

Schools—they are changin'

Wayne Area Schools superintendent Dr. Dennis Jensen is proving himself to be a man of change for the the district. At least change is what he wants to talk over with the parents and residents of the district. "We need to at least discuss how we need to change our schools to meet our changing society's needs," said Jensen. "Because our society is changing faster than our schools." To discuss change and ideas for the future of the school system in Wayne, is part of the reason for an Open House at the high school Sept. 24 from 6:30 to 8 p.m. People who attend the open house will have the opportunity to see the schools and hear a report on the status of the district in addition to offering suggestions on the changes they would like to see in the various areas of the schools. "We need to establish long term goals and plans for the schools," said Jensen. That is why, after the open house, coffee and cookies will be served in the Haun Assembly Hall at the High School and the public will be asked to stay to offer

Fund raising lags for storm victims

By Les Mann Herald Publisher

Local Red Cross fund-raising efforts to benefit Hurricane Andrew victims in Florida and Louisiana are "going pretty slow" according to Mary Nichols, local representative for Red Cross.

Only two cash donations have been recorded in Wayne County, so far she said, adding that she hopes local residents are sending contributions directly to the state and national offices of American Red Cross.

"People need to realize that the Red Cross is you and me," she said. "If we're not there for them, then they never be there for us...though hopefully we'll never need them," said Mrs. Nichols.

SHE SAID the direct payments to state and national Red Cross offices do get recorded and credited to the county in which they originate, but it will be several months before the totals are known.

The most urgent need right now, said Mrs. Nichols is for cash. Other donated items are more difficult to transport and sort to the specific people who need those items, she said. Red Cross is accepting donation of non-perishable items and those will find uses, but the most urgent need is for cash, she said.

Red Cross is giving families in Florida and Louisiana cash grants to purchase the specific emergency items they need rather than trying to sort through the often massive and confusing piles of materials heading into the storm area.

In addition, the State of Florida is stopping all trucks entering the state to ensure they are transporting items specifically requested by an authorized response agency.

THINGS ARE still a mess in the area of the worst storm damage and millions of dollars of aid will be needed by families affected by the storm, she said.

Members of the Wayne State College Republican Club are working to give the Red Cross and storm victims a leg up. They have distributed coin collection jars in busi-

An announcement this past July by Postmaster General Marvin Runyon of a nationwide restructuring of the postal service is not expected to result in any layoffs at the Wayne Post Office, according to Chuck Thompson.

Thompson, who serves as Officer in Charge at Wayne, said the restructuring is expected to reduce the postal employee force by over 30,000, however he pointed out that the reduction in the work force will involve middle and upper level management positions.

"It will not affect the persons who receive and distribute the mail," stressed Thompson, "and it will not, or we hope not, be a concern to the public."

THOMPSON, who has been employed at the Wayne Post Office for 23 years, said he also does not expect a permanent postmaster to be named in Wayne until the restructuring process is completed.

The Wayne Post Office has been without a postmaster since February 1991, following the retirement of Tom Jones.

Thompson, who is a candidate for the position, said it will be probably be at least next January before the restructuring process can be evaluated and a permanent postmaster appointed.

He explained that the post office is offering early retirement and is projecting that most of the reduction in work force will come as a result of persons opting for the early retirement.

"Those persons who are considering early retirement have until Oct. 3 to do so," said Thompson, adding that it will be some time after that before the results can be assessed and the postal service determines the need for placement of displaced employees.

"I don't think we're going to see any announcement of Wayne's new postmaster until this process is completed."

ALTHOUGH he does not expect to see any announcement of Wayne's new postmaster until this process is completed. See POSTAL, Page 3

Disability act worries Wayne

Wayne County Commissioners are proceeding with efforts to adhere to the new Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA).

Tuesday, the commissioners contracted with an architect to do a study of county facilities, including the courthouse, to determine what construction requirements will be needed, if any, to make the county legal.

Wheel chair hoists were installed in the courthouse several years ago, but the commissioners have been told the provisions of the new law may require other efforts as well.

Only the parts of the building open to the public, not the specific work areas will be included in the study, which will be conducted by Jerry Berggren of Berggren and Wall, Architects of Lincoln.

Some have estimated hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of construction work to public and private buildings will be required under the new law. Some provisions of ADA went into effect this summer.

The Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, meanwhile, has scheduled a workshop for businesses and public entities to learn about the requirements under the new law.

The seminar will be presented by Nebraska Advocacy Services, Inc. and will be held at Riley's Pub Thursday from noon to 1 p.m.

