

Prevention week proves effort pays

By Les Mann
Herald Publisher

Fire Prevention week efforts are working. The Wayne area is happily experiencing a pleasant downturn in the number of fire calls in recent years and Dutch Sitzman attributes the trend to better prevention efforts and education.

SITZMAN talked about the four-year trend in lower number of fire calls during the annual Fire Prevention Week Chamber of Commerce Coffee Friday at the Firehall.

Several of today's volunteer firemen were original members of the first Junior Fire Patrol, an education effort implemented many years ago by the Wayne Fire Department, said Sitzman. He said those education efforts are paying off as the community seems to be more safety conscious.

New laws requiring burning permits for slash and refuse burning have contributed to lower numbers of calls, said Ron Wriedt, the department's training officer. He added weather has contributed to a reduction in the number of wildfire calls in grass and crop lands.

Since May, only 16 fire calls have been logged by the Wayne firemen. The department usually averages about 30 calls a season.

WRIEDT SAID he had expected more wildfire calls in recent years as large acreages are placed in conservation reserve programs which allows grass to grow tall. However, he said the tall grass has not been a major problem on CRP lands.

Long-time fireman Bob Stanley said he has been on the force for almost 30 years and has seen many changes that have helped improve the fireman's ability to fight fires. "I didn't see much of a need to have radios in the trucks when they first came out," he said. "Now we couldn't work very well without them."

HE ADDED the trucks have gotten large, the training is better and the fire department is also in the rescue business, all changes he said have been for the better.

The fire department used Friday's coffee to also show off the new $140,000 rural pumper truck which will be placed into service later this year. The week has also been used to give youngsters tours through the fire hall, give students fire truck rides and give lectures on fire safety.

National Fire Prevention Week is Oct. 4-10.

Ziglar Corporation executive Jim Savage was a Wayne rejuvenator

'Just great but getting better!'

Wayne gets a big dose of enthusiasm

By Les Mann
Herald Publisher

When you greet people on the street in Wayne these days and ask them how they are, chances are the response is going to be a loud and enthusiastic, "I'm doing just great, but I'm getting better."

Doing all things with enthusiasm, even the greeting you give other people on the street, was part of the motivational message delivered by an executive of the Ziglar Corporation who spoke to more than 1,200 Wayne area residents this week.

Jim Savage, the senior vice-president and publisher of Ziglar's motivational and sales training organization, outlined life-changing steps for improved job performance, personal satisfaction and increasing income, during his three-hour talk at Rice Auditorium Tuesday night.

HE ALSO SPOKE to Wayne-Carroll teachers Tuesday afternoon and to members of the Wayne Rotary Club Wednesday morning.

He made his audience Tuesday night stand and shout out the "I'm doing just great..." greeting as practice. Many throughout town have been using it continually since. He said using the greeting for 21 days straight will make it a personal habit and will show those around you that you are enthusiastic.

Savage admitted that some people might think the greeting is silly, or that they don't feel enthusiastic. For those he said, "Fake it until you make it."

He offered a morning exercise suggestion to help set the enthusiastic tone for your day. When you shut off your "opportunity" clock (not "alarm" clock) and your feet hit the floor you should shout "Boy, it's a great day to get up and get at 'em."

DEVELOPING enthusiasm first thing in the morning and always greeting people with a positive, energetic salutation are two of the six steps Savage listed to help people stay motivated and productive.

Other steps included physical exercise. It is proven to increase

Extension office broadens reach of courthouse

By Kathy Stalling-Berry
Herald Staff Writer

The Wayne County Extension office provides assistance, guidance and educational programs for the young and old in Wayne county. This office is part of a 21 multi-county Extension Programming Unit (EPU) and is known as the Northeast Five. Extension agents are shared with Wayne, Dakota, Dixon, Cedar and Thurston counties through this arrangement. The EPU system allows each agent to be more specialized in one area and allows for more flexibility so training in each specific area is not needed. There are three agents in this five county EPU and each has their own area of expertise. "We rely on each other and people get to Economist extension agent, said.

Mrs. Cruickshank, Rod Patent and Dana Rethwisch are the extension agents for Wayne County. Patent, Agriculture Extension agent, and Mrs. Rethwisch, 4-H and Youth agent, are also part of the Dixon County extension agent program. The program is locally controlled by the County Extension Board. Extension agents must have a master's degree and are faculty members of the University of Nebraska.

The role of the extension agent is to "focus on educational programs and providing information and getting away from the service part," Mrs. Cruickshank said. "The most efficient way to do our jobs is to work with other institutions and agencies. We are really encouraged to work with Wayne State College and Northeast Community College," Mrs. Cruickshank said.

