WAYNE FIRE FIGHTERS AND RESCUE PERSONNEL work frantically to remove three occupants from a vehicle that was run over by a three-wheeled floater Monday evening along Country Club Road. All three passengers of the vehicle were safely removed and taken to the hospital and released. Onlookers in the background had to be moved because of the possibility the vehicle might explode.

'Miracle' saves youth

Rescue crews pull three from twisted heap

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

With the roof of a 1972 Ford Maverick flat as a pancake, Wayne Rescue personnel were able to pull out three survivors in good shape, following an accident Monday at 6:45 p.m. along Country Club Road.

Using the jaws of life, rescue personnel drove apart the vehicle's twisted metal to free the Maverick's passengers, saving them from what could have been a potentially fatal situation.

Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies and Wayne Police waved off several onlookers to the south of the vehicle, concerned an explosion might occur. Officials said the vehicle was leaking gas and fire fighters scurried to make certain it didn't ignite. There was some concern for a time that the vehicle might explode.

PULLED FROM the wreckage were its driver Jeffrey A. Luschen, 16, of rural Wayne; Jennifer Nelson, 18, of Wayne; and Shawn Flowers, 19, of Wayne. It took rescue personnel approximately 30 minutes to free the individuals after the vehicle had been run over by a three-wheeled floater.

According to Wayne Police Officer Marlen Chinn, it was "a miracle" anyone in the vehicle survived.

"Personally, the only reason I don't think they were entirely crushed is due to the clearance the floater has from the ground and the fact it wasn't full," he said. "Another factor is that they were driving an older vehicle and it can stand that kind of pressure to its body."

People at the scene were just as amazed that all three victims inside the car were drawn alive from the twisted heap. About 20 golfers and residents watched in awe as rescue personnel labored to gain entry to the vehicle. Wayne Fire Chief Dutch Sitzmann said, "A higher authority must have been watching over them."

ACCORDING TO Wayne Police reports, the westbound Maverick crossed the center line of the gravel road and slid sideways into the floater. The three-wheeled floater struck the right-side passenger door, causing the vehicle to land on its top. The report indicated that the floater then continued on over the top of the vehicle, crushing it. The driver of the floater then continued until he could stop.

Driving the floater was Dean Boeckenhauer, 45, of rural Wakefield.

Suffering the worst injury of the four individuals involved in the mishap was Flowers, who sustained a broken tibia and ankle, along with lacerations to the face. Others involved in the accident sustained minor cuts and abrasions. All four individuals were treated at Providence Medical Center and released.

Chinn said the car's roof made an imprint on the road at the location where the floater went over it.

After Boeckenhauer had stopped the floater, it apparently rolled down the hill, bowling over an out-of-bounds marker along the number 10 fairway, before it came to rest, running into a planter on an attached tractor, belonging to Ken Nolte, on a nearby field. No one was in the tractor at the time, however.

WSC graduates 191 on Saturday

Jane Renner Hood, member of the Coordinating Commission for Post-Secondary Education, will be the featured speaker during Wayne State College's spring commencement exercises on Saturday, May 9 at 2 p.m. in the Willow Bowl. The public is invited to attend.

Dr. Donald Mash, president of Wayne State, will present 179 bachelor's degrees and 12 master's degrees.

Hood has been the executive director of the Nebraska Humanities Council since 1987, and was appointed by Gov. Ben Nelson to the Nebraska Coordinating Commission. Hood, who resides in Lincoln, earned a Ph.D. and master's of arts degree from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln where she majored in European history. She has served as a National Defense Education Act fellow and holds a bachelor of arts degree, cum laude, from Doane College.

Before returning to Nebraska when she accepted her position with the Nebraska Humanities Council, Hood held several positions with the Illinois Humanities Council, beginning in 1978. Prior to that, she taught courses at Creighton University and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, after beginning her teaching career in the Ralston Public Schools.

Also during commencement exercises, Wayne attorney Kenneth M. Olds will receive Wayne State's Distinguished Service Award.

Student faces drug charges

Felony charges have been filed against a Wayne State College student who was allegedly selling marijuana on campus.

Gabrelle L. Franklin, 20, a resident of Pile Hall on the Wayne State campus, was charged Tuesday, April 28 after he was arrested by officers from the Wayne County Sheriff's Office.

According to court reports, Franklin was monitored by law enforcement officers selling marijuana twice on Feb. 5, 1992.

FRANKLIN WAS charged with two counts of delivery of a controlled substance in the Wayne County Court.

Delivery of a controlled substance is a Class III felony, punishable able by a minimum of one year in prison and a maximum of 20 years in prison, a $25,000 fine, or both.

He was released after posting $2,500 bond. He is scheduled to appear in the Wayne County Court Thursday, May 7.

Project continues

Airport board runs into snag over funding

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

A new prevailing wind runway at the Wayne Municipal Airport appears to have run into some small snags but it's nothing the Airport Authority Board wasn't prepared for.

According to Nancy Braden, treasurer of the Wayne Airport Authority, the board may have to use $20,000 of its own money to assist in this summer's construction of the new runway.

"Approximately $20,000 was requested from the state and denied," Braden said. "The additional money was needed for the additional cost of a hydraulic study, which exceeded engineer's estimates. The study was necessary due to a flood plain study."

BRADEN SAID the airport lies in a flood plain due to Logan Creek, which runs adjacent to the new runway. Fortunately, money had been set aside in the airport authority treasury for the additional cost.

The Wayne Airport, originally set up to train Wayne State cadets during World War II, has a runway which prevents certain types of aircraft from landing due to its length and direction. Dave Ley, secretary of the board, said at a recent presentation.

The current runway is 3,400 feet long and the new runway will be 4,200 feet long.

"This doesn't jeopardize the project but it may require more local funds than originally anticipated," Braden said.

IN THE INITIAL phase of construction, the runway will be packed and sodded. Ley said the board is optimistic that in two years, the new runway will be paved. Paving the runway will cost between $500,000 and $750,000.

Currently, 20 airplanes are based out of the Wayne airport. Ley said that by the time the project is complete, there could be an additional five to 10 planes stationed out of the airport.

The initial costs of the new runway project is estimated between $170,000 and $190,000. The new runway is expected to be finished within a year and it will be usable within two years.

Fire causes light damage

WAYNE FIRE CREWS WORK TO extinguish a fire late last week at the Vince Kniesche farm two miles south and 1 mile west of Wayne. According to Wayne Fire Chief Dutch Sitzmann, the small fire was caused by an electrical fence short into tin paneling of a barn. He said the fire caused minimal damage.

April's weather unusual

April was definitely a month of extremes, according to data compiled by Pat Gross, Wayne's weather observer for the National Weather Service.

One extreme was in the month's high and low temperature. The high for the month, recorded April 29, was 83 degrees. The month's low was 15 degrees, recorded April 1.

Nine days earlier than the month's high temperature, Wayne received 10 inches of snowfall, which is the greatest recorded amount for the year and it tied the greatest amount for the winter season, which was recorded Nov. 1, 1991, when 10 inches of snow fell.

For the month, there was 1.45 inches of precipitation, which was considerably lower than the 3.5 inch average over the last 10 year period.

The average high temperature for April was 56 degrees and the average low temperature for the month was 32 degrees.

The greatest rainfall for the month was recorded April 20 when .69 inches were measured.

Officials probing bonfire

Officials are investigating an illegal bonfire which was reported Friday, May 1 at 12:01 a.m. approximately 3 1/2 miles west and one mile north of Wayne.

According to Fire Chief Dutch Sitzmann, the bonfire was started by an unknown group of individuals. He said the Wayne County Sheriff's Department is assisting in the investigation.

Sitzmann said apparently a group of individuals used brush, trash, beer cans and other rubbish to start the blaze. He said charges may follow from the incident.

The Wayne fire chief added that no one was injured in the incident.

Anyone with information about the incident can contact the Wayne Police Department at 375-2626 or the Wayne County Sheriff's Department at 375-1911.

Commissioners make headway

Wayne County's Commissioners may not be much closer to resolving where to put the Wayne County Sheriff's office but they are making headway.

The Wayne County Sheriff's office is being relocated following a recommendation by a York consulting firm to remove it from the Wayne County Juvenile Detention Center.

After touring potential sites last week, the commissioners were told by the Nebraska State Fire Marshals office that they would receive a report on the condition of the potential sites; however, no report was received by Tuesday.

Prospective leasors Walt Moeller and Roy Coryell both told the county board that they're waiting to hear back from the State Fire Marshal's office.

With the temporary impasse, the county board took no action on the matter.

PANELISTS DISCUSSING AMENDMENT 1 before Nebraska voters May 12 include (from left) John Jorgensen, Logan McClelland, Sen. Gerald Conway, Bryce Neidig and Sen. Elroy Hefner. Most of the panelists said that Amendment 1 is Nebraska's best solution to avoiding a continuation of the personal property tax mess.

Panelists favor proposal

Amendment 1 gets support

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

A proposed Constitutional amendment facing Nebraska voters Tuesday, May 12 received support Tuesday night during a forum put on by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce and the Wayne County Farm Bureau.

Panelists for the forum included: District 19 Sen. Elroy Hefner, Bryce Neidig, president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau, Logan McClelland, vice-president of the Nebraska Cattlemen's Association, John Jorgensen of the Nebraska Tax Research Council, and District 17 Sen. Gerald Conway.

Under the proposed amendment, a chapter of the Nebraska Constitution would be amended to make it so the uniformity clause applies only to real property and not personal. The amendment also makes it so tangible personal property would not be exempt from taxation; designates a separate class for property protected by federal law; allows the legislature to exempt certain types of personal property; and harmonizes a provision relating to the limitation on county taxes.

ACCORDING TO Hefner, there are two scenarios: one if Amendment 1 passes and the second if it fails.

"If Amendment 1 fails, all personal property will stay on the rolls on an actual value basis," he said. "If Amendment 1 passes, property will be valued on a depreciated basis."

While four of the five panelists said they favor Amendment 1, Jorgensen played the devils advocate on the issue, not supporting or opposing the issue.

