Task force pleased

Superintendent search continues

By Les Mann
Herald Publisher

Searching for a replacement for long-time Wayne Schools Superintendent Frances Haun is not an easy task, but members of the Wayne School Board have been pleased with the quality of applicants who are seeking the job.

The board has narrowed the field of candidates to six finalists and has invited each of the finalists to Wayne for interviews. The last of the six interviews was concluded Saturday.

This week the board plans to narrow the field further and do additional background checks on the one to which the job will be offered, according to Dr. Sid Hillier, president of the board.

"With luck we might be through with our work by this time next week," said Hillier. He said there are always opportunities for stumbling blocks in the negotiation process with the final candidate selected by the board, but he said the overall quality of the six finalists has been exceptional.

Seventy applications in all were received for the Wayne superintendency, Hillier said.

'The number of quality applicants reflects on the size and kind of community we have.'

"The number and quality of the applications reflects on the size and kind of community we have," said Hillier. Who added the town's background, lifestyle and association with the college are all factors in attracting the best and the brightest in the educational profession.

The school board has asked representatives of several organizations in the community to meet with each of the candidates when they came to Wayne. The impressions of members of the community are being used in the board's decision process, he said.

JDC's future brightens at meeting

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

It looks as though the Wayne County Juvenile Detention Center may still have a future.

Representatives from the 23 governing bodies have given first step approval to a plan which could correct problems that led to Wayne County's withdrawal of support for the regional facility. Since the JDC is located in Wayne County's jail, the commissioners' withdrawal of support left the 23 governing bodies up in arms over what to do.

A plan presented by David Lynn of David M. Griffith-Associates of York, provided the 23 governing bodies with three options for the continuation of the juvenile facility, located in Wayne.

IN A FEASIBILITY study, Lynn outlined three options the governing bodies and the Wayne County Commissioners could pursue. In the first alternative, the JDC would be governed under a regional board of individuals appointed by the counties involved in an interlocal agreement. A second alternative would have placed the JDC in the hands of a Wayne County Board of Corrections and a third alternative would have been to close it.

After discussing the options, 15 officials voted to go with the first option. Five counties were not represented and three counties officials abstained from voting, including Wayne County Commissioner Gerald Pospishil.

"I would say that's an overwhelming vote," Lynn said. "I think Wayne County will direct the attorney to set up a new interlocal agreement."

A decision on the future of the JDC will be determined Tuesday when the Wayne County Commissioners hold a special meeting to vote on the alternatives.

UNDER THE alternative officials voted for, the JDC would be governed by a regional board similar in nature to Region IV. The board would then hire its own administrator to operate the facility. The board would also have the authority to hire and fire the administrator but the administrator would not be the county sheriff.

Since the JDC was opened in November of 1988, Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen has been its administrator. In addition to removing the county sheriff as administrator, the study calls for the relocation of the sheriff's office from the juvenile facility.

Included in the proposal would be a three year lease of the Wayne County facility for $24,000 annually. Under the alternative, the regional board would oversee the budgetary process, handling of claims, salaries, benefits and operating expenses of the JDC.

OUTLINED IN LYNN'S report, were four advantages to operating the facility in the manner previously described.

Advantages to the option include: balance of responsibility with authority among county members; relieves the Wayne County Board of disproportionate costs and liability exposure; assures strong management and financial control by the regional board; and maintains operation of a juvenile detention center in the region.

Speaking on behalf of the Wayne County board, Pospishil said the concerns the commissioners had in voting 2-1 to close the facility in November was that there was that they had no administrative control over the facility.

"We wouldn't have been in this

JDC: Studies' three options

Under the proposal before the Wayne County Board, the following are the three alternatives the board has available.

✓ Alternative 1: Approve a regional governing board, which would hire an administrator to oversee operations of the JDC. Approve a three year lease for $24,000 with additional option years included in the lease.

✓ Alternative 2: The Wayne County Board would become the county board of corrections and be totally responsible for the operation of the JDC. They would then have the authority to hire and fire their own administrator and the facility would be leased by the governing bodies involved in the interlocal agreement.

✓ Alternative 3: The Wayne County facility reverts back to an adult facility as of July 1 and for juvenile services, it is every county for themselves. The governance of an adult facility would be the Wayne County Board and the sheriff. The budget, however, would be borne entirely by Wayne County, estimated to be between $100,000 and $120,000.

Included in a report issued by David Lynn of David M. Griffith Associates, it is recommended that the Wayne County facility remain the juvenile detention center while a plan for the future is developed.

position if this study had been done in the first place," Pospishil told the Herald.

If the Wayne County Commissioners vote to keep the facility open, the transition from its current governing position to the one under the proposal will occur July 1, 1992, when the 1992-93 budget takes effect, Lynn said.

"If everything goes according to plan, the transition will go smoothly," he said. "And even if it isn't smooth, I think the Wayne County board will be willing to work beyond June 30."

Richard Hanson

Hanson seeks district position

Richard "Dick" Hanson of Concord has announced his candidacy for the 19th legislative district.

The district includes all of Cedar and Dixon Counties and parts of Knox, Pierce and Wayne Counties.

Hanson, who has a lifelong interest in agriculture, has raised corn, fed livestock and as an agribusiness owner, he has served the rural community.

Hanson and his wife Irene have three children: Sherry Lynn Dorman and Mark David Hanson, who now reside in California; and Craig Hanson, who is a student at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

DURING HIS lifetime, Hanson has served as a member and as chairman of various community and local government organizations. These include the Concord Rural Fire District, Concord Volunteer Fire Department, Dixon Methodist Church Board, Dixon County Fair Board, American Legion Post 0054 and until announcing his candidacy, served as chairman of the Dixon County ASCS board.

Hanson cites that there are six issues vital to his campaign.

