117TH YEAR — NO. 5

7th Street widening is in plans

Preliminary plans are still being studied for the widening of Highway 35 (7th Street) through Wayne but the school board heard Tuesday that the plans will likely mean the elimination of the parking lot in front of the high school.

The project is still about 4 years away from construction, estimated Wayne City Administrator Joe Salitros, but the state is in the final stages of study prior to drafting the plans.

The study indicates the plans will widen the route through town and add a center turning lane.

In addition, said Salitros, the preliminary draft calls for lowering the hill near the high school and raising the level east of the high school to provide better line of sight.

The City of Wayne is providing 25 percent of the cost of the engineering study. Salitros said the completion of the study and the draft of the plans may move the project closer to construction than originally scheduled.

He said the plans as now envisioned will create a safer and better access through town for Highway 35 and local traffic but some trees along the route will have to be sacrificed and a retaining wall and new entrance to the cemetery will have to be included in the plans.

A positive counter to loss of the front parking lot at the high school will be the addition of a second entrance to the west for the school lot.

Salitros said the new route

AMICABLE CANDIDATES showed their knowledge and opinions in the District 17 legislative forum in Wayne Thursday night. The legislative candidates are incumbent Sen. Jerry Conway of Wayne and challenger Curt Hohenstein of Homer.

Forum finds few disputes

By Les Mann
Herald Publisher

There were only a few issues where 17th District legislative candidates Sen. Jerry Conway and challenger Curt Hohenstein disagreed during a live radio forum Thursday night at Wayne State College.

Conway and Hohenstein found many areas of agreement during the 90-minute discussion, including the unreasonableness of a couple of cent Nebraska Supreme Court decisions involving personal property taxes and whether or not a college professor can teach and serve in the legislature at the same time.

They agreed on the need for Nebraska to develop long term Medicaid and health care funding revisions and to develop an equitable tax structure; they agreed the state is about to get a lottery and that the legislature needs to be prepared to deal with the ills that gambling entails; they agreed they both should have been endorsed by the National Rifle Association rather than just Hohenstein, and they agreed Wayne State College is an important part of the entire Northeast Nebraska region and needs good representation in the legislature.

THEY BASICALLY disagreed on who would best provide that good representation.

Both candidates claimed a strong understanding and involvement throughout the district and discounted any parochial differences between their campaigns from hometowns in the population bases on opposite ends of the district.

Citing his background in Wayne and his work history and property ownership in Dakota County, Conway said, "I view this whole district as my backyard in total." He said he considers himself a hometown boy in either end of the district.

Bus decisions delayed by school board

By Les Mann
Herald Publisher

Wayne-Carroll school district board is not going to rush into any decisions about changes in busing for students in the Wayne area.

A dozen parents attended Tuesday night's board meeting to listen to discussion concerning busing and to urge the board to offer busing service to students from the Providence Medical Center neighborhood. But, no decisions will be made until December.

Only about 160 students out of the 960 in the district currently ride a bus to school and the board policy says a student must live over 2 miles from the schools before busing will be offered. However, in recent years buses coming into Wayne from the east have made it a practice of stopping to pick up in-town students from Sunnyview Addition and from the Pamida area.

Parents from the Providence area complained that their students live 1.8 miles from the school and have no sidewalks. Ray Novak, a parent who said he is in the trucking business, suggested another bus route could be added for around $7,000 a year.

State Champ!

Foreign exchange student Dan Burget, won the Nebraska State Tennis Tournament in Class B, Friday afternoon in Lincoln.

Burget defeated two-time defending state champion Brian Kelly of Omaha Gross, 6-0, 6-2 in the finals. Burget is a Brno Czechoslovakia native and is spending a year in Wayne with the Jay Liska family. A feature on Burget will appear in the Tuesday edition of the Wayne Herald.

Linda Raveling said the schools have funds for sports activities so they should also have funds for getting students to school.

Even though he had prepared a recommendation for the board to eliminate busing of all in-town students, Superintendent Dr. Dennis Jensen rescinded that recommendation after the parents made their plea. He said he sympathizes with the parents' concerns.

