Egg-cited crowds enjoy dozenth Chicken Show

By Les Mann
Herald Publisher

Rains covered most of Eastern Nebraska Saturday but held off over Wayne until most of the Chicken Show activities had concluded Saturday.

The result was a cool, pleasant day for Chicken Show participants, but officials said the crowds were smaller than previous years because people thought it was raining here as well.

Nonetheless over 2,000 free omelettes (5,600 eggs-worth) were served during the morning at Bressler Park and more than 1,500 chicken dinners were gobbled up in the afternoon.

In between, an estimated 8,000 enthusiastic participants watched the 12th annual Chicken Show parade and the contests at Bressler which followed the parade.

"Everything went very well," said Jane O'Leary, who chaired the event. She said all the events were basically done when the skies opened and dumped upwards of three inches of rain on the area.

First National Bank won the overall float competition with a colorful "Pennies from Heaven" theme. That float edged two other tough competitors, that from Pac 'N' Sav and the "Chickendales" float complete with men in metal breast-plates.

The event was highly successful as an opportunity for the community to show off and to make money in the process, said Curt Wilwerding. He said business people and the audience were impressed with the new activities added to Friday night. A large crowd enjoyed the "Pickin' and Pluckin'" music festival downtown Friday.

In the premiere Chicken Show event, the National Club-Off which drew national television coverage, Ed Howard of Marysville, Kan., successfully defended the title he won last year.

His toughest competition was from Joel Yavra of Crete, Neb. who had been called "Captain Cluck" after winning four titles from 1987-1990.

Results of the Chicken Show contests are included inside today's Herald.

Then rains came

Only minor damage was reported following a Saturday night storm in the Wayne area which dropped over 5 inches of rain in some areas.

Official rainfall totals for Wayne listed 2.83 inches as of 7 a.m. Sunday, but weather recorder Pat Gross said residents just north of Wayne reported over five inches fell during the storm.

"It will vary like that," said

Gross. Norfolk only received .15 inches from the same storm, he said.

Minor crop damage was seen in the low areas immediately north of Wayne from silting and the water ran over the roads in some areas.

Several limbs were down in town Sunday morning.

The rain started at about the end of Chicken Show activities, sending stragglers scurrying for shelter.

Field usage—

High School team to play at college

By Rick Kerkman
Staff Writer

There are still some minor issues to be ironed out, but it appears the Wayne-Carroll Blue Devil football team will be playing its home games on the WSC stadium as usual this fall.

A flap over increases in use fees the college will charge the school for the facility appears to be all but over. Wayne-Carroll school board members voiced no opposition Tuesday night to new fees which they said will cost the school $775 per game to play on the college field.

Previously the school had played home games on the field for as little as $150 per game but were required to pay some of the staff positions.

Now there will be a flat fee arrangement which board members characterized as fair.

Questions still remain, however, over concession revenue generated at the high school games. The school administration and board members expressed hope that an agreement could be reached to at least share some of the concession revenue generated when the high school plays at the field.

Superintendent Dennis Jensen and College Pres. Don Mash will be discussing this issue as well as an agreement on criteria and procedures for canceling games due to weather.

The school wants to have a say in the decision over whether the field is suitable for play according to board members.

Concerns had been expressed last month when the board was notified that the college would be raising the fees the school would be charged for the use of the field.

College officials indicated the new fee structure would be more in line with what other state schools charged for the use of their facilities and would help cover the costs incurred by the college for allowing the high school to use the facility.

It was also disclosed that some years the high school got by without paying anything for the use of the field because the school was never billed by the college for the previously agreed upon fee structure.

School board members indicated a belief that a just and equitable agreement could be reached for the benefit of both institutions.

Schools peek at TV class

Hired as a specialist in new learning technologies, the new superintendent of the Wayne-Carroll school district showed his expertise at his first meeting with the school board.

The board got a wiz-bang demonstration from Dr. Dennis Jensen on interactive video technology during its meeting Tuesday night. With the new equipment, students in Wayne could tune into classes around the globe and interact with teachers teaching those classes.

The equipment provides a wide range of advantages, the excited school board members learned. Besides introducing teachers and subjects the district could not otherwise afford to provide its students with its limited resources, the distance learning equipment could be used to transmit classes to remote locations, saving travel costs for the district.

"I'm real excited about this," said board member Will Davis. He and the rest of the board enthusiastically approved formation of a committee to study implementation of the use of the distance learning advantages to the Wayne-Carroll schools.

Jensen told the board members he was concerned about the limited technology exposure Wayne students were receiving compared to other students. He said the Wayne schools could participate in the new learning technology opportunities for very little investment.

Annexation scaled back on Wayne development

City to gain 7.5 acres now, not the 65 acres proposed.

By Les Mann
Herald Publisher

A proposal to annex over 65 acres of land into the city of Wayne for future development of the Vintage Hills addition was scaled back by City Council Tuesday night at the request of the developer.

An ordinance had been prepared to annex the entire tract of 65 acres Northeast of the city, but the developer's attorney said all that should be annexed was the immediate 7.5 acres that will be developed this year.

"The balance is growing beans," said Duane Schroeder. "We object very strenuously to annexation of the entire tract because it is not urban property. It is not served by city services."

Schroeder said the only reason the city would want to annex the entire tract would be for the taxes. "What we're doing is making it more difficult for people to develop land," said Schroeder. He said the land should be annexed as it is developed, and not before.

Bar official dies here

Ted Dillow of Wahoo, executive director of the Nebraska State Bar Association, was pronounced dead at Providence Medical Center in Wayne Tuesday morning, following an automobile accident near Wisner.

Dillow, 62, was returning to Lincoln from Stanley, N.D., where he attended his father-in-law's funeral on Monday. His car veered off U.S. 275 and ran into a dirt embankment. There were no brake or skid marks, and Dillow is believed to have fallen asleep at the wheel.

His car was discovered by a passing truck driver at approximately 4 a.m.

Mayor Bob Carhart argued for this approach to help facilitate development rather than discourage it. City administrator Joe Salitros estimated the additional taxes the city would gain each year by annexing the entire property now would be only about $350.

Council agreed with the request of the developer and ordered that the ordinance be redrafted to annex only the 7.5 acres currently being developed.

The developer, David Gardner has plans for 15 lots on the development, including three of which will be used by the new Day Care Center.

The annexation issue is expected to be settled at the next council meeting.

Council members stressed a need for consistent policy with annexation of developments near the city. Allowing them to come in as they are developed and not forcing the land to be annexed before development "will allow us to be more flexible," said Darrel Heier, council president.

Council Tuesday also approved implementation of a street improvement district for the new Vintage Hill addition as well as establishing lot value for the assessment of park fees for the new addition. The park fee for the 15 lots will be about $2,000.

The Sherman Bros. owned a grocery store in Allen until the 1940's.

Anti-crime crusade fought on 3 fronts

A Criminal Justice Triad has been formed in Nebraska, according to Dustin Price, AARP State Director, Omaha.

The American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), The Nebraska Sheriff's Association and the Police Chief's Association in Nebraska have agreed by a resolution to work together in Nebraska to provide information to persons on how to protect themselves from criminals, con artists and other crimes inflicted on the elderly. The program is also endorsed by the Police Officer's Association in Nebraska.

Robert "Bucky" Bucholz of Lincoln is the AARP Criminal Justice spokesperson in Nebraska. Criminal Justice Service is one of several AARP Programs that are designed to serve the needs of older Americans.

The organizations will address the problems and develop solutions to enhance the delivery of the law enforcement services in Nebraska. Such a Triad, as the one in Nebraska, is being formed in seven other states to meet this special need for the elderly.

AARP is the Nation's largest non-partisan, non-profit organization of Americans 50 and older. Headquartered in Washington, D.C., the Association offers a wide variety of membership benefits, legislative representation at federal and state levels, educational and community service programs carried out through a network of volunteers and local chapters and units.

ESU seats new board member

Marjorie Meinen of South Sioux City was sworn in as a member of the Educational Service Unit One (ESU 1) board of directors, during the board's regular monthly meeting Tuesday night in Wakefield.

Meinen will complete the at-large term of Keith Pfeiffer, who resigned from the ESU board in April.

ADMINISTRATOR Rodney Garwood informed the board of progress on the new ESU 1 facility under construction in Wayne and said the facility is proceeding on schedule and should be ready for occupancy on Sept. 1.

The building is located directly west of the Wayne America water tower and will house the unit's two Wayne programs — the Wayne Children's Development Center and the Wayne Learning Center.

In related business, ESU 1 board members approved several change orders on the new facility and authorized the addition of a patio at an estimated cost of $1,880.

Board members also approved the purchase of special education equipment, with the majority of the equipment earmarked for the new building.

In addition, the board approved a purchase agreement for sale of the Wayne Learning Center, located on the east edge of Wayne, to David F. Linn at a cost of $42,000.

IN OTHER matters Tuesday night, the ESU board approved several policy changes on the first reading, with the second reading scheduled next month.

The board also set Aug. 11 as the date for two hearings, including a hearing to exceed the zero percent lid at 6:30 p.m., followed with the budget hearing at 6:45 and the regular monthly meeting at 7.

A special meeting to set the levy is scheduled Aug. 27.

Two accidents investigated at Carroll, Wayne

Two people sustained injuries in a collision on a county road southwest of Carroll Tuesday morning.

Gordon Davis, a 60-year-old rural mail carrier from Carroll was southbound on the county road and Emma Eckert, 82, of Wayne was northbound when they met at the crest of a hill and neither could avoid the collision, according to Wayne County Sheriff Leroy Janssen.

The accident occurred at approximately 9:40 a.m. and both drivers were treated at Providence Medical Center. Davis sustained two broken wrists and facial cuts. Eckert, who was wearing a seat belt, sustained bruises and cuts.

A one vehicle accident on Monday on a county road 1 mile east and 3/4 mile south of Wayne resulted when a motorist swerved to miss a deer.

Andrew Lutt, 16, Wayne, was the driver of the car that rolled in the ditch. A passenger, Josh Starzel, 13, sustained a scratched knee in the mishap. Both teens were wearing seat belts.

That accident occurred at 5:30 p.m. according to Janssen.

Meeting scheduled in July Board begins work on budget

Budget preparation begins in earnest for the Wayne-Carroll School Board which has scheduled its budget meeting for July 28.

New superintendent Dennis Jensen said he would be relying on the help of retired superintendent Frances Haun in preparing the proposed budget to present to the board. The budget session will be held at 8 p.m.

During the board meeting Tuesday, the Wayne-Carroll school board agreed to increase lunch fees by 5 cents for the coming school year but milk prices will remain the same.

In other budgetary issues, it was agreed to decrease the sinking fund levy from 12 cents per $100 of valuation to 10 cents. The move will be permitted by the retirement of the elementary building addition debt in September.

School census

School age children in the Wayne-Carroll district as counted in recent district census.

	1991-1992	1992-1993
Preschoolers	282	302
Handicapped children	38	75
School age (5-18)	1,058	1,066
Young adults (19-20)	128	105

Figured in the budget are salary increases for the classified staff and administrators which were agreed upon following an executive session at the previous school board meeting.

Approval of the hiring of two new part-time faculty members was also granted at the Tuesday board meeting.

Doris Meyer was hired as a part time vocational/special education teacher and Troy Harder was hired as the half-time Chapter 1 teacher.

Agriculture tour in August to feature innovative ideas

Participants in the 12th annual Sustainable Agriculture Tour, Aug. 18, are scheduled to visit four farms in northeast Nebraska that use resource efficient farming practices such as reduced chemical applications, beneficial insects and crop rotations.

Charles Francis, director of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Center for Sustainable Agricultural Systems, said the all day bus tour will begin at the Northeast Research and Extension Center near Concord at 9 a.m.

He said each of the farm families to be visited on the tour have been recognized locally and nationally for their innovative ideas and conservation practices.

The first stop will be the Glen and Janet Olson farm near Hartington. The Olsons won the Omaha World-Herald master conservationist award and the Nebraska good earth family award in 1992. They also were honored with a certificate of environmental achievement from Renew America based in Washington, D.C. for the success of their farm in protecting the environment and serving as a national role model. The Olsons use dryland crop rotations and have a cow-calf herd as well as a farrow-to-finish swine operation.

Over the past 30 years they have implemented crop rotations and strip cropping, grassed waterways and 16 small dams, no-till and minimum till, little or no use of chemicals and manure utilization. The Olsons also have planted more than 5,000 trees for field and farmstead windbreak, the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources official said.

After touring the Olson farm, participants will stop at the Martin and Linda Kleinschmidt farm near Hartington to see a solar water heater that saves about 40 percent of the cost of heating water for the dairy barn and a home-built compost turner constructed in the 1970s from a used windrower for about $1100.

The third stop on the tour will be the Marcel and Sheila Kramer farm in Crofton. The Kramers were recognized this year with the outstanding grassland award from the Nebraska Forage and Grassland Council for an intensive grazing system with eight paddocks that double the grazing capacities of the farm. The Kramers also use insects for biological control of thistles, Francis pointed out.

The last stop will be at the Gary and Delores Young farm in McLean. The Youngs began changing to sustainable farming practices in 1969 after testing showed significant water contamination on their farm. About the same time, Young was hospitalized for three days after using recommended chemicals. Now, as president of the Nebraska Sustainable Agricultural Society, Young gives tours to share his experience with others.

Tour participants will see pasture rotation and a cattle fly trap, a portable solar collector, strip cropping and many other sustainable agriculture practices at the Young farm.

The cost of the tour, which includes transportation, lunch and refreshments, is $20. Students may attend for $10, Francis said. Vans will be available to transport persons who wish to leave from Lincoln.