- To encourage fiscal responsibility on the state level. He said he feels the public should not have growth of government unless population growth warrants it.

- To encourage legislators to each do their research and homework so only a few important bills are introduced each session instead of several hundred.

- To work toward a careful, studied and common sense approach to Nebraska tax policy.

- To promote the welfare of rural communities and their main street businesses.

- To have a plan of financial support for any new laws passed.

- To keep in mind (at all times) the people of all the state — not just one segment at the expense of or to the detriment of others.

Officer retires after 25 years

Sergeant ends career with Wayne PD

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

In his 25 years as a Wayne Police officer, Sgt. Ron Penlerick has seen it all. In a few days, his career will come to a close.

"Four days and counting," Penlerick said Friday. "I'm effectively done March 31 at 7 a.m."

Seated behind his desk with a brick glass window behind him, Penlerick recalled his career with a smile. He said while being a cop has been enjoyable, he's appreciative of the city and his fellow officers.

But that's not to say that he doesn't see some disturbing trends taking place. He said he's seen peoples' attitudes toward police change from what they were when he first started.

"Years back, if you caught someone with his hand in the cookie jar, he'd say 'OK you got me,'" Penlerick said. "Now, you go to court for the same offense and that individual gets off. The good thing, though, is that people are starting to go back the other way by cooperating because they don't like what they're seeing."

WHILE THE sergeant has covered a myriad of accidents and filed stacks of reports, he recalled three cases that stood out. But in very few investigations he's conducted, has he had to use the yellow police tape, just like the two almost full rolls on the window ledge behind his desk, more than a few times.

SERGEANT RON PENLERICK will end his career as a Wayne Police Officer April 1. He said he plans to do some fishing now that his career is over.

The most recent crime Penlerick referred to as the "bicycle bandit," a recent case in which a jury convicted a traveling bicyclist of breaking into nine Wayne homes. Aside from that case, he recalled a shootout between two brothers several years ago. He said that's the only time he's ever been shot at and the lone occasion when he's had to pull his handgun.

"He missed my head by about six inches," Penlerick recalled. "The bullet lodged in a piece of wood right beside me."

Probably the most gripping case Penlerick ever investigated was when a Wayne woman was stalked and kidnapped by a man who rammed her car. After the kid-

Roll call answered with Irish songs

WAYNE - Twelve members and honorary members of Pleasant Valley Club answered roll call with an Irish song when they met in the home of Leona Hagemann on March 18. President Irma Baier presided and Marjorie Bennett read "The Farm in Winter."

Leona Hagemann accompanied group singing of "My Wild Irish Rose," "When Irish Eyes are Smiling" and "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover." Joanie Baier read "Lady Spring" and Hollis Frese read "A Love Poem to My Farmer." Bingo was played and Della Mae Preston provided prizes.

Marjorie Bennett will be the April 15 club hostess.

Pentico recognized by Achievement Academy

The United States Achievement Academy announced that Jason Pentico has been named a United States National Award winner in band.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the academy recognizes less than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Pentico, who attends Wayne High School, was nominated for the award by Brad Weber, the WHS band director.

Pentico will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

The academy selects USA

winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Pentico is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Val Pentico. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Pentico of Randolph.

Bishop Jessen speaking at St. Paul's Lutheran Church

Dr. Richard N. Jessen of Omaha, Bishop of the Nebraska Synod, Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, will be guest preacher at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wayne during worship services on Sunday, April 5.

The public is invited to attend the 10:30 a.m. service. A noon potluck dinner will follow to greet Bishop Jessen.

BISHOP JESSEN was born in Atlantic, Iowa and grew up in Des Moines. He received his BA degree in 1959 from Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn., and his Master of Divinity degree in 1963 from Lutheran School of Theology, Maywood, Ill.

He holds two honorary Doctor of Divinity degrees from Grand View College, Des Moines, and Midland Lutheran College, Fremont.

He was ordained at Des Moines in 1963 and served churches in Iowa and Illinois.

His church related service includes board of trustees, Lutheran School of Theology and Grand View College; synod coordinator, One-In-Mission Appeal, Iowa Synod; Executive Council, Illinois Synod; and Synod Coordinator, Evangelical Outreach, Illinois Synod.

HE AND his wife Glenda, also a graduate of Macalester College, are the parents of daughters Vicki and Lori and son Richard.

Immanuel Ladies Aid plans quarterly evening meetings

The Ladies Aid of Immanuel Lutheran Church, rural Wakefield, met March 19 at the church with co-hostesses Mrs. Reuben Meyer and Hazel Hank.

The meeting opened with a hymn, followed with devotions and the topic by the Rev. Richard Carner. Hazel Hank presented a reading, entitled "God Knows Best."

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Arnold Roeber and the secretary's report by Mrs. Marvin Nelson.

HAZEL HANK presided at the business meeting during which the group decided to host quarterly Ladies Aid meetings in the evening and invite all women of the church.

Mrs. Marvin Echtenkamp and Mrs. Elmer Schrieber gave the visitation report, and it was announced that newspapers for recycling had been delivered.

Immanuel Ladies Aid will sponsor The Lutheran Hour broadcast on Wayne Radio KTCH on May 17 in recognition of the 75th anniversary of the Ladies Aid.

The Aid will send a $35 donation to Faith Village, which is a subdivision of Bethesda Lutheran Home. Each member also is asked to donate an item to be sent to the home.

The spring workshop is scheduled April 21 at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Laurel, with registration at 9 a.m.

Spring cleaning of the church is planned April 28.

THE BIRTHDAY song honored Mrs. Lloyd Roeber. The anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Roeber was also recognized.

Committees for April include Mrs. Arnold Roeber and Mrs. Marvin Nelson, serving; Mrs. Reuben Meyer and Mrs. Harlan Ruwe, visiting; and Mrs. Arnold Roeber, Mrs. Gilbert Raus, Mrs. Gary Hank and Hazel Hank, cleaning and communion ware.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and table prayer.