In a related issue the board heard a proposal from a private busing company which will be bidding on providing services to the district.

The company said it could handle requests like those made by the parents simply by bringing bigger school buses to Wayne and picking up in-town kids on the way.

The board will be discussing proposals from several busing companies at its December meeting. Jensen said he remains a strong proponent of leased busing services since the district can save thousands of dollars over the cost of owning its own buses.

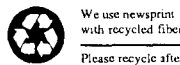

At the December meeting the in-town busing issue will also be discussed further.

One busing decision the board did make Tuesday was to rescind an earlier announced charge of $284 per student for all non-resident or open enrollment students.

Jensen said he has since discovered that other districts in the area are not charging the formula the state department of education had told him must be charged for busing non-resident students.

Thus, the parents of affected students will be notified that any busing charges will not be implemented until Feb. 1. "The muddy water will be a little clearer by then," said Jensen.

Local observers enjoy prexy debates

By Kathy Stalling-Berry
Herald staff writer

Wayne area residents interviewed in a thumb-nail survey following Thursday night's presidential debates said they liked the information coming out of the televised presidential debates though most couldn't name a clear winner.

The informal format of the questions and the loose structure were plusses cited by the residents interviewed by the Wayne Herald Friday morning.

Thursday's debate produced no clear winner according to both the national political commentators and Wayne's own informal group of "experts" interviewed on the street and in the coffee shops.

WAYNE businessman Cap Peterson said he thought the format of Thursday's debate was better for Bill Clinton since he seems more at ease in an informal setting.

"Clinton didn't hurt himself in the polls and will probably hold all the way through," said Peterson. He added Perot's performance was on the "folksie" side but he is concerned that the independent hasn't said specifically what he is going to do if elected.

Bush appeared uncomfortable, according to Peterson who said he is concerned that the president may not be in tune with what the public wants.

DEAN HOEBING of Norfolk, who works with the power company, said he appreciated the fact that none of the candidates were fighting or throwing mud during the campaign.

He said he thought the debates have been pretty even and he liked the fact that ordinary people were asking questions rather than reporters.

Though there were no clear winners in Hoebing's eyes, he said he thought Perot was "so down to earth that he is bringing the other candidates down to his level and taking the political end out of the campaign."

LYSLE PARK, a Wayne retiree, agreed with Hoebing that reporters asking questions was not as good as ordinary people.

"They asked the questions I wanted to know," he said. "It entertaining," he added. "Better than soaps." Park also said he thought the debate was even and that all the candidates had an opportunity to shine.

Ron Lage also of Wayne, liked the performance of Ross Perot in the debate. "He's quick. He said some good points." Lage said he liked Perot's position on the national debt and crime. "More could have been done in the past," he added. Vona Sharer of Wayne, who is also retired, said it was important to hear the people "from the heart of America" asking the questions. "We need to know how they feel about what is going on."

"I liked the idea that no one was mud-slinging throughout," she said.

Crop yield stays high

The Wayne County ASCS office reports approximately 60 percent of the soybean crop has been harvested in Wayne County as of Friday.

Yield reports remain high in the 25 to 50 bushel range, normal good year yield is about 25 bushels.

Moisture content is still high on corn, delaying harvest further. Only about 7 percent of the corn crop is in, that being cut for silage.

Red Ribbon Week proclaimed

ference where you lay claim to, I think the bottom line is how you react to people," countered Hohenstein who said he gets along well with residents in both ends of the district.

Hohenstein emphasized the number of trips he has made to Wayne in recent months and especially cited his involvement with the Northeast Nebraska Drug Enforcement Program (NEDEP) as examples of lack of parochialism.

"IT'S NOT LIKE we're all divided. I think a lot of our interests are very, very similar. I don't see a parochial interest whatsoever," said Hohenstein.

In mild disagreement, Conway said he has seen some parochialism in the district.

"There are a lot of people who have a very parochial view" he said he has received numerous cards and letters from people in various parts of the district who have claimed he favors one area over another and is not always the same area.

"That's natural, but I think I can hold up my record and show a balanced best interest among them all," he said.