Participants are asked to register by Aug. 10. Registration forms and more information are available from the Center for Sustainable Agricultural Systems, 221 Keim Hall, UNL, Lincoln, NE 68583-0949, phone 402/472-2056.

The tour is sponsored by the UNL Center for Sustainable Agricultural Systems and the Nebraska Sustainable Agriculture Society.

Search continues for Q125 king and queen

The Wayne County Agricultural Society is continuing its search for a Q125 king and queen to reign over the Wayne County Fair on Aug. 6-9.

The event is just one several state-wide celebrations taking place in observance of Nebraska's 125th birthday.

The royal couple will be crowned by Congressman Doug Bereuter at the fairgrounds on Friday night, Aug. 7.

Residents from throughout the Northeast Nebraska area are eligible to be nominated for the event, and will be considered based upon their contributions to Northeast Nebraska's well-being — past, present and future.

PERSONS wishing to nominate a man or woman for the honor are asked to send the nominees' name and address, along with the reason for nominating them, to Business and Professional Women (the sponsoring organization), 521 East 6th St., Wayne, Neb., 68787.

Deadline for nominations is Friday, July 24, and the nominees need not be man and wife.

In addition, nominees need not be older residents of Northeast Nebraska, but anyone who has distinguished his or herself in some way.

Older persons planning to travel abroad should include health-related subjects in their preparations. Check your health insurance coverage — Medicare doesn't provide coverage outside the U.S., but you can buy travel medical insurance. Pack medications in carry-on luggage, along with copies of prescriptions. Take along names of physicians, their phone and fax numbers. Bon voyage!

Joe thule, Jr., was born in Brooklyn in 1920, the son of a vaudeville comic and a showgirl. He made his vaudeville debut when only 17 months old, and by age 15 he had appeared in 29 movies. By then, he had changed his name to Mickey Rooney. His series of "Andy Hardy" films and the musicals he made with Judy Garland were classics of the late 1930s and early '40s. In his 70s, Rooney wrote another book looking back on his film, stage and television career, and looking back on eight marriages. But he neither married nor romanced the woman credited with the greatest influence on him — Judy Garland.

Insulin Is Required By Some Diabetics

Names for the two major types of diabetes have been simplified as Type I and Type II.
Insulin-dependent (Type I) diabetics require daily insulin injections due to a defect in the area of the pancreas where insulin is produced. Type II diabetics usually do not need daily insulin injections because the body has the ability to produce and use insulin.
Non-insulin dependent (Type II) diabetics may be able to control blood sugar levels with diet and an oral (tablet or capsule) medicine for diabetes such as tolbutamide, chlorpropamide, tolazamide, acetohexamide, or glyburide. If blood sugar control is not achieved with these measures, insulin may be required for Type II diabetics. According to the Handbook of Nonprescription Drugs, there are 38 different insulins available in the United States. Short-acting insulins lower blood sugar in one to six hours and include Regular insulin and Semilente insulin. Insulins with an onset of action in the intermediate range (up to 20 hours) include NPH, Lente, and Humulin Ultralente insulins. Long acting insulins include protargin zinc (PZI) and Ultralente insulins. Theoretically the best insulin regimen is one that closely follows the secretion cycle provided by the normal pancreas. Insulin infusion pumps are used by some diabetics where tighter control of blood sugar is required.

Carroll alumni return for reunion

Two hundred and twenty-five persons attended the Carroll High School alumni reunion on July 4 in Carroll.

Registration was held in the afternoon at the Carroll fire hall, followed with a banquet served by Herb and Joyce Niemann in the Carroll auditorium. Decorations were in red, white and blue.

The classes of 1940, 1941 and 1942 were honored, with Mrs. Margaret Kenny, Lynn Roberts and Mrs. Dorothy Aurich in charge.

Mrs. Gordon (Norma Drake) Davis of Carroll gave the welcome, and the group recited the flag salute with Mrs. Arlowyn Wingett as Uncle Sam. The audience was led by the Welsh Quartet in singing "This Land is Your Land."

Mrs. Addie Sals of Schuyler gave the invocation and Bill Kenny of Norfolk served as toastmaster.

THE BUSINESS meeting was conducted by Merlin Kenny. Mrs. Loren (JoAnn Volwiler) Stoltenberg was in charge of recognitions.

David Garwood of Kearney (Class of 1932) was the oldest man attending, and Eleanor Jones of Sioux City (Class of 1917) was the oldest woman present.

Traveling the furthest distances to attend the reunion were Edward Schmitt of Montebello, Calif. and Mrs. Clifford (LaVonn Voecks) Koppelman of Puyallup, Wash.

The Class of 1949 had the most classmates in attendance. Dennis and Mae Morris of Australia were also recognized.

THE PROGRAM included vocal selections by the Cook family, including Allen, Gordon, Craig, Barbara and Mary Jo, children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cook of Carroll.

Rush Tucker of Tempe, Ariz. was the speaker. Mrs. Doris Harmer, Mrs. Ruth Kerstine and Eva Glass lit 32 candles in memory of deceased alumni, and the Welsh Quartet sang, accompanied by Mrs. John Rees.

The audience sang the Carroll school song.

The evening concluded with a dance in the Carroll auditorium. Music was provided by the Artie Schmitt Orchestra of Wisner. A fireworks display was held on Main St. during intermission.

THE CLASS of 1908 was the first reported class to graduate from Carroll High School. High school classes were held until 1958, following a merger with Wayne City Schools.

The Carroll alumni reunion was organized in 1973 and is held every three years.

New officers for the 1995 reunion are Irv Morris, president; Mrs. Wayne (Ruth Roberts) Kerstine, vice president; Mrs. Herb (Arlene Bowers) Willis, secretary; and Mrs. John (Donna Eckert) Bowers, treasurer.

Retiring officers are Norma (Drake) Davis, president; JoAnn (Volwiler) Stoltenberg, vice president; Shirley (Hampton) Bowers, secretary; and Merlin Kenny, treasurer.

At St. Paul's Lutheran Church

Women of the ELCA meet in July

St. Paul's Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America met at the church on July 8 with 23 members and one guest, Lois Ludeking, attending. Hostesses were Cleve Willers and Lila Splittgerber.

President Cleve Willers opened the meeting with a talk taken from Psalm 24. Cards of thanks were read from Elsie Kay, Ida Myers, Julie Milliken and Carol Rethwisch.

A letter was read from Norma Koertje, a synod member, concerning a retreat/day of renewal for women of the congregation during the coming year. Glennyce Reimers of Hartington has agreed to present material, lead singing and discussions based on the Gospel of John.

Christian action reported sending 15 cards. Joye Gettman mailed cancelled stamps to Tabitha Home and asked that persons donating stamps trim around them so they are easier to handle. Ardyce Reeg will be sending off soup labels.

The next WELCA meeting will be held Aug. 12 at 2 p.m. The sewing group will have charge of the program, and hostesses will be Alta Baier and Maxine Olson.

NAOMI Circle will meet today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. Madge Bruffat will be hostess and Ruth Fleer will be lesson leader.

Esther Circle also meets today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. at Wayne Care Centre, with Opal Harder as hostess and Mary Martinson as lesson leader.

Cleve Willers and Lila Splittgerber will be hostesses for Evening

Circle when it meets July 27 at 7:30 p.m. Sharon Fleer will have the lesson.

Altar Guild will meet Aug. 6 at 8 a.m. at the Black Knight. Hostess is Ardyce Reeg, with Helen Weible giving devotions.

Sewing group will meet July 23 at 9:30 a.m., with a potluck lunch.

PRESIDENT Willers closed with a reading on possessions, and Evening Circle presented a program which focused on human suffering as a result of prejudice.

The group sang two hymns, accompanied by Joye Gettman at the piano, and Sharon Fleer closed with prayer.

Kudrnas marking 40th

FRIENDS AND RELATIVES of Charlie and Marge Kudrnas of Wayne are invited to help them celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary during an open house reception on Saturday, July 25 from 2 to 4:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church in Wayne. A program is planned at 2 p.m., and the couple requests no gifts. Hosting the reception are their children, Chuck of Norfolk, David of Omaha, Robin of Boone, Iowa and Scott of Wayne, along with their families.

Briefly Speaking

BC Club meets in Wisner

WAYNE - BC Club met with six members on July 3 at the Wisner Manor with Esther Heinemann as hostess. Clara Heinemann was a guest.

Members answered roll call by telling when their ancestors came to America. Mary Lea Lage presided at the meeting and Margaret Korn read the secretary and treasurer's reports. Dues for the year were collected.

Pitch was played with Clara Heinemann receiving high and Mary Lea Lage receiving low.

The next meeting of BC Club will be Aug. 7 at 2 p.m. in the home of Leona Longe, with Lynal Krueger as hostess.

Eagles Auxiliary welcomes member

WAYNE - Lori Bebee was voted in as a new member of Wayne Eagles Auxiliary 3757 during a meeting on July 6, with 14 members present.

Reports were given on the July 4 picnic and the Wayne Chicken Show parade. It was announced that the annual ice cream social will be held July 23 with four humanitarian committees in charge.

Lunch was served by Mylet Bargholz, and the next meeting is scheduled July 20 with Dorothy Nelson serving.

Bridge played at Country Club

WAYNE - Niné tables of bridge were played at the Wayne Country Club ladies luncheon on July 14, with 58 attending. Hostesses were Florence Wagner and Marian Jordan, and guests were Josephine Bressler of New York, Phyllis Hix and Dorothy Rees.

Attending were Joyce and husband Francis of West Point, Dan and wife Millie and children of Pratt, Kan., Larry and wife Rose Ann and children of Lincoln, Ray and wife Lee and daughters of Omaha, Ken and wife Carolyn of Wayne, Pat and wife Diana and children of Reno, Nev., Mike of Lincoln, Deb of Pierce, and Bill and wife Denise of Omaha.

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Cary Lodi and Christina and Angela Jindra of Scribner, Mr. and Mrs. Don Westerman of Scribner, Charles Westerman and friend of West Point, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Medina and son Bill Medina of Lincoln, and Mark Blank, Tina, Erica and Derek of Pierce.

Engagements

Roeder-Waddington

Cheryl Ann Roeder and Jeffrey Forrest Waddington are planning a July 25 wedding at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Norfolk.

Their engagement and approaching marriage have been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merle D. Roeder of Wayne.

Miss Roeder is employed at Wayne State College. Her fiancé, son of Bill Waddington of Clearwater and Coralie Bygness of Tempe, Ariz., is employed at PennCorp Financial, Inc., Sioux City.

Roeder-Huff

Making plans for a Sept. 25 wedding at St. Frances Catholic Church in Randolph are Patricia Roeder of Dixon and Kyle Huff of Randolph. A reception and dance will follow at the Randolph Ballroom.

Their engagement has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Roeder of Dixon. Miss Roeder is a 1991 graduate of Laurel-Concord High School and attended Wayne State College.

Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Huff of Randolph, graduated from Randolph High School in 1991 and is employed with Robert Hoelsing in Randolph.

Pat Vrtiska also attended his 25-year class reunion and Bill attended his 10-year class reunion.

Weston reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Patefield, rural Laurel, and Mr. and Mrs. Garold Jewell, rural Dixon, were among approximately 60 relatives attending a Weston reunion on June 28 in Lake View, Iowa.

The family members came from Exira, Audubon, Atlantic and Denison, Iowa; San Jose, Calif.; Laurel, Dixon and Springview.

Sandy Hansen was elected president and Vera Smith was elected secretary-treasurer for 1993.

Wylie reunion

The second annual reunion for members of the David A. Wylie family was held July 5 at Ponca State Park. Attending were 57 family members and one guest, Dorothy Kabisch of Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Baker of Colby, Kan. attended from the furthest distance.

One birth, one marriage and two deaths were reported for the year. The oldest present was Don Wylie, 66, of Norfolk, and the youngest was Melissa Byer, seven-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Byer of Moundridge, Kan.

The next reunion will take place July 4, 1993 at Ponca State Park.

We agree: Shopping in Wayne just makes cents

Matt and Sheryl Polhammus firmly believe that "Shopping in Wayne Just Makes Cents."

"We like to do business with people who do business with us," says Matt. "When you shop Wayne, you know you're dealing with friends and that the service is usually better. And, shopping locally is much quicker than traveling to the cities."

Matt's sentiments are echoed by Sheryl, who adds that not only are the prices competitive, but the merchants are honest and friendly. "I like the one-on-one friendliness," smiles Sheryl. "If there is something you really want that is not available, business owners, especially the grocery stores, will break their neck to go out of the way for you.

"Wayne is a great place to shop and a great place to raise kids, with wonderful doctors, churches and schools."

"Look," says Matt, "Wayne has an airport, a swimming pool, a hospital, a golf course, good physicians, a growing business community, and a college that provides not only educational opportunities, but entertainment as well. What more do we need?"

"We've turned down promotions just to stay in Wayne."

Wayne loses in South Sioux and O'Neill

Midgets, Juniors drop three games

The Wayne Midget and Junior Legion baseball teams traveled to South Sioux last Friday and the locals were defeated 3-2 in the Midget game and 11-1 in the Legion contest.

Dusty Jensen took the pitching loss in the Midget game as Wayne fell to 7-8. Wayne managed two runs on four hits while South Sioux had three runs on six hits.

Dusty Jensen had three of Wayne's four hits with two singles and a double while Jason Shultheis singled. Jensen had an rbi single which scored Jeremy Sturm in the first inning and Shultheis had an rbi single in the fifth inning which scored Jason Starzl who had walked and advanced to third on Jensen's double.

