Board ponders choices for site

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

With the future of the Wayne County Juvenile Detention Center secure, the Wayne County Commissioners face another question: Where to locate the Wayne County Sheriff's office.

Under terms outlined in the report on the JDC by David M. Griffith Associates, it was recommended that the sheriff's office be relocated. During Tuesday's county commissioners meeting, the board discussed three options.

One option is the possibility of relocating the sheriff's office in the basement of the Wayne County Courthouse. Under the option, the commissioners would move the social services office out, placing the sheriff's office in that space.

WITH THAT option, the social services office, for which Wayne County has to provide office space with at least the same amount of square feet they currently have, would be relocated to a site east of the former True Value store, in the building which formerly housed the ASCS offices. In addition to locating social services in that building, the probation office, currently located on Main Street across from the Wayne Herald, would also be placed in the same building with social services.

The former ASCS building, owned by Roy Coryell, would require little renovation and it is already handicapped accessible. Coryell, who was present at the meeting, said the building he has available has 4,500 square feet and the cost of renting it would be $1,300 a month, not including utilities.

A second option would be to locate the sheriff's office in a building owned by Walter Moeller at 114 W. 3rd Street, between the Christian Bookstore and Johnson's Frozen Foods. The 3-room office, which has optional space for storage, has 616 square feet at a price of $4.75 per square foot and utilities would be included.

THE THIRD option would be to locate the sheriff's office in the former Northwestern Bell building at the corner of 3rd and Pearl, across from the Wayne City Auditorium. The building rents for $4,000 and would need extensive work to meet fire code.

Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen said the sheriff's office is looking for a location with 500 to 1,000 square feet.

Despite the discussion, the commissioners decided to inspect each individual building next week, along with the sheriff and the fire marshal. They tabled making a decision on the matter until the May 5 meeting.

VEHICLES AROUND THE WAYNE AREA WERE snowed under Monday night into Tuesday due to a winter storm which struck the area with the most intense snowfall since 1984. While the weather was not so severe in Norfolk or Sioux City, Wayne and Laurel received 10 and 13 inches, respectively. The driver of this poor vehicle probably found getting it out a tough go.

Storm throws area into winter

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

Mother Nature played a cruel but late April Fools joke on everyone Monday and she continued the prank on into Tuesday, striking the area with as much as 13 inches of snow by press time.

As a result of the spring snow storm, the Nebraska State Patrol closed a number of highways in the area Monday night due to poor visibility and poor road conditions. Travel was not recommended on Tuesday.

According to the National Weather Service office in Norfolk, a deep low pressure system settled into the area early Monday, drawing moisture from the gulf into the region. That, combined with cold air coming from Canada, caused the blizzard.

AS A RESULT of the storm, the Wayne Police Department was reporting a few accidents related to road conditions. They also estimated five vehicles ended up in ditches around the immediate Wayne area. The Nebraska State Patrol reported several accidents in the region but only one in the Wayne Herald area.

While snow totals were not available from all nine communities in the Herald's coverage area, the top reports came from Laurel, which reported 13 inches, and Wayne, which had 10. Observers in Winside reported between six and 10 inches of snow and officials in Carroll reported 10 inches.

Also due to the bad weather, Wayne State cancelled all classes Tuesday with administrative personnel asked to report in-at 10 a.m. All area school systems also cancelled school.

THE LAST TIME a snow storm of this intensity struck the region was in 1984, according to the National Weather Service. For the month of April in 1984, there were 13.2 inches recorded with 9.7 inches falling April 29, 1984.

Despite the gloomy weather Monday and Tuesday, temperatures were expected to moderate and clear out the snow

Storm causes minor mishap east of Wayne

An accident Monday night resulted in three individuals having to be taken to Providence Medical Center but no serious injuries were reported.

According to Nebraska State Patrol reports, the three vehicle accident was caused by bad weather and messy road conditions brought on by Monday's snow storm.

The mishap was reported at 6:20 p.m. approximately 7 1/2 east of Wayne on Highway 35.

ACCORDING TO the Nebraska State Patrol, an east-bound vehicle driven by Angela Deanda, 21, of South Sioux City, was struck by a vehicle driven by Chad Sager, 18, of South Sioux City. Reports said Sager apparently lost control due to ice and snow and drove across the center line, striking the left side of the Deanda vehicle.

Following Sager's vehicle closely was a vehicle driven by Rachel Gloe, 19, of Osmond. Gloe's vehicle sustained front end damage after sliding into the rear of Sager's vehicle.

State Patrol officials said all parties suffered minor injuries and were transported to Providence Medical Center and released.

by the weekend.

The National Weather Service said the region will go through a warming trend with temperatures reaching the 50s to near 60 on Thursday and 60s are expected through the weekend.

Meetings create awareness of teen alcohol problems

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

Wayne Middle School teacher Jill Pickinpaugh stood up before the group of parents, the brilliance of the overhead projector behind her, and asked the parents how they would respond to consuming alcohol in different situations.

As varying as the questions were, so too were the answers.

This group of 13 parents is going through a "Setting the Limits" prevention course for parents of pre-teens or young adults who are not presently having a problem with alcohol or drugs.

Over the period the course runs, parents will have analyzed their roles as loving parents, role models, guiders, teachers and advocates.

"The whole thing is that we've got to educate parents early enough so when their kids experience peer pressure, they'll be ready," says Lu Ellingson, one of

Weekend helps strengthen marriages

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

What makes a good marriage stronger?

Have you ever asked yourself this question? If you haven't found the answer, you might ask Bonnie and Duane Marburger.

The Marburgers are proponents of United Marriage Encounter, a non-denominational experience for couples with good marriages who want to make them better.

According to information they provided, it is a weekend program conducted in a happy, realistic way for married couples to grow closer to each other and to God — to build their marriage and their faith. It's not a group sharing or group discussion; personal sharing is only with your own spouse. You don't reveal your personal life to anyone else.

"Marriage is just like a good car; it needs maintenance occasionally," Duane says. "That's the way it is with a marriage. A good marriage needs those special times and opportunities to keep it strong."

DURING A Marriage Encounter weekend, the two are together as a couple, concentrating on each other, for a full 48 hours. Couples go to a motel or a retreat center, away from it all — no phone calls, no job, no children, no interruptions. The weekend gives couples quality time to grow closer and deepen lines of communication.

For the Wayne area, Marriage Encounter occurs twice a year. While informational meetings are more frequent, an upcoming Marriage Encounter is scheduled in Sioux City Sept. 18-20, but space is limited.

"Marriage Encounter is for all couples of any age or faith," Bonnie says. "It's a crash course in communication. Couples who already communicate well receive new tools with which to communicate."

"Many couples say it should have been done years ago," Duane adds. "In today's busy society, it makes couples realize the importance of reserving time for each other."

THE PROGRAM, endorsed by Dr. James Hobson, a noted Christian psychologist, is not for couples who are currently going through marriage counseling. It is geared for the couples who want to love each other more.

Briefly Speaking

State pro-life representatives speaking

AREA - The Tri-County Right to Life organization will meet Monday, April 27 at 7:30 p.m. at St. Mary's Holy Family Hall in Wayne. Special speakers will be Julie Schmit-Albin, executive director of the Nebraska Right to Life from Lincoln, and Denise Ashby, president of the Nebraska Right to Life from Fremont. All persons interested in pro-life activities and issues are encouraged to attend and hear the state representatives.

65th anniversary observed

LAUREL - The 65th wedding anniversary of Clarence and Helen Pearson of Concord was observed April 14 at Hillcrest Care Center in Laurel. The event also honored Helen's 86th birthday on April 16. Present for the occasion, along with the honored couple, were Jim Pearson and Tara, Mrs. Helen Pearson, Lincoln, Alta Pearson, Wakefield, Anita Nicholson, Emerson, Doris Johnson, Martinsburg, Marge Rastede, Suzie Johnson, Alyce Erwin and grandchildren, and Evelina Johnson. Cake and ice cream were served.

Minerva Club elects officers

WAKEFIELD - Election of 1992-93 officers took place at the April 13 meeting of Minerva Club in the home of Marjorie Olson. New officers are Pat Prather, president; Verna Rees, vice president; Bette Ream, secretary; and Beth Morris, treasurer. Fourteen members attended the April meeting, which featured a dessert luncheon, business meeting and program. Norma Koeber presented the program on Dr. Louis Sullivan, secretary of health and human services in President Bush's cabinet. As secretary, Sullivan focuses on anti-alcohol and anti-smoking, health and food, health care cost regulation, disease prevention, the family and male responsibility. The next meeting of Minerva Club will be a luncheon on April 27 at 12:30 p.m. at the Black Knight. Marjorie Olson will present the program.

Birthdays observed at Merry Mixers

WAYNE - Merry Mixers Club held its annual birthday party in the home of Ella Lutt on April 14. All 12 members present were honored with the birthday song and answered roll call with a surprise birthday party. Gifts were exchanged by drawing numbers. President Lydia Thomsen called the meeting to order and opened with the singing of "Easter Parade." Pitch furnished entertainment with Ella Lutt winning high and Gertrude Heins receiving low. The hostess served cake and ice cream. A lesson on making stained glass items will be presented at the club's next meeting in the home of Maxine Preston.

Square dancers plan spring festival

AREA - The Leather and Lace Square Dance Club of Wayne will host the annual spring festival sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Square and Round Dance Federation on Friday, April 24 in Wayne city auditorium. Festivities are scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. with the grand march. Ron Schroeder of Creighton will be the master of ceremonies. Sharing the calling duties will be Dean Clyde of O'Neill. Spectators are welcome to observe at no charge.

Acme schedules May breakfast

WAYNE - Acme Club will meet May 4 for a 9 a.m. breakfast at the Black Knight. Seven women attended a meeting in the home of Bonnadell Koch on April 20. The program was given by Jessie Hamer.

