Gymnast relates experience

Event tops week

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

While Lisa McCrady's gymnastics career was spectacular, she says there was something missing.

That is, she says, until she accepted Christ into her life.

McCrady spoke to an audience of approximately 75 people Wednesday night at Wayne State as part of the college's spiritual emphasis week.

"The first two years at Nebraska, all people saw was the smiles and the outside rewards," she says, "but inside I was a basket case. I'd get the gold medals but they were never enough."

"... I thought God was punishing me if I didn't win because I wasn't perfect. I had this expectation that He was supposed to answer my prayers exactly as I expected. I learned that without Christ we are not winners regardless of our performance. With Christ, we are awarded a gold medal every time we go out and do something."

AT THE UNIVERSITY, McCrady was a two-time Big Eight women's gymnastics champion. She was co-winner in the all-around category in 1988 and she won it outright in 1990, her senior year.

When she made her 30-minute presentation Wednesday, she carried with her the Big Eight championship trophy she won in 1990 and related it to her belief in God. She relates her trophy to her belief in Christ by taking a verse from 1 Peter 5:4. It reads: "And when the Chief Shepherd appears, you will receive the crown of glory that will never fade away."

She says the crown of glory is not in things we do but in our faith in Christ.

"Once I realized I'm forgiven for my sins, I know I have victory over my guilt and past sin," McCrady says, while relating one of her stories to the audience. "... You can justify everything until you lie on your deathbed. But we need to make the long-term plans for knowing Christ now."

THE BIG CHANGE in McCrady's relationship with Christ came on July 2, 1989. She says that was when she began finding the answers for self-fulfillment.

"I consider John 13-14 the Juicy Fruit verse," she says. "I always sought fulfillment in gymnastics but I was never happy. When I met God my junior and senior years of college, I realized that the only time I needed Him was when I needed immediate gratification. That made me realize that He was much more than that."

In John 13:14, it reads: "Now that I, your Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, you should also wash one another's feet."

"In Christ's days, people would lay down their life to say that they believe in Him," McCrady says. "Since then, we've allowed that to become watered down. I just want you to know that you have to know who God is before you can know Him and believe in Him."

KEVIN KAI, DOUG TEMME AND LOWELL SCHARDT (from left) recently returned from their international trip with the LEAD X program.

Program offers insight

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

Words probably cannot describe the experience three men had during the LEAD X trip abroad.

But if you ask Kevin Kai, Lowell Schardt or Doug Temme what they think about the Leadership, Education, Action and Development program (LEAD), they're likely to tell you it's one of the most beneficial experiences they've ever had.

They recently returned from their 18-day international trip with LEAD X.

During the tour, they visited Spain, Morocco and Egypt. While their visit to Spain was brief, they have a number of stories to tell about Egypt and Morocco.

"It exposed us to a wide variety of things — agriculture, political systems, economic systems, culture and much of the world's history," Kai said. "It helped me to focus on what happened in the past so we can help others build the future."

"You develop a much greater appreciation for what you've got," Temme added. "Here, you get rains that are usually timely, you have fertile soil and good groundwater supplies as well as the ser-

Choosing LEAD participants

Applications for the 12th Nebraska Leadership Education Action Development (LEAD) group are being accepted through June-1.

Those chosen to participate in this leadership development program will participate in 13 three-day seminars held once a month from September through April over the next two years.

LEAD participants will take part in the program's 10-day national study travel seminar and three-week international study travel seminar. Seminar themes include economics, international trade, communications, arts, religion, foreign cultures, government, politics, labor, finance and business and industry.

Applications are available by writing Nebraska LEAD Program, 302 Agriculture Hall, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Lincoln, NE 68583-0710 or phone 472-6810.

vices to go with that. It's quite a contrast, particularly in Egypt and Morocco."

IN EGYPT, rainfall is about a half-an-inch a year. In addition, only six percent of the nation is farmable. Much of the farmland lies in the Nile Valley, which is approximately the same distance as it is between Sioux City and St. Louis.

In Egypt, which much of their trip focused on, the largest farm, by law, can only be 100 acres. In that African nation, big farms have five acres. According to 1990 statistics, Egypt is the second largest receiver of U.S. foreign aid in the world behind Israel.

"The thing I couldn't believe is that they harvest the same way they did 1,000 years ago, using scythes to harvest their crops," Kai said. "It's all hand labor."

During their trip, the group visited Barcelona, Spain; Cairo, Egypt; Aswan, Egypt; Luxor, Egypt; Casablanca, Morocco; Robot, Mo-

Congeniality winner

Wayne continues its ways with largest caucus group

Wayne continued its tradition of having the largest representation in the state at the State Chamber's legislative caucus and annual meeting Thursday in Lincoln.

Fifteen Wayne Chamber of Commerce members and officials attended the day-long session which included an address by Gov. Ben Nelson and the installation of the first honorees to the Nebraska Business Hall of Fame.

During the day the Wayne delegation also visited with State Sen. Gerald Conway and other senators and officials.