Another area of mild disagreement centered around the proposed term limits on the ballot in 14 states this November.

Conway said on a national level the states with small congressional delegations like Nebraska, who establish term limits are "cutting their own wrists when it comes to the Washington scene." He said delegations from states like Nebraska need the seniority system in Congress to help counter the power states with large delegations like California.

ON THE STATE level, Conway said it is also important to have senators with years of experience rather than "turning everything over to the bureaucrats and the lobbyists."

Hohenstein said he believes the voters will approve term limits but that a federal judge will declare them unconstitutional.

"I think people want it because they feel frustrated ... with the process," said Hohenstein. He added he personally believes eight years is enough time for an office holder to "get in and learn the system, do what you need to do and then get out and let someone else do it." He said the fears of increased power for the lobbyists and bureaucrats could be dealt with by sending good representatives to the legislature.

"I hope the voters in district 17 haven't forgotten they can use the ballot box to limit terms--especially in this election," said Hohenstein, referring to Conway's eight years in office.

CONWAY VERBALLY clobbered the budgeting decisions of the Wayne County Commissioners calling it "poor management and irresponsible" to spend the county reserves for several years in an effort to give the property tax payers a break.

Now with the spending lid in place, he said, the county and other counties in the state are facing serious problems because they cannot raise taxes they need to operate.

He said he is very open to changing the lid structure and allowing local voters to hold the local boards and commissioners accountable for how much is spent.

"Let's not unlid everything yet," countered Hohenstein. He said rather than calling local commissioners irresponsible, he would prefer to call them "too responsible" in that they tried to hold taxes down and then got caught in a budget squeeze when the state began changing taxing policies.

"NOBODY IN county government knows from year to year what they're going to have to work with," complained Hohenstein. He said once the state gets its budget problems straightened out it needs to establish long term policies to allow local governments to plan ahead.

Citing their personal backgrounds, Hohenstein, a farmboy from Homer, grew up to be a phi beta kappa lawyer and has been county attorney in Dakota County for seven years. Conway, a former business professor at Wayne State College has been in the Senate for eight years. He went into private consulting work after the state supreme court said he could not hold office and work as a college professor at the same time. He also cited a northeast Nebraska farm background and continuing interests in farming.

The legislative forum, sponsored by radio station KTCH in Wayne, allowed the candidates to field questions and discuss issues for over 90 minutes. An hour of the amicable discussion was carried live on the radio.

Food program presented

Lincoln Family Services Child Care Food Program will present a Nutrition Inservice entitled: "The Bib 4, Facts and Fun" on Tuesday, Oct. 20 in Wayne. This inservice is scheduled to run from 7-8:30 p.m. and will be held at the Wayne High School Home Ec Room.

children and families, and will also have the opportunity to interact with other providers to encourage professional growth.

All area child care providers, as well as pre-school staff, day care center staff, and parents, are encouraged to attend. This inservice will meet the nutrition inservice requirement for Family Service Child Care Food Program participants, and has been approved by the Department of Social Services for 1.5 hours of inservice credit. To pre-register, please call Vicki Meyer at (402) 375-3631, at least two days prior to date of meeting.

vice hours were also discussed, and it was announced that the Friends of Scouting campaign is coming up soon.

Cable work continues

It will be June of next year before Jones Intercable is finished with a complete rebuild of the cable system in Wayne, according to Andrew Gordon, executive with the company who met with Wayne City Council Tuesday night.

Gordon said more than five miles of new cable still needs to be installed before the entire city will enjoy the same quality of reception that the areas where new cable has already been installed are enjoying.

Members of the council said this results in complaints from residents who have not yet received the upgraded quality of service.

Complaints were also voiced about the loss of certain programming on Channel 12, especially on Sunday morning. Gordon said an antennae had blown down in a storm and a new one is on order to bring the service back in line.

"In the meantime can you reduce our costs," asked Pat Gross, a member of the audience.

Gordon promised the antennae would be up in December.

Gordon also explained the cable company has not yet found anyone qualified as a local manager who would be willing to move to Wayne. He said the service calls and hookups in Wayne are being handled by company personnel from neighboring communities.