Jorgensen outlined that opponents of Amendment 1 say that property taxes have no purpose in the current tax system, since they were originally established as a liars tax, meaning it is no longer based on peoples ability to pay. He added that opponents of the system say the whole Amendment 1 package is based on the same discriminatory system that has been perpetuated since agricultural inventory was first removed from the tax rolls in the 1970s. Finally, he said opponents argue against the amendment because the state is tinkering with the constitution.

"Proponents of this solution say it is to amend the state's constitution to make people pay their fair share of taxes," he said. "The beauty of keeping that tax local is that you can go to the city council, the county assessor and the local school board and let it be known that you don't like the way your tax money is being used."

CONWAY, WHO favors Amendment 1, said the state legislature wanted to find something that was fair and equitable to all parties.

He added that there needs to be a means to separate personal property taxes from real taxes. He believes Amendment 1 does that.

"We wanted to find something that strikes a balance," he said. "The plan that's there hopefully will strike that balance."

Neidig said the Nebraska Farm Bureau originally said they would support the 3-R plan, which has resulted in Amendment 1, unless something better came along. While alternatives were discussed, like exempting personal property from all businesses and raising income and sales taxes, he said over the long run, the 3-R plan was the best.

"We're doing nothing different here than we did in 1970 when the legislature was given the right to decide what personal property could be exempted," he said. "We're just doing that all over again."

WHILE SOME of those in the audience voiced their concerns over the proposed amendment, only a few said they were worried that by giving the legislature the power to determine what is real and what is personal property would result in additional lack of trust. One audience member said he believes it's like being held up by a mugger who gives you the choice of being shot in the head or shot in the foot. He said he preferred neither alternative.

In concluding the meeting, Conway said he doubts that, if Amendment 1 passes, that the Nebraska Supreme Court will strike down the law again, like it did with the old personal property tax system.

"We feel comfortable with Amendment 1 because we did what we were told to do through (the Supreme Court's) Mapco decision," he said.

Better Sleep: Five Things You Can Do

Insomnia is the inability to get to sleep or stay asleep during normal sleeping hours, when there is no apparent reason for wakefulness. Insomnia affects between 20 and 30 million Americans. Here are a few things we can do to help ensure better sleep:

1. Exercise regularly. A ten to 15 minute walk before bedtime may help relieve tension.
2. Limit intake of stimulants and excess food just before bedtime.
3. Avoid alcohol and tobacco products. Nicotine and alcohol can rob you of satisfying sleep.
4. Relax by taking a warm bath, reading, or watching TV.
5. Ask your pharmacist about nonprescription sleep aids.

Spirit week Post Office salutes athletes

Olympic Spirit Week kicks off in Wayne Friday at the Wayne Post Office with a special tribute to Wayne's own Olympic Connection, Crissy Ahmann-Leighton who is on the swim team training for the games in Barcelona.

Ms. Ahmann-Leighton is the niece of Waynians Mark and Jane Ahmann.

A ceremony is planned at the post office at 3 p.m. at which time the kickoff for the effort to send the world's largest postcard to the U.S. Olympians will be held.

All next week postal patrons will be invited to sign Wayne's own section of the postcard which will eventually be several acres in size and cover the ellipse in front of the White House in Washington.

Wayne's section of the postcard is one of 28,000 pieces which will be displayed in postal lobbies throughout the nation.

Postal customers are invited to contribute $1 to the U.S. Olympic team and may sign their name on Wayne's part of the giant card, according to Jean Roemer, Wayne postmaster.

In addition to signing the big card, contributors will also receive two regular-sized postcards.

The postcards, pre-addressed to a Merrifield, Va. postal facility, will be delivered to U.S. athletes daily during the games. Customers may also designate specific team members to receive their personal postcard messages, said Ms. Roemer.

The public is invited to Friday's kickoff celebration.

RESTRAINTS: Over the years, I've run pieces on the use of restraints in hospitals and nursing homes to protect patients from falling, wandering, or pulling out invasive devices (intravenous feeding tubes, for example). Always, when I've printed a complaint from someone — a patient, a patient's friend or relative, or even a caregiver — several nurses will write to defend the use of restraints. It's interesting that quite recently, RN Magazine, a publication for nurses, ran a piece in its April 1992 issue about the potential danger in the use of restraints. The magazine noted that some 200 people die each year, and many more are injured — usually elderly patients. In some cases, the magazine states, a restraint should not have been used; in others, misuse is to blame.

Again, I welcome comments on this subject. Please write me c/o this newspaper.

Echtenkamp-Olson repeat vows at Wakefield Immanuel Lutheran

Altar flowers in shades of pink, along with white pew bows, decorated Immanuel Lutheran Church, rural Wakefield, for the marriage of Keila Faye Echtenkamp and Douglas Scott Olson.

The Rev. Ronald Holling of Norfolk officiated at the double ring ceremony on April 24 at 5:30 p.m. Parents of the couple are Larry and Judy Echtenkamp of Wayne and Arden and Ave Olson of Concord.

PAM Nicholson of Lincoln was seated at the guest book. Ushering guests into the church and lighting candles were Kevin Echtenkamp of Wayne, Ron Brudigam of Oakland, and Steve Luedtke and John Reintzel, both of South Sioux City.

Wedding music included "He Has Chosen You for Me" and "Two Candles," sung by Clayton and Sandy Hartman of Laurel. Organist was Bonnie Nelson of Wayne.

Matron of honor was Ann Doty of Pender and best man was Don Osborne of Haddam, Kan. Bridesmaids were Diane Olson of Orange City, Iowa and Christine Costa of Wayne, and groomsmen were Kelley Echtenkamp of Seward and Mark Olson of Concord.

ON HER wedding day, the bride was given in marriage by her father and appeared in a floor-length gown of white satin trimmed with schiffli lace.

The dress featured a sweetheart neckline and modest V back. Floral schiffli lace, pearls and sequins adorned the bodice, and curly champagne, organza ruffles formed the short full sleeves.

The full satin skirt flowed from a basque waistline. Several tiers of organza ruffles encircled the skirt, including the semi-cathedral train, and a large satin bow finished the back waistline.

She wore a short veil, falling to mid-back, and carried pink roses and miniature white carnations.

The bride's attendants wore light Dover blue satin frocks in tea length, fashioned with low backs and three strands of pearls which draped and attached to bows at the shoulders. They wore white silk hair combs and carried bouquets with a pink rose and white carnations.

The men in the wedding party were attired in black tailcoats with pink rose boutonnières.

The bride's mother selected a pink rayon dress, and the bridegroom's mother chose a pink and white striped rayon dress.

APPROXIMATELY 250 guests attended a reception afterward at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Norfolk. Hosts were Kirk and Patti Echtenkamp of Jackson and Dean and JoAnn Brudigam of Oakland. Gifts were arranged by Lila Loewe and Lori Bebee of Wayne.

Cutting and serving the cake were Faye Koch of Sioux City, Sue Olson of Wayne, and Mary Brudigam and Cinda Brudigam, both of Wakefield.

Ruth Korth and Verna Mae Longe of Wayne poured, and Laraine Longe of Omaha served punch.

Waitresses were Susan Brudigam and Marcia Brudigam, both of Wakefield, and Gayle Olson of Wayne.

THE NEWLYWEDS traveled to Denver, Colo. and are making

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Morris

Kaye Coan bride of Dennis Morris

Kaye Lynette Coan of Omaha and Dennis John Morris of Carroll exchanged marriage vows during a 3 o'clock, double ring ceremony on April 25.

The Rev. Gail Axen of Stanton officiated at the service at Bethany Presbyterian Church in Carroll.

Decorations included navy and ivory satin pew bows and candelabras with ivy and coral roses and white gardenias.

THE BRIDE is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Coan of Wayne. She graduated from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1975 and attended Wayne State College.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Morris of Wayne, graduated from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1966 and served in the U.S. Navy from 1967 to 1971. He is employed at Nucor Steel in Norfolk.

The couple's address is P.O. Box 223, Carroll, Neb., 68723.

SERVING AS honor attendants at the wedding ceremony were Devona Willms of Omaha and Dennis Beckman of Wayne.

Bridesmaids were Kathy Coan and Joni Dinsmore, both of Omaha, and Lynne Loftus of South St. Paul, Minn., and groomsmen were Jim Sommerfeld of Seward, Dave Stuthman of Wayne and Mark Frahm of Carroll.

The guests were registered by Jeanne Morris of Wayne and ushered into the church by Bob Coan of The Colony, Texas, Kevin Erickson of Concord, and Jere Morris and Skip Morris, both of Wayne.

Flower girl was Bridget Giesler-O'Brien, and ring bearers were Nicholas Dinsmore and Adam Dinsmore, all of Omaha. The bride's personal attendants were Debbie Bonardi of Worcester, Mass. and Jane Crabtree of North Vassalboro, Maine.

Wedding music included "Wind Beneath My Wings," "Unchained Melody" and "Every Road Leads Back to You." Soloist and organist was Todd Ruser of Omaha.

THE BRIDE was given in marriage by her parents and the bridegroom's parents, and appeared in an ivory satin gown in floor length, fashioned with a portrait neckline, a lace overlay and long, lace sleeves edged in satin, and pearl trim.

She wore a hat with diamond veil netting and lace to match the gown, and carried ivory gardenias and stephanotis.

Her attendants wore two-piece fitted cocktail suits in navy blue tea length. The dresses were designed with long peplum waists detailed with fabric covered buttons. Each carried a trio of coral roses.

The bridegroom was attired in a charcoal pin-striped tuxedo with a paisley print tie and cummerbund, and his attendants wore charcoal pin-striped tuxedos with ivory satin ties and cummerbunds.

The bride's mother chose a two-piece, street-length dress in taupe, ivory and gray with a tapestry jacket and morey pleated skirt. The bridegroom's mother also chose a two-piece, street-length dress in navy and ivory designed with a double breasted jacket and pleated skirt.

MR. AND Mrs. Bob Morris of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Vic Carlson of Concord greeted the 200 guests who attended a reception afterward at the Wayne Country Club. Arranging gifts were Erica Stoltenberg and Lindsay Stoltenberg of Carroll.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Arline Lurz of Beemer, Jan Gamble of Wayne and Sandy Pearson of Akron, Iowa. Janice Pearson of Evansville, Wyo. poured, and Diane Coan of The Colony, Texas and Kim Triggs of Wayne served champagne.