THE DOMINANT issue of the day was what to do about the personal property tax crisis created by court decisions which have held the assessment system unconstitutional in the way it grants exemptions.

At issue is the approximately $100 million local entities collect in personal property taxes statewide.

"We need to resolve this tax issue quickly," Nelson told the business leaders. He said many businesses are standing on the sidelines waiting to see what the state is going to do about the issue.

Nelson said all Nebraskans should think about more than just themselves when they consider the proposed solutions to the tax problem.

"We should ask ourselves also how it affects my neighbor and how it affects all of Nebraska," the governor said.

CALLING THE trip a productive and informative day, Wayne Chamber President Jim Markham said he appreciated the commitment from other Wayne chamber members in sacrificing their time to attend the meeting as a show of force for Wayne.

Besides Markham, those attending from Wayne included Curt Wilwerding, Chamber executive; Mayor Robert Carhart, who is also a member of the State Chamber Board; Connie Keck, Nancy Endicott, Sam Schroeder, Ken Berglund, Mark Sorensen, George Gottschall, Bob Dyer, Les Mann, Connie Justice, Carter Peterson, Terry Hanson and Jerry Schaefer.

Spices add flavor to cooking school event set Feb. 18

Spices, seasonings and extracts from McCormick/Schilling will add flavor to "Lifestyle" on Feb. 18 in the Wayne City Auditorium.

Jana Lamplot, Homemakers Schools home economist, emphasizes the importance of properly storing McCormick/Schilling spices. Since heat and moisture hastens flavor loss and causes caking in the container, she advises carefully selecting the storage area for spices.

Lamplot, however, cautions against areas over the sink or range since heat and moisture are generated in these areas. Direct sunlight will fade products such as herbs and red seasonings.

Products from McCormick/Schilling, whether a splash of flavor or a dash of seasoning or spice, and other national companies make the Homemakers School in the Wayne area possible. The Wayne Herald and 16 area sponsors have joined forces to produce this popular community-wide event.

SPONSORS FOR the 1992 "Lifestyle" Homemakers School include: Sav Mor Pharmacy, Medicap Pharmacy, Doescher's Appliance, Hardee's of Wayne, Charlie's Refrigeration, Kaup's TV, Gramma's House, Quality Foods Center, Pac 'N' Save, the M.G. Second-hand smoke can cloud non-smokers' health

(February is Heart Month and the Wayne County Affiliate of the American Heart Association is sponsoring a series of articles designed to educate the public.)

Second-hand smoke can cloud the future of even healthy non-smokers, the American Heart Association (AHA) says.

"It's a fact that we need to realize in order to take precautions to protect our citizens," says Kris Giese, president of the Wayne County Affiliate.

It's a fact also supported by two recent reports linking second-hand smoke to disease.

In the AHA scientific journal, "Circulation," William W. Parmley, M.D., estimates that passive smoking is associated with 37,000 deaths related to heart and blood vessel diseases each year in the United States.

The Department of Health and Human Services, Centers for Disease Control also estimates that 3,825 non-smokers die from lung cancer each year because of passive smoking.

Meanwhile, the National Academy of Sciences warns that the frequency of pulmonary symptoms and respiratory infections is higher in children exposed to their parents' cigarette smoke.

SECOND-HAND smoke — also called "environmental tobacco smoke," "sidestream smoke" or "passive smoke" — is inhaled by smokers or emitted from the burning end of cigarettes, cigars and pipes.

"It can irritate the eyes, nose and throat of a non-smoker as well as cause headaches and nausea," says Giese. It can also aggravate the illnesses of those who already have heart or lung diseases, asthma or allergies.

"As concerned citizens," says Giese, "we can protect our families and friends from the harmful effects of second-hand smoke by first protecting ourselves. If you smoke, quit. If you won't quit, protect those around you by not smoking in their presence."

CIGARETTE smoking is a major risk factor in developing coronary heart disease, the nation's leading killer. And more than 435,000 Americans die yearly from cigarette smoking-related illnesses. But it's also the most preventable cause of death in the United States.

"That's why we recommend you quit," says Giese, noting how a smoker's risk of heart disease rapidly decreases after quitting.

The American Heart Association is the nation's largest voluntary health agency dedicated to reducing disability and death from cardiovascular diseases and stroke, which annually kill almost one million Americans.

Last year the AHA spent more than $193 million for research support, public and professional education and community programs.

Rehab week Feb. 9-15

National Cardiac Rehabilitation Week is Feb. 9-15 this year. The program at Providence Medical Center is taking part in this year with the theme "Back in Circulation."

According to Pam Matthes, one of the coordinators at PMC, cardiac rehabilitation is an important tool to fight coronary heart disease, which is the leading cause of death in the U.S. Half a million people die each year from heart disease and many people develop symptoms of CHD when they are in their 40s and 50s interrupting a most productive time.

The coronary arteries supply blood to the heart muscle. In CHD, these arteries become blocked, decreasing blood flow and causing angina (chest pain), the need for angioplasty or possibly by-pass surgery. When the artery becomes completely blocked, a heart attack or myocardial infarction (MI) occurs. Each year, approximately 250,000 people suffer from a heart attack.