South Sioux scored one run in the first and two in the fourth. Wayne coach Jere Morris said the Wayne Midgets stranded runners on second and third, three different innings.

The Juniors managed just three hits and one run against South Sioux while giving up 11 runs and 10 hits in a contest that went six innings. Dane Jensen got the pitching loss.

Brent Gamble singled and doubled and Brian Brasch singled for Wayne's three hits. Brent Gamble scored Wayne's lone run in the first inning after being walked home. The loss left Wayne at 5-14.

Compete in O'Neill

On Saturday and Sunday the Midgets and Juniors traveled to play in the O'Neill Tournament. Both teams went 0-2 in the tournament which left the Midgets with a 7-10 mark while the Juniors slipped to 5-16.

The Midgets lost a 15-3 decision to Lexington in the first game as Ryder Hoffman took the loss. Wayne had three hits in the game while Lexington pounded out 11. Jason Starzl had a pair of singles and B.J. Woehler notched a base hit for Wayne's hitting offense.

Wayne errors proved to be costly as coaches estimated at least eight errors by the locals. Wayne scored two runs in the second and one in the third.

In the second game Wayne was defeated 14-2 by O'Neill. Jeremy Sturm took the loss from the ground. Wayne had four hits including a single and a double by Kelly Meyer while Jason Starzl doubled and Jason Shultheis singled.

The Wayne Legion team lost a 11-4 decision to Rapid City, S.D. in the first game as Brian Gamble took the pitching loss. Wayne out-hit its opponent but costly errors and walks led to the loss.

Scott Day hit three singles while Tim Reinhardt and Brian Gamble laced a pair of singles each. Brent Gamble, Todd Fredrickson, Robert Longe and Jim Fernau each had one base hit.

Wayne's second game was against the host team O'Neill and the locals came out on the short end of a 5-0 score as Tim Reinhardt was credited with the pitching loss.

Wayne managed two hits in the game with singles from Brent Gamble and Todd Fredrickson and O'Neill finished with eight hits.

The locals will be in action on Wednesday as they travel to play Hartington. On Saturday, Wayne will host Ponca in a make-up game with the Midgets playing at 2 p.m. and the Juniors playing at 4 p.m.

Pee Wees, Little League, Ponys compete

Wayne sluggers at Wakefield tourney

Six Wayne boys baseball teams competed at the annual Wakefield Mid-Summer Classic held the past 10 days at the Wakefield ballpark.

Due to the rain, several games were moved to different days and times. The updated schedule has the Wayne pee wees playing Pierce for the championship of their division on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. Should Wayne win the game they would play in the World Series of the tournament at 7:30 p.m.

Wayne's pee wee team defeated Emerson, 8-5 to advance to the championship game of their division.

Wayne scored four in the first inning and added three in the third and one in the fourth en route to the win over Emerson. Wayne pounded out 11 hits in the game including a 3-run home run by Mike Varley. Brandon Garvin ripped a triple while John Slaybaugh, Craig Hefti, Joel Munson, Dustin Schmeits, Jon Meyer, Ryan Haase, Casey Dachnke, Chris Woehler and Jeremy Dorcey all singled.

The pee wees advanced in the tournament following a first round 9-4 victory over Homer. Wayne pounded out nine hits in the game including a home run by Joel Munson. John Slaybaugh singled twice while Jeff Ensz, John Meyer, Scot Saul, Kevin Addison, Ryan Haase and Mike Varley each had one base hit. According to the Wayne coaches Jeremy Dorcey made two fine defensive catches against the fence.

The Wayne Little League white team finished third in their division after defeating Hubbard, 12-4. Ryan Dahl was credited with the pitching victory.

Wayne scored four runs in each of the three innings they came to bat in. Ryan Dunklau led the offense with a single and a double while Nick Muir and Eric Lutt each singled. Mike Lindau singled and earned an rbi.

Wayne's Little League blue team will resume play where they left off before the rains came, in the top of the second inning against Winside at 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Wayne Pony League red team was defeated 9-8 by Wakefield in the championship of their respective division. Ryan Wetterberg was the losing pitcher.

Wayne scored one run in the second inning before adding four in the third inning and three in the fourth inning. Wakefield scored one in the first, two in the second, four in the third and one in the sixth inning. Wetterberg, Tim Zach and Cody Niemann each scored two runs for Wayne.

The Pony League blue team finished runner-up in their division, losing to Scribner-Snyder, 10-6 in the finals. Josh Starzl was the losing pitcher, scattering six hits in the process.

Wayne also finished with six hits including a home run by Nick Vanhorn. Jamie Holdorf doubled while Josh Starzl, Abe Schoenherr, Matt Morrison and Paul Blomenkamp each singled.

Wayne scored twice in the first inning and added four more in the third inning while Scribner scored two in the first before adding four in the second and third innings.

The Wayne squad advanced to the finals with a 12-2 win over Norfolk in the first round. Ryan Junck got the pitching victory in that contest. Josh Starzl led the offense with two singles while Nick Vanhorn and Brian Campbell each singled once. Junck, Starzl and Vanhorn each scored two runs apiece.

The Wayne Little League white team lost to Oakland, 11-5 in the third place game. Terry Hamer was the losing pitcher. Paul Zulkosky and Tony Hansen singled for Wayne and Nick Hagmann scored two runs.

Wayne's white team was defeated, 9-1 by Norfolk in the first round game with Tyler Endicott taking the pitching loss. Jesse Rethwisch and Jeremy Lutt each singled to lead Wayne.

Fast pitch teams split games at Newcastle

The Wayne 14 and under girls fast pitch team ended their season in Newcastle, Tuesday night with a 13-8 loss. The Wayne squad finished the year at 5-10.

Kari Wetterberg was given the loss at pitcher. She struck out seven batters before being relieved in the final inning by Katie Lutt who struck out three.

The two pitchers combined for a no-hitter and 10 strikeouts but they suffered a combined total of 13 walks and Wayne's defense was error prone which led to the loss.

Wayne finished with three hits as Wetterberg doubled while Katie Lutt and Mandi Higbee each singled. "We just had one bad inning," Wayne coach Mary Ann Lutt said. "Newcastle scored eight runs on us in the third inning without a single hit."

The Wayne 16 and under girls team improved their season record to 9-1 after a 14-0 route of Newcastle. Wendy Beiermann was the winning pitcher as she struck out six and allowed just one hit.

Wayne pounded out nine hits in the contest including three singles by Beiermann. Kristie Hall singled and doubled and Carrie Fink doubled while Molly Melena, Mandi Higbee and Heather Njehols each singled.

Don't mess there?

Some Madison County cars are sporting new bumper stickers these days.

"Don't mess with Madison County" reads the epithets, alluding to the county's victory in the recent Supreme Court decision declaring the state's legislative districting unconstitutional.

Madison countians might as well gleefully rub the rest of the region's nose in it. The court decision that takes that county from two elected representatives back to one, is going to make a mess of the rest of the districts in Northeast Nebraska.

But that seems to matter little to the Madison countians who got what they wanted and are now taking pains to let the rest of us know about it.

We hope area residents don't get mad enough to take the bumper sticker message literally when it comes to deciding where they will do business...

...Or should they.

Making rural healthy

Growing your own health care professionals seems to be a popular effort for many rural Nebraska communities.

The problem of attracting and retaining doctors in rural communities is being featured on the Nebraska Public Radio network next week. It is a problem faced by rural communities all over the country. That is why the Nebraska programing is being picked up across the country.

Nebraskans are doing something about the issue. Wayne State College is involved in directing rural students into health profession fields through the unique and popular Rural Health Opportunities Program (R-HOP).

The merger of the two doctors clinics in Wayne might make the community more attractive for recruiting and retaining young physicians. Nebraska legislative officials have worked to provide new provisions to help make health professions in rural communities more attractive.

The Providence Medical Center has established programs and advantages for local physicians and patients to make the facility a solid part of the rural health care picture — a crucial factor in attracting and retaining health professionals.

All of these factors contribute to making communities like Wayne great places to live and work, whether you are a doctor or a patient.

Achy breaky shirts

Another successful Chicken Show is in the books thanks to the amazing broad-based community support the event receives.

Though the weather contributed to hold crowds below previous levels, the thousands who did come to Wayne for the zany event had a good time and will doubtless be back in future years.

Just in case many of the people who were working the different events didn't hear the chicken song contest, we are printing here what we thought was the most clever entry in the contest, that from Dean Bilstein.

He sang his own lyrics to the popular country music hit "Achy Breaky Heart."

"You can buy a suit — A pink and purple suit
You can put white patent leathers on...
You can shave your head — like your buddies did
And you can tattoo flowers on your dome...
You could spend your cash on some old two-tone Nash
You could buy a dozen ears of corn
You could get a boat — a boat that even floats
Or buy your bicycle a brand new horn.

But don't buy the shirt, this funny lookin' shirt
What is that thing that she's got on?
Now if you buy this shirt, this controversial shirt
Madonna might just come and take you home.

Don't look at these threads — your face might all turn red
The singin' hen with braids and helmet on
She's up there on stage — her opera is the rage
She really cracks 'em up when she is done
But what's that thing she wears? The rest of her is bare Ain't that chicken ever full of shame?
Now would she catch a cold — if she were oh so bold
To drop her to and get in on the game?"

The state just can't win

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

Always the bridesmaid, never the bride. That's the way it seems Nebraska keeps coming out these days.

First, we lost our chance to become the Beemer capital of the U.S.A.

And then last week Bob Kerrey was passed over by Democratic presidential nominee Bill Clinton when it came time to choose a vice president.

Kerrey apparently was really in the running. He covertly flew to Little Rock, Ark., for a midnight rendezvous at the governor's mansion, and spoke with Clinton and his people for hours.

But two days later, Clinton announced his choice was Al Gore, a senator from Tennessee who, I'll bet you've forgotten by now, tried to run for president in 1988.

Of course, most of us Nebraskans think Bob Kerrey would be about as good a vice president as you can find. Given the normal duties usually allowed a vice president, he can stand around and look good just about as well as anybody. It wouldn't have been the first time a presidential candidate had chosen a former opponent to be his running mate. Remember Ronald Reagan and George Bush. Getting to be Reagan's, VeeP was Bush's ticket to the White House eight years later.

But Kerrey wasn't chosen, and you have to wonder why. There are a lot of different theories.

One is that Clinton's wife, Hillary, had vetoed Kerrey as the selection because she was still mad about comments Kerrey made in the heat of the primary about Clinton dodging service in Vietnam. Clinton denies that was the reason.

The Vietnam thing could have been an issue. You have to wonder how good Clinton would look on that issue standing next to a guy who lost a leg in Vietnam.

One of the biggest theories as to why Kerrey didn't get the nod is because he's a single guy, having divorced years ago.

Anymore, political conventions have become big television commercials. On the late night, the nominee and his running mate stand on the stage with smiles the size of the New Hampshire delegation, each holding the hand of their spousal unit, and they wave to the cheering crowds, while balloons and confetti miraculously on cue fall from the rafters.

It just wouldn't look right, some say, if the VeeP didn't have a spousal unit up on the stage, too. Supposedly, a certain amount of the public would feel that he must not be a family man.

Anyone who has ever seen Kerrey around his kids would have to know he is quite the family man. But he is also inarguably very single. That may be the reason we're going to see Tipper Gore on the stage with her hubby this week.

Kerrey's political life will go on. Maybe Kerrey is no bridesmaid. But for whatever reason, in the eyes of Bill Clinton, he was not the best man.

Lying hall of shame—

'The check's in the mail' tops list

While there is a highly-publicized commandment against lying, it has done little to halt the popular human practice over the years.

Of all the sins and vices, lying has to be the most prevalent, especially in America.

So popular, in fact, is lying, that most of us do it without even realizing it. We do it out of habit whether there is anything to be gained by the fib or not.

A researcher has studied the American practice of lying and concludes that most of them are automatic responses that have been used so many times they are synonymous with breathing.

Ed Cooper has even compiled a list of the great American lies. I found a few of my favorites on there but his list is by no means complete.

My own exhaustive research indicates there are many more that Ed didn't include on his list that should be there.

First Ed's list:

- The check's in the mail.
- I'll start my diet tomorrow.
- We service what we sell.
- Give me your number and the doctor will call you right back.
- Money cheerfully refunded.
- I gave at the office.
- One size fits all.
- This offer limited to the first 100 people who call in.
- Every cloud has a silver lining.
- Your luggage isn't really lost, it's just misplaced.
- Of course I'll respect you in the morning.
- Leave your resume and we'll keep it on file.
- It's better to give than to receive.
- This hurts me more than it hurts you.

- I just need five minutes of your time.
- My wife doesn't understand me.
- I thought the statement was due next week.
- Your table will be ready in a few minutes.
- Money can't buy happiness.
- Open wide, this won't hurt.
- You don't look a day over 30.
- Let's have lunch sometime.
- don't call us, we'll call you.
- Not tonight, I have a headache.
- It's not the money, it's the principle.

To Ed's list I would add the following classics I have collected over the years.

--My car get 32 miles to the gallon.

- the economy is going to turn around, it has to, it can't get any worse.
- My child would never do anything like that.
- I played that hole in five strokes.
- I'll be losing money on the deal, but...
- Never needs ironing.
- Young people are going to ruin this country.
- Your car will be ready on Tuesday.
- It's alright, he won't bite (barking dog).
- I think my speedometer is broken, officer.
- You have such a sweet baby.
- I'm fine, thank you.
- It'll be sunny and mild tomorrow.
- Yes dear, it's delicious.
- I was sure I had told you.
- You never told me.
- Monday's child is full of grace.
- I'd love to help, but I'm going to be out of town that week. (2 at once).
- I always tell the truth.

