Issue was over land, money

City reaches agreement

By Mark Crist
 Managing-Editor

It looks as though the City of Wayne and the Boyle Company have reached an agreement over whether the Wayne Care Centre should have to donate land to the city or hand over a park fee.

The Boyle Company, which is the parent company of the Wayne Care Centre, has agreed with the city to pay undisclosed park fees at the 1980 land value. The compromise will save the company approximately $2,000.

The council gave its approval to the preliminary plans for the plat of Boyle's Subdivision/Addition at its Tuesday meeting.

In a presentation given by City Administrator Joe Salitros, the city will encourage the new Wayne Care Centre to go with all-electric utilities. He said all-electric utilities will be beneficial to both parties and it will give the city a way to offer the new care centre a break on its bills.

"I think there's some things we can do for them ... that will be beneficial," Salitros told the council, in what he called a "win-win" agreement.

The new care centre, which will be located east of homes along Providence Road off 14th Street, will be 47,650 square feet, or 50 percent larger than its current facility on Main Street, once constructed. The project is expected to be completed early in 1993.

"We want to make sure this facility has everything elderly residents need to maintain their dignity into the 21st century," said Bob Conlon, CEO of the Boyle Company, who addressed the council.

According to Salitros, the council could value the land at its 1980 price since the land was divided up in the late 1970s or early '80s as part of a family trust. He said the agreement reached with the Boyle Company was made because if the care centre had donated the land, he didn't see that it would make sense to take the easement because the future of the easement is in question due to development in the area.

IN ANOTHER matter dealing with development in Wayne, the council unanimously voted to amend the city code to allow for ground-floor residential space for multi-purpose living in the central business district relating to uses by agreements.

What this means is that Geno's owner Gene Claussen now has the option he has sought to replace the property at the corner of 2nd and Pearl Streets, which was lost in a fire Sept. 6. Despite the ordinance's passage, it didn't get by without more debate by the council.

Despite passage, the city council said it plans to amend the ordinance to provide a provision which residential property in the B-2 zone must be located 30 feet from the curb. They agreed that Tuesday's decision was one way to expedite the process, which has taken several months.

"We didn't give him the farm but we provided him with a way to explore his alternatives," Salitros said after the ordinance had passed.

IN OTHER matters, the council:
 • Listened to the one-and-six year street improvement plan presented by Vern Schulz. Under the plan, the city will undertake five projects in 1992 at an approximate cost of $295,000. Projects include: Grainland Road from Sherman to Blane Street; Walnut Street from 12th to 14th Street; East 13th Street from Walnut Street to Schriener Drive; East 6th Street from Valley Drive to Tomar Drive; and an overlay of asphaltic con-

Officials plan law meeting

Nebraskans in the Wayne County area have the chance to direct the efforts of law enforcement in their communities.

For example, if a dangerous traffic situation exists along any particular stretch of highway, if young people too easily get liquor in the area, if illegal drugs coming into the community are a concern; citizens will get the chance to inform officials who protect them.

Nebraska State Patrol Superintendent Ron Tussing, Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen, Wayne Police Chief Vern Fairchild and Wayne County Attorney Michael Pieper are going directly to the public Thursday, Jan. 23 at a special town hall meeting. Patrol Troop Commander for Northeast Nebraska Dave Winkler will also attend. The special session will be held in the Wayne State College student center in the north dining room.

DOORS OPEN at 6:30 p.m., with law enforcement displays open for view. Citizens will be able to get to know officials during this time. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m.

The town hall is one of a series that the state patrol is holding with local officers across Nebraska to take the public's pulse on law enforcement issues. Tussing indicates the best way to serve the citizens is to find out what their priorities are. He says if a large number of people attend the sessions, the town hall meetings will become a regular method of tapping the ideas and concerns of Nebraskans.

Modernizing home living Lamplot's goal

Modernizing the basics in home living is what home economist Jana Lamplot believes people want today. As a territory manager with Homemakers Schools, Inc., Jana travels with a message that today's meals don't have to be time consuming in preparation or mind-boggling in planning.

"Consumers are looking for quick, easy items that remind them of foods they grew up with. Pulling a dinner from a box is fast, but it doesn't fill the kitchen with the sounds and smells of a meal made from scratch," Jana says.

One of the objectives of the Homemakers School presentation is to prepare food with products and techniques that take less time, yet taste fresh and homemade.

BECAUSE OF the vast variety of food products available, selecting menu items can be exhausting. Ms. Lamplot enjoys showing products with an explanation of how they may be used. There are differences between products that often are not seen until a recipe is finished. Attending a Homemakers School provides an opportunity to "be in a test kitchen."

Some nutritional information is shared as well. For those with dietary concerns or restrictions, this component is always appreciated.

With our lifestyle today, changes in kitchen equipment occur often and this opens new options for food preparation. Jana spends time discussing microwave, conventional and convection oven cooking. She experiments with all three types of cooking at home and enjoys sharing with her audiences the time and energy savings that are possible with today's appliances.

Jana Lamplot

ANOTHER OF Jana's favorite pastimes is creating recipes. She likes to scan a large collection of cookbooks for ideas.

"It's easy to make something with ingredients on hand if you see how they are combined by other cooks," she says. "I often put two or three recipes together, changing mixing procedures or quantities used. The result is a new, and most times, faster recipe."

Not every trial is a success, yet the ideas are used for other recipes.

Jana is in her third year of working for Homemakers Schools, Inc. She brings an enthusiasm from her own kitchen to her stage kitchens in the six-state territory.

"I love to cook and I love to talk," she says. "Sharing that with audiences in communities throughout the Wayne Herald coverage area is the most rewarding aspect of my career."

Lahrs resigns post as ESU 1 director

By LaVon Anderson
 Assistant Editor

Members of the Educational Service Unit One (ESU 1) board of directors were taken by surprise Tuesday night following an announcement by Ken Lahrs of Ponca that he would resign from the board effective at the conclusion of the meeting.

Lahrs, who cited personal reasons for his decision to resign, has been a member of the ESU 1 board of directors since 1985 and has served as board chairman for the past five years.

His present one-year term as chairman expired this month and the board selected Marvin Borg of Concord to replace him in that position.

Before adjourning Tuesday night, ESU 1 board members voted to accept Lahrs' resignation with regrets and gave him a standing round of applause in appreciation for his past service to ESU 1 and the schools it serves.
 Rodney Garwood, ESU 1 administrator, said the board will begin seeking a replacement for Lahrs, who served as Dixon County's representative on the board and had one more year before his term expired.

ESU 1 board member John Post of Bloomfield was re-elected vice chairman Tuesday night and Marion Arneson of Wayne was re-elected secretary.

John Portwood of the Wakefield National Bank was re-appointed board treasurer. Portwood is not a member of the ESU 1 board.

Lisa Salmon, ESU 1 office manager, was appointed recording secretary.

Newly elected Chairman Borg said committees for 1992-93 will be announced at next month's meeting.

Extension council looks toward summer with discussion of fair

The Wayne County Home Extension Council met earlier this month and began planning for the 1992 Wayne County Fair, scheduled to take place Aug. 6-9. Chairman Terri Headley presided and roll call was answered by 13 members and Agent Lynda Cruickshank with their New Year's resolutions.

KATHY Rutenbeck announced that co-chairmen are needed for the fair to work approximately 18 hours in three days — Monday night, Thursday and Sunday night.

Awards were discussed and Rutenbeck suggest some new categories, however no action was taken.

Clarification of eligibility for non-county residents also was made by Rutenbeck, who stated that out-of-county residents who belong to a Wayne County club are eligible for awards.

The council voted to differentiate between professional and amateur entries in all categories, with professionals ineligible to win awards.

THE COUNCIL voted on 1992 fair awards at $5 each. They include 1) best in county needlework; 2) craft article using mop heads; 3) stitchery (crocheted afghan); 4) food (white angel food cake made from scratch); 5) best best pickles; 6) fruits and vegetables - fresh herbs (in jar with water); 7) best slicing tomato; 8) flowers - best overall roses; and 9) best overall potted cactus. The holiday theme will be Halloween.

