areas," Murtaugh said. "We must get better with each practice and meet."

The Blue Devils have 25 wrestlers out this year including eight seniors, four juniors, five sophomores and eight freshman. Brent Gamble, Brian Gamble, Jason Fink, Dwaine Junck, Randy Johnson, Matt Rise, Todd Fredrickson and Jason Wehrer are the returning letterwinners on the Brent Gamble is the lone returning state qualifier off a team that placed runner-up in Class B last season to Aurora. Gamble will look to improve on his 29-9 mark. Fink ended last year 20-16 and Junck was 19-13. Johnson finished 17-15 and Fredrickson was 18-7.

Fink, Junck, Brent and Brian Gamble were voted on as team captains for this years team. "Even though we lost a number of good wrestlers off last year's team to graduation, we still expect to have a good team," Murtaugh said. "We have the responsibility continuing our winning tradition. Whatever experience we lack will have to be made up through a lot of hard work and desire."

Habitat changes may affect birds

Although more information needs to be gathered, preliminary data indicate that some Midwestern songbirds are declining, possi-bly because of habitat changes here, said a University of Nebraska-

Lincoln wildlife ecologist.
Julie Savidge, an assistant professor in the Department of Forestry, Fisheries and Wildlife, said the problem originally was thought to stem from destruction of Latin American forests where many Midwestern birds winter. But new evidence indicates much of the evidence indicates much of the cause lies at home.

"It appears to be a problem for both prairie and forest birds," Savidge said. "We don't completely know why yet, but the evidence is beginning to come in."

She said the suspected Midwestern decline parallels a betterdocumented decline of eastern forest species and the reasons probably are similar. In the east, fragmentation of forests by roads, urbanization and other development has turned large forests into collections of smaller remnant stands, Savidge explained. While the remaining stands still offer some nesting habitat, breeding success in small stands is much lower, she said.

That's because of the "edge effect," the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources ecologist said. The edge effect occurs where two or more types of habitat, such as grassland and forest, meet, she explained. Wildlife biologists have long recognized that edges are the most productive areas for many species because of the mix of habitats. However, that in-creased activity can spell disaster for species that require the secu rity of large, unbroken blocks of habitat, she said.

Early data from several Mid western states indicate that both prairie and forest birds suffer higher rates of nest predation and nest parasitism when they attempt to nest near an edge, she said. Nest predation is the result of small predators, such as raccoons, crows, luejays feeding on eggs or young irds. So-called "nest parasites" include brown-headed cowbirds, which lay their eggs in other species' nests to be hatched and fed by the adoptive parents at the expense of their own brood, Savidge said.

"When you have small frag-ments of habitat, you have almost all edge," she said.

Usual bird census techniques don't i measure breeding success, Savidge said. Such techniques may even falsely indicate abundance while breeding languishes. For example, census takers may find a forest fragment filled with singing birds. But on closer inspection these may turn out to be unpaired males. They are unable to mate because females are concentrated in prime nesting areas near the centers of remaining habitat, she Savidge is a member of the re-search committee of the Midwest Working Group for Neotropical Mi-gratory Bird Conservation. The group was recently formed to address the decline of these birds which include many familiar song-birds. She also is part of a regional group investigating the effect of Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) grasslands on bird numbers,

CRP grassland were planted within the last several years under a program to protect highly erodi-ble cropland. However, many of the plantings are less than 100 acres, possibly below the minimum size for high breeding success, she walk through a CRP area," Savidge sald. "There's no question they are serving as habitat for both game and non-game birds. Generally, grasslands are beneficial for wildlife in an agricultural area. But we don't yet know how successful birds are in these smaller areas."

Preliminary data on local bird populations have a number of im-plications for wildlife habitat man-agement, Savidge said. While large blocks of habitat are nearly nonexistent in agricultural areas, landowners can help by providing grassland in roadsides, waterways and odd, unfarmable areas. While small, such areas will help both under the theory that some habitat is better than none, and by providing corridors tying together other grasslands in the area, she

On the other hand, landowners western areas such as the Sandin western areas such as the Sand-hills, where rangelands still provide large expanses of grassland habi-tat, may want to forgo installation of shelterbelts and other tree planting within large blocks of grassland if maintaining prairie bird habitat is a concern, she said.

Former Concord official gets award

Four University of Nebraska faculty-members-received awards here Sunday evening at the annual banquet fo the Nebraska Chapter banquet fo the Nebraska Chapter of Gamma Sigma Delta, honor society for agriculture.

The award of merit recipient was Robert Fritschen, director of the NU Panhandle Research and Extension Center in Scottsbluff. The society also recognized Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources faculty members for excellence in teaching, extension and research.

Fritschen has been center director since 1979. He also served as swine specialist at the Northeast Research and Extension Center near Concord, and was an extension agent in Scotts Bluff and Dawes counties. His research includes work in swine nutrition and the design of open-front confinement buildings widely used in the swine industry. As an administrator, Fristchen oversees 23 faculty members representing 13 UNL departments, and local extension work in the Dakota State University.

The excellence in teaching award went to UNL Professor of of numerous previous awards. Fristchen earned his bachelor and master of science degrees at South award went to UNIC Professor of Animal Science James Kinder, who is noted for the popularity of his classes despite their reputation for difficulty. A disciple of traditional teaching methods, Kinder uses only essay questions on his tests to encourage students to despend

He also encourages the development of communications skills through the use of oral exams, and term papers with oral defense. defense.

The excellence in extension award in extension was presented to Loyd Young, director of the NU Southeast Research and Extension Center in Lincoln. Young was cited for taking extension programming in the district from a reactive to pro-active stance by creating and encouraging programs that address current issues and Young is also noted as an effective administrator of the Southeast District, which comprises 25 counties with 61 extension agents and 16 faculty members at the Lincoln headquarters. Under his leadership, both the headquarters and local offices have been provided with additional personnel, and upgraded facilities and equipment.

The excellence in research award went to Milford Hanna, director of the Industrial Agricultural Products Center at UNL. Holding a joint appointment in the Food Science and In the Food Science and Technology and Biological Systems Engineering departments, Hanna's work is considered central to the development of UNL's food engineering program.

Hanna's research is noted for having both a strong theoretical base and practical applications. Among his more recent areas of study are food extrusion and biodegradable plastics.
