Honoring service

Event salutes coach

Plans are nearly complete for the coming July 4 commemorative celebration honoring Hank Overin for his 32 years of service to the youth and the community of Wayne.

All activities will be held at Hank Overin Field and will begin with a baseball game between the Wayne and Wakefield Midgets at 1:30 p.m. This will be followed by a special tribute program for Overin starting at 5 p.m. with Mark Ahmann of KTCH radio as the master of ceremonies.

A picnic meal will be offered at 6 p.m. in the area just outside the left field fence near the Girl Scout building. The meal will include hot dogs, baked beans, chips, pie, ice cream and a beverage.

FOLLOWING THE picnic, a "Hank Alumni" softball game will be played for the amusement of the audience.

The events will be capped off at 9:30 p.m. with a community fireworks display, which is being made available by a number of local sponsors.

The committee organizing the event wishes to emphasize that other than normal admission for the ball game, all other activities are free of charge and open to everyone from Wayne and surrounding communities; however, for those who wish to do so, there will be an opportunity to make a free will offering at the picnic area.

Tickets are available for those who wish to have an opportunity to donate toward the expenses of the program. First prize is two tickets to the first two games of the 1992 baseball World Series. This prize also includes air transportation and three nights' hotel room. You do not have to purchase a ticket to attend any of the day's activities. The drawing will be held at the end of the program honoring Overin.

TICKETS MAY be purchased at any of the three Wayne area banks, or by contacting Gary Pick at Logan Valley Implement Company. In addition, 30 other people are selling the tickets in the Wayne area. Tickets will also be available at the ball park during the day's activities.

In addition to the ball field activities, there will be a display of materials in the city auditorium during the day covering the city recreation activities during Overin's years. Displays include pictures, scrapbooks and other memorabilia.

In the event of rain, the program and picnic will be held in the city auditorium at the times listed above.

The planning committee invites everyone out to the park to honor and thank Overin and his family and enjoy a good old fashioned Fourth of July.

Shots injure Wayne man

Officials examine evidence

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

Although officials are continuing their investigation into a shooting Sunday, a Wayne man injured in the incident has returned home.

Dick Carman, 68, who lives approximately 1/2 mile west of the Wayne County Fairgrounds, was shot Sunday while he was investigating what he believed to be bullet holes on his home's front windows.

"Roberta and I went outside and looked at the deck on the east of the house when we heard more volleys of fire, then I looked down at my leg and blood was coming out of my calf when I bent over to pick up one of the slugs which had apparently hit the window," he said.

The bullet wound, which entered the back of Carman's right leg, exited through the front. Fortunately, however, it did not graze the bone, he said.

OVER THE course of the last couple weeks, the Carmans said they have noticed bullet holes on windows of the front of their home but there was no evidence that the holes were caused by bullets because there were no slugs.

Immediately following the shooting, an officer with the Nebraska State Patrol responded since officials with the Wayne County Sheriff's office were busy in Winside with the Old Settlers Celebration. Carman said the trooper asked him if he saw the car as it went by the road which runs parallel to the front of their home, thinking it was a drive-by shooting, but Carman told him that he believed the bullets had come from a distance.

CARMAN SAID he thinks good things will come out of the incident. He said he believes it will teach some individuals about gun safety but added that he's grateful because he's dealing with responsible people who will pay for the damage to his home.

"I don't blame anyone for what happened," he said.

Officials with the Wayne County Attorney's office are not releasing any details about the report or who fired the bullets since the investigation is continuing.

"It wasn't as scary as you might think," he said. "It felt like someone took an old intertube and cut it into a rubber band and hit you with it."

Board reviews fees for stadium

It looks as though members of the Wayne School Board have a decision to make: whether to continue holding varsity football games at Wayne State College or move the games to the afternoon and play them at the high school's field.

Three Wayne School Board members met with Wayne State College President Dr. Donald Mash Monday and reviewed the process for how the college came up with a use fee for Memorial Field.

The new use fee is $600 per game, which is almost as much for one contest as it used to be for using the field for the entire season, according to information provided by the schools. That fee does not include use of the locker rooms for visiting teams.

"These are charges that equate to actual costs to manage the facility when they have their games there," Dr. Mash said. "The charges we're putting into the fee structure will make for a better overall event."

DR. MASH said college officials clarified their basis for the in-

Council discusses new child center

With representatives of the Wayne Child Day Care Board present for Tuesday's special meeting of the Wayne City Council, Wayne City Administrator Joe Salitros outlined the plans for building a day care center in Wayne.

"The city is a partner in this project only because we're a governmental entity," Salitros told the council. "Day Care is a non-profit entity but DED (the Department of Economic Development) felt a government entity should deal with government paperwork."

While blueprints have been drawn up for the $260,000 child care center, named Rainbow World, Community Development Block Grant funds will pay for $165,000 of it.

The building will be located north of the Wayne-America water tower on 14th Street in the new addition proposed by developer Dave Gardner, otherwise known as Vintage Hill First Addition. Blueprints of the project have been drawn up by designers from Heritage Homes but have yet to be approved by architects.

ACCORDING TO Mary Kranz, president of the Wayne Child Day Care Board, the board believes that the interests of the Wayne community and the child board would best be served by advertising for contractors only in the Wayne Herald. She said the board wants to keep the funds within the local economy. "By advertising locally and contracting a local builder, we would support the Wayne community by distributing new money from the DED grant into the Wayne economy," she read from a prepared statement. "We feel we would receive an excellent building for use by our children and staff because a local contractor would take extra care to provide a quality product in his/her own community where everyone will be watching.

"There is some added comfort feeling when you are dealing with someone you know. Communication lines are more open, therefore, fewer mistakes are made due to poor communication or lack of understanding."

UNDER THE current designs, Rainbow World would be a modular home but that plan may change depending on which bid is taken for the project. If everything goes as planned, bids could be let within a month. Salitros said construction of the project could begin as soon as August.

Rainbow World will have space for 60 children with lot space for an addition. The building, heated and cooled solely with electric power, will have shrubs on the north and northwest sides of the building to serve as a sound barrier. The building will also be handicapped accessible and will have a basement for storage and storm protection.

City plans siren tests on Friday

The City of Wayne will conduct the monthly testing of the Civil Defense Outdoor Warning System at 11:45 a.m. Friday, June 26.

Each siren will be tested separately. All signals will be tested in the silent mode with the exception of the air horn, which will run approximately 15 seconds.

Sirens are located behind the Wayne Fire Hall, Greenwood Cemetery, Eighth and Main Streets, Third and Oak Drive, Sixth and Valley Drive and 14th Street and Providence Road.

Immediately following the testing of the outdoor system, the city will test the Cablevision Emergency Alert System. This will mean a disruption of both the audio and the video programming of every television set on the Cablevision system in use. This test will last approximately 15 seconds.

House includes bridge

The House Transportation Appropriations Subcommittee has included $4.12 million for the bridge across the Missouri River between Newcastle and Vermillion, S.D., in the fiscal year 1993 Transportation Appropriations bill, according to Representatives Doug Bereuter of Nebraska and Tim Johnson of South Dakota. Bereuter and Johnson said on Monday that the money was earmarked for the bridge during subcommittee action on the bill last week. The full Appropriations Committee is expected to take action on the bill in early July.

Bereuter and Johnson went before the subcommittee to request support for the bridge in April. At that time Bereuter said, "For six decades, the prospect of constructing a bridge in the Newcastle-Vermillion area has enjoyed wide-spread support. An impressive coalition of community organizations, local governments, businesses, and individuals from both Nebraska and South Dakota has joined together in support of this bridge."

"Construction of the bridge will bring increased economic development, enhanced recreational opportunities, improved access to health care and a reduction in transportation costs."

Last year's Transportation Appropriations Bill included $32,000 for the studies involving the planning and feasibility of the bridge. Authorization for the bridge is included in the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991. This legislation authorized $3.6 million for the bridge.

Dixon County Fair is slated

The Dixon County Fair in Concord will be bigger and better this year according to members of the fair board who met Monday in Concord.

Fair dates this year are Aug. 9-12.

Plans call for an expanded midway with more rides, more food for the free barbecue on Monday, Aug. 10, and building improvements to make the whole fair more enjoyable.

One of the biggest attractions of the annual fair in Concord, the demolition derby, will have an added boost this year, with the winner qualifying for a state demo derby to be held during the state fair in Lincoln.

More than $2,000 in prize money will be up for grabs in the state fair derby.

Last year more than 60 cars participated in the Dixon County derby. This year the derby will be the culminating event of the fair, scheduled on Wednesday night, Aug. 12.

Featured entertainment during the Dixon County Fair this year will include "The Spurrrows" at 8 p.m. on Monday and "The Martin Family Show" at 8 p.m. on Tuesday. Free square dancing will follow the show on Monday and a free teen dance concludes the activities on Tuesday night.

Fair patrons may save on midway tickets by purchasing them in advance at various Dixon County locations.

The Dixon County Fair is a Q-125 sanctioned event.

Large sum transactions require filing of reports

Any business that receives more than $10,000 in cash in a single transaction or in at least two related transactions must promptly report these payments to the Internal Revenue Service.

People in the real estate business, coin dealers, attorneys, and retailers of such big-ticket items as cars, trucks, boats, jewelry, and furs are often affected by this reporting requirement. The business person must obtain the customer's social security number and verify his or her identity by checking a driver's license, passport, or similar document.

Form 8300 is used to report these payments and must ordinarily be sent to the IRS' Detroit Computing Center within 15 days after the transaction occurs. Information about cash-paying customers and clients reported on these forms is used by the IRS to investigate the money laundering activities of people involved in drug trafficking and other illegal enterprises.

The IRS asks business people to also report suspicious cash transactions which may be below the $10,000 threshold. The use of multiple money orders or cashiers' checks often indicates a suspicious transaction. Cash purchases in which someone else represents the buyer, or when the buyer asks, for example, that an automobile be listed in the name of a friend or relative, should also be considered suspicious.

Form 8300 and Publication 1544, Reporting Cash Payments of Over $10,000, can be obtained free from the IRS by calling toll-free 1-800-TAX-FORM (829-3676).

Population declines

Report: Farms smaller

The number of persons living on farms continued to fall during the 1980s and more than half of all employed farm residents worked in nonfarm occupations.

According to a recent report from the U.S. Commerce Department's Census Bureau and the Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service, the estimated farm resident population was almost 4.5 million people in 1990, 24 percent less than the 6 million recorded in 1980. This follows a 25 percent decline of farm residents in the 1970s.

In Wayne and Dixon Counties, the number of persons living on farms also fell over the 10-year stretch, according to the Nebraska Data Center office in Omaha.

IN 1980, Wayne County had 2,303 of its 9,158 residents living on farms but in 1990, that figure fell to 1,475 of its 9,368 residents. In Dixon County, the 1980 census had 2,429 of the county's 7,137 residents living on farms. Ten years later, 1,361 of Dixon County's 6,143 residents lived on farms.

According to the U.S. Department of Commerce Department of Agriculture, the median income of farm resident households was $28,824 in 1989, the year for which the most recent data is available, is not statistically different from nonfarm households, which showed an income of $28,908. The median income for farm resident households showed a 19 percent gain from 1987 to 1989.