Under the law, businesses must be accessible to customers with disabilities. Businesses and agencies not complying could be vulnerable to lawsuits.

Meet your county officials

Court appearance can be pleasant

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of weekly articles which will feature different departments within the Wayne County Government system.

by Kathy Stalling-Berry Staff Writer

To meet the pleasant ladies who run the office of the Wayne County Court, most residents usually first have an unpleasant meeting with a law enforcement officer.

While the reason for a visit to County Court may not be the most pleasant, the staff tries hard to make the visit as pleasant and efficient as possible.

Pearla Benjamin and Carol Brown provide the support and assistance needed in maintaining the office of the County Court and that involves more than just processing traffic tickets.

CAROL BROWN is deputy clerk and court stenographer and has been for the last ten years. In the capacity of stenographer, Mrs. Brown is one of two in a nine county district. As stenographer, her duties involve transcribing the court hearings from an audiotape. As deputy of the court, a little of everything from registrar, (which works with probate files), clerical support and record-keeping are performed by Mrs. Brown. "We work with the district court, all law enforcement and many of the offices in the Courthouse," says Mrs. Brown.

The different areas that are covered by Mrs. Benjamin and Mrs. Brown are criminal cases, traffic infractions, small claims, civil suits, juvenile hearings, probate, adoptions, guardians, and conservatorships.

Mrs. Brown says she enjoys the variety of duties and working with the public in her position as deputy and stenographer.

PEARLA BENJAMIN has been with the county court for 16 years, serving in positions of clerk, court stenographer and registrar before being appointed to her current position as clerk magistrate in 1985. This position requires serving as administrative support to the county judge and includes managerial work in the operation of the county court.

Like Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Benjamin says the people are what she likes best about her job. "I especially enjoy working with the various offices with whom we are associated, and with the general public."

Mrs. Benjamin said she looks forward to the time when the office will be computerized.

MRS. BROWN'S husband, Richard, is the chief probation officer for Wayne County. She has two children, Scott, and Cindy. Scott is the director of consumer advertising for the Gallup Poll, and lives in Houston, Texas with his wife Trisha. Her daughter Cindy is an elementary teacher in Lincoln.

Mrs. Benjamin has two sons, Scott, an industrial technology teacher at Guide Rock, Neb., and Lee is an electronic technician and department supervisor for a printing service in Austin, Texas.

New teachers join St. Mary's faculty

Becky Black, Jodi Murphy and Leslie Hausmann are the three newest faculty members at St. Mary's School in Wayne.

Black is serving as head teacher, along with teaching fifth and sixth grades. She came to Wayne five years ago from Oakland and attended Wayne State College, where she received her bachelor of arts degree in elementary education.

She taught her first year at St. Mary's School in Osmond at the seventh and eighth grade level.

She and her husband, Jeff, who is completing his last semester at Wayne State, are planning to move soon into the Wakefield community.

MURPHY IS teaching second grade language arts and third grade reading at St. Mary's. She is also the preschool teacher at Little Lambs Preschool at St. Mary's.

She is a native of Jolley, Iowa and graduated from Lytton High School in 1988. She is also a May 1992 graduate of Wayne State College with a BAE in elementary education.

She resides in Wayne and is engaged to be married next June to Steve Lutt of Wayne.

TEACHING music two days a week at St. Mary's is Wayne resident Leslie Hausmann, who has been in education for 26 years and received her BA degree in education from the University of Nebraska-Kearney.

Her previous teaching experience includes Broken Bow, St. Paul and Emerson.

She and her husband, Jack, a New York Life agent, are the parents of two sons. Jeff is married and resides in Lincoln, but is planning to move soon to Whitehall, Mich. Kevin is a senior at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

In addition to teaching music at St. Mary's, Hausmann works as a part-time secretary at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wayne.

OTHER teachers at St. Mary's School are Diane Gentrup, kindergarten; Rachel Evers, first and second grades; and Pam Boehle, third and fourth grades.

New water regs forcing changes

The new water regulations taking effect this fall are something that has been in the making since "The Clean Water Act" was passed by Congress back in the early 1980's.

The City of Wayne has been doing different tests over the past few years, such as the two bacterial samples taken each week from 40 different locations in the city.

Wayne is classified in the group of cities with a population of 3,300 up to 50,000. These cities must comply with the new regulations by Jan. 1, 1993. Cities larger than this had to comply back in 1990.

One of the new regulations that will affect some of the local consumers is the new lead and copper test. This new regulation requires the city to collect 40 samples from the system and send it into the State Health laboratory by Jan. 1.