Hazel Carlson celebrates 82nd year

CONCORD - Hazel Carlson of Concord was honored for her 82nd birthday on Easter Sunday with Nina Carlson and Randall Carlson as dinner guests. Joining them for the day were Lyle Carlsons, Allen, Stacy Carlson, Wayne, Stephanie Carlson, Sioux Center, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Koch; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Anderson were evening guests.

Eagles Auxiliary schedules events

WAYNE - The Wayne Eagles Auxiliary 3757 met April 19 and discussed plans for a Mother's Day brunch on May 2 at 9:30 a.m. at the Aerie home. All auxiliary members are encouraged to attend and bring their mothers, daughters or friends. The Aerie's 15th anniversary also was discussed and plans were made for a dinner and dance on May 16. Members are asked to call Fern and Larry Test for tickets and more information. Mardella Olson will serve as the auxiliary's delegate to the state convention in South Sioux City on June 9-13. Vice President Dorothy Nelson conducted the April meeting and announced that the Easter potluck has been canceled. Fern Test reported on the District 6 meeting in Central City. She announced that the zone conference will be held in Fremont on May 2-3 for all Eagle officers. Fern Test asked all members to bring May baskets to the next meeting of the auxiliary, scheduled May 4, with Doris Gilliland serving. Installation of new officers will take place May 21 at the Aerie home.

Easter thoughts shared at Klick and Klatter Club

Fourteen members and a guest, Emma Heinemann, attended a meeting of Klick and Klatter Home Extension Club on April 14 in the home of Irene Victor. Roll call was answered with an Easter thought. Marcella Larson received the hostess gift. President Lee Moller opened the meeting and led in the flag salute and collect. Marian Jordan led in the singing of "Easter Parade."

Stella Liska, citizenship chairman, briefed members on the purpose of the primary elections and preparing for the Nebraska primary on May 12. Joyce Niemann read "Easter Beginnings," and Marvel Corbit reported on Heart Month and ways to prevent heart disease.

LOREENE Gildersleeve, family well-being chairman, read two articles, entitled "Las Vegas Gambles on Family" and "Casinos Entertain Children." Cultural Arts Chairman Viola Meyer presented a schedule of planetarium programs at Wayne State College. She also reported on the children's science fair and numerous other local events. Dorothy Aurich, thrust chairman, explained the paint swap program and announced summer paint days for 4-H and extension clubs at the fairgrounds. She also announced that Northeast Recycling, Inc. is now open on Wednesdays and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. NEW constitutions were distributed by the committee. President Moller reported on the council meeting and announced that the council is requesting each club to donate a sum of money for diabetic camp.

Volunteers for the immunization clinic for children are Marian Jordan, Marcella Larson and Viola Meyer. It was suggested to donate toys, clothes and other items to the Head Start program. Awards will be presented at Achievement Day for assisting in recycling, most exhibits at the fair, highest percentage in leadership lesson attendance and new members. Clubs are asked to donate a book to the local library.

An invitation was read to attend the Dixon County Spring Special Event on April 30. The state convention will be held in McCook on June 2-5. Lesson suggestions for next year are due May 15. PROGRAM leader Loreene Gildersleeve planned crazy bridge, with prizes going to Stella Liska, Viola Meyer, Angie Denesia and Ruth Fleer. Angie Denesia will be hostess for the May 12 meeting at 2 p.m. at the Black Knight. Plans are underway for a tour to Royal in June.

Redeemer hosting May Fellowship Day

Women of Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne will host this year's May Fellowship Day on Friday, May 1, beginning with a 9:30 a.m. breakfast in the church basement. Theme for the 1992 worship event is "Call for a Compassionate Community."

All area women and men are invited to attend the ecumenical celebration which is sponsored annually by Church Women United and is designed to bring people of faith from differing religious traditions together to experience a sense of bonding and community.

The 1992 service recognizes the essence of suffering within each member of the human family and serves as an opportunity for participants to increase consciousness of the human needs around them and to hone skills for interpersonal healing and compassion.

The materials for the worship experience grew from a retreat gathering of eight women of faith in Indiana. They came from denominationally diverse backgrounds and represented various heritage groups.

Methodist women meet for luncheon

United Methodist Women met April 8 for a noon luncheon hosted by the Gospel Seekers Interest group. Muriel Lindsay, Fern Kelley and Mildred Jones were honored for their April birthdays and received corsage for mission ribbons.

Norma Ehlers opened the meeting with a poem, entitled "Thank God for Little Things" by Helen Steiner Rice. Doris Stipp distributed copies of the 1993 budget which will be discussed and voted on at the May meeting.

Correspondence included a thank you from the family of Maurice Lindsay. Evelyn Darland sent a memorial in memory of Maurice Lindsay. Several prayer concerns were announced.

Doris Stipp read an invitation to attend a guest day breakfast sponsored by Laurel United Methodist Women on May 7 at 9 a.m.

Barbara Nunnally thanked those who furnished cookies and attended the parsonage open house.

THE GROUP voted to present a new baby membership certificate to each new baby whose mother is a member of United Methodist Women (UMW). The $5 cost for the certificate would come from UMW funds and would be donated to missions. The certificate could also be presented by grandparents.

Members also voted to present each high school graduate of the United Methodist Church with a special graduation certificate, with the $5 cost donated to missions. There are 19 high school graduates this year from the United Methodist Church.

United Methodist Women decided to accept Haven House as a project and to purchase six books for them. Sara Campbell, Haven House director, said there is also a need for socks, deodorant, cream rinse, hair brushes, tooth brushes, toothpaste, etc.

These will be discussed at interest group meetings and brought by members to the May UMW meeting to be delivered to Haven House.

SEVERAL upcoming events were announced, including the Northeast District UMW Spring Event at Laurel on April 28; the 40 and under meet at Norfolk on May 2; the Laurel UMW guest day breakfast on May 7 at 9 a.m.; the Wayne UMW guest day on June 10; and the chautauqua service at the Wayne Methodist Church on July 19, with UMW serving after the service.

Fern Kelley announced that World Community Day sponsored by Church Women United will be held May 1 at 9:30 a.m. at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne.

The program, entitled "Lent - Touchstone of Faith," was presented by Marjorie Porter and included group singing of "Rock of Ages" and "Standing on the Promise."

The next UMW meeting will be a May 13 covered dish luncheon at noon with officers in charge of arrangements. The devotions and program will be given by Kyle Rose and daughter Adriana from Mexico.

GERDA DAUB O'DEY of Norfolk, at right, and Jean Tiedtke of Battle Creek, at left, will be featured speakers at the annual Spring Special Event hosted by the Dixon County Home Extension Council. O'Dey will share her experiences as a member of the Hitler Youth Group in Germany during World War II. Her story is recorded in a book written by Tiedtke, entitled "Legacy of Lies and Love."

In Dixon County Hitler youth officer, author speaking at Spring Special Event

Gerda Daub O'Dey of Norfolk, who experienced being in the Hitler Youth Group in Germany during World War II, will be featured speaker during the Dixon County Home Extension Council's annual Spring Special Event.

The public is invited to attend the program on Thursday, April 30 at the Northeast Research and Extension Center, near Concord.

Joining O'Dey will be Author Jean Tiedtke of Battle Creek, who wrote the story of Gerda's experiences in a book, entitled "Legacy of Lies and Love."

Few Hitler Youth Officers have come forward to tell their story. "Legacy of Lies and Love" has been described as compelling and is interspersed with the feelings and growing experiences of a young girl.

THE SPRING Special Event is also a registered Nebraska Quasiquintennial Event that will feature displays by Dixon County Home Extension Clubs of historical items such as clothing, tools, furniture, recipes, ethnic items, etc.

Two programs will be offered during the day, with the first beginning at 2 p.m. with a social time to view displays, award door prizes and enjoy coffee and cookies. The speakers are scheduled from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.

The evening's program will begin with the speakers from 7 to 8 p.m., followed with a social time.

Hostess clubs and committee members are Alvina Stanley, Casual Country Club; Judy Martindale, Friendly Neighbors Club; Marilyn Creamer, Artemis Club; and Pearl Snyder, Elf Club.

the course moderators. "We have an alcohol problem. How else do we get to it than to educate."

WHILE THE number of respondents for this initial session could be considered disappointing, the moderators are not looking at it that way. Kathy Mitchell, who was moderating Tuesday's session with Pickinpaugh, said 75 parents received information about the program.

"The idea is that by word of mouth, the next time we do it more people will be interested," she said.

On Tuesday night, one of the things parents were introduced to was the 0-1-2-4 formula, a system to determine whether they're putting themselves or their children at risk of alcohol problems down the road — a sort of leader by example approach.

FOR INSTANCE, zero means parents should OBSERVE, or not drink when they: 1. On certain medications; 2. Behind the wheel or in other tasks which require full mental and physical functioning; Stressed; Either the son, daughter of sibling of an alcoholic or recovering alcoholic; Recovering alcoholic; Violating the laws of the state or the policy of a company; or Expecting, nursing or considering pregnancy.

"The man who introduced this program told us that we shouldn't drink if we're planning on doing brain surgery," Pickinpaugh said during her presentation. "While we thought that was funny, we saw it was in the book. You'd be surprised to know how many doctors drink."

In the three 2 1/2 hour sessions,

"Setting the Limits" promotes parental communication with children by setting clear expectations and guidelines; enforcing the rules in a helpful way; building a child's self-esteem; and how to protect your child from experimenting with alcohol and other drugs.

While there is only one more meeting of this initial session, Ellingson said they are willing to organize more if demand warrants.

The program allows couples to see others strive to reach deeper understanding and build better marriages. It also allows couples to develop new methods of communicating and share experiences with each other in trust and confidence. It also allows couples to share their own fears, joys and sorrows.

Over the course of the weekend, there's a series of presentations by a clergy couple and a couple. After each presentation, the couple goes back to the privacy of their own room to discuss questions between themselves.

"It enables or freezes couples to share things that they've wanted to share," Duane says. "It happens with couples married 2-3 years and with couples married 40-50 years. The end result is that it brings them closer to one another."

The cost of the weekend is only $20. For more information about Marriage Encounter, contact the Marburgers at 584-2467.

