Program saves groundwater

Since lenders are becoming concerned about environmental liabilities on property they finance, it is more important than ever for landowners to properly fill abandoned wells.

To assist in this effort, the co-operative extension service, soil conservation service, Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District and the Nebraska Department of Health have banded together to encourage landowners to seal old wells.

According to Larry Wetterberg with the Wayne County Soil Conservation Service office in Wayne, abandoned wells are a problem.

"At one point, the average farm size was 80 acres," Wetterberg said. "Since that was the case, many of the farms had as many as 16 wells per section of lead. Figure 18 and 18 are sections of lead of the said of the section of the said of the section of the said of the section of the said of th 16 wells per section of land. Figuring that we have 12 1/3 townships in the county times 36 sections per township, we probably had as many as 7,000 wells. Over time, many of those old wells have been abandoned and many need to be

ACCORDING TO DeLynn Hay, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln water resources specialist, abandoned wells always have been perceived as a safety hazard because people an animals can fall down them.

for pollution of groundwater. That's because they provide a direct route from the surface for pollu-tants such as fertilizers, pesticides and animal wastes. Along with those pollutants, bacteria can develop in abandoned wells.

According to Marla Rohrke of e Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District office in Norfolk, LENRD is doing what it can to reach landowners who believe they have abandoned wells on their property.

"Even when people cover the wells with sheet metal or rocks, rainwater can carry pesticides and nitrates or bacteria into the wells and contaminate the groundwater," she said. "This can contaminate the landowners own drinking supply if they have domestic wells."

ACCORDING TO information from LENRD, it is estimated that there could be as many as 150,000 abandoned wells in Nebraska. This figure includes old domestic wells deserted farmsteads and irrigation wells that are no longer in

Taking protective measures

Schools eye policies

By Mark Crist Managing Editor

As sexual harassment has come to the forefront of American poli-tics, public schools in the Wayne Herald coverage area have done or are doing something to protect their teachers and students

The Wayne and Wakefield school districts each have adopted policies regarding sexual harassment, but neither Allen nor Winside have implemented a program to date.

That doesn't mean, however, that the issue isn't weighing on the minds of school boards and administrations in Allen or-Winside.

"Sexual harassment and handicapped accessibility are a couple of favorite topics," said Winside Superintendent Don Leighton. "At this point, we're still working on policies. As of now, we don't have any written policies, we're only following government regulations."

Leighton said he expects to have a proposed sexual harassment policy on the table in the next three weeks.

THE WAYNE Schools, which implemented a policy a couple months ago, had their plan in place about the same time Wakefield did. While Wayne's plan is a little more elaborate than Wakefield's the intention behind the field's, the intention behind the policies is the same: To protect people from being harassed. According to Wayne Superintendent Dr. Francis Haun, the issue came to the forefront during the senate hearings for the Clarence Thomas nomination to the Supreme Court.

"The hearings made us realize we didn't have a policy on it of any kind," he said. "Almost all of our disciplinary action for employees and students was predicated on existing policies."

Planetarium slates shows on Sundays to March 1

The planetarium show "Springtime of the Universe," emphasizing the contributions of as-trochemists to the growing knowledge of the universe, will be pre-sented for five Sundays at Wayne State College.

The shows, which are free and open to the public, are on Sundays, running through March 1, at 3:30 p.m., in the Fred G. Dale Planetarium, located at the south entrance of the Carhart Science Building on the Wayne State campus.

JOHN WARNER, superintendent in Allen, said they have an out-dated policy that's very vague. He said it was set in 1963 when the rederal government passed the original civil rights act.
"We're trying to put together something that will cover the finer points," he said.

Haun said he put his policy together from policies which had all gether from policies which had al-ready been adopted in the work-place from businesses and other school districts. He said the bulk of school districts. He said the bulk of the Wayne schools' policy comes from Educational Service Unit Six in Hastings, with some of it being modeled after one he received from Great Dane Trailers of Wayne.

"We wanted something that would protect students from faculty as well as faculty from students," he said. "... I think the faculty is glad to have it. I think it put their mind to ease because they know they have due process."

Businesses take action on issue

Three of the Wavne area's industrial business leaders have said Three of the Wayne area's industrial business leaders have said they have a sexual harassment policy in place to protect their employees. Two of the five businesses contacted said they are working on policies to incorporate into the employee handbook.

According to officials with the M.G. Waldbaum Company, Great Dane Trailers and Wayne State College, each business has a policy regarding sexual harassment in the workplace. Businesses working on policies are Restful Knights and Heritage Homes.