This regulation also requires that the sample be taken from a private property cold water faucet; the sample must be taken from water that has stood in the lines for at least six hours. Sometime in the next three months, the Water Department will be randomly contacting residents in Wayne to explain and instruct how to take these samples.

Another new regulation that went into effect in March, 1992, but will not be enforced until Jan. 1, is the backflow ruling. This new regulation requires a backflow device be installed on every connection to the city water main.

Testing of this device must be done annually, and records must be kept by the city for five years. A certified official will have to inspect the backflow device annually.

The EPA is also going to require the municipality to take 70-80 new water tests at each of the seven well sites in the next two to three years, according to Mert Marshall, water foreman.

Wasps need attention

Wasps have been around all summer, but look for them to be "very active" on warm days from now until frost, said a University of Nebraska-Lincoln entomologist.

Wasps are generally beneficial because they destroy harmful insects around the home and garden. But they will just as tenaciously defend their nests by stinging any perceived threat, says David Keith. Wasp stings may be dangerous to sensitive people and can be guaranteed painful to anyone, Keith noted.

Wasp nests probably should be destroyed if they are too close to homes or near areas where children play, Keith said.

Keith recommends spraying the nest or ground opening for five to 10 seconds, then moving away from the nest area. Check the next day for any wasp activity. If there's none, knock down and dispose of the nest. If activity continues, wait until dusk and treat again.

Nests in walls or in the ground may be treated with an insecticide dust such as carbaryl (Sevin).

Specific areas of planning would be in 1) Buildings and grounds, 2) Board policy, 3) Staff development and in-service, 4) Technology and 5) Curriculum.

"If people want input in their schools, this is the time to provide it," he said.

This will be an ongoing process to open the schools to community input and solidify community support, said the superintendent. He added it is much easier to accomplish the tasks assigned to the district if everyone, the taxpayers, administrators and staff know what the objectives and long term goals are.

Jensen encouraged everyone to mark their calendars for the open house and goal setting session.

Postal

pect any of the 14 postal employees at Wayne to lose their jobs, Thompson said the restructuring will more than likely result in a reduction of work hours.

"Right now we're sorting and delivering the mail basically the same way we have for the past 100 years," said Thompson. "The clerk handles the mail and sorts it to the carrier, and the carrier sorts it again and puts it in the correct delivery sequence."

Thompson added that as the post office becomes mechanized and as the various post offices go on line, the mail will be sorted directly to the carrier and, eventually, be placed in delivery sequence for the carrier.

"We're not looking at any changes for at least three months," said Thompson, "but eventually we'll see a reduction in hours as more and more mail arrives pre-sorted."

"THE RESTRUCTURING is really not as complicated as it seems," said Thompson, adding that the postal service is looking at a $2 billion shortfall next year and is simply looking at ways to down size.

"It's something we need to do," admits Thompson, adding that like many organizations, the postal service has become top heavy.

"The Postmaster General is trying to make the postal service economically sound again and postpone a postal rate increase until at least 1994, and hopefully longer," pointed out Thompson.

"It's just something every organization goes through and it will not have any effect on the acceptance or delivery of the mail."

Blue Devils look to improve on 2-7 record

Wayne gridder ready for '92

Lonnie Ehrhardt is preparing his football team for another competitive season as the Blue Devils set out in hopes of improving on last year's 2-7 record.

Ehrhardt begins his 13th season as Wayne's head coach on Friday night when the Blue Devils travel to play Schuyler. Ehrhardt will be assisted by veteran coaches Ron Carnes, Duane Blomenkamp and Don Koenig along with volunteer assistant Brad Coulter.

A total of 54 Wayne athletes are out for football which Ehrhardt says is up from last season. Wayne lost 10 players to graduation from last fall's team including Mike Zach, Kyle Bensen, Jim Murphy, John Murphy, Brent Gamble, Dwaine Junck, Ryan Rohde, Trevor Hall, Leon Brasch and Matt Metz.

The key returning senior letterwinners include Regg Carnes, Bobby Barnes, Jack Swinney, Tim Reinhardt, Chad Paysen, Jason Brandt, Ryan Harris and Brian Brasch.

Matt Blomenkamp is the lone junior letterwinner with considerable experience. "We've been looking real good in practice," Ehrhardt said. "We, the coaches, have been real pleased with the progress we're making. There's a lot of hard hitting going on and our youth is gaining some valuable experience which is good because they will be called upon to perform."