Workshops designed for secretaries, office support

Workshops designed to help secretaries and office support staff better serve their customers and the public will be held in regional communities April 20-24 under auspices of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The workshops on "Building Career Success: Focus on Customers" are designed to offer professional development to secretaries and office support staff and focus on their value and professionalism, according to Elmer Miller, associate director for the Center of Leadership Development at UNL.

Miller said the goals of the half-day workshops are to help office workers build confidence when dealing with difficult customers, provide opportunities for professional growth, learn how to agree on work priorities and expectations, explore self-development in business interactions, balance autonomy and interdependence in the office setting, take charge in a changing office environment and examine and re-establish a sense of power.

Regional sites, dates and times include: Norfolk, April 21, 8:30-11:30 a.m. at Northeast Community College; and South Sioux City, April 24, 1:30-4:30 p.m. at the Marina Inn.

For more information, contact Miller at the Center for Leadership Development at 472-2809.

Snips and snails and snail tails

WHILE SECOND GRADER KATIE Nelson was making sure her snail was ready to task (photo right), Jeremy Foote, Bridget Dorcey, Tyler Jorgensen and Snoopy Nath were all eyes preparing their snails for the snail olympics Thursday. The olympics ended Nadine Lubberstedt's classes study of snails much to the pleasure of other second grade teachers. School Principal Dave Lutt said the students did get a lot out of the project, however.

Housing needs addressing locally

Economic development in rural communities may produce headaches as well as profits, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln rural sociologist said.

A local policy encouraging economic growth in a rural community may benefit some people, but may leave others with negative feelings, said Ann Ziebarth, a college of home economics researcher studying rural housing policy issues.

Development in rural communities can cause "unanticipated consequences" such as a shortage of housing, burdened public services, overcrowded schools and local property tax increases, Ziebarth said.

Integrating complex issues related to housing into overall community development planning can help avert problems, she said.

"Local officials tend to narrowly define their housing concerns and fail to address the complex problems of housing availability, affordability, adequacy and appropriateness," Ziebarth said. There also may be a lack of awareness of the nature and extent of housing problems in the community.

Housing availability and affordability may be critical concerns for communities that succeed in attaining major economic growth, she said.

There is a key link between the local labor market and housing affordability, Ziebarth said. It is important to consider housing affordability not just in dollar cost, she said, but in relation to a household's total income.

Policy issued related to housing include zoning, landfill costs, streets and sewer lines. These issues often stir controversy and can divide a community, Ziebarth said. A policy that seems beneficial to one group may hurt another.

For example, housing may be built to accommodate lower-income workers moving to the community. Property taxes may then need to be increased to support the public services these houses require, such as roads, or trash and sewer disposal. The property tax burden falls on all community residents, not just those benefiting from additional services, Ziebarth said. Long-time homeowners may resent paying higher taxes to support expanded services.

Looking at local housing-related policies in terms of their alternatives and consequences instead of their benefits and costs can be helpful when working on such policies, she said.

Ziebarth's research was conducted in cooperation with the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources Agricultural Research Division.

Parents, 'Did You Know?'

The percentage of high school dropouts among 16-24 year olds fell from 17 percent in 1967 to 12.6 percent in 1989, a federal report shows.

Between 1980-81 and 1991, school enrollment for three- and four-year-olds grew 44 percent from 2.3 million to 3.3 million, according to the U.S. Department of Education.

The cost of rearing a child to age 18 in a midwest urban area is more than $105,000, according to the federal education department.

The United States Department of Agriculture recently estimated child-rearing expenses as follows: housing 32.5 percent; food, 23.1 percent; transportation, 15.2 percent; medical, 6.7 percent; clothing, 6.6 percent; education, 2.1 percent; other, 13.9 percent.

Eight million students in grades seven through 12 drink alcohol at least once a week, reports a federal study by the health and human services office of the Inspector General.

Asians and Pacific Islanders are the fastest-growing student group, projected to increase by 70 percent by 1994 — to 1.6 million from about 1 million. They also have the best graduation rates: only 2 percent who were 10th graders in 1980 failed to earn a diploma or the equivalent within six years.

Youngster discovers house fire, alerts mother and grandmother

Some Wayne residents can be grateful to a 5-year-old who smelled some smoke in their house Friday morning.

The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department responded to a fire at 603 W. 1st after Johnathan Stevens told his mother that he smelled smoke, according to fire chief Dutch Sitzmann.

Stevens mother, Tina Stevens, and her mother Linda Schmetzler, vacated the house and reported the fire call to the authorities. The house belongs to Bill Kaup.

Sitzmann said the cause of the fire is believed to have been a blower motor on the home's furnace. He said, fortunately, there was minimal damage to the furnace and to the home. He added that there was minimal smoke damage.

There were no injuries resulting from the fire, Sitzmann said.

Wildcat sluggers manage split with Morningside

WAYNE STATE'S RICK ROBERTS check swings a Morningside pitch Thursday afternoon at Overin Field in Wayne.

The Wayne State baseball team split a pair of games with Morningside, Thursday afternoon at Hank Overin Field in Wayne.

The Wildcats came from behind in the opener to win by a 5-4 margin in eight innings but Lenny Klaver's crew dropped the nightcap, 6-2.

Jeff Gohr was credited with the pitching victory in game one after going the distance. Gohr gave up four runs on eight hits while walking four and striking out five. The visitors also had two errors while WSC's line score read five runs on nine hits and two errors.

The 'Cats fell behind 3-0 heading to the bottom of the fourth inning when Rusty Hamer belted a 2-run home run over the center field fence to tighten the margin to one at 3-2.

Morningside retaliated in the top of the fifth inning with a solo homer to push the lead back to 4-2 but Wayne scored one in the sixth and they scored the tying run in the bottom of the seventh before winning it in the eighth.