According to Terry Meyer, who works with employee relations at Heritage Homes, there wasn't a need to update the employee handbook until recently. He said company growth was a contributing factor.

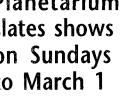

SUCH IS THE case with Rob Stuberg at Restful Knights. He said nothing really sparked the need to have a policy in the handbook but it's just part of the updating process.

"We didn't target sexual harassment," Stuberg said. "This is just an overall update of our manual."

Stuberg said he is utilizing a software package that's IBM compatible to update Restful Knights' handbook. Meyer, said he is developing Heritage Homes' policy from a booklet from the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. He said it's recommended by accountants.

"We've just been talking about updating our manual for some time," Meyer said. "The Thomas hearings just brought the issue to the forefront."

be calling on several area farmers over the next six weeks, asking for their cooperation on a major survey, according to Jack Aschwege, head of the Nebraska Agricultural Statistics Service in Lincoln.

Farmers with both large and smaller operations were selected to participate in the eighth annual Farm Costs and Returns Survey, which will collect information from up to 24,000 farmers and ranchers nationwide. Gosch has received assignments and survey training from the Lincoln office.

Like her counterparts nation-wide, Gosch will be collecting data on farm expenses, finances, capital purchases and costs of production for 1991. The information will be used to assess the economic wellbeing of different sizes and types of farms in different parts of the country. Survey findings will also be used to estimate costs and returns for producing individual commodi-

"Being a farm wife myself, I know how busy farmers are, and I know that surveys can be time consuming," said Gosch. "But I also know how important it is to have accurate, detailed, up-to-date information of financial conditions throughout agriculture. A lot of people depend on it, and reliable, current information has to come from the sources — farmers themselves."

According to Charles Caudill, who heads the National Agricul-tural Statistics Service in Washington, D.C., the survey is intended to "take the pulse of agriculture." The information it yields is used by farm policymakers, state agriculture officials, commodity groups, ag businesses, educational interests and farm organizations.

"The survey lets farmers and those who represent them know what's happening in different re-gions and sectors of agriculture. State agriculture officials and poli-State agriculture officials and poli-cymakers in Washington base many of their decisions on information gleaned from this sur-vey," Caudill said. Gosch wants to make sure that our area farmers are properly rep-resented in both the state and national samples, so that our farming conditions are reflected in the sur-vey results. She pointed out that each of the 800 Nebraska farmers selected for the survey represents many other farmers in similar circumstances. Once a name has been selected, no one else can take that farmer's place. To make the survey interviews as convenient as possible for participating farmers, Gosch will con-duct the interviews in the farmer's home. Most farmers selected for interviews have already been noti-fied by mail, and Gosch will try to set up a convenient time.

Responses to survey questionnaires are strictly confidential, Gosch said. After the survey data is reviewed and summarized by the Nebraska Ag Statistics Service, all individual questionnaires will be destroyed. Everyone participating in the survey will automatically receive a USDA summary of the results on a state regional or nasults on a state, regional or na-tional level and also "Nebraska Agri-Facts," a useful bimonthly release covering agricultural estimates and forecasts.

Wayne girls defeat rated team

The Lady Blue Devils of Wayne earned their biggest win of the basketball season Thursday night with a home victory over top five rated Hartington Cedar Catholic,

Marlene Uhing's crew came mariene onlings clew carries prepared to play against the Trojans which is what Uhing said they needed to do in order to compete. "We finally had a game where everybody played well together," Uhing said. "We've had games where a couple of our players had good games but the others didn't, but against Cedar everyone contributed in a positive way."

Cedar Catholic maintained a 12-11 lead after the first quarter and the visitors held a 20-18 half-time advantage. In the third quarter Cedar opened up a 30-24 lead before Wayne answered the call with a 13-4 run to close out the period with a 37-34 advantage.

Wayne dominated the fourth quarter and when the time came for Cedar to start fouling in order to get more possessions of the basketball, the Blue Devils caught fire from the free throw line, hit-ting 13 of 16 from the charity stripe in the final eight minutes.

"We came out in the third quarter making bonehead mistakes," Uhing said. "We had about four turnovers in our first five possessions. Then we called timeout after we got down 30-24 and we got a three-point play on the en-suing possession, and from that time on, we really played well."

Wayne, winners of three conwayne, within so the com-secutive games, got 30 points from Liz Reeg who now has tallied '73 points in her last three games including two, 30-point performances.

Susie Ensz tallied 14 points—all of which came in the second half while Danielle Nelson scored seven. Erin Pick finished with six points while Tami Schluns, Angie Thompson and Kim Kruse scored one each.