Ready for action

BRANDON SUEHL, 7, OF WINSIDE (left) and Shane Jaeger, 7, of Winside, were prepared for action Saturday afternoon during the Old Settlers Celebration bathtub races. In fact, the two youngsters were so primed to throw their water balloons that they were willing to give the photographer a convincing look by gritting their teeth. Additional photos and results from the Old Settlers Celebration can be found on pages 8A and 9A of today's Wayne Herald.

City waits to support show

The Wayne City Council decided to hold off on providing funds for a July 4 celebration saluting retiring City Recreation Director Hank Overin.

The council agreed that if the organizers of the event still need money by next Tuesday's meeting, that they can approach the council at that time. Tuesday's meeting this week was a special meeting.

"If we do it, we should see that this event is held every year and help fund it every year," said Councilman Ralph Barclay.

According to City Administrator Joe Salitros, the city has cooperated with the Salute to Hank committee by serving as a purchasing agent for the fireworks.

ALTHOUGH THE Wayne Recreation and Leisure Services Committee supports funding, Salitros told the council that he was uncertain whether additional funds were needed. The recreation committee has no funds in its budget for the event, Salitros told the council.

No representatives from the planned event were present at Tuesday night's meeting.

The council concluded that the item will be placed on next Tuesday's agenda to provide the opportunity for supporters to come forth and request funds a second time. The first time a request was made was at last week's City Council meeting.

crease in charges but school board members are staying mum on the subject until their next meeting Tuesday, July 14.

"The process by how they came up with fees is a logical process," said Dr. Ken Liska, one of the three members who met with college officials. "Whether it's fair or not is up to someone else to decide."

While the school board committee is not in a position to make a decision, Liska said the board plans to discuss its options. He said it's a simple case of either having to accept the change in the college's fee structure or do something else.

This summer, the college is conducting an update of the lighting system at Memorial Field with some field work included in the upgrade. Next year, the college plans to conduct extensive field upgrading, Mash said.

"All options are on the table," Dr. Liska said.

Firm gets bid for system

Thompson Electric of Sioux City was named the recipient of the City of Wayne's electric distribution improvement project Tuesday night at a special meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Thompson Electric came in $25,725 lower than the next lowest bidder, Watts Electric Company of Osceola. Wilde Construction of Shelvin, Minn. submitted a bid of $182,640 and the highest bid came from Keith Enterprises, Inc. of Des Moines, which had a bid of $253,160.

Wayne City Administrator Joe Salitros said the low bid meant good news for the city since the budget for the project, estimated in two parts, came in at $300,000. He said Thompson Electric's bid was $30,000 under what was expected.

With the bids approved, construction of the project, which will be conducted in the southwest quadrant of Wayne, will begin sometime within the next few months. The project is expected to take approximately two years.

Council studies parking

Although people in Wayne currently park on terraces of their homes, the Wayne City Council has directed City Administrator Joe Salitros to draw up plans to improve the situation.

Terraces are the property fronting homes which are owned by the city but maintained by the landowner who owns property adjacent to the terrace.

"Currently we could control parking on the terraces under city code," Salitros said. "... The consensus isn't to prohibit terrace parking but to regulate it."

Some of the regulating suggestions discussed at Tuesday's special meeting ranged from providing terrace parking by permit, limiting the terrace parking to a percentage of space and improving parking with curb cuts and hard surfacing.

While no action was taken on the matter at Tuesday's meeting, the council is expected to discuss the matter further at future meetings.

The GOLDEN YEARS
by Pat Luckty

Population growth ordinarily is considered a matter of births and immigration. But longevity is playing a part, too. From 1980 to 1990, the U.S. population grew to almost 249 million, an increase of 10 percent. In the same period, the number of Americans 65 and over increased 22 percent, to more than 31 million. People 65 and over now account for 13 percent of the U.S. population.

Marlene Dietrich won instant worldwide fame in 1930 with her performance in the German film "Blue Angel." Shifting to Hollywood, she reigned for years as a movie superstar. Then she dropped out of public life, as Greta Garbo did earlier with the terse explanation that "I want to be alone." At age 90, Dietrich was living a secluded life in Paris. Unlike Garbo, who occasionally was glimpsed on the street and in stores in New York, Dietrich was never seen outside her apartment, allowing only a few close friends to come and visit. They say she was spending most of her time reading, talking on the phone, and writing at her typewriter.

At Redeemer Lutheran 'Steps of Memories' theme for mother-daughter event

"Steps of Memories" was the theme of a mother-daughter brunch held June 13 at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne with 135 in attendance.

Terrie Girlinghouse had prayer, and Donna Lutt welcomed the group following breakfast.

Entertainment included a song by the Sunday school girls, under the direction of Sue Anderson, and a song by sixth grade girls, including Dawn Bargholz, Lisa Brockman, Melissa Ehrhardt, Gayle Olson and Melissa Puntney.

The program also included readings by Peg Lutt, Diane Ehrhardt, Melissa Ehrhardt and Sue Anderson, and a skit, entitled "A Box of Memories," with Sue Olson as accompanist and Audra Sievers as soloist.

PHYLLIS Rahn presented plants to Pearl Magnuson, oldest mother; Rebecca Girlinghouse, youngest daughter; Jennifer Backstrom, most colorful shoes; Ruby Moseman, largest shoe size; Mary deFreese and Ronnie Karel, birth date closest to June 13; Nancy Cox of Illinois, woman traveling the furthest distance; Peg Lutt and Barbara Stenwall, women having the poem "Footprints" in their purse; and Dorothy Johnson and Mylet Bargholz, most guests in the same family.

Plants also were given to Terrie Girlinghouse and Sue Olson in appreciation of their help during the brunch.

MEMBERS of the program committee were Donna Lutt, Ila Noyes, Phyllis Rahn and Barb Heier. The food committee included DeAnn Behlers, Doris Lutt and Betty Johnson.

WELCA circles will meet at the church on July 8 during their regular circle times. "Hands-On" for Lutheran World Relief will have something for everyone, and all women are encouraged to attend.

Engagements

Anderson-Anderson

Kay Lynn Anderson and Todd Allen Anderson, both of Chapel Hill, N.C., will be married Aug. 8 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wayne.

Dr. Anderson is a graduate of Laurel-Concord High School and earned a medical doctorate degree from the University of Nebraska College of Medicine in 1991. She is currently a physician in pediatric residency at the University of North Carolina Hospital.

Her fiancé is from Holdrege and earned a bachelor of science degree in business administration from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in 1987. He is currently a personal banker at The Village Bank of Chapel Hill.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Harlin and Verlyn Anderson of Wayne. Her fiancé is the son of Byron and Monica Anderson of Holdrege and Wallace and Carolyn Brown of Long Pine.

LWML convention held at Norfolk

Officer elections and mission project selections culminated the 26th biennial convention of the Nebraska District North Lutheran Women's Missionary League (LWML), held June 19-20 at Northeast Community College, Norfolk, with over 600 attending.

Delegates attending from Wayne's Grace Lutheran Church were Lanora Sorensen, Berlene Kinslow, Ellen Heinemann and Elinor Jensen.

Others attending from Grace Lutheran were Esther Brader, who sang in the choir; Carol Rethwisch, who is editor of the LWML Leaguer and served as convention photographer; Arlene Nelson, assistant editor of the LWML Leaguer, who also assisted at the convention; Renata Anderson, who represented Wayne for young women, along with Joann Temme, Elenora Heithold, Bonnie Sandahl, Mardella Olson, Janet Casey and Verdina Johs.

Valores Mordhorst attended the Friday evening festival with Dr. Dale Meyer, Lutheran Hour speaker, delivering the sermon. Also attending were the Rev. Merle Mahnken and several spouses.

Several other area churches also were represented at the convention. The theme was "Celebrate! Glorify His Name!"

LWML IS an affiliate of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. The Nebraska North District consists of 10 zones.

Keynote speaker at the convention was Marlys Taege, author of "Wings," a book commemorating LWML's 50-year history.

Special commemorative charters were presented to 138 societies, including Grace Ladies Aid of Wayne for 65 years of service, and Grace Evening Circle for 32 years of service.

The Grace Lutheran societies made a banner with the convention theme, which was carried during the opening processional and displayed during the convention.

OFFICERS elected for the 1992-96 term were Judith Roggow, Bancroft, vice president for mission inspiration; Vicki Hilkemann, Pierce, vice president for mission service; Gwen Lindberg, West Point, recording secretary; and Jeanne Oltjenbruns, Osmond, financial secretary.

The Rev. Roger Schepmann of Immanuel, Beemer, and Immanuel, Dodge, was selected as pastoral counselor.

Five women were elected to the nominating committee, including Lois Ahlman, Norfolk; Janet Heller, chairman, Ainsworth; Carolyn Hoegemeyer, Fremont; Martha Prochaska, Wayne; and Marii Rabe, Plainview.

Delegates also voted on mission projects for the next two years. The money from collections and "mite" boxes will fund $28,000 in projects, including the Nations Bible Society, Lutheran Deaf Ministry, Project Hope Hopenobile, Laborers for Christ, Lutheran Library for the Blind, Carol Halter, missionary to Hong Kong, Nebraska Lutherans for Life, and partial funding for Heartwarmers. The annual scholarship fund was increased to a total of $12,000 for the biennium.

Granddaughter repeats vows in Omaha rites

Annette Bargstadt and Sean Busch were united in marriage on June 12 at Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church in Omaha, with the Rev. Dirk Reck officiating at the 6:30 p.m., double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Roger and Carol Bargstadt of Omaha, and the granddaughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Dave Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bargstadt, all of Winside.

Parents of the bridegroom are Phil and Margaret Busch of Omaha.

The newlyweds traveled to the Bahamas and are making their home in Omaha, where both are managers at the Summer Kitchen Cafe.

Wed in Wakefield

MILLIE CARLSON of Wakefield and Elgin Driskell of Tabor, Iowa were united in marriage on June 13 at the Covenant Church in Wakefield. Their attendants were Dennis and Ellen Carlson of Wakefield. The Rev. Chuck Wahlstrom officiated, and Janis Wahlstrom accompanied herself on guitar and sang "I Love You Truly." The couple's children and grandchildren and their families attended the ceremony and dinner reception afterward at the Black Knight in Wayne. The Driskells spent a few days at Fort Robinson before returning home.

Speaker sharing story of tragedy, triumph

Doug Herman of Denver, Colo. will be speaking at the Wayne World Outreach Center on Sunday, June 28 at 6 p.m.

Herman lost his young wife and two-year-old daughter to the AIDS virus through a blood transfusion. He has been featured on the television program, "The 700 Club," and recently shared his story on the radio program, "Focus on the Family."

He is the director of Family Matters, Inc., a Christian ministry designed to help meet the needs of today's families.

Pastor Bob Schoenherr said Herman has learned to develop love and faith in the midst of pain, and the public is invited to hear his story of triumph over tragedy.

Wayne World Outreach Center is located at the corner of Ninth and Walnut Sts. Persons wishing additional information about Sunday night's program are asked to call 375-3430.

Time together, talking good for a marriage

Married couples should spend at least one weeknight on a date and 15 minutes a day communicating face-to-face, said a University of Nebraska-Lincoln, family life specialist.

Marriages and people change constantly, Herbert Lingren said. Communication is at the heart of successful marriages, because relationships are created through communicating with others.

A successful marriage can meet deep human needs to be touched, loved and accepted, but it takes time and energy, Lingren said. A good marriage is like a journey that two people travel during their lifetimes together, he said. Communication before and after marriage is imperative.