CHANCES OF a person developing CHD are increased when one or more risk factors is present. Risk factors include cigarette smoking, high cholesterol levels, high blood pressure, family history of heart disease, diabetes, a low activity level, obesity, stress and age. More men than women develop heart disease but it is the leading cause of death among women.

Cardiac rehabilitation has three main features. The first is education. Patients and their families learn how to modify their lifestyles to reduce their risk factors. Since CHD is lifestyle related and can be an inherited disease, it is important that the patient's spouse and children do all they can to decrease their own risk of heart disease.

The second feature of cardiac rehabilitation is an exercise program. Patients exercise at an individually prescribed level indicated by their medical history and personal goals. Their heart rate, heart pattern and blood pressure are monitored as they exercise. A target heart rate is set for each one of them. Patients gain confidence by being active in a medically supervised setting.

The third feature of PMC's cardiac rehabilitation program is support. Patients and their families benefit greatly from sharing experiences with others who are in a similar situation.

EACH YEAR, approximately 100,000 people participate in cardiac rehab in the nation. Participants include those who have had a heart attack, coronary artery bypass surgery or coronary angioplasty and some people with angina. Most insurance plans cover all or part of our monitored exercise program. Close contact is kept with each patient's physician.

forefront. Temme said he found it hard to believe that he was standing in the same place Moses stood when he led the Israelis from Egypt.

"It brought history to reality for me," Kai said. "When you stand in front of the pyramids, it's awe inspiring. Standing in the middle of a Cairo street is indescribable. Because there's so many people, the services are overwhelmed. It's like taking Omaha traffic and multiply-rocco; Marrakesh, Morocco and Madrid, Spain.

FOR KAI AND Temme, the experience brought history to living it by-10. You have people driving bicycles, cars, donkeys pulling carts and pedestrians everywhere."

One of the things which really struck the three men was the sanitary conditions. In one instance, the three related that they had seen a family washing their dishes in the river and just about a mile upstream laid a dead donkey in the river.

"Just learning how Egyptians and Moroccans think and live can help us... in making decisions in areas of trade with those countries," Schardt said. "Knowing how they live and work will help us understand that they think a little differently. It will help us encompass an understanding of the global system."

Wayne man in magazine

A recent article in the January 1992 edition of "Kids, Kids, Kidz" magazine featured comments by Dan Wurdinger, a native of Wayne attending Creighton University.

Wurdinger was interviewed because of his activity with the ROTC program at Creighton.

According to his mother, Diane, Dan can provide students in the Wayne area with information about the ROTC program. She said when they were getting prepared to send him to college, almost no information was available on ROTC. Dan is a 1989 graduate of Wayne

High School. He is currently a junior at Creighton University.

Wurdinger is a third year military science training student and one of 85 ROTC students at Creighton.

According to the article, Wurdinger said, "My goal is to eventually work for an intelligence agency such as the FBI or CIA." After college, he hopes to work in military intelligence on active duty.

If there are students in the Wayne area interested in the ROTC program, they can contact Rich and Diane Wurdinger to set up a time they can visit with Dan by calling 375-2709.

Wildcat men lose to Briar Cliff

OMAR CLARK DRAWS A charging foul after colliding with Briar Cliff's Alex Funes during Wednesday's game.

The Wayne State men's basketball team dipped to 8-14 following Wednesday's 82-65 loss to Briar Cliff in Sioux City, IA. The host Chargers raised their record to 19-3 with the win and will likely climb the rankings in the NAIA Division I poll where they already maintain the number 11 position.

Briar Cliff jumped out to a 6-0 lead on the Wildcats before David Allen broke the ice for WSC with a short jumper. The Wildcats, however, gave up 51 first half points to the Chargers including 19 to Carlos Rockhead while scoring 35 led by Allen's 14.

In the second half both teams used a more aggressive defense which slowed the scoring pace some. WSC had Briar Cliff's lead cut to 12 at 62-50 with over 10 minutes remaining in the contest, but Mike Brewen's offense went four straight possessions without scoring a point on two turnovers and an 0-4 outing at the foul line.

"We've had a tendency lately to fall behind quickly and then play catch up," Brewen said. "Against Quincy we trailed by 11 in the second half and rallied to win the game. Against Olivet we trailed by 16 and lost in triple overtime. That kind of bothers me that we're getting behind early and having to fight back."

Brewen said his team passed up a golden opportunity to change the complexion of the Briar Cliff game when they failed to score on four consecutive possessions with the Charger lead at 12.

"Our defense did a good job of holding them without scoring for a while but we couldn't score any points on offense," Brewen said. "I think our confidence level slipped a little bit after that point. I really felt that was a turning point in the game because if we could have gotten that lead chipped down to eight with that much time remaining, it would have been a race down to the wire."