Susie was kind of our spark plug in the second half," Uhing said.
"She did some nice things with the ball and did a good job of driving to the basket and drawing the foul."

Uhing was pleased with the performance she got from all her players. "Danielle did a great job of taking care of the ball," Uhing said. She did a good job of handling Cedar's press. She also had a very good game of crashing the boards and coming down with seven car-

Wayne out-rebounded the physical Trojans, 33-31. Reeg led the Blue Devils with 10 rebounds while Ensz hauled down eight and Nelson, seven. "Liz had another great game," Uhing said. "She has the ability to shoot the ball well with someone in her face.

Wayne finished with 17 turnovers while Cedar had 12. The Blue Devils were 16-28 from the free throw line while Cedar was 4-7. "Most of the turnovers we suffered came in the first half," Uhing said. "With the exception of a poor start early in the third quarter we hardly had any turnovers in the we hardly had any turnovers in the second half."

second half."
Wayne's only negative on offense according to Uhing was not getting the ball inside to Erin Pick enough. "Erin really worked hard in the post position," Uhing said. "She only scored six points but she helped us because she attracted a lot of attention from Cedar's defense."

Tami Schluns drew praise from Uning for her aggressive defense along with handling the ball well against the Cedar press. "Tamboesn't score a lot of points but she usually draws a tough defended." sive assignment and she handles that very well," Uhing said. "The Thompson sisters, junior Angie and freshman Jenny, also did a nice job of providing quality minutes for us."

Kim Kruse was also recognized Kim Kruse was also recognized for some quality minutes in the second quarter. "We have played well against most of the good teams we've faced," Uhing said. "But the one thing we lacked so far was a win against a top team and we managed to get that against Gedar." against Gedar."

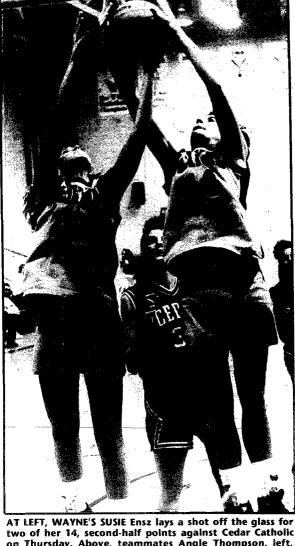

Wayne will take its 6-9 record

Wakefield Trojan gals lose to Laurel, 48-35

Gregg Cruickshank's Wakefield girls basketball team suffered a 48-35 setback to Laurel Thursday night in Laurel, dropping the Tro-jans record to 12-4.

The Lady Trojans got off to a very slow start as they scored just four, first quarter points, and fol-lowed that up with five, second quarter points. Laurel, meanwhile, took advantage of the Wakefield ill fortune by taking a 23-9 halftime

"We just got out to a very slow start," Cruickshank said. "We had some tough luck on the offensive end. We got the shots we wanted but we just couldn't hit them."

Wakefield was also hampered Wakefield was also hampered with first quarter turnovers that led to easy points by the Bears. "We started turning the ball over against Laurel's press and before you knew it, we were down 21-6," Cruickshank said. "That's a big mountain to climb against a good team like Laurel."

Wakefield did not give up as they out-scored the host team 12-6 in the third quarter to tighten o in the third quarter to tighten the gap to eight at 29-21. "We got the lead down to six and had possession of the ball but that's as close as we could get," Cruickshank said. "We had dug ourselves a pretty deep hole early in the game."

Lisa Blecke was the only Wakefield player in double figures with 11 points while Lisa Anderson netted seven and Heidi Mueller scored six. Sarah Salmon tallied five points and Angi Peterson scored four while Kristen Miller rounded out the Wakefield scoring with two

Blue Devils blast West Point

Despite having a lackluster eek of practice, Bob Uhing's week of practice, Wayne boys basketball team rolled into West Point Friday night in search of their 10th victory of the season against four losses.

Wayne grabbed a seven-point lead after the first quarter of play at 19-12 and never looked back en-route to a 77-60 thumping of the host Cadets.

Wayne out-scored West Point 27-17 in the second quarter to open up a comfortable 46-29 intermission advantage. Both teams played to a 31-31 tie in the sec-

"Not having a great week of practice and then playing like we did against West Point is a tribute to our two seniors Matt Ley and Kyle Dahl," Uhing said. "Their leadership was important and they both responded with excellent games."

Ley, who normally poses as the team's chief defensive weapon, was his usual self in hauling down eight rebounds and recording steals while forcing many West Point turnovers. In this game, however; Ley became a scoring threat as he threaded the West Point defense for 15 points on drives to the basket.