The cable executive also suggested the city begin considering its options under the new federal cable bill.

"It is going to change how we do business," he said. "In effect it puts the city back in the cable business."

Funds cut for road work

Hampered by deficit reduction budget caps and in competition with other discretionary spending programs overall funding for Transportation for fiscal year 1993 fell by about $1.2 billion from fiscal year 1992 nationally.

Despite hopes for full funding under the 1991 Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA), spending authorization has been reduced at the federal level by a Congressional bill and signed by President Bush.

When the ISTEA was signed in December of 1991, Nebraska had anticipated receiving $147 million in federal-aid highway funds for road construction in FY-93. In anticipation of this funding level, Nebraska published a 1993 Highway Construction & Improvement Program of $279 million, the largest in the Department's history.

However, as a result of Congressional appropriated levels for 1993, the national federal highway funding level dropped from about $18 billion to $15.3 billion. Consequently, Nebraska's share of anticipated federal funding for 1993 dropped from $147 million to $115.5 million, a reduction of about $31 million.

As a result of lowered federal funding levels, Nebraska's highway program will receive about $84 million and the local governments, $31 million in 1993. If Nebraska had received $147 million, the state would have received $108 million and the local governments would have received $39 million. Therefore, the state is taking a reduction of about $24 million and the local governments share is reduced by about $7 million.

Reduced federal funds for FY-93 could result in the delay of letting state projects, as well as local projects. Delays result in slowing down the accomplishment of highway construction programs and in the long run, lead to increased costs in the future as a result of inflationary factors.

"We are very concerned about the ability to continue with our program for FY '93," said Roads Director Allan Abbott. "We are doing everything we can to keep the projects on schedule. This federal funding reduction has serious implications and we are ever more dependent on our State Highway funds to help us meet our statewide needs," Abbott added.

Abbott cautioned that Nebraska's Highway Program is only possible through the continued support of Nebraska's citizens and the vigilance necessary to make certain that funds generated for highway improvements not be used for purposes other than those for which they are collected.

Plans

widening plans, when completed, will be available for public review at a public hearing perhaps as early as November.

It was not clear how recent federal cuts in highway aid, announced this week, might affect the state construction plans for projects like the one in Wayne.

New ESU building ready to move into

By LaVon Anderson
News Editor

After months of discussion, planning, decision making and details, the new Educational Service Unit One (ESU 1) facility in Wayne is ready for occupancy.

ESU 1 board members met Tuesday night in Wakefield and gave their formal approval to name the new facility ESU 1 Tower School.

The building, located just west of the Wayne America Water Tower, will house the unit's two Wayne programs — the Wayne Children's Development Center, a program for severe and profound youngsters; and the Wayne Learning Center, a program for behaviorally disordered children.

ESU 1 Administrator Rod Garwood invited board members Tuesday night to attend a final walk-through of the new facility with the architect and contractor on Oct. 15.

Moving is set to begin Sunday, Oct. 18, and Garwood said persons wishing to assist in moving the two programs to the new site are asked to meet at the ESU 1 central office in Wakefield at 1 p.m.

The first student day is expected to be Monday, Oct. 26, and Garwood said formal dedication of the new facility and an open house will be scheduled later.

BOARD members Tuesday night also approved an insurance package for the new facility.

In addition, they approved a resolution dealing with the sale of the building in Wayne which currently houses the Wayne Learning Center. Final closing is expected later this month.

In other action, the board approved an agreement with the ESU 1 Education Association regarding disbursement of LB 33 funds. Funds, which this year total $10,786 for ESU 1, come from the state and act as a salary enhancement for teachers.

Garwood pointed out that last year's funds were divided equally between ESU 1 employees, including nurses. This year's agreement, as voted on by ESU 1 employees, states that only nurses who generated funds would be eligible for disbursement.

The board also authorized Administrator Garwood to apply for ESU 1 accreditation approval. Garwood pointed out that ESU 1 must apply each year for the accredited status.

BEFORE adjourning, board members Ron Wenstrand and Marvin Borg volunteered to serve on a legislative relations network being formed by the Nebraska Association of School Boards.