Awards in the under age 12 categories ($2 each) include vegetable - red slicer tomato; food - peanut butter cookies; craft - decorated article of clothing.

Scattered Neighbors Club will again give an award for the best basic sweet roll item.

Rutenbeck said clubs who cannot work when scheduled are asked to find members of other organizations to work.

The 1992 booth theme at the county fair will be "Membership."

HANDOUTS were discussed and it was announced that Veryl Jackson and Cynthia Puntney will serve on "The Environment" committee. Dorothy Aurich also volunteered to assist.

"The Environment" is the state thrust and one of the county goals and clubs were encouraged to begin publicity.

It was reported that nominations are needed for the "Great Nebraska Family" award and for persons to serve on the board of the Nebraska Council of Home Extension Clubs (NCHC).

An announcement was made concerning the "Youth at Risk" grant, with two awards of $75 each being made, and the "Homemaker Education Grants," with $200 grants available. Applications are due Feb. 15.

TERRI Headley reported on the Craft Fair and announced that 10 clubs furnished 300 items. The event netted $308.55.

Program suggestions for the Spring Event were discussed and the council voted to sponsor a tour to be planned by the Spring Event committee, including Arlene Fleer, Doris Marotz and Hildegarde Fenske.

A decision to sponsor a youth to diabetic camp was tabled until the next meeting. Persons who know of someone who would be interested in attending the camp are asked to contact the Home Extension Office.

The council voted to increase dues to $5.

THE CHAIRMAN asked for volunteers to chair the poster program for third, fourth and fifth graders. The program will be dropped if no individuals or clubs volunteer to assist.

Club awards were voted on and will be presented at the Fall Achievement program. Awards will be given to the club with the highest percentage of members assisting with the county waste management thrust, the club with the best attendance at leader training lessons, the club with the highest percentage of individuals exhibiting at the county fair, and the club with the most new members during the past year.

Chairman Headley read an article regarding a survey on solid waste and reported that videos are available at the office on recycling, pre-cycling, etc.

County board elects officers

The Wayne County Commissioners met according to statute Tuesday to elect board members to various offices.

Elected chairman of the board for the 1992 year is Commissioner Jerry Pospishil. Commissioner Merlin Beiermann will serve as the chairman of the board of equalization.

The board also had to delay appointing a coroner's physician for 1992 since Dr. Bob Benthack, who has held the position for a number of years, announced that he wanted to decline the position for 1992. The matter was tabled until a future meeting.

IN ADDITION to the chairman of the board positions and the county coroner's physician, the board voted to retain present positions on three area boards.

Commissioner Bob Nissen will continue to serve on the area agency on aging with Beiermann as alternate. Pospishil will continue to serve on the Region IV Mental Health Board with Nissen as the alternate and Beiermann will continue to serve on the Region IV O.D.D. Retardation Board, with Pospishil as the alternate.

The board also designated The Wayne Herald as its legal newspaper.

ane Tappe.

Upon reconvening, the board voted unanimously to extend the contract for Garwood, who was named ESU 1 administrator in July 1987 after serving as assistant administrator since July 1983.

Tappe, ESU 1 special education director for the past 18 years, also was offered a renewal of his contract by a unanimous vote of the board.

Salaries for both Garwood and Tappe will be discussed at the February ESU 1 board meeting.

Chairman Borg asked Garwood to conduct research on special education directors and administrators in the area, regarding wages and benefits, and to report back to the board.

IN OTHER business Tuesday night, the ESU 1 board heard a report from Administrator Garwood concerning the new ESU 1 facility being constructed in Wayne to house the unit's two Wayne programs — the Wayne Children's Development Center and the Wayne Learning Center.

Garwood said Tom Penney, a representative of the architectural firm of Dana, Larson and Roubal in Omaha, will be at next month's meeting, scheduled Feb. 11, to present a resolution and final drawing to the board. The firm will begin advertising for bids the week of Feb. 17.

Construction of the new facility is expected to begin next spring, with a target completion date of September 1992.

Board members Tuesday night approved a resolution regarding a lease/purchase agreement with FirstTier Bank of Lincoln for financing the ESU 1 building project.

Garwood pointed out that Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Wayne is the financial underwriter of the project. "We're proud and pleased that a local institution has shown this much faith and trust in ESU 1 and its building project," said Garwood.

GARWOOD also informed board members that he has received inquiries regarding purchase of the building which presently houses the Wayne Learning Center and is owned by ESU 1 on the east edge of Wayne.

"Pretty soon we are going to have to make a decision on selling that building," said Garwood. "Do we want to try and sell it ourselves or do we want to list the property with a realtor?"

Following discussion, board members asked the building and grounds committee to study the options and make a recommendation.

ADMINISTRATOR Garwood presented board members with the yearly audit report, which was reviewed and discussed.

"Overall, we spent more money ($6,503) than we took in," said Garwood, adding that the implication is that any new programs desired by ESU 1 or the schools it serves will either require the reallocation of existing resources or new money of some type.

"Basically, we're spending the money that's coming in," said Garwood. "If we have a lot of new projects we'll have to figure out how we're going to pay for them."

Following discussion, the board voted unanimously to approve the audit report.

GARWOOD ALSO announced plans to hire Larry Athey of Walthill as a school rehabilitation counselor. His recommendation to hire Athey was unanimously approved by the board.

Athey's current contract calls for 120 days at a salary of $15,127. His position is being paid for through a federally funded transition grant through the State of Nebraska to assist schools in providing a transition plan to youngsters in special education.

Garwood pointed out to the board that the transition counselor grant is for two years, with the ESU 1 unit receiving up to $40,000 for two years.

"After that time," said Garwood, "the schools will be given the option of contracting for his services."

School board plans review committee

The Wayne Community School Board will be establishing a broad-based community committee to assist the board in interviewing candidates for the superintendent's position.

The decision to create the committee was made following an executive session at Tuesday's school board meeting.

The superintendent's opening comes on the heels of Dr. Francis Haun's announcement that he is retiring in June. Haun has been the superintendent of schools in Wayne since 1964. He announced his retirement at the December meeting.

According to information provided by the school board, representatives on the committee will come from the board of education, school administration, faculty, Wayne State College, the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, Carroll, the City of Wayne, the Wayne Ministerial Association and representatives from the rural area surrounding Wayne and Carroll.

The board also voted to contract with the Nebraska Association of School Boards for assistance in screening applicants for the superintendent's position.

IN OTHER matters, the school board was quick with items on its agenda.

One item, which kicked off the meeting, was an audience discussion with John Berry, who presented an etching to the school from an artist who was a member of the Wayne High School of 1941.

The etching, drawn by the late Arthur Lingren, was presented on his behalf. Lingren died in 1989.

The donation will be on permanent display at Wayne High School.

OTHER ITEMS discussed include:

- A report from elementary principal Dave Lutt and middle school principal Richard Metteer concerning the process and procedures used to upgrade and chose curriculum and textbooks.
- Learned from Lutt that the outer office enclosure at West Elementary was complete.

PUT THE SOUP ON

According to some researchers at the University of Pennsylvania, they found that soup can play a significant role in a weight-loss program. They found that eating soup at the start of a meal slows the rate of eating and fills the stomach; which signals the brain to curtail appetite. This makes more sense than fasting to lose weight. Fasting creates a quick loss of water and some muscle loss. When you resume eating you generally gain the weight back and in the meantime you have probably felt tired and irritable. Put the soup on and give it a try.

Out of hand

Reading the reports coming out of Lincoln these days, you'd think we lived in a lawless frontier.

Our lawmakers (and they take that term very seriously), are on track to introduce a record number of new bills. Admittedly, the state has several crucial problems to deal with, but we aren't willing to accept that there are 800 or 1,000 problems crucial enough to warrant a new law.

The desks of senators, staff members, administrative personnel, state printers, researchers and others are piling up with the thousands of copies of proposed new laws — many of them introduced to try to correct problems with new laws passed in previous legislative sessions.

This is really getting out of hand.

We're by-in-large a state of mostly good, law-abiding citizens who follow the volumes and volumes of laws we have on the books already.