Sidewalk issue has three sides

I find myself this week in a role not unfamiliar to myself but one which may be unfamiliar to you since this space is usually reserved to the lighter things in life. This week, I am, more or less, playing the role of an ombudsman.

About a year ago, we opposed establishing a sidewalk improvement plan. While the need for improved sidewalks in Wayne exists, people didn't speak out one way or another on the issue. After the initial phase was complete, all we heard was a lot of plaudits. It made me second guess my opposition and we made comment to the effect on this very page. After all, if the law was law, let it apply to the common folk.

Last year, the city council passed the law without blinking twice. It established guidelines where people with sidewalk would share the cost 50-50 with the city for replacement and people without it would have to carry the burden by themselves. On the other extreme, the city carried the cost of making handicapped accessible sidewalk curbs and extensions which lie on terraces, or city property (if the city bears anything since it's all taxpayer dollars).

In a second law last year, they chose to do work in an area of heavy traffic, an H-shaped area in the southwest quadrant of Wayne. This area included the walks near City Hall, the Wayne City Auditorium and the Wayne Middle School.

THOSE SIDEWALK improvements went smoothly because there was minimal opposition. Not many complained and most paid for the improvements whichever way they deemed best, either in full or by taking advantage of a six year repayment schedule.

This year, the city has earmarked an area in the southeast quadrant from Logan to Walnut and from 2nd to 5th streets. The difference between this year and last is that fewer governmental entities are involved.

Complaints registered at last week's city council meeting ranged from affordability to saving trees, valid arguments standing on their own merits.

Other arguments, however, came from residents in the northwest quadrant who said they don't want sidewalks. While their area is not affected this year, it could in the future.

That's one side of the story. With any issue, there's a minimum of three sides (sometimes more).

THEN THERE'S the city council's and administration's story. They're doing this for the benefit of pedestrians, for the gains in property value and for the protection of landowners against lawsuits in the event some lawsuit-happy twirp slips and falls on the raised or cracked sidewalk in front of the landowners' home or on the street in front of a residence.

Mark 'n' the Spot

By Mark Crist

But there's one other reason why the city council is connecting the dots and it's with a great deal of foresight. It's another one of those Catch 22 situations: It could easily be asserted that eventually, the federal government will mandate that all sidewalks be handicapped accessible. That may sound absurd but what about Congressional Resolutions saluting National Goat Day or laws that require states to establish speed limits and set seat-belt laws or lose highway funding.

PERHAPS THE city is looking out for our long-term interests. We may not agree with them and we may not like them but... Besides, where was the public a year ago when the proposal became law. After a law is passed, it's a little late to point a finger and say "you did this to me" when in all actuality we did it to ourselves. That's true in local, state and federal government.

You may ask yourselves what the third side of this issue is. The answer: not one council member voted against the 1992 law establishing the district improvements despite public outcry in opposition to it. In fact, one council member was snug enough (and entrenched deeply enough in his seat) to make a smart-alack comment quiet enough for only a few council members (and media) to hear. That was at the end of the meeting after everyone had left.

We can't help but wonder if Tuesday nights' TV lineup (or whatever other activities there were) isn't more important than sticking around a city council meeting to find out the whole story. We don't think so. Some, apparently, do.

We need to ask ourselves if we should continue to let government do the talking. Or is it time we should talk. That answer you must decide.

Messy situation

Board eyes runoff problem

An item which has been discussed between the Wayne County Commissioners and Highway Superintendent Sid Saunders appears to be in the spotlight again.

According to Saunders, a few feedlots in Wayne County are allowing waste to run into ditches along roadways and this problem is creating a headache for the county.

"It's not a severe problem but we're at a point where we have to do something," Saunders said in a telephone interview Tuesday after the meeting.

Apparently, there are a few feedlots in Wayne County which have runoff going into ditches. When it rains, flood waters bring the waste onto roadways and onto other individuals' properties. Saunders said when this occurs, the cleanup of the mess is becoming costly.

WHILE SAUNDERS would not say who some of the abusers are, he said some are bigger than others. He said he could think of a half-dozen sites in Wayne County which need cleaning up.

Saunders said the next step the board plans to take is to discuss the matter with the Wayne County Attorney and the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District. Once more information is gathered, the commissioners will establish a course of action.

"The board does intend to do something but at this time to say what that is would be premature," he said.

Saunders said one of the options is to ask feedlot owners to put in ponds, which would keep lot waste from harming the county's road right-of-way. He said other than that it is undetermined what the next step might be.

Other matters:

In other matters, the Wayne County Commissioners:

- Signed the Regional Juvenile Detention Facility agreement, approved by resolution at the April 7 meeting.
- Listened to Kerry Otte of KD Inn, who presented background information on a proposed 2 percent lodging tax.
- Heard a report from Highway Superintendent Sid Saunders about road right-of-way grass seeding. He was directed to prepare a request to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission for the seeding.
- Reviewed but took no action on a report on the proposed Vintage Hill Addition to the City of Wayne, located north of the new water tower.

Legislature's report card will be handed out in May 12 primary

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
LINCOLN — The Legislature has gone home for the summer, but they have yet to get their report card.

That will come May 12, when the voters go to the polls to decide on the proposed personal property tax solution senators passed. It's not very often that the voters get to decide whether the biggest bill passed by the Legislature in a year should be accepted or rejected.

That vote will pretty much determine whether the 49 senators and Governor Nelson failed or flunked this session. But a heck of a lot more than that could be riding on it.

For the uninitiated, Amendment 1 is intended to clarify the Legislature's ability to exempt some or all personal property. However, the issue is more rightfully being considered by many a referendum on the 3R tax plan passed by the Legislature.

The 3R plan—taxing farm and business machinery that is being depreciated by its net book value—needs Amendment 1 to pass before it can take effect.

Acceptance of the amendment may resolve this longtime tax mess, unless Supreme Court has something more to say.

Rejection will throw things back into uncertainty again. Some will be clamoring for Nelson to call the Legislature back into special session to keep the Supreme Court decision returning all personal property to the tax rolls from taking effect.

Nelson says he won't do it. He said all that does is continue a false hope that there is some better tax plan out there. Certainly there was no other one this past session that had the votes to pass.

The campaign is gearing up, and on its face it appears to be a one-sided one.

On one side is the pro-amendment group, a powerful combination of many business, ag and educational groups with hundreds of thousands of members statewide.

On the other side is a rather disorganized group of about 200 people called Save the Constitution and another small farm advocacy group.

But no one is saying this is over. There's a lot of invisible opposition out there: How complicated the issue is, a belief by many that there must be a "better plan" out there, Nebraska's general suspicion of constitution amendments, and general concern anytime somebody messes with their taxes.

It's such that most people think the opponents have the upper hand right now (a newspaper poll indicated as much) barring a major campaign from the other side, which we know is coming. We'll be giving you a lot more on that in the coming weeks.

The only other big news out of the final week of the Legislature was the passage of the seat belt bill, which was expected.

Also expected is a petition drive aimed at repealing that one, kind of a repeat performance of the 1986 repeal of the state's last seat belt law.

If the drive succeeds, voters might be able to decide whether they like that bill, too.

Those are about the two biggest bills in a session that was dominated by personal property taxes. Most other bills, including Governor Nelson's bill to reduce income taxes for the low-income folks, didn't see the light of day.

It was too bad for many Nebraskans that bill and some of the others didn't get through.

But then again, I've rarely heard anyone complain that the Legislature didn't pass enough bills.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

'Leaves of Grass' topic for next book discussion

The Wayne Public Library's next "Let's Talk About It" book discussion, scheduled May 13, will feature "Leaves of Grass" by Walt Whitman.

Librarian Jolene Klein said persons planning to participate in this third book discussion program are encouraged to pick up a copy of "Leaves of Grass" now at the library.

Leading the discussion will be Dr. Carol D. Peterson, who will portray Whitman during the chautauqua in Wayne next July.

WSC students fare well in competition

Students from the University of Nebraska-Omaha and Wayne State College were named winners of history presentations at the recently held University of South Dakota History Conference.

William B. Whisenhunt of the University of Nebraska-Omaha took first place honors in the graduate division with his presentation of "William Appleman Williams' Philosophy of History and Empire Thesis."

Susan Martens of Wayne State College won first place in the undergraduate division. She presented "The Dawn of Imperialism: The Effects of the Transatlantic Slave Trade on African Societies."

First-place winners received certificates of accomplishment and a book award.

CHICKEN BROILER/CEUE

- 1/4 cup salad oil
- 1/4 cup cooking sauteme
- 1/4 cup chicken broth
- 2 tbslp lemon juice
- 2 tbslp apple jelly
- 1 tsp salt    • 1/2 tsp m.s.g.
- 1 tsp parsley    • 1/2 tsp prepared mustard
- 1/2 tsp Worcestershire sauce
- dash celery seed, rosemary, and pepper
- 2 - 2 1/2 to 3 lb. broilers split lengthwise

Combine all ingredients except chicken and beat with rotary beater. Brush chicken with sauce and place bone side down on grill. Broil over slow coals turning occasionally and basting frequently 1 hour or till tender. When broiling chicken, baste frequently and if using a tomato base-sauce use only the last 20 minutes to prevent burning.

Excellent idea

Wayne resident Roy Sommerfeld came into the Wayne Herald with an excellent idea last week that would be good for community minds and civic organizations to consider.

He said with the success of the "Adopt a Highway" program, why not start an "Adopt a Street" program in Wayne. His philosophy was simple. On a regular basis, residents around Wayne are picking up garbage that blows into their yards from alleys and streets. This is especially true for residences on the outskirts of the city and residents who live off major highways.

While the citywide cleanup, conducted by the Wayne County Jaycees annually, is as successful as any program goes, why not make the extra effort on a regular basis to add to the beauty of our community? It makes sense and it would be worth the time.

According to Jaimie Stryker of the Nebraska Department of Roads office in Lincoln, the "Adopt a Highway" program originated when a district engineer in Texas thought this would be a great idea and it spread from that initial idea. From the start, the Texas official had to go to a main office and the program got started. That's something that could, and would, go over well in Wayne. The program in Nebraska started in 1990.