John Post will again serve as the ESU 1 representative to the Nebraska Educational Service Unit Boards Association.

The board accepted the resignation of Desiree Salmon as a teacher assistant at the Wayne Learning Center and hired Lizz Ekberg of Wakefield as her replacement.

Board members also amended the contract of Deb Tensen to full time in the BD program in South Sioux City.

Experts

but added, "I didn't make up my mind one bit."

LORI ECKHOFF, a Wayne State College student, said she thought the candidates got more to the point in last night's debate, "rather than slamming or putting each other down." She said she thought this was because members of the audience were asking the questions and not reporters.

She said she thought Bush or Clinton did the best and one would be the eventual winner because they are major candidates. "Perot still stands in the background," she added.

Police conference

Three Wayne residents attended the 41st annual Police Officer's Association of Nebraska convention Oct. 11-13 in Grand Island. They were Chief Vern Fairchild and Sgt. Robert McLean of the Wayne Police Department and Sheriff LeRoy Janssen of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

More than 100 people attended the event, which was sponsored by Central Community College-Grand Island Campus. Participants attended sessions on bomb disposal, community-orientated policing, computer fundamentals, counterfeit bills and credit cards, court update and officer survival.

Youngsters sail through books

WAYNE MIDDLE SCHOOL Librarian Fauneil Bennett is ecstatic with the success of a recent campaign in the middle school which encouraged children to "sail" through a good book. The campaign, which ran Sept. 12 through Oct. 12, was based on the fact that Columbus sailed to the New World 500 years ago. In recognition of that event, Mrs. Bennett's goal was to have middle school youngsters read a combined total of at least 500 books during the month long period. The librarian-said she was amazed at how many kids participated and of the fact that the children sailed through a total of 771 books. All of the children were treated to a free bag of popcorn, compliments of Fredrickson Oil Co. Pictured with their free popcorn are sixth graders, front row from left, Kirby Roberts, Trisha Hansen and Amy Hall; back row from left, David Lindner, Josh Murtaugh, Craig Rahn, Bryan Guillian and Brian Preston. "I'm really proud of them all," said Mrs. Bennett, adding that the campaign was so popular the kids want to do it again.

A RECENT TOUR of Yankton, sponsored by the Dixon County Home Extension Council, concluded with a cruise of the Missouri River on the Far West Riverboat.

Tour culminates with historical river cruise

A nice Fall Day on Sept. 23, provided the back-drop for 43 Northeast Nebraskans to absorb the history, architecture, technology and natural resources of the Missouri River community of Yankton.

The tour was sponsored by the Dixon County Home Extension Council. Chair-person, Muriel Kardell of Twilight Line Home Extension Club, Dixon, planned and organized the trip. Helping in the planning were Adel Bohlen, Friendly Neighbors Club, Concord and Extension Agent, Karen Wermers.

The first stop involved a tour of an 1873 era Victorian home called the "Mulberry Inn Bed and Breakfast". The high ceilings and doors and large window were used to circulate air. An original copper bathtub was one of the many highlights. The group enjoyed bars and coffee.

A tour of the Dakota Territorial Museum brought together artifacts and information from the home-steading years. The group enjoyed a brown bag lunch at the beautiful Westside park.

Following lunch, the Cramer-Kenyon Heritage Home, a Victorian home from 1886, showed off its many unchanged decorating features and furnishings. The original wallpaper is in excellent condition. Light fixtures were designed for kerosene and electricity since the community was promised electricity while the building was under construction.

Radio Station WNAX hosted the group for a tour and discussion of radio history and current equipment. The group watched D.J.'s on live radio.

The conclusion of the day was a historical cruise on the Far West Riverboat. The group enjoyed the beauty of the river and area history.

Before the departure home, a steak and buffet meal was enjoyed by everyone.

Wildcats beaten for first time this season

Allen volleyball team defeats Winside in two

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

One of the most talked about volleyball matches of the season took place in Winside, Thursday as state rated and twice beaten Allen traveled to play undefeated and second-rated Winside.