Ehrhardt says the Blue Devil running game will be stronger this season because there is a lot more size to work with up front. "Both our offensive and defensive lines will be bigger," Ehrhardt said.

"The attitudes of the players is real good right now," Ehrhardt said. "The comradery of the team has been positive during the whole pre-season. Our team goals include having a winning record, winning the conference championship and putting ourselves into position to make the state playoffs."

Wayne volleyball team loaded with experience

The Wayne High volleyball team anxiously awaits a season which if all comes together, could be a good one. Marlene Uhing enters her seventh year at the helm of the Blue Devils and her squad will be looking to improve-upon last season's 11-10 record.

One thing Uhing doesn't have to worry about is lack of experience since she returns every person from last year's team. "We do have a lot of experience," Uhing said. "That has made it real nice for practice since we don't have to spend a lot of time familiarizing the girls with our offense and defense."

Uhing says the preseason drills have gone very smooth and fast. "We look to have a real strong setting group," Uhing said. "Liz Reeg, Erin Pick, Danielle Nelson, Angie Thompson, Jenny Thomsen, Jenny Thompson and Kristine Swanson return to the starting rotation while Carrie Fink and Audra Sievers look to add quality depth and playing time.

There are 22 girls out for the volleyball program including the varsity, junior varsity and freshman teams. The Blue Devils spent a week during the summer at team camp at Nebraska Wesleyan.

"Our team motto this year is "play every play,"" Uhing said. "We feel we have to prove ourselves at our early tournaments to set the tone for us during the rest of the season."

Uhing said the team goals are limited to just improving on last year and working as hard as they can in practice each day because that's where you improve the most.

Wayne's first 10 days of the season will involve two tournaments in the Beemer Invitational and the North Bend Invitational. The first home game is set for Sept. 17 against Pierce.

WAYNE-CARROLL GIRLS GOLF

Wayne golf team sports new look

Last fall the Wayne High girls golf team completed its season and questions of whether or not there would be another Wayne girls golf team this fall, were left unanswered.

The five girls on last year's team were all seniors including Kim Liska, Jennifer Chapman, Lisa Casey, Lana Casey and Christi Carr.

Enter now, Wayne's head coach Dick Metteer who enters his ninth season at the helm of the Blue Devil girls golf program and enter 12 new faces to the golf program—with no experience.

"There was a lot of internal recruiting going on to get some girls out for golf," Metteer said. "There were some eighth grade girls last year who wanted to go out this year as freshman and they talked some friends into going out and all of a sudden we have 12 girls out."

The Wayne girls have eight freshman, three sophomores and one lone senior in Krista Remer. The three sophomores include LeAnn Green, Traci Oborny and Molly Melena.

"I told the girls to practice hard during the summer and they did just that," Metteer said. "Three of them took part in the city tee golf program. Of course, a few of them just came out and haven't practiced because they didn't know they were coming out, but they are young enough they can improve throughout the season."

One of the things that is different about golf competition from other team sports is that you are playing the course and not the opponent. "You can control your game but you can't control your opponent's for the most part," Metteer said.

Metteer says seeing the kids enjoy the game of golf and meeting new friends is the most enjoyment he gets from coaching. "Golf is a sport where you interact a lot while competing," Metteer said. "It's more of a friendly competition."

Wayne harriers battle injuries

Most preseason practices and drills for area high school teams involve a lot of optimism and anxiety for the approaching year. The Wayne boys and girls cross country teams, however, are using preseason as a time to heal and get over sickness.

"I believe once we get everyone on the team healthy we could be a good team," Ruhl said. "Tami Schluns looks really good so far this fall. She has rebounded from her injuries in the spring."

Ruhl said the girls team will rely on senior experience and leadership with help from some of the younger runners for a successful season. Currently, Ruhl's girls team has seven runners out including Susie Ensz, Jessica Wilson, Emily Wisner, Tami Schluns, Jill O'Leary, Melodee Lage and Beth Meyer.

Turning to the boys team the goals are simple, to be district and conference champs again which would make four straight years.

"I think we will start kind of slow since we will be so young," Ruhl said of his boys squad. "We will probably have two freshman and a sophomore join Nate Stednitz, Aaron Geiger and Mark Meyer as varsity members."

Ruhl says he hopes his team can develop into a team that can challenge for the district and conference crowns. "The team to beat in our district looks to be Albion," Ruhl said. "I think the area competition should be very balanced in both the boys and girls divisions. No team really sticks out as having a lot of experienced people back."