Chris Jones, Jeff Burger and Jeff Lutt drew successive walks with one out before Troy Test took a 1-1 count and put down the suicide squeeze bunt which scored Jones to end the game.

The Wildcats were led at the bat by Hamer with a single and a homer while Cory Reeder ripped a single and a double. Shane Kober laced a pair of singles while Jeff Schneider, Rick Roberts and Test each singled.

In the second game Jeff Schneider was credited with the pitching loss after going the first four innings and giving up five runs on six hits and seven walks while striking out none. Todd Koozer came in for relief of Schneider and lasted two and one-third innings and gave up one run on three hits while striking out two and walking two. Bill Guenther pitched the final two-third innings.

The 'Cats fell victim to a pair of home runs by Morningside's Todd Henningfield—also the Chiefs quarterback on the football team. The visitors scored twice in the first inning and scored three in the fifth while adding one in the seventh while WSC scored its two lone runs in the second inning.

Morningside finished with six runs on nine hits and no errors while WSC had two runs on six hits and two errors. The 'Cats had bases loaded with one out in the bottom of the seventh inning but failed to score.

Shane Kober led WSC at the plate with a single and a 2-run home run while Rick Roberts hit a pair of singles. Rusty Hamer and Chris Jones each singled for the 10-7 Wildcats.

KELLY SHEAFF HURLS a pitch toward home plate during action with Midland Thursday at the College Field.

WSC women see win streak halted at 10

By Corey Jacobs
Wayne Herald intern

The Wayne State College women's softball team braved the cold Thursday to split a double-header with Midland Lutheran College at the campus softball field.

Dan Pollard's Wildcats extended their win streak to 10 with a 5-3 win in the opener before dropping the nightcap 8-6.

Alex Ross improved her record to 5-1 after pitching five scoreless innings with six strikeouts in the opener while Kelly Sheaff earned the save fighting off a seventh-inning Midland rally to preserve the victory.

Jenna Flesner's two run homer capped off a three-run third inning that made the score 4-0 and put the 'Cats on top for good. Jenny Nieland led WSC going 2 for 3 with Dee Henningsen, Michele Reinhardt, Jeni Umbach, Carla Gilbertson and Ross also collecting hits. In the nightcap the Wildcats erupted for six first-inning runs to take the early 6-0 lead, but failed to score from that point on while Midland put together eight runs to earn the split.

Sheaff was once again on the mound for the 'Cats, pitching four innings and giving up six runs before leaving with the game tied 6-6. Relief pitcher Michelle Harris collected three strikeouts, but gave up two runs in the sixth inning to pick up the loss which dropped her season record to 4-4.

Offensively the 'Cats combined for 14 hits with Marti Hunt, 3 for 4, and Henningsen, 3 for 3, leading the way. Jenny Reuland and Chawndell Meier collected two hits apiece with Jill Gengler, Flesner, Reinhardt, and Gilbertson also recording base hits.

The Wildcats will next be in action Tuesday at the University of Nebraska-Kearney.

Paul Giesselmann resigns as Winside girls head coach

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

Winside head volleyball and girls basketball coach Paul Giesselmann, announced his resignation from Winside effective June 1. Giesselmann led the Wildcats to their first ever state tournament berth in volleyball in 1990 and then followed that up with a return trip last fall.

The past two seasons have seen Giesselmann compile a 40-7 mark. Giesselmann, a 1981 Snyder High School and 1988 Wayne State graduate, has taken the Winside volleyball program to a level of excellence after suffering through a 4-13 season in his first campaign in 1988.

Giesselmann has coached two, first-team all-stars in Kelly Pichler in 1990 and Jenny Jacobsen in 1990 and '91. He has also coached a second-team all-stater in Karl Pichler in 1991.

"The reason I announced my resignation is because of my approaching marriage to Paige Gropppe," Giesselmann said. "She is finishing up her third year of medical school at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha and the decision came down to not knowing where she was going to be doing her residency."

Gropppe, a 1985 Scribner graduate, is going to become a doctor of pediatrics. "There has been numerous times the last four years that I've put my players ahead of Paige and I can't do that anymore," Giesselmann said. "My marriage is going to have to come first."

Giesselmann will reside in Omaha next fall and is currently seeking employment. Looking back on his four-year reign as volleyball coach Giesselmann can recall many memories.

"There are three things that I will always remember," Giesselmann said. "First, the district championship over Clarkson in 1990 at Wisner High school. When we scored that last point to earn our first ever trip to state, I just looked acrossed the gym at a jam-packed house of Winside fans and I knew volleyball had arrived to stay in Winside."

The second thing I will always remember is the 1991 sub-district that we hosted with Allen and Coleridge. People don't realize the immense pressure the girls felt to repeat their trip to state.

Also, that was some of the best caliber of volleyball probably ever played at Winside. Our game with Allen was a classic with both teams playing their hearts out. It was really too bad that somebody had to lose that match because both teams left it all on the court."

Incidentally, Winside led all Class D sub-districts last fall in attendance for the tournament which says something about the type of fan support the Wildcats draw.

"The third thing I will always remember is our first year at the state tournament," Giesselmann said. "When our girls got eliminated, instead of stomping off the floor after the team huddle, the girls turned to the Winside fans and waved as if to say thank you for your support all season long. That was a complete class act and totally unprovoked. They did it on their own."

Giesselmann says the thing he'll miss the most about Winside is the developing relationships with his players. "My four years at Winside will never be forgotten," Giesselmann said. "I couldn't have asked for a better place to start my career or better kids to work with."

Giesselmann will be married on June 20, in Scribner.

WSC THIRD BASEMAN Rusty Hamer rifles a ball to first base during first game action with Morningside.