Some couples communicate better before marriage, Lingren said. Before marriage each partner shows they genuinely care and want to know what the other person is thinking, he said. After marriage, communication can deteriorate because of shifted priorities and a lack of time together.

The marriages must be a high priority in both spouses' lives to make it successful, Lingren said. Sometimes people place jobs, relatives, sports, TV watching or children above their marriage in importance, often without realizing what they are doing, he said. Then couples step back and look at their marriages and think, "Is this all there is?"

Good communication involves listening effectively and expressing needs, Lingren said. Men and women must learn to give full attention to the people they are listening to, he said. When people communicate something, they want to know that they are being heard and that something will be done about their concerns.

Men and women also must make their concerns and needs known, the UNL professor emphasized. Lingren said women often are shocked when he tells them to ask their husbands for kisses or compliments. But people are not mindreaders, he said, and they must tell each other how they feel and what they need.

Communicating does not mean blurring out anything that comes to mind, he said. Often careless statements lead to accusatory and defensive remarks that are not productive or helpful. Couples need to learn "I language," Lingren said. This means a person learns to unaccusingly express how he or she is feeling, he said. "I language" statements begin with I, Lingren said, such as "I feel..." or "I want..." Do not use "you" statements like "you're a..." or "You make me feel," Lingren said.

Realize, however, that men and women communicate differently, Lingren said. Generally, a woman wants to know a man's feelings, worries and pleasures, but sharing these can make a man uncomfortable. A woman often tells a man about a problem expecting him to listen and to be sympathetic. But a man, when hearing a concern, thinks he needs to offer a solution.

Men and women also may communicate love differently, he said.

Generally, women communicate love in talking, holding, caring, touching and supportive statements. Most men are raised to believe that love is expressed by doing things like fixing the faucet, making money or helping solve problems. These all are legitimate ways to express love, he said, but couples need to be aware of the differences, and of what communicates love to their spouses.

"It's a real challenge to make someone feel special over 35 years," Lingren said, which is why effective communication is mandatory for a good marriage.

Marital counseling may be necessary to keep the communication flowing in marriage, Lingren said. Counseling should not only be a last resort, he said. Many couples turn to counseling too late, when a lot of anger and negative situations already are occurring, he said. Couples should come in for counseling at the first major sign of unrest.

Marriage involves intertwining the lives of two people, Lingren said, and adding children, in-laws, co-workers and friends brings complications. But with patience and commitment, marriage can provide some of the greatest satisfactions in life.

The benefits of a happy marriage will go beyond the couple. Evidence shows that children raised in a healthy home make better marriage partners and one indicator of a healthy family is the quality of the couples' relationships, Lingren concluded.

Hospital provides early detection services

Early diagnosis can avert and sometimes actually prevent a heart attack. That is the premise behind Lutheran Community Hospital's new Chest Pain Emergency Center. The Chest Pain Emergency Center is the first of its kind in Nebraska and is based on a program established several years ago by St. Agnes Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland. Located in Lutheran Community Hospital's Emergency Room, the Chest Pain Emergency Center operates 24 hours per day, providing patients with immediate treatment upon their arrival by qualified physicians and registered nurses trained in advanced cardiac life support.

Too many men and women ignore pains in their chest. Pains which can give advance warning of a heart attack. "A heart attack can strike anyone, anywhere, anytime," the American Heart Association warns. Early treatment is the key to survival. Approximately 1.25 million people experience heart attacks each year in the United States, according to the AHA. Of these, more than 25 percent die without reaching a medical facility. Americans, it seems, are prone to procrastinate. Some people, for example, waste precious time worrying about the embarrassment or cost of an ambulance ride and hospital visit should the chest pain prove to be something as simple as indigestion.

But when a heart attack occurs, it's not a good time to deny the symptoms or attribute them to something else. Here are the warning signals of a heart attack as described by the American Heart Association:

- Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the chest lasting two minutes or longer.

- Pain spreading to the shoulders, neck, or arms.

- Severe pain, light-headedness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath.

A heart attack can occur without all of these symptoms being present. If you experience some of these warning signs, call for help immediately.

"The Chest Pain Emergency Center is a front-line approach to preventing serious heart attacks through early detection and treatment," said Dr. Roger C. Murray, director of emergency services at Lutheran Community Hospital.

"What we are attempting to do is educate people regarding the first signs of a possible attack. This way they will get to a medical facility or dial 9-1-1 (or your local rescue service) for an ambulance immediately," Murray noted that the delay of just a couple of minutes can mean the difference between living and dying. It could also mean the difference between preventing a heart attack about to happen and treating one that has already begun.

The Chest Pain Emergency Center at Lutheran Community Hospital will function as a means for you to get to your doctor with the usual tests performed more quickly and assist him in getting the proper care for you more promptly. All patients coming into the Chest Pain Emergency Center will have been evaluated by a Registered Nurse and Physician upon arrival in the center. The patient is immediately connected to monitoring equipment. Oxygen and other medications will be administered as needed based on the assessment. An electrocardiogram (EKG) is run within minutes after arrival and immediately reviewed by the physician. Lutheran Community Hospital also uses non-invasive blood pressure, and pulse oximetry, which measures oxygen in your blood.

All of the Lutheran Community Hospital emergency room nurses and physicians are trained in the latest techniques in advanced cardiac life support. The Emergency Chest Pain Center, quick action by the person having chest pain to call 9-1-1 or their local rescue squad are keys to a greater survival rate from heart attacks in Norfolk and the surrounding area.

Physician re-elected to serve district

The College of Medicine Alumni Association held its annual membership meeting recently to determine its project funding for the 1992-93 fiscal year and to elect its board of directors and officers.

Among those elected to serve is Dr. John Byrd, who was re-elected to serve district 4, which includes Cedar, Dixon and Wayne Counties. Dr. Byrd is a family physician in Neligh.

At the meeting, $92,723 was allocated for College of Medicine Needs during the 1992-93 year.

Projects selected by an alumni committee included medical student scholarships, research fellowships, support for an international health care elective, equipment for the McGoogan Library of Medicine and the UNMC Fitness Center and support for student organizations.

Wayne senior girls keep perfect record in tact with 9-6 win

Wayne's 18 and under fast pitch girls softball team kept their undefeated record in tact, Tuesday night with a 9-6 victory over Allen in Allen.

Mary Ann Lutt's crew played good defense against the host team and Wendy Beiermann earned her eighth consecutive pitching victory for the senior girls.

Beiermann struck out four and scattered five hits. Wayne's offensive tallied seven hits led by Tina O'bony with a pair of singles. Kristine Swanson, Shawn Schroeder, Lana Casey, Lisa Casey and Devanee Jensen also recorded hits—all singles.

"It was a good game for us because Allen really hit the ball hard," Lutt said. "Our girls really did a nice job of playing defense."

Wayne's 16 and under squad improved to 5-1 with a 12-6 victory over Allen in a contest which preceded the senior game. Beiermann got the pitching victory and struck out seven and walked four while scattering seven hits. Wayne finished with 13 hits.

Jenny Thompson led Wayne's offense with two doubles and a single while Beiermann had two singles and one double. Tracy O'bony had three singles and Tami Schluns laced a pair of singles while Molly Melena doubled and Twila Schindler singled.

"We hit the ball very well and defensively our fielding was very good," Lutt said.

Wayne downs Pierce

Last Friday in Pierce, the Wayne 16 and under team defeated Pierce, 12-11. Wendy Beiermann was the winning pitcher and she struck out 10 and scattered seven hits in the process.

Wayne totaled 12 hits led by Tami Schluns with three singles. Kristy Hall and Mandi Higbee each hit two singles while Molly Melena and Carrie Fink each hit a double and a single. Beiermann rounded out the potent Wayne offense with a single.

Wayne led by six runs heading to the bottom of the seventh inning. Pierce rallied and scored six runs to tie the game, all with two outs. Wayne, however, remained unshaken and scored one run in the top of the eighth inning and then retired Pierce in order to seal the victory.

The 14 and under team fell to 2-4 on the season with a 17-8 setback to Pierce. In a somewhat unusual situation, Kari Wetterberg got the pitching loss after tossing a no-hitter.

Pierce scored 17 runs on a plethora of walks and Wayne miscues. Wayne scored its eight runs on six runs. Katie Lutt led Wayne with two singles while Wetterberg smacked a triple.

Mandi Higbee, Cori Langenfeld and Jenni Beiermann each singled. "The girls got down 9-0 after the first inning and they couldn't really dig themselves out of that big hole," Lutt said.

Quarterback sack

ALLEN'S KEVIN CROSGROVE sacks the quarterback in the 8-Man All-Star Football Classic held in Hastings last Friday. Crosgrove played very well in the game and according to head coach John Cerny of Bancroft-Rosalie, Crosgrove was impressive during the week long camp as well. Crosgrove played for the East All-Stars which lost, 21-18.

Midgets earn victory

The Wayne Midget baseball team evened their record at 4-4 Monday, with a 10-5 victory over Hartington at Hank Overin Field in Wayne.

Ryder Hoffman got the pitching victory and went the distance, striking out four and scattering eight hits in the process.

Wayne pounded out 13 hits with Jason Shultheis leading the way with three singles. Joe Lutt, Kelly Meyer and Ryder Hoffman each had two singles while Andy Lutt, Mark Zach, Craig Wetterberg and Jeremy Sturm had one single apiece.

The Wayne Juniors fell to 3-6 on the season with an 8-3 setback to Hartington. Brian Gamble was given the loss from the mound while Jason Merkel earned the victory for Hartington.

Wayne finished with six hits while Hartington notched 12. Robert Longue hit an rbi single in the first inning for Wayne's first run and Dane Jensen smacked a 2-run single in the third inning for Wayne's final runs of the game.

Scott Day and Jason Wehrer also recorded hits—both singles. Hartington scored three runs in the first inning and added four in the second.

Wayne's Junior Legion team will travel to compete in the South Sioux Invitational Baseball Tournament on Friday through Sunday. Wayne opens up play against Vermillion, S.D. on Friday at 4 p.m.

Wayne will then play at 9 a.m. on Saturday against Brandon Valley, S.D. before playing at 3:45 p.m. against Worthington, Minn. Sunday's action begins at 11:35 a.m. with the opponent to be determined after Saturday's play.

Sports Information Director earns awards

WAYNE-The Wayne State College sports information department recently earned two honors from the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA):

Wildcat Magazine, the Wayne State College football game program, was named the fourth best publication of its kind in NCAA Division II. The magazine was written and edited by sports information director Mark Meighen, with layout assistance provided by Trudy Muir of the College Relations Office. The contest was judged by media specialists in Dallas, Texas.

Meighen also earned a second-place honors for general feature writing in CoSIDA District VII. The feature, "A Pair of Unsung Heroes," profiled senior lineman Eric Colbert and Scott Vokoun.

CoSIDA VII is comprised of colleges in Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming and Alberta and Saskatchewan, Canada.

Meighen recently completed his second year at Wayne State as sports information director. He also serves as an instructor in Wayne State's sport management program.

Industry finishes plans Goodwill institutes strategy

Goodwill Industries Rehabilitation Center, A Division of Wall Street Mission, has undergone a name change. The new name, Goodwill Industries Rehabilitation Facilities, A Division of Wall Street Mission, became official with the completion recently of a three-year strategic plan for the organization.