Approximately 300 guests attended a dance and pig roast in the Carroll auditorium following the reception in Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Olson their home at 511 W. Second, Apt. 1, Laurel, Neb., 68745-1808.

The bridegroom graduated from Laurel-Concord High School in 1987 and from Southeast Community College, Milford, in 1988. He is employed at Logan Valley Implement in Wayne and is engaged in farming.

Former Nazi youth leader speaker at Spring Event

Gerda O'Dey of Norfolk, a former German Nazi youth officer, was guest speaker during the Dixon County Home Extension Spring Event held April 30.

Over 75 persons attended the annual affair at the Northeast Research and Extension Center near Concord. Speaking with O'Dey was Jean Tiedtke of Battle Creek, author of the book, "Legacy of Lies and Love," which details O'Dey's story.

O'DEY KEPT audience members on the edge of their chairs as she spoke compellingly of the struggles of living through World War II.

O'Dey said she supported Hitler as a Nazi youth officer, while at the same time questioning his approach due to her father's Nazi resistance.

She shared that youth are very vulnerable and explained that it isn't unusual for teenagers to think they are right and their parents are wrong, however she kept her father's thoughts in her heart.

"Hitler did not criticize other races, he just made us believe that Germans were the best," O'Dey said.

Author Jean Tiedtke also spoke at the event and explained how the book, "Legacy of Lies and Love," came about and her experiences while writing it.

ADEL BOHLKEN, home extension chairman, and Janice Hartman, vice chairman, opened the event by announcing the county third grade poster contest winners.

Also announced were the top four winners in the cultural arts contest for home extension club members. First place went to Evonne Magnuson of Laurel, a member of Merry Homemakers Club.

Other winners were Vandelyn Hanson of Concord (3 C's Club), second place; Grayce Lund of Allen (Elf Club), third place; and Robin Millie of Ponca (Liberty Belles Club), honorable mention.

The top exhibits were paintings and counted cross-stitch exhibits.

RECEIVING door prizes during the day were Lucille Olson, Concord; Darlene Dolph, Wayne; Velma Dennis, Dixon; and Eleanor Hingst, Emerson.

Coffee and cookies were served by the host clubs of Casual Country, Friendly Neighbors, Artemis and Elf.

Committee members were Alvina Stanley and Judy Marundale, both of Concord, Marilyn Creamer of Laurel, and Pearl Snyder of Allen.

A huge THANK YOU to the parents, teachers and administrators from the Wayne High School, and all others who contributed their valuable time and money to the 1992 WAYNE HIGH SCHOOL AFTER-PROM PARTY. Thanks also to the City of Wayne and the Wayne Womens Club for the free use of the city auditorium and the womens club room, and to Mike Gross, who played great music. Those who contributed money are a little poorer and those who were at the party are probably still a bit tired and "sleep-eyed" but ALL of you have to feel good. The students enjoyed themselves tremendously...it was a fun party.

•1 beaten egg •2 tblsp milk •2 tblsp catsup
•1/4 cup finely crushed crackers •1/2 tsp salt
•1lb ground beef •4 thin slices onion
•4 slices sharp American cheese
•1/4 cup chopped onion •1/4 cup butter
•1/4 cup catsup •2 tblsp brown sugar
•1/2 tsp horseradish •1/2 tsp salt
Combine egg, milk, and 2 tablespoons catsup; stir in cracker crumbs and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Add ground beef and mix well. Form into 4 patties and place each on a 12" square of heavy-duty foil. Top each patty with 1 slice onion and 1 slice cheese.
Cook chopped onion in butter till tender and add 1/4 cup catsup, brown sugar, horseradish and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes. Spoon over burgers. Wrap foil loosely around meat sealing edges well. Cook over medium coals onion side down for 15 minutes. Turn over burgers. Grill 10 minutes more. Makes 4 servings.

Wildcats end year with 25-23 record

Wayne State baseball team ends season

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne State baseball team closed out their season Sunday with a double-header in front of the home crowd at Overin Field against Grand View College of Des Moines, Iowa.

The Wildcats double dip on Sunday culminated a three-day four-game swing in which the 'Cats went 2-2.

Last Friday Lenny Klaver's crew traveled to Omaha and were defeated soundly by UNO, 9-1. WSC scored its lone run in the third inning while UNO scored six times in the bottom half of the first inning and never looked back.

Troy Parrott took the pitching loss which dropped his record to 4-3. Parrott pitched the first five innings of the contest and gave up nine runs and nine hits while walking four and striking out three.

Senior Todd Koozer came in for relief of Parrott and pitched the final three innings and didn't allow a run while scattering three hits, walking two and striking out three.

WSC finished with one run on seven hits and four errors while UNO had nine runs on 12 hits and one error. Travis Nedved was the 'Cats offensive catalyst with a double and two singles while Rick Roberts and Jeff Schneider each doubled. Chris Jones and Tim Kurtz each hit a single.

WSC downs Bellevue

Wayne State stayed in Omaha after the UNO game Friday in order to play Bellevue College on Saturday. The host Bruins came into the game as the 20th rated team in NAIA.

That ranking, however, had no impact on Wayne State pitcher Jeff Lutt as he pitched a complete nine inning game and allowed Bellevue just one hit as the 'Cats came away with a 4-1 victory.

Lutt allowed just a second inning single but the Bellevue run was unearned. He walked six batters in the game and struck out eight. Bellevue pitcher Scott Standish was also on fire as he allowed WSC just three hits. The Bruins hurler walked seven Wildcat batters but he struck out 16.

WSC jumped out to a 1-0 lead after the first inning but Bellevue knotted the score in the bottom of the second. In the fifth inning Troy Test and Travis Nedved drew walks before Rick Roberts stepped to the plate and blasted a 3-run home run. Shane Kober also doubled in the game while Brent Cameron singled.

'Cats split with Grand View —WSC split its twinbill with Grand View on Sunday, winning the first game, 7-4 before losing the nightcap, 17-4.

In the first game Jeff Gohr notched the pitching victory and in the process he set a Wayne State single season record for most innings pitched with 88-1/3. The old record was 87-1/3 innings pitched by Jeff Rothrock in 1985.

Gohr pitched a complete game against Grand View and gave up four runs on nine hits with two walks and two strikeouts. The 'Cats finished with seven runs on seven hits and one error.

Grand View took a 4-0 lead in the third inning and by the fifth inning the 'Cats had trimmed the lead in half at 4-2. In the bottom of the fifth inning the host team scored five runs to claim the win.

Shane Kober smashed a 3-run home run and Cory Reeder later smacked a 2-run dinger in the same inning to supply the five runs. Chris Jones also hit the long ball with a solo home run in the fourth inning while Jeff Schneider doubled. Kober, Troy Test and Brent Cameron also notched singles to round out WSC's seven hits.

In the second game the Wildcats fell victim to Grand View's potent bats as the visiting Viking grounded out 21 hits in scoring 17 runs. WSC finished with four runs on six hits and two errors.

Larry Ballinger was credited with the loss after pitching just 1-1/3 innings and giving up six runs on six hits. Bill Guenther pitched the next 3-2/3 innings and gave up five runs on five hits before Jon Janssen pitched the next 1-1/3 innings and gave up six runs and eight hits. Mike Stauffer pitched the final 2/3 innings and just gave up one hit.

Grand View took a 11-0 lead heading to the bottom of the fifth inning before the 'Cats dialed the long ball three times. Cory Reeder and Brent Cameron hit back-to-back home runs in the fifth and one out later Jeff Bjerke blasted another home run.

Grand View scored six more runs in the seventh inning to lead 17-3 before Jeff Lutt closed out the game's scoring with a pinch hit solo home run. Tim Kurtz and Shane Kober each singled to round out WSC's hitting.

All five of the Wildcats senior position players hit home runs in their final weekend of play. Klaver closed out his 12th season at the helm of the Wildcats baseball team with a career record of 226-202.

Wayne State finished this season with a 25-23 record—exactly the same record they finished with last season. "I felt we were very competitive all year long," Klaver said. "We maybe could have played better the last couple weeks of the season but injuries to our pitching staff put a heavier toll on our other pitchers."

Klaver said defensively, his squad played pretty well this season but a lack of depth in the staff hurt early in the season.

Offensively the 'Cats belted 29 home runs this season and hit 280 while the team ERA was 5.76. "We're usually near the .300 mark in batting," Klaver said. "The ERA is typical of a college baseball team."

The 'Cats will lose a total of seven players with graduation and student teaching assignments. Brent Cameron, Jeff Bjerke, Rick Roberts, Chris Jones, Shane Kober and Todd Koozer will graduate and Troy Parrott will finish out his school hours next semester.

WSC mentor Lenny Klaver will not return next season as he takes his leave of absence to get his Educational Doctorate Degree from the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley. It is expected that John Manganaro will take over as the interim coach.

WAYNE STATE SENIOR Brent Cameron gives a high five to his head coach Lenny Klaver after belting a home run during the second game of WSC's twinbill with Grand View Sunday afternoon at Hank Overin Field. At right, Jeff Bjerke digs up a ground ball and throws it to first from his third base position. The 'Cats split their double-header.

Sports Briefs

Stender grandson top lifter

WAYNE-Jon Stender, who formerly lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stender, in Stanton, recently won the super heavy-weight lifting championship for high schoolers in Brigham City, Utah.

The 17-year-old 11th-grader, is 6-2, 275 pounds. He is the grandson of Roy and Bernitta Stender of Norfolk, formerly of Wayne. His winning lifts were 236 pounds on the bench; 473 pounds with the squat, and 473 pounds in the dead lift for a 1177 pound total.

CyclePaths of Wayne groom trails

WAYNE-The CyclePaths of Wayne Bicycle Club initiated a Trail Grooming service project at Ponca State Park. Tim Powell, vice president, organized a half-day clean-up crew last Saturday.

Seven club members walked the hiking trails and cleared the paths of fallen trees and other obstructions. Five trails were groomed. Hikers, mountain bikers and equestrians can now follow the trails without having to go over or around these obstructions.