PATENT SAID that joint programs with Wayne State and Northeast have done many things with community development issues. "We work with all groups and individuals," Patent said. The Northeast Nebraska Community and Economic Development conference is planned for Oct. 14 at Northeast Community College and includes educators from Wayne State, Northeast Community College and representatives from public and state agencies. "We have the sources to provide programs if they are requested," Patent said. "Other things we do are seasonal or very targeted." "These programs are very adaptable to local need," Patent said.

The Cooperative extension program has a unique source of funding. It is a branch of the USDA which pays the University of Nebraska to operate an extension program. The University then hires agents and they are paid partially by the county, state and federal funds. "It is a combination partnership that has worked out quite well and has been that way for nearly 77 years," Patent said. "It is a very people-oriented program because we deal with people everyday and that's what makes it work," Patent said.

"Working with all the businesses and the people in Wayne County that participate in, or are involved in the 4-H program and the County fair is interesting. It is neat to see all the people come together for these things," Patent said.

"THE COUNTY extension office is an educational organization that allows us to educate by teaching others so that they can go out in the community to use and share what they have learned," Mrs. Rethwisch said. "There is a lot of potential in the programs offered in the five counties for program development," Mrs. Rethwisch said.

An important part of the extension agent's job is working with the people. "It is rewarding to work with volunteers who are excited about helping youth," Mrs. Rethwisch said. "We always get to work with the youth, no matter what the extension agents position may be. Working with youth is expected to be 25 percent of our jobs," Mrs. Cruickshank said.

Rod Patent's area of specialty is farm finance and management with some emphasis in livestock. He has been in this position for four years and has been with the University of Nebraska for almost nine years. His primary responsibilities include swine home study courses, swine financial and production records courses and computer classes. These computer classes are for farmers and small business people and producers. "Teaching the user-friendly record-keeping programs are important. These people need somebody to show them a way that is easy to learn," Patent said. The program began two years ago and has enrolled over a 100 people each time. The course runs from January to March. Before becoming an extension agent, Patent taught financial management courses to farmers during the Agriculture crisis of the 1980s. Other responsibilities that Patent has are increasing agricultural profitability, enhancing water quality, youth and safety at risk and revitalizing rural communities.

MRS. RETHWISCH'S position as 4-H and Youth agent for the Northeast Five involves working with volunteers and other extension staff to plan and conduct educational programs for the youth in the five county area. "We do a lot of leadership development training through workshops, newsletters, etc., to help parents and other adults enhance their skills in working with youth," Mrs. Rethwisch said. "4-H is more than just a project, it is about youth and adults working together," Mrs. Rethwisch said. She has been in her position at the Northeast Research Station in Concord since April. She also has responsibilities in enhancing water quality and youth and families at risk. Mrs. Rethwisch was a 4-H and Youth Development agent in Arizona, and worked in 4-H in California, New Jersey and was also on the National 4-H Council, before moving to her present position. Her husband, Michael, farms and does crop consulting.

"I like the variety and change of being an extension agent," Mrs. Cruickshank said. "With continuing education, every year you have to be on your toes, you can't do the same things over and over because of changes in research and laws and regulations," Mrs. Cruickshank said.

MRS. CRUICKSHANK has been in extension for five years. First, she was the 4-H agent for two years and has been the Home Economist since that time. Her area of specialization is in youth and families at risk, revitalizing rural communities and working in water quality enhancement. Before beginning her duties here, she was the 4-H agent for two years in Platte County. "I decided to work in extension because of my experience in 4-H in Iowa. It teaches valuable leadership skills and an attitude of community service." Her husband, Gregg, is a teacher and athletic director for Wakefield Community Schools. They have a one-year old daughter, Kara.

Marian Clark and Mindy Lutt

help to keep the extension office running smoothly, since Mrs. Cruickshank's position is part-time and Patent and Mrs. Rethwisch work in Dixon and Wayne Counties, someone needs to provide additional support. "Marian and I work together as a team. If one is busy, we pitch in whenever we can to help the other get their things done," Mrs. Lutt said.

MRS. CLARK has been the office manager since 1984. She serves as back-up to the Home Economist agent and the Agriculture agent. "I enjoy the youth that we work with in this office," Mrs. Clark said, because they work so much with the county fair and 4-H. "The variety of this job is also enjoyable because it changes with every season. That appeals to me more than the routine," Mrs. Clark said. Mrs. Clark's family includes two sons and one grandson.

Of all involved in the County Extension office, Mindy Lutt has been there the longest. She has been the 4-H secretary and assistant to the office manager for 14 years. Her responsibilities include county fair preparations for the 4-H and the fair book. Before her duties in the extension office, Mrs. Lutt was a substitute home economics and music teacher. Mrs. Lutt is from Wayne County and was a 10 year member of 4-H and has been a 4-H leader for 10 years. She also has a farm background and says that all of these things has helped her a lot in this position. "It guided me with a good basis to understand my job and being from the Wayne area give you a better understanding and a vested interest in the community to want to do a good job," Mrs. Lutt said. Mrs. Lutt's husband, Verdel, works at Pac 'N' Sav as a meat cutter, and they have a daughter in high school and a son in middle school.

brain speed and self confidence, he said. He said exercise makes a person feel better.