The showdown between the two squads was pointed to on the calendars in August as both teams prepared to begin the season.

The general feeling before the match took place on Thursday, was that if both teams showed up and played well it would be a great three-game match, but if one showed up and the other didn't, it would probably be over in two quick games—and it was.

The Eagles came out in game one with a lot of hustle and determination and quickly built a 4-0 lead. Before the Wildcats got through their first complete rotation they trailed 13-4 and Allen went on to post a 15-5 victory.

Allen went for every loose ball which often meant diving to the floor and running up in the bleachers. In the second game Allen came out much like they did in the first.

In fact, the visitors built an 8-0 lead before Winside attempted a comeback. Trailing 9-1, Christi Mundil served up five consecutive points for the Wildcats which closed the margin to 9-6.

Winside then earned the sideout but its next two serve attempts were into the net, Allen capitalized on the Wildcats' mistakes and built a 11-7 advantage before Stacy Bowers cut the gap to two at 11-9 with two points.

Allen went up 12-9 and Winside scored its final point to make it 12-10 before Heather Sachau scored two straight from the service line for a 14-10 advantage. Allen then closed the match out at 15-10 to earn the sweep.

"We learned that we just can't take things for granted," Winside coach Angie Schroeder said. "I spent most of the match just shaking my head. We did not play well. We were out of sync and suffered from a lack of communication."

The Wildcats served less than 75 percent and their serve receive was less than 75 percent. "I anticipated a lot better match than this," Schroeder said. "We have to be ready to play every match."

On the other bench, first-year coach Tracy Kuester was very pleased with the way her squad rose to the occasion in a big match. "This is by far the best we've played this season," Kuester said. "We were intense the whole match and we didn't lose composure."

Kuester felt every part of the Eagles game plan worked. "It was a complete team effort," Kuester said. "Steph Martinson and Heather Sachau had a good net game and Christy Philbrick and Dawn Diediker did a nice job setting the ball and Christy also did a terrific job of serving."

Allen's team hustle probably stood out more than anything and reserve player Shelly Smith was a major contributor to that as she dove for loose balls and even went into the bleachers for another.

"I was really pleased with the way we played because we really didn't have that good of practice the day before the match," Kuester said. "I told the girls then that if we continue to play like we were we would get beat."

The Eagles were led in serving by Christy Philbrick's 13-14 outing that included four aces. Heather Sachau was 11-12 with three aces and Steph Martinson was 6-7. Dawn Diediker was 8-11 with three aces.

Philbrick was 22-22 in setting with six assists and Diediker was 14-15 with six assists. Steph Chase led the hitters with five ace spikes on 7-8 attempts while Martinson was 12-14 with four aces. Marcia Hansen was 10-12 with four aces and Sachau was 8-10 with three aces.

Sachau led the defense with five blocks while Martinson had four and Philbrick, two. "The girls really appreciated all the fan support from the people who drove up from Allen," Kuester said.

Mundil was Winside's top server with four aces and six points while Stacy Bowers had four points. Catherine Bussey and Kari Pichler each had two points and Holly Holdorf had one point.

Pichler was 20-21 with seven assists in setting while Bowers was 14-17 with six assists. Holdorf was the top hitter with a 12-16 outing and eight kill spikes while Chris Colwell was 7-8 with four kills. Mundil was 7-9 with three kills and Bowers was 2-4 with two ace spikes. Bowers and Bussey each had one block.

The 11-1 Wildcats will travel to play in the Hartington Tournament on Saturday before playing Hartington on Tuesday while the 13-2 Eagles host Homer on Tuesday in Parent's Night.

ALLEN VOLLEYBALL players Steph Chase and Christy Philbrick battle for a loose ball in Winside, Thursday.

HEATHER SACHAU spikes the ball during second game action of Allen's win over second-rated Winside.

CHRISTI MUNDIL of Winside spikes the ball during second game action of Thursday's clash with the Eagles.

Wayne vaults to 16-3 with win over Cedar Catholic

Marlene Uhing's Wayne volleyball team improved to 16-3 with a straight games victory over conference foe, Hartington Cedar Catholic, Tuesday in Hartington, 15-6, 15-8.