By keeping all park users on groomed trails, erosion is minimized and the human impact to the environment is lessened. After the work was completed the club members rode the trails for recreation.

Anyone interested in riding at Ponca can contact CyclePath ride coordinator Tim Powell and he can suggest appropriate trails. The seven CyclePath members who participated in this service project were Lyle George, Keith Jarvi, Mark Kai, Tim Powell, Kelly Soden, Charles Shapiro and Al Walton.

Wildcats sprint to championship

WAYNE-The Wayne State College men's 4x100 meter relay team raced to a first place finish and Wildcat Rick Starling set a school-record in the 100-meter dash Saturday night at the Howard Wood Relays in Sioux Falls, S.D.

The sprint relay team of Starling, Damon Thomas, Todd Rolfes and Lee Harper was timed in 42.66. Starling ran a 10.74, 100-meter dash to set a WSC school record while placing third in the race. He was hand-timed at 10.5 seconds.

Overall, coach John Johnson's Wildcats had 11 placewinners in the two-day meet. A partial Wildcat team will compete in Saturday's Nebraska Twilight Meet in Lincoln.

The 'Cats Sprint Medley relay finished fourth in the South Dakota meet with a 3:37.0 clocking with Starling, Thomas, Rolfes and Mark Johnson while Harper leaped 22-10 for fourth place honors.

John Berney sprinted to a sixth place time of 60.0 in the 400 intermediate hurdles while placing fifth in the 110 meter high hurdles in 15.71.

In women's results it was Jennifer Kennedy placing third in the three-mile run with a 19:09 effort while the 4x800 foursome of Lucy Peter, Mary Schnitzler, Angie Chvala and Kennedy placed fourth in 10:44.0.

Schnitzler placed sixth in the 1500 meter run in 5:20.7 and Stacy Dieckman placed sixth in the shot put with a 41-5 effort while Kris Herrmann placed sixth in the javelin with an 89-11 toss.

WSC golf team places seventh

WAYNE-Coach Eldon Hutchison's men's golf team ended the spring season placing seventh at the Northern State Spring Golf Classic in Aberdeen, S.D.

WSC finished with an 896 (445-451) in the five-man format tournament while Gustavus Adolphus College of Minnesota won the title. Freshman Sam Prue led the 'Cats with a 173 while freshman Rob Braun added a 176.

Junior High boys compete

WAYNE-The Wayne Junior High boys track team recently took part in the Osmond Invitational and Lonnie Ehrhardt's eighth grade team placed fifth with 64 points while the seventh grade team placed seventh with three points.

Spencer Stednitz paced the eighth grade team by winning the 800, 1200 and running a leg on the winning 1600 meter relay team with Travis Koester, Erik Wiseman and Mike Imdieke.

Andy Witkowski won the shot put and placed second in the discus and he was a member of the fourth place 400 meter relay team which also consisted of Josh Swanson, Scott Sievers and Steve Webber.

Swanson added a third in the long jump while Imdieke placed third in the high jump. Koester placed fourth in the 800 and 1200 meter runs while Webber placed fifth in the 110 meter high hurdles.

The seventh grade team scored its three points on a fifth place by Tyler Endicott in the 400 meter dash and the 400 meter relay team which placed sixth with Endicott, Kurtis Keller, Paul Zulkosky and Andrew Bayless.

Wayne boys win track meet

The Wayne track teams traveled to compete in the Wisner-Piager Invitational on Saturday and the Blue Devil boys captured the team title with 118 points—outdistancing runner-up West Point Central Catholic by 26 points.

Ponca and Wisner tied for third with 84 points while Tekamah-Herman scored 71. Healan reserves finished with 45 while Pender scored 17. Emerson-Hubbard finished eighth with 14 and Walthill failed to score.

The Blue Devils copped seven, first place finishes with Kyle Bensen, Jim Murphy and Todd Fuelberth leading the way. Bensen placed first in the 400 with a 51.1 clocking and he placed first in the 800 in 2:03. He also ran a leg on the winning 1600 meter relay team that was timed in 3:35.6 with Jim Murphy, John Murphy and Nate Stednitz.

Fuelberth won the 1600 and 3200 meter runs in times of 4:54.0 and 10:29.3 while Jim Murphy added a first in the 200 meter dash with a 23.1 clocking. He edged his brother John who was timed in 23.2.

The 3200 meter relay foursome of Mark Meyer, Brad Uhing, Aaron Geiger and Nate Stednitz placed first in 8:51.3. Matt Ley placed second in both distance races with a 4:56.6 clocking in the 1600 and a 10:29.3 effort in the 3200 while Jim Murphy placed second in the 400 with a 51.6 time.

Randy Johnson placed fourth in the 1600 in 5:21.1 while Stednitz placed fourth in the 800 in 2:12.6. John Murphy added a fifth in the 400 with a 52.8 effort while Clint Dyer ran to a fifth place finish of 24.3 in the 200.

Jeff Hamer placed sixth in the shot put with a 41-11 effort and Chris Headley placed sixth in the 3200 with a 11:27.7 time while Arnold Swartz threw the discus 115-5.5 for sixth. The sprint relay foursome of Regg Carnes, Brad Uhing, Clint Dyer and Mark Meyer placed sixth in 49.0.

"I felt the team did a good job considering the head and the wind," Wayne coach Rocky Ruhl said. "We had a few new faces score some points and our depth provided us with the win." Girls place third

The Wayne girls placed third overall with 68 points. West Point Central Catholic won the team title with 135 points while Wisner scored 133. Pender was fourth with 43.5 while Tekamah finished fifth with 32.

Ponca placed sixth with 26 and Emerson placed seventh with 21.5 while Walthill rounded out the team scoring with four points.

Tammy Geiger was the lone Wayne athlete to place first on the day with her 12:34.5 clocking in the 3200 while placing second in the 1600 in 6:01.3. Tami Schluns finished second in the 3200 in 13:00.4.

Jenny Thompson placed third in the 100 meter hurdles with a personal best time of 17.5 while Liz Reeg placed third in the shot put with a 32-11.5 effort. Wayne's 3200 meter relay team of Tami Schluns, Carrie Fink, Mandi Higbee and Tammy Geiger placed third in 10:56.5.

Carrie Fink also placed fourth in the 800 in 2:42.5 while the 1600 relay team placed fourth in 4:45.1 with Schluns, Higbee, Fink and Jenny Thompson. The sprint relay team of Liz Reeg, Danielle Nelson, Beth French and Jenny Nelson

WSC inks spikers

WAYNE-Volleyball standouts Annette Fluckey of Omaha and Becky Hansen of North Platte will continue their academic and athletic careers at Wayne State College.

Fluckey, a 5-7 middle hitter, led Platteview High School in kills and blocks while being named the team's most valuable player last season. She also participated in basketball, softball, and track & field.

"Annette is a strong jumper who has excellent quickness, which will help us in a lot of ways," third-year WSC coach Nancy Clark said. "She will see playing time at both middle and right-side hitter. Annette's a strong freshman to add to our squad."

Hansen, a 6-0 middle hitter, is a transfer from Mid Plains Community College. She was an all-conference and all-state selection at North Platte High School.

"Becky will help strengthen our middle position, Clark said. "She is a quick, aggressive middle hitter."

Wayne State softball team ends season with two losses

LONE SENIOR CARLA Gilbertson takes a swing at a pitch from Kearney's Sue Johnson during double-header action in Wayne on Saturday. Gilbertson got the lone hit for WSC in the first game. She graduates a four-year letterwinner.

The Wayne State women's softball team closed out their season Saturday in front of the home crowd against rival Kearney.

The visiting Lopers swept the 'Cats in a twinbill, 1-0, 9-3, which left WSC with a season-ending 23-22 record—up from last season's 15-21 mark.

In the first game the host team fell victim to Lopers pitcher Susan Johnson, who nearly pitched a perfect game. Johnson struck out 14 WSC batters and walked none while giving up just one hit—a two-out single in the sixth inning by lone senior Carla Gilbertson.

Johnson came into the game as the NCAA Division II strikeout leader and she did nothing to alter that standing. Kearney scored one run in the top of the first inning on a passed ball and that proved to be enough for the 1-0 victory in the opener.

Kelly Sheaff took the pitching loss for the Wildcats despite scattering just four hits after going the distance.

In the second game Johnson again got the win after pitching six innings and giving up no runs on two hits while striking out nine and walking one. WSC's Michelle Harris took the loss from the mound.

The Lopers scored twice in the first inning and added one more in each of the third and fourth innings before scoring four in the fifth. WSC scored its three runs in the seventh inning off a Loper reliever after Johnson was given a rest.

Johnson pitched a total of 20 innings against the 'Cats this season and finished with 39 strikeouts, allowed three hits and no runs during that tenure.

The 'Cats finished the second game with three runs on four hits and three errors while the Lopers had nine runs on 12 hits and one error. Dee Henningsen, Jill Gengler and Michele Reinhardt all singled as did Carla Gilbertson in her final at bat as a Wildcat which scored two WSC runs. Gilbertson ends her career as a four-year letterwinner.

DEE HENNINGSEN rifles a ground ball to first base during action against Kearney. Henningsen ends her junior season as the all-time NCAA Division II stolen base queen.

Heart and Soul Run scheduled May 16

A two and five mile run to benefit the American Heart Association will take place on Saturday, May 16. The run/walk event, called the Heart and Soul Classic, is sponsored by Benthack Clinic of Wayne, Edward D. Jones & Co., Heritage Homes of Nebraska, Restful Knights, Wayne Sporting Goods and Wayne Family Practice.

Ron Olsen, the event director, said registration for the run will be in the WSC rec center from 8-8:45 a.m. on the 16th. A one mile, kids' fun run will begin at 9 a.m. and the adults' two and five mile run/walk will begin at 9 a.m. Presentation of awards will follow.

"This is a run I think the entire family will enjoy," Olsen said. "Not only do we want to raise money for the American Heart Association, we also want to make everybody aware that they can improve their cardiovascular systems through running. Running is an activity that will make you feel good, physically and mentally."