Wayne eighth grader enjoying success on area billiard tables

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

Since the time Ryan Wheeler was five-years-old, he's enjoyed playing around on the billiard tables. Now, the Wayne eighth grade pool shark is putting his years of practice to work in area tournaments—and he's doing quite nicely.

Wheeler recently collected his 20th trophy for his efforts in a tournament that was held at Daylight Donut in Wayne. "Pool is one of Ryan's hobbies that he has stuck with for quite a period of time," Curt Wheeler, Ryan's father said. "He likes to bowl and golf as well but pool is the sport he's stuck with the longest."

One thing Wheeler has battled in area tournaments is the lack of participants in his age group—13 and under. That forces him into a tougher bracket as faces opponents that are much older than he is.

That hasn't seemed to slow the Wayne Middle schooler down, however. "I like playing the older kids because it makes me a better player," Wheeler said. "I usually fare pretty well against the older competition. Most of my 20 trophies have come from playing in the 16 and under age group instead of the 13 and under group."

Wheeler has played in tournaments at JP's Palace—which has closed now in Wayne, Daylight Donut in Wayne and once in a while he competes in tourney action at Uncle Smurf's in Wakefield.

"There are usually about 8-10 people in a tournament bracket," Wheeler said. "It's set up in a double elimination format and it's call pocket every game."

According to Wheelers dad, he practices about 18-20 hours a week on the family pool table in the basement of their Wakefield home where he also lives with his mother, Peg.

"Ryan feels he has to play one game of pool every night right before he goes to bed," Curt said.

Ryan is the youngest sibling and he says one of his toughest competitors is his brother Cory, who now resides in Seward. "Cory comes home about twice a month and he always gives me a good run," the younger Wheeler said. "Around Wayne my toughest opponent seems to be John Smutzler."

Wheeler likes to keep his game sharp and he keeps that way by playing with his buddies Cory Brader, Kevin Brader and Travis Koester.

"My eventual goal is to get in one of those big tournaments in Lincoln or Omaha that draw several hundred players," Wheeler said. "I would really enjoy that."

After playing against older competition since the time he picked up his first cue stick, it's a good bet that Wheeler will have the mental edge on the majority of his competition, no matter where he racks'em up.

WSC trainer to serve at training camp

WAYNE—Keith Goetz, instructor of human performance and leisure studies, and head athletic trainer at Wayne State, will serve as athletic trainer for the U.S. Olympic Boxing Team's training camp prior to the team's leaving for Barcelona, Spain.

Goetz will also be serving a two-week internship at the U.S. Olympic Training Center this summer to be eligible for future international events.

Rec Youth Soccer registration

WAYNE—Girls and boys in grades three through eight interested in playing recreation soccer are asked to pre-register between now and April 3 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the Wayne City Recreation-Leisure office, northwest corner of the city auditorium. You may also phone 375-4803 to register as well.

Practice and games will begin April 6 at the high school intramural fields and run through May 23. Inner-city games will be held on Saturdays beginning April 18. Youths will be notified as to playing times at practice.

A tentative practice schedule for grades three and four will be Mondays & Wednesdays from 3:45-5:30 p.m. with grades five and six practicing on Tuesdays & Thursdays from 3:45-5:30 p.m. Grades seven & eight will practice on Saturdays from 1-3 p.m. beginning April 11.

Wayne Herald honors top area hoop players

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne Herald released its 1991-92 All-Area boys basketball team today with six seniors, three juniors and a sophomore making up the annual squad.

Wayne seniors Kyle Dahl and Matt Ley earned first-team status for their achievements this season as well as Wakefield seniors Anthony Brown, Marcus Tappe and Steve Clark. Winside's Cory Jensen rounds-out the list of seniors while junior teammate Cory Miller joins him, along with Wayne juniors Regg Carnes and Bobby Barnes. Allen sophomore Curtis Oswald closes out the first-team selections.

Honorable mention goes to Brad Uhing and Matt Blomenkamp of Wayne, John Hancock of Winside, Dalton Rhodes of Wakefield and Lane Anderson of Allen.

The squad was once again picked by the Wayne Herald sports staff and has nothing to do with who made all-conference nor did the coaches have any influence in selections.

Kyle Dahl closed out his career as a Wayne Blue Devil and the senior post enjoyed a fine season. Dahl was always among the rebounding leaders in each game and he could be counted on for his unlimited leadership capabilities.

Matt Ley makes the team for two reasons. First, his willingness to dive on the floor for loose balls and to stand there and take a charge from a much bigger opponent and second, because of his relentless defensive pressure.

Ley always drew the assignment of trying to contain the other team's leading scorer and more often than not, he succeeded. Those who firmly believe that offense wins games but defense wins championships would love to have a team full of Matt Ley's playing for them.

Regg Carnes is usually the first weapon to defend when opposite teams prepare for the Blue Devils. Carnes has the ability to explode into a scoring machine and when the game is on the line, he is not afraid to take control of the ball and penetrate the lane for a would-be winner.

Bobby Barnes is known as the long range shooter for Wayne because of his 3-point accuracy potential. Barnes was one of those guys who was often called upon to drill a long ball just to swing momentum back to the Blue Devils.

Despite his long range capabilities, it was his two-pointer with less than three seconds in regulation that lifted Wayne past previously undefeated Hartington Cedar Catholic in the Great Northeast Nebraska Shoot Out.

Carnes and Barnes, along with junior Brad Uhing and sophomores Matt Blomenkamp, Robert Bell and Mike Fluent will return next season to lead the Blue Devils.

Wakefield loses a host of seniors this season in Anthony Brown, Marcus Tappe and Steve Clark along with honorable mention recipient Dalton Rhodes.

Brown electrified the Wakefield fans for the past several years with his extreme quickness and ability to run the floor on the fast break and of course, his scoring.