Allen led the Wildcats with 21 points while John Schott and Carlos Moore netted 10 each. Steve Dunbar finished with eight points and Billy Patterson scored five while Keith Whitfield added four. Omar Clark scored three points while Davy Summers and Kevin Thurman netted two each.

Leon Trimmingham led Briar Cliff with 23 points while Rockhead added 22. Shane Slaughter and Tom Stibbs each scored 15. WSC was out-rebounded; 43-36 despite the 15 caroms from Allen, who's ranked in the top-10 nation wide in the NCAA Division II standings.

WSC finished with 17 turnovers while Briar Cliff had 14. The Wildcats only had four assists in the game with Dunbar and Allen dishing out two apiece while Briar Cliff had 16 assists led by Slaughter's five and Stibbs' four.

WSC shot 38 percent from the field on 22 of 57 while hitting 19 of 30 free throws for 63 percent while Briar Cliff hit 49 percent from the field on 32 of 65 shots and the Chargers connected on 12 of 15 free throws for 80 percent.

WSC will host Southwest State of Minnesota on Tuesday in Rice Auditorium with a 7:30 p.m. tip-off.

WILDCATS CENTER DAVID ALLEN looks like a guard trapped in a center's body in penetrating the lane on a fast break. Allen led WSC with 21 points against Briar Cliff. The junior from Omaha also led the team in rebounding with 15 caroms. WSC fell to 8-14 with the 82-65 loss. The Wildcats will host SW State on Tuesday.

Wildcats coach Mike Barry notches lucky 13th victory

Mike Barry notched his lucky 13th victory of the season Thursday night in the friendly confines of Rice Auditorium as his Wayne State women's team defeated Mt. Marty, 85-63.

The lucky 13 is the most wins Barry has recorded in his short stint as the Wildcats head coach. Last season the Wildcats went 12-15 and in Barry's first year they struggled with a 3-23 mark.

The Wildcats defeated a good Mt. Marty team that came into Wayne with a 14-7 record and having knocked off some rated teams while playing some other top notch squads down to the wire.

"We were really concerned about playing a dangerous team like Mt. Marty," Barry said. "They have very good guards who are extremely quick and I wasn't sure if we would be able to stick with their quickness but our girls did a great job of double-teaming them and putting a great amount of pressure on the guards."

As it turned out it was Barry's guards who affected the guard play of Mt. Marty's guards. "This was just a great team win," Barry said. "To beat a good team by 22 points that played Hastings to a two-point contest and had beaten top 20 teams in Northwestern and Northern State is a tribute to our players."

Barry said one of the problems Mt. Marty faced was depth. "They weren't near as deep as we were," Barry said. "We have developed a lot of team confidence by playing 12 to 15 players on a regular basis."

Wayne State opened up a comfortable 46-31 lead at the intermission behind the inside play of Battle Creek native Jodi Otjen who poured in 12 of her game high 19 points in the first 20 minutes.

"Jodi has really been playing well for us," Barry said. "She's been playing great defense and offense and she's a great free throw shooter for us."

One other key that Barry's noticed in the last couple of games is his squad's assists to turnover ratio. "We really done a good job of the last couple games of finding the open player and taking care of the ball," Barry said. "Against Fort Hays we had 25 assists and 13 turnovers and against Mt. Marty we had 19 assists and 15 turnovers."

Otjen's 19 points led all players while Linda Heller poured in 14 after scoring 10 in the first half. Lisa Chamberlin also finished in double figures with 12 while Dana Olmsted and Mary Schnitzler scored nine apiece.

Brenda TeGrotenhuis came off the bench to score seven points while Tawnya Bakke netted four. Kristy Twait scored three points while Tara Colwell, Cheri VanAuker, Amy Rueger and Cyndi Savage added two apiece.

WSC out-rebounded the visitors, 46-41 as Chamberlin led the way with 10 caroms while Otjen hauled down nine. TeGrotenhuis was also a force on the boards with eight caroms to her credit.

Chamberlin led WSC in assists with five while Olmsted and Kairi Backer dished out four apiece. Schnitzler recorded three assists and Rueger dished out two. The Wildcats had 15 turnovers while forcing Mt. Marty into 20. Chamberlin also had three blocked shots to lead WSC.

Wayne gals beaten

The Wayne girls basketball team fell to top seeded South Sioux City in first round action of the Northern Activities Conference Tournament Friday in O'Neill, 61-40.

Blue Devils coach Marlene Uhing was quick to give South Sioux credit for their performance. "They have a real nice team," Uhing said. "Looking at both teams they just have more talent than we do."

Wayne fell behind 19-12 after the first quarter and the Blue Devils trailed by 13 at the intermission at 37-14. The Lady Cardinals out-scored Wayne 24-16 in the second half.

"I didn't think we showed good patience in the first half," Uhing said. "We got into a faster pace game than we wanted. I did feel that we did a good job on the boards in not giving up many offensive rebounds."

Erin Pick led Wayne with 14 points while Liz Reeg and Danielle Nelson scored eight apiece. Susie Ensz netted six while Tami Schluns and Angie Thompson rounded out the attack with two each.