All runners will receive Heart & Soul T-shirts, and will be competing for medals which will be given to the top three finishers in each male/female age division.

Plaques will also be awarded to the overall male/female and master's winners in the five mile run. For more information call Ron Olsen at 375-7483, or pick up a brochure at one of the above sponsors' locations.

Stanton finished sixth after scoring a 365 while Valley placed seventh with a 370. West Point finished in the number eight spot with a 378 and West Point Central Catholic placed ninth with a 385. Scribner-Snyder rounded out the top 10 teams with a 387.

Fremont Bergan placed 11th with a 407 and Tekamah-Herman placed 12th with a 408. Lyons-Decatur rounded out the field of 13 teams with a 441.

The Blue Devils were led by Nate Salmon who placed fourth overall with an 80 after rounds of 39-41. Kelly Hammer placed 10th in the individual standings with an 82 and rounds of 41-41 while Jason Claussen fired an 85 with a 39-46.

Kyle Dahl rounded out Wayne's scoring with an 89 and rounds of 49-40. Jason Johs also played varsity and finished with a 100 and rounds of 52-48. Wayne will compete in the Northern Activities Conference Tournament on Saturday in O'Neill.

VOTE FOR AMENDMENT 1

Beef production is Nebraska's largest industry. Cattle feeding and related businesses contribute over $2.3 billion to the state's gross earnings. Feedyards consume about a third of the feed grains produced every year in Nebraska, and our packing industry is now the largest in the nation.

In fact, the livelihood of one out of every seven Nebraskans is directly or indirectly reliant on the beef cattle industry.

But all that could soon change.

Through a series of decisions, the Nebraska Supreme Court has said that real and personal property must be taxed alike unless the Constitution is changed.

If amendment 1 fails, personal property would go back on the tax rolls. Livestock, feed, grain, seed and business inventory would all be taxed at full market value. This means cattle on feed January 1 of every year would be taxed an average of $12.60 per head, which is more than the average profit!

If Amendment 1 fails, our feeders would be unable to compete with feeders in other states. Cattle would be fed out-of-state, which means job layoffs in Nebraska's feedyards and related industries. In turn, this hurts main street businesses and makes the state's tax situation even worse.

Don't gamble with Nebraska's future. Vote for amendment 1, and keep our cattle from moving to "greener pastures."

We must get along

Outrage is justified following the verdict in the police brutality case surrounding the beating by four police officers in Los Angeles of Rodney King.

But more violence, rioting and the beating deaths of other innocent people is not justified. The issue in the case should not be looked at from a racial perspective.

The issue is justice.

Who can look at the video of police officers repeatedly beating a prone motorist and say there was not excessive, even criminal force used?

We were not party to the legal arguments surrounding the trial of the four accused police officers. It is difficult for us and the millions of other appalled Americans to criticize the jury without having heard all the evidence they heard, but the most damning piece of evidence is the horrible video that is impossible to justify.

Whether the victim was white, black or purple makes no difference. The police officers were wrong and should be called to justice.

We are disappointed to see that call for justice coming predominantly from the black community.

When Wayne State College students marched down Main Street last week in a peaceful and reasonable show of support for the national cry for justice, there should have been white marchers too.

Just as level-headed black leaders have tried to quell the spread of racially motivated violence following the court verdict by coming to the aid of riot victims and calling for peace and understanding, so should the white community be demanding justice.

Law enforcement leaders nationwide have to be concerned about the poor light this case unjustly casts on the majority of police officers who could never see themselves committing the acts the nation saw on the King video. Good police officers must spend years rebuilding the faith and respect that was destroyed in a few seconds of video-taped club swings by a small gang of bullies in blue.

Likewise, we all must spend years rekindling the idea of equality under the law—the sense of brotherhood—the system of justice.

Rodney King's heart-felt words were the most fitting as we begin that rebuilding.

"Can we all just get along."

Use it or lose it

Big oil companies have never been a fan of alcohol fuels.

They were led kicking and screaming to the labs that proved the renewable resource that ethanol represents works well in cars, is better for the environment and helps the domestic agricultural market.

We still hear of scare tactics foisted on the public about the unproven so-called dangers of ethanol-blend fuels put forth by oil companies reluctant to see even a ten percent decline in the amount of imports from their investments in foreign oil fields.

In the early 1970s we woke up to find we were a nation of energy users dependant on volatile regions of the world for our energy resources. We took small steps then to decrease our foreign energy dependence. One of those steps was to investigate domestic energy sources like grain fuels.

The ethanol additive was developed for widespread use but the acceptance has not been easy.

Now, a recent EPA directive has thrown another roadblock in the way of broader use of the proven product.

The EPA, ignoring the clean burning, smog-reducing properties of ethanol blend fuels, has slapped limits on its use in large cities because the agency says when it evaporates from gas tanks it produces ozone.

The new rule, which is being fought by Midwest governors and congressional representatives, is based on faulty studies they say. But nonetheless, the EPA rule has put a halt to many new ethanol plants and has effectively limited the expansion potential for local grain producers and marketers.

We need to make our voices heard in the effort to promote ethanol. We need to increase the demand for it by using it in our own vehicles.

If Midwesterners aren't supporters of this proven-product that helps our own economy, how can we expect to be successful in the fight against well-placed efforts to limit the growth of the ethanol industry.

Momisms:

Gems of wisdom from tongues of fire

If you live with a mother all your life, or rather a whole herd of them as I have, you end up looking at the world, at least at times, the same way they do. They drill it into you.

Okay, okay, I shouldn't say I have lived with a whole herd of mothers, that sounds bad. We should probably call them a group... or gaggle...or, better yet, gang.

Men really do (or should) learn a lot about motherhood over the years, if they just listen.

Their own mothers lectured them, their wives lecture their children, their mothers-in-law pass on (ahem) wisdom, their grandmothers are never reticent to impart quaint platitudes to live by and their sisters who become mothers keep the motherly tongue sharp as well.

Author Michele Slung has made a study of mothers' sayings which she calls Momilies. They are the quaint sayings—one line lectures and sharp rebuttals that mothers for centuries have used to help bring up their children (and at times straighten out their children's fathers).

"Do you think I'm talking just to hear myself think," was one of the favorites I remember hearing my mother use. It's not one of the ones in Ms. Slung's books, however.

"If you are bored, go clean your room," is a favorite "Momism" used by the mother of my children. It is in the book as well.

I remember my grandmother's favorite retort when one of us sniveling little rug rats complained of being hungry was: "Eat a cold potato and wait."

Mothers can have cruel tongues even though few of us ever believed they would carry out their threats. More than once I remember creating enough frustration to hear "Stop it

Mann Overboard

By Les Mann

or I'm going to knock you clear into next Tuesday."

How could you ever trust a woman who takes a hickory log to your backside with the strength of Sampson and gleam of pure pleasure in her eye and while she is inflicting this mortal — albeit deserved — whipping she says something so idiotic as: "This hurts me more than it does you."

You'll never see a book of Dadisms. Fathers don't wax poetic. They don't say much of anything when they are angry. "AAARRGH! You Idiot!" and "stopit stopit STOPIT STOPIT!" is about the extent of most of the verbal communication used by fathers.

They rely more heavily on other forms of communicating.

But mothers, oh, mothers can lay on guilt with a single phrase as easy as spreading jam on toast.

Here's a sampling of more of the "momisms" which have been indelibly etched in my memory by mothers I have known: (For the sake of my own well-being I won't identify which mother etched it there.)

"If you fall out of that tree and break your leg, don't come running to me."

"What I say goes in one ear and out the other."

"Don't you get smart with me."

"Save your 'hey' you might marry a donkey someday."

"It was that way when I was a little boy."

"If I had a nickel for every time..."

"Never do anything you wouldn't want to see published in our local paper."

"What would Jesus say?"

"This time make sure you use soap."

"If you pout like that a chicken is going to come and sit on your lip."

"Hush! or I'll give you something to cry about."

"I'm going to beat you to within an inch of your life."

"How do you know you don't like it if you haven't tried it?"

If you understand all of those, you will have no trouble translating some of the momisms which they deliver in codes. Supposedly they think others within hearing distance cannot understand these little messages.

What young boy in a mixed group of his friends has not suffered the embarrassment of having his mom say, just loud enough for everyone to hear, "Les, X.Y.Z. (examine your zipper)."

Next to the one about it hurting her worse than it did me, I suppose the most difficult "Momism" I ever tried to swallow was "You'll thank me someday."

But, she was right about that one.

Confessions of a traffic count prankster

You know those things which the highway department places on the road to determine how heavy the vehicle traffic is on any given road? I have a love-hate relationship with those things.

I can't tell you how many times I've wanted to spend all day just driving around the block running over them. I think it would be fun but there might be some ramifications to doing that.

For instance, if I drove around the block all day I probably wouldn't get my work done. That could cause some problems. That's probably why I've never done it.

ANOTHER REASON I've never done it is because I wouldn't want to log the miles on my car it would take driving continuously around one block. I'd say one advantage to doing it is that by the end of the day I'd know the block pretty darn well. I could tell where every strand of grass is and where

Mark 'n' the Spot

By Mark Crist

every tree is located within a certain number of feet of the corner. Those are the advantages. But I doubt there's more advantages than disadvantages and that's not good.

Could you just imagine what that would be like. State highway officials would look at the numbers on their meters and think "why in the world is this so off from the other three we have placed on this stretch of road?"

That would be confusing for highway people and their job is hard enough, right?

OF COURSE, then there's the problem of the people in the neighborhood getting tired of seeing me drive around the block. They'd probably call the police on me, thinking I was dazed and confused (actually that's a normal state — they'd probably think OK, he's lost it).

"What are you doing?" the officer would ask.

"Nothing, sir. Honestly, I'd reply.

"But why are you driving around the block continuously?"

"No reason. I just thought it was a nice day for a drive and..." I'd say before being interrupted.

"Don't you think driving around the block 7,000 times is a little much within an hours time?" the officer would inquire.

"Well, that all depends on what your purpose is," I'd respond.

"OK. So what's your purpose?"

"I'm just trying to tinker with the readings the highway department would get from that little rubber tube they have placed across the highway," I'd say. "I want to make sure I get the most for my taxpayers dollars."