Part of every person's daily routine should also be at least 15 minutes of reading or listening to educational tapes, he said. Mind expansion is as important as physical exercise. He encouraged his audience to control the amount of garbage that they allow to enter their minds through television, and poor quality books and magazines.

ANOTHER OF THE six steps he stressed was to establish symbols of the goals you want to achieve and surround yourself with those symbols as reminders during your day.

Quiet time to reflect, meditate or pray should be an important part of every successful person's day he said. "Take time to be still," he emphasized.

After his Tuesday talk Savage told the Herald that most of what he tells people "are principles that are proven and time tested and that work." Though he tries to steer clear of religious overtones, Savage said the principles he talks about are all Biblical or Christian.

During his presentation he used several Bible references and stories and he said he fears at times that his religious overtones might turn some people off.

"ALL WE CAN do is plant the seeds in this kind of environment," he explained. "If (members of the audience) will do some of these things, then my talk will have been a success."

Savage also stressed the need to help others as one of the most satisfying personal achievements.

The presentation in Wayne was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Education Council and the Wayne State College activities board.

Chamber executive Curt Wilwending said he was very pleased with Tuesday night's 1,000-plus turnout for the presentation. He added he was even more pleased to witness so many of the people in the community practicing what Savage preached.

Happy Birthday to Charles Ives

Wayne State College's Center for Cultural Outreach will pay a birthday homage to one of America's greatest composers in "The Faces of Charles Ives: An American Portrait," on Tuesday, Oct. 20 at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

Performed by the Wayne State Scenes Group, the production will be held in Ley Theatre, located on the second floor of the Brandenburg Building on campus.

Consisting of songs and narration, the birthday concert will conclude with a reception, complete with birthday cake.

"This concert should be viewed as a collage and as an opportunity to see from a variety of perspectives the different faces of a wonderful, unique, and often misunderstood composer," says Beverly Soll, pianist and director of the Center.

The performance is a one-hour condensed version of the Ives miniseries that premiered at Chautauqua this summer.

"The nightly installment of the Ives series was very popular at Chautauqua," says Soll. "This program will give community members who may have missed some parts this summer the opportunity to place the missing pieces into context, and it will also give them a chance to hear their favorite songs again."

Members of the Wayne Scenes Group include Catherine Brutsche, mezzo and flute; Melissa Eckhoff, soprano; Janeanne Rockwell, soprano, horn, and cornet; Ervin Schlesselman, tenor; Michele Thies, soprano; and Brandon Vennink, baritone and clarinet. All members of the Scenes Group also play kazoo.

The full skirt fell from a basque waistline, with a large satin bow in back, and was trimmed with scalloped lace. The semi-cathedral-train, also trimmed in lace, featured a series of re-embroidered Alencon lace and schiffli lace cutouts.

She carried a cascade of red silk lilies and white roses with black pearls and red and white ribbon.

THE BRIDE'S attendants were gowned in red satin-dresses fashioned with Sabrina necklines, keyhole backs and intermezzo-length skirts.

The full pouf sleeves were elbow length and delicately shirred up the center. Three graduated bows at the back neckline, waist and hip finished each dress.

Wayne volleyball team wins four-team South Sioux invite

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne Blue Devils volleyball team captured the South Sioux Invitational volleyball tournament, Tuesday night. Wayne defeated Sioux City Heelan in the first round, 15-6, 12-15, 15-1 before breezing past the host team South Sioux in the finals, 15-2, 15-5.

Wayne improved to 14-3 after being crowned tournament champs and the Lady Blue Devils moved into the top ten in the Omaha World-Herald rankings in Class B in the 10th position.

Although the Blue Devils don't play the Sioux City schools in volleyball very often, it was the familiar face of Mary Schroeder pacing the Heelan sidelines that made for the premiere match of the night.

Schroeder is in her first season at Heelan, after being at Hartington Cedar Catholic for several years. "Mary is a great volleyball coach," Uhing said. "Her teams are always strong and she has already made a big impact on Heelan's program."

Deb Ward was the leading server in the Hartington match with 10 points after 12-13 attempts. Brandi Mathiason was 12-12 with nine points. Kari Kraemer led the team in setting with a 24-27 outing that included nine assists. Deb Ward had 10 sets and two assists.

Mathiason led the team in hitting with a 9-11 performance and five kill spikes while Samantha Felber notched five ace spikes as well. Betsy Adkins was 7-7 with two aces.