Brown will be one of those athletes you can never replace, nor forget about. He very seldom ever fouled out of a game despite the fact he was an extremely aggressive defensive player who could rebound with the big boys in the middle as well as lead the fast break or finish a fast break. Brown also had great body control in that he could be going full speed with the ball and stop-and-pop on a dime so he wouldn't draw a charging foul.

Tappe was kind of the two-man in Wakefield's one-two punch. Brown created enough headaches for opponent's in finding ways to shut him down, and as if that wasn't enough, here comes Tappe with his long range shooting ability as well as driving the baseline before dishing off.

The combination of the two proved lethal to the tune of 20-plus win seasons for two straight years. So, if a team was talented enough to put the reigns on Brown and Tappe, here comes the third weapon in Steve Clark.

Clark enjoyed a very fine season from a scoring standpoint. He showed his ability to light up the scoreboard from long range and in several games, that happened quite often. Clark is one of the few pure shooters in the area.

Although the Winside Wildcats didn't notch a plethora of victories this season, the fact is they improved from last year. Part of the reason for that improvement is the play of Cory Jensen and Cory Miller.

Jensen ended his career after a fine season while Miller returns to head the cast for next year's team. Jensen used his quickness to his advantage whether he was stealing the ball and leading the fast break or finishing the fast break.

Miller is one of those athletes who can turn a game around solely on his performance. He has the ability to score a lot of points in a hurry and with his size and outside shooting potential, he will be a player to watch next season.

Some athletes just have that aura about them that you know they're athletes. One such example is Curtis Oswald of Allen. Oswald's potential is unlimited with his athletic ability.

He is quarterback on the football team, Allen's leading scorer in basketball and last year as a freshman, he broke the 40-second barrier in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles at the state track meet. Oswald has two more years to provide the hometown folk with his dazzling skills.

The Wayne Herald Athlete of the Year Award will have to be a co-award because both Anthony Brown and Regg Carnes deserve the special recognition. Others in consideration included Kyle Dahl and Bobby Barnes of Wayne and Marcus Tappe of Wakefield.

Bob Uhing and Brad Hoskins share the Coach of the Year Award as each enjoyed fine seasons. Hoskins' completed his first year at the helm of the Trojans while Uhing led Wayne to the district final.

WSC to play night football

The Wayne State football team will host three night games during the 1992 season, according to Athletic Director Pete Chapman. The night contests facilitate expanded radio coverage and were made possible by lighting improvements at Memorial Stadium, according to Chapman.

Wayne State has not hosted a night game since the opening two contests of the 1986 season when they defeated Morningside by an 18-0 margin before losing to Augustana, 7-3.

"It should create more of a college football atmosphere for us," says fourth-year head coach Dennis Wagner. "Hopefully it will generate some interest in our students on campus. They can listen or watch other games on television, and then come out to watch WSC play."

The Wildcats 1992 season begins with road contests against UNO (Sept. 5, 7 p.m.), Morningside (Sept. 12, 4:30 p.m.), and Bemidji State (Sept. 19, 1:30 p.m.).

WSC returns to Memorial Stadium for the next five games. "When you're an independent you don't complain a lot about how the games are lined up," Wayne said. "We're just happy with five home games."

A September 26 Band Day contest against Mayville State University of North Dakota kicks off the '92 home slate. Gametime is 5:45 p.m.

The Wildcats face Nebraska-Kearney, Oct. 3 at 1:30 p.m. for Homecoming, and entertain St. Francis College (Joliet, Ill.) Oct. 10 at 5:45 p.m. in the Incredible Edible Egg Bowl. St. Francis posted a 7-4 mark last season, including two games against NCAA Division I-AA schools.

Following an open date, the Cats host Southwest St. University of Marshall, Minn. in a 5:45 p.m. contest on Oct. 24 on Parent's Day. The five-game homestand concludes with a Hall of Fame Game encounter against Michigan Tech (Houghton, Mi.) on Oct. 31 at 1:30 p.m.

The schedule concludes with road games against Peru St. (Nov. 7, 1:30 p.m.), and Iowa Wesleyan (Nov. 14, 1:30 p.m.).

Wayne City Rec

The men's city recreation basketball leagues continued last week in the final week of the regular season. The playoffs begin Monday in each of the three leagues.

Last Monday in "A" league it was team Four defeating team One, 57-53. Brian Lentz led the winners with 13 points while Brendan Dorcy and Pat Melena scored 12 each. Monte Tilgner was also in double figures with 11.

Dustin Pecena led team One with 22 points while Paul Dean scored 13 and Randy Gamble added 10. In the second game it was team Six edging team Seven, 74-71.

Adam Msrny paced the winners with 34 points while Leif Olson poured in 26. Kelley Stallbaum added nine. Todd Oborny led team seven with 25 points while Chad Metzler scored 22. Steve Sorenson finished with 12.

In the final game of the night it was team Five downing team Two, 79-76. Doug Manz blistered the nets for 41 points to lead the winners while Troy Young added 13. Marty Jonas and Matt Jonas followed with 12 and 11 points respectively.

Willy Gross led team Two with 25 points while Todd Oborny poured in 24. Brian Lentz tallied 17. The Playoffs will pit team Four and team Six against each other at 7:15 p.m. Monday with team One and team Seven playing at 8:30 p.m. Teams Two and Five received byes.

On Tuesday night in "B" league it was team Five squeaking past team One, 54-53 as Joel Ankeny led the way with 17 points while Mike Dunklau scored 16. David Braun was also in double figures with 11. Bob Keating led team One with 21 points while Dan Ingwerson poured in 14. Randy Dunklau finished with eight.

In the second game it was team Two defeating team Three, 76-59. Mike Meyer paced the winners with 26 points while Jeff Zeiss added 15. Terry Luhr and Al Walton followed with 14 points apiece. Team Three was led by Eldon Hutchison with 21 points while Nich Hochstein poured in 19. Jerry Nicholson was also in double figures with 11.