"Well, could you please do it somewhere else. People in the neighborhood are getting tired of looking at you," the officer would proclaim.

"Sure. There's another one just down the road. I'll do it down there," would be my response.

"On second thought, why don't you just go home?" the officer would say.

"OK."

Maybe next time I'll follow one of those line painters and swerve back and forth across the highway to see how yellow I can make my tire tracks. Nah.

Isn't it funny what perks sometimes come across us or is it just me.

Letters to the Editor

Day of prayer

Thursday, May 7 has been designated National Day of Prayer. The theme for this year is "Let us Pray." Americans everywhere are asked to lift our nation and its needs up to an Almighty God.

By unanimous action of both houses, in 1988 Congress established that a National Day of Prayer will always be observed on the first Thursday of May. In keeping with this 41st consecutive observance, President Bush and governors and mayors all across our nation are proclaiming May 7 as a day of prayer.

Throughout the history of our nation, we have seen the providential hand of God. It was for freedom to pray and worship that first brought settlers to this great land. national days of prayer have been part of our American heritage since 1775 when the Continental Congress declared the first day of prayer. The Founding Fathers prayed frequently for our nation, as have many presidents and other leaders since. Who can forget the sublime figure of George Washington on his knees at Valley Forge asking help from God. Let's continue this tradition that has meant so much throughout our nation's history.

We are urging all churches and individuals to join in prayer acknowledging our dependence on God, giving thanks for the many blessings God has given us, and asking God to guide our leaders, and to bring healing, reconciliation and wholeness to our nation and its people.

We must never forget that "Righteousness exalts a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." God has promised that when we "call upon Him, He will answer us and show us great and mighty things." Time and again, God has graciously answered the earnest pleas of a praying nation and we can trust Him to hear us on May 7 as we bring before Him the issues that concern our nation today.

Disheartening news

I was disheartened to read about the closing of the recycling center.

The recycling center was a venture that finally made it easier for area people to do their part in the reduction of landfill waste.

The center met with disaster shortly after opening, which was a great setback. Optimistically, Mr. McGuire reopened and was ready to start business again. Now with the lack of financial support from its investors, it has again met with disaster.

I realize that in these or any economic times, putting your money into a new venture can be risky, and that immediate return is not often seen. Recycling at least in this area is in its infancy and must be given a chance to work. Recycling is not for the weak at heart and if anyone thinks that they will get rich quick from it is mistaken, at least at this point.

Recycling is not a short term venture. It is the long term benefits that we should be concerned with.

Recycling is not mandatory at this time, but all indications point to a future with mandatory recycling. With this in mind, recycling will be a very lucrative industry and those that stick it out in their present recycling efforts will reap the rewards of an environmentally beneficial business.

People like Mr. McGuire are to be applauded for their efforts and foresight. I hope he can find new investors with the same vision he has, whether it is around here or elsewhere.

With or without the recycling center it still comes down to us. We must all continue to do our part to protect our environment in any way we can.

Plan disappointing

After being assured by my city council representative that increased pedestrian safety was the incentive behind the sidewalk improvement plan, I am very disappointed by the way the council has put that plan into effect. Requiring property owners to foot the entire bill for adding sidewalk where there is none is in direct conflict with increasing pedestrian safety.

I feel that it is in our city's best interest to provide safe walkways on every street. The safety of our children walking to school, bus stops, the swimming pool, recreation programs and other activities should be a priority. Property owners in all parts of the city should be encouraged to establish new sidewalks where there are none, whether through a cost sharing plan or some other method. We should all be working together to make our community a safe place to raise our future leaders.

Irene E. Fletcher
Wayne

P.S. I will continue to teach my children and the children whom I work with that the safest place to walk is off the street, using the sidewalk wherever it is available or walking on the lawn if there is no sidewalk.

Professional nature

Let us do our job with professionalism.

I received this letter from the City of Wayne on Saturday, May 2 in the mail. I want to share it with the public. It reads:

"Dear Mrs. Bull,
This letter is a follow-up to the report you received that the city has found a water leak in the water line which services the property at 215 W. Third Street.

"The section of the Wayne Municipal Code regarding this leak is as follows: Section 3-106.01 of the Wayne Municipal Code states that repair of the above mentioned leak shall be made at the consumer's expense. In the event repairs are not made by one week after being notified by the city, water service will be terminated until the repairs are made.

"Perhaps repairs on the leak have already started, in which case the above code is for your information only.

"Your cooperation in this matter is appreciated. Should you have any questions, do not hesitate to call this office or the Wastewater Treatment Plant foreman at 375-5250."

I'm not mentioning any names that were on the letter; they know who they are. What upsets me, when I received the above letter is that I haven't received a copy of the report, that this letter is supposed to be a follow-up to.

I talked with one of the persons on the phone and this person said that "the person who reads the water meter, usually talks to the consumer in person." Well, I've got news for them. I am seldomly home Monday through Friday by 4 p.m., when their shift ends. I am requesting that this report be done in black and white, none of this verbal information. Business is business, let us do it with professionalism.

I am a resident of Wayne County, Nebraska since Dec. 23, 1948 and I have been a resident of the City of Wayne since Oct. 11, 1980.

Six go to Washington

Students attend

Six Wayne High School students recently returned from Washington, D.C. following a trip for the Close Up program.

Close Up is a program geared for high school youth which provides a civic learning experience in Washington, D.C. It provides students with the opportunity of not only learning about government up close, it helps them make decisions about their educations and careers. They also have the opportunity to meet other high school students from across the nation.

"We had a great week in Washington," said Wayne High Teacher

John Murtaugh, who instructs many of the school's government classes. "I think the students benefitted a great deal from this experience."

Activities during the six-day trip included: government and issues seminars, topical seminars, legislative seminars, daily workshops, study visits to sites like the National Archives, the Vietnam Memorial, the capitol, the monuments and other federal institutions and government agencies.

Taking part in the trip was Liz Reeg, Jessica Wilson, Teresa Witkowski, Chris Hammer, Scott Otte and Scott Day.

The teacher sponsor of the trip was Murtaugh.

During the six-day excursion, students went to Washington, D.C. with students from Arizona, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, South Carolina, Washington and West Virginia.

During the trip students had a chance to visit with various government officials and listen to an array of speakers. Speakers included Karen Hosler, a journalist who has had over 20 years in covering the White House, Pam Johnson, a staff assistant to Rep. Doug Bereuter, and others.

Director transfers

Robert D. Fritschen, director of the University of Nebraska Panhandle Research and Extension Center at Scottsbluff, will transfer to a similar position at the Northeast Research and Extension Center at Concord in mid-August.

Irv Omtvedt, UNL vice chancellor for agriculture and natural resources, said Fritschen will succeed Donald B. Hudman who is retiring at Northeast District Director July 31. Hudman and his wife, Virginia, will move to Texas this summer.

"The Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources implemented this transfer program to facilitate administrative flexibility to best serve the statewide program and the specific needs of five geographic regions in the state," Omtvedt said.

"Fritschen has provided outstanding leadership for our program in the Panhandle since 1984," Omtvedt said, "and we are excited about the unique qualifications he brings to the district director position for northeast Nebraska." The transfer will be recommended to the NU Board of Regents at their June 11 meeting.

Omtvedt said Hudman has served "very effectively" as district director since 1986. "Hudman was instrumental in guiding the Northeast Center through a critical period. Through Hudman's leadership, extension programming units were developed into highly effective educational delivery systems in the area. Research and extension programs were directly targeted toward issues which were identified by citizen input under his leadership," Omtvedt pointed out.

Fritschen served as swine specialist at the Northeast Center from 1965 to 1979. A former Extension Agent, Fritschen served as associate director of the Panhandle Center and professor of animal science at UNL before assuming his current position.

"We are pleased to attract an individual with Fritschen's proven leadership record for this important administrative assignment in IANR," Omtvedt said.

"Fritschen has been actively involved with community and clientele groups in making more of the University's resources available to Panhandle learners. He helped develop the regional educational center at Scottsbluff in cooperation with Chadron State College, Western Nebraska Community College and the UNL Division of Continuing Studies. This experience should be most beneficial to us as we explore ways to more effectively make the resources of the University available to the Northeast District," Omtvedt said.

A native of Spencer, S.D., Fritschen graduated from South Dakota State University where he received his bachelor's and master's degrees in animal science. The recipient of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Superior Service Award, Fritschen was named to American Men and Women of Science, Who's Who in the Midwest and Personalities in America. He received the award of merit from the UNL chapter of Gamma Sigma Delta, honor society of agriculture, in 1991.

Program seeks teenagers

America's National Teen-Ager Scholarship Program, which is celebrating its 21st year as a national scholarship competition, is seeking teenagers, between 13 and 18 years old, to enter the Nebraska State Scholarship Program and compete for college scholarships and cash prizes worth thousands of dollars.

The Nebraska Scholarship Program will be held on Saturday, June 27, at Hastings College in Hastings. The Senior and Junior Division award winners will receive college scholarships and a trip to the famous Opryland theme park in Nashville, Tenn., this August, where they will compete for national prizes, which include a $10,000 and $5,000 cash scholarship, trips to Hawaii and tour the United States. Each state award winner will also be eligible to audition for Opryland, U.S.A.

Entrants will be judged on scholastic achievement, leadership abilities, poise, personality and appearance. There is no swimsuit category.

Teenagers wishing to enter the competition should write to Nebraska National Teen-Ager Scholarship Program, Mrs. Donna Jacupke, 2731 Wendell Drive, Hastings, 68901.

Winside stages spring play

WINSIDE HIGH school students Chad Evans and Laurel DuBois perform a scene from Winside High School's spring play "All American." Performance times are May 8 at 1:30 p.m. and May 9 at 8 p.m. Admission is $2.50 per adult and $1.50 for youth grades K-12. Evans plays Professor Fodorsky and DuBois plays Elizabeth. Kathy L. Schwarten

Student earns degree

Kathy L. Schwarten of Wakefield graduated May 8 from St. Luke's School of Nursing in Sioux City. Graduation was held at Eppley Auditorium for 31 senior students.