The idea of getting a whole new volume of laws each year makes us wonder if it wouldn't be a good idea to go back to every-other-year sessions of the legislature rather than the annual rows we have now.

We could save millions on legislative expenses and printing costs alone.

Right move to make

Much is being made of President Bush's recent trade mission to the orient.

The basic fair-trade issues have been defused in a fog of claims about Japan bashing, the President's health complaints about the quality of American made goods.

Forcing the Japanese, the Koreans and the Chinese to buy more U.S. cars in outright dollar value agreements is not the correct solution to the problem. U.S. manufactured products, whether they be cars, electronic components or agricultural goods can and do fare well in competition on foreign markets.

The problem comes in when our products are not allowed to compete fairly. Take the case of Nebraska beef. Japanese tariffs and import limits have for years stifled what most marketers have said would be a sizeable market for U.S. beef.

In China, U.S. software has been illegally pirated for use in the burgeoning Chinese manufacturing industry. Many of the goods being produced with the help of the pirated U.S. software are destined for U.S. stores. Competing U.S. manufacturers pay for their software legally. But, now the Chinese threaten restrictive limits on U.S. products allowed in their markets if we demand that their manufacturers pay for software.

The issues are far more complex and crucial than they appear on the face as talk centers around whether the Japanese buy a few more U.S. cars.

Even if his trip turns out to be a political liability as it appears now, we think the administration was correct in emphasizing and directing attention to these issues.

Getting acquainted like trying to remember the new telephone prefixes

"We're sorry, your call cannot go through as dialed ..."

I've been hearing a lot of that lately.

It's been a long week of trying to remember names, faces and especially phone numbers — like phone prefixes.

In the week since I took over (or should I say went overboard) as editor and publisher of The Wayne Herald, I've dialed dozens of calls with the wrong prefix. I've answered the phone with the wrong business name greeting several times. And I've messed up on the names of scores of people to whom I had just been introduced.

For those transgressions I am profoundly sorry.

When I go to sleep at night I hear a metallic phone operator's voice repeating over and over: "We're sorry, your brain will not go through ..."

Another recurring image comes to mind as I meet new people, many of whom ask how I like my new surroundings and new job.

I have wanted each time to relate the long and far too dull story about the small town whittler I once knew. I haven't had the opportunity to tell the story yet, so I will do so now:

Mann Overboard
by Lester J. Mann

"Well, can't rightly say," said the elderly gentleman hardly looking up from the stick that was slowly becoming a toothpick. "What was your last town like?" he asked.

"Oh, it was not very nice," said the young woman. "The people weren't very friendly, there was nothing to do and the town was really going down hill. That's why we want to move away."

"That's to bad," said the old man. "This town's a lot like that."

The couple muttered something and left. The old man whittled on. A short time later a second young couple pulled up to the curb where the man was still whittling.

"Excuse me sir," said the young man, as they approached our friend whittler. "We were wondering if you could answer a few of our questions about your town. You see, we are thinking of moving here and we wanted to get your impressions. What's this town like?"

"Well, can't rightly say," said the old man picking his teeth with a sharp new toothpick. "What was your old town like?"

"Oh, it is a wonderful place," said the young woman. "The people there are so friendly, there's so much to do, the town is thriving and we're really disappointed to be leaving."

"Well, I wouldn't worry about it," said the sage-old man, smiling. "this town is a lot like that."

The wise old man was telling the young people in his own way that any place is what you make of it. All towns are made up of what people bring to them.

I envision that old man every time someone asks me what I think of Wayne and whether or not I will miss my old town of Chadron.

I have to admit, I will miss some things about Chadron. But, I also look forward with excited anticipation to forging new friendships and developing new involvements and activities here.

In our transient society we need to be willing and able to forge new commitments and develop new friendships.

Whether we live in one place all our lives or move often, every one — after all is said and done — was just passing through.

We need to make an effort to try to put back more into the communities we live in than we take out.

I hope to achieve that goal in Wayne.

But, first I have to figure out a way to get that operator's voice out of my head ...

"We're sorry, your brain is not getting through as dialed ..."

An all-new, steamy column

The past few weeks I've had an opportunity to catch up on some TV shows that I usually miss. But I've never noticed until recently how "exciting" and "steamy" everything is.

First you have the "all new" episode of everything. Occasionally you have the "intense" episodes and on other occasions you have the "exciting" adventures of whatever.

If these shows get more intense, I'm going to have to stop drinking coffee. My metabolism won't be able to handle any more "all new, exciting, intense, steamy" episodes.

Then I get in on all the "all-new, steamy, exciting" episodes of whatever show I happen to want to watch.

"Quantum Leap" is one of my favorites. So is "Star Trek: The Next Generation." While Star Trek is usually pretty mild-mannered, it always advertises when it has its "all new episode."

I've often wondered what "all new" means. Since the latest Star Trek series has been airing for four or five years now, I'd like to see a definition of "all new." It's the same characters every week and it's usually a recurring theme, so what is "all new?"

ON MOST weeks, I will make an effort to watch about five shows over the course of the week. If, on those nights when my favorite shows are on TV, I'm not home, I'll have Rhonda tape them.

Such is the case with "Quantum Leap." "Quantum Leap" often advertises that the next episode is the "steamiest-ever episode." That's confusing, though, because as I remember, last week's episode

Mark'n' the Spot
by Mark Crist

was the "steamiest ever." They can't possibly continue to get "steamiest" each week because if they do, I'll soon have smoke pouring out of my TV set.

WHAT I'D like to see is for TV to begin using adjectives and adverbs that confuse the heck out of everyone.

The following teaser for any television show (except Lawrence Welk) could sound something like this:

"Look forward to this neoteric episode of (insert show here) where the vapor will be so profound it will illuminate your living room in such a manner that it will trepeditate the cathode ray tube."

Say what?

Well, if nothing else, maybe the networks could find something different to say rather than teasing viewers into the inevitable.

At any rate, make sure you turn next week to a page not dissimilar to this one where you won't see me writing about what's on network TV programming this week, but you can make sure it might be intense and possibly exciting but probably not steamy.

Not amused

Yesterday while at work I heard two gentlemen talking about someone shooting a dog and then laughing about it. This just infuriated me. Come on people it's about time that we grow up. It's time we care for our animals, feed our children and care for our elderly.

You think about it. A pet or animal will faithfully stay by your side regardless of the circumstances. A friend will turn on you depending on how it will benefit them.

These pets were put here on earth for companionship not to be abused, shot or poisoned. If you have a problem with an animal go to the owner. They are the ones to blame, not the innocent animal. They act the way they were taught, by their owner. You have no business being cruel to an animal regardless of what kind of animal it is. If I ever see an animal being abused or not properly taken care of I will be the first to turn them in. I've done it several times already and if you ask then I'll tell you if it was me. If you can't properly care for an animal, you have no business having one. You shoot at pets running the streets, but yet we have child molesters and rapists that are a far greater danger.

Children are innocent victims of society. Many of them unwanted and if handicapped made fun of. This is where the public is supposed to step in and see that they are cared for. Why are we sending our food overseas when we have so many here that need fed and cared for. We need to take care of our own first. As for the elderly we take better care of prisoners than we do them. Think about it. They get three square meals a day, TV, recreation and a dry place to sleep. Do our elderly? No. Many of them are on the streets uncared for.

I can't believe they are thinking about doing away with the death penalty. Our prisons are crowded because we are so willing to let these people live out a life sentence because of their rights. What about the victims' rights, when they are pleading for their lives? I don't think our taxes need to be spent toward the care of prisoners. There are better ways to use it. Like building or even renovating places for the homeless. Helping out families in real need as long as they are willing to help themselves and not sit back and let people do everything for them to think society owes them.

Think about what I have written. Three things we need to care for are our animals, children and our elderly. We'd have a much better world to live in.

Good effort

Thank you for your Jan. 13 article covering the opening of Northeast Recycling, Inc. and for your support and encouragement of recycling in the past. Also, I can't praise Fred McGuire's spirit of enterprise enough. Besides bringing a very worthwhile business to our area, he's offering the people of Wayne and surrounding communities an opportunity to take part in reducing waste by recycling and reusing our resources.