Spencer Stednitz and Travis Koester are the two freshman looking for a varsity spot and Chris Headley is the sophomore Ruhl referred to. The Blue Devils open up the season, healthy or not, on Saturday when they travel to compete in the Wisner-Pilger Invitational.

Allen Eagles football team will have new face pacing the sidelines in '92

The Allen Eagles football team will have a new mentor pacing the sidelines this season as Warren Jensen takes over the helm for Mike Busselman.

Jensen comes to Allen from Plainview where he coached the 1990-91 team. Before that Jensen was in Kansas. In 1986 he coached in Scribner-Snyder.

Jensen seems very enthusiastic about being in Allen despite the fact the 1992 squad has just 14 athletes out. "We may be small in numbers," Jensen said, "but I think we have a lot of quality with these kids."

Jensen said the boys have a great attitude and he's pleased with their preseason efforts with all of the changes. "A couple of keys to our season is going to be conditioning and staying healthy," Jensen said. "We can't afford for anyone to get hurt with the lack of numbers we have and most of our kids will be playing the whole game on both sides of the ball."

Overall, Jensen said his team's immediate goal is to be a .500 team or better. "I think we can be pretty solid if we can get a few breaks and stay off the injured list,"

Jensen said.

Dave Uldrich will be Jensen's assistant and the two welcome back six returning letterman in Bren Mattes, Lane Anderson, Curtis Oswald, Steve Sullivan, Jay Jackson and Casey Schroeder.

Allen will open up season play on Friday against Winside at home.

New volleyball coach enters Allen

The coaching staff at Allen High School underwent a major facelift this season with Warren Jensen taking over the football program and Tracy Kuester heading the volleyball program for Buffy Romshck.

Kuester played volleyball for the Wayne State Wildcats the past two seasons after transferring from Wyoming. Kuester inherits an Eagle volleyball team that came within a match of qualifying for the state tournament last season. Allen lost to Winside in the sub-district final.

"Allen lost a couple real key players from that team," Kuester said. "Cindy Chase and Denise Boyle, a couple real good middle hitters, graduated."

Currently the Eagles are exploring different offenses according to Kuester. There are five remaining letterwinners on the

Allen team this season including Christy Philbrick, Steph Martinson, Heather

Sachau, Steph Chase and Ann Maxey.

One thing Allen will not have to worry about, is lack of numbers since 27 girls are out for volleyball. "Having this many girls in a D-1 program is very good," Kuester said. "This allows us to work on a lot of different drills."

"There won't be any one individual who stands head and shoulders above the rest of the team," Kuester said of her squad. "The wealth will be spread with a lot of girls working together."

Sandy Chase will be the assistant for Kuester and she's been a great help with the transition of coaches according to Kuester. "Sandy's a great assistant because she knows the girls and she knows what to expect from them," Kuester said.

Kuester said the team has their own goals but one of them is to just take each game at a time and improve on each one.

The head coach for Laurel is Tom Luxford and he is assisted by Clayton Steele, Shane Steele, Rick Petri and Jim Jacobsen.

Larger numbers at Laurel have Bears enthused for year

The Laurel football team returns to the Wayne Herald coverage area this season after a year's absence. Tom Luxford returns to lead the Bears with assistance from Clayton Steele, Shane Steele, Rick Petri and Jim Jacobsen.

Luxford says his squad will be looking to improve on last season's squad which struggled at times. "The kids have done an excellent job in fall camp," Luxford said. "The numbers are up so it makes it very competitive in practice because everyone is fighting for a position on the varsity."

Laurel returns 14 letterman so they do have some quality experience for the 1992 campaign which opens up Friday night in Randolph. The Bears, however, will have a lack of depth at certain key positions and they are very young this as a whole, but Luxford is taking a cautiously optimistic attitude towards the year.

"Our schedule is going to be very tough as we open up at the number seven rated team in Class C-1—at Randolph," Luxford said. "We follow that up with games against Crofton, Ponca, Wakefield, Pierce, Bloomfield, Neligh, Plainview and Creighton, so it's no cake walk. These schools are all traditionally sound football schools."

As far as team goals are concerned Luxford says his squad is taking the simple approach of taking it one practice at a time and hopefully improving upon the previous day's practice.

The Laurel football team will compete once again in the NENAC Conference which has proven to be one of the strongest in all of C-1 for the past several seasons.

Laurel volleyball team looks for improvements with senior leaders

The Laurel Bears volleyball team return to the Wayne Herald coverage area this season after a one year absence. Carol Manganaro gets ready to enter her 10th season at the helm of the Lady Bears.