Cedar has a new look this season as former head coach Mary Schroeder is pacing the sidelines of Sioux City Heelan now. Cedar struggled at the beginning of the season but has settled down, with only four losses on the season including Wayne.

"I thought our match was a lot closer than the score indicated," Uhing said. "We didn't play as strong a net game as we are used to but we played very well on defense and we had a good game of passing and serving."

The Blue Devils enjoyed a 94 percent success mark in serving as Liz Reeg led the way with 14 points and one ace. Reeg and Kristine Swanson were singled out by Uhing as the top passers in the game while Danielle Nelson paced the offense with 13 set assists.

Reeg and Jenny Thompson led Wayne in digs with six and five respectively, while Thompson and Erin Pick shared team honors with four kill spikes each.

Thompson also led the team in blocking with five while Pick had three. Wayne finished the match with a 90 percent passing percentage. "I felt the biggest difference in the match was our first ball offense was very good," Uhing said. "We also did a good job of not allowing any Cedar server to get a long run on us. The most we gave up to any one server was three points."

Uhing said the Cedar crowd was very vocal but her squad kept their focus and concentrated hard. "We have very good balance," Uhing said. "The girls are comfortable in their roles because they all can do everything."

Wayne's "B" team and "C" team also came away with victories in Wayne's first sweep of Cedar in recent history. The "B" team won, 8-15, 15-12, 15-12 as Angie Hudson led the way with 11 points.

The "C" team won in straight games, 15-7, 15-12 as Mandi Higbee scored nine points. Wayne will host South Sioux next Thursday in Parent's Night at Wayne High.

Maria Eaton led the hitters with eight ace spikes while Baker went 11-12 with six aces. Heidi Mueller led the team on defense with five blocks.

"We got behind in both games but came back to win," Eaton said. "We were down 10-4 in the first game. We played pretty good when we had too."

Wakefield's "C" team won 12-10, 11-1 and the "B" team won 15-5, 15-3 to give the Trojans the sweep.

On Thursday the Trojans hosted Coleridge and won, 15-12, 15-4.

The Trojans served 41-45 which according to assistant coach Arnie Cerny is the best they've served all season.

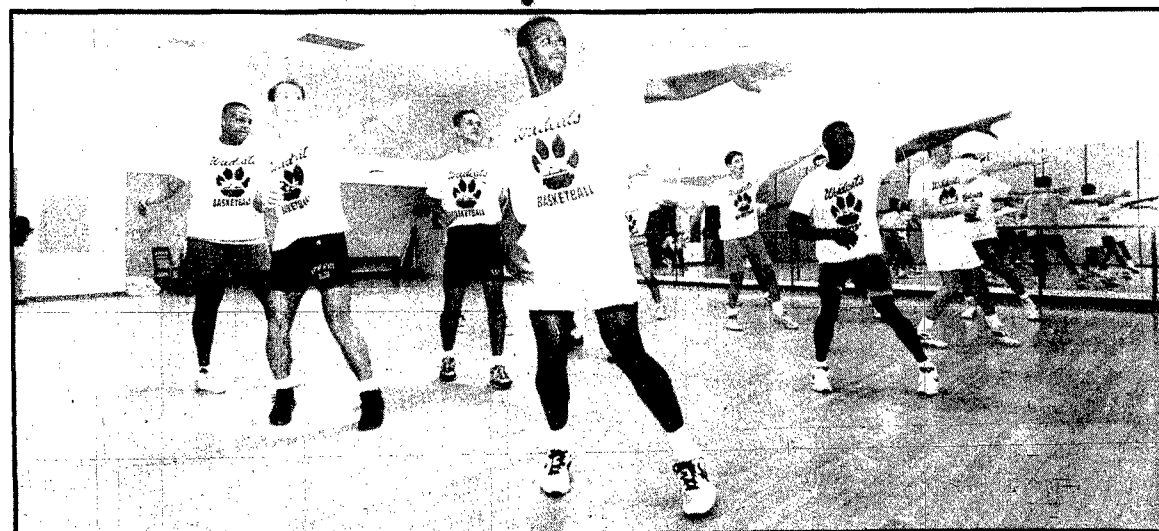

Maria Eaton led the way with a 12-12 outing and two aces while Kali Baker went 8-8 with four aces. Kathy Otte led the setters with 12 assists while Megan Sandahl had five assists.