The best course of action would be to go to the city council with the idea. From there, someone could speak to various civic and neighborhood organizations. From there, we believe the idea would take off.

We hope Wayne will get behind a similar program to beautify our streets. We applaud Sommerfeld for his suggestion.

Good work

We'd like to take this opportunity, after this most recent snow storm, to give the city work crews a pat on the back for doing such a good job cleaning off the city's streets.

Street crews started cleaning off the city's roads around 4 a.m., a time when most of us were still wrapped in warm blankets and asleep. By 8 a.m., when most of us went to work, many of the sidewalks had already been swept and none were impassable.

We're lucky to live in a community where street crews are this dedicated to their work. There are some communities, perhaps even in Northeast Nebraska, where streets are only half cleaned and sidewalks are ignored. There are cities in this region of the nation which don't even bother with streets other than those which are main thoroughfares.

Wayne's street crews do an excellent job at cleaning off the streets and each time it snows, it's nothing short of amazing how good a job they do each time.

Good work to those crews. Keep it up.

Solving secrets of outstanding office assistants

News hounds are supposed to keep their nose to the ground to sniff out corruption, conspiracy and intrigue.

The Watergate era has been a lesson to newsmen everywhere to keep on the lookout for hidden agendas and expose them whenever we find them.

I found one!
Call the headline writers, tell them it's "secretary-gate."

Yep, it's National Professional Secretaries Week and the story I'm about to relate is of a bold and contemptible plot, which, but for my shrewd discovery, would have fairly succeeded. Indeed, it may already be too late to stop the forces which have been set in motion and are steaming full speed ahead on a sea of tranquil ignorance. (Never let a day go by without over using a poor metaphor.) When the ship docks our fate will be sealed. (Mrs. Livermore, my English teacher will be sending me a nasty gram about this).

What was I writing about? Oh, yes, secretaries.

Don't be fooled by that pleasant greeting you get from all secretaries when you stroll into any office. Don't be fooled by her helpful attitude and business-like appearance. Don't be fooled by that smile.

For there, sitting behind that desk with all the weapons of her profession (the telephone, computer terminal, file cabinet and intercom switch) sits a killer.

A professional secretary can kill a business with a single phone call. She can bring it back to life again with a single well-written letter. She has the ultimate power in the business world. Lawyers, insurance executives and corporate presidents are putty in her hands.

The really accomplished secretaries have learned all the foibles of every other executive with which their so call bosses deal. They learn these secrets from the other secretaries. They are masters at the deadly game of playing on these weaknesses. There are no secrets between the operatives in the secretarial world.

Executives can mark the next time a secretary comes in to ask for a raise and know that somewhere in town another secretary just got one. The rush is on for all of them then to ask at once.

"Secretary-gate" intrigue goes beyond the timing of raise requests, taking advantage of executive weaknesses and deciding which businesses grow and which ones die.

Did you ever try to call or get in to see an executive whose secretary thinks is important? You'd sooner get hand cart and a free pass to Ft. Knox.

But, if you have a secretary, have her call Mr. Important's secretary and viola! You get right in. Secretaries have the ultimate fraternity (or is it sorority?) complete with secret signs, coded messages and passwords transmittable over the phone. Two secretaries can carry on their coded conversations with their bosses listening and the guys really think they are talking about computer ribbon prices.

Not only have they developed this powerful secret society, but they went out and hired a good public relations firm to build a positive image for secretaries and force their bosses to buy them flowers and take them to lunch.

Someone, somewhere, (probably a secretary for a calendar manufacturer) has designated Wednesday, April 22 as National Professional Secretaries' Day. Since Wednesday is golf day for many executives, another secretary came along and unilaterally designated the whole week as National Secretaries' Week. It also happens to be National Lingerie Week, National Coin Week, National YWCA Week, National Week of the Ocean, National Egg Salad Week and National Reading Is Fun Week.

But, obviously, the secretaries get, and deserve top billing.

Bosses have tried to counter this conspiracy by establishing National Bosses Day, but their efforts have paled by comparison. Were they submarined by their secretaries?

Executives everywhere were buying flowers for their secretaries this week, blithely surrendering to the plot. And, woe unto those bosses who forget.

A secretary scorned is the worst kind of business killer.

Vote no on May 12

On May 12 you will be asked to vote on Constitutional Amendment 1. Per Governor Nelson's legal department you would need 29 years of education to fully understand what it says. In simple terms, if you vote yes, you will give our state senators power which they have never had before — to vote personal property however they please at the time, as long as the tax was "reasonable". Who's definition of "reasonable" do we use?

The Constitutional Amendment was worded so that Governor Nelson's tax law LB 1063, which was quoted as saying "stinks," would be constitutional.

LB 1063 increased the overall tax on agriculture $8 million with virtually no relief to the average home owner's real estate taxes.

The railroads started out paying $10 million, then $5.5 million under LB 1063, and then their tax was reduced another million in a true last minute deal after threatening a lawsuit. A yes vote on Constitutional Amendment 1 will let the Legislature change all of this again next year, however they please.

The Nebraska Legislature is trending from conservative rural control to liberal urban control. Do we want to give a simple majority of senators, 25, the power to do what they please? Maybe next year they will see fit to tax agriculture an additional $20 or $30 million, or so.

You will soon be "bombarded" with a huge advertising campaign sponsored by 25 large interest groups. They will tell you that you must vote yes for Constitutional Amendment 1. Governor Nelson is trying to blackmail us into voting yes by saying the only other option is to tax all personal property and inventory. There are other options. Governor Nelson is playing poker (with a big bluff) saying there would be no special session to fix the tax mess correctly if Nebraskans say no to the Constitutional amendment. In reality, the citizens and business people of Nebraska would demand and get a special session.

Will your vote be swayed by the $300,000 advertising campaign and Governor Nelson's "blackmail"? Will you vote to give our state senators new taxing powers?

Vote no to blackmail. Vote no on Constitutional Amendment 1.

Trend surprising

The recent story on single parenting reflects a trend in our society that can only be a cause for alarm for anyone concerned about the welfare of children. When the percentage of children born in single parent households increased from 9 percent in 1960 (which I suspect is far higher than 1950 percentages) to 22 percent in 1982, projections would indicate that the number today could run as high as 30-40 percent. When we consider that the percentage of single parents in the ghettos of Los Angeles or St. Louis runs somewhere over 80 percent, and that those areas are the ones most seriously afflicted by drive-by shootings and other forms of gang violence, it looks like we are not many years removed from those same problems.

Many educators and child welfare workers who are struggling with how to cope with these problems of crime and violence, are discovering that these youthful gang members are expressing a great deal of anger and hostility toward the parent who often abandoned them before birth, and are finding a sense of belonging and responsibility in the gang that they have not experienced from the adults in their lives.

The marches crusading for a woman's right to an abortion, and those crusading against abortion, as well as the woman who assumes the responsibility to be a single parent, all have a common shortcoming. Each is reacting to a symptom rather than a cause. With the advent of relatively successful contraceptives, females and males are being duped into believing that each can enjoy the freedom of complete sexual expression, without any personal responsibility. If there is a contraceptive failure, each may blame the other. The fact seems to elude them, that even a 1 percent failure rate of contraceptives will produce a 100 percent pregnancy. Our society seems to infer that it is a mark of maturity to be sexually active. Since very few humans are physically unable to have a sexual relationship, we're attaching an undue importance upon this relationship. Far more important is becoming a person who is able to love and cherish another, and put the welfare of another ahead of self-gratification. A man can give his child a great gift by loving the mother of his child, and assuming responsibility for nurturing that child to adulthood. A strong father figure gives a child a great sense of security.

'Honorable' thieves

Last Tuesday night another thief entered Wayne homes and robbed some of them of thousands of dollars, only this time the perpetrator will not be held accountable or justice done; on the contrary, he sits in a place of "honor."

On April 9, the City Administrator sent out notices to Wayne residents in an area east of Main Street from 3rd to 7th streets and Logan to Walnut, an area of mostly older, smaller homes, for "sidewalk replacement and repair" for which the city would pay 50 percent. However, the letter also stated new sidewalk would be built at a 100 percent cost to the homeowner. I have a corner lot home at 5th and Logan with an 80-foot sidewalk all along the front. The lot on the 5th street side is very long — at least half a block — and there is sidewalk all along the north side of the street, the same length of which is shared by two homeowners.

The city council and administrator decided to "connect the dots" in a neat aerial map and decreed that over 100 feet of unnecessary, unwanted sidewalk shall be built on my property totally at my expense, with no monetary help from the city, and without my consent. To my mind, the necessary repairs to an existing sidewalk are more the responsibility of the homeowner than the arbitrary decision to add unnecessary new sidewalk. There is a distinction to be made between making necessary repairs, which is good and worthy, and unnecessary and enormously expensive additions totally at the owner's expense, which is unfair and absurd. I already have 80 feet of public sidewalk. Where is it written that all side streets must have sidewalk on both sides? I have been to dozens of cities where this is certainly not so in residential areas of all kinds.

The "new" sidewalk project is a small percentage of the whole project, but an enormous, sudden and unexpected burden on me personally and financially. The council is unfairly requiring a few homeowners to pay 100 percent of a large amount when they should at least be given the same 50 percent break as the broken sidewalk owners, whose property pose a hazard; mine does not. The city should be willing to share the same amount for the whole project since the "new" is a small percentage of the whole, it could not make as much of a difference to the city budget as it does to mine.

