

Holiday season officially opens with activities

By Les Mann
Herald Publisher

The holiday shopping season begins in earnest today as Wayne area businesses announce plans to be open extended hours and conduct special holiday promotions and contests.

A traditional rural community Christmas with friends and neighbors coming together to share the joy and fellowship of the season is the overriding theme of the season in Wayne according to Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce Leaders.

Traditional, friendly, service-oriented merchants and no hassle shopping are big pluses for holiday shoppers in Wayne, said Curt Wilwerding, the chamber's executive vice-president.

WITH NATIONAL economic forecasters predicting an upswing in retail sales and consumer confidence for the '92 shopping season, Wilwerding said Wayne merchants are prepared to serve.

One of the biggest new areas of service in Wayne is the cooperative effort by the banks and businesses to offer shoppers no-interest loans for 120 days with Santa Cash, explained Wilwerding. The initial application period for Santa Cash loans at the three Wayne banks has been slow, admitted the community's chief promoter, but he said there has been a large amount of interest and discussion about the unique promotion. He said he expects the applications to

A challenge to donate

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Each week during the holiday season the Wayne Herald will be featuring community individuals and organizations who reach out to their neighbors in need during the holidays.

Junior Scouts of Carroll are collecting items as a club project for Haven House in Wayne, and have issued a challenge to other scout troops in the area served by Haven House to match them by donating one item for each scout in their troop.

Wayne Area Neighbors Helping Neighbors

The scouts are collecting such items as coloring books, small boxes of crayons, crossword puzzles, and individual snack items that are nutritious and low in sugar.

In Carroll, donations of the above items may be left in a collection box at Farmers State Bank. Cash donations are also being accepted and may be left at the bank.

Wayne water users asked about hazards

The more than 2,200 water users in Wayne will be getting survey forms from the city next week asking them to identify any potential hazards which may result from contaminants back-siphoning into the city water system.

The survey is part of the city's effort to comply with new state and federal regulations ensuring safe drinking water.

City administrator Joe Salitros said there has never been a known back-flow contamination in Wayne, but the state could pull the city's municipal water system license if it does not comply with the new laws.

Salitros estimated it could end up costing the city and individual home owners and businesses thousands of dollars to install the back-flow control devices required under the new regulations.

Every outside hose faucet on every building in town will have to have at least a simple control device. The city spent nearly $200 installing them on all the city buildings.

Homes with underground sprinkler systems, photo labs and businesses which handle chemicals may be required to install more expensive control valves on their incoming water lines, said Salitros.

He said everyone must return their survey forms and answer the questions as best they can.

"There's no doubt it will confuse some folks," he added.

Governor honors Wayne teenagers

Wayne FRIENDS, a drug-free youth group at the middle school and high school, has received the Governor's Youth Group Award for outstanding contribution to substance abuse prevention.

The award was presented at the 4th Annual Governor's Prevention Conference held recently in Lincoln. More than 30 Wayne FRIENDS (Facts Raising Interest Ending Needless Drugs) attended the awards banquet.

The Wayne group was selected for the honor from a total of 101 drug-free youth groups from throughout the state.

The Wayne FRIENDS was organized in 1990 to encourage and support youth in pledging to be drug and alcohol free. The group has over 80 middle and high school members in Wayne.

Members enjoy recreational and educational activities and assist in promoting substance abuse prevention and awareness in the schools and in the community.

Through the FRIEND Teacher program, 24 members of the youth group serve as prevention teachers and positive role models for elementary school students in Wayne.

With the cooperation of the Wayne State College Recreation Center and several local businesses, a program has been initiated in which FRIENDS members may earn "Drug-Free Fun" passes by performing community service projects.

High School FRIENDS president is Susan Webber and middle school president is Jolene Jager. The students are assisted in their efforts by faculty sponsors and parent sponsors. Faculty sponsors are Lu Ellingson and Brad Weber in the high school and Bob Uhing and Joan Sudmann in the middle school. Parent sponsors are Lori Ford and Eliene Jager.

Students, parents pause to give thanks

Youngsters of School District 15, located northwest of Wayne, served their parents a Thanksgiving feast on Wednesday. The students and parents paused to count their blessings despite the threat that the school may close its doors next year. The student-prepared feast was but one of thousands held in the area as Northeast Nebraskans took time on Thursday to recall God's goodness in blessing the Pilgrims with their first good harvest and to give thanks for this year's bountiful harvest and quality way of life. Teacher at District 15 is Ginger Grim.

Cruisers must find other spots to turn

Teen cruisers will have to set some new courses in Wayne now that a city ordinance has been passed giving police enforcement rights to prohibit motorists from using private business parking lots as a turnaround spot.

The practice in the past of motorists driving through parking lots to turnaround and continue their cruising drew a petition from six businesses whose lots are common turning points.