I hope folks will make that extra effort to support this work. Also, thanks to Brad Jones and the others working with Mr. McGuire who've committed themselves to this noble project.

Placing priorities on 60 day session

With the start of the new year the Nebraska Unicameral reconvenes for its 60 day session. As in the past, I will use this weekly column as one of the ways to report the activities of the legislature to the citizens of the 17th District.

Work began in the 92nd Legislature, Second Session, on January 8 with bill introduction. Since the bill numbering system continues over the two-year cycle, bills introduced this year begin with the number 858. Senators must introduce bills during the first ten days of the session.

Though important new and pending legislation will be taken up during the session, the personal property tax issue will be placed on top of the daily work agenda in order to resolve the crisis in which we find our property tax system.

A number of plans to change the current tax system are being put together. The proposal worked out by the 3R Committee, which recommends placing property which is being depreciated on the tax rolls, will be introduced in the Legislature within the next few days. With this plan personal property, both agricultural and business, would be assessed in the same manner, at its net book value, that is, only the value which remains after depreciation. Opinion on the recommendations and effect of the 3R proposal varies among the business and farming communities.

I am working on a proposal that might break this log jam. It is a solution that will bring the divergent interests of our state together and concentrate the Legislature's efforts on a plan which is fair to all economic sectors.

Capitol Views

By Sen. Gerald Conway

As other proposals are brought forward, I will continue to report them in order to keep you informed. The Legislature's task is to craft a bill that is equitable and based on sound fiscal policy. It is important to bear in mind, however, that any proposal which necessitates a constitutional amendment, as does the 3R recommendation, must be placed before the voters for approval.

A very useful publication to assist you in following the work of the Legislature is the "Unicameral Update." The reports on bills at each stage in the lawmaking process. It is published free of charge by the office of the Clerk of the Legislature. Please contact Vicki, my Administrative Assistant, at the Capitol if you would like to receive this weekly publication.

Women improve to 9-6 while men go to 6-10

Wayne State hoop squads remain undefeated in 1992

The Wayne State women's and men's basketball teams returned to the friendly confines of Rice Auditorium for the first time in a month Tuesday night, and both squads returned with winning streaks as neither had lost in 1992.

Mike Barry's women's squad was riding a four-game win streak and they upped that to five with an 81-43 thrashing of Nebraska Wesleyan while Mike Brewen's men stretched their win streak to four with a seven point victory over a solid Viterbo team from La Crosse, Wis., 64-57.

In women's action, the 9-6 Wildcats sprinted to a 39-21 lead at the intermission before outscoring the visitors from Lincoln, 42-22 in the second half.

Eleven of the 14 Wildcats who saw playing time put their names in the scoring column with Lisa Chamberlin leading the way with 15 points. Cheri VanAuker and Kristy Twait followed in double figures with 12 points each while Linda Heller poured in 10.

Lynn Nohr finished with nine points and Jodi Otjen added seven while Amy Rueger, Dana Olmsted and Tawnya Bakke scored four apiece. Mary Schnitzler, and Brenda TeGrotenhuis rounded out the attack with two points each.

The Wildcats dominated the boards, 62-48 as three players finished in double figures with VanAuker hauling down 12 boards while Bakke and Otjen recorded 11 and 10 caroms respectively.

Kairi Backer led the Wildcats in assists with five while Olmsted recorded five steals. Otjen led the team in blocked shots with three. WSC finished with 19 turnovers but forced Wesleyan into 28.

"Overall we weren't real sharp," Barry said. "We were coming off a big win over a good Florida Southern program on the road and we just weren't as intense against Wesleyan."

Barry said he isn't exactly sure what it was that turned his squad around to the point of five straight wins—four of which were in enemy territory but he feels that the players are doing a good job of filling their roles. "Our players decided they wanted to do what ever it takes to win," Barry said. "Everyone is fulfilling their role which adds up to a good team effort."

The Wildcats will travel to Kearney in Saturday action against UNK before traveling to Hastings for a Sunday afternoon contest.

Men post big win

In the men's contest the Wildcats were up against 13-4 and rated Viterbo. The Wisconsin based school plays on the NAIA Division I level and have won over 25 games a season for the past several years.

WSC maintained a 25-22 lead at the intermission and out-scored the visitors, 39-35 in the second in posting its sixth win of the year against 10 losses.

The Wildcats stretched their three point lead at half to nine early in the second half at 34-25 but with just under three minutes to go in the game, Viterbo had come back to gain a 56-53 advantage.

WSC hit seven of 10 free throws in the final three minutes of the game including six straight, and defensively the Wildcats came up big as David Allen and Keith Whitfield blocked shot attempts by Viterbo and Whitfield recorded a steal with 18 seconds left which all but sealed the game.

"A lot of people think we are a different team right now than we were because we are winning," Brewen said. "I don't really think we are. We've been together longer now and we have gained some valuable experience."

Brewen said following the South Dakota State game that the biggest enemy his squad seemed to be facing was themselves and their confidence. "We started changing the line-up a little bit to get everyone involved," Brewen said. "The guys have really responded to that and we have been playing 10 players a game for the past four or five games."

Billy Patterson led WSC against Viterbo with 18 points while David Allen poured in 16. Doug Kuzak scored eight points and Steve Dunbar added six. John Schott, Keith Whitfield and Jason Bangs finished with four points apiece while Omar Clark scored three. Davy Summers rounded out the scoring with one point.

WSC connected on 12 of 19 shot attempts in the second half and 23-42 for the game for 54.8

percent. The Wildcats held a 32-24 advantage on the boards with Allen hauling down 16 caroms.

Allen is currently ranked as the sixth best rebounder in the nation on the NCAA Division II level with just over 12 boards per game. Allen also led WSC in assists with four while Dunbar dished out three.

WSC finished with 18 turnovers while Viterbo had 13. "Viterbo's leading scorer was Mark Skogen and he came in averaging over 20 points a game," Brewen said. "We put Patterson and Dunbar on him all night and they dogged him pretty well and we held him to 12 points."

The Wildcats played without the services of Carlos Moore who was sitting out with a tailbone injury suffered in the Kearney tournament. "Jason Bangs stepped in to replace Carlos," Brewen said, "and he's done a super job for us. We've also cut our practices down to about an hour and a half which lets the players play hard for all 40 minutes of the game without getting worn out."

Brewen also said that Patterson's success against Viterbo has to do with the way he moved without the ball. "Billy is better than anyone on our team in moving without the basketball," Brewen said. "He knows how to play without the ball because he was well coached in high school on that."

The Wildcats will host Briar Cliff on Tuesday in a 7:30 p.m. tip-off.

Wayne State guard Steve Dunbar gets fouled on this off-balanced shot attempt during the Wildcats seven point victory over Viterbo College on Tuesday. Dunbar finished with seven points.

OMAR CLARK PLAYS TOUGH defense on Viterbo's leading scorer Mark Skogen. The Wildcats held the prolific scorer far below his season average.

KAIRI BACKER GETS FOULED while going in for a shot attempt during Wayne State's 38-point victory over Nebraska Wesleyan on Tuesday in Rice Auditorium.

Wayne girls win big over Sioux City West

The Wayne girls basketball team improved to 3-6 Saturday night with a victory over Sioux City West in Sioux City, 52-37. Marlene UHING's squad had three players in double figures in a contest which saw the Blue Devils attempt 35 free throws.

"Iowa has a different rule when it comes to free throws," UHING said. "Each time you get into the bonus it is automatically a two shot foul instead of Nebraska's rule of a one-and-one."

Wayne led Sioux West, 13-9 after one quarter of play, but the host team had the lead trimmed to two by intermission as they took advantage of Blue Devil foul trouble, 21-19.

"Liz Reeg sat out virtually the whole second quarter because of foul trouble," UHING said. "At half-time we just told the girls to work harder on the defensive boards because we were giving up too many offensive rebounds, and they responded well in the second half."