The Bears are members of the NENAC Conference and will be looking to improve on last season's 4-12 record. A solid nucleus of returning letterwinners should aid the Bears chances of improvement.

Betsy Adkins, Brandi Mathiason, Amy

Peters, Deb Ward, Lisa Wattier are the senior letterwinners while Samantha Felber is a junior returning letterwinner.

Laurel returns three starters off last season's team but will have to replace the vacancy left by five seniors lost to graduation.

"Our preseason practices have been pretty intense," Manganaro said. "We've been concentrating on basic skills with a major emphasis on defense."

Manganaro said the leadership on this year's team will have to come from the five seniors along with experienced junior Deb Ward—an honorable mention all-conference player from last season.

"We have strength offensively and are working hard to improve our passing and serve receive to be effective," Manganaro said. "These girls have a lot of fun playing volleyball, and they play to win."

Manganaro said the attitudes of the players remain very positive which is a reflection of their hard work through preseason and from summer camps. "We have a very tough schedule," Manganaro said. "We're looking at it with the approach that we can't worry about who we are going to play next week, but who we play at the present time."

Laurel will host the C1-9 sub-district this year with Randolph, Bloomfield and Crofton.

Trojans must replace 17 of 22 starters

Wakefield football ready to reload

Dennis Wilbur enters his 12th year as the Wakefield head football coach and this year could be one of his most trying, as he tries to replace 13 seniors lost to graduation off a team that qualified for the state playoffs last season.

"We only have 27 kids out for football which is 13 below what we had last year," Wilbur said. "This is going to be an unusual year because it is going to be a total rebuilding year."

Wilbur's Trojans lost nine offensive starters and eight defensive starters off last year's 8-2 squad. "We have to start over someplace," Wilbur said.

Lost from last year's team include Anthony Brown, Marcus Tappe, Thad Nixon, Scott Johnson, Scott Mattes, Matt Stanton, Dalton Rhodes, Jon Johnson, Aron Utecht, Brent Oetken, Brandon Benson and Joe Kucera.

"I think we do have some capable people to fill in the vacancies," Wilbur said. "We do, however, have a lot of inexperience." Wakefield has eight seniors on this year's team along with 10 juniors, three sophomores and six freshman.

T.J. Preston and Mike Anderson are the two senior signal callers who are battling for the starting spot. "Which ever doesn't get the nod as quarterback will probably end up in the backfield," Wilbur said.

Pat Jepson and Cody Skinner will also see extensive playing time at the running back positions while Ryan Ekberg and Cory Brown share duties in the fullback slot.

Wilbur will be assisted by veteran coach John Torczon. The Trojans will undergo their rebuilding season on Friday when they host Tilden-Elkhorn Valley. "Once again we have a very competitive schedule," Wilbur said. "We just have to take it one game at a time."

Wakefield spikers look to keep tradition built by Eaton strong

The Wakefield volleyball team will be guided by Paul Eaton this season with experience assistant Arnie Cerny at his side. Wakefield will be looking to improve on last season's 13-5 record despite a lack of experience.

"Last year was the worst record we've had since I've been here," Eaton said. "It wasn't that we were that bad, we just had some very good teams to play against."

Wakefield lost two of its three matches against Winside—a state qualifier, and they lost to Wisner-Pilger—the Class C-1 state runner-up. They also lost once to Coleridge and to Wayne.

One thing the Trojans will have to do is replace the seven seniors they lost to graduation. Gone from this year's team is Kristen Miller, Sarah Salmon, Lisa Blecke, Danielle Fallesen, Carla Boeckenhauer, Lisa Anderson and Kelly Ekberg.

"We lost a lot of experience with girls who had played a lot of volleyball," Eaton said. "We have five senior girls on this year's team, who haven't had a lot of playing experience."

Heather Gustafson is the only returning senior with any measurable amount of experience. Cindy Torczon, Heidi Muller, Megan Sandahl and Becky Stout will provide senior leadership along with Gustafson.

Junior Cathy Otte returns as the starting setter from last season and sophomores Kali Baker and Maria Eaton provide experience from a year ago.

"I think we can have a competitive team," Eaton said. "The gals have been working really hard but again, we are talking about a lot of inexperience."

Other sophomores who will be looking to add depth to the Trojans team include Mary Torczon, Jaimie Oswald and Suzann Ekberg. Juniors Betsy Erickson and Melissa Haglund will also supply depth.