The change, according to Dr. John P. Hantla, president, Goodwill, was made to more accurately reflect the extended services now offered by Goodwill and the extended areas served in northwest Iowa, northeastern Nebraska, South Dakota and southwestern Minnesota.

An official mission statement was also approved in the same plan. That statement to be used throughout the organization in a variety of ways reads as follows:

"Goodwill Industries/Wall Street Mission will provide services to help people achieve the best vocational, personal, social and spiritual level they may be capable of reaching."

Goodwill's organizational objectives as listed in the recently approved plan are:

1. To provide opportunities for persons with disadvantage/disability conditions to achieve and maintain self-sufficient lives within the community.
2. To enhance the level of understanding of Goodwill Industries' total mission.
3. To generate sufficient resources to adequately support Goodwill's mission.
4. To maintain well-qualified professionals responsible for the direction, management and operation of programs.
5. To enhance the spiritual well-being, as well as the physical and social needs, of the people Goodwill serves.

Petition may be signed at clerk's office

WAYNE—The Nebraska Clean Environment Act initiative petition may be signed in the Wayne County Clerk's office by interested, registered voters who have not already been contacted by petition circulators.

The act, if approved in the November election, would provide programs, cancer research and prevention. It would be funded solely by a 25 cent cigarette tax but would result in no new governmental agencies and it would limit administrative costs to no more than 10 percent.

The petition may be signed at the courthouse through Tuesday, June 30.

Adkins honored

Betsy Adkins of Laurel made her mark at the 1992 Nebraska Girls State by becoming the leader and candidate for governor from the Nationalist Party, by her selection as the Girls State Chief Justice, and by her election to represent Nebraska at Girls Nation in Washington, D.C., July 11-18. The announcement of Kearney, will also attend Girls Nation with Betsy. Each state is represented by two delegates to the national program.

The Girls State program is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary as a means of heightening the awareness of future leaders in the uniqueness of our form of government and its interest in the individual. Girls State is a mythical fifty-first state which offers its delegates the opportunity to experience the democratic form of government by assuming roles of city, county and state officials or legislators. Over 25,000 young women are participating in Girls State programs across the nation this year.

Adkins was the Girls State delegate sponsored by American Legion Auxiliary, Post #54 of Laurel. She is the daughter of Rick and Joan Adkins and will be a senior at Laurel-Concord High School this fall where she is a 4.0 honor roll student and active in music, varsity sports, FBLA, speech and science.

Betsy Adkins

Adkins' selection climaxed the Girls State graduation ceremonies held Saturday, June 13, in Lincoln.

One of 10 nominees for the Girls Nation honor, Adkins was interviewed by an adult board which narrowed the candidate field to four contenders. The 400 delegates attending Girls State cast the final ballots for the Girls Nation delegate and Betsy was announced as the first place Nebraska representative. The alternate delegate, Debra Nutter of

SUMMER SKIN CARE

Summer has arrived, and here's some important skin care information that will allow you and your family to safely enjoy the sun. According to the Wellness Letter published by the University of California at Berkeley, you should choose a sunscreen with a minimum Sun Protection Factor (SPF) of 15. Choose one with a higher SPF if you are fair-skinned and will be outdoors for an extended period. Remember to apply the sunscreen at least 30 to 45 minutes prior to being outside in the sun. Check with your physician or Medicap pharmacist for the sunscreen that is right for you.

LYNN JUNCK, 9, OF CARROLL knew that getting Winside's Kari Pichler to take a dive might take some work but he seemed to have all he needed in his throw Saturday as he knocked Pichler into the water more than once. In this particular toss, Pichler looked a little relaxed but once Junck's ball hit the arm holding Pichler up, she was bound to hit the water. Funds raised from the dunk tank, put on by students at Winside High School, goes to pay for a portion of the school's post-prom party. Participants throwing balls in the contest got four balls for $1 and if they knicked the arm, they got an extra toss.

YOUNGSTERS FROM AROUND Wayne County waited patiently on the sidelines Saturday with their balloons in hand prior to the bathtub races. Once the races started, it was open season on the competitors, however, and getting wet seemed unavoidable.

Youngsters have fun in kids parade

A number of young winners took top honors Saturday during the kiddie parade portion of the Wayne County Old Settlers Celebration.

Winners in the theme competition of the kiddie parade Saturday morning was a team of Rachel and Matthew Peter, children of Chuck and Dawn Peter of Winside, and Will Janke, son of Dean Jr. and Deb Janke of Winside. Their entry led the twirlers with the theme "Goin' Fishing in the Gold Old Summertime."

First place in the pets competition was Andrew Jensen, son of Norm and Mary Jensen of Winside, who won with the entry "Andrew and Sweetpea going to the beach."

Lacey and Summer Bruggeman, children of Doug and Cheryl Bruggeman of Mesz, Ariz., and Rachel and Steven Rabe, children of Jim and Carolyn Rabe of Winside, took top honors in the wheels competition for their entry "Summertime Fun."

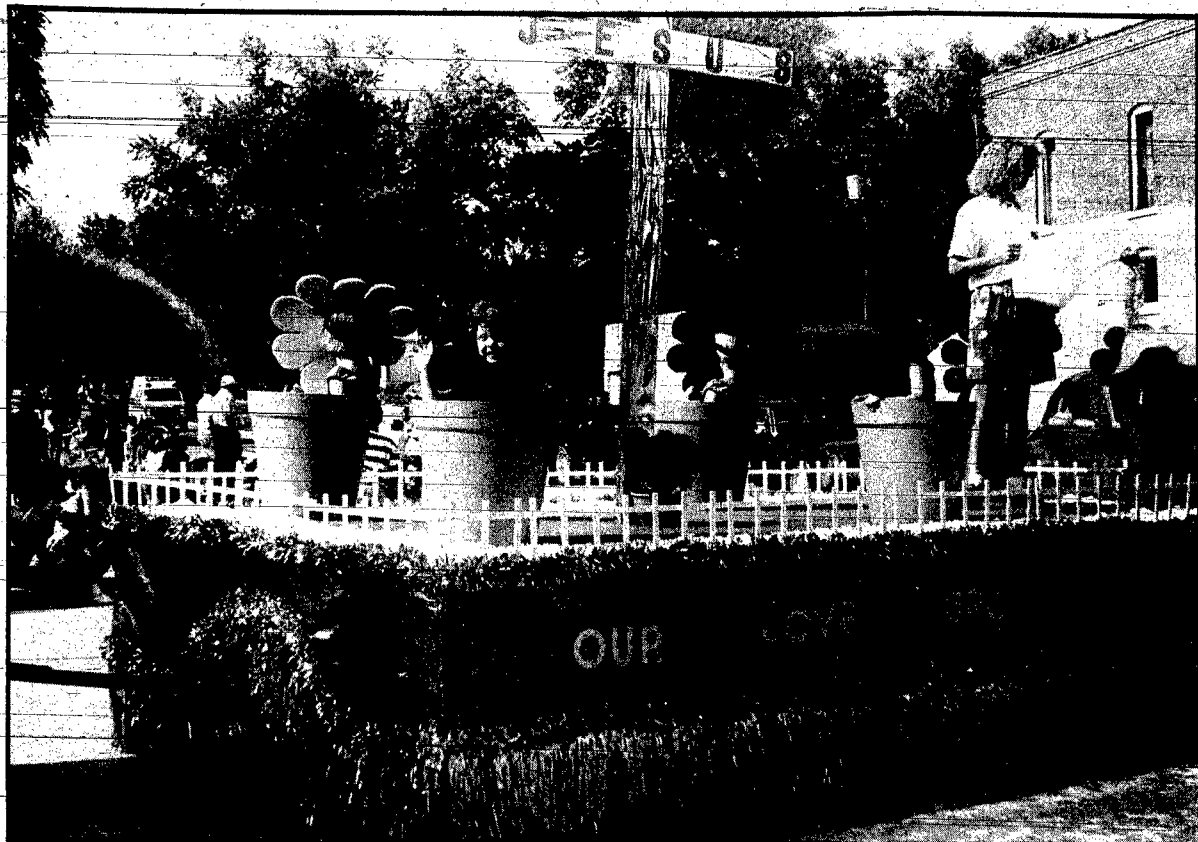

While not everyone could be first place finishers, second and third place awards were also given out.

Taking second place in the theme competition was Samantha Harmier, daughter of Robbie and

Deb Harmier of Winside with the entry "Minnie Mouse on Vacation." Third place went to Andy and Jarod Roberts, children of Paul and Brenda Roberts of Carroll and Eric and Daniel Morris, children of Ed and Corinne Morris of Carroll, for the entry "Catching Some Rays."

Taking second place in the pets competition was Danielle Nelson, daughter of Terry and Phyllis Nelson of Winside with the entry "Cruising with my Pal Coco on a dog day afternoon." Jessica Creighton, daughter of Jodi Creighton of Omaha, and Megan Lemburg, daughter of Deb Lemburg of Grand Island took third place with the entry "Doc's Great Grand Catchers."

Second place in the wheels competition went to Ben and Josh Mann, children of Dave and Melanie Mann of Winside, with the entry "Summertime Boating Fun." Third place went to Jason, Julie and Josie Longnecker, children of Russell and Jeanine Longnecker of Winside, and Kayla, Dewey and Tucker Bowers, children of Bob and Janice Bowers of Winside, whose entry "Summer Fun at our Favorite Fishing Hole."

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN Church had the winning float entry (top) in Sunday's parade. During Saturday's bathtub races (left) Winside's Patty Skokan introduced a water balloon to her 7-month-old son Kyle. Area residents (above) enjoyed Sunday's barbecue. During the barbecue (below) Winside elementary students performed. While cool temperatures prevailed Saturday (lower left) Tucker Bowers cuddled with his mom, Janice, to stay warm. Another popular entry in the parade (lower right) was this one which featured fun in the summertime.

Area children take part in pull

Children from all around the Winside area took part in the pedal tractor pull Saturday morning in Winside.

According to officials, over 60 children from the area pulled in the kiddie pedal tractor pull. The tractor pull was sponsored by the Wayne County Farm Bureau Insurance and S&S Pulling. The top two pullers in each age group qualify to pull at the pedal pull in Lincoln. The state pedal pull is held at the Nebraska State Fair in September.

Children are listed in the order they finished according to ages and gender.

Everyone enjoys wet bathtub races

It wasn't pretty and it was anything but dry, but it sure was fun.

That's one possible description of the bath tub races during the Wayne County Old Settlers activities in Winside Saturday.

The winning entry was The Water Balloons team composed of Doug Shelton, Richard Behmer, Mick Topp and Dan Jaeger. The bath tub team won with a total score of .5115.

Finishing in second place was the Class of '73, which included Dean Krueger, Dave Jaeger, Brian Hoffman and Scott Deck. The Class of '73 took second place with a combined score of .5650.

Rounding out the top three finishers was the Bud Studs, composed of Tad Behmer, Brad Roberts, Brian Thomsen and Brian Bowers. The Bud Studs took third with a time of .7823.

Taking fourth through sixth places were: Winside Fire Department - Terry Nelson, Russ Longnecker, Don Skokan and Jeff Thies, .6419, fourth; Carroll Fire Department - Rick Davis, Kevin Davis, Todd Jenkins and Scott Bonsall, .6985, fifth; and The Hogs - Trevor Topp, Jason Williams, Doug French and Chris Mann, .7345, sixth.