Wayne out-scored Sioux West 31-18 in the second half to post the 15 point victory. "Defensively we held them to 25 percent shooting from the floor on their home floor," UHING said. "The adjustments we made at half worked for us."

Despite the fact that Reeg sat out the second period, she and Danielle Nelson shared scoring honors with 16 points apiece while Erin Pick netted 11. Susie Enz followed with eight points and Tami Schluns scored one point to round out the scoring.

Wayne held a 32-28 advantage on the boards with Enz leading the way with nine caroms. "We still had way too many turnovers," UHING said. "We finished with 23 while West had 13."

Wayne connected on 22 of 35 free throws while West made good on 6-14. "We shot quite a few free throws down the stretch when West had to foul us in order to get the ball back," UHING said. "We also shot four technical foul shots." Nelson and Reeg proved to be the host team—that they were the wrong girls to foul in the clutch as Nelson hit 10-12 from the charity stripe while Reeg was 8-11.

Wayne will travel to play South Sioux on Thursday before hosting West Point in a make-up game on Saturday afternoon with the varsity playing at approximately, 4 p.m.

WAYNE-The Wayne State women's basketball team returned from the Sunshine State with smiles recently, as they won all three contests. The Wildcats finished up their Florida swing with an 83-78 come from behind win over Florida Southern on Saturday.

WSC trailed the host team by 12 points at the intermission, 45-33, but responded with a 50-33 advantage in the second half. The 8-6 Wildcats were led by the hot shooting of Mary Schnitzler who poured in a game high 24 points including six, 3-pointers.

Olmsted and Chamberlin led WSC in assists with three each while Chamberlin blocked three shots. Olmsted and Schnitzler led the Wildcats with three steals each and WSC won the turnover battle with 14 while forcing the host team into 20.

Ponca boys defeat Allen

ALLEN-The Ponca Indians defeated Jeff Schoning's Allen Eagles last Friday in Ponca, 68-47. The Eagles fell victim to 14 turnovers in the first quarter which gave the host team a 23-8 lead.

Allen trailed 41-21 at the break. Brian Nelson led the Eagles with 14 points while Casey Schroeder and Chris Sachau scored seven each. Curtis Oswald finished with six points while Jason Reuter, Jay Jackson and Brad Greenough added four apiece. Lane Anderson rounded out the attack with one point.

"We just had way to many turnovers," Schoning said. "We actually played them to a six point game after the first quarter." Both teams finished with 48 rebounds with Jackson leading the Eagles with 13 caroms. Greenough pulled down 12 boards.

Allen finished with 34 turnovers while Ponca suffered 23. Adam Watchhorn led Ponca with 22 points while Reid McGill poured in 18. James Armstrong was also in double figures with 11.

Wayne boys blast Laurel, 74-46

The Wayne Blue Devils made Laurel their seventh consecutive victory Tuesday night, as they defeated the Bears in convincing fashion, 74-46 at Wayne High.

Bob UHING's 8-2 squad took advantage of several turnovers which resulted in lay-ups off the visitors to post a 34-point halftime bulge at 47-13. Wayne led 19-4 after the first quarter and found themselves up 36-6 midway through the second quarter. In the second half the Wayne bench emptied as everyone saw playing time. Wayne led 60-27 after three quarters.

"I thought our players did a good job defensively," UHING said. "We created points with our defense. One of the things that gives you the mark of a good basketball team is when you can put teams away when you have the advantage and our kids did a nice job of doing just that."

Regg Carnes led a trio of players in double figures with 19 points while Bobby Barnes and Matt Blomenkamp netted 17 apiece. Brad UHING and Aaron Gelger scored five points each while Kyle Dahl finished with four.

Matt Ley scored three points while Robert Bell and Mike Fluent rounded out the scoring with two points each. Wayne won the battle of the boards, 31-24 with Ley and Carnes each hauling down six boards to lead the Blue Devils.

Wayne finished with 19 turnovers while forcing Laurel into 27. The Blue Devils were 8-17 from the foul line while Laurel was 6-17. Andy Smith led Laurel with 24 points.

The Wayne reserves were defeated by Laurel, 48-45. Wayne was led in scoring by Randy Kaup with nine points.

The Blue Devils will travel to play Stanton on Friday.

Winside boys notch first win of season with nine point victory over Hartington

The Winside boys basketball team notched their first victory of the season Tuesday night with a 57-48 victory over visiting Hartington. Shannon Pospisil's crew jumped out to a 14-9 lead after one quarter of play and they led 30-26 at the intermission.

The Wildcats went on to out-score the visitors 27-22 in the second half. "We had some foul trouble in the second quarter," Pospisil said. "Cory Miller, Cam Shelton and John Hancock were all on the bench with three fouls which meant we had a very young team in the game."

Senior Cory Jensen was hardly phased by the fact that three of his starting teammates were on the bench because he just turned it up a notch on the offensive end of the floor and when he had finished, the guard had poured in 29 points.

Hancock finished with 13 while Miller added seven. Ryan Brogren scored three points while Shelton and Colby Jensen scored two points apiece. Jeremy Jenkins rounded out the scoring with one point.

Winside held a 40-38 advantage on the boards as Miller and Brogren led the way with nine caroms apiece. "We really took good care of the basketball," Pospisil said. "We had just 10 turnovers while forcing Hartington into 20."

Winside was 23-38 from the foul line and Cory Jensen was responsible for the majority of the ones made as he connected on 18-20. Hartington finished the game 7-14 from the foul line. Girls win third straight

Paul Giesselmann's girls team won their third straight game with a 38-28 advantage over Hartington in the game prior to the boys contest. Winside trailed Hartington, 8-6 after the first quarter but out-scored the opposition 16-2 in the second quarter for a 12-point-half-time advantage at 22-10.

"It wasn't a real good game for us offensively," Giesselmann said. "Our shots just weren't falling. We did play a very good defensive game and we did a good job of keeping them off the offensive boards." Jenny Jacobsen and Holly Holdorf led the team with 10 points apiece while Wendy Rabe added eight. Christi Mundil scored six points and Kari Pichler rounded out the scoring with four.

Hartington held a 35-33 advantage on the boards despite Rabe and Mundil hauling down eight caroms apiece. Winside had just 13 turnovers while forcing Hartington into 28. The Wildcats were 2-6 from the foul line while the visitors were 0-2.

"Hartington really played good defense against us," Giesselmann said. "They packed it in to make sure that Wendy and Christi weren't going to be the ones that beat them."

Winside will host Wakefield in a girls-boys doubleheader on Friday.

Wayne wrestlers place second

John Murtaugh's Wayne wrestling team traveled to Wisner Saturday for the Wisner Invitational and when the dust had settled, the Blue Devils brought home a runner-up trophy for their efforts as seven earned medals.

Wayne did not have a very productive first round as only four of the 12 who wrestled on varsity, advanced with a first round win. "We did not have very good first round," Murtaugh said. "However, the kids responded to the challenge and came back to win a trophy. I was very pleased and encouraged by this because it showed that this team has character."

Brent Gamble at 125 and Dwaine Junck at 171 won individual championships for the Blue Devils. Both grapplers are currently rated in Class B in their respective weight classes.

Ryan Brown and Juan Mota won their first varsity medals as Brown earned a third place while Mota Mota lost by pin in his first match before winning 11-1. He then won 9-8 to advance to the consolation finals where he lost a 13-0 decision to Troy Thompson of Norfolk.

Trojan girls, boys capture tourney

The Wakefield girls and boys basketball teams were crowned champions of the Emerson Post Holiday Tournament Saturday in Emerson. The Lady Trojans squared off against Homer in the championship and Gregg Cruickshank's crew blasted the opposition, 54-29.

Wakefield was extremely hot from the field hitting 12 of its first 14 shots while grabbing a 20-6 lead after the first quarter. The Trojans maintained a healthy 24-18 advantage at the break.

"We probably played our best all around game of the year," Cruickshank said. "We shot the ball very well and we executed our offense better than we had all season."

Blecke led Wakefield in scoring with 22 points. The senior had 16 at the half and played very little of the fourth quarter. Lisa Anderson and Kali Baker finished with six points apiece while Kristen Miller, Kathy Otte and Heidi Mueller scored four each.