College takes budget reductions seriously

Dear Editor:

I am writing in regard to the article in the July 6 edition of the Wayne Herald concerning Wayne State College's response to the potential of a 10 percent budget reduction for the 1993-94 fiscal year. Let me begin by saying that I appreciated the article and believe the sharing of information about such issues, which have community-wide impact, is helpful and important.

I think it is equally important, however, that the community understand that we at the College take all budget discussions very seriously. The headline of the July 6 article suggested that the College was not concerned about the potential of budget reductions. The reality is that a 10 percent budget reduction at this time would be devastating. A few facts bring the impact quickly into perspective. Of our total Educational and General budget, just under 80 percent is spent on salaries and benefits. Another six percent is budgeted for utilities and five percent for tuition waivers. The remaining 10 percent must cover all other expenses, including instructional materials, laboratory supplies, equipment maintenance, travel, custodial supplies and a myriad of other necessities. The obvious conclusion to be reached from this broad overview of the College budget is that a 10 percent reduction cannot be accomplished without significant impact on personnel spending.

Wayne State College, as all educational institutions, is a labor-intensive enterprise. Our faculty and staff are our most important resource. We cannot develop and maintain a high quality faculty if resources ebb and flow from year to year. Our challenge in responding to Governor Nelson's request for how we would accommodate a 10 percent reduction was to identify activities which could be phased back without doing irreparable damage to the core of the institution.

Independent consultants of national reputation, using objective measures, have shown Wayne State to be chronically under-funded in relation to similar institutions with similar missions. Enrollment growth in the past few years, which we welcome, has presented additional budgetary challenges as the allocation of state funds has fallen further behind. The administration, working closely with the Board of Trustees, has labored to define the College's funding needs in as forceful and dispassionate a way as possible and believes that the level of understanding of the College, its mission and its resource requirements is as well understood now as at any time in our 100-year heritage.

It is true that we do not anticipate a budget reduction during the current fiscal year. What the 1993-

95 biennium holds in store is the uncertainty at this time. What is certain is that the state faces real budgetary challenges. The Governor chose to ask for information early in order to be prepared to respond to those challenges. Wayne State, along with the other state colleges, has responded by indicating where reductions would have to be made and what the impact of such reductions would be. Our hope is that the response will underscore the importance of a high quality post-secondary education system as an investment vehicle for Nebraska's future.

Wayne State College is not an end unto itself but a means to an end. Any reduction in the level of services the College offers will reverberate throughout Northeast Nebraska. At this critical juncture, as we move to an information-based service economy, our region and the entire State of Nebraska cannot afford to cut short the investment in higher education we must make to prepare the citizens of the region for the economic environment of tomorrow.

I hope this information clarifies the College administration's perspective on the budget discussions which will be occurring over the next few months.

Sincerely,
Andrew Soll
Vice President
Administration and Finance

A pleasant pheasant tale

Dear Editor:

My wife and I went for a drive and while coming back from the Old Swanson Farm and Rastede we came over a hill and there was a hen pheasant and 18 little ones.

We slowed down and then had to stop. The mother pheasant and 8 little ones ran into the weeds along the road. There were 8 little ones in the road yet.

Mom got out and took both hands and herded them across the road. They looked back and there was one more just sitting there. My wife put her hand down and the little bugger crawled in her hand, sat down and was going to sleep. So, she moved it over to the side of the road. He then went into the grass...the last we saw of him.

This is a true story.

Rural Concord church observing centennial

One hundred years of history, heritage and faith will be observed at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, rural Concord, when it celebrates its centennial on Sunday, July 19.

It was in 1891-92 that a number of Lutheran families from Saunders County, Neb., settled in a community between Concord and Allen — known as the German Settlement.

On July 18, 1892, a congregation was organized near Concord under the title of The German Evangelical Lutheran St. Paul Church, UAC.

Charter members included Friedrich Bose, Andrew Swanson, Jurgen Koch, George Reuter, Henrich, Trube, Hermann Baumann Sr., Karl Kraemer and Wilhelm Kraemer.

Pastor Gutcknecht, who was serving Immanuel Church in Logan Township, accepted the additional charge.

THE FIRST services were held in the homes of members, however in 1893 a small church was built on a three-acre site of ground acquired from W.F. and Mary Horten of Princeton, Ill. The purchase price was $34.

A modest building, measuring 18 x 30-feet, was built with primitive furnishings, including an ordinary table which served as an altar and pulpit. The church was dedicated on April 9, 1893.

Pastor Gutcknecht served until Oct. 10, 1897. That same month the congregation called the Rev. H. Hilpert of Laurel to serve. Pastor Hilpert continued to serve both congregations until July 1901.

During those years, the congregation made several improvements which included chancel furnishings and pews. Some of the pews were made by Gottlieb Rieth and are located in the balcony of the present church.

A RESIDENT pastor was called to serve the church in 1901 when the voting membership numbered 12. The Rev. F.G. Wings was installed in July.

Services were held every Sunday in the German language and a Christian Day School was established.

Pastor Wings accepted a call to Laurel in May 1906, but continued to serve Concord as vacancy pastor until October when the Rev. August Leuthaeuser was installed.

Pastor Leuthaeuser also engaged in farming and taught in the parochial school.

Two rooms were added to the parsonage in 1907 at a cost of $400, and in 1908 the congregation renovated both the interior and exterior of the church building. From 1908 to 1918, the membership grew and exceeded 200.

Pastor Leuthaeuser died on Dec. 17, 1909 and is the only pastor buried in the church cemetery.

PASTOR Wings of Laurel served as vacancy pastor until the Rev. W.G. Bullinger was installed in March 1910.

Increased attendance led to the construction of a new church in the summer of 1912 on a one-acre plot on the north side of the road, sold to the congregation for $150 by warranty deed by charter members Karl and Louisa Kraemer.

The new church measured 32 x 60-feet and included a tower to accommodate a bell. A bell was purchased from Sears, Roebuck and Co. at a cost of $65 and weighing 800 pounds.

The new church building cost approximately $5,500 and was paid for by subscription. A sum of $1,300 was borrowed from Karl Kraemer to cover the amount still due at the time of dedication.

PASTOR Bullinger resigned in 1918 and retired the following year. Pastor C. Kistemann served from 1919-25.

Pastor Rudolph Hildebrandt was installed in June 1925 and served until April 1928. He was followed by Pastor G.L. Kern from 1928-39.

Finances were short during the Great Depression years and a system of an extra collection was held. It was called the NASC System (Nickel a Sunday Collection) and members were asked to contribute a nickel a Sunday besides the yearly pledge. The collection was dropped in January 1948.

Beginning in 1934, some services, including Ascension Day and Thanksgiving, were held in English. The January 1938 minutes state that German services would be held the first Sunday of each month and on Good Friday, with the balance of services in English.

Pastor Kern resigned in 1939 and the Rev. F. C. Doctor of rural Wakefield served as vacancy. In September 1939, the Rev. Luther Doctor, son of F.C. Doctor, was installed and continued to serve until May 1943.

IN JANUARY 1940, a committee was elected to obtain prices for wiring of the church for electricity. It was resolved to do so in April.

Pastor E.L. Borgmeyer was installed in 1943 and it was during his time of service that German was dropped entirely. The new blue Lutheran hymnals were purchased and a piano was used in the services.

Pastor Borgmeyer was released in July 1947 and the congregation was served during the vacancy by Pastor Kruse of Wakefield and Niermann of Laurel.

The Rev. C.E. Kleber was installed in the spring of 1948 and the parsonage was remodeled the following year. A basement was dug, a central heating system installed, the kitchen remodeled, and a bathroom was put in.

Pastor Kleber served until 1951 and the Rev. Rudolph Hermann was installed in August 1951 and served until his retirement in January 1957. He was the last resident pastor to serve St. Paul's.

PASTOR H.K. Niermann of Laurel again served as vacancy pastor until March 1977 when he retired.

In 1961, a full basement was put under the church with a complete kitchen and two bathrooms. New propane furnaces were installed and the interior of the church was remodeled.

Following this, the original church and other buildings on the south side of the road were sold or dismantled.

The first electric organ was used for Christmas services in 1963 on a trial basis and purchased in 1964.

Vacancy Pastor Paul Friedrich of Martinsburg followed Pastor Niermann until the Rev. Fred Cook was installed in June 1978. This was a dual parish agreement with Immanuel of Laurel.

At this time, incorporation papers for the church and cemetery were drawn up. Also, a new chain link fence was installed around the cemetery.

The dual parish agreement with Immanuel of Laurel was severed in June 1980 and Pastor Cook was released.

THE REV. Ronald Holling of St. John's, Wakefield, served as vacancy pastor until January 1981 when an agreement was made for Pastor Holling and the Rev. Dwayne Luock of Martinsburg to serve the congregation jointly.

In July 1980, after the constitution and bylaws were rewritten, the women of the congregation were allowed to join as voting members.

Pastor Steven L. Kraemer was installed to serve under a dual parish agreement with Immanuel of Wakefield in August 1983 and remained until September 1989.

Following Pastor Kraemer's release, the Rev. Ken Block of Concordia Teachers College at Seward preached on Sundays. Other ministerial duties were taken over by the Rev. Willie Bertrand of Hope, South Sioux City.

THE REV. Richard Carner, under the dual parish agreement with Immanuel of Wakefield, was ordained and installed on July 1, 1990 and continues to serve as pastor.

The cemetery and church grounds are maintained by members volunteering their labor, and the interior of the church is maintained by women of the congregation.

Some names have been on the membership list ever since the inception of the congregation in 1892 — namely Bose, Koch, Kraemer, Reuter and Rieth.

The congregation of St. Paul's has 90 baptized members at the present time.

The Ladies Aid was organized on May 23, 1940, and in 1964 became associated with Lutheran Women's Missionary League.

Church organists are Mrs. Ervin Kraemer and Mrs. Clarence Rastede, and president of the congregation is Duane Harder of Allen.

Centennial Sunday schedule of events

"Come Share the Spirit — Remember, Rejoice, Reach Out" is the theme for the centennial celebration at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, rural Concord.

The day's events on Sunday, July 19 will begin with a 10:30 a.m. worship service. Delivering the morning sermon will be the Rev. Friedrich of Henning, Minn., a former vacancy pastor. The service will also include special music.

A catered meal at noon will be followed by a 2 p.m. children's service and a 2:30 p.m. centennial celebration. The celebration will include talks from others who have served the congregation, along with representatives from the Wayne Circuit and Nebraska District.

Following the service, cookies and bars will be served by women of the church.

Memorial program honors memories

The American Heart Association helps residents of Wayne honor the memory of family, friends, neighbors or business associates through its life-giving memorial program.

"Think of bypass surgery, pacemakers, CPR courses and blood pressure screenings and you're talking about advances made possible in part by the American Heart Associations," stated Claudia Koeber, Chair-person of the AHA's memorial program in Wayne.

"A memorial contribution is an appropriate tribute to the deceased. Through memorial contributions, the life that has just passed will continue to live on through the American Heart Association, claimed Koeber. For every memorial contribution to the AHA, Koeber sends a memorial program sympathy card on behalf of the donor to the bereaved. The amount of the contribution is not disclosed to the recipient of the card. "The contribution can be from one individual or from many, such as a family or group of employees," Koeber said.

For more information on the American Heart Association memorial program, call your local memorial chair-person, Claudia Koeber at (402) 375-1656.

No jobs available

College graduates opt for travel

One of the gloomier pieces of news this summer is that new college graduates are not finding jobs. Slings Big Macs do not reimburse student loans. In recent weeks, I've met education and business majors, and even a new lawyer, without jobs.

And in talking with them and their parents, I've become aware of a fascinating trend - these young people without jobs are going traveling. I guess their parents feel that if they must support them anyway, they may as well buy them plane tickets and get them out of the house.

The lawyer is coming to Nebraska to visit grandparents, which certainly seems appropriate.

One home health care aide, who matriculated at a real Ivy League college this spring, is volunteering with her church to some mission sites here in the United States.

Another gal, who majored in math at a private school in Texas, went to see the Benedictine nuns at Immaculate Convent about their mission in Kentucky and she's heading to Tanzania!

The daughter of friends in Chicago graduated last year from a small college in Missouri and didn't even come home. She went to Japan to teach English and her parents visited there last winter. She is now touring Europe with a Christian youth group, and they plan to be in Barcelona by the 25th.

Jon's sister-in-law, Andee, is there with friends from school. They have Eurail passes, and back packs, and have been staying in hostels.

We saw some hostels while we were there, converted castles that were being salvaged for this purpose.

I think these kids may have figured out a way to prolong adolescence. They are parking old cars in Dad's driveway, student loan payments don't begin for six months, and they aren't making house payments or paying rent. Their possessions, CD players and televisions, are in Mom's basement; they pack light and they are probably having a great time.

The other fascinating thing that is happening is that they are discovering the jobs are in health care. I met a gal the other day who majored in Russian and minored in French. She is going to apply to nursing schools and hopes to be a traveling nurse.

A father of two found that the area requiring the shortest time back in school, with the best salary and greatest job potential, is respiratory therapy. He is going for it next year.

Working with staff shortages in these fields, it gives me hope there will be help coming. But I can't help wondering when "reality shock" will set in and these folks will realize they will be working nights, weekends and holidays. It could be a real surprise!

Wayne, Laurel Girl Scouts take part in trip to Mexico

Tammy Teach of Wayne and Angela Freeman of Laurel were among 16 Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts from the Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council who recently traveled to the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts World Centre, "Our Cabana," in Cuernavaca, Mexico, in conjunction with the Wider Opportunities Program.