The Laurel "B" team won in straight games, 15-13, 15-5 and the "C" team won, 11-8, 11-7.

The news for the Bears was not all good, however, as they lost Amy Peters to knee surgery indefinitely.

Manganaro attributes the Bears success in the last couple matches to the change in the offense which took place last Friday before the Wayne tournament.

"We switched from a 5-1 to an I-4-2," Manganaro said. "Our team's confidence seems to be improving because our offense is the same one the girls ran when they played on the reserve team."

The Laurel coach said she used the Wayne tournament as kind of an experiment for the newly implemented offense. "We practiced with the I-4-2 for two hours on Friday and then used it all day Saturday," Manganaro said. "I think that tournament really built some confidence for our girls."

Manganaro said the Bears serving percentage went from 81 percent in their first match Saturday to 92 in the last match. The Bears will travel to play Pierce on Tuesday.

Uhing said in the first game her squad did a nice job of getting out and getting a good lead right away. "We got up 8-2 and played well," Uhing said. "In the second game we made a lot of unforced errors."

Liz Reeg came out and served eight straight points to start the third game and Wayne never looked back en route to an easy 15-1 win. "There was a lot of good defensive play on both sides of the net," Uhing said. "We had a lot of digs and Heelan picked up a lot of our spike attempts as well."

Reeg led Wayne with 18 points and five serve aces while Jenny Thompson had eight points and two aces. Danielle Nelson netted 19 set assists.

Erin Pick led the hitters with eight ace spikes while Kristine Swanson had seven. Pick was also the leading blocker with three aces while Jenny Thompson was the leading passer at 88 percent. Reeg led the defense with nine digs while Pick and Thompson had seven each.

In the championship game Wayne played a great match according to Uhing. "We have a very balanced team and everyone played well," Uhing said. "We got off to a 10-0 start in the first game and we never let anyone serve more than two points at a time against us."

Reeg was the leading scorer once again with 12 points and four aces while Nelson led the team in setting with nine assists. Angie Thompson played very well according to Uhing, and led Wayne in hitting with five kill spikes while Pick had three.

"Angie played very aggressive," Uhing said. "She played her best match of the season." Swanson and Pick led Wayne's defense with four and three digs each while Thompson had two ace blocks. Carrie Fink was the leading passer.

Following the tournament there was a six-person all-tournament team selected by the officials only and Wayne put four people on that team including Liz Reeg, Erin Pick, Danielle Nelson and Kristine Swanson.

Reserves place third

On Monday night in South

Sioux, the Wayne reserves placed third in the same tournament. Wayne lost to Sioux City Heelan in the first round, 11-15, 15-9, 7-15. Wendy Beiermann and Angie Hudson led the squad with 11 points each.

In the consolation match Wayne defeated Sioux City West, 15-6, 15-9. Beiermann scored 12 points and had seven aces to lead the Blue Devils.

"I thought the girls played well in both games," coach Dale Hochstein said. "We took ourselves out of our offense several times after timeouts with serving errors, but on the night we served very well."

Hochstein said Wayne scored 31 points in the two matches combined on service aces alone. "As coaches we were really pleased with the balance we showed," Hochstein said. "The team realized that when we passed well, our setters would get them the ball and we could run our offense. If we stay focused on our side of the court and play fundamentally sound, we are very competitive."

Spencer Bayless ran to a time of 21:06. Chad Stalling also competed for the Blue Devils.

The NAC Conference Cross Country meet scheduled in Wayne for Thursday afternoon, was postponed due to wet conditions. At press time it was not official as to when the meet would take place.

The 11-2 Eagles, ranked fourth in the Omaha World-Herald in Class D-1, played well enough but just weren't mentally into the match. "We were down in the first game and came back and won convincingly," Kuester said, "but we just had some missed serves at the wrong time and Bancroft has a couple of good hitters and they took advantage."

Steph Martinson scored 13 points to lead the Eagles while Steph Chase scored 10. Christy Philbrick had 12 set assists and Dawn Diediker had eight. Martinson was the leading hitter with 13 kill spikes while Heather Sachau had six and Philbrick, five. Martinson had five blocks.

Winside vaults to 11-0

WINSIDE-The Winside volleyball team remained undefeated on the season after 11 matches, with a straight games victory in Wynot, Thursday night, 15-11, 15-10.

Despite the perfect record, coach Angie Schroeder says her team is in a slump right now. "We are just not playing well right now," Schroeder said. "We are playing just well enough to win but that's all."

The Wildcats serving was below average at 81 percent and serve receive was well below what Schroeder would like to see. Kari Pichler was the top server with a 9-10 outing that included six aces and six points while Stacy Bowers was 11-13 with nine points.