In these hard economic times, money can be better spent than on unnecessary projects which will benefit one individual — a contractor. Last fall, I had to replace a large portion of my leaking roof and make other costly repairs to the outside of my home, but at least this was my decision. Had I known I would be "surprised" a few months later with a project in the thousands of dollars, I would have lived with the leaky roof. I badly need new carpeting in the living-dining room area of my home. There is no other flooring and the rug is worn through with holes. I was planning to buy the carpet at Carhart's. Now I will have to live with the old since the money has to go for the city's will. I will no longer be able to shop occasionally at the store owned by yet another city council member. These and the other council members showed no mercy at the public "informational" meeting on April 14 for imposing a project that causes great hardship on certain homeowners, who should be getting the same percentage of help as those whose sidewalks pose a hazard, a percentage of help which my tax dollars also go. My own property improvement plans, which would mean dollars for Wayne businesses, will have to be abandoned so all the city administrator's lines can be neatly connected. Real people are involved here who have suddenly been forced into real economic hardship with a city council of Big Brothers forcing people to pay Big Bucks with no help from the city for its project. What kind of place do we live in whose leaders can rob people and get away scot free?

Determining progress

I write this letter with great distress. It is quite obvious to you and all other residents of the Wayne area that our so-called progress on the east side of Wayne has left our community with a horrible loss. Now I, like most other forward thinking individuals, would applaud the influx of additional business for the growing Wayne economy. But I have no understanding or tolerance for the useless destruction of old growth trees such as the ones removed by the construction crews this past week. I do not feel I have to sit here and lecture about the rapid degradation of trees both in suburban and rural areas throughout Nebraska. It should be quite apparent that we are rapidly destroying the gift of trees our forefathers planted when they first settled this area. Yet, I would like to know who had control of that massive spruce tree and who could be so foolish to allow its death. If it was the corporation that purchased the site, I cannot believe the tree would not have been an asset to the location rather than a nuisance. If it was the contractor, I cannot believe they would even suggest the removal of that tree unless they were unconcerned about the environment and the approaching traffic from the east. And finally, I do not see how anyone could sit behind the controls of a machine, and with the mere thrust of a hydraulic lever, wipe out decades of growth. It is quite obvious that no one associated with the project is aware of the wealth of information available for the preservation of trees during construction. Unfortunately no one had the foresight or the courage to take a stand so that tree might stand. The bottom line is, if no one else in the Wayne area cares about the loss of this tree and others, I am afraid this community is long past the point of appealing to future business and potential residents.

The whole story

The children of my home day care and I want to thank The Wayne Herald for printing the picture of our Easter tree that the children decorated themselves. They were so proud of their handy-work.

Now for the rest of the story. Early in the week prior to Easter (Holy Week), some person(s) chose to help themselves to all of the bunnies and several of the eggs. This is something that these children cannot understand. They ask every day if the bunnies and eggs were brought back. I don't want the bunnies and eggs returned, but I would like for the person(s) responsible, to come to my house and explain to these children why they took their Easter tree decorations.

Baseball team spends Easter in Denver with seven-game stand

Lenny Klaver's Wayne State baseball team spent a long Easter weekend in the Rocky Mountain state of Colorado, playing seven games in four days.

The Wildcats played Denver University in two games on Friday with Denver winning the opener, 4-3 in nine innings but WSC bounced back to win the nightcap, 9-5.

In the first game Jeff Lutt was credited with the pitching loss in relief of Jeff Gohr. Gohr pitched the first six innings and gave up two runs on eight hits and one walk while striking out four. Lutt pitched the final two innings and gave up two runs on two hits and five walks while striking out two.

The Wildcats led 2-1 heading to the bottom of the seventh before Denver reached first base on a walk. The next batter sacrificed the runner to second base and he later tied the game on a wild pitch by Lutt.

In the bottom of the ninth inning Denver pitcher John Uglov singled in the winning run. Denver finished with four runs on 10 hits and one error while WSC had three runs on eight hits and one error.

Shane Kober led the 'Cats offensive attack with three singles while Troy Test had a pair of singles.

In the second game Troy Parrott raised his season pitching record to 4-1 as the 'Cats won a 9-5 decision. Parrott went the distance and allowed five runs on seven hits and six walks while striking out six.

Denver led 2-0 until the top of the fourth inning when WSC scored three runs. The 'Cats then added five more in the fifth inning before scoring once in the seventh to finish with nine runs on nine hits and two errors while Denver had five runs on seven hits and three errors.

Cory Reeder and Troy Test were the only players with multiple hits as each enjoyed 3-hit performances with two singles and a double.

On Good Friday the Wildcats lost a pair of games to Regis College of Denver. In the opener the visitors were defeated 12-2 while dropping the nightcap, 8-7.

Larry Ballinger took the loss in game one after pitching two and one third innings and allowing eight runs on five hits and four walks while striking out two.

Denver scored three times in the first inning and they added one in the second, four in the third, three in the fourth and one in the sixth while WSC scored both its runs in the fourth inning.

WSC finished with two runs on seven hits and one error while Regis had 12 runs on 12 hits and two errors. Troy Test had a single and a double to pace WSC while Jeff Schneider had two singles.

In the second game the 'Cats held a 7-5 lead going to the bottom of the seventh inning before giving up three runs to lose by one. Jeff Gohr took the pitching loss in relief of Jeff Schneider who went six innings and allowed seven runs on six hits and eight walks while striking out two.

WSC finished with seven runs on 11 hits and no errors while Denver had eight runs on eight hits and four errors.

Brent Cameron led WSC's offense with two singles and a triple while Travis Nedved had a double and a triple. Cory Reeder and Rick Roberts each doubled and singled and Chris Jones hit a pair of singles.

WSC loses on Easter
On Easter Sunday the Wildcats dropped a pair of games to Metro State of Denver by the scores of 14-7, & 18-6. In the first game WSC jumped out to a 5-0 lead after the first inning but Metro State answered with five runs in the third inning to tie the game at six each.

The host team then blasted WSC with eight, fourth inning runs to blow the game open as Mike Stauffer took the pitching loss. Denver had 14 runs on 14 hits and one error while WSC had seven runs on 15 hits and three errors.

Chris Jones was the offensive catalyst for the 'Cats with a 4-4 outing that included two doubles and two singles. Rusty Hamer laced three singles while Jeff Schneider belted a single and a triple. Cory Reeder singled and doubled and Rick Roberts singled twice.

Wayne State was virtually never in the second game as Metro State led 8-1 after three innings. Even when the Wildcats attempted a rally with five, fourth inning runs, the host team answered with six runs in the bottom of the fourth for a 14-6 advantage.

Metro State pounded out 13 hits in the game while scoring 18 runs and suffering one error while WSC had six runs on seven hits and three errors while Jon Janssen was taking the pitching loss. Shane Kober had the only WSC highlights with a single and a triple.

The long road trip for the 'Cats ended on a positive note Monday afternoon against Regis as WSC blasted the host team, 13-3. Jeff Gohr got the pitching victory to raise his record to 7-3.

Jeff Lutt came in for relief in the final three innings to earn the save. WSC led 5-0 after three and one half innings before Regis scored twice. The 'Cats scored once in the sixth and added four more in the eighth before closing out the game with three runs in the ninth inning.

WSC finished with 13 runs on 22 hits and no errors while Regis had three runs on eight hits and three errors. Shane Kober led the Wildcat hitting parade with a five-hit performance with two doubles and three singles.

Troy Test hit two singles while Cory Reeder blasted a home run. Travis Nedved and Chris Jones each connected for triples while Rusty Hamer doubled.

WSC returned home Monday night with a 21-18 record. The scheduled game with Briar Cliff at home on Wednesday night was cancelled due to wet fields.

Wildcat softball team wins two games in Kearney tournament

The Wayne State women's softball team competed at the Wimmer's Lady Loper Invitational in Kearney on Friday and Saturday and Dan Pollard's crew split their four games to push the season record to 23-19.

The 'Cats opened up tourney play on Friday against the Air Force and WSC defeated the Colorado based college, 11-7. Alex Ross won her ninth game from the mound after going the distance and giving up seven runs on six hits while walking two and striking out three.

WSC finished with 11 runs on just seven hits and seven errors while Air Force suffered eight errors. Dee Henningsen was the only batter with more than one hit with two singles and two stolen bases while Jenny Reuland doubled.

Marti Hunt and Carla Gilbertson each belted 2-run singles while Jeni Umbach and Renee Miller each singled. WSC fell behind 1-0 after the first inning but answered with two runs in the second and four in the third for a 6-1 advantage.

Air Force scored six of its own in the bottom of the fourth inning to go ahead 7-6 but WSC scored twice in each of the fifth and sixth innings and added one more in the seventh while holding Air Force scoreless in the last three innings.

In the second game on Friday the 'Cats defeated Dana, 10-8 as Michelle Harris got the pitching victory. WSC scored four times in the first inning before adding one in the second, third and fourth innings. The 'Cats added three more in the sixth.

WSC finished with 10 runs on 15 hits and six errors while Dana had eight runs on 15 hits and three errors. "The difference in the Dana contest was that we were more aggressive on the base paths," Pollard said. "We stole eight bases on them which put us in scoring position."

Jill Gengler led the WSC offense with a triple and a single while Miller blasted a double and a single. Henningsen, Jenna Flesner, Umbach, Reuland and Hunt each laced a pair of singles while Miller notched one base hit.

"We really played gritty and determined those first two games," Pollard said. "On Saturday the weather was gloomy and so was our spirits which is how we played."

The 'Cats fell 4-0 to Kansas Wesleyan of Salina, Kan., in the first game Saturday. Jenny Nieland was given the pitching loss after relieving Kelly Sheaff who went the first five innings and struck out six while walking five.

Kansas Wesleyan scored four in the first inning and finished with four runs on six hits and no errors while WSC had no runs on four hits and one error. Flesner, Umbach, Hunt and Miller each had base hits to account for WSC's four hits.

In the final game of the tournament Wayne State lost 3-1 to St. Mary of the Plains. Sheaff took the pitching loss. St. Mary finished with three runs on six hits and no errors while WSC had one run on seven hits and one error.

Pollard signs four from Rocky Mountain state

For Wayne State College head softball coach Dan Pollard, the Rocky Mountain gold rush is just beginning.

The third-year coach recently added four Aurora, Colorado natives to his 1992 recruiting class.