Wider Opportunities is a council sponsored program enabling Girl Scouts the opportunities for experiences beyond their family, friends, and Girl Scout troops.

Through Wider Opportunities, girls explore a variety of interests and meet new people.

Prairie Hills offers the "Our Cabana" trip every three years. "Our Cabana" is one of four World Centres.

TO TRAVEL to "Our Cabana," through Girl Scouting, the participants were required to fill out a council application form, followed by an interview with a volunteer selections committee.

The participants were responsible for raising two-thirds of their trip's expenses, with Prairie Hills supplementing one-third.

"Our Cabana" is a resident center, not a camp, and offers a cultural program in which girls participate in hand arts and crafts, music and dancing, sports, games, service projects, sightseeing to historic places and shopping trips.

The girls live in a dormitory getting and share housekeeping responsibilities.

AS PART of the "Our Cabana" service project, the girls donated gifts, which were collected throughout the council, to present to The Home for Girls orphanage, located outside of Cuernavaca.

The home is operated by Trinitarian nuns for approximately 70 girls of all ages.

The Girl Scouts also visited and met with the residents of another children's group from the Catholic parish of Gualupita while teaching them crafts and informal recreational activities.

Their travels included a three-day tour of Mexico City, highlighted by the National Ballet, a tour of the Cathedral, the National Palace and Museum of Anthropology.

ALSO this summer, another group of Prairie Hills Girl Scouts traveled to "Our Chalet," a World Centre in Switzerland. Other World Centres include "Sangam" in India and "Pax Lodge" in England.

Persons wishing additional information about the program or Girl Scouting are asked to contact Bernie Hansen, public relations director, Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council, P.O. Box 1004, Columbus, Neb., 68602-1004.

Garlic...THE WONDER FOOD?

A German company that sells odor-free garlic tablets claims...all the benefits without the odor. But what are the benefits? Some of the claims are: prevents blood clots, helps reduce cholesterol, has anticancer properties and reduces the chances of tumors. Most of us could not consume the 53 lbs. of garlic and onions per year that are needed to equal that study made in China. And that study was far from accurate. In the meantime, while we wait for proven facts to be found out about garlic, we suggest you eat only the amount of garlic and onions you want. Keep in mind...regular exercise, plus a diet low in fat and high in fruits, grains and vegetables is already known to help prevent heart disease and cancer.

Church Notes

Hoskins church plans Mission Festival

HOSKINS - Trinity Lutheran Church, Hoskins, will observe its annual Mission Festival on Sunday, July 26, with services at 7:30 p.m.
Pastor Freese of Columbus will be the guest speaker and will also give a slide presentation on Colombia, South America. Pastor Freese was a missionary in that area.
Lunch will be served in the fellowship hall following the service.

Joint worship service planned

WINSIDE - Trinity Lutheran Church of Winside is joining in a joint worship service at St. Peter's Lutheran Church in Pilger on Sunday, July 19.
Coffee will be at 9:30 a.m., with the worship service following at 10:30.

Retreat scheduled in Yankton

AREA - Father Ron Roth will direct a retreat during the July 24-26 weekend at Sacred Heart Church in Yankton, S.D.

Father Roth has been engaged in retreat work, healing services and seminars for the past 20 years. Presently, he is in full-time ministry as a teacher/evangelist in the Diocese of Peoria, Ill. He also conducts healing retreats and seminars in various places in California.

The retreat is sponsored by the Yahweh-Shalom Prayer Group in Yankton. Everyone is welcome and persons wishing further information and/or registration forms are asked to write Sr. Ann Fasbender, OSB, 1005 W. Eighth St., Yankton, S.D., 57078-3395.

Wayne Public Library Card

Don't set record for overdue books

We'd like to share a short news item gleaned from the Chicago Tribune of June 26, 1992, date-line Madison, Wis. It concerns a 77 year old woman who returned an overdue library book, due 85 years ago, to the public library. The book was found, according to the woman, about 40 years ago among some family possessions, but was not returned at that time. The woman came across the book several weeks ago and this time, decided to take it back to the library. The librarian did not charge a fine! Indeed, the fine may have been several thousands of dollars at the current rate of inflation. The world record, incidentally, for an overdue book is 288 years, according to the Guinness Book of World Records.

Amusing. But we don't want our patrons to get any ideas about setting new records in this area!

Seriously, overdue books are the bane of librarians everywhere.

Overdue books increase a librarian's need for record keeping, taking time away from other matters. Overdue books are an inconvenience to other readers, who may be waiting for the book(s). An overdue book is also an easy book to lose, causing the borrower excessive fines and replacement costs. Our check-out policy is most liberal - two weeks and another two week period for renewal. That means you have a whole month for that book. When we send you a reminder that you have an overdue book, act promptly, the meter is running! At five cents a day per book, that may run into money.

There have been questions recently concerning our policy of charging $10.00 per year for non-Wayne resident's cards. Wayne residents do not pay a yearly fee for their cards because they are taxed by the city for the library. County residents and residents of other towns are not contributing tax dollars to support the library.

Every once in a while we like to remind you about other services your library provides. Besides books, we supply magazines, books on tapes, records, art prints, videos, (did you know we have videos of most of the community theater productions?), maps, paperback books, children's books, tapes and records, jigsaw puzzles, and large print books.

One new service we initiated recently is a subscription to the NADA Official Used Car Guide. We decided to restrict its use to the library only because of its size (small) and its importance (large). We put a prominent label on the front cover, "DOES NOT CIRCULATE. FOR LIBRARY USE ONLY". And it was on display on one of the large tables and it is gone. We are very sad and sorry that it has disappeared from the library. We would like it back. No questions asked.

We have some sad news and some good news. The sad news - Mrs. Deb Ensz's term on the library board has expired. Mrs. Ensz served long and well on the board and we shall miss her in that capacity. Mrs. Jean Griess was appointed to fill the vacancy on the board. The good news is we are happy to welcome Mrs. Griess as a new board member.

New books are coming in to the library every day. Come and browse. We hope we have chosen books you will find interesting and informative.

Our summer hours are 1-8 p.m., Monday through Friday; and 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. on Saturday. We are closed on Sundays. Please note that during Chautauqua week we are extending our hours: Friday, July 17, and the following Monday and Tuesday we will open at 10 a.m. On Saturday, we will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Farmers see chemical savings potential

By Robert Fraass
IANR News Assistant

More than half of Nebraska farmers who responded to a survey felt they could increase profits while reducing the amount of agricultural chemicals applied to crops, according to a University of Nebraska-Lincoln study.

The random sample study involving 517 Nebraska agricultural producers showed that 60 percent felt they could make more money while reducing chemical inputs. Sixty-five percent said reduced-input practices can be used by both small and large-scale farmers and ranchers.

These management and production practice findings, part of a 1989

UNL Cooperative Extension study, also showed that producers younger than 45 years old and producers with college degrees were more likely to be aware of and to practice resource-efficient management strategies, said Charles Francis, a study co-author and director of the UNL Center for Sustainable Agricultural Systems.

Francis said the study suggests building educational programs on producers' belief in sustainable production practices by targeting programs to those receptive to such practices.

Farm management and testing alternatives on farms should be emphasized in these programs to increase producers' confidence in reduced input practices, he said.

Other findings about agricultural chemical inputs included: 68 percent of survey respondents said that low-input farming methods require more work than conventional farming, 30 percent agreed and 40 percent disagreed that pesticide rotation can solve pollution problems, and 65 percent said they think that different soil testing laboratories make different fertilizer recommendations.

On the topic of soil conservation, Francis suggested more education about the methods and benefits of narrow contour strips since 80 percent of producers surveyed said they think these practices reduce erosion, but 84 percent said the contour strips are difficult to manage.

The study showed disagreement among producers about ridge tillage and the benefits of animal manure and cover crops as a source of nitrogen, Francis pointed out. Producers split equally on whether ridge tillage is possible on contour patterns while slightly more than half of respondents said animal manure and cover crops cannot provide enough nitrogen for profitable corn production, he said.

Based on results of the study, Francis suggested more educational programs for producers on how ridge tillage on contour patterns can slow soil erosion and how manure and cover crops can reduce reliance on nonrenewable nitrogen resources.

Gas Co. scholarship will aid Chamber

Curt Wilwerding, Wayne Chamber of Commerce executive, had an opportunity to attend Institute for Organization-Management in June thanks to a scholarship awarded by Peoples Natural Gas.

The $625 scholarship provided by Peoples helped Wilwerding get some valuable training in implementing community betterment projects.

"Through programs like this, everyone benefits because the award recipient has an opportunity to grow professionally and in many instances, the town experiences growth and more job opportunities," said Jim Markham, manager for Peoples.

"We have a responsibility to the communities we serve to be a partner in their economic growth and development. Peoples workers with community leaders throughout our five-state service area to improve their economic development potential."

Markham added, "Effective leaders need continuing education. Classroom training with hands-on experience can make an individual and the community much stronger."

Peoples delivers natural gas to 343,000 homes, businesses and industries in more than 360 communities in Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, Colorado and Kansas. The company is a division of UtiliCorp United (NYSE:UCU), which provides gas and electric service in eight states through its divisions.

Wayne student serves on UNK welcome team

Christina Mash, daughter of Dr. Donald and Julia Mash of Wayne, and Lance Frey, son of Woody and Shirley Frey of Pender are among eight University of Nebraska at Kearney students who are introducing incoming UNK freshmen and their parents to campus life through UNK's summer orientation program.

Incoming freshmen and their parents come to one-day orientation programs during the summer. During that day, the orientation team directs campus tours, helps students register for fall classes and answers questions from students and their parents.

Traci Duren of Columbus, assistant director of the program, said the orientation team works with a group of 50 to 55 students and their parents four days each week.

"We do skits, give tips on how to fit into college life and show a slide presentation to encourage students to joining campus organizations," Duren said.

The team gives students advice on dealing with homesickness and getting along with roommates. They also advise students to call their roommates to get to know them before coming to campus. In addition, the team gives students information on residence life, campus security, food service and financial aid.

"There is a lot of diversity in the groups," Duren said. "Each of the students has a different personality and comes from a different geographic location."

Duren said the orientation team will spend a total of 30 days this summer with different groups of students and their parents. The eight orientation team members were chosen last spring by a five-person committee from among 60 applicants. Members of the orientation team are directed by Joe Straka, director of orientation and assistant director of Admissions.

Members of UNK's summer orientation team are: Avoca - Jim Ludwig, son of Larry and Barbra Ludwig; a business administration major with a minor in psychology. Burwell - Penny Pedersen, daughter of Doc and Mary Pedersen, majoring in speech pathology. Columbus - Traci Duren, daughter of Jerry and Carol Duren, the assistant director of the orientation team. Duren is an organizational communications major with an emphasis in marketing, management, training and development. Gibbon - Christopher Wiseman, son of Rex Wiseman of Shelton and Arlene Wiseman of Gibbon, majoring in physical education and health, special education and adaptive physical education. Omaha - Candace Ahl, daughter of Max and Sandra Ahl, an organizational communications major. Papillion - David Frucci, son of Norman and Deanna Frucci, a telecommunications management and information systems major. Pender - Lance Frey, son of Woody and Shirley Frey, a business major with an emphasis in marketing. Wayne - Christina Mash, daughter of Dr. Donald and Julia Mash, majoring in psychology and business administration. Powell, Wyo. - Rebecca Lee, daughter of LaVonne S. Lee, majoring in psychology with a music minor.

Local student named delegate to American Legion Boys Nation

Scott Day of Wayne will arrive in Washington, D.C. on July 17 as one of 98 delegates taking part in the American Legion's 47th annual Boys Nation program, scheduled July 17-25 at Marymount University in Arlington, Va.

Sponsored by American Legion Post #43, Wayne, Day is one of two representatives from Nebraska. He will be a senior this year at Wayne-Carroll High School and plans to be a physician and attend Creighton University.

EACH OF the 98 delegates will view the United States government in action and participate in the democratic process.

Chosen from 28,000 high school students, each delegate will participate in Senate sessions, including caucusing, organizing into committees and conducting hearings on bills submitted for consideration.

Speakers scheduled to address Boys Nation are American Legion National Commander Dominic D. DiFrancesco; Louis Koerber, president of the National Flag Day Foundation; and Secretary of Defense Richard Cheney, a graduate of Boys State in 1958.

"The American Legion is dedicated to strengthening America," DiFrancesco said. "We believe there is no better way to do this than to work with our nation's youth to prepare them for the tasks they will face in the years to come."

DELEGATES at Boys Nation also are scheduled to tour the U.S. Naval Academy; Arlington National Cemetery, where they will lay a wreath, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Pentagon, the Department of State and Capitol Hill, where they will meet with their respective Senators and Representatives.

Lederers transport history to Hoskins

The Lederer family has firm roots in Pierce County, however this past spring, Bud and Dorothy Lederer brought some of that history home with them to rural Hoskins—3,310 pounds of history to be exact.

The couple moved a concrete foundation stone from the family homestead, located four and a half miles southwest of Pierce, to their home three miles north of Hoskins.

The Lederers' great grandfather, Charles Gottlieb Lederer, moved with his wife Mary and four sons to Norfolk from Sterling, Ill. in 1882, shortly after Norfolk became a village. Charles helped build the Lincoln school, the wooden railroad bridge east of town, and helped organize the first fire department.

He moved his family to Pierce County in 1885, where five children were born. In 1904, he purchased the one-half section of land southwest of Pierce that became known as Lakeview Farm because of its location near Wagner Lake.

Today, the land is owned by Elsie Martensen and farmed by LeRay Zierke. A lone corn crib is the only building which remains standing on Lakeview Farm.