Catherine Bussey was 10-12 with three aces and six points and Christi Mundil was 8-9 with three aces and five points. Chris Colwell went 5-7 with two aces and three points.

'Cats seeking to get back on winning track

The Wayne State football team continue their five-game homestand with the "Incredible Edible Egg Bowl" contest against the College of St. Francis. The visiting Saints compete as independent NAIA Division I members and will come into Saturday's game as the 17th ranked team. Kickoff is slated for 5:45 p.m. This will be the first ever meeting between the two schools.

Last Saturday St. Francis downed Iowa Wesleyan—a future WSC opponent, 41-25. The Saints rushed for 401 yards and held Iowa Wesleyan to -52 rushing yards.

Mike Nunziato rushed for 137 yards and three touchdowns and Try-one Issac added 121 yards rushing. Linebacker Matt Woods was named NAIA National Defensive Player of the Week for his 12-tackle performance against Wesleyan. Woods had six quarterback sacks and 10 solo stops.

The Wildcats meanwhile, lost a 7-2 defensive struggle at home against Nebraska-Kearney. Seven turnovers repeatedly stalled WSC drives in a contest which saw the 'Cats outgain the Lopers 364-209.

"It was a great defensive effort," Wayne State coach Dennis Wagner said. "Our guys played hard but gave up a couple big plays. Offensively, it was a lack of consistency. We were on the one-inch line and had two shots at getting it in but failed to do so."

Wagner said it isn't just one guy on the offensive team but the whole team that's been inconsistent. "We just make too many mental mistakes," Wagner said. "I feel like we outplayed Kearney, and we were the better team, but that doesn't matter. I'd gladly trade the statistics for a win."

Wagner says St. Francis is one of the best teams his squad will face this season. "Offensively, they pound it at you and try to lull you to sleep," Wagner said. "They run out of a Wing-T, and have some offensive linemen who have played Division I football."

Defensively, they are the most dynamic defense we'll see. They blitz every down, and don't play any zone coverage. They take a lot of chances. They either shut people out, or give up a lot of points. They are not a big defense, but they are very quick. It should be a very exciting game," Wagner added.

WSC still has three individuals ranked nationally among this week's NCAA Division II statistical leaders. Junior wide receiver Damon Thomas ranks third nationally with 8.4 receptions per game, and is 22nd in receiving yards per game at 87.6.

Troy Mott ranks eighth in total offense with 263.4 yards per game. Sophomore defensive back Sean Francisco ranks 20th in punt returns at 12.5 per attempt.

As a team the Wildcats rank 17th in total offense with 411.8 yards per game and 13th in passing offense at 262.8. Defensively, the 'Cats are seventh against the rush at 59.0 yards per game and tied for 15th in scoring defense at 13.0 per game. WSC ranks 19th in total defense, allowing just 247.6 yards per game.

Last week's players of the game as selected by the coaches include Bill Federson and Sean Francisco. There was no offensive player nominated. Federson finished with nine tackles, five tackles for 16 yards in losses, one sack for a seven-yard loss and a safety. Francisco returned three punts for 52 yards including a 22-yard return.

Wayne bank president gets chance to play golf with pros

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

To play golf with a PGA professional champion is something many avid golfers can only dream of, but for Farmers and Merchants State Bank president Tim Keller, it's a dream that came true just a couple short weeks ago.

Ted Waitt, president of Gateway 2000 in Sioux City, Iowa came up with an idea to raise money for the Boys and Girls Home of Sioux City by having a golf tournament with four professional players and 16 amateurs to be selected by companies which donated at least 1000 to the cause of the tournament.

The 16 amateurs who were selected included Keller of Wayne, who was chosen when the Boyle Corporation was given a spot in the field of amateurs. The tournament format was played at Dakota Dunes, S.D. on the course Arnold Palmer designed, which also hosted the Ben Hogan Tour.

Keller, through his involvement with the Boyle Corporation on the financing of the new nursing home which is coming to Wayne, was a unanimous selection by the Boyle Corporation Board of Directors who donated the money through its Wendy's Restaurant Company they own in Sioux City.

"I was told by the Boyle Corporation that I could get some tickets to go see the professional golfers play in the Gateway 2000 Classic which ran at $25 each for VIP tickets and $10 each for general admission," Keller said. "I was really surprised when the Boyle Corporation called me back and asked me if I'd be interested in playing in the tournament."

Keller said the Boyle Corporation appreciated Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Wayne's efforts to allow them to secure a loan to build the new nursing home and this was their way of showing their appreciation.

"We were able to secure a loan for them which will help the future economic development of Wayne," Keller said. "They wanted to keep the business local and we were able to provide that service for them."

On the eve of the golf outing which consisted of four, four-man scramble teams which would each play 18-holes with one of four golf pros, John Daly, Jay Don Blake, Dr. Gil Morgan and David Peoples, Keller went to a drawing party hosted by Stan Boyle in Sioux City.