Rounding out the competition, placing seventh through ninth, respectively, were: Bad Boys - Brad Janke, Dirk Jaeger, Dave Gale and Terry Gale, .8121; Italian Stallions - Kevin Falk, Dave Gale, Dirk Jaeger and Brad Janke, .8213; and Langenberg's - Joni Jaeger, Lori Nelson, Patti Langenberg, Mike Clark and Kevin Falk, .9119.

Complete results from 'Old Settlers'

Results from activities at the Wayne County Old Settlers Celebration have been provided to the Wayne Herald.

In Sunday's parade, the winner of the theme division was St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Winside, which won with the entry "Our Love Grows in the Sun." Second place went to Roadside Dairy's "Going Fishing" and third place went to the American Legion Auxiliary entry "Backyard Fun."

In the open class competition of the parade, the Winside High School Band took first place with the Winside High School Class D girls 1992 state track champions coming in second place. Third place went to Arlowyn Wingett of Carroll.

Winners were also announced in the American Legion's annual cash drawing. Larry Alderson of Belden took top honors with $100. Second place went to Dianne Jaeger of Winside, who received $75. Third went to Bob Koll of Winside, $50, and fourth place went to Jessica Jaeger, Winside, who received $25.

The Carroll Fire Department was the first place winner in Saturday's water fights, with the Winside Fire Department coming in second. The Battle Creek Fire Department took third place and fourth went to Wayne. Other teams competing in the water fights were Pilger, Sargent and Woodland Park-Hoskins.

Alysia Ruppert of Norfolk was the first place winner of $100 in the bossy bingo contest. Second place went to Bryan Bowers of Winside, who received $50.

In the road rally competition, Jeff Thies and Kenny Jensen took first place, Terry Thies and VerNeal Marotz took second place, and Donna Nelson and Helen Hancock took third place.

Unfair competition

The retail business is highly competitive. No greater proof of that fact need be searched for than simply a look at the average main street in the average community right here in Northeast Nebraska.

Vacant store fronts can be found in every small town. The turnover of merchants is rapid and the reasons are many.

Our lifestyles have changed. Gone are the days when a Saturday night on Main Street was a time to shop, socialize and recreate. Small shops have a difficult time competing with the price and selection of the mega-stores and catalog outlets.

Our transportation and communication systems have allowed us to literally shop the global market.

At the expense of local jobs, local support for community activities, the local tax base and personalized local service, we have become a society of out-of-towners with no loyalty or allegiance to local businesses.

When was the last time the out of town catalog sales house or the huge discount mart donated funds to help support the local little league, scout troop or church fund drive?

When was the last time one of those big catalog companies helped pay any of the local or even state taxes to help support schools and other state and local government services?

We realize this diatribe is tantamount to the proverbial goat butting the dam, but, there are things we can do individually to help reverse the competitive disadvantage local businesses face.

One of most unfair systems we can identify is that of the sales tax structure. A main street businessman collects sales tax. The out of town catalog store does not.

Legislation must be enacted to change this unfair structure. We encourage readers to support legislation which will require catalog companies to charge and pay to the states sales tax on goods purchased by customers in that state. Letters and comments to lawmakers are needed.

Additionally, we encourage individuals to think twice before they head out-of-town on a recreational shopping trip.

Consider the local retailer first. If they don't have it, they can generally get it faster than through the catalog and with the added advantage of local service and satisfaction guarantees.

If we don't take action now, there may come a time when we won't have any local businesses to provide needed jobs and community support.

The right perspective

Athletics are an important part of every educational institution. They provide a learning experience in and of themselves.

But athletic programs also have an inherent danger.

The danger is that the competitiveness and drive to win will supersede the overall role and mission of the institution.

Athletics in Nebraska from time to time, approaches the danger point.

Cornhusker boosters have been shrill in their criticism of the procedure used in selecting a new athletic director at the University of Nebraska.

They wanted the handpicked candidate supported by football legends Bob Devaney and Tom Osborne to be automatically elevated to the post.

The academic-oriented chancellor had a different idea.

The new athletic director is going to come from outside the heady atmosphere of the Cornhusker's hallowed halls of helmets.

That change in tradition has some dyed in red husker fans a little nervous. Nervous enough to threaten to pull support of the program. Nervous enough to say silly things like this move will doom the state whose only identity is Husker football.

To his credit, Osborne, is trying to keep the situation in perspective. Football is not the most important thing in life, for most Nebraskans — even, Osborne will readily admit, for himself.

We could rank several dozen issues well ahead of it.

As a diversion and point of pride, we'll join in watching, cheering and groaning on fall Saturdays.

But in a matched race between emphasis on academics or emphasis on athletics, academics should win every time.

Offended?

Dear Editor:

I'm not sure whether to be complimented or offended by the Melvin Paul article circulated among weekly papers a couple of weeks ago.

The term limits project in which I am involved as a member of the 'Nebraskans for Term Limits' committee was organized in response to a general public attitude of disappointment, distrust and downright anger with the elected public officials who have failed to be "representatives" of the people and who, in many cases, can't even balance their own checkbooks.

No wonder government spending in Washington and in Nebraska is out of control. No wonder people are saying "throw the bums out."

The credibility of the Melvin Paul article is suspect when the writer engages in idle and speculative gossip on the number of signatures secured for the term limits project. Even the managers of this petition don't know from day to day exactly how many signatures have been secured.

The reason is that so many petition forms are in circulation in all 93 counties and not reported until they are notarized and delivered to the offices of Nebraskans for Term Limits. That information has not been given to the press, including Melvin Paul because it is premature, because it is unreliable and because it is not the business of the press to report those figures until they are officially released. They will be released when they are appropriate in the judgement of the term limits committee; they will also be available from the office of the Secretary of State when the petitions are filed.

The reason the term limits committee has resorted to the use of paid circulators is to defend against the unreasonable and unconstitutional act of passing legislative bill 424 E for which Sen. Ron Withem and 39 other state senators voted and which the governor accepted as an emergency measure.

That was a self-serving act which unconstitutionally interfered with the legitimate right of Nebraska citizens to petition for constitutional change.

Yes, it is going to be a horse race and yes, it's going to cost the petitioners a lot of extra money to be involved citizens.

Did the three weeks interregnum damage the petition signature collection effort?

Melvin and Company pass that roadblock off as questionable. They are in a poor position to judge.

Petitioning is a difficult, laborious, daunting process. It's a lot tougher than filing a legislative bill and debating it in the cave of winds we call the Unicameral.

The petition process also happens to be a fundamental, basic part of the political process. It is the dividing line between "government of the people" and tyranny.

Justice Thomas White, writing for the unanimous opinion of the Nebraska Supreme Court, which declared LB 424 unconstitutional, said: "Indeed, the effect of the law is to place impossible barriers to the economically less fortunate if they cannot afford to pay local circulators and are forbidden to solicit outside their own counties."

Justice White wrote further: "...the suppression of the minority's right of expression is tyranny, no matter how wise and reasoned the majority opinion."

While Melvin Paul and the Nebraska Press Association are chortling about the problems of the petitioners, they might remember that this extraordinary and bizarre act by the legislators and the governor affects not only the term limits petition but other active petition groups. Melvin and Company might also wonder about how this action reinforces and supports the idea of "freedom" and "liberty" and "property rights" about which all the politicians and editors will be speechifying and writing on the Fourth of July.

There are thousands of citizens in Nebraska who have collected signatures for these petitions. They need to be reminded that their time to contribute to the final goal is coming to an end. All notarized petitions for any of the constitutional amendment petitions must be in the hands of the sponsoring committees in the next week.

If the press wants to help wave the flag, it can do so by cheering the efforts of citizens who have put their time, pocketbooks and reputations on the line in an honest effort to "make a difference."

Capitol News: The Perot Factor

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN - I don't think very many Nebraskans can say they had heard of H. Ross Perot before this year. Many still don't know a heck of a lot about him. He's even got kind of a goofy-looking haircut.

But when the state's largest daily took a poll last week, there he was, a guy who hasn't even officially said he is a candidate, running neck and neck with George Bush in the 1992 presidential race.

These are strange times in the political world.

A year ago, flush after beating up on Saddam in the desert, Bush was flying high with 90 percent approval ratings. He just about looked unbeatable.

But the luster quickly wore off that mugging nationally as people began to realize we have a lot of problems at home, particularly economically.

Now even in Nebraska, where things are going relatively well, and where a Republican presidential candidate - any Republican - is usually a lock, things are really up in the air.

You have to wonder whether it's Perot people want, or whether people are taking him just because he is the only alternative to what they don't want - politics as usual.

You understand why voters feel like they do. They see a government that doesn't seem to be able to address the nation's problems, that seems to ignore the big debts being run up. Washington is perceived to be a place where the special interests are calling all the shots.

Perot, as an outsider, plays right into it. In any other year, he would be viewed as an eccentric. But this year, at least as of right now, he is just what people want.

That was pretty obvious during a rally in Lincoln last week when Perot backers turned in 18,000 signatures - seven times the number needed - to put Perot on the ballot in Nebraska.

Perot himself spoke to the rally by telephone, and sounded every bit like a presidential candidate.

He made solving the nation's problems all sound very easy. During the first few months of his administration, he said he would come up with a "massive program" to rebuild the economy and provide jobs. He said he would also "in short order" come up with a new income tax system that would be fair to everybody. He said he would also "fix" the public schools.

In that way, he sounded like any other political candidate - lots of promises.

There really weren't any specifics. That's why some are suggesting things could change. He eventually is going to have to come up with plans, and start taking firm positions, and some say that will cause him to lose a lot of this apparent support.

But I'm really not so sure. The voters are to a point they will take any alternative that is out there. I have to wonder whether if I had a billion dollars, and a haircut like that, too, I could be leading the polls.

Guide translates 'Henglish' language

For the uninitiated Wayne chicken show participants it may be important (NOT) to understand the Henglish language. Henglish is the language used to communicate during the Chicken Show or during meetings of the chicken show committee.

During these times chicken show folks talk a whole different language which may be confusing to the non-henitiated.

To help the non-henglish speaking people feel more a part of the celebration, committee member Marla McCue, the artisan known for creating the controversial (dare we say "eggs-rated") chicken show shirts this year, has prepared an Henglish to English translation "Dicks-HEN-ary".

snegglets: chicken words, puns or nonsense which should be in a dickshenary but aren't (or words which are totally misrepresented much to everyone's dismay).

brood: to swell up or ferment, as in steeping, boiling and fermenting. To brood eggs, beer, tea...

capon: the act of wearing a cape (as in the cape worn by Chicken Souper-man).

cheep: noise made by adolescent chickens.

chick off the old block: a chicken much like his own rooster.

chick on one's shoulder: inclination to fight or squawk over small details.