CHARLES Lederer poured the 3,310-pound concrete pad on April 15, 1910 and fastened a one-lung engine to it. The engine was used to pump well water.

On May 9, 1992, the concrete pad was transported to its new home by Charles' oldest great grandson, Bud Lederer.

The moving crew of Perry Hoemann, Larry Kruse, Val Gene Koehler and Bud and Dorothy Lederer, used a well drilling rig from Homer's Plumbing and Well Works to lift the pad and move it onto a trailer for transportation to its new home on the Lederer acreage near Hoskins.

OTHER descendants of Charles Gottlieb Lederer were given an opportunity to view the piece of family history when they attended a reunion on July 5 at the Bud and Dorothy Lederer acreage.

Employers should know hiring law

Since more and more immigrants from Asia and South America are looking for work in Nebraska, employers must learn federal regulations governing hiring practices and discrimination, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln farm management specialist said.

Ray Massey said the Immigration Reform and Control Act passed by the U.S. Congress in 1986 requires employers to have all newly hired employees, regardless of national origin, complete a Form I-9. The U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) uses the form to verify employees' identity and eligibility to work in the United States, he said.

To fill out the form, the employer must examine an employee's documents which prove identity and employment eligibility, Massey said.

Some accepted documents, which are listed on the Form I-9, include passports, alien registration receipt cards (often called "green cards"), drivers' licenses, social security cards, birth certificates, or various school or government identification cards.

The employee chooses which documents he or she shows the employer and the employer cannot reject some acceptable documents and reject others, Massey said. This, he said, constitutes discrimination under the 1986 law.

"The employer cannot discriminate against legal aliens residing in the United States by saying he wants to hire only U.S. citizens," the Institute of Agricultural and Natural Resources specialist said. "If the proper documents can be presented, then the person cannot be discriminated against."

Employees who knowingly hire unauthorized aliens can face fines of $250 to $2,000 for a first offense with fines up to $10,000 for subsequent offenses, Massey said. Employers can be fined $100 to $1,000 for not completing I-9 forms on employees hired after 1986, he said.

Fines and penalties for unlawful discrimination and document fraud also can be imposed, Massey said, member of the Southeast Research and Extension Center at UNL.

For more information and help in completing I-9 forms, employers can call the Nebraska branch of the INS located in Omaha at (402) 697-9148 and request the booklet "Handbook for Employers: Instructions for Completing Form I-9." Employers should make sure they obtain booklets revised in November 1991, Massey said.

New board to serve community services agency

A new board of directors has been elected to serve the 1992-93 term at Goldenrod Hills Community Services headquartered in Wisner.

Goldenrod Hills is a private, non-profit community services agency incorporated to assist low and moderate income families become more self-sufficient.

Its designated service area covers 12 counties in Northeast Nebraska including Antelope, Burt, Cedar, Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Madison, Pierce, Stanton, Thurston and Wayne. The agency also provides weatherization services in these counties plus the counties of Dodge and Washington.

Besides weatherization projects for low and moderate income families, the agency also provides food and counseling services for participants who meet low or moderate income guidelines.

Funding for the agency is provided through federal grants.

If you are interested in information about how you may give or receive assistance through the agency, contact 529-3513.

The newly elected board includes, Bernard Ausemro, from Knox County; Jim Deitlous, executive director from Wisner; Lauren Albus, Cuming County; Connie Day, Madison County; Vivian-Nelson, chairman, Burt County, and Bill Hansen, Wayne County.

Provisions for disabled requirement of new laws

Implementation of what some may consider to be landmark legislation enacted by the Nebraska Unicameral last summer continues with several provisions of the Developmental Disabilities Services Act going into effect on July 1. After that date, the law requires that programs providing community services to people with developmental disabilities be certified in order to receive funding from the state. Certification requirements include having internal quality assurance, program evaluation and complaint mechanism components in place as well as a plan for staff training, development and retention. Programs must also have a local advisory committee.

An aspect of the law is that it expands eligibility for community services to people with developmental disabilities other than mental retardation. As with the major revamping of the mental retardation system more than 20 years ago, many advocates in Region IV see the Developmental Disabilities Services Act changing the way services are delivered to people with disabilities for years to come.

"I have very strong feelings about this law," says Shirley Schlueter, a parent and advocate from West Point. "I helped work on the legislation as co-chair-person of the Association for Retarded Citizens-Nebraska Reform 1990 Task Force, so I was very supportive of the bill throughout the entire process."

According to the bill's sponsor, Senator Don Wesley of Lincoln, the legislation was drafted as a result of the recommendations of a task force charged with evaluating the mental retardation community services system. This study, ordered by the legislature during the 1990 session, was the first of its kind in more than 20 years.

"One of the major flaws found in the current system was that it did not recognize developmental disabilities beyond mental retardation," says Wesley. "This left out people with disabilities such as autism or cerebral palsy. It wasn't right that people with mental retardation were able to receive services in Nebraska while those with a

Satellite Seminar to feature Senator

Brad Pflueger, the Wayne representative for the financial-services firm Edward D. Jones & Co., will host a satellite seminar for small-business owners Thursday, July 23, featuring U.S. Sen. Christopher "Kit" Bond of Missouri. The program will be broadcast live to more than 1,900 Jones offices nationwide.

Bond, who is a member of the Senate Committee for Small Business, will discuss the impact of the Americans with Disabilities Act, proposals for increased access to capital markets, individual and business tax proposals, the outlook for mandatory health coverage for employees and more. Because the program will be broadcast live from the firm's St. Louis, Mo., headquarters, viewers in the local Jones office will have an opportunity to call in questions for Bond to answer on the air.

"I am pleased to be able to offer programs such as this to our local small-business owners," Pflueger said. "Small business is a crucial part of our local economy, and it's important that small-business owners have opportunities such as this to interact with those, who by virtue of their positions, have the potential to dramatically affect the way small-business owners conduct their businesses."

Although he has been in public office for more than 20 years, Bond is just completing his first term in the U.S. Senate. A former state auditor, Bond distinguished himself early in his career when he became Missouri's youngest governor at age 33. In addition to his position on the Senate Small-Business Committee, Bond serves on the Appropriations Committee, the Banking Committee and the Budget Committee.

For more information on the July 23 seminar, contact Pflueger at 375-4172 or stop by the office at 300 Main Street.

similar level of impairment weren't."

Beginning in 1993, the bill also brings various oversight functions, including service coordination, under the responsibility of the Nebraska Department of Public Institutions instead of the local regions. In addition to increasing accountability, advocates say this approach to service coordination will help to insure that people with disabilities and their families have more voice in determining the services they need.

"We are very excited to see the family and consumer empowerment in the bill," says Ginger Clubine, Executive Director of the Association for Retarded Citizens-Nebraska. "Families and consumers will be able to make choices about services and the funding will follow as their needs change."

Advocates hail the provisions in the law which establish a mechanism for individuals and families to settle disputes with service providers. "From my perspective, establishing a due process system is one of the most important pieces of the legislation," says Tim Shaw, Executive Director of Nebraska Advocacy Services. "I've heard people in charge of services suggest that due process rights be suspended when there is a financial crunch in the agency. To me, rights have to come first. The Developmental Disabilities Services Act makes sure they do."

The legislation also includes provisions for transition planning to help students in special education move on to vocational programs as well as some provisions for entitlement.

"It's so important that the expanded eligibility go along with entitlement," says Mary Gordon, Director of the Governor's Planning Council on Developmental Disabilities. "Just as children are entitled to public education, people with developmental disabilities should be entitled to services. If people are only entitled to be put on

Student earns bachelor degree at Wyoming

Luke Ballard of Wayne was one of 1,181 University of Wyoming students who received degrees at the completion of the 1992 spring semester. Ballard received a bachelor of science degree.

Of the graduates, 963 received bachelor's degrees, 133 master's degrees, 63 Juris Doctor (law) degrees and 22 doctoral degrees.

a waiting list, the law won't mean very much.

Wesley says the original legislation mandated that the state provide services for people with developmental disabilities by 1994, however, it was amended to say that it is the Legislature's intent to entitle people to services by that date. In the meantime, the Department of Public Institutions is developing a plan regarding services needs and cost. A full budget request will be presented this fall.

"We don't put people on a waiting list for ADC payments if they are poor or need an education," says Wesley. "I think we have a societal responsibility to provide basic community services to people with developmental disabilities."

The legislature did take a few preliminary steps toward entitlement by mandating that beginning July 1, 1993, people graduating from special education programs or reaching the age of 21 are entitled to receive community services. The legislation also entitles all people to case management or "service coordination" on that date.

"I think entitlement to people with disabilities is very important and very appropriate," says Shaw. "It insures that anybody with a significant mental or physical disability will have the services available enable them to become a part of the community. If there's anything the state should be about, it's affirming the value and dignity of its citizens."

In the interim, DPI is continuing the planning process for full implementation of the law. "It is extremely important for people to speak out and make sure their needs are communicated," says Gordon. "Now that the law is on the books, the implementation process is even more critical."

"You're never sure what will happen with your legislation and your vision once it's fully implemented," says Wesley. "I feel very comfortable with the start we've made, but it's an ongoing process. The key is to remain vigilant to do the best we can."

METHODIST WOMEN

The Dixon United Methodist Women held their monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon. Florene Jewell and Lucy Mason presented an interesting lesson with singing, scripture and a playlet on environmental issues and the challenge Christian persons have to live new and creative lifestyles to save the land for future generations.

The business meeting was opened by Vice President, Norma Penlerick, in the absence of the President. Bible verses were given for roll call. Minutes were read. The coordinators reported concerning their offices. "Charlotte's Dream" was reported on. Our former Nebraska Conference President, Charlotte Reed, has a dream for the women across the state to collect 1,500,000 Campbell soup labels. By saving these labels it would be possible to get a new van for use at Epworth Village in York, NE. These are to be brought to the East District meeting in September, or to the Conference meeting Oct. 2-3, which will be held in South Sioux City this year. A committee was appointed to make a banner for the Conference meeting. Dixon 15 celebration was discussed. Lunch was served by Margaret Huetig and Lois Ankeny.

WAYNE COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Nebraska July 7, 1992

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:00 a.m., on Tuesday, July 7, 1992 in the Courthouse meeting room. Roll call was answered by Chairman Rospishil, Members Beiermann and Nissen, and Clerk Finn.

Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on July 2, 1992. The agenda was approved. The minutes of the June 16, 1992, meeting were approved.

R. G. Fugelbath commented on the address of the Courthouse building being technically incorrect. The front of the building faces south yet an east street address is used.

Acting as the Board of Equalization, a motor vehicle exemption for Grace Lutheran Church was signed. A Special Designated Liquor Permit for Kenneth Jorgensen was examined. Motion by Beiermann, seconded by Pospishil, to adopt the following resolution:

WHEREAS, Kenneth Jorgensen of Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska, has made application to the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission for a Special Designated permit under the Nebraska Liquor Control Act for the Wayne County Fair during the dates of August 6, 7, 8 and 9, 1992, and

WHEREAS, said application has been forwarded to the County of Wayne, as the local governing body for approval. NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the Board of Commissioners of Wayne County, Nebraska, that said application for special designated permit to Kenneth Jorgensen be approved subject to the condition that the hours of consumption as to Sunday, August 4, only shall include the following: Beer & Wine from 12:00 noon to 1:00 A.M. and Distilled Spirits from 6:00 P.M. to 1:00 A.M.

Roll call vote: Beiermann-Aye, Pospishil-Aye, Nissen-Abstained. Motion carried. The occupation tax is set at $30.00. Steve Muir, Carolyn Small and Gordon Overmann, representing Travelers Insurance Company presented health insurance renewal information. Various options were discussed.

Variance Requests received by the Wayne City Board of Adjustment were reviewed. Al Shufelt made a request for $2,500.00 for the Wayne County Historical Society budget. The money would be used for tree damage and paint at the Wayne Museum.

Bids received for the sale of a 1980 Chevrolet Fleetside pickup were opened at 11:00 a.m. Motion by Pospishil, seconded by Beiermann, to accept the bid of $1,265.00 offered by Joe Mundt. Roll call: Pospishil-Aye, Beiermann-Aye, Nissen-Aye. No Nays.

Highway Superintendent, Sid Saunders, was authorized to advertise for sale, a 1976 Chevrolet pickup. Bids will be opened on August 8, 1992, at 11:00 a.m. A Public Hearing for a proposed road numbering system developed by Saunders was scheduled for August 18, 1992, at 1:30 p.m. Motion was made by Nissen, seconded by Beiermann. Roll call vote: Nissen-Aye, Beiermann-Aye, Pospishil-Aye. No Nays.

Saunders was directed to notify Hoffman Construction Co., Plainville, that construction of the State-Orten-Wayne County road structure near Hoskins (Wayne Project C-90(358)) must be completed by 11:00 a.m., August 4, 1992, or the contract for such construction will be considered null and void.

Motion by Beiermann, seconded by Nissen, to advertise for a used maintainer. Bids will be opened at 11:15 a.m., Tuesday, August 4, 1992. Chris Connolly, Deputy County Attorney, presented a lease agreement for the jail building. Alterations were discussed. It will be reviewed and submitted for approval at the July 21, 1992, meeting.

Greg Eckell, new Administrator for Northeast Nebraska Juvenile Services, Inc., was introduced. Motion by Nissen, seconded by Beiermann, to adopt the following resolution: WHEREAS, the Nebraska Legislature has enacted and the Governor has signed legislation relative to the interest of county officers in public contracts, and

WHEREAS, members of the County Board of Commissioners on occasion engage in work for the County beyond their duties and responsibilities as County Commissioners for which they will receive a direct pecuniary fee or commission as a result of such work, and WHEREAS, members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners wish to enter into a contract with Wayne County to provide such services for the fiscal year of 1992-1993; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners that: 1. Any board member may enter into a contract with Wayne County during the fiscal year of 1992 to 1993, for the furnishing of services of beyond the statutory responsibilities and duties as County Commissioner.