"Matt just played a great game," Uhing said. "He is our quarterback on the floor and he is a very unselfish player." Ley also dished out four assists. Uhing was also improved with the deficience." also impressed with the defensive play he got from Dahl, Robert Bell and Matt Blomenkamp. "We finished the game with four blocked shots," Uhing said. "Robert Bell drew the starting nod and had four rebounds in the first 90 seconds of the contest."

Bobby Barnes came off the Bobby Barnes came off the bench and scorched the nets for 15, first-half points including a perfect four-for-four outing from 3-point range. Barnes led Wayne in scoring with 26 points while Regg Carnes and Ley had 15 points apiece. Dahl was also in double figures with 10 points while Bell added four Blomenkamp scored added four. Blomenkamp scored three points while Brad Uhing and Mike Fluent scored two points

The only advantage West Point had in its favor was a 35-34 rebound total. Dahl led Wayne with 11 caroms while Ley hauled down eight. Wayne had 18 turnovers while forcing the Cadets into 23. Wayne connected on 21 of free throw attempts while West Point was 5-12. "We did a good job of moving without the ball on offense," Uhing said. "One thing we have to really clean up on is offensive rebounding. We gave up 21 offensive boards to West

Wayne will now shift its focus to Northern Activities the Northern Activities Conference Tournament which begins Thursday night in O'Neill at 8 p.m. The Blue Devils will play O'Neill in the first round.

A Wayne win would put them in the finals at 8 p.m. Saturday while a loss would put them in a 4:30 p.m. Saturday tilt for the consolation prize.

Wakefield boys run record to 13-4 after 15 point win

The Wakefield boys basketball team improved to 13-4 Friday night with a 70-55 victory on the road in Laurel. Brad Hoskins' team played a very strong first half in front of a hostile crowd as the Trojans built a comfortable 40-23 lead at the intermission.

"We played very well in the first f," Hoskins said. "We shot 64 percent from the field on 16 of 25 attempts and with the exception of two, 3-pointers, they were all points in the paint which meant we vere executing our offense well."

The Trojans came out a little stale in the third quarter and according to Hoskins, they played a lackluster post and perimeter de-fense on the Bears which led to a run by Laurel in the third and early part of the fourth period.

"They got the score cut down to 52-44 at one point," Hoskins said. "We just didn't play very well at all in the second half. The first half far outweighed our second half performance." half performance.

Anthony Brown led the Trojans with 16 points while Steve Clark and Marcus Tappe poured in 15 apiece. Dalton Rhodes and Ben Dutton each tallied eight points and Larry Johnson scored six while Jon Johnson rounded out the well balanced scoring attack with two

Program takes aim at having life skills

Leadership Life Skills is the focus of a new program being offered in Northeast Nebraska. The Building Blocks for Leadership Life Skills is co-sponsored by the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension, Northeast Community College and the Northeast Rural Development Group. The Building Blocks pro-gram is designed to help present and potential leaders learn organizational skills. Involved citizens in business, farm, church, government and civic organizations can benefit.

The Building Blocks for Leadership Life Skills program is designed to address the need for rural communities to expand and broaden their number of available community leaders. More leaders will help reduce volunteer burnout, Improved leadership skills will improve effectiveness of leader-ship. This will enhance the completion of projects and build a foundation for continued success.

Building Blocks for Leadership Life Skills is designed to be pre-sented in a community setting with participants being from the imme-diate community or adjacent communities.

There is a core workshop setting where potential leaders learn effective group process, communica-tions and organizational skills. The group will then be divided into smaller groups to work through community development projects of their choice. The "DECIDE" planning will be used. One-on-one consultation and resource contacts will lead each small group to project completion.

The 1990's have seen new initiatives, a greater focus on eco-nomic development, aggressive recruitment and a strong commitment by capable, talented people to open new doors for Nebraska. The rate of economic decline has moderated, the agricultural economy has stabilized and in many areas of Nebraska, we have seen real growth. Throughout the state the determining factor has been the human resource. People working together to solve problems has motivated many communities to recovery. However, much of this human resource though motivated, capable and talented, is untrained or unsure of how to proceed into greater leadership roles. We must work hard to keep our leadership in Nebraska, working for Nebraska, and develop new ers to take our state into the fu-

The purpose of this workshop series is twofold:

1) Teach the basic leadership life skills in order to enhance and renew the leadership pool in rural communities across Nebraska.

2) Assess community needs and set action plan in motion with a

The result of this twofold approach is to revitalize Nebraska's rural communities.