Chickago: a city in northeastern Illinois on the shore of Lake Michigan.

chickanery: a 101-year-old chicken using a cane to get around.

chickger: a very rare and extremely tiny red chicken which burrows under the skin and causes much irritation.

cock-pit: the underarm of a male chicken.

cocklebur: the sound made by a rooster who is too cold to say cock-a-doodle-do.

cockleshell: to fire mortar or artillery rounds at a male chicken.

cocknee: the joint you find at the lower end of a drumstick.

commodity eggexchange: transaction between two or more hens in which they swap eggs.

eggclair: poultry pastry.

eggology: the study of chicken environment and the preservation of resources for chickens. Also, keeping the coop clean.

eggonomize: to avoid waste.

eggsecutive: one who is capable of adm-hen-istration and man-

Mann Overboard

By Les Mann

hen-gement. Example: our state's chief eggsecutive is Govhenor Ben Nels-hen. He lives in the eggsecutive manshen.

eggseed: to go beyond the limit in planting and growing eggplant in one's garden.

eggsema: a scaly condition indigenous to chicken legs.

eggentric: apt description of any one member of the chicken show committee.

eggstrasensory perception: the ability of the farmer's wife to find hidden chicken nests in the process of collecting eggs.

eggstream: the mighty Logan during the annual Reggatta.

hencandescent: a very bright (and in other words, rare) hen.

hench: measurement equivalent to 1/12 of a hen foot.

henclosure: coop

hendivisible: a chicken so old and tough it is not suitable for the dinner table.

henequality: unjust social status which contends that roosters are more valuable than hens (HA!).

Heningway, Ernest: 1899-1961, an American novelist who specialized in short chicken jokes. He was awarded the Pullet surprise for the 1954 story "For whom the chicken crosses the road."

hense-forth: to get away from four hens in one day.

henseforward: an outgoing or eggstroverted hen.

There you have it—the latest compendium of punny chicken nonsense.

There may be more Henglish words to pass along as we go through the Chicken Show period.

If you discover any in your conversations with hens or chicken show committee members, jot them down and send them in. We won't promise to publish them all, but you'll have a better chance of getting them published here than anywhere else.

We'll guar-hen-tee that.

This column is a mouthful

I wish restaurants would place a sign in their window reading: "Caution, waiters or waitresses will ask you how your meal is while you're chewing food."

Have you ever noticed how that happens. You're in the middle of this excellent meal and a waiter or waitress will walk up to you and say "how is your food?" right after you get done taking the biggest bite of the meal. It's nice to have the service. Maybe I just eat my food too fast.

It's almost as though they time their question. I don't think that's actually what they do, but it sure seems that way sometimes.

THEN THERE'S the other occasions: You're eating this really hot or really cold piece of food and someone who knows you walks up and says "hi." Not wanting to be rude, you want to reply but you know if you do you'll have food dripping out of the corners of your mouth. Consequently, you say a "bosphaldsa" or some other Russian adverb; and more often than not, the person you're responding to knows what you're saying.

When you have a young child, whose only sentence is bbbbbb, it's a natural attraction for people, especially at the dinner table. Sometimes when you're eating you'll have this really nice lady, whose children are all grown, walk up to the child and say,

Mark 'n' the Spot

By Mark Crist

"Won't Daddy share some of his ice-cream, strawberry-covered waffle with you?"

Then she turns to you and waits for a reply.

About that time, you, being a normal human being who can speak in full sentences, who under normal circumstances has complete use of the English language, says bbbbbb.

I'VE LEARNED how to snarf down my meal as fast as I can and carry on a normal conversation. But there are those times when I wish I was like a squirrel, with pockets in the sides of my mouth, so I could say "my meal is fine" without having it come out in the form of adjectives like "exthalam!" or "wowrful."

A good friend of mine, I believe, has mastered the technique in non-disturbance eating patterns. All he does is sit down, order his meal, and then wait until the waiter or waitress brings the food. When the food arrives, he consumes it with periodic moans of pleasure, indicators he likes the cuisine.

This friend, whose name is also Mark, is not a light eater but he knows fine dining when he consumes it. In fact, there's only been one occasion in my life when I didn't see him eat all the food on his plate and that was in the hours following his bachelor party.

ABOUT TWO years ago, we went to Bob's Bar (or whatever the name of the place is) in Martinsburg. Knowing by the good things I had heard about Martinsburg's finest eating establishment and bar (and by its appearance) I knew this was a place Mark and I would enjoy. While the waitress only checked our table about five times—once to take the order, once to deliver the appetizers, once to deliver the food, once to see how it was and give us our bill, and once to clean up after us—Mark was able to send a clear message any time the waitress walked by that the meal was good.

"Mmmmm," he would hum, without speaking a word. "Mmm, mmm, mmm, Mmm, Mmmmm."

That meant the food was good. I think I'm going to have to master that technique. If nothing else it will save certain types of fine dining embarrassment.

Dog Days of summer begin

WITH THE SUMMER SEASON KICKING into full swing, there was no time better for Wayne State College Kim Jansen, a junior from Blue Hill, to catch some rays and spend time with her new puppy Bandit. Not only did the summer sun warm Kim but Bandit didn't seem to mind, either.

Much going on

Family keeps active

We had a combination of a son who had just moved to St. Joe, a daughter-in-law with passes to a Royals game, and a grandmother who loves the Royals; so we ate supper at her house on Friday evening and then headed for Missouri.

They had been wanting to check out the Potee House Museum and Jesse James Home anyway, so we went to Penn St. on Saturday afternoon.

The Potee House had opened in 1858 as a hotel, and served as a Pony Express station. In fact, it was the headquarters for the Pony Express.

As it happened, they were commemorating the Pony Express on this day and receiving packets of mail from Sacramento that had been carried by horse across the western states in six days.

It was quite a scene. There was red, white, and blue bunting flying; guys in Civil War uniforms; and ladies in long hoop dresses. The senator from Missouri who is sponsoring a bill dealing with historical trails spoke and greeted the riders. A postman was there with his bag to receive the mail and take it down to the post office to be cancelled.

It was the next day when it hit me: it still takes a week to get mail from California!

On Saturday evening, we left St. Joe at about 5:30. We got off on the wrong exit initially, but eventually got to the Royals Stadium. Kristi works for a radio station that supplied the passes, and a press pass for parking came with them. So, we cruised into lot A and proceeded to our seats. They were almost behind home plate.

The publicity says it's the finest stadium in the world. The only other one I've been in is St. Louis, so I can't compare. It is quite a sight, with a giant TV screen, and giant computerized information board, and lovely dancing waters behind the outfield.

It kind of bugged me to pay a buck fifty for a hot dog, but that goes with it. The real rip-off was $2.75 for a bottle of beer, but there were people paying it, judging by the commotion behind me by the end of the game.

Brett did not get a hit and Toronto stomped on our team. But, I ate popcorn, and sang "Take Me Out to the Ballgame" and generally had a good time. Baseball is alive and well in America!

Vet attends meeting

Dr. D.A. Swerczek of Wayne attended the recent Summer Meeting of the Nebraska Veterinary Medical Association held in Ogallala, June 15-17.

Speaking to small/companion animal practitioners were Dr. Ed Gilsleider of Claremore, Oklahoma speaking on "General Husbandry and Specific Disease Therapy and Surgeries Commonly Seen in Rattles"; Dr. Wayne Wingfield of Colorado State University speaking on "Veterinary Fluid Therapy"; and Dr. Ian Dunbar of Berkeley, California speaking on "Dog Behavior and Temperament Problems".

Equine sessions were presented by Dr. Josie Traub-Dargatz of Colorado State University, "Evaluation of the Horse with Colic", "Nonsurgical Causes of Colic & Medical Treatment of the Horse with Colic", and "Weight Loss in the Horse". Dr. Gayle Trotter, also of Colorado State University, discussed and demonstrated "Regional & Intravenous Anesthesia for Selected Front & Hind Limb Lameness".

Presenting demonstrations to food animal practitioners were Nebraska veterinarians, Drs. Dan Outo, Gerald Macfee, and Mile Slattery, all of McCook, Drs. Bob Rhoades and Tom Noffsinger of Benkelman, Dr. Barbara Straw, Lincoln, Dr. Dee Griffin, Clay Center, and Dr. Terry DeGroff of Burwell. Dr. Bob Kadlec of Bernard, Iowa also participated in the demonstrations. Dr. Temple Grandin of Colorado State University presented information on "Behavioral Principles of Livestock Handling".

Highlighting the social activities was a family bar-b-que on Tuesday evening at Front Street in Ogallala. The first day of the meeting, Monday, was a "Fun Day" and featured a roping and gold tournament. Numerous auxiliary activities were also held during the meeting.

The sessions are accredited toward mandatory continuing education requirement for license renewal annually.

Individuals get awards

Nebraska State Council Awards Chairman, Val Bahaty of Lincoln, presented the honor award to Gloria Nelson and Jerry Zimmer at a banquet on June 22 of the Nebraska Chapters of the Soil and Water Conservation Society state annual meeting.

Nelson, who was born and raised on a farm in Phelps County, is married to Lowell a retired Coop Elevator manager.

The couple has four grown children: Blake, Monica, Merry and Melody, some of whom live in the Wayne Herald area.

Mrs. Nelson currently lives in Holdrege.

Zimmer, who is of Wayne, was raised on a potato, vegetable and small grain farm near Center, Colo. he currently manages more than 80 farms which are rented on cash shares or custom farmed. These farms are located in Wayne, Dixon, Pierce and Cedar Counties in Nebraska. In the area he farms, less than 10 percent of the erodible cropland is eroding and less than the tolerable soil loss, Zimmer has been able to implement conservation plans on his farms on over 30 percent of his highly erodible cropland.

The honor award recognizes people, usually non-members of the society or non-professional members of the society, for outstanding accomplishments compatible with the objectives of the society.

Booklet identifies varieties

"What Tree Is That?," a pocket guide for identifying trees, is available free-of-charge from The National Arbor Day Foundation.

The 72-page guide will help you identify 135 different trees found in the eastern and central U.S.

Well-known trees are included: oaks, maples, spruces, and pines. Also species such as horsechestnut and mockernut hickory, sassafras and shadbush, persimmon and paw-paw and pagodatree and pecan.

Dozens of drawings illustrate the trees' leaves or needles and their acorns, berries, seed pods, cones, etc. "What Tree Is That?" is organized to make it easy to identify trees in a simple step-by-step fashion.

"Helping people enjoy and appreciate trees is central to the educational mission of the Arbor Day Foundation," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said. "Being able to identify trees is important to knowing how to care for them and how to plant the right tree in the right place."

To obtain your free tree ID guide, send your name and address to "What Tree Is That?," The National Arbor Day Foundation, Nebraska City, Nebraska 68410.

The Library Card

This column is written twice a month to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at Wayne Public Library.

New books — everyone likes to see new books! The reference section of any library is an important one. It is perhaps not often searched until patrons have specific questions that need answers. Over the past year, we have added several important additions to the reference library.

1. "The Academic American Encyclopedia," 1990 edition.
2. "The Complete Guide to Prescription and Non-Prescription Drugs" by H. Winter Griffith, M.D., 9th edition.
3. "The National Arboretum Book of Outstanding Garden Plants" by Jacqueline Heriteau.
4. "Rodale's All-New Encyclopedia of Organic Gardening."

We have also added a new magazine to our subscription list. Accent on Living is totally concerned with articles and advertising relating to people with physical handicaps.

Since we seem to be talking about new books in the library, we will continue with the latest fiction on the adult shelf, including "They Called Her Mrs. Doc" by Janette Oke, "The Ebony Swan" by Phyllis A. Whitney, "Santa Fe Rules" by Stuart Woods, "Black Water" by Joyce Carol Oates, "Kissing the Gunner's Daughter" by Ruth Rendell, "Sahara" by Clive Cussler, "Double Deuce" by Robert B. Parker, "Possessing the Secret of Joy" by Alice Walker, "For Love Alone" by Ivana Trump, and "Scruples Two" by Judith Krantz.