2. Such County Commissioner entering into such agreement shall comply with the statutes relating to interest in public contracts, Sections 49-14, 103-01, et seq. Roll call vote: Nissen-Aye, Beiermann-Aye, Pospishil-Aye. No Nays.

Thanks to Teachers Like Alice Foster, The Future Is In Good Hands.

Our future will soon be in the hands of our children, and US WEST is proud to recognize Alice Foster as a teacher preparing children for the challenge.

Alice is the recipient of the 1992 US WEST

Outstanding Teacher Award for Nebraska.

After consulting with NASA researchers, Alice a mathematics/computer science teacher at

Millard North High School in Omaha, designed an interdisciplinary curriculum which challenged her students to plan a voyage to Mars.

The US WEST Foundation created the Outstanding Teacher program to enhance the teaching profession.

This year 14 teachers from the US WEST region were selected to receive $15,000 over a two-year period to pursue an educational project or professional development. It's just one of the many investments

US WEST is making as part of our Foundation's Educational Initiative.

At US WEST, we believe teachers who transform classroom walls today will make a world of difference for future generations.

Wayne Chautauqua News

Your official guide to Wayne and the American Renaissance Chautauqua

"The most American thing in America" is how Theodore Roosevelt defined the Chautauqua, which began in 1874 as a Sunday school training seminar at a desert camp on Lake Chautauqua in southwestern New York.

The national program quickly expanded into a continent-wide education program, and by 1910, Chautauqua had moved into the heartland with dozens of circus tents in which politicians and orators, musicians and Shakespearean actors, performed.

By the early 1930's Chautauqua was dead, due in part to radio and movies, and by what many believed to be second-rate orators and acrobats which performed instead of continuing the tradition of offering enlightenment and entertainment with challenging and intellectual cultural expression.

THE MODERN Chautauqua movement, revived on the plains of North Dakota in the 1970's, continues the older tradition of scholars and thinkers meeting people outdoors in a tent.

The Chautauqua tent offers citizens of all ages the opportunity to spend time with the best scholars of the nation, and changes lives by offering challenging ideas about and perspectives on our common cultural heritage.

THE AMERICAN Renaissance Chautauqua is a program funded by the public and state divisions of the National Endowment for the Humanities and by the Nebraska Humanities Council, with promotional funding in part from the Nebraska Department of Economic Development.

The American Renaissance was the movement that created a distinctly American literature and produced some of the greatest and most influential classics.

As this "renaissance" flourished in the middle of the 19th century, American literature became more emotional in its mood and more imaginative, personal, and symbolic in its expression.

Chautauquans who will be appearing in Wayne include: (front row) Douglas Watson as Nathaniel Hawthorne, George Frein as Herman Melville, and Charles Everett Pace as Frederick Douglass. Back row is Carrol Peterson as Walt Whitman, Anne Bail Howard as Louisa May Alcott, Laurie James as Margaret Fuller and Kevin Radaker as Henry David Thoreau.

Writing was no longer viewed as a tool of religion or politics, as it had been during the nation's early years, but became an art which celebrated the land and its people.

THE KEY figures of the American Renaissance included Ralph Waldo Emerson, Henry David Thoreau, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Herman Melville, Margaret Fuller, Frederick Douglass, and Louisa May Alcott.

During the week of Chautauqua, these authors will recreate the American Renaissance by stepping from the pages of American history and reappearing on stage to present a different humanities program each night of the week.

Welcome! From the Wayne Chautauqua Committee

Welcome to Chautauqua '92. What is Chautauqua? The Chautauqua was originally started as a Sunday school training seminar back in the late 1800s, but quickly expanded into a nation-wide education program. The program had become a tremendous success, but by the early 1900s it was competing for audiences with movie houses and radio shows. In an effort to keep up with the competition, the Chautauqua programs began to stray from their original format by becoming more entertainment oriented. Unable to attract large enough crowds, the Chautauqua movement all but died out in the early 1930s.

The modern version of Chautauqua originated in the 1970s in North Dakota. The revival has continued in the tradition of the original intent of the Chautauqua; to offer challenging ideas and perspectives to people of all ages about our common cultural heritage.

The Great Plains Chautauqua is a traveling humanities program performed in a tenet setting throughout the Great Plains region, which includes Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, and the Dakotas. The theme chosen for the 1991-92 season is "The American Renaissance: The Literature of our Democracy". The figures through whom the American Renaissance will be recreated include: Nathaniel Hawthorne (Prof. Douglas Watson), Henry David Thoreau (Dr. Kevin Radaker), Louisa May Alcott (Dr. Anne Bail Howard), Frederick Douglass (Charles Everett Pace), Walt

Read or not...

Read all about it!

There is an abundance of resource material, including books you can purchase for your own library at greatly discounted rates and handout material that is free for you to take home and peruse.

The free material is available at the Chautauqua headquarters, which is the Wayne Public Library (see map on Page 4) and at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Discounted classic books by the American Renaissance authors featured in the Chautauqua are on sale at the Student Bookstore, near the WSC campus and at the Chamber office.

While it is not necessary for anyone to read the works of the authors to fully enjoy, understand and appreciate the Chautauqua performance, the reading material is available for Chautauqua patrons to enjoy for years to come.

Whitman (Sr. Prof. Carrol Peterson), Margaret Fuller (Laurie James), and Herman Melville (George Frein).

A variety of activities are scheduled throughout the week which are intended to set the tone for the Chautauqua. These events will include many community-sponsored activities as well as the workshops and nightly feature programs by the Chautauqua performers. We hope that the Chautauqua will prove to be a fun-filled week as well as an enjoyable learning experience for all who attend.

It's been 'Labor of Love' for committee

The Wayne Community has undergone a Renaissance of a sort on its own this summer with many busy and varied cultural activities not the least of which is the Great Plains Chautauqua.

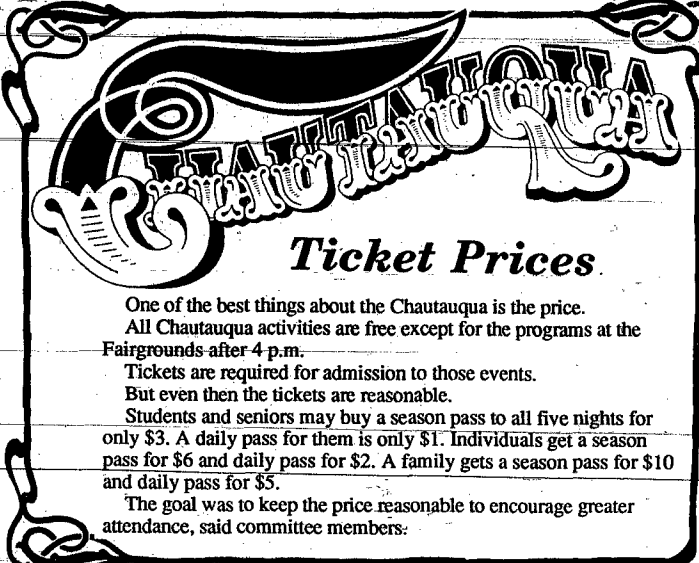

To pull off three major celebrations in one community in one summer (The Chicken Show, July 10-11; Chautauqua July 16-21, and Q-125 County Fair, August 6-9) the committees have worked overtime to get everything in readiness.

In the case of the Wayne Chautauqua Committee, the work has been going on for over a year since the community first made application to be a host town, one of only two in Nebraska this summer, for the Great Plains Chautauqua.

Thousands of hours of committee members' time have gone into what they each unabashedly say will be the best, most diverse and most entertaining Chautauqua yet.

"We have worked to make it truly unique," said committee member Tom Cook. He said the scheduling of concerts, dances, exhibits, play reading, community meals each evening, gospel programs, crafts demonstrations and many activities for young people—all in addition to the normal Chautauqua tent shows—will make the Wayne event "perhaps the best Chautauqua ever."

One of the initial forces that got the committee organized and rolling Dr. Jo Taylor, Wayne State College Provost, said Chautauqua is a fitting event for Northeast

Ticket Prices

One of the best things about the Chautauqua is the price. All Chautauqua activities are free except for the programs at the Fairgrounds after 4 p.m.

Tickets are required for admission to those events. But even then the tickets are reasonable.

Students and seniors may buy a season pass to all five nights for only $3. A daily pass for them is only $1. Individuals get a season pass for $6 and daily pass for $2. A family gets a season pass for $10 and daily pass for $5.

The goal was to keep the price reasonable to encourage greater attendance, said committee members:

Nebraskans and for the college to support.

"Originally, Chautauqua was referred to as the first attempt at adult education," said Dr. Taylor. She said it is thrilling to see the role of Chautauqua revived in modern times and added that the college's involvement is a natural outgrowth of "our commitment to outreach as a regional institution."

Another committee member, Jolene Klein, Wayne Public Librarian, said she has enjoyed her involvement with the committee and looks forward to participating in the Chautauqua sessions. She stressed that the public needn't feel like they have to do a lot of reading or study before they attend the programs.

"You don't have to know anything about the works of the characters being portrayed to enjoy the show," she said. "It will just be interesting to hear the historic figures being brought to life by the scholars who have studied them so thoroughly."

While the project has been a lot of work—the committee has met at least once a week for over a year in organizing the event—the work keeps getting done and new people keep joining the effort, said Nancy Schulz, Wayne Chamber of Commerce secretary.

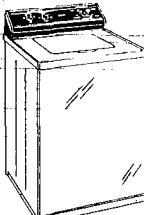

"One of the nicest aspects of the work has been to bring the community and the college personnel together on a long term project," she said.

There is no chairperson of the committee since all the members agree everyone is willing to work and no one really cares who gets the credit.

"It truly has been a labor of love," said Dave Ewing, who has been one of the stalwarts on the committee along with cook, Meena Dalal, Curt Wilwerding and others.

The committee members readily acknowledge the guidance and financial assistance from the Great Plains Chau-

It'll be an old-fashioned tent raising

The Chautauqua tent raising will occur at 7 p.m. Thursday, July 16 at the Wayne County Fairgrounds. Members of the community will assist the Chautauqua performers in raising the 50'x120' tent.

A "bring your own" community picnic beginning at 5 p.m., an ice cream social and a concert by "Touch of Brass" will precede the tent raising.

The tent raising will begin with a brief welcome and opening ceremonies attended by Mayor Bob Carhart, Wayne State College President Dr. Donald Mash, other dignitaries and politicians.

The United States Marine Corps color guard will present the flag to start the ceremony. A special Q125 award will recognize the Chautauqua as part of Nebraska's quasiquicentennial celebration. This is a unique event and provides an excellent opportunity for video footage.

For more information, contact Curt Wilwerding at the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce at 475-2240.

ALL AREA RESIDENTS are invited to join in the fun of a traditional tent raising in preparation for The American Renaissance Chautauqua. The 50' x 120' tent will be raised Thursday, July 16 at 7 p.m. at the Wayne County Fairgrounds.

A time of change in America

The American Renaissance was the mid-nineteenth century movement that established American Literature as a distinct way of imagining the world.

The American Renaissance created a distinctly American literature and produced some of the nation's greatest and most influential classics. It was our declaration of cultural independence and a break with English and European traditions.

From 1835 until after the Civil War, American writers also turned aside from the religious and political essays that had marked the rationalism of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries to produce a more emotional, imaginative, personal and symbolic literature in which they celebrated the land and its people.

The American Renaissance is the romantic period in our literature, and though it gave way to realism after the Civil War, it left America with themes that are still being talked about: our identity as a people, the special dignity of the self-reliant individual, the need for reform, the value of nature, the need to be free from past, the danger of materialism, and the value of books and ideas.

Nebraska tunesmith to perform here

One of the featured attractions at the Chautauqua this summer in Wayne will be an original quasiquintennial music program entitled "Say It With Music, Nebraska!" This special Q125 concert will occur at 4 p.m. Saturday, July 18 at the Wayne County Fairgrounds. A daily or weekly Chautauqua ticket (available from local banks or businesses or at the gate) will be required for admission.

The music for the concert was composed by 92-year-old Polk, Neb. resident Jim Wilson, and will be performed by the Central City Lone Tree Singers. Both the composer and the singers are quite noteworthy and are especially well known in the central part of the state.

Jim Wilson was born in Stromsburg in 1900 and is a 1922 graduate of UNL. Among other things he has been a Chautauqua-style lecture circuit performer, a gold prospector, a traveler and travel writer whose writings include a book on his motorcycle trip around Africa in the 1920s, a journalist, a poet and essayist, a professor, a musician, a salesman, a farmer, a conservationist, and an all-around entrepreneur.

In 1983 Wilson wrote an article about the old-time Chautauquas of his youth for Nebraskaland Magazine. His many careers have filled the entire century thus far but he shows no signs of slowing down despite a recent car accident. Wilson, and his son Steve, a well-known professional nature photographer, will be in the audience for the performance. His other two children are also successful professionals, while Mrs. Wilson was an author in her own right, with her own weekly poetry column at the time of her death after 60 years of marriage.

The Lone Tree Singers were founded in 1954 as the Oratorio Society. Some of the original singers are still active in the group. Under the direction of Kristy Clarke, they do two cantatas and several other major performances each year. Last year they performed at the Central City Chautauqua and they also sang at the Fullerton Chautauqua.