Eight senior letterwinners return

Winside looks to senior leadership

Twenty five Winside football players will represent the Wildcats this fall with Randy Geier at the helm of the program as he gets set to enter his sixth year as mentor.

The Wildcats will face Allen in the opener on Friday in Allen. Winside will be looking to improve on a 4-5 record from a year ago and Geier has 13 returning letterwinners who are pushing to accomplish just that.

Nine seniors will look to provide the necessary leadership needed including eight letterwinners in Cam Shelton, Jeremy Bruggeman, Cory Miller, Jason Topp, Kyle Frederick, John Hancock, Marc Stueckrath and Chris Mann. Donnie Nelson is the other senior.

Three of the four juniors on the roster are returning letterman in Marty Jorgensen, Brady Frahm and Trent Trautmann while Jeremy Jenkins looks for his first varsity letter in this his junior season.

Colby Jensen and Benji Wittler are the two sophomore returning letterwinners out of seven sophomores out for the team. There are five freshman boys who will also be looking to contribute.

Winside will be looking to replace some quality players from last year including Cory Jensen, Jason Krueger, Jason Magwire and Trevor Topp.

"This will be an interesting year," Geier said. "Last season we went into several games thinking we had to play extremely well, and even then we knew our chances were slim, whereas, this season, we feel we will have a legitimate shot at winning each week."

Geier feels the Lewis & Clark Conference will be much more balanced this season and if his team can stay healthy and get a few breaks, they can be right in the thick of things.

Winside will open up at home on Friday, Sept. 11 against Hartington.

Angie Schroeder begins reign

Winside spikers welcome new coach

There will be a new face in the Winside coaching staff this season as Angie Schroeder takes over at the helm of the Winside volleyball team from Paul Giesselmann, who moved to Omaha after a summer marriage and is coaching Omaha Duchesne.

Schroeder comes to Winside from Elm Creek—the defending Class C2 state champions. She played her high school volleyball at Elm Creek and played basketball for Kearney State before graduating in May of 1992.

"I feel like there is a lot of pressure on me to continue the success and tradition that Paul Giesselmann helped build," Schroeder said. "There is a lot of talent coming back off Winside's state tournament team from last year in Kari Pichler, Holly Holdorf, Chris Colwell and Christy Mundil."

Those four are also the lone letterwinners as Winside lost the services of Jenny Jacobsen, Wendy Rabe, Christi Thurstensen and Patty Oberle. "Pichler, Holdorf, Colwell and Mundil have really helped me get things going since I've been here," Schroeder said. "They are adapting very well to my ways which differ some from Paul's."

Despite the fact that Winside does have quality experience on this year's team, they are very young as Holly Holdorf is the lone senior. There are six juniors in Kari Pichler, Christi Mundil, Chris Colwell, Catherine Bussey, Tawnya Krueger and Yolanda Sievers along with nine sophomores and eight freshman.

Schroeder will be assisted by Lisa Janke. Winside underwent another change besides the coaching switch. The Wildcats moved to C-2 from D-1. That means the district alignment is different.

Winside will now be in the C2-7 sub-district with Hartington, Osmond and Verdigré. The winner of that sub-district will play the C2-8 winner consisting of Spencer-Naper, Wheeler Central, O'Neill St. Mary and Elgin.

"My ultimate goal at Winside would be to see a Winside vs. Elm Creek match-up at state," Schroeder said. "Our immediate goals are to have a winning season and to repeat as conference and district champs."

Front row: Lora Grant, Annette Fluckey, Lisa Kresha, Kristen Miller, Shannon Dunning, Jaime Melton, Jennifer Hammer, Lisa Jamieson, Danielle Fallesen and Rosie Sandusky.

Despite several key losses

Wayne State spikers ready to take aim

Eighteen women will be donning the black and gold colors on the Wayne State volleyball team this fall as the Wildcats prepare to try and duplicate last year's 30-plus win season.

Wildcats head coach Nancy Clark says her squad is looking very good right now but one thing the 'Cats will be doing without this season, is the services of Shelly Lueders, Kristi Jaminet, Tracy Kuester, Nancy Kennedy, Amy Newton and Angela Janovec.

The first four were lost to graduation and the other two transferred with their majors. Newton went to the University of Nebraska and Janovec transferred to Fort Hays State.

"We lost some quality players but I think we have some good women coming in who can adequately fill the vacancies," Clark said. Betty Boldt, a transfer from Northeast Community College will be called upon to be a leader in blocking and hitting.

"Right now Betty looks really good,"

Clark said. "She could be a dominant force in the middle for us." Shannon Dunning will return to start at the setter position as WSC looks to run the 5-1 offense.