Schwarten is the daughter of Merle and Lois Schwarten.

The graduates received nursing pins and diplomas from Regene Osborne, School Director; Bonnie Wiltse, Vice President of Nursing Practice at St. Luke's Regional Medical Center; and John Anderson, Chairperson of St. Luke's Board of Directors. Pam Jeffries, Director of Iowa Methodist School of Nursing, presented the commencement address.

Graduation from St. Luke's School of Nursing signifies completion of the three-year educational program in preparation for the national licensure exam for Registered Nurse. The nursing school is affiliated with Briar Cliff College and provides students with the opportunity to obtain a Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree following graduation from St. Luke's.

Schwarten will be employed at St. Luke's Regional Medical Center in the Critical Care department while continuing her education to obtain a Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree.

Fire fighters save barn

Photography: Mark Crist

WAYNE VOLUNTEER FIRE FIGHTER BILL SPERRY douses a barn with water Monday to keep it from catching on fire from a pile of corn cobs which were burning in a field approximately seven miles south and a mile east of Wayne. The fire call came in at 4:38 p.m. and it was reported by Alvin Anderson. Fire fighters were able to hose down the barn before turning efforts toward the corn cob fire. Fortunately, no damage occurred to the barn and the corn cobs didn't cause much reason for worry. The call took approximately 20 minutes to put out. There were no injuries reported as a result of the blaze.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION
Primary Election Special, May 12, 1992

Proposed Amendment No. 1

A vote FOR this proposal will provide: (1) that the uniformity clause (property taxes to be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately) would henceforth apply to real property as defined by the Legislature, except as otherwise provided by the constitution, rather than to all tangible property, personal as well as real, except for reasonable exemptions allowed by the constitution; (2) that tangible personal property, as defined by the Legislature and not exempt from taxation, would henceforth be all taxed either at its depreciated cost, using the same depreciation method for all personal property, with reasonable class lives as determined by the Legislature, or by valuation uniformly and proportionately; (3) that property protected by federal law from discriminatory state or local taxation would constitute a separate class of property for tax purposes and would be exempt from the uniformity clause, and would authorize the Legislature to enact laws recognizing such property and tax or exempt it from taxation as it would determine; (4) that the property tax rate levied for a governmental subdivision shall be the same for all taxed classes of personal and real property; (5) that the Legislature may exempt inventory from taxation, and define and classify personal property, whether by type, use, user, or owner, and exempt any such class or classes of property from taxation if such exemption is reasonable; (6) that the present limit on the aggregate taxes which may be made by county authorities will be changed from fifty cents per $100 actual valuation to fifty cents per $100 of taxable value and that (7) the constitutional amendments outlined above would be effective from and after January 1, 1992, and that revenue legislation enacted in the regular 1992 legislative session, not inconsistent with the constitution as amended, shall be considered ratified and confirmed by these amendments and need not be reenacted by the Legislature.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will: (1) leave both real property and tangible personal property subject to the uniformity clause; (2) prohibit the Legislature from valuing and taxing for property tax purposes non-exempt tangible personal property on a depreciated cost basis; (3) not specifically authorize the Legislature to create as a separate class for tax or tax exempt purposes property protected by federal law from discriminatory state and local taxation; (4) not specifically authorize the exemption of inventory; (5) not specifically authorize the Legislature to classify all other tangible personal property and exempt the classes from taxation if such exemption is reasonable; and would not trigger the implementation of certain provisions of revenue laws (that is, LB 1063 providing the new system for the taxation of tangible personal property) enacted during the 1992 regular legislative session.

For

Against

A constitutional amendment to separate tangible personal property from the uniform and proportionate provision applicable to real property, to provide for the valuation of taxable tangible personal property at depreciated cost or at actual value uniformly and proportionately, to provide for the separate classification of property and franchises protected by federal law, to harmonize a provision relating to the limitation on county taxes, and to provide that legislation passed in the regular 1992 legislative session shall be effective January 1, 1992, and is ratified and confirmed by this amendment.

TOP MOMS

Stories make heart-warming reading

The Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce will be pinning medals on five deserving mothers Thursday, May 7 when it hosts the winners of the Wayne Area Top Moms contest during a coffee at the Black Knight at 10 a.m.

The five winning mothers, as nominated by their children, are (alphabetically) Debbie Ensz, Shelley Frevert, Virginia Grim, Vicky Jones and Linda Raveling. Stories about each Top Mom are included in this special Wayne Herald reporters attempted to gather information about the Top Moms without their knowledge in an effort to keep the winners a surprise until their stories appeared in tonight's paper.

Elementary and Middle School students from Wayne and surrounding rural schools were invited to enter their moms in the contest by writing in 100 words or less, "Why my mom should be a Wayne Top Mom."

Nearly 200 entries were received and judges, a panel of retired school teachers selected by the chamber, said it was difficult to narrow the field to just

"The difficulty the judges had is a tribute to the excellent writing ability of the students and the fine qualities displayed by all their mothers," said Kurt Wilwerding, chamber executive.

He said the new chamber contest points dramatically to one of the things that makes Wayne a great place to live. "It (the contest) displays excellence in our educational system and in the parenting--especially mothering--our young people receive," he said.

Besides the coffee and special medal the winning moms will receive other gifts from Wayne businesses. All the entries the chamber received are on display in store windows of Wayne businesses and the public is invited to walk around and do some heart-warming window reading, said Wilwerding.

In addition to the top five entries from students, judges also selected five runners-up. Those essays are also included in this section.

Special coffee is tribute to moms

A special Chamber of Commerce coffee will be held in honor of the Wayne Area "Top Moms" at 10 a.m. Thursday at the Black Knight in Wayne.

At the coffee, the moms will be pinned with medals and awarded chamber bucks and prizes from Wayne area businesses.

Wayne Ambassadors will be on hand to honor the moms in what promises to be an annual contest and ceremony for Wayne, according to Kurt Wilwerding, chamber executive.

This year's Top Mom prizes (split among the five designees) will be 1) A necklace and earrings from Kid's Closet 2) Ten gallons of gas from Apco 3) A mother's sleep shirt from Swans, 4) $20 off on a Hoover Helpmate from Charlie's Appliance, 5) A $20 gift certificate from Wayne Sporting Goods, 6) A $20 gift certificate from Sav-Mor Pharmacy, 7) A $20 gift certificate from Hardees, 8) A cake from Dairy Queen, 9) A box of hamburger patties from Johnson Frozen Foods, 10) Free tire rotation and computer balancing from Fredrickson Oil, 11) Cologne and soap gift set from Four in Hand, 12) A leather handbag from Surbers, 13) A $20 gift certificate from El Toro, 14) A corsage from Nebraska Floral and Gifts, 15) A free month of a premium channel from Jones Intercable. Plus each of the five honored moms will receive $20 in Chamber Bucks from the Wayne Herald.

Her mom's 'just plain wonderful'

By Mark Crist

What makes a mom a Top Mom? Just ask Brittney Frevert. She knows.

Brittney's mother Shelley was one of five mothers picked as a Wayne Top Mom.

"She always does stuff with me," Brittney says. "If I ask her for help she does it right away and doesn't do something else first. She helps me with my homework when I need her to and that makes me feel special."

Brittney Frevert

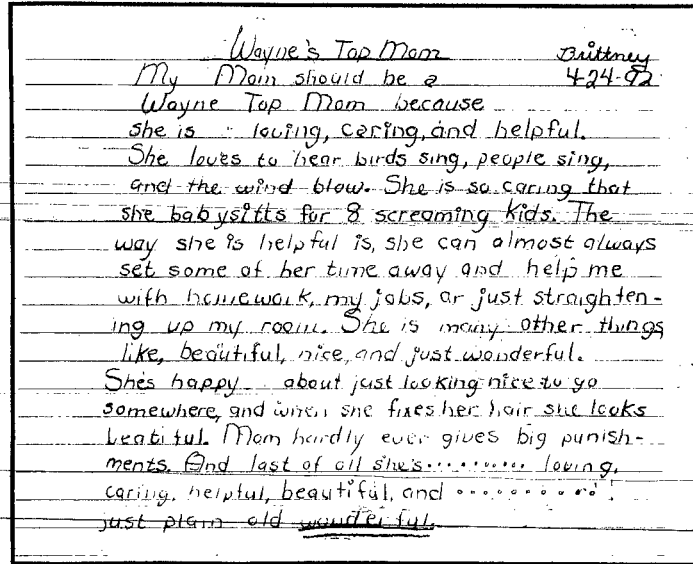

Shelley, who runs a day care operation out of her home, is married to Brian Frevert, who just recently opened the Wayne Agri Center. Wayne's Top Moms were selected by a panel of retired teachers appointed by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce.

Brian's complimentary of his wife. He says he believes she's a Top Mom because she's dedicated to her family.

"SHE'S BEEN home the last six years raising these guys and she's made it to some events I couldn't," Brian says. "She's done a good job with these three kids. To raise them and take in a day care really says a lot."

Brian and Shelley have three children: Brittney, 9-year-old who's in the fourth grade; Brandy, 12, who's in the sixth grade; and Brad, 6, a kindergartner. Brittney's essay on her mom was one of the winners selected by the panel of judges.

One of Brittney's special memories of times she's spent with her mom was from a trip the family took to the Black Hills of South Dakota. She says it was fun to

By Kevin Peterson

When it comes to Wayne's Top Mom's, it's hard to compare with Linda Raveling, according to her daughter Jessica, a fifth grader at the Wayne Middle School.

In a recent essay contest by students in grades three through eight, Jessica's essay was selected from a panel of retired teachers sponsored by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce.

"I think my mom deserves the title of being a Wayne Top Mom," Jessica said. "She always puts us (my dad Larry and sister Jennifer), first. She often cuts out some of her activities just to be with us."

Linda and Larry Raveling have been married for nearly 17 years and have lived in Wayne for five years. Linda is employed at Wayne State College in the coop-education program which aids students in finding on-the-job training for college credit.

"LINDA ALWAYS finds time to spend with the girls," Larry said. "She works a full time job at the college and yet she finds time to get involved with the Girls Scout program in Wayne."