The Blue Devils were out-rebounded by a slim margin of 33-32 as Pick led Wayne with 10 caroms while Reeg and Ensz hauled down seven boards apiece.

Wayne suffered 19 turnovers while South Sioux had 16 and Wayne was 8-17 from the foul line while South Sioux was 1-3. Kelli Bartels led South Sioux with 17 points while Stacy McCarthur poured in 14.

"I thought Erin had a real good game for us," Uhing said. "We probably should have got her the ball more in the second half but South Sioux did a good job of collapsing its defense around her."

The 6-10 Blue Devils will host Stanton on Tuesday.

Wayne boys defeated in conference tourney

Bob Uhing's Wayne Blue Devils were defeated by O'Neill in first round action of the Northern Activities Conference Basketball Tournament Thursday night in O'Neill, 71-62.

Wayne had previously beaten the host Eagles on their home floor this season in overtime but this game was obviously not meant for the Blue Devils to win.

Wayne finished with six more field goals that O'Neill, out-rebounded the Eagles and had just one more turnover than they did, but lost the game by nine points.

The key factor not figured in yet is the free throw disparity. Wayne was victimized the entire game by neighborhood officials and O'Neill took complete advantage by connecting on the charity shots which proved to be exactly that—charity.

"I thought our kids played pretty well," Uhing said. "Every time the whistle blew we knew it was going to be on us and that was very frustrating. Our players kept their composure through the adversity but it wasn't easy." O'Neill maintained a 35-30 advantage at the intermission but Wayne trimmed that lead to two points heading into the fourth quarter at 47-45. "O'Neill scored 24, fourth quarter points but only had two field goals," Uhing said. "They hit 20 of 23 free throws and we fouled intentionally just twice."

Wayne was whistled for 16 fouls in the second half while the host team enjoyed the home court flavor with just seven infractions. Wayne's top three scorers fouled out of the game and its next two leading scorers finished with four fouls.

O'Neill went into the one-and-one in the first half at the 3:16 mark of the first quarter so Uhing and company knew right away what hand they were dealt.

Kyle Dahl led the 11-5 Blue Devils with 14 points while Bobby Barnes netted 13. Brad Uhing and Matt Blomenkamp were also in double figures with 11 apiece while Regg Carnes had seven. Matt Ley rounded out the attack with six points.

Wayne out-rebounded O'Neill, 31-28 with Carnes and Dahl hauling down six boards apiece to share team honors. Wayne had 15 turnovers while O'Neill had 14. Wayne was 17-28 from the foul line while O'Neill was 34-41.

The Blue Devils will host Madison on Friday.

Wakefield gains revenge

The Wakefield boys didn't need a whole lot of pep talk to get them fired up to play Osmond in the finals of the Clark division in Hartington Friday night. After all, Osmond had beaten Brad Hoskins' crew in Wakefield less than two weeks ago and the Tigers were riding a 14-game win streak with the only blemish on an otherwise perfect season to date was an opening night loss to Randolph.

Wakefield fell behind 2-0 early in the first quarter and it took the Trojans nearly three minutes to score their first points of the game on a soft 10-foot jumper from Steve Clark.

That bucket tied the score at 2-2 and the 2-0 lead by Osmond to start the game proved to be the final time the Tigers led in the game as Wakefield completely dominated the contest in every category in winning 74-56.

"Our kids came focused to play," Hoskins said. "I just can't say enough about our defense to hold a team like Osmond who has been averaging over 75 points a game, to 56 and only 29 after three quarters."

Wakefield led 18-6 after the first quarter and the Trojans expanded that lead to 14 by intermission at 31-17. In the third quarter it was all Wakefield as they built a very comfortable 24-point lead at 53-29 heading into the fourth period.

Osmond trimmed the lead to 16 on two different occasions but Wakefield surged its lead back to 23 late in the game before substituting freely in the last two minutes.

"We played like we've known we can play," Hoskins said. "The last three games we have been getting progressively better with our offense improving every time out and our defense is just playing great."

Anthony Brown led the Trojans in a well balanced attack with 19 points while Steve Clark poured in 17. Dalton Rhodes netted 14 points and Marcus Tappe scored an even dozen while Ben Dutton finished with 10. All five Wakefield starters finished the game in double figures. Jon Johnson rounded out the Wakefield scoring with two points.

"Steve Clark was definitely our key," Hoskins said. "Not only the fact that he scored 17 points but that he had six rebounds, four steals and held one of Osmond's top scorers in Scott Ronspies to just three points."

As it turned out, Clark scored Wakefield's first two points of the game and its last two points on two free throws. Speaking of free throws, the Trojans were unconscious from the charity stripe hitting 21 of 23 including 15 of 17 in the fourth quarter.

Osmond finished with a 10-15 performance from the foul line but the Tigers were also hot in the fourth quarter hitting 9-11 including a perfect 7-7 from Kyle Streich who led all scorers with 24 points—23 of which came in the second half.