New children's books include "Six Jigsaws of Illustrations" from the Caldecott Award books, "Colonial Crafts" by Bobbie Kalman, "Gymnastics" by Jane Mersky Leder, "Berenstain Bears and the Trouble With Grownuts" by Stan and Jan Berenstain, "Dinosaur Days" by Joyce Melton, "My New Boy" by Joan Phillips, and "No More Monsters for Me!" by Peggy Parish.

We haven't listed all the new books. Just enough to encourage you to come in and browse! We hope!

Activities planned for all ages

Fourth of July celebration at Allen runs from dawn to dusk

The community of Allen has scheduled activities from early morning to late evening for the upcoming Fourth of July holiday.

The Allen Community Development Club met recently to finalize plans for the Independence Day celebration, which will kick off with a pancake breakfast from 7 a.m. to noon at the Allen fire hall.

THERE WILL be a family run/walk beginning at 8 a.m. Applications should be sent before July 1 to Dale Jackson, Rt. 1, Box 89, Allen, Neb., 68710. The cost is $5 for individuals and $15 per family.

Registration also will take place after July 1 and until 7:45 a.m. the day of the run/walk, however the cost for individuals will be $6, with the cost per family remaining at $15.

A free T-shirt will be presented to the first 100 entrants. The T-shirts were designed by Amy Tiedtke and depict an Allen eagle family pulling their eagle nest up the hill, with one small town and the water tower in the background.

The female and male winners in both races will receive trophies, and first, second and third place medals will be awarded in each age group. There will be a special award for the family registered with the three fastest members, along with a drawing for Brooks shoes.

The race includes one mile with age groups of 11 and under, 12-14, 15-19, 20-29, 30-39, 40-49, and 50 and over. The 5K age groups are 14 and under, 15-19, 20-29, 30-39, 40-49, 50-59, and 60 and over.

Free fruit will be provided for the runners by the Cash Store in Allen, and the trophies and medals are sponsored by Logan LTD Feed Yard, with cash donations by the Security National Bank.

A KIDDIE tractor pull, with Stan McAfee in charge, will be held at 10 a.m. in the park. There also will be children's games in the park, from 10 a.m. to noon, with Mary Rastede and Joy Bock in charge.

A community picnic also is scheduled to take place in the park, beginning at 6 p.m. The Allen Community Development Club is sponsoring the picnic and will be selling homemade ice cream and pie for dessert.

Free square dancing will take place from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the school gym, with Darrel and Wanda Novak in charge. The Village Inn is planning a Karaoke at 9 p.m.

THE FOURTH of July celebration will conclude with a traditional display of fireworks by Allen firemen at 9:45 p.m. at the Isom-Hill Athletic Field.

Those attending are asked to donate part of what they would spend on family fireworks to help defray the cost of the community display.

Alice Wagner read an article on the proposed improvements at Wayne State College. Anna Johnson related a few Big Red football jokes to the group. The afternoon was spent playing 10 point pitch.

The next meeting will be with Elda Jones in Wayne.

HAPPY WORKERS

The Happy Workers met in the Gladys Rohde home in Wayne with nine members and one guest present. Cards furnished entertainment with prizes going to Ivy Junck, Pauline Frink and Evelyn Hall.

The next meeting will be July 15 in the home of Marie Bring.

Goldenrod official attends meeting

Jolene Weinrich, drug free project coordinator from Goldenrod Hills Community Services, recently attended a Head Start Substance Abuse Grant meeting in Fairfax, Va.

Goldenrod Hills Community Services will implement a program of prevention and intervention activity through training and support for Head Start staff, children and parents in the 10 centers in Northeast Nebraska.

The project will provide awareness and education as well as parenting skills for raising drug-free children, intervention, and treatment for families with substance abuse problems.

TOPICS discussed at the meeting in Virginia included different types of substance abuse, signs of usage, attitudes, beliefs and feelings, the impact on parents and families, health and developmental issues, preschool services for children from substance abuse families, working with parents and caretakers and confidentiality issues that impact Head Start intervention.

The seminar was directed by Dr. Judy Howard, M.D., director of intervention programs for handicapped children at the University of California (UCLA), along with members of her staff.

The UCLA team is a leading authority on issues relating to children and families exposed to substance abuse.

At Wakefield June Jubilee

Wellness booths designed to promote healthier lifestyles

RESIDENTS FROM Wakefield and several other surrounding communities took advantage of free health screenings offered during a Wellness Celebration held last Saturday in conjunction with the annual Wakefield June Jubilee. The wellness booths were jointly sponsored by the M.G. Waldbaum Co. of Wakefield and Marian Health Center of Sioux City. The Marian Air Care Helicopter, top left photo, also was on display during the day. In the photo above, Dan Loofe, an ex-smoker, tests his pulmonary function. Several health-conscious individuals, center left photo, gather around one of many wellness booths, while Dick Keidel of Wayne, center right photo, picks up free health pamphlets.

WEIGHT ROOM UPDATE

Attendance in the weight room after two weeks has been excellent. Participation has averaged about 33 high school students each day, with each class well represented. Several Wakefield High School alumni also have been coming to lift.

Weight room hours are from 6-9 a.m. and 4-6 p.m. every Monday, Wednesday and Friday throughout the summer. The weight room is supervised by Arnie Cerny, coach.

The school board also approved Doug Stanton, Lisa Anderson and Kristen Miller as aides for the weight program.

If anyone would like to lift other than at the scheduled times, please contact Mr. Cerny or one of his aides.

POST OFFICE HOURS

Because the July 4th, holiday falls on a Saturday this year, post offices will be observing Saturday hours on Friday and will be closed on Saturday.
Window hours on Friday, July 3 will be from 8:30 to 10 a.m. Mail will be distributed into boxes and rural mail will also be delivered.

Mail to out-of-town addressed should be placed in the outside drop box on July 3 for pick up. Pick up from the outside box will be at 6 p.m., the same as on Saturdays. There will be no mail delivery on July 4.

PLAY BINGO

Six members of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 81 of Wakefield played bingo with residents of the Norfolk Veterans Home on June 9. Members participating included Betty Bressler, Helen Anderson, Beverly Herbolsheimer, Vernetta Busby, Margaret Cisney and Linnea Olson.

The local auxiliary is planning to entertain a bus load of veterans from the Norfolk home on Tuesday, June 30. The unit will be serving the group supper at the Legion Hall.

READING HOUR

Graves Public Library will sponsor a summer reading hour for youngsters, beginning Monday, June 29. Theme this year is "Dive Into a Good Book" and will be for youngsters pre-school through fifth grade.

In addition to hearing stories for an hour from 7-8 p.m. on four consecutive Monday evenings, the youth will also be encouraged to check out books to read during the week.

PRE-SCHOOL GRADUATION

Nine students of the ABC Campus Pre-School were honored in graduation ceremonies last month. Students were Phillip Cardinas, Tanner Soderberg, Amanda Nelson, Megan Barge, Taten Hingst, Kayla Linn, Bret Kahl, Miranda Nettleton and Nicole Greve.

Instructors at the school are Teresa Soderberg and Donna Nelson.

TEMPERANCE UNION

The Friendship Women's Christian Temperance Union met June 16 at the Hillcrest Care Center in Laurel, with Hillcrest residents attending.

Thelma Hattig, program leader, welcomed all. The group sang "Wind The Ribbon Round the Nations." Phyllis Herfel gave devotions from Psalm 26 and Mark 7. Tiffany and Heath Erwin and Kayla Macklin sang "Jesus Loves Me" and "I Have Joy in My Heart." Pastor Mursick, Laurel, gave the message.

Thelma Hattig gave introductions and led the White Ribbon recruit service for mothers and 14 children, five and under. The children were tied with a White Ribbon around their right wrist, as mothers pledged to teach the effects of alcohol and drugs to them. Each child also received a recognition card, little book and a flower. The mothers received WCTU packets. Pictures were taken of each one. Refreshments were served to all present by the Friendship WCTU Union ladies.

Children tied were James, son of Merilyn and James Pehrson, Laurel; Maxwell, son of Steve and Shirley Rasmussen, Laurel; Kelsey and Kayla, daughters of Deb and Kurt Rewinkle, Concord; Travis, son of Roxy and Todd Nelson, Laurel; Keena, daughter of Marcie Towhig, Laurel; Mande and Megan, daughters of Shirley and Roger Haahr, Laurel; Justin, Jamie and Kayla, children of Sheila and Jeff Herfel, Jackson; Ashley and Tanner, children of Nancy and Glen Maxon, Laurel; Shannon, daughter of Mary Kay and Keith Jarvi, Wayne.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Senior Citizens held their June potluck dinner at the Senior Center June 17 with 19 present. Birthdays and anniversaries were acknowledged with song. The secretary and treasurer reports were read. Some forms and posters had been posted, others will be taken care of. Lucille Olson was asked to help update the participating cards with doctors names, medication and blood type.

A memorial monetary gift had been received from Esther Peterson's family. A motion was made to try to get a plaque for the memorial names.

A quilt was set up and started in the afternoon.

LUTHERAN WOMEN

Women of Evangelical Lutheran Church, Concord, met Thursday afternoon at the church. Evonne Magnuson, president, read "Blessings." Reports were read and bills were paid. Thank yous were read from the Jerry Martindales, Betty Anderson, United Lutheran Church Women of Laurel and the family of Helen Pearson with a monetary donation.

Future activities include a retreat at Fremont on Sept. 19, theme is "As We Look at Life Style," a noon day prayer concern for drought and famine in Africa.

Phoebe Circle had the program. The group sang "For the Beauty of the Earth." Theme was "If Fish and Trees Could Vote." Doris Nelson, leader, gave the introduction on water pollution and deforestation. Avis Pearson and Doris read articles on energy and air pollution. They closed with a Litany and scripture reading, benediction and table prayer. Refreshments were served by Evonne Magnuson, Helen Carlson and Vandelyn Hanson.

ARTEMIS CLUB

Artemis Extension Club met June 9 for an outing. Ten members toured the Ashfall Fossil at Royal, visited a fish hatchery and had lunch at the Greven cables. There will be no summer club meetings. September hostess will be Marilyn Creamer.

BON TEMPO BRIDGE

Bon Tempo Bridge Club met June 16 with Agnes Serven as hostess. Cindy Kreamer of Allen was a guest. High scores were won by Delores Koch and Mary Johnson. Delores Koch will be the July 1 hostess.

Father's Day supper guests in the Jerry Martindale home were Mark Martindale and Mark Jr. and Tracy Flocart of Des Moines, Iowa and the Steve Martindale family. Jim Martindale of Creighton telephoned greetings. Jerry Filbrick of Allen and Les Bohlken visited Jerry on Saturday.

Father's Day dinner guests in the Roy Pearson home in Concord were Mr. and Mrs. James Coan, Kevin Erickson and Sandy Reel, all of Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Morris of Carroll; Mr. and Mrs. Alan Densmore and family and Kathy Coan of Omaha; Mrs. Harold Pearson and family of Akron, Iowa; and Mr. and Mrs. Vic Carlson of Concord. Later in the afternoon, they all attended Sylvia Mallum's 85th birthday at Wakefield. Charles Mallum of California also attended his mother's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert McClary of Albert City, Iowa visited Mildred McClary on Saturday and were overnight guests.