Angi Peterson, Maria Eaton, Cindy Torczon and Sarah Salmon rounded out the scoring with two points each. Wakefield maintained a 32-22 advantage on the boards with Salmon leading the way with eight caroms while Blecke hauled down seven boards.

Wakefield forced Homer into 25 turnovers while committing just 14. The Trojans were 4-7 from the foul line while Homer was 3-6. The victory left the Trojans with an 8-2 record.

Boys Improve to 8-2

In the boys championship game the Trojans also defeated Homer, 55-51. The loss was the first of the season for Homer in nine games while Wakefield improved to 8-2.

One of the trends that has propelled Wakefield this season is a good first quarter and Saturday was no exception as Brad Hoskins' team jumped out to a 17-10 lead after one.

Wakefield kept that advantage most of the second quarter but Homer charged back in the final minute and scored seven straight points to close the Wakefield lead to two at the break, 28-26.

"We got into foul trouble towards the end of the first half," Hoskins said. "Homer scored seven points in the final minute but we felt we were still in control at the break because we were doing what we wanted."

The Trojans out-scored Homer 12-8 in the third quarter to take a six point lead into the fourth quarter. Down the stretch Homer attempted a rally but each time they drew close, Wakefield responded.

Anthony Brown led Wakefield with 17 points in a contest which saw the starting five of Wakefield do all the scoring. Dalton Rhodes followed with 16 points while Steve Clark poured in 13. Marcus Tappe finished with seven points and Ben Dutton rounded out the scoring with two points.

Both teams finished with 23 rebounds with Rhodes leading the Trojans with nine caroms including four offensive boards. Brown notched eight rebounds and had four steals. Wakefield finished with 17 turnovers while Homer had just 10. Clark led Wakefield in assists with four.

Winside grapplers place runner-up

The Winside wrestling team finished runner-up to Battle Creek in the Annual Winside Invitational Saturday in Winside. Battle Creek racked up 141 points to out-distance the Wildcats who finished with 120.

Oakland-Craig placed third with 110 while Atkinson West Holt placed fourth with 108. Norfolk Catholic placed and Plainview tied for fifth place honors with 76 points each while Osmond followed with 52. Clearwater/Ewing finished eighth with 34 points and Stanton was ninth with 30. Winside's reserves placed 10th with seven points.

Eight Winside wrestlers went home with medals led by Jason Krueger and Trevor Topp who won championships at 189 and heavyweight, respectively. Krueger decided Brian Choutka of Battle Creek, 13-7 in the championship match at 189 while Topp won by forfeit from Osmond's Jason Lühr in the championship at heavyweight.

Marc Jansen finished runner-up at 119, after losing a 6-2 decision to Lee Ober of Stanton in the finals. Winside had two wrestlers place third as Jason Wylie pinned Mike Matteo of Norfolk Catholic in 3:56 of the consolation finals at 112 while Brady Frahm won by technical fall over Aaron Erickson of Norfolk Catholic, 18-2 in the consolation finals at 145.

Fourth place finishes were earned by Scott Jacobsen at 103, who was decided 7-1 by Del Hawkins of Oakland-Craig in the consolation finals, and Chris Mann who was decided 5-0 in the consolation finals at 125 by Jed Axford of Battle Creek.

Donnie Nelson earned a fourth place finish after being pinned in 1:42 of the consolation finals by Matt Hoskinson of Battle Creek. "Overall, I was pleased with the way we performed," Winside coach Paul Sok said. "We had a couple little mistakes but coming off a three-week lay-off I felt our intensity was cranked up pretty good."

The news was not all good from Winside, however. Jason Magwire sat out of the meet with a separated collar bone and Monday night it was revealed that Magwire would be lost for the season.

"The loss of Jason will hurt us because he had really started to come on in the last meet before Christmas at Wayne," Sok said. "We feel we are losing between 10 and 20 points an invitational with his loss."

Magwire was injured in practice over Christmas break. Also injured was Benji Wittler who cracked his collar bone during practice. "We've never had anyone injured seriously in practice until now," Sok said. "It's just one of those things."

Jason Krueger wrestled for the first time at 189 pounds during Saturday's meet and the senior grappler breezed to the championship. "Jason looked pretty good," Sok said. "He hasn't wrestled for quite a while because he had a shoulder injury from football and then he was wrestling at heavyweight until he got down to 189. Then right before the Wayne meet he got pneumonia which kept him out."

Sok still believes his squad will be one to contend with down the stretch before districts and state.

Blue Devils blow past rival South Sioux, 69-60

The Wayne boys basketball team won their sixth consecutive game Saturday night, with a home victory over conference rival South Sioux, 69-60. The visiting Class A Cardinals didn't come in boasting a great record at 1-7, but Wayne coach Bob Uhing noted that Jack Sell's club plays one of the toughest schedules in all of Class A.

"South Sioux has a pretty good team," Uhing said. "They are much better than their record would indicate but they play a very competitive schedule. At any rate, the Cardinals jumped out to a 6-0 lead in the first minute-plus of the contest before Wayne answered with a 12-5 run to end the first period with a 12-11 lead.

The second quarter proved to be all Wayne as the Blue Devils out-scored the visitors, 21-12 to lead 33-23 at the break. South Sioux made a run at the Blue Devils early in the third period as they closed the gap to four, but Wayne responded once again and found themselves up by 18 down the stretch in the fourth quarter.

"First of all, I was very pleased with our whole team effort," Uhing said. "I thought our kids showed good maturity in the third and fourth quarters when they responded after South Sioux had cut the lead from 10 to four."

Uhing was also pleased with the way some of his players came back to play a strong second half after struggling some in the first half. "I think that also shows maturity and the competitiveness of our players when they are able to respond in the second half when being shut down in the first half," Uhing said.

"Bobby Barnes was held to three first half points and he scored 11 in the second half. Kyle Dahl was held to four first half points and scored nine in the second half."

Regg Carnes led the Blue Devils in scoring with 22 points while Brad Uhing poured in 16. Barnes finished with 14 and Dahl netted 13. Matt Ley and Matt Blomenkamp rounded out the scoring with two points apiece.

Wayne dominated the boards, 39-21 as Carnes and Dahl led the way with nine caroms apiece. Uhing and Blomenkamp finished with seven rebounds each. The Blue Devils finished with 11 turnovers while South Sioux had 12. Wayne hit 17-29 from the foul line while the visitors were 6-11.

"We are still an improving team," Uhing said. "Our kids recognize that and are working hard in practice to improve." The victory left Wayne with a 7-2 record.

JASON TOPP TRIES TO gain the advantage on his opponent during Winside Invitational action Saturday.

SCOTT JACOBSEN LOOKS FOR reversal points during second round action of the Winside Tournament. The Wildcats placed runner-up to Battle Creek in the team title. Jason Krueger and Trevor Topp earned championships.

Wakefield boys upset by Walthill; Girls win

Brad Hoskins' Wakefield boys cracked the top 10 in the eighth position in the Omaha World Herald rankings last week for their solid play so far this season. Unfortunately for the Trojans, that solid play disappeared in the final eight minutes of Tuesday's game in Walthill and the host team surprised Wakefield with a 55-54 upset.

"We just didn't play well in the fourth quarter," Hoskins said. "We stood around on offense and we missed some key front ends of one-and-ones." Walthill had two leads in the game as they scored the first basket and for a 2-0 lead and they made the last basket of the game for a one point lead.

Wakefield led 18-14 after the first quarter and 27-22 at the intermission. The visiting Trojans upped their lead to 13 after the third quarter with a 47-34 advantage but they scored just seven, fourth quarter points while Walthill scored 21.

Anthony Brown led all scorers with 31 points while Marcus Tappe added 10. Steve Clark finished with five while Dalton Rhodes and Ben Dutton scored four apiece to round out the attack.