Speakers, K-9 dogs focus on drug awareness

By Dianne Jaeger
Winside Correspondent

Winside students in both the elementary and high school grades were the focus of a drug awareness program presented March 24 at the school.

Featured speaker during the morning session for grades six through 12 was Bill Essex of Greenfield, Ind. His topic was "Peers, Parents and Heros."

Essex is a former undercover narcotics agent, an advisor to President Bush's White House Commission for a Drug Free America, has authored several books, is a featured speaker at the annual Pride International Convention, and is a founding member of both Americans for Substance Abuse Prevention and Partners Against Drug Abuse.

In addition, he has made numerous television appearances and is the founder of a National Association for Educational Service ESSEX (Every Student Should Expect Excellence).

YOUNGSTERS IN grades one through five heard a program by Scott Ellis of Lincoln, entitled "Dr. Zooker's Drug and Alcohol, Dog and Pony Show."

Highlighting the afternoon was the appearance of two K-9 dogs, Andy and Rude E., along with their officer trainers and partners, Jim Bauerly and Charley Hertz of the Woodbury County K-9 Team in Sioux City.

Andy, a 2 1/2-year-old Red Sable German shepherd, is owned and handled by Officer Bauerly, while Rude E., also a German shepherd, belongs to Officer Hertz.

The K-9 dogs are purchased and trained by the officers and are their property until they become certified by the sheriff's department as trained dogs. At that point the department pays the officers specific amounts per year for food and medical needs, along with liability coverage.

The dogs are controlled solely by the officers and respond only to their commands. They ride with the officers as partners a majority of the time, unless the officer is on special assignment.

THE DOGS are trained in trailing, search and seizure, rescue, officer protection, and drug and narcotics sniffing. The officers said Andy and Rude E. are currently trained to detect seven or eight different drugs.

After telling about the dogs, the officers demonstrated their drug search capabilities in the school gym. A vile containing about one-half thimble of amphetamines was hidden in a rolled tumbling mat, among a number of other mats, and was found by the dog in a very little time.

During another demonstration, a package of marijuana was hidden under a folding chair and once the dog located the chair, he turned it over and retrieved the package.

Students watching the demonstrations were surprised when one of the dogs charged toward them as they clapped for his excellent performance. The officer immediately commanded the dog to halt and explained that the dogs viewed clapping as a form of aggression and were ready to attack.

The dogs also demonstrated their obedience in heeling, following and other commands given by the officers both verbally and with hand signals.

Each officer also put on an arm protection guard and demonstrated an attack by the dogs.

THE OFFICERS related a number of real life situations they have encountered while working with the dogs.

One case involved the search of a Sioux City halfway house where residents were suspected of using marijuana. Rude E. was taken into the house library and commanded to search.

Rude E. pulled a book off a shelf about four feet from the floor and began to play with it. A search of the book by the officer found nothing hidden and he replaced it on the shelf. The dog repeated the procedure two more times.

When the house manager was questioned, the officer found that marijuana had been hidden in the book about 69 hours prior to the search. Upon closer examination they found one fleck of marijuana which the dog had detected.

"You can tell when a dog has found something just by looking at them. They hold their ears or tail in a different way than normal and they like to play or scratch at the item found."

MOST OFFICERS purchase their dogs as puppies, however one dog was obtained from a dog pound.

"We look for puppies that are more active and aggressive. We don't want a dog that will just lie down in the back seat of the cruiser. Sometimes these dogs get so bored riding around they begin barking at trucks and street signs."

The officers said they usually begin working with the puppies when they are approximately 10 weeks of age. "Their attention span isn't very long so we work in short intervals of four to five minutes. The dogs learn by repetitiveness and the only rewards given are praise and play time."

While training the dogs, the officers said they play tug-of-war quite often and always let the dog win. "This builds up his confidence so that in a real confrontation, even if the dog is injured or shot, he won't give up and he'll keep trying to win."

They added that there have been a few dogs that were not trainable because of physical problems or intelligence.

Andy and Rude E. were two of the youngest dogs ever certified at the age of one year.

THE OFFICERS explained that K-9 dogs are workable for approximately eight years, however some have worked as long as 12 years. They added that the dogs are usually retired from the force because of physical disabilities.

Following the demonstration, all the students were given an opportunity to pet the dogs.

OTHER SPEAKERS who appeared throughout the day for students in grades six through eight included a group of drug free youth from Norfolk Senior High School; Wayne Gobon on the topic "Who Wants a Date With an Onion Head; Dave Schroeder of Paulina, Iowa on "Newsflash...School Can Be Fun, the Difference Can Be You"; and Scott Ellis of Lincoln with "Dr. Zooker's Drug and Alcohol, Dog and Pony Show." Students in grades nine through 12 heard "Don't Lose Sight," by Steven Miles, a teacher at Grand Island Public School; "A Lock on Success" by Brett Eastburn of Greenfield, Ind.; and "Drugs, Sex and Rock-N-Roll" by Dave Tague, JMS Family Center, Plainview.

Warm weather doesn't mean it's time for work

The balmy weather of early March may have had some homeowners itching to begin work on their lawns, but the cold temperatures and snow that followed proved that they should wait until spring truly arrives, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln turfgrass specialist said.

A hard frost coming after a lawn has been mowed and fertilized can be deadly to turfgrass, Roch Gaussoin said.

Gaussoin recommends applying one-third of a year's total fertilizer in May. If a pre-emergence herbicide is combined with fertilizer, it should be applied by mid-April, he said.

Lawn mowing also should wait until mid-April, he said. Lawn aeration should take place in April or May. Aerating during unseasonably warm weather, Gaussoin said, could expose a lawn to wind and frost damage if temperatures drop.