"The talent base in Aurora has virtually been untapped," Pollard said. "We feel very fortunate to have developed a great working relationship with the competitive coaches in the Aurora area."

Aurora products Lori Foster and Mary Ellen Livingston and North Platte native Alicia Perez will continue their academic and athletic careers at WSC.

The trio join Aurora natives Christen McIntosh and Casey Parker in rounding out the 1992 recruiting class. McIntosh and Parker signed letters of intent during the NCAA's early signing period.

Foster was an all-state and two-time all-conference shortstop at Gateway High School. She hit .355 last season and was a perfect 17-17 in stolen base attempts.

The 'Cats led 1-0 until the fourth inning when St. Mary scored twice. Henningsen and Hunt each had two singles to lead the Wildcat offense while Flesner, Gilbertson and Michele Reinhardt each singled.

"On Saturday we just played without emotion," Pollard said. "We are a team that plays well when we're emotionally charged."

WSC's games scheduled Tuesday against Nebraska Wesleyan in Wayne were cancelled due to the snow storm and will not be made up. Pollard also said that Thursday's twinbill with Briar Cliff has been cancelled as well.

WSC will attempt to play in the St. Mary's of Omaha Tournament on Friday and Saturday before closing out the regular season on Saturday, May 2 with a home double-header against Kearney.

"Lori brings immediate help to both the 'Cats offensive and defensive needs," Pollard said. "Although she is a true shortstop, Lori can play anywhere. She's an exceptionally quick and aggressive player who turned down Division I offers to attend WSC."

Livingston was an honorable mention all-state and two-time all-conference pitcher at Pomona High School.

"Mary Ellen comes from a great competitive program where she has developed tremendous technical skills," Pollard said. "Her poise and tournament experience should allow her to compete immediately."

Perez, a left-handed outfielder, hit .360 and was a perfect 21-21 in stolen base attempts last summer for the North Platte Sensations.

"Alicia is a left-handed slap hitter which is greatly needed by the 'Cats," Pollard said. "Her tremendous speed will enhance the Wildcats already aggressive style."

Wildcat golfers shoot best score

Miller, Skokan join list of Winside EMT's

The Winside Volunteer Rescue Squad recently acquired two more emergency medical technicians (EMT's) with the completion of an 81-hour EMT training class.

Receiving certification were Myron Miller, president of the Winside Fire Department, and Don Skokan, current training officer for the department.

The course was held in Pierce and taught by Alta and Barry Marsh, certified EMT instructors from Tilden. The 81 hours of training included 10 hours of in-hospital training which was taken at the United Methodist Hospital in Omaha.

WINSIDE presently has 24 volunteer fire fighters, including 14 certified EMT's. Dean Hansen is in the process of taking the 81-hour course which will bring the squad of Winside EMT's up to 15 upon his completion.

All emergency calls for the Winside Fire and Rescue Squad are taken by the Wayne Police Department. The department then activates hand held pagers carried by all Winside fire fighters.

"We are all on call 24 hours a day," said Miller, adding that anyone who can respond does when a call comes in. "We have a four minute response time and we usually have as many as eight or nine people show up."

Miller said that if no one reports back to the Wayne Police Department within those four minutes, the pagers are once again activated. "This system seems to work very well in our community."

Winside's emergency medical number is 286-4436.

Wayne High senior earns Eagle Scout

Leon M. Brasch, the son of Keith and Imogene Brasch, will receive his Eagle Scout at a Court of Honor on Sunday, April 26 at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne at 3 p.m.

He joined Cub Scout Pack 174 in 1984 and he joined Boy Scout Troop 174 in 1985. Leon has held the troop offices of assistant patrol leader and instructor. He is also a member of the Leadership Corps.

During his scouting years, Leon has participated in the following troop trips: Ben Delatour Scout Ranch in Colorado; Itasca State Park in Minnesota; Yellowstone National Park and Charles L. Sommers Wilderness Canoe Base in Ely, Minn.

For his Eagle Scout Service Project, Leon organized and worked to clean up LaPorte cemetery after ice storms damaged the trees. He also removed shrubs and plum thickets that had grown over the grave markers and repaired markers in need of work.

Leon is a senior at Wayne High School and a member of the First United Methodist Church. His other activities include Civil Air Patrol, Methodist Youth group, football, wrestling and track. He is a member of the Wayne National Guard and plans to attend Wayne State in the fall.

Leon would like to thank each of you for attending his court of honor and also to thank everyone who has, in any way, helped him reach his goal of Eagle Scout.

Local youth receives Eagle Scout award

Brian C. Brasch, the son of Keith and Imogene Brasch, will receive his Eagle Scout at a Court of Honor Sunday, April 26 at the Wayne First United Methodist Church at 3 p.m.

Brian started his scouting career in the fourth grade with Cub Scout Pack 221 and joined Boy Scout Troop 174 in 1986. He has held the troop offices of quartermaster, instructor, assistant patrol leader and he is in the Leadership Corps.

During his scouting years, Brian has participated in the following troop trips: Itasca State Park in Minnesota; Cap Cedars near Fremont, Ben Delatour Scout Ranch in Colorado; Charles L. Sommers Wilderness canoe Base in Ely, Minn.; and Packard High Adventure Camp in Colorado.

For his Eagle Scout Service Project, Brian organized and planted the flower garden at 2nd and Main Street and cared for it through the summer.

Brian is a junior at Wayne High School and a member of the First United Methodist Church. His other activities include football, baseball and Methodist Youth

Brian C. Brasch

Group. Brian is also employed at Quality Foods.

Brian would like to thank all the leaders, teachers, fellow scouts and friends who have helped and encouraged him on his path to becoming an Eagle Scout.

Music boosters planning pizza party

WAYNE - The Wayne High School Music Boosters will hold their annual honors banquet Monday, April 27 at 6:30 p.m. Included in the party will be the recognition of honors.

Tickets are $3 for everyone attending, excluding Wayne High School music students, who get to eat for free.

Featured entertainment for the party will be the local band Glass Bottom Isle.

For more information, contact Wayne High School at 375-3150.

Hospice volunteer classes start April 27

WAYNE - Northeast Community College and Community Care Hospice Group will offer volunteer training classes April 27, May 4, 11 and 18 at Providence Medical Center.

Class times will be from 7-10 p.m. The classes cover a broad introduction to the hospice concept, interpersonal communication, palliative care, the grief process, spiritual care and burial preparation.

To pre-register, call 375-1628 or 375-5467. The cost is $15.

Workshop set in Neligh

The Nebraska State Historical Society Field Services Division announced a free workshop on managing photographic collections in Neligh May 7 from 1 to 4 p.m. The workshop is scheduled at the Resource Center (old Carnegie Library), Main Street between 6th and 7th in Neligh.

Deb McWilliams, Society Field Services Coordinator, said the workshop will cover collection evaluation, arrangement and processing, creation of photographic indexes and preservation.

"Over the last two decades photographs have grown in importance to museums and historical societies. They are time machines—windows on the past that allow us to look back and see life as it was before," McWilliams said.

"As the size of collections have grown they have become less manageable. The workshop will deal with the concerns of managing photographs, both as carriers of information and as artifacts," she said.

McWilliams said the Antelope County Historical Society will host the workshop. She said the workshop is free but pre-registration is required. Registration forms may be obtained by writing the Nebraska State Historical Society, P.O. Box 82554, Lincoln, Nebraska, 68501 or by calling toll free 1-800/833-6747. An outline of the day's activities and travel directions will be mailed to all registrants. Registration deadline is April 24, 1992.

Arbor Day an important event in Nebraska's history, official says

Although Nebraskan J. Sterling Morton is known as the father of Arbor Day, the state's connection with organized tree planting actually goes back much further, said Dennis Adams, forester at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Southeast Research and Extension Center.

Adams said the first recorded tree planting in the state was by squatter G.B. Lore. But it wasn't long before more organized efforts were being promoted.

The state's, or rather the territory's, first official encouragement of tree planting was so successful that it almost bankrupted the government, Adams said.

"In 1861 the Nebraska Territorial Legislature provided a real estate tax exemption of $50 an acre for every acre of land planted to trees," Adams explained. "So many settlers used this exemption to offset their entire tax liability that the territory nearly went broke. So the law was repealed in 1864."

Tax shelters aside, the early settlers' enthusiasm for trees is easy to understand, he said. The settlers came from Europe and the eastern United States, where trees and even forests were the rule, not the exception. The plains were then virtually treeless, a result of interactions among climate, frequent prairie fires and other factors.

"Early explorers such as Steven Long took the lack of trees as an indication of infertility and barrenness," Adams said. "They labeled the plains 'The Great American Desert' and recommended against settlement."

The settlers came any way. Planting trees was a way of making the alien landscape more familiar, as well as providing protection and beauty, Adams said. Often the first sod broken on a new homestead was for tree planting, with the fragile seedlings transported miles from the nearest watercourse large enough to support a scant growth of timber along its banks.

Tree planting really picked up steam in 1873 when the Burlington Railroad began a planting program along its right-of-way to create a living snow fence. More than 560,000 trees were planted. The federal Timber Culture Act of 1873 also was passed. The act gave an additional 160 acres of land and other benefits to settlers who planted 40 and later only 10 acres of trees, the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist pointed out.

Morton, editor of the Nebraska

City News and president of the State Board of Agriculture, meanwhile had been using both of his positions to vigorously promote tree planting, Adams said. In 1872 he introduced a resolution establishing a tree-planting day across the state to be known as "Arbor Day," drawing the name from his estate near Nebraska City, "Arbor Lodge." More than 1 million trees were planted on the first Arbor Day.

The idea caught on and in 1885 the Legislature made Arbor Day a state holiday and set Morton's birthday, April 22, as the official date. The holiday now is observed on the last Friday of April, the 24th this year. Every other state and several other countries also observe the holiday, although the date varies to coincide with proper local tree-planting seasons, he said.

"With all the encouragement, Nebraska had 1 million acres of planted trees by 1963, or about one acre per resident at that time," he said. "This was still less than 2 percent of the state's total area."