Walthill held a 25-23 advantage on the boards. Dutton led Wakefield with seven caroms while Brown hauled down six. The Trojans suffered 26 turnovers in a very sloppy game while the host team had 22. Wakefield was 7-11 from the foul line while Walthill was 3-6. Trojans gals win by two

Gregg Cruickshank's girls team was given quite a scare by Walthill before his Trojans prevailed, 45-43 which improved the Wakefield record to 9-2. Wakefield trailed 14-9 after the first quarter but led

Wakefield increased their lead to 31-26 heading into the fourth quarter before Walthill rallied. "It was a game of spurts," Cruickshank said. "We trailed 14-5 with about three minutes left in the first quarter. From that point on until about three minutes left in the third quarter—a span of a half, we out-scored them 26-6 to take a 31-18 lead. They scored the last eight points of the third period and out-scored us 17-14 in the fourth quarter."

Wakefield maintained a 41-40 lead with 1:26 left in the game when Angi Peterson hit two free throws. Lisa Anderson hit both ends of a one-and-one with 30 seconds left to give the Trojans a 45-40 lead but Walthill's Lorraine Porter drained a 3-pointer to cut the gap to two.

Wakefield was whistled for an offensive foul and the host team had two shots to tie the game in the last 12 seconds but both failed. "We just lost our defensive intensity the last 11 minutes of the game," Cruickshank said. "We didn't execute our offense very well either."

Lisa Blecke led Wakefield with 15 points while Anderson poured in 12. Kristen Miller, Sarah Salmon and Peterson scored six points each to round out the scoring.

Wakefield held a commanding 35-23 edge in rebounding led by the 12 caroms of Blecke. The Trojans committed 20 turnovers but forced their opponent's into 22. Wakefield also maintained the advantage in free throw shooting by hitting 7-8 while Walthill was 0-2. Porter led Walthill with 23 points.

Concord Free Church opens invitation to attend series on hope

The Rev. Bob Brenner, along with members of the Evangelical Free Church in Concord, invite the public to attend a four-part series on hope presented by World Wide Pictures, the audiovisual ministry of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.

The series titles include "Hope for the Family," "Hope for the Lonely," "Hope for Forgiveness" and "Hope for Commitment." Based on a North America wide survey of pastors, these are the four most challenging topics of today.

Pastor Brenner said each topic is clearly addressed and is first-person narrated to enable the viewers to identify with each character. Each film also features a message by Billy Graham.

All four films will be presented at the Evangelical Free Church in Concord and the schedule includes "Hope for the Family" on Sunday, Jan. 26 at 7 p.m.; "Hope for the Lonely" on Sunday, Feb. 2 at 7 p.m.; "Hope for Forgiveness" on Sunday, Feb. 9 at 7 p.m.; and "Hope for Commitment" on Sunday, Feb. 16 at 7 p.m.

News Brief

Wayne library holds winter story hour

WAYNE - The Wayne Public Library will hold its winter story hour on Saturday, Jan. 18 from 10:30-11:30 a.m. All area youngsters ages three to seven are welcome to attend. Librarian Jolene Klein said the winter story hours will continue each Saturday morning through Feb. 22.

IRS looking for early returns from taxpayers

The early bird gets a quicker refund, and according to the Internal Revenue Service, people who file early usually make fewer mistakes too.

If you send in your return now, there's a good chance you'll get your refund check within four to six weeks, the IRS says. If you wait until March or April, it can often take six to eight weeks and sometimes longer.

Here are some tips that can cut down on errors and help speed your tax refund to you.

- Write the full name and, if age one or more, the social security number of each dependent you claim on the front of your form.
- Get a W-2 form from each employer you worked for during 1991 and attach it to your return.

Most banks and businesses are also required to give you a year-end statement, usually a Form 1099.

- Sign your return. If you're married and file a joint return, both husband and wife must sign.
- Use the pre-addressed label that came with your tax package.
- Mail your form in the pre-addressed envelope that came with your tax package. Be sure to put enough postage on the mailing envelope.

Tele-Tax has more good ideas to help you. Tape number 465, for example, focuses on common errors people make on their returns. You can listen to Tele-Tax messages any time of the day or night by calling toll-free 1-800-829-4477.

Heart association offers free programs to help in prevention

Each year, over 6,000 Nebraskans lose their lives to cardiovascular disease, which is Nebraska's number one killer. More than one in four Nebraskans suffer from some form of it. The free public education programs of the American Heart Association, in Wayne County work to change those gloomy statistics.

Public education programs allow the American Heart Association (AHA) to reach young children, teenagers and adults with critical information appropriate to their needs.

Programs in Wayne County are delivered to healthcare facilities, schools and workplaces. These sites were selected as the best places to reach the largest number of people.

The Heart Rx program helps health care providers provide to patients the strongest, most clear message possible about lifestyle changes when a health professional recommends them.

While heart disease is most often diagnosed in middle-age, research shows it begins much earlier and is influenced by habits developed early in life. That is why AHA curriculum packages are provided to Nebraska schools for students from pre-school to high school. By getting the facts early, students can learn healthy habits and attitudes that may keep their hearts healthy long into adulthood.

Companies that believe people are their most important resource are using the Heart at Work program. This program offers information on nutrition, exercise, smoking cessation and high blood pressure control. It also teaches the warning signs of heart attack and stroke and what to do if they occur.

The programs of the American Heart Association are working and that means lives are being saved. From 1978 to 1988 the death rate for coronary heart disease fell 29.2 percent, while the death rate from stroke fell by 33.2 percent. Americans are changing their lifestyles to protect themselves from the ravages of heart disease. Slowly but surely, the battle against heart disease is being won.

Physicians, educators, employers and cardiac rehabilitation specialists wanting more information on Heart Association programs can contact their local chapter or call (402) 474-1353.

Setting makes for lovely wedding

I mentioned a wedding at Mahoney State Park last week; and made up my mind to tell you a little more about it, because it was so lovely.

The newest state park opened last year with lots of advance publicity and hoopla. And it is lovely. Its distinguishing feature is the Lodge. It looks a lot like some of the Alpine buildings we saw last year, and features sleeping rooms, meeting rooms and a restaurant with a gorgeous view of the river.

This was a second marriage for both the bride and groom; so, of course, was small, and intimate, and simple.

There is a cathedral ceiling in the south meeting room on the second meeting room on the second floor with windows on the east. A fabric-draped table made an improvised altar, complete with cross and candles.

The father of the bride provided music on an accordion, and her sister and brother sang. Her son ushered, and her youngest daughter was the only attendant. Both women were in ivory lace.

The family members all stayed at the lodge on Saturday night, had breakfast together, and got dressed there. As soon as the ceremony was over, a buffet lunch was catered by the staff. There were Christmas trees and garlands that provided a beautiful setting. The whole day was an affirmation of mature love and commitment that made my eyes mist when I looked at the happy couple.

We had attended a similar service in May. At this one, the very young daughters of the bride sang "We'll build a household of faith, that together we can make — and when the strong winds blow it won't fall down — we will be a family in a house that will be a home and with faith we'll build it strong. Now, to be a family, we've got to love each other, unselfishly, and our home must be a place, that fully abounds with grace, a reflection of His face, as one in Him we'll grow and the whole world will know, we are a household of faith."

Among those of us who had worked with this bride, there was not a dry eye. Both weddings reminded me of the old song, "Love is beautiful, the second time around."

NPPD plans meetings on adjustments

Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) will hold one of four public meetings next week to present details of proposed retail electric rate adjustments for the next two years. The NPPD Board expects to consider the adjustments at the February meeting and, if adopted, the adjustments would go into effect April 1.

The area meeting will be held Jan. 15 at the Norfolk city council chambers at 7 p.m.

Under the proposed adjustments, some customers would see their rates go up while others would see a decrease in 1992 and 1993. NPPD's last rate adjustment was approximately 2.5 percent in 1988.

The adjustments are the result of a "cost of service study" which analyzed customer usage patterns and the costs necessary to serve various types of customers. Customer classes include residential, commercial and industrial.

The study was conducted by NPPD, with assistance from R.W. Beck and Associates, a nationally recognized rate consulting firm. The study showed that adjustments are needed to more accurately reflect the costs of providing electric service to various categories of customers.