Wakefield finished with just six turnovers while Osmond had 20. The Trojans had one turnover in the first half. "Having only six turnovers against a team like Osmond is a real credit to our team," Hoskins said. "Now is the time to really start playing some good basketball and we are doing that."

Allen boys defeated by Homer

ALLEN-The Allen boys basketball team was beaten, 93-46 in first round action of the Lewis & Clark Conference Tournament held last week in Homer. The Eagles found themselves down by a 20-10 margin after the first quarter and they could not recover as the host team built a 49-26 halftime advantage.

Allen was out-scored 21-4 in the third quarter. "Homer just shot the ball very well," Allen coach Jeff Schoning said. "They were hitting from the outside as well as from the inside."

Jason Reuter led the Eagles with 13 points while Casey Schroeder netted 12. Lane Anderson scored seven points and Brian Nelson added six. Curtis Oswald and Jay Jackson rounded out the scoring with four points each.

Allen was out-rebounded by a 42-36 margin despite the 11 caroms from Anderson. The Eagles had 19 turnovers while the host team had 17 and Allen was 3-8 from the free throw line while Homer was 11-18.

Allen will look to get back on track on Valentines Day when they travel to play Beemer.

Trojans down Bulldogs

The Wakefield boys basketball team advanced to the finals of the Clark Division in the Lewis & Clark Conference Basketball Tournament Thursday night in Hartington with a 61-44 victory over Coleridge.

Brad Hoskins' team sprinted to a 16-8 lead after the first quarter and the Trojans never looked back as they improved to 15-4 while Coleridge dropped to 8-4.

"Our defensive intensity was good," Hoskins said. "Coleridge didn't see many offensive rebounds which is something we haven't been doing that good of job on lately. Our defense moved well to the ball."

The Trojans defense came into the game with the goal of keeping prolific scoring Dave Fox below 20 points. Fox had burned Winside in the first round of the tournament for 36 points but Wakefield kept him in check with 19.

"Anthony Brown did a nice job of playing defense on Fox," Hoskins said. "Fox had 13 of his 19 points in the first half and Anthony evened that score with 13 points of his own in the first half."

Both teams struggled some in the third quarter with Coleridge only making a one-point dent into the Trojans 16-point lead. "We didn't play all that well in the third quarter," Hoskins said. "We had our shots but we hit only three of 10 attempts." Marcus Tappe led the Trojans in scoring with 19 including nine consecutive points in one stretch of the fourth quarter. Brown finished with 15 and Ben Dutton netted an even dozen. Steve Clark finished with five points while Dalton Rhodes, Jon Johnson, Larry Johnson, T.J. Preston and Cory Brown netted two each.

Wakefield held a 29-27 advantage on the boards with Brown, Dutton and Larry Johnson sharing team honors with five caroms apiece. The Trojans had 15 turnovers and forced Coleridge into 19. Wakefield was 5-8 from the foul line and the Bulldogs were 10-13.

Football coach pleased

WSC inks 24 recruits

Wayne State head football coach Dennis Wagner announced 24 student-athletes have inked letters of intent to continue their academic and football careers at Wayne State.

Former Creighton Prep all-State running back Jason Williams headlines the recruiting class. Williams sat out last season after transferring from Iowa State where he averaged 7.2 yards on 19 carries, including a 43-yard gallop against the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Williams brother, Gene, is an offensive lineman for the Miami Dolphins. The list includes 13 area high school signees, along with eight junior college transfers and three non-junior college transfers.

"We're very pleased with the fact we were able to get the receivers and defensive backs because we were hurt by graduation in those two areas," Wagner said. "Damon Thomas will make an immediate impact on our football team, and could extinguish Marlon's (Goolsby) receiving records."

Wilson Hookin is a cornerback with great speed and a former teammate of Rick Starling. Larry Bolton needs to come in and take over for Terry Bear, who was a two-time all-Nebraska free safety.

"Adonice Nunn gives us depth in the defensive line, and we hope to sign another defensive lineman," Wagner added. "We added a lot of linemen since we will be losing quite a few in the next two years. The high school recruits will help us build for the future."

"We are very excited about this recruiting class, and look forward to next season. We still have a lot of unanswered questions and shoes to fill from our graduating senior class."

The Wildcats lost 13 seniors from last season's 3-7 squad, including five defensive backs and two starting wide receivers. Wayne State competes as independent members of the NCAA Division I.

The following is a composite of all the recruits that signed to play for Wayne State. It is followed by their respective position, height, weight, home town and high school or previous college attended.

Jim Bauman, OL/DL, 6-3, 260, Falls City, (Falls City High School); Matt Bletscher, OL/DL, 6-5, 225, Falls City, (Falls City Sacred Heart); Mike Fehringer, DB, 5-9, 175, Bloomfield (Bloomfield); Dave Finlay, OL/DL, 6-2, 230, Omaha, (Omaha Benson); Aaron Hass, DB/RB, 5-10, 170, Beemer, (Beemer).

Wayne City Rec

Men's City Rec Basketball continued last week in three leagues. Last Monday in the "A" League it was Team Two defeating team One, 64-42 in the first of three games on the night.