Adams said that despite the state's past success, tree planting remains important, if not for today, then for the future.

"Planting trees for the next generation is everyone's responsibility," he concluded. "As Mr. Morton once said, 'So every man, woman and child shall be able to say, on coming as I have, towards the evening of life, in all sincerity and truth, if you seek my monument, look around you.'"

Officials testing sirens Friday

WAYNE - The City of Wayne will conduct the monthly testing of the Civil Defense Outdoor warning system at 11:45 a.m. Friday, April 24.

Each siren will be tested separately and all signals will be tested in the silent mode with the exception of the public address system. A short oral message will be given at this time to test the effectiveness of the system.

Immediately following the tests of the outdoor system, the city will test the Cablevision Emergency Alert System. This will mean disruption of both the audio and video programming of every TV set on the cablevision system that is in use. The test will last approximately 15 seconds.

TOWN TWIRLERS

The Town Twirlers met for their Easter dance, Sunday, April 19 at 8 p.m. at the Laurel City Auditorium. Eleven squares of dancers from ten area clubs danced to the calling of Lanny Weakland of Omaha.

Clubs retrieving their banner were the Leather's & Lace of Norfolk and the Single Wheeler's of Norfolk. The Town & Country Squares of Hartington captured our club banner.

Hosting for the dance were Alan and Evelyn Trube, Allen; John and Maxine Book, Ponca and Roger and Elaine Saul, Wayne. Greeter's were Verlan and Vickie Hingst of Allen.

Election of officers for 1992-93 was conducted. Merlin and Kay Saul were advanced to president. Chester and Doris Marotz were elected vice president and Melvin and Joye Magnuson will serve as treasurer. Retiring officers are Henry and Violet Arp and Kermit and Joann Benshoof. The new officers will assume their responsibilities in September.

Our next dance will be May 3, Mother's Day Dance, with Connie Logsdon of Sioux City, Iowa as caller.

The Federation Spring Festival Dance will be held at the Wayne City Auditorium, April 24 at 8 p.m. Ron Schroeder of Creighton and Dean Clyde of O'Neill doing the calling.

The Wayne Herald, Thursday, April 23, 1992 9
Videoconference on tap
Fund raisers invited to attend conference

The first of three videoconferences for fund raisers of not-for-profit organizations will be presented Wednesday, April 29 at 11 a.m. at Western Iowa Technical Community College in Sioux City. The conference is sponsored by Western Iowa Tech and the Siouxland Chapter of the National Society of Fund Raising Executives (NSFRE).

The conference will cover successful strategies for locating sources of funds, preparing a proposal and a budget, and planning and implementing a special event. "This is a dynamic, interactive, professional development opportunity for anyone involved in the financial future of a non-profit organization," says Wayne E. Groner, NSFRE chapter president and vice president for development and executive director of the Wayne State Foundation, Wayne State College, Wayne, Nebraska.

"The series will give energy, insights, ideas and inspiration to those who seek funds for health care, human services, religion, performing arts, museums and associations," says Groner. Among those who should attend the series are staff, volunteers, board members, grant makers, direct-mail professionals, consultants, community and corporate leaders.

The series is called "Where's the Money?" and is sponsored nationally by the Public Broadcasting Service and by The Funding Center, a not-for-profit fund-raising organization.

The second videoconference in September will be on foundation grants and the third one in December will be on corporate giving. Western Iowa Tech will give credit of .75 Continuing Education Units to each person attending all three sessions.

Each videoconference is from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and includes refreshments at 10:30 a.m. and lunch at 1:15 p.m. Registration is $33 per person per session or $75 per person for all three sessions. The fee includes refreshments and lunch.

To register or for further information, please write or call Western Iowa Technical Community College, 4647 Stone Avenue, Sioux City, Iowa 51102-0265, at (712) 274-6307 or toll-free in Iowa (800) 352-4649.

SCHOOL BOARD

The Wakefield school hired new maintenance personnel this week to replace Bob Miner and Marvin Paulson, who are both retiring. Mike Benson accepted one of the positions as bus maintenance and a regular bus route driver and Dwight VanderVeen accepted the second position of school maintenance and kindergarten bus route driver. VanderVeen will start his duties on May 11 and Benson is scheduled to begin working on June 1.

Announcement of the hirings was made by Superintendent Derwin Hartman following a discussion with the Board of Education during their regular meeting on April 13.

Superintendent Derwin Hartman reported that parent attendance at the spring parent-teacher conferences was 98 percent for the elementary and 74 percent for the secondary. A letter was read from the North Central Accreditation Association stating that Wakefield Schools has been accredited for the upcoming school year with no violations of the association's standards.

The board adopted the calendar for the 1992-93 school year.

Athletic Director Gregg Cruickshank reviewed expenditures and receipts of the athletic department for the current year and discussed the 1992-93 proposed budget. Among the clothing purchased for the upcoming year are maroon football jerseys, and track uniforms. The board voted to purchase Sonoya volleyball standards which will be installed during summer vacation.

Dennis Wilbur visited with the board about the summer driver's education curriculum and answered questions from the board members.

In other action the board approved the nursing, special education and gifted consultant contracts with Educational Service Unit I. An extra personal day with loss of pay was approved for Lisa Newton and Val Bard's request for horizontal movement on the pay schedule.

Ron Wenstrand reported that the board and teacher negotiation teams have had one formal meeting and added that the next meeting was scheduled for Thursday, April 23.

The board approved the purchase and installation of a rear door for the bus barn from Dale Paulson.

Mike Salmon, Chairman of the building and grounds committee, presented a letter to the board from the Gardner Foundation which dealt with its position on a future athletic field. The board discussed the proposal and tabled it for further consideration.

ARBOR DAY PROGRAM

Arbor Day will be observed in Wakefield with a program at the school today (Thursday) sponsored by the Tree Board. The program will involve the elementary students and is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m. in the auditorium. All interested citizens of the Wakefield community are also invited and encouraged to attend.

Words of welcome and other comments will come from the Tree Board. Superintendent Derwin Hartman will introduce sixth grade students who will read their essays on the topic of trees.

Guest speaker will be Larry Wetterberg, conservationist with the Wayne Soil Conservation office. Wetterberg will also present Wakefield with the Tree City USA and Growth Awards.

Following the program indoors, those present will go out onto the school grounds and witness the planting of a Red Oak to replace one which was broken off by the ice storm last fall.

Closing remarks will be made by a school representative.

Upon returning to their classroom the sixth grade students will receive a Blue Spruce seedling and a record pamphlet. The trees will be presented to the students by a representative of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District for the youth to plant at home or place of their choice.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN

Co-moderator Linda Paul welcomed everyone to the Presbyterian Women's meeting and thanked Sylvia Mallum for hosting the meeting. Margaret Patterson gave the devotion.

Mission Opportunities Chairman, Margaret Patterson reported that the materials needed for the assignment have been purchased and work will soon start on the projects. The Christian Education report included a reminder that Mothers Day, May 10 will also be confirmation Sunday, along with communion and a potluck dinner to follow the morning worship service. An invitation to the Executive Presbyterian, Roger Harp, has been extended. Coordinator and Involvement Chairman Eleanor Park will see to the Easter flowers for the shut-ins and care center residents. JoAnn Sharp will look into a date for hosting the Wakefield Health Care Center bingo. Courtesy chairman Nora Linder reported on the luncheon served for the family of Laura Mavis.

Correspondence included reading a letter from Lois Hansen, PWPH Moderator, concerning the upcoming area gathering. Kathy Potter thanked Linda Paul for taking over the past few month's meetings for her. An invitation from the Thurston Presbyterian Women inviting the group to listen to Fern Norris was read. The date is April 29 at 7 p.m. in the Thurston Legion Hall. The sign up sheet will be on the church bulletin board door.

A report on World Day of Prayer Services was given.

Under new business, it was again decided to give a monetary gift to the post prom committee. It was decided to continue with the present Bible study during meetings. Patsy Wolff accepted the chairmanship of the Memorial Day breakfast planning committee for this year. The May Presbyterian Women luncheon time was changed from 12:30 p.m. to noon. It was also voted to buy two new 36-cup coffee makers.

Of interest to members of the church was a photograph discovered by Bud and Donna Boeckenhauer showing a very early picture of the church. A copy or two will hopefully be made for the church history books.

Anniversary wishes were extended to Ed and Millie Schnasse and Bob and Linda Paul for 40 years of married life. Birthday greetings went to Peg Kinney, Ruth Oetken and Sid Preston and in memory of Viola Patterson.

Margaret Patterson, Linda Paul and Ruth Oetken presented a program on Presbyterian Women Mission opportunities. Lunch was served.

The GOLDEN YEARS

by Pat Slichty

Twenty-eight people gathered at Medford, New Jersey, to take turns bungee-jumping out of a hot air balloon. Volunteering to go first was G. Stockton Strawbridge, Philadelphia civic leader and retired department store chairman. Told that a previous jumper at the site was 62, he announced: "Well, I'm 77." Said Mrs. Strawbridge: "He's been doing this kind of thing all his life and it's too late to stop him." How did it feel to dive through the air at the end of a 150-foot elastic bungee cord? "Pleasure, pure pleasure," Strawbridge said.

The National Senior Sports Classic continues to grow, thanks to increasing numbers of Americans over 55 and greater interest in exercise and sports. More than 5,000 men and women finalists competed in the 1991 Classic in Syracuse, New York, in events ranging from tennis to basketball and a 10K run. Participation is expected to double when the biennial Classic is staged in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, in 1993.

Remember when? May 11, 1931 — Soviet dictator Josef Stalin appointed Andrei Vyshinsky as prosecutor for trials that would lead to execution of thousands of citizens suspected of opposing Stalin.

USING VAPOR TO TREAT COLDS

According to the Journal of the American Medical Association, a study was made using heated humidified air and unheated humidified air to treat colds. Both groups, those using the heated air and those using the unheated air, thought it helped. However, the study did show that nasal drainage, congestion and sneezing actually did improve more with the unheated air.