Increased rates in the summer reflect higher costs of providing electricity and are expected to hold down peak demands, while lower winter rates are designed to stimulate electric sales. By leveling out the peaks and valleys of electric demand, NPPD will be able to make more efficient use of its generating facilities and delay construction of high-cost generating plants.

An NPPD residential customer using 750 kilowatt-hours of electricity a month during the winter months presently pays $57.88 a month. Under the proposed 1992 rate, the cost would decrease to $57.79 per month and in 1993 the cost would be $58.84. The same amount of electricity during the four summer months now costs $60.58; in 1992 this would increase to $65.98; in 1993 it would be $71.51.

The study showed that under the existing rates, NPPD would have a shortfall of $3.7 million at the end of 1993.

In addition to the meetings next week, 12 other meetings will be held around the state beginning Jan. 20. Sites in this area include: Hartington senior center on Jan. 29; Feb. 4 at the Creighton NPPD office; Feb. 6 at the Oakland NPPD office; Feb. 12 at the O'Neill NPPD office.

The meetings begin at 7 p.m.

Season's conditions can cause some tree damage

Ironically, winter is the season when trees can be hurt by a form of heat damage called "sunscauld," said a University of Nebraska-Lincoln forestry specialist.

Michael Kuhns said now is the time to take steps to prevent sunscald damage. He said the damage is most likely to occur on cold, bright sunny days.

"Bark and buds of trees warm quite a bit on south and west sides of trees, as much as 5 to 35 degrees above the air temperature," Kuhns explained. "Tissues thaw and may become active. When the sun goes down or behind a cloud, the temperature in the bark and buds drops too quickly for the tissues to adapt."

He said bark is most often affected. Damage is characterized by splits running up and down the stems on south and west sides. Liquid also may bleed from the wounds. The wounds later provide a point of entry for disease and insect attack, Kuhns added.

Sunscauld is most common on small, newly transplanted trees with thin, smooth bark, he said. Maples, fruit trees and even black walnuts are among the susceptible species. Evergreen bark usually is shaded by the needles, but the needles themselves can be affected, turning brown and dying on south and west sides, Kuhns said.

Existing trees can be protected with the paper tree wrap available at nurseries, or by wrapping in burlap. Burlap coverings also can protect small evergreens. The wrappings should be removed in the spring by the time deep soil thaws, in late March or early April.

Industry focuses on restaurants

A struggling economy hasn't convinced consumers to completely shun restaurants in favor of at-home meals. Many consumers in Wayne County and across the country are readjusting their dining-out habits, though, by eating more often at casual restaurants and less frequently at more expensive establishments.

Recent research, conducted by Consumer Research on Eating Share Trends (CREST), shows that customer traffic at casual restaurants in 1990 was up 5 percent; at quick service outlet traffic increased 2.4 percent.

At the same time, traffic at fine dining establishments was down 6 percent. In terms of sales, steak restaurants experienced one-of the highest sales increases in the casual restaurant category, with a nationwide growth of 1.6 percent from 1985 to 1990—a time when some other restaurant segments were on the decline.

In fact, as an entree beef continues to command significant attention among restaurant operators. In casual dining restaurants, the volume of beef sold is twice that of chicken and seafood combined. Half of all restaurant beef volume is in the form of ground beef, primarily through the casual chains.

According to Audrey Laska at the Nebraska Beef Board, efforts are being made to increase beef's share of restaurant menus through the beef checkoff.

Checkoff programs are funded by investments of beef producers in Wayne County and others throughout the country. Many of these programs are aimed at growing segments of the foodservice market such as casual restaurants, Laska said.

For example, joint promotions with the Bennigan's and Steak Ale restaurant chains are expected to increase patron traffic in January and February, with the goal of increasing beef sales by 10 percent.

Bennigan's will distribute a two-page, 4-color insert into its menu from Feb. 2 to March 7, highlighting seven beef items on the menu.

Meanwhile, Steak and Ale will promote a "buy one, get one free" steak offer during January and February.

Advertising in foodservice trade publications, often in conjunction with recipe and idea booklets and materials, is also utilized by the beef industry to increase beef sales to foodservice.

Newsletters and personal contacts throughout the Nebraska Beef Board also help to communicate with restaurant operators and distributors.

Restaurant owners realize that they can benefit from having new and innovative beef recipes among their offerings, according to Laska.

That will help the beef industry capture the interest of today's value-conscious diners, while maintaining beef's share of expanding restaurant menus.

Council honors home economist

The Council for Certification at the American Home Economics Association has announced that Darlene Martin, Associate Professor, Nutritional Science and Hospitality Management at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Northeast Research and Extension Center, Concord, Nebraska, has earned the Certified Home Economist (CHE) credential. As one of 8,500 CHEs across the United States, Martin demonstrates continuing commitment to maintaining a current level of knowledge in the field of home economics.

CHEs work in diverse roles internationally. A CHE might be found in San Francisco conducting research, in New York managing a hotel staff, in Dallas advising viewers how to invest, in Atlanta using a state-of-the-art computer to design a bank lobby, in Paris buying a new fall line for retail, or in Omaha teaching family living courses. The common link of all these people is the multi-dimensional profession of home economics and a commitment to continuing education.

By becoming a CHE, a practitioner validates attainment of a measurable level of knowledge in home economics and a commitment to expanding that knowledge-base. Certification requires a minimum of a bachelor's degree from a regionally-accredited college or university and a passing score on the national home economics examination. Martin completes 75 Professional Development Units (PDU's) every three years to remain certified.

The American Home Economics Association, which serves as an advocate for home economists and represents the field to external constituencies, was founded in 1909. As one of the oldest professional organizations in the United States, the association has spearheaded the certification effort:

- To provide assurance to consumers that Certified Home Economists are well prepared for professional practice;
- To foster more uniform standards of good practice in home economics;

- To encourage increased continuing education within the profession; and
- To assist employers in recruitment and selection of home economists.

Beef state becoming better known for poultry

Nebraska is known as the "Beef State," but recent expansion by egg, turkey, and broiler chicken processing companies means that poultry has become a growing agricultural industry in the state.

production costs, Pendleton said. Another reason, she said, is Nebraska's excellent labor force.

and its egg production, and M.G. Waldbaum's is known as "further processing," Pendleton said. These companies don't sell shell eggs, but instead produce dried and frozen egg products for various industries.

Grain plans to produce six million pounds of turkeys each year when it reaches full production, she said.

The chicken broiler industry has grown from 500,000 birds 18 months ago to two million today, Pendleton said. The industry could process between 5 and 10 million broilers within the next few years, she said. Most broilers are processed in Tecumseh by the Campbell Soup Co.

Plant expansions by two Nebraska egg plants, a turkey processing plant and continued growth of the broiler industry will mean dramatic growth in the state's poultry production, according to Dr. Eva Wallner-Pendleton, University of Nebraska-Lincoln poultry veterinarian.

"There's a tremendous hometown pride in our labor in our companies," Pendleton said. "Many companies feel that in addition to the (inexpensive) feed, that is our greatest asset."

"Dried and frozen egg products are used in a large percentage of our further produced foods," Pendleton said.

The expanding turkey market can be credited to more year-round production of turkeys that has increased turkey production in Nebraska by 9 percent over the last seven years, Pendleton said.

Many broilers produced in Nebraska are raised by farmers who have diversified their cattle or grain operations, Pendleton said.

Poultry production has boomed in Nebraska due to nearby feed sources since feed costs represent about 60 to 70 percent of total

Four Ways to Reduce High Blood Cholesterol

There are four major ways blood cholesterol levels can be reduced. Diet is one of the most effective ways of controlling high blood cholesterol. Foods high in saturated fat, such as butter, ice cream, red meats, and cheese, should be avoided. Vigorous exercise over a period of time can reduce levels of the most dangerous cholesterol (LDL type) and, at the same time, increase levels of a beneficial cholesterol (HDL type). Weight loss for the overweight person can lower cholesterol levels. Lower cholesterol levels may result from increased exercise and dietary changes such as increased fiber. Cholesterol lowering medicines sometimes are helpful when dietary changes, weight loss, and exercise have not reduced cholesterol to acceptable levels.