Wakefield girls defeated

WAKEFIELD-The Wakefield girls basketball team was defeated by Wausa for the second time this season last Tuesday in Wausa, 45-35. The Trojans fell victim to some red-hot shooting by Wausa as the Lady Vikings connected on 71 percent of their shots in the first half in taking a 25-17 lead.

"We actually did not play that badly," Wakefield coach Gregg Cruickshank said. "Wausa's coach told me after the game that it was the best game his team has played all season."

Wakefield managed to cut the Wausa lead to four in the third quarter but could not get any closer. Lisa Blecke scored 24 of Wakefield's 35 points while Lisa Anderson scored five. Sarah Salmon added four points and Kristen Miller netted two.

Wakefield was out-rebounded, 24-20 with Salmon leading the Trojans with six caroms. Wakefield had just 12 turnovers and Wausa suffered 15 but the Vikings were 7-8 from the free throw line and Wakefield played the whole game without a single free throw attempt.

"Offensively our execution was good but Wausa just shot the ball better than we did," Cruickshank said. The Trojans will travel to play Allen on Tuesday.

Tax issue, rural development highlight center's meeting

A blue ribbon panel of key state senators deciding the future of Nebraska's property tax system and a presentation on rural development by Lt. Governor Maxine Moul will highlight the annual meeting of the Center for Rural Affairs on Feb. 22 in Milford. The meeting is free and open to the public.

The property tax issue will be featured in a 1 p.m. kickoff session featuring Senators Tim Hall, Scott Moore and Ron Withem, respectively the chairmen of the Legislature's Revenue, Appropriations and Education committees. "All three of these senators served on Governor Ben Nelson's 3-R committee. Sen Withem supported the committee's proposal, and Sens. Hall and Moore each have a different point of view. The session should give us an excellent chance to see all sides of this very complex issue," said Marty Strange, the Center's program director. Lt. Governor Moul will lead a workshop describing the work of the Nebraska Rural Development Commission at 4:45 p.m. The Rural Development Commission was established by Governor Nelson to provide direction to the state's rural development efforts.

An evening dinner will honor Neil Oxtan and Drey Samuelson, two Nebraska Farmers Union officials who led the successful petition drive 10 years ago to place Initiative 300, Nebraska's constitutional amendment banning corporate farming, on the ballot.

There will also be discussions throughout the day on topics ranging from the problems of beginning farmers, the role of schools in local development efforts, how women are supporting rural development in Nebraska and Africa, how the federal budget process affects family farmers, how the sustainable agriculture movement is being built in Nebraska, and how to make the research and higher education system accountable to Nebraska agriculture.

Individual consultations will be available throughout the day for farmers who want information and advice on how to take advantage of the new farm bill's integrated Farm Management and Water Quality Incentive programs.

Those interested in attending a special three-hour seminar on estate planning by J. Robert Sandberg of the Lincoln Foundation are asked to make reservations with the Center.

The event will conclude with original music from the Nebraska Sandhills performed by Sandhills Song, with Otto Rosefeld and Walt Koziol.

The entire event will be held at the Welsh Center on the campus of the Southeast Nebraska Community College in Milford. Dinner reservations at $6 per plate are required. Contact the Center at (402) 846-5428.

Dixon County 4-H'er is district award nominee

Angela Abts from Dixon County has been nominated through the Nebraska 4-H Incentive Program to represent the Northeast District in state competition in the food and nutrition area and as an alternate in the clothing area.

Angela, who is the daughter of Dave and Marilyn Abts of Dixon and a member of the Pins and Pans 4-H Club, will be eligible to compete in July for the opportunity to advance to the national level in the food and nutrition area.

The judging committee was comprised of volunteers and county staff from Holt, Knox, Madison and Dixon Counties.

THE 4-H Incentive Program provides inspiration and motivation to 4-H'ers, who compete for county, district, state and national recognition by reporting their 4-H project achievements and accomplishments, as well as their leadership and citizenship activities.

Thirty-four 4-H'ers from 11 counties in the Northeast District participated in this year's district competition, according to Vickie Genoff, Northeast District 4-H youth specialist.

Forty-six records were reviewed by the 1992 awards judging committee and over half of the records were selected to go on to state competition this summer.

Neihardt Center plans slide show 'Family Album'

"The Family Album," a slide presentation by Nebraska historian Robert Manley, will take place Sunday, Feb. 16 at 2 p.m. at the John G. Neihardt Center, Elm and Washington Streets, Bancroft.

The program looks at our shared past through photographs, songs and stories. It discusses how Euro-American families came to the new world and lived on the "immigrant's frontier." The lives of these families centered around their new communities, where people knew one another and shared the trials and triumphs of daily life in this new land.

Many of these moments were captured in photographs, and this illustrated presentation uses examples of these from scores of family albums. And, as families once gathered around the piano to sing, the audience will join in the singing of some traditional pioneer songs to capture a bit of our frontier family past.

The program at the Neihardt Center is free and open to the public.