Cori Weinfurter—a consistent force for the 'Cats the past few seasons, will return for her senior season. Cassie Vescio and Tracy Atkins will be called upon for hitting and blocking purposes according to Clark while Lisa Skradski and Tanya Rotherham add to a team which Clark feels will block very well again this season.

"We have some quality freshman which are doing a fine job," Clark said. "Laura Pfister and Lora Grant will be looking for some quality playing time."

Clark said her squad's number one goal is to work well as a team and communicate. "Our advantage is that we are going to be a better defensive team this year than we were last season," Clark said. "Before, if we didn't get the block we often lost the ball but now I think we have the type of defense that if we don't get the block we can still operate."

Wayne State opens season with three straight road games

Wagner's Wildcats return key players

Replacing five defensive backs and three wide receivers is what faces fourth-year Wayne State College head football coach Dennis Wagner as his squad prepares for the season opener on Saturday in Omaha against UNO.

Leading the list of offensive returnees, however, is quarterback Troy Mott who ranked third in the nation last year total offense at over 280 yards per outing.

Mott also set school records last season with 35 completions in a game, 233 completions in a season, a 57.4 completion percentage for the season, and total offense at 282.2 yards per contest.

"I think the kids have worked hard over the summer and they've worked hard during preseason drills," Wagner said. "They have a great attitude and the coaching staff is very excited. We have to replace a lot of players on defense but we feel we got some quality transfers and recruits."

The Wildcats established 12 offensive school records last fall and were second in the nation allowing 70.4 yards rushing per game, but finished a disappointing 3-7.

The inability to score touchdowns inside the opponent's 20-yard-line, and a porous pass defense which yielded 2739 yards and 19 TDs led to the 'Cats demise.

"Last year we struggled in the secondary," Wagner said. "I don't think we got the pressure on the quarterback we needed, which goes back to the defensive line and the linebackers."

Preseason all-Americans Jerry Kleidosty and Brad Otis anchor the defense. Kleidosty led WSC in tackles for the second straight year with 121. Otis led the 'Cats with nine quarterback sacks, and added six tackles for losses.

Junior college transfers Paul Giacalone and Bernie Muller should help offset the loss of five defensive backs.

Offensively, the 'Cats look for transfers Damon Thomas and Danny Ferguson to help fill the void left by record-setters Marlon Goolsby and Lee Harper.

Goolsby set the single-season, 75 and career, 114 reception marks at WSC, while Harper set single-game receptions, 14 and season yardage, 848 milestones in '91.

Sophomore Lamont Rainey rushed for 415 yards in starting the final three games of last season. Rainey and sophomore Iowa State transfer Jason Williams will fight for the starting running back spot, but both may see action inside the opponent's 20-yard-line.

"We may add a two-back offense inside the 20 because those two kids are too good to have on the bench," Wagner said. "We have to improve offensively in side the 20."

WAYNE STATE COLLEGE CROSS COUNTRY

Wayne State cross country teams still young, but veterans

A year of experience coupled with youthful enthusiasm has the Wayne State College Cross Country team ready for the 1992 season.

Last year's squad, dominated by freshman, showed tremendous improvement as the season progressed. The men placed 10th of 14 teams in the NCAA Division II Central Region Championships, while the women were 13th of 16 teams.

First-year coach Rick Moorman returns everyone from last year's squad, and expects greater improvement this season.

"We have some young athletes, but all are returnees," Moorman said. "Overall, we should have a solid team. We will take one meet at a time in working towards the NCAA Regional in Omaha. Our goal is to do well in that meet."

Junior Rich Carstensen and sophomores Carson Davis, Dave Patten and Cody Hawley anchor the men's team. All four completed the difficult regional course in Fargo, N.D. in under 35:36 last season.

Sophomore standout Jennifer Kennedy headlines the women's team. Kennedy placed 33rd in the region, finishing the 5000 meter course in 18:58 in spite of the windy, icy conditions.

Senior Lucy Peter and juniors Keri Kamrath and Jackie Heese will also be counted on in '92.

Moorman enters his first year at the helm of the Wildcats Track & Field and Cross Country programs. Moorman is a 29-year-old Canton, Missouri native who serves as a volunteer linebacker coach-with the WSC football team.

He is also an instructor in the Human Performance, Leisure Studies department. Moorman earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from Culver-Stockton College, and received his master's from Northwest Missouri State University in 1990. He and his wife, Lori, have a daughter, Kayla.