Baker led Wakefield in hitting with seven kill spikes while Jaime Oswald had five and Eaton, four. Heidi Mueller had two blocks and Oswald, one.

"We played pretty decent in the first game but it was our second game that really stood out," Cerny said. "It was definitely our best game of the season. We passed exceptionally well and our setters did a good job which allowed our hitters to have a fine game. We were 54-58 in hitting which was also our best of the year."

Wakefield's "B" team improved to 12-0-1 on the season with a 15-11, 15-7 victory but the "C" team fell to 8-5 with a 7-15, 9-15 setback. Wakefield will travel to play Bancroft-Rosalie on Tuesday.

Laurel falls to Pierce

LAUREL-Despite playing a competitive match, the Laurel volleyball team fell to Pierce, 12-15, 11-15, Tuesday in Pierce. Coach Carol Manganaro felt serving was a key factor in the Bears defeat.

"We served right at 82 percent which is below what we want," Manganaro said. "In the second game we were down 11-5 and we had five missed serves during that stretch."

Manganaro, however, was pleased with her team's defense. "We dug some real hard spikes from Pierce and we played a good rotation defense," Manganaro said.

Deb Ward led the servers with a 10-10 outing and five points while Lisa Wattier was 10-11 with five points. Samantha Felber was 10-12 with six points.

Ward was 24-25 in setting with seven assists and Betsy Adkins was 10-13 in hitting with five kills. Brandi Mathiason was 15-19 with five kills. Adkins led the defense with seven blocks.

A story in the Oct. 9 edition of The Wayne Herald incorrectly reported that Merlin Hingst was re-elected president of the Dixon County Farm Bureau.

Verlan Hingst, not Merlin, was re-elected president at the group's annual meeting on Sept. 21 in Allen.

Elks offer grants to students

Students planning to pursue a vocational/technical course in a school or college leading to a terminal associate degree, certificate or diploma, but less than a baccalaureate degree, are eligible to compete for $2,000 grants offered by the Elks National Foundation.

The Elks National Foundation Trustees have set aside $732,000 for the grants for the 1993/94-1994/95 academic years. Each grant is for $1,000 for each of the two years.

A total of 366 grants will be awarded, with at least one per state, and the areas of Guam and Puerto Rico, and additional grants allotted according to Elks' donations within each state.

Although graduating high school seniors are eligible to apply, older students who desire training or re-training are encouraged to apply for these grants. A high school diploma or GED is not required. Applications are available from financial aid officers at community and technical colleges and at the Norfolk Elks Lodge. Applications must be submitted to the Norfolk Elks Lodge by November 1, 1992. Each state's applications will be judged by a panel of judges selected by the Association of Community College Trustees (ACCT).

Live to a ripe old age and you'll learn how well you parented.

What values did you hand down? Did you pass along the solid values: honor, thrift and love, or did you pass out vroom toys and lollipops?

Few things in life have real value. Accepting Jesus is one of them. Pass that along, and your old age will be one of contentment.

NORTHERN NEBRASKA'S CATARACT SPECIALIST

"They're the only eyes you have, take care of them."

Opal Thomsen had cataracts.

She had "Single-Stitch" Cataract Surgery.

"My vision got so I hardly could see. I thought I needed glasses. Then I found out I had cataracts. It caused me a lot of distress because I couldn't see. When I tried to read, things kept running together. And I would reach for things, hit my hand on things or run into a door.

I was afraid of any anesthetic I might receive, but you go home very quickly and you feel okay. It's really nice to be able to see and to know that things are normal again.

I think Dr. Feidler is very particular and does a fine job. He doesn't hurry you, he takes his time.

Don't be fearful of cataract surgery. It's not that big a thing and you don't feel a thing. They are the only eyes you have, take care of them."