Wayne is very fortunate to have them for this year's event, especially since they are currently specializing in Jim Wilson's music with its appropriate historical theme to go with the Chautauqua theme of the American Renaissance.

The person mainly responsible for recommending Mr. Wilson and his music to the Chautauqua Committee was his friend, Lyle George of Wayne. George describes Wilson as a uniquely creative and inspiring individual whose long life has been one of ongoing adventure. Even Wilson's farming career, begun at an age when most others would be contemplating retirement, was an adventure because he insisted on raising authentic prairie grasses by traditional farming techniques.

The contact with the Central City Lone Tree Singers was made by Chautauqua Committee member Pat Cook, who says she is very excited by the prospect of their performance.

Wayne has rich Chautauqua history

EDITOR'S NOTE: Taken from the June 2, 1914 souvenir issue of The Wayne Herald.

Appreciating the educational advantages offered to a community through the medium of a chautauqua service, a number of publicspirited citizens of Wayne met in December, 1906, and perfected an organization which assured Wayne of a chautauqua entertainment the following summer. The first meeting was a success. One of the prime factors in the organization was the work of the late J.M. Pile, to whose efforts were largely due its success. In January, 1908, the Wayne Chautauqua association was incorporated with a capital stock of $5,000, divided into one hundred shares of $50 each. The stock in the organization is owned by Wayne businessmen, one or two shares being taken by each stockholder. The stock is non-dividend paying, but is assessable for deficiencies.

The business and financial management of the association is vested in a board of

An original stock certificate for the Wayne Chautauqua Association which was established in 1908.

Don't despair, there's plenty to eat

What's to eat in Wayne? That might be a question you're asking yourself if you're unfamiliar with Wayne's fine eating establishments. One nice thing about this community is that it has some of the finest eating establishments in Northeast Nebraska.

If you're looking for restaurants with full menus, you might want to try Popo's II, the Black Knight, Hardee's, each one of those restaurants feature breakfast, lunch and dinner with a good range of entrees.

Then there's the specialty restaurants like Runza, Subway, Godfather's and Pizza Hut; each one outstanding in its own right.

The following is a synopsis of what Wayne has to offer for meals. Full meals include a wide range of menu items and the three main meals a day. Partial menu would be only breakfast and dinner and specialty menu would be only specialty items.

Big Dipper Dairy & Deli—1305 North Main.

The Big Dipper offers Goodrich Dairy products as well as a full menu of sandwiches. They also provide 32 flavors of ice cream and offer nutrasweet and hard yogurt.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily and 12-10 p.m. on Sunday.

Black Knight—304 Main.

The Black Knight is a family restaurant which offers breakfast, lunch and dinner entrees. The breakfast hours are 6-10 a.m.

with lunch being served from 11-1:30 p.m. Dinner is served from 5-10:30 p.m.

Black Knight specializes in steaks, sandwiches and seafood. They also offer alcoholic beverages to enjoy with your meal.

Dairy Queen—7th & Main.

The Dairy Queen offers a wide variety of sandwiches from hamburgers to chicken sandwiches. They also have malts & shakes as well as Dairy Queen brazier items.

Hours are 9 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Daylight Donuts—212 Main.

Daylight Donuts is a popular spot every morning for donuts and coffee. They also offer lunch with a menu of hamburgers, fish sandwiches, chicken sandwiches, hot dogs, taverns, french fries and onion rings. Ice cream products are also sold.

Hours are 5 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 5 a.m. to midnight on Friday and Saturday and 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Dick's Dairysweet—209 East 7th.

Dick's Dairysweet is open from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. seven days a week and offers its customers a wide variety of ice cream items, from cones to malts and their special banana boats. Sandwiches of all kinds are offered as well as chicken and shrimp baskets.

El Toro Restaurant & Lounge—611 Valley Drive.

El Toro features fine family dining with a menu selection of steaks and shrimp along with sandwiches ranging from hamburgers to gyros. Hours are 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. for lunch and 5-10:30 p.m. for dinner.

El Toro also has a lounge where you can enjoy alcoholic beverages with your meals.

4th Jug Lounge—102 Main.

4th Jug Lounge is a popular spot for those who want to frequent the bars while in Wayne. They do offer micro-wave sandwiches such as ham-n-cheese and taverns along with chips etc. Hours are 8 a.m. to 1 a.m. Monday through Saturday.

Godfather's Pizza—106 South Main.

directors composed of nine members. This board is elected for a term of one year. The association is independent of any particular circuit, a fact that assures high class service. It is the plan of the local organization to eventually purchase a chautauqua ground and erect a suitable pavilion that will answer all demands.

That the Wayne Chautauqua association is growing in favor with Wayne and Wayne county citizens has been exemplified by the growing patronage each year.

Last year, the Redpath-Horner Chautauqua service furnished the program, one that was highly satisfactory to the local management, and that satisfied the patrons in every respect. This season, the same company will have charge of the program, and the management expects a record attendance.

Members of the directorate are: A.R. Davis, president; J.G. Mines, secretary; H.C. Henney, treasurer; and S.R. Theobald, W. H. Morris, T. W. Moran, J.M. Cherry, Charles H. Bright, and F. E. Gamble.

Last year's Chautauqua in Central City, Neb. attracted hundreds, including youngsters who enjoyed the nature walks with Henry David Thoreau.

Kids: It's for you too

The kids won't be able to complain about having nothing to do during Chautauqua week in Wayne.

A host of activities are planned just for them including nature walks with Henry David Thoreau, an opportunity to experience what a country school was like 150 years ago during the Margaret Fuller workshop at the WSC country school, children's poetry writing workshop, free teen dance, storytelling by Hawthorne and Melville and more.

Several young people from Northeast Nebraska will read the essays they submitted for judging in the Chautauqua essay contest. The readings and presentation of prizes will be held Friday at 4 p.m.

Look to the schedule of activities found on Pages 2 and 3 for a guide to these and other fun activities planned especially for the younger set.

Play reading will be immortalized

Wayne will be a part of history when the Chautauqua has run its course.

The most performed play in America will be recorded here on Sunday during Chautauqua week and the recording will be enshrined in a museum in California.

Playwrights Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee collaborated on many plays including world famous productions "Inherit the Wind," "Auntie Mame" and "The Gang's All Here".

Their 13th play was "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail." It was first published in 1970. It has been heralded as the most performed play in history because of its popularity with community and university theater groups.

There will be an informal reading of the play here in Wayne Sunday, July 19 at 1:30 p.m. at the Methodist Church.

The public is invited to attend the reading and participate in the recording of the famous play. A museum in California is established just to record the times the play has been performed. The Wayne recording will be entered in the museum.

Wayne Chautauqua Committee member Sue Buryanek, who called Jerome Lawrence to ask permission for the play to be read here during Chautauqua, said she had a pleasant conversation with the famous playwright. She said he was complimentary about the plans to read the play at the Wayne Chautauqua, which features Thoreau as one of the main characters.

"The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail" retells the story of the first and perhaps most famous act of civil disobedience in American History. It relates the time in 1846 when Thoreau refused to pay his poll tax and the night he spent in jail because of it.

The play, in part, depicts a jail scene in which Thoreau is visited by his friend Ralph Waldo Emerson. Thoreau's refusal to pay his tax centered around his opposition to what he considered an immoral war with Mexico.

Lawrence called the play a depiction of "the long journey of man's soul in the course of one night from hermitizing to rejoicing the human race. It is an ecstasy, a passion, a 'trip'. It is a plea for non-violent dissent, it is a search for a personal truth."

People who attend the reading Sunday will be invited to participate by reading passages of the play.

This will be an audience-participation performance.

Community groups to offer meals

You don't have to pack a box lunch every night when you come to the Chautauqua in Wayne. There'll be plenty of good food served at the Fairgrounds by community groups each night except Tuesday—that's when everyone is invited to bring their own family picnic.

Community groups including the Rotary Club (Friday night), 4-H Club and Catholic Men (Saturday night), 4-H Club and Lions Club (Sunday night) and 4-H Club and Godfather's Pizza (Monday night), will be serving each evening from 5 p.m. until show time at 7.

Dinner music will also be provided each evening during Chautauqua.

The dinners, music and tent show all take place at the Wayne County Fairgrounds.

It's official

The Chautauqua in Wayne is an officially designated Nebraska Q-125 event.

A special concert is planned Saturday from 4 to 5 p.m. at the fairgrounds called "Say It With Music Nebraska" to celebrate the state's 125th birthday.

In the days when Main Street in Wayne looked like this, Chautauqua was the chief form of adult education and summer entertainment. This line drawing is by Joann Kramer.

Wayne area has much to offer visitors

The following is a list of what there is to do during a visit to Wayne, outlining points of interest and places for recreational activities.

Wayne Golf Course

The Wayne Public Golf Course is located about one mile north of Wayne on Highway 35. The golf course, which is open from late April to the first of October features 18 holes, a driving range and a practice green. The clubhouse also has a meeting room for a small to medium sized group.

Wayne State College

Located at 12th and Main Streets in Wayne, Wayne State College, originally founded as Professor Pile's College in 1891, is one of Nebraska's three state colleges, offering classes all year long in undergraduate and graduate programs.

Included with the college are six tennis courts, a state of the art recreation center, a fitness trail, which runs along the south end of the Wayne Golf Course and one of Nebraska's arboretums, featuring various plant life native to the area and a 87 species of trees. Included in the arboretum is the nature trail and the Willow Bowl trail.

The college also boasts a planetarium, which is open on Sundays throughout the regular school year (August-May). On the campus, too, is a one-room country school house, which used to be used in Wayne County, south of Wakefield.

The Willow Bowl, located on the south end of the campus at the corner of Main and 10th Streets is an outdoor amphitheater used for Wayne State spring and summer graduation exercises and theatre performances on a seasonal basis.

Tours of the campus are available at various times during the year.

Providence Medical Center

Wayne boasts one of the top hospitals in Northeast Nebraska with Providence Medical Center, located at the corner of 14th Street and Providence Road in the northeast portion of Wayne.

There are five physicians who serve the hospital and one physician's assistant. The hospital provides state of the art services and has visiting physicians visit it on a rotating basis from Sioux City, Norfolk and Omaha.

Viken Park

Located at the corner of 10th and Walnut is Viken Park. The park provides a wonderful place for picnics of for children of all ages to enjoy the playground.

Wayne Municipal Airport

Located east of Wayne on Highway 35 is the Wayne Municipal Airport.

Although it is used primarily by small aircraft, the airport was the recent recipient of a grant which will allow it to add an additional predominant-wind runway. The new runway is expected to be completed by 1995.

Currently, the airport has an all-weather runway suitable for landing most small aircraft.

Wayne Softball Complex

Located west of East Third Street, the Wayne Softball Complex is the site of league and tournament softball during the summer. The four-diamond complex also includes restrooms and refreshments upon request.

Hank Overin Baseball Field

Located at East Third and Windom, the Hank Overin Baseball Field is the home of the Wayne Legion and Midget baseball teams. The field is also used for summer town team baseball and girls softball games.

Sunnyview Park

Located at the corner of 10th and Providence Road, Sunnyview Park provides picnic area and an excellent playground.

Bumblebee gardens

The Bumblebee gardens provides residents and visitors with a beautiful display of iris plants on display during May. It is located at the corner of 6th and Logan.

Lions Club Park

Located on the east edge of Wayne near the Wayne Municipal Airport is the Lions Club Park. In addition to having a picnic area, the park provides restrooms and has space for overnight camping.

Garden Perennials

Located 3 1/2 miles south of Wayne on Highway 35 is Garden Perennials, which features beautiful blooming plants and flowers during the spring, summer and fall seasons. The garden is locally owned.

Wayne Chamber of Commerce

Located at 108 W. 3rd St. is the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce. There, you will find various materials about Wayne and a friendly smile from the people who run it.

Wayne County Courthouse

Located at 5th and Pearl Streets is the Wayne County Courthouse, one of the oldest existing structures in Wayne County.

Originally built in 1899, the courthouse is on the National Historic Register.

Wayne County Museum

Run by the Wayne County Historical Society, the Wayne County Museum is located at the corner of Seventh Street and Lincoln in Wayne.

The museum is open Sundays and Thursdays and it features clothing and furniture from Wayne County's past. The home was originally used as a doctors office and home. The house was then sold to Rollie Ley, whose five children then turned it over to the historical society.

Wayne County Fairgrounds

Located one mile east of Wayne and a half mile south of Highway 35 is the Wayne County Fairgrounds. The fairgrounds are the home to the annual Wayne County Fair, usually held the first week of August.

Bressler Park

Located on 10th Street between Douglas and Lincoln Streets is Wayne's finest park. The park, located on much of a city block, offers space for picnics, with shelters available, a playground and restrooms. It is also home to most of the activities during the Wayne Chicken Show.

Henry Victor Park

Located on South Main Street is Henry Victor Park. The park provides space for RV campers and it has modern restrooms. It also has space for camping, with water hook-ups available, and barbecue grills.

There is also a small playground at the park.

Swimming Pool and Tennis Courts

Located at 12th and Lincoln is the Wayne Municipal Swimming Pool and Tennis Courts, which are open to the public on a seasonal basis.

The swimming pool, which was renovated in 1991, offers a high-dive and slide. Just north of the Tennis Courts is a small park with a picnic shelter.

Ashley Park

Located at 3rd and Oak Drive is Ashley Park, which provides picnic and playground area. Located in one of Wayne's newer residential districts, it is close to the east entrance of the Wayne County Fairground and near a large grassy area suitable for kite flying.

Twin Theater

Located at 310 N. Main St. is Wayne's twin theater. The theater, which was recently renovated, provides a number of recently released movies.