"The purpose of the drawing party was for each of the 16 amateur players to draw out of a hat, the name of the pro they would be assigned to play with and I drew John Daly," Keller said. "I felt that he would be the main attraction of the event and I was thrilled when I drew his name."

Keller said VIP tickets were given to his two sons, Clinton and Kurtis as well as his wife Rita, compliments of the Boyle Corporation. The professional player that was assigned to each four-man scramble team played his own ball during the 18-hole tournament format and once in a while the scramblers could use the professional golfers drive if they so desired.

Monday, September 21st began with a breakfast get together for the players and the 16 amateurs. "I was real impressed when I met Daly for the first time," Keller said. "He's not as big as I pictured him to be, but he's a very nice guy who's relaxed and down to earth."

Keller felt Daly's directness when asked questions was an asset to him. "Some consider John Daly to be outspoken but the bottom line is he gets right to the point," Keller said. "While we were playing he conversed with our scramble foursome and he was really good to the kids."

Daly was definitely the main attraction as he drew the biggest gallery. "Everybody wanted a piece of him," Keller said. "I thought he did a great job of keeping everything in perspective. He signed autographs, threw out balls to the kids after he made putts and was just a joy to be around."

Keller said Daly's attitude was perfect for the function. "We have to remember why we're here," Daly said in an interview session upon completion of the tournament. "We are playing golf for those who are a little less fortunate than we are."

Keller estimated that the gallery following Daly was in excess of 2000 people. "I wasn't nervous until they announced my name on the tee-box," Keller said. "They did that on the first and 10th holes.

FARMERS & MERCHANTS State Bank President Tim Keller, holds a plaque with a picture of him and PGA golf pro John Daly, Jay Don Blake, David Peoples and Dr. Gil Morgan. He also holds an autographed ball from the pros. Keller played in the Gateway 2000 golf benefit for the Boys and Girls Home of Sioux City.

There were so many people watching Daly that they were lined up down both sides of the fairway which meant us amateurs had to hit straight or we might hurt somebody."

The crowd was very hospitable to everyone according to Keller. "They would clap when one of the amateurs would hit a good shot," Keller said. "That really meant a lot. It was so much fun playing that day that I didn't ever want it to end. For four hours I felt like I was in a dream world."

Daly, of course is known for his big power drives but Keller says his short game isn't all that bad either. On the 17th hole at Dakota Dunes Daly took out his driver and attempted to hit the ball over the Missouri River.

"It's about 400 yards in the air from bank to bank," Keller said. "On Daly's first drive he landed it about 20-yards short. His second drive he nearly made it to the other side. It was estimated he hit the ball about 385 yards in the air."

Daly also gave exhibitions while practicing before the tournament. "He used his putter to hit golf balls and he was hitting them 200-plus yards," Keller said. "He would hit a draw then a slice, then a straight one. He would even hit one high or low depending on what he said."

Following the tournament there was a reception for all VIP ticket holders and the players. "It was a total first class set-up," Keller said. "Having Daly at such a function took a lot of work. He was there because of Arnold Palmer who had Daly flown to the tournament in his private jet."

Upon completion of the fund raising tournament, Daly was flown to New York for the B.C. Open which he won handily just six days after being at Dakota Dunes.

"It was the Palmer Corporation's gift to the Boys and Girls Club of Sioux City to arrange for Daly to be at Dakota Dunes," Keller said.

Despite playing with Daly for four hours, Keller said his family did get introduced to the other three professional players. "I was very impressed with all four of the pro players," Keller said. "They were very friendly and open."

"It was a once in a lifetime opportunity and thrill to have the chance to play in such an event with big name stars and it's something that I surely will never forget," Keller said.

Former Wayne standout wins

Former Wayne-High golf standout Holly Paige, recently won the NIAC (Nebraska-Iowa Athletic Conference) conference golf title at Mahoney Park in Lincoln.

Paige, who competes for NAIA Hastings College, carded an 87 to top the field of players representing Northwestern, Midland Lutheran, Nebraska Wesleyan, Concordia and Doane. Dana is also a member of the NIAC but do not field a women's golf team.

Hastings won the team title with a 384. It was nearly four years ago on the same golf course when Paige was crowned state golf champion for Class B high schools. She led Wayne to the state championship after firing an 18-hole score of 84.

Wayne wins seventh straight

WAYNE-The Wayne volleyball team improved to 15-3 with a 15-9, 15-11 victory in O'Neill, Thursday night. The victory marked the seventh straight win for the Blue Devils.

"It was a full house in O'Neill," Wayne coach Marlene Uhing said. "They made a lot of noise and O'Neill played a good match. I was real proud of the way our team handled the atmosphere and kept their composure."