ARBOR DAY EVENTS

A correction for school notes... the newspapers collected during the month of March at the school in the kindergarten room with proceeds going to the Allen Historical tree fund was a project of all students of the school, not just the kindergarten class. The collection of papers was made in their room. The only individual class which purchased a tree was the eighth grade, class of '96 as they saw the clipping in the newspaper last year as part of their study of "Newspaper in Education" week and were interested in the Historical tree project and made plans to purchase a tree of their own. A special Arbor Day program will be held at the school on Friday at which a special program is planned and presentation of certificates of Authenticity to contributing groups to the Historical Tree Project. The program will include a presentation of Johnny Applesed by Alice Dietz of Norfolk; a brief summary of Arbor Day and importance of tree planting by one of the Forestry Dept. men from the Northeast Center near Concord. Recognition of the contribution groups who donated; they are Allen Public School Class of 1996, President Thomas Jefferson Silver maple, Allen Community Development Club, they also gave a "How-To-Kit" telling us what to do. A "Columbus White Oak" by the 1991-92 students and staff of Allen Public School; "President Lincoln White Oak and president Woodrow Wilson Scarlet Oak by the Allen Public School. "Valley Forge Tree of Heaven" by Allen Post of the American Legion; "Gettysburg Sycamore" Floyd Gleason Unit #131, American Legion Auxiliary; Shiloh Silver Maple", in memory of Marvin Green by the Dixon County Historical Society; "Lewis & Clark Diamond Willow" Lucky Lads & Lassies 4-H club; "Mount Vernon Red Maple" Chatter Sew Club; "Edgar Allan Poe Hackberry", Elf Extension Club; "Betsy Ross Sycamore", Pleasant Hour Club; "Nathan Hale Red Oak" Rest Avhille Club; John Paul Jones Paper Birch" Waterbury Home-makers and a "J. Sterling Morton Black Walnut" Golden Rule Lodge No. 236 A.F. & A.M. The trees will be planted on a piece of land south of the Jerry Schroeder home on the south edge of town.

ELECTION PREVIEW

EDITOR'S NOTE
Nebraskans will be voting on one issue when they go to the Primary Election polls on May 12. So that voters can better understand this important proposed change to the state Constitution, the Nebraska Press Association in cooperation with this newspaper has prepared a report on this issue. This report briefly defines it, explaining its purpose and finally stating the arguments for and against.

Personal Property Taxes

AMENDMENT 1: The proposed Constitutional Amendment dealing with the state's personal property tax problems. It changes the tax uniformity clause of the state's constitution, continuing to require uniformity when it comes to real estate, but allowing the Legislature to either tax or exempt all or part of personal property such as business machinery, farm machinery, farm and business inventories and livestock. Passage of the measure would allow LB 1063 to take effect. LB 1063 puts in place a new plan for taxing personal property. Farm machinery and breeding livestock would join business machinery on local property tax rolls, and it would be valued according to its federal depreciated value. Once property is fully depreciated on federal income tax forms, it will not be taxed. Bill also gives farmers refunds of sales taxes paid on new equipment purchases and creates a new $4 a ton tax on farm fertilizers.

SUPPORT: Supporters say a yes vote will finally resolve the state's personal property tax problems. They say rejection of the measure would put in place the worst possible tax plan: having all livestock, machinery and inventories taxed at their actual value this year in accordance with a Nebraska Supreme Court decision last year. They say that would hurt farmers and the state's economy. Though farmers may not like having to again pay taxes on their machinery, the plan is the best farmers could get in a Legislature where urban senators rejected having all personal property exempted. Supporters also say that given past Supreme Court rulings, it's likely necessary to change the constitution before all personal property could be exempted in the future.

OPPOSE: Opponents say changing the uniformity clause could cause problems in the future. They also say it may be legally possible to exempt all personal property without a Constitutional Amendment. The Legislature might do that if the measure is rejected rather than have all personal property taxed.

Some say failure of the measure is also the best thing for homeowners because if farmers and businesses pay on all their personal property under the court-ruling, taxes on homes will be less.

Legal Notices

LEGAL NOTICE OF MEASURE TO BE VOTED UPON MAY 12, 1992
BALLOT TITLE AND TEXT OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
PROPOSED BY THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE, SECOND SESSION, 1992

Also Included Are Statements of Explanation in Italics Prepared by The Executive Board of The Legislative Council.

PROPOSED BY THE 1992 LEGISLATURE
Proposed Amendment No. 1

A vote FOR this proposal will provide: (1) that the uniformity clause (property taxes to be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately) would henceforth apply to real property as defined by the Legislature, except as otherwise provided by the constitution, rather than to all tangible property, personal as well as real, except for reasonable exemptions allowed by the constitution; (2) that tangible personal property, as defined by the Legislature and not exempt from taxation, would henceforth be all taxed either at its depreciated cost, using the same depreciation method for all personal property, with reasonable class lives as determined by the Legislature, or by valuation uniformly and proportionately; (3) that property protected by federal law from discriminatory state or local taxation would constitute a separate class of property for tax purposes and would be exempt from the uniformity clause, and would authorize the Legislature to enact laws recognizing such property and tax or exempt it from taxation as it would determine; (4) that the property tax rate levied for a governmental subdivision shall be the same for all taxed classes of personal and real property; (5) that the Legislature may exempt inventory from taxation, and define and classify personal property, whether by type, use, user, or owner, and exempt any such class or classes of property from taxation if such exemption is reasonable; (6) that the present limit on the aggregate taxes which may be made by county authorities will be changed from fifty cents per $100 actual valuation to fifty cents per $100 of taxable value; and that (7) the constitutional amendments outlined above would be effective from and after January 1, 1992, and that revenue legislation enacted in the regular 1992 legislative session, not inconsistent with the constitution as amended, shall be considered ratified and confirmed by these amendments and need not be reenacted by the Legislature.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will: (1) leave both real property and tangible personal property subject to the uniformity clause; (2) prohibit the Legislature from valuing and taxing for property tax purposes non-exempt tangible personal property on a depreciated cost basis; (3) not specifically authorize the Legislature to create a separate class for tax or tax exempt purposes property protected by federal law from discriminatory state and local taxation; (4) not specifically authorize the exemption of inventory; (5) not specifically authorize the Legislature to classify all other tangible personal property and exempt the classes from taxation if such exemption is reasonable; and would not trigger the implementation of certain provisions of revenue laws (that is, LB 1063 providing the new system for the taxation of tangible personal property) enacted during the 1992 regular legislative session.

"A constitutional amendment to separate tangible personal property from the uniform and proportionate provision applicable to real property, to provide for the valuation of taxable tangible personal property at depreciated cost or at actual value uniformly and proportionately, to provide for the separate classification of property and franchises protected by federal law, to harmonize a provision relating to the limitation on county taxes, and to provide that legislation passed in the regular 1992 legislative session shall be effective January 1, 1992, and is ratified and confirmed by this amendment.

property of the state and its governmental subdivisions shall constitute a separate class of property and shall be exempt from taxation; (2) the Legislature by general law may classify and exempt from taxation property owned by and used exclusively for agricultural and horticultural societies and property owned and used exclusively for educational, religious, charitable, or cemetery purposes, when such property is not owned or used for financial gain or profit to either the owner or user; (3) household - Household goods and personal effects, as defined by law, may be exempted from taxation in whole or in part, as may be provided by general law, and the Legislature may prescribe a formula for the determination of value of household goods and personal effects; (4) the Legislature by general law may provide that the increased value of land by reason of shade or ornamental trees planted along the highway shall not be taken into account in the assessment of such land; (5) the Legislature, by the general law and upon any terms, conditions, and restrictions it prescribes, may provide that the increased value of real property resulting from improvements designed primarily for energy conservation may be exempt from taxation; (6) the value of a home substantially contributed by the Veterans Administration of the United States Department of Veterans Affairs for a paraplegic veteran or multiple amputee shall be exempt from taxation during the life of such veteran or until the death of his widow or her remarriage; (7) the Legislature may exempt from an intangible property tax life insurance and life insurance annuity contracts and any payment connected therewith and any right to pension or retirement payments; (8) the Legislature may exempt inventory from taxation; (9) the Legislature may define and classify personal property in such manner as it sees fit, whether by type, use, user, or owner, and may exempt any of such class or classes of property from taxation if such exemption is reasonable or may exempt all personal property from taxation; (10) no property shall be exempt from taxation except as permitted by or as provided in the this Constitution; and (11) the Legislature may by general law provide that a portion of the value of any residence actually occupied as a homestead by any classification of owners as determined by the Legislature shall be exempt from taxation.

CVIII-5 "County authorities shall never assess taxes the aggregate of which shall exceed fifty cents per one hundred dollars actual valuation of taxable value as determined by the assessment rolls, except for the payment of indebtedness existing at the adoption hereof, unless authorized by a vote of the people of the county."

CVIII-13 "Notwithstanding Article I, section 16, Article III, section 18, or Article VIII, section 1 or 4 of this Constitution or any other provision of this Constitution to the contrary, amendments to Article VIII of this Constitution passed in 1992 shall be effective from and after January 1, 1992, and existing revenue laws and legislative acts passed in the regular legislative session of 1992, not inconsistent with this Constitution as amended, shall be considered ratified and confirmed by such amendments without the need for legislative reenactment of such laws."

Respectfully submitted,

Selecting OTC Tension Headache Remedies
Tension headache is also known as muscle contraction headache and nervous headache. Causes may involve emotional stress, exposure to glare or loud noise, or fatigue. Pain tends to occur in a "hatband" pattern as the scalp muscles contract. Because headache is such a common problem, pain relievers are among the most widely advertised OTC products. Ask your pharmacist for advice on selection of a headache remedy that contains acetaminophen, aspirin, or ibuprofen. Persons who have certain health problems or who take certain prescription medicines should avoid aspirin and sometimes ibuprofen. High-priced brand name products may be no more effective than private label alternatives. Products which contain a pain reliever plus an antihistamine may be especially useful in tension headache.