Casey and Brit Swanson of Vancouver, Wash., en route to Nolensville, Tenn., came June 14 and spent eight days with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Swanson.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Greve joined guests in the Jim Lunz home Sunday afternoon to help Kristina celebrate her second birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Knox of Denver, Colo. were last Wednesday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Krusemark at the Senior Center in Wakefield. Joining them for afternoon coffee in the Krusemark home were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brudigam, Arnold Brudigam, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Frey and Mae Greve.

Erna Bottger, Edith Anderson, Mindy and Kassi and Tara Anderson were Sunday evening guests in the Lori Anderson home honoring her on her birthday.

Rural nursing program underway

The University of Nebraska Medical Center's College of Nursing recently was awarded a three-year, $450,000 grant from the Public Health Service Division of Nursing to establish Nebraska's first Rural Family Nurse Practitioner program.

The new program, which will be offered this fall and taught at the University of Nebraska at Kearney campus, will train master's level family nurse practitioners for rural areas, according to Colette Jones, Ph.D., associate dean for the graduate program at UNMC's College of Nursing.

A nurse practitioner is a registered nurse who has advanced education and clinical training in a health care specialty area. As advanced clinicians, nurse practitioners deliver primary and preventive health care in a variety of settings, such as community health centers, hospitals, patients' homes, schools and nursing homes and in a range of clinical areas, such as pediatrics, family health and geriatrics.

Graduates of the program will be able to provide primary care services to families and individuals in rural areas where the number of physicians is declining rapidly and access to health care is increasingly difficult, Dr. Jones said.

The program has been developed as part of UNMC's Rural Health Education Network (RHEN), Dr. Jones said. RHEN is an innovative program designed by the Medical Center to help address the shortage of health professionals in rural areas. In addition to the grant, the rural family nurse practitioner program is partially funded by RHEN, Dr. Jones said.

The program consists of an intensive 24-month series of courses, including four core courses required for the master's program, five nurse practitioner courses and a thesis or research project. Forty-eight credit hours are needed to complete the program.

Approximately eight to 12 students will be admitted at a time with preference given to applicants from rural areas who indicate they will practice in rural areas, and to minority applicants.

The program can be taken on a full-time or part-time basis, however, students wishing to pursue a master's degree on a full-time basis are preferred, Dr. Jones said. Individuals who have a master's degree in nursing will be required to take the nurse practitioner courses, Dr. Jones said.

Following completion of the program, students will be required to take a national certification exam before they can practice as a nurse practitioner in Nebraska, Dr. Jones said.

The basic master's level core courses will be taught via teleconference from Omaha by graduate faculty members. Other primary courses will be taught in Kearney by Dr. Jones and Patricia Lindley, Ph.D., R.N., C, assistant professor at UNMC's College of Nursing and also a certified nurse practitioner. In addition to these courses, the students will also receive clinical assignments.

As a convenience to the students, Dr. Jones said they will teach the nurse practitioner courses in Kearney on one of the same days that the core courses are televised from Omaha. "Hopefully, students driving to Kearney for the classes will only have to spend one or two days a week in Kearney."

"We'll also try to arrange some clinical assignments in the students' hometowns, whenever it's possible to do so," she said.

Dr. Jones said UNMC's family nurse practitioner program is similar to programs offered at other colleges throughout the country. However, UNMC's program will have a rural focus, she said. "It is being offered on the Kearney campus to attract nurses who are already practicing in rural areas and want to add to their training and expertise," Dr. Jones said.

The development of nurse practitioners nationwide started over 20 years ago to meet the health care needs of the underserved population in both rural and urban areas. There are more than 5,000 certified family nurse practitioners in the United States.

Nurse practitioners work closely with the physician and provide a variety of services that include obtaining health histories and performing physical examinations; diagnosing and treating common health problems, such as infections and minor injuries; diagnosing, treating and monitoring chronic diseases such as diabetes and high blood pressure; providing prenatal care and family planning services; providing well-child care, including screening and immunizations; and providing health maintenance care for adults, including annual physicals.

The UNMC College of Nursing offers bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees. A bachelor's program is available on all four of the College of Nursing campuses in Omaha, Lincoln, Scottsbluff and Kearney. The graduate nursing courses are offered on the Omaha campus and have been televised to Lincoln.

UNMC offers the only doctorate program in nursing in Nebraska. The doctorate program is available only through the Omaha campus.

For more information about the Rural Family Nurse Practitioner program or other graduate programs at the College of Nursing, contact Dr. Jones, (402) 559-4121.

Chapter honors members
Honorary salutes educators

The Phi Delta Kappa chapter of Northeast Nebraska met Tuesday, June 2 for the final meeting of the 1991-92 year at Quarry Restaurant in Yankton, S.D.

During the meeting, a number of current and former Northeast Nebraska educators were honored. Receiving an award for being a 25 year member was Frank Cummings of Orleans, Mass. Ten year awards were presented to Delno Fuelberth of Battle Creek, Sally McNeill of Redlands, Calif., William Tomicek of South Sioux City. Five year award winners were: Barbara Beyne of Louisville, Rhonda Collins of Middle Grove, Patti Gubbels of Norfolk, Ken Navratil of Kearney, Paula Rumsey of Norfolk, Susan Smidt of Tilden, Cynthia Svendsen of Lyons, Bob Uhing of Wayne, and Jesse Wolf of Hartington.

Four individuals were honored with plaques for service to education. Norfolk's Don Kraemer is the 1992 Friend of Kappan for his education related news-radio broadcasts for all of Northeast Nebraska. Outstanding Kappans for 1992 are Lisa Anderson, secretary; Paul Jungers, Oakland, treasurer; and Dave Lutt, Wayne, officer, principal and international reading association supporter. Lutt received his award from Carroll teacher Pat Jenkins.

The new officers were also elected. Officers include: Larry Harris, Wayne, president; Lisa Anderson, Norfolk, vice president-membership; Arnold Emry, Wayne, vice president-programs; Trudie Janssen, Norfolk, secretary; Paul Jungers, Oakland, treasurer; Judy Peters, Wayne, historian; Barbara Kleinschmit, Norfolk, newsletter editor; William Tomicek, South Sioux, research representative; Dan DePasquale, Norfolk, foundation representative; Dave Lutt, Wayne, delegate; Jean Blomenkamp, Wayne, first alternate; Alan Harms, Wayne, second alternate.

Past president Dr. Don Zeiss, Wayne, presented Carolyn Pint of Sergeant Bluff with the president's plaque for her work for the Northeast Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa.

NEW TECHNIQUES PROVIDE RELIEF FOR ARTHRITIS: With the population growing older, the incidences of the various forms of arthritis are also on the increase. The American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons says that some 30 million Americans, including nearly half of all persons 65 years or older, have arthritis. A large number of these people have had, or will have, joint replacements to deal with the painful and crippling problems that result from the degradation of cartilage of the joints in osteoarthritis. Already, the statistics show that some half million a year are performed, with 123,000 of that number for total hip replacements, 58,000 to replace the femur, and 95,000 to replace knees.

"The ultimate goal is to prevent or minimize the destruction of the cartilage that covers the bony surface of the bone. But in the meantime, the reality that most people with the condition must face is surgery. Fortunately, in recent years, the techniques used in these surgical procedures have improved dramatically. Dr. Thomas P. Sculco, Professor of Orthopaedic Surgery, Cornell University noted: "...we do the operations faster and the patients recover faster. New anesthetic procedures result in less blood loss during the operation, and fewer problems with clot formation in the veins in the leg... Because of improvements in the surgical procedure and in the materials used in the implant, we find that 10 years after joint replacement, 90 to 95 percent of implants are excellent; at 15 years we expect only mild increases in failure." So far there's been no real breakthrough in preventing cartilage destruction. But there are things we can do to slow, if not completely prevent, joint deterioration. Most important is exercise. Walking, swimming, riding a stationary bike are all helpful activities. It's also important to keep one's weight down. The more load on the joint, the more deterioration.

Young people can also develop joint problems. Anyone who has suffered a joint injury in sports such as football or skiing should seek orthopaedic treatment immediately.

Note: I know I'm repeating myself, but I can't stress too often how vital it is to leave the treatment of your arthritis to your doctors. Any so-called "miracle" cures offered by anyone else simply does miracles for — if you'll pardon the pun — the con artists' "joint" bank accounts.

Shopping in Wayne just makes cents

Marlyn Jacobson, like those he works with at Great Dane Trailers of Wayne, knows the importance of shopping in Wayne.

"It is important that the residents shop and support the local merchants in Wayne," Great Dane's industrial relations manager says. "Only with our support can the community of Wayne grow."

Like other businesses in Wayne, Great Dane is doing what it can to foster increased shopping habits within the community by providing their employees with a Shopping in Wayne Just Makes Cents coupon book recently published by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce.

Jacobson says he knows the coupons work, just like he knows the importance of shopping locally, because his wife has already taken advantage of some of the coupons.

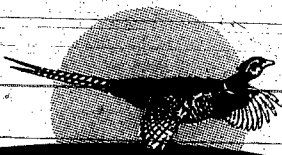

Jacobson says that it's important to foster the economic growth which comes with keeping local dollars local.

"Both the public and the merchants must be supportive of each other," he says. "That's what makes it work."

So by offering incentives and having the understanding that shopping locally continues the community's strong economy, shopping in Wayne just makes cents.

THANK YOU

I WOULD like to thank my family and friends for visits, cards, flowers and food brought to the house during the nine long days I was in the Lutheran Hospital in Norfolk and since my return home. Thank you to Pastor Don and Barbara for their prayers and a special thanks to Josh Davis for his special prayers for me. I know that's what helped Josh! Bless all of you and also my special kids in the MYF group. You're all great! Kathy Hochstein. J25

I THANK you for flowers, cards and visits while I was at Providence Medical Center. Also thanks for food brought to our home. Thanks to Dr. Felber, Dr. Martin, Dr. Benthack and Gary West and all the nursing staff for their great care. Thanks to Rev. Jeff Seivert and Sister Gertrude for their visits and prayers. Morris Jenkins. J25

I WANT to thank friends and family for the TLC in preparation for surgery, hospitalization and during recovery. You are all very special. Thanks, Sandra Emry. J25

DUE THANKS to our relatives and friends for the many cards, gifts, phone calls, flowers, hugs and well wishes, for our wedding. Buster and Mella Driskell. J25

YOU'VE overwhelmed us with your show of care, concern, thoughts, sharing and prayers at this time of the loss of our precious wife and mother. "In times like these we need a Savior," we also need you. Thank you kindly. Edwin Fahrenholz and family. J25

WE WOULD like to thank everyone who helped with the Old Settlers Barbecue. Ray and Judy Jacobsen. J25

THANKS to our sons, daughters-in-law, grandchildren, relatives and friends for the surprise 40th wedding anniversary held at Larry and Sue Meyers home. Thanks for gifts, cards, food and cards sent to us. Thanks to all for sharing this special day with us. God's blessings to all. Leon and Melva Meyer. J25

Calcium Pregnancy and Blood Pressure
Calcium supplements are commonly used by women to help reduce risk of osteoporosis. And some calcium salts are effective antacids. Now researchers are finding that taking calcium supplements may reduce problems associated with high blood pressure during pregnancy. Approximately 600 women were given calcium supplements and 600 were given placebos beginning the 20th week of pregnancy. Ten percent of the women who were given calcium experienced problems with high blood pressure as compared to 15 percent of women who took placebos. A potentially dangerous condition called preeclampsia occurred in 2.6 percent of women who received calcium as compared to 3.9 percent of women who took placebos.