Uhing said the Blue Devils were up 14-11 in the second game but the match went 11 sideouts before Wayne closed the Eagles out in straight games.

"Angie Thompson and Carrie Fink used up their substitutions for the game so we went with Wendy Beiermann," Uhing said. "She stepped in and hit her serve just over the net and it landed for an ace. It caught O'Neill off guard because we were serving deep pretty much the whole match."

Liz Reeg led Wayne in scoring with nine points while Danielle Nelson had 15 set assists. Nelson, Fink, Jenny Thompson, Erin Pick and Kristine Swanson all played good defense as each managed four digs while Reeg was the top passer at 87 percent.

Swanson led a well-balanced hitting attack with seven kill spikes while Pick, Reeg and Thompson had five aces each. Thompson and Pick each had four blocks to lead the team.

"I thought Jenny Thompson and Erin really played a good defensive game," Uhing said. "I also felt Jenny Thomsen came off the bench and provided a crucial spike for us."

The Wayne "B" team fell to O'Neill, 15-11, 14-16, 8-15. Amy Ehrhardt led Wayne with seven points. The "C" team won, 15-11, 15-12 as Amy Post and Mandi Higbee led the way with eight and seven points respectively. Wayne will travel to play Cedar Catholic next Thursday.

Game room added to list of features at Winside Stop Inn

By Dianne Jaeger
Winside correspondent

"We serve off the regular menu, but will also have something lighter for them. The coach doesn't want them eating a lot of heavy, greasy food before they play."

The Winside Stop Inn has added another feature to its restaurant and party room.

A game room recently opened which houses a pool table with a counter and lounge area for Winside area youth.

"It's a place for the kids to come after school, relax, socialize and eat before they go to their football or volleyball games," said owner Daisy Janke.

THE RESTAURANT and game room is open from 6 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, except on game nights when it will remain open until the busses leave or the game starts.

They also feature tacos on Wednesday evenings from 5 to 8 p.m., and serve fish and chicken every other Friday from noon to 8 p.m.

Beginning Oct. 15, members of the Trinity Lutheran Church youth group will be opening up the restaurant and game room after each home game for the youth to come and eat and relax.

In addition to the pool table, there are two video games and one pinball machine in the restaurant. The party room is available for special functions or to serve larger group meals.

THE BELL IS RUNG

... and SONGS are SUNG

Most people think a church is a building. It is, of course, we know that. But, it's also a lot more.

A church means people. People who believe. In God and in Jesus, God's only child.

Churches help people who want to become better. Who work to become best. Locate the building. You'll find good people—like yourself.

OCTOBER 26 DEADLINE

October 26 is the deadline for residents to contribute to Carol Nixon's Disaster Relief effort for victims of Hurricane Andrew. Carol has collected mostly household and paper products so far and is in the process of organizing the donated items into packets to be presented to the victims.

If you would like to contribute, items may be left at any of the Wakefield churches or at The Fair Store. Cash donations may also be left at the Wakefield National Bank where a Hurricane Andrew Relief Fund has been set up.

A reminder, only canned goods can be accepted, nothing in boxes or other types of packaging. Also needed are concentrated beverages in cans, household and personal items such as detergents, dish and hand soap, shampoo, deodorant, band aids, paper products such as towels, tissues, etc. Also new or good used towels and washcloths, sheets, pillow cases and blankets or sleeping bags.

Also things are needed for children like books, crayons, pencils, paper, scissors, toys, baby bottles and diapers.

These items should reach the victims shortly before Christmas.

RECYCLING

Representatives for the City of Wakefield, Patty Wurdeman and Peggy Gustafson, held an informal meeting on Sept. 29 to report on the workshop they attended at Northeast Tech in Norfolk on recycling.

Scott Jackson from Winside also attended the workshop and has offered to help in our community recycling efforts.

A small group of interested people who attended were Val Bard, Merlin Bressler, Lowell Johnson, Sondra and Sara Mattes, and Scott Jackson.

Several possibilities for recycling were discussed. Patty explained the cooperative efforts of such communities as Pierce County, Antelope County and Neligh. She also mentioned that money may be available from various sources to help with the cost of a collection program.

The group all felt there was a definite need to start a recycling program in Wakefield.

It was decided to ask Bev Clark from Neligh and Kaye Stevens from the Nebraska State Recycling Association to come to Wakefield and give and talk to interested people.

A notice of the meeting time and place will be announced later.

ASC elections

Nomination petitions sent to area farmers

Nomination petitions have been mailed to producers in LAA No. 3 for nominating ASCS community committee election candidates. Michael Dunklau, Chair-person, Wayne County ASC Committee, encourages farmers to use this opportunity to nominate their farm neighbors as candidates in the ASC committee election.