Sustainable ag center brings people, programs together

Like sustainable agriculture itself, the Center for Sustainable Agricultural Systems at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln is relying on some new approaches to getting things done, the center director said.

Agronomist Charles "Chuck" Francis explained that sustainable agriculture works with ecological factors, rather than trying to dominate them, an often expensive process. Like the model of an ecosystem, the center's model emphasizes connections, in this case among departments, institutions and people.

"The traditional educational model is linear," Francis explained. "Universities, industry and government generate information that is passed on to producers with little feedback. The model should be circular, with each participant able to communicate directly with all of the others."

Francis said that since its creation a little more than a year ago in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, the center has initiated a number of programs that are either in progress or awaiting approval.

The projects involve all three areas of traditional land-grant university activity — teaching, research and extension, or direct information sharing with the public, he said.

Less traditional is the level of integration among those areas, he said. It was just that sort of interdepartmental cooperation that the center was created to foster, said Francis, who was appointed the center's first permanent director in September.

For example, in the area of teaching two new UNL courses have been created, "The Agroecological System" and the "Sustainable Agriculture Seminar," that rely heavily on guest lecturers from a variety of disciplines. The center also has helped develop material for other classes and is working on a national curriculum using materials from UNL and elsewhere.

In Cooperative Extension, the center co-hosted a forum last year with the League of Women Voters on sustainability in food and agriculture policy. Other cooperative efforts are underway with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, the national AG*SAT television network headquartered at UNL and the University of Nebraska Press, he said.

Integration also is a key aspect in center-coordinated research, which is looking at such things as crop rotations, livestock-crop interactions and agroforestry, he said. Farmers also are participating in on-farm research in a number of areas.

An interdepartmental Faculty Associates Group has been appointed to further encourage cooperation and communication, Francis said. Group members are agricultural economist Glenn Helmers; horticulturist Laurie Hodges; entomologist Leon Higley; agronomist Charles Shapiro; animal scientist Terry Klopfenstein and agroforester James Brandle. This group will be plotting the center's long-term strategy during the next few months, Francis said.

In many ways, Nebraska compares to a less developed Third World country, Francis said. While the state has vast resources, its economy is dependent on the export of a few low-value crops. Meanwhile it pays high prices for agricultural inputs and imported manufactured goods, including, ironically, much of its food.

Diversifying and adding value to those crops, the replacing purchased inputs or producing them at home are among the solutions to the problems facing Nebraska and its agricultural industry, he said. Parts of those solutions will come from all sectors of the agriculture industry, Francis said. In the center they have a meeting place.

"The university shouldn't be looked at as the ultimate authority," he said, "but rather a catalyst of the learning process. The Center for Sustainable Agricultural Systems will help move that process along."

Corn growers announce contest winners

Nebraska Corn Growers Association (NeCGA) President Andy Jensen of Aurora recently announced winners of NeCGA's 1991 Membership Recruitment Contest.

The winners are Lynn Chrip of Juniata, who recruited 60 new members and Lloyd Ourecky of Wilber, who recruited 46 new members.

Each receives an expense-paid trip for two to the 1992 Corn Classic held Feb. 22-25 in Orlando, Fla., and a trip for two to attend a leadership training program at the DuPont World Headquarters in Wilmington, Del. The trips are provided by the DuPont Corporation, as part of the Award of Excellence Membership Recruiting Campaign.

Other top recruiters also were recognized: Jan Batenhorst, Wisner; Kathy Wittler, Talmage; Judy Eggers, Wisner; Mike Korth, Randolph; Dave Dahlgren, Holdrege; Glade Snoberger, Aurora; Gary Bredenkamp, Waco; Ron Ochsner, Saronville; Dick Hollister, Hastings; and Boyd Stuhr, Bradshaw.

Also recognized was Adams-Webster Corn Growers Association for the greatest membership increase among all 16 local associations. It gained 50 new members. The North East Nebraska Corn Growers Association (includes Cuming, Wayne, Burt, Dakota, Dixon and Thurston counties) had the highest percentage increase, with a 87 percent membership gain.

Tri-County Corn Growers Association (includes Cedar, Knox and Pierce counties) was runner-up in both contests.

The membership recruitment awards were presented at the annual Husker Feed Grains and Soybean Conference in Kearney, Jan. 30-31.

The 1990-91 NeCGA membership contest ended Sept. 30, 1991. As of December, 1991, total membership was 2,119 — the highest ever since it was established in 1973.

NeCGA has the fourth largest membership of 23 state affiliates of the National Corn Growers Association.

Winside man is member of association

Gerald Kniesche, Winside, is a new member of the American Angus Association, reports Dick Spader, executive vice president of the national organization with headquarters in St. Joseph, Mo.

The American Angus Association, with over 24,000 active adult and junior members, is the largest beef cattle registry association in the world. Its computerized records include detailed information on nearly 11 million registered Angus.

The Association records ancestral information and keeps records of production on individual animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals in their herds to produce high quality, efficient breeding cattle which are then recorded with the American Angus Association.