For those who just can't wait to accomplish some yardwork, raking and cleaning up a lawn can be done without cold weather causing damage, the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist said.

Grass seed should be planted in early to mid-April, Gaussoin said, but some seed, especially Tall Fescue, can be applied earlier without causing problems. Kentucky Bluegrass, however, does better when planted in autumn and not spring.

Group performs

The Wayne State College Jazz Ensemble will present a concert on Tuesday, March 31 at 8 p.m. in the college's Fine Arts Building. The public is invited to attend.

Directors for the concert will be Fred Hanna, director of bands at Wayne State, and Brad Weber, director of bands at Wayne High School.

 napping, he drove the woman to the countryside, raped and sodomized her and took all her clothes. The woman then went to a farm house and sought help, then reported the incident to police.
 "Within 72 hours, we had the guy in custody," Penlerick said. "I don't know how she did it, because the guy was wearing a mask when he attacked her, but she identified him and he went to prison."
PENLERICK SAID the opportunity to become a cop just presented itself.
 "I told the owner of the trucking firm I was working for that I was thinking about becoming a police officer," he said. "He told me he would kick me in the rear if I didn't take the opportunity."

 Over the last 25 years, things have changed. He said there's more paperwork associated with the job and there's more stress. On the wall next to the brick window is a copied sign which reads: "I'm not old, just a recycled teenager." That, more or less, is symbolic of the sergeant's dedication to his work.
 "The one thing which has made this job special is having a wife that's understanding and supportive of the hours I have to work," Penlerick said of his wife Jean. "You miss out on a lot of things because of the shift work you have to do."
 "I'm grateful to my wife and appreciative of the department and the city. It's been a good 25 years."

Area residents sign up for committee

Residents of Wayne County learned a little more Thursday night about what a countywide comprehensive plan will mean during a county planning commission meeting.
 Over 20 Wayne County residents listened to what the upcoming comprehensive plan will mean to the county from Tom Malmstrom of Hanna:Keelan Associates of Lincoln. Hanna:Keelan is the firm which has been hired by Wayne County to conduct a survey and develop plans for the county, and the Hoskins, Winside and Carroll communities.
 Hanna:Keelan is a Nebraska-based community planning and research firm. The comprehensive plan focuses on comprehensive and economic development planning, housing market research, housing development and strategic planning and grant development.
 In addition, the study incorporates population and economics, existing and future land use, physical and environmental characteristics, citizen participation, and public facilities. Other areas addressed will be thoroughfares, the environment and zoning.

DURING THE meeting, several individuals were appointed to a planning steering committee. The committee will attend monthly informational meetings, planning sessions and serve as a voice for concerns and options.
 According to Sid Saunders, County Planning Commission secretary, there was informal discussion on some of the key issues confronting the county and villages. Those in attendance said roads and bridges, conflicting uses of land in rural areas, nuisances in and around villages, the need to plan for village growth, the need to maintain air and groundwater quality, were key issues.
 While the list of steering committee members is still tentative, there are 15 individuals who have signed up. Those individuals are: Bev Dangberg, Wayne; Roger Fuoss, Wayne; Susan Gilmore, Carroll; Harley Greve, Wakefield; Phillip Janke, Wayne; Rick Lange, Hoskins; Roxanne Meyer, Randolph; Donald R. Nelson, Winside; Larry Nichols, Wayne; Dallas Puls, Hoskins; Larry Ritze, Winside; Alice Rohde, Carroll; Frederick Weible, Winside; Dwayne Rethwisch, Wayne; and Tim Aulner, Winside.

NPPD distributes funds

Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) is distributing in-lieu-of-tax payments totaling more than $4.9 million to cities, towns, counties and school districts in the NPPD area.
 A total of $4.9 million, based on gross retail revenue, is being distributed to treasurers of 63 Nebraska counties where there are municipalities served at retail by NPPD. Wayne, Dixon and Cedar Counties are among those to benefit.
 In Wayne County, the second half of in-lieu-of-taxes is $29.90 for $6,930 in gross revenue taxes.

While the benefit to Wayne County is minimal, Dixon County looks to get a good share of refund money. Dixon County will receive $1,265 for second half taxes as a result of $49,990 in revenue tax.
 Cedar County, however, is the biggest benefactor of the returns. Cedar County will receive $2,814 for $65,890 of revenue taxes.
 In addition to the $4.9 million, county-treasurers in 70 Nebraska counties in which NPPD has property will receive payments totalling $104,995. The money represents the second half of 1991 payments that NPPD is obligated to pay.

LEGION AUXILIARY
 The Ladies Auxiliary of Carroll American Legion Post #165 entertained members of both groups and their spouses at a card party March 24 at the Davis Steakhouse.
 Card prizes were awarded to Russell Hall, Pauline Frink, Melvin Jenkins and Norma Davis.
 JoAnn Owens, Auxiliary president, presented the birthday cake, which was baked by Evelyn Hall, to the post adjutant in observance of the 73rd anniversary of the founding of the American Legion.
STAR EXTENSION
 The Star Extension Club met March 17 in the home of Dorine Leidman, with eight members present. Roll call was "do you have a will?" The group will be presenting a book to either the library, Headstart or a daycare.

 Dorine Leidman was in charge of the lesson on living trusts. Farm Bureau Insurance career agent Steven R. Jorgensen of Wayne gave a presentation on estate planning.
 The next meeting will be Tuesday, April 21 in the home of Cynthia Puntney. The lesson is "Fitting Beef into a Balanced Diet."
SENIOR CITIZENS
 The Carroll Senior Citizens met last Monday at the fire hall with 13 present. Get well cards were signed by the group for Mable Janssen and Marie Bring. Prizes at cards were won by Dora Stoltz and Esther Batten. Alice Wagner was in charge of lunch. The next meeting will be today (Monday) with a cooperative lunch brought in.