Larry also said that Linda goes out of her way to do the extras to please her children such as driving Jessica over to Sioux City to the music guild for piano recitals.

"My mom does a great job of helping

Linda Raveling

Jessica Raveling

"I like that pesonal, private time when we take walks..."

me with my homework because she helps me understand it," Jessica said. "She always congratulates my family and I on things that we've worked hard on whether it be school related or a project around the house."

Jessica said she looks forward to the weekly walks she and her mother take because it gives her some quality time alone with her mom. "I like that personal private time when we take walks because it's just me and her and we talk about everything," Jessica said.

WHEN IT comes to Jessica making her mom feel special it is kind of a reciprocating process. "I clean the house and make supper a lot because of my mom's schedule and she in turn takes me out for ice cream sometimes and lets me stay over night with my friends," Jessica said.

The most important thing Jessica has learned from her mother is not talking to strangers. "That is a very good thing to learn," Jessica said. "One time, however, when we lived in Iowa, my mom and I were downtown and her boss came up to us and started talking to me. My mom told me to say hi to him and I just looked up at her and said no mom, we're not supposed to talk to strangers."

Jessica says her family plans on taking her mother out to eat on Mothers Day and buying her flowers and just making her feel special.

Mom makes daughter feel proud

By Mark Crist

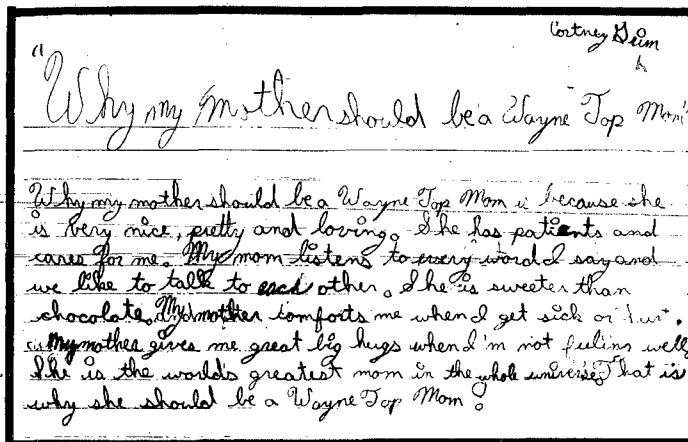

It's nice for Cortney Grim to know that her mother loves her. Because of the love Cortney has for her mother, Virginia has been selected as one of Wayne's Top Moms.

Cortney's essay on what makes her mother a Top Mom was selected as one of the winners by a panel of retired teachers appointed by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce.

"We talk almost every day about what I did in school," Cortney says. "She likes to know how I did and that makes me feel proud of myself."

Cortney Grim

IN ADDITION to discussing what happened during the day, Virginia gives her daughter lots of hugs and kisses.

"It means she loves me a lot," Cortney says. "It's nice to know that she loves me."

Virginia's husband Daral is also complementary of his wife. He says she treats him better than he deserves to be treated, at times.

"She's a real good cook and she's tolerant of everything and everybody," Daral says. "She takes the kids out for walks and she spends a lot of time with them. She reads to them a lot and it makes them like to read more."

Virginia and Daral have three children: Cortney, 10, a fourth grader; Erin, 7, a first grader; and Derek, 5, who's in preschool. Daral works at Great Dane Trailers in Wayne and Virginia is a home day care provider.

SOME OF THE special memories Cortney has of times with her mother is a trip to South Dakota's Black Hills. She says something else which makes her mother special is her willingness to go shopping and buy her clothes.

"She buys me clothes and takes me out to eat," she says. "She knows I like tacos, so she'll take us to Mexican restaurants quite a bit."

For Mother's Day, Cortney plans to make her Top Mom a Mother's Day card. She says that cards are something she does for her Top Mom that Virginia enjoys.

"I plan to give her a Mother's Day card and go to Grandma's and Grandpa's for dinner," she says. "When I make cards for her, she takes them and hangs them on the refrigerator."

Of the things Virginia has taught Cortney, building strong friendships is probably the most important, Cortney says.

"It's nice because she's smart and because of that, I look up to her," Cortney says.

This 'Top Mom' is one of a kind

By LaVon Anderson

Wayne Top Mom Vicky Jones can be proud of the fact that her family thinks she is one of a kind — a Top Mom to her three daughters and a Top Wife to her husband.

"I think my mom is pretty special," says 10-year-old daughter Ellie, one of five Wayne youngsters who submitted winning entries in the Top Mom contest sponsored by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce.

The essays were written by third through eighth grade students in Wayne and were judged by a panel of retired teachers selected by the Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to Ellie, a fifth grader at Wayne Middle School, Vicky is "mom" to 13-year-old Audrey and seven-year-old Christine.

She has been employed at the Northeast Research and Extension Center, Concord, for the past three years and is married to Tom Jones, manager of the parts department at Hansen Repair in Laurel.

"MOM MAKES me feel extra special by helping me bake things, like apple crisp, and fixing my favorite meal when I have a tooth pulled," says Ellie.

In return, Ellie says she also tries to make her mom feel special by remembering her on her birthday and by helping with chores around the house.

"I've been thinking about baking my mom a cake for Mother's Day, but my cakes are usually failures," smiles the 10-year-old. "I'll still try, but just in case, I also plan to give her a hug and a kiss."

Ellie says she especially enjoys doing things together with her mom, like a recent trip to Norfolk when they stopped by

Ellie admits that its the pits when her mom sets certain limits, but she also realizes that she's only "doing her job."

"When mom had her night job I missed her a lot, but not now. She's always there when I need her. I 'usually' tell her everything that happens to me during the day."

ELLIE'S father, Tom, is quick to echo his daughter's sentiments.

"Vicky is very caring about the needs of her children," says Tom. "She always puts herself second, and everyone else comes first."

My mother takes time to listen, she's always there to love and care for me. My mother works hard at work each day but finds time to play. Sometimes she put worn to a frazzle and needs a little rest but as far as I'm concerned she is the best. Because my mom does say no I don't always get what I want but always what I need. Sometimes I don't tell her how much I really need her but I like her to know she heads my list as #1.

Why my Mom should be a Wayne Top Mom

My mom should be a top mom because she makes holidays special for everyone. She's an at risk teacher, and a foster mom for two boys. She treats all her kids equally. When we're disappointed she has a motherly laugh and we talk about it. She really cares about her job and her family. When we move she always keeps touch with her friends.

My mom is a top mom because I can always talk with her. If I have a problem I talk with her. She listens to me. I trust her she trusts me. My mom is like another teacher. If she is doing something she always finds the time. Mom and I can always express our feelings. We play softball and she teaches me everything I know. Although she's not a teacher. She cooks special things. I especially like pizza with spices and pepperoni. My mom is special no matter what.

I think my mother Karen Milander should be a Kayne Top Mom because she participates in Kayne, Nebraska activities like parades, fire scouts, the School carnival and many other activities. She helps keep the earth clean and non-polluted. She recycles so the earth will end up a beautiful place. She takes care of my brothers and I. She encourages my brothers and I to learn more and become better educated. She gives my brothers and I food, clothes, a house, transportation, and many luxuries. She puts my brothers and I through school. And she just plain loves me. That's why!

Articulate 3rd grader appreciates his mom

By Les Mann

Nine-year-old Jeff Ensz has a point of view way beyond his years.

The Wayne Elementary School 3rd grader is sure he has one of the top moms in the Wayne area--no doubt about it.

"Unlike some moms, she gives me a lot and lot of love," said Jeff. "I can just feel it coming at me."

He said his mom, Debbie Ensz, is his counselor, confidant, helper and coach. He tells her "almost everything. Especially the important stuff."

BEHIND A thoughtful smile ornamented by a row of bright braces, Jeff said his mother works very hard to help students at Wayne State College the same way she works to help her own three children.

Besides helping him with his school work, Jeff said his mom also is a great tennis teacher and gives him pointers on other sports such as baseball. "She used to be a tennis teacher," he said. He admits she is lot better at tennis than she is at baseball. But all types of exercise are important in their family's lifestyle he said.

"SHE HAS HAD a lot of jobs besides being a good mom," he added.

Why my Mom should be a Wayne Top Mom.

My Mom knows that honesty is the best policy, so if I tell the truth I won't get in trouble. My mother is an adjunct and she works very hard at the college. She likes to help me with school work and likes to watch my fish with me. She cooks a lot of vegetables to keep me healthy. She doesn't cook sweet things anymore because she had to have heart surgery. My Mom takes good care of me because she loves me and I love her.

"She's been a secretary, waitress, lifeguard and teacher."

Mrs. Ensz, the wife of District Judge Robert Ensz, is a native of Wayne and is an adjunct professor at Wayne State College. She teaches classes in child and developmental psychology.

"It is not surprising at all that she would be chosen as one of Wayne's Top Moms," said Professor Jan Dinsmore, who shares office space with Mrs. Ensz. "She is a good mom and a great teacher."

"IT IS FUN to watch her students pay her the highest compliment that a teacher can have," said Mrs. Dinsmore.

"They seek her out not only for academic advice but for personal advice as well."

Jeff said he was pleased that his mom was a winner in the Top Mom contest. He said he likes writing but he's not sure he wants to make that a living.

He has plans to give Mrs. Ensz a handmade present for Mother's Day—maybe one of the cartoons he likes to draw.

"Every morning I always give her a big hug," he said, adding he likes them as much as she does.

"If I have a problem she is kind of my counselor. What she says really helps."

The best advice she has ever given him, he said, is: "just don't let people get to you."

BRITNEY SAYS for mother's day that she hopes to stay at her grandmother and grandfather's cabin near Wynot, which is just off the Missouri River. She says she looks forward to going on a boat ride with her mom.

Then there are the other special things Shelley does for Brittney and her other children.

"When I come home she usually gives me a big hug and asks me what I did that day in school," Brittney says. "At night, she gives me hugs and kisses before I go to bed."

One thing Brittney thinks makes her mom special is her ability to teach her how to be a good person. She says that when she does something she isn't supposed to do, her mother is polite about pointing out the way it should have been done.

"She's taught me to love everyone and learn good things in church about loving other people," she says.