Dunklau said the ASC committee provides the important service of administering government farm programs in the local community. The election will be conducted by mail from Nov. 27 to Dec. 7. Eligible farm voters will be provided with instructions for filling out the secret ballot and returning it to the county ASC office.

Most resident farmers are eligible to hold office as ASC committee-members. If a farmer would like competed this year. Eight members helped with bingo at the Wakefield Care Center Sept. 25.

Board will meet at Kearney

The 18-member state-wide Home-Based Business Advisory Board will meet from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Oct. 19 in the Cottonwood Room in the Student Center at the University of Nebraska at Kearney.

The board was appointed by Gov. Ben Nelson to strengthen Nebraska's future through creating a network of entrepreneurs and self-employed professionals.

Carlos Frey of Wayne, a member of the HBBA Board, said 3,040 home-based businesses are listed with the state, but the number of actual entrepreneurs is more than that.

Idling in the sun

A COMBINATION OF warm weather earlier in the week and a cozy pickup truck provided this driver a perfect setting for an afternoon nap. While the sunshine went undercover towards the middle of the week, forecasters are predicting warmer, drier weather throughout the next several days. At the end of September, the Wayne area was more than six inches above average in annual rainfall.

He cited recent studies in Oklahoma which identified more than 17,000 home-based businesses, including agriculture related endeavors. Those figures, he said, paralleled home-based businesses identified in a recent survey in Missouri.

Both studies noted that many of the small entrepreneurs were supplementing farm income with their businesses, one of the many issues the Nebraska board members will discuss.

Frey said he and the other board members are responsible for creating a working structure for the state-wide association, as well as planning the first state-wide conference of home-based business persons. Other tasks are development of a newsletter and the formation of both regional chapters and local network groups.

Of the 235 individuals surveyed, all responded positively toward the formation of regional chapters and the state association. He expects that number to grow as "word gets around about who we are and how we can help overcome some of the rather larger hurdles small businesses must face to make a go of it."

Adult ed program seeking volunteers

The Adult Basic Education program at Northeast Community College is seeking volunteers and recruiting students for its activities in communities throughout Northeast Nebraska.

The ABE program, which is free to persons 16 years and older who are not enrolled in school, provides preparation for the Nebraska High School Diploma and/or instruction in basic skills in reading, writing, speaking, math, citizenship, job preparatory, and consumer education. Students may begin classes at any time and progress at their own rate.

Volunteers are needed for tutoring students in basic academic skill areas, and they usually prepare them to take the examinations which can lead to a high school diploma. They may also assist students in studying for drivers license exams and filling out job applications.

Volunteers can also teach foreign born students English and help them prepare for citizenship. Other volunteer activities include office and clerical work, and the transportation of students.

Northeast's adult education programs are available for upgrading job skills, training for new careers, development of recreational and cultural interests, and earning college credit for persons in the 20-county area. The program is conducted with assistance from local high schools, hospitals, nursing homes, libraries, senior citizen centers, civic organizations, business, industries, and churches, and college credit for persons in the 20-county area.

For more information on becoming a volunteer or a student in the Wayne area, contact Martha Svoboda, 375-1258.

Lower Elkhorn NRD Board Meeting

The Lower Elkhorn Board of Directors held its monthly meeting at Cumming County Court House in West Point on Thursday evening.

The board voted to provide approximately $28,000 in cost-share assistance to properly seal 235 abandoned wells within the district. According to assistant manager, Ken Berney the abandoned wells were identified through a recent well-sealing campaign conducted by the district. He reported that the 235 domestic and irrigation wells will be sealed this fall by four approved contractors.

The Lower Elkhorn board of directors recognizes that abandoned wells could serve as a serious threat to groundwater. The district well sealing program will be conducted each year and interested individuals may apply each summer for fall well sealing.

In other business, the board voted to provide cost-share assistance with the Village of Howells to complete the feasibility study for the Howells Levee. According to assistant manager, Richard Seymour the corps of engineers is studying the possibility of constructing a levee which will protect the village of Howells from the dangerous results of a major flood.

The board also voted to prohibit camping at the Lower Elkhorn Wayside Area located at the north end of Norfolk on Highway 81. The board consensus was that campers have many other options in the area with Lower Elkhorn NRD camping sites such as Maskenthine Lake and Willow Creek Reservoir, as well as the Norfolk city park and other private camping sites.

Staff and board members reported on the Nebraska Association of Resources districts annual conference recognizing the 20th anniversary of Nebraska's Natural Resources Districts. In 1972, Natural Resources Districts replaced 154 local governmental agencies, including Soil and Water Conservation Districts and Watershed Districts. At the annual conference, board member Clinton Von Seggern of rural Scribner received the NRD Outstanding Director Award.

The next Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources board meeting will be Thursday, Oct. 22 at the district office in Norfolk.