Two weeks ago city council agreed to consider the businesses' request for new enforcement efforts. Citing the danger and several near misses from motorists nearly running over pedestrians in the private lots, council passed a new ordinance at its Tuesday meeting.

The law requires motorists entering the six designated business lots to bring their vehicles to a complete stop and conduct business before proceeding.

The new ordinance applies only to the business property which has specifically requested extra police enforcement and has posted their lots as restricted for customers and employees only.

The six properties designated to date are: Presto Convenience Store, Casey's General Store, Sav-Mor Pharmacy, Dairy Queen, Godfather's Pizza and Carhart Lumber. City attorney Mike Pieper said the ordinance would have to be amended in the future to add other businesses which may want to be included.

Library program slated

WAYNE — Maurine Roller will appear as Katherine Garrett Gibson during a chautauqua program on Tuesday, Dec. 1 at 7:30 p.m. at Wayne Public Library. The public is invited.

When this area was called the Dakota Territory, Katherine Garrett Gibson came from the East to set up housekeeping at Fort Abraham Lincoln, near what is now Bismarck, N.D. She left behind detailed writings of everyday life in an army garrison during the 1870's on the harsh Dakota plains.

The program has been designated an official Q125 event and is funded by the Nebraska Humanities Council, a state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

School Board meeting

WAYNE — The regular meeting of the Wayne Community School Board will be held Tuesday, Dec. 1 in the high school library. Agenda items include discussion of accessibility problems through the new Americans With Disabilities Act, possible broadcasting through the Jones Intercable local access channel, and a new no smoking policy through all the district buildings.

Appointed to Library Board

WAYNE — Marilyn Lohrberg has been appointed to the Wayne Library Board by Mayor Bob Carhart following the resignation of Margaret Lundstrom, who will be moving from Wayne.

Dana College offering taste of Denmark at annual Christmas event

Dana College in Blair will present its annual Sights and Sounds of Christmas event on Sunday, Dec. 6.

The day-long celebration features Christmas customs and traditions as celebrated around the world, with a special emphasis on those of Denmark and other Scandinavian countries.

Thousands of guests from throughout the Midwest are expected to enjoy entertainment, a Danish smorgasbord, music of the season, and more. All events, with the exception of the smorgasbord, are offered at no charge.

In keeping with its Danish heritage, Dana College makes a special effort to feature the Christmas customs of Denmark.

One of the popular attractions of the day is "Let's Make it Danish," a demonstration on how to make traditional Christmas tree ornaments from paper and straw. Guests try their hand at the art of ornament making under the direction of experienced instructors from the college and community.

A Danish adaptation of the Swedish Festival of Lights, or Santa Lucia Ceremony, is presented throughout the day.

PERHAPS the most popular attraction of the day is the Scandinavian smorgasbord served throughout the day in traditional Danish fashion.

Each dish is prepared under the consultation of a Danish chef and features traditional Danish holiday delicacies such as carved stuffed pork roast, medisterpolse, frikedellar, red cabbage, a host of salads, breads, desserts and more.

The smorgasbord is the only event of the day for which reservations and advanced payment are required. All other events are provided at no charge.

The cost for the smorgasbord is $10.50 for adults and $7.75 for children age 12 and under.

WHILE enjoying the Sights and Sounds of Christmas, visitors are invited to browse the Jule Markedsplads, or Christmas Marketplace, where many one-of-a-kind items will be available for sale, including, but not limited to, a selection of Bingo and Grondahl and Royal Copenhagen collectibles and other holiday items.

Christmas shoppers will also find an interesting selection of gifts and imported items in the Dana Bookstore, plus special offerings at many Blair businesses that are open on Dec. 6.

Additional information and reservations are available by contacting the Dana College Public Relations Office, Dana College, Blair, Neb., 68008, or by calling (402) 426-7216.

Peace Corps experiences shared

Julia Slaymaker of Wayne talks to youngsters of School District 57 last Monday afternoon and shares her experiences as a Peace Corps volunteer in Nigeria during 1965 and 1966. She also discussed her recent visit back to Nigeria this past summer. While in the Peace Corps, Julia taught geography, French and physical education in a girls secondary boarding school. She is presently a resource teacher with Educational Service Unit One.

Carroll man charged with sexual assault

Rural Carroll resident Ronald J. Grove was arrested on Nov. 18 in Wayne County by the Nebraska State Patrol and Cedar County Sheriff Elliot Arens.

Grove, 25, is being held in the Cedar County Jail in Hartington on an $80,000 bond on the charges of first degree sexual assault, a Class II felony, and sexual assault of a child, a Class IV felony.

The two separate incidents allegedly occurred approximately one year ago in Belden. The on-going investigation is being conducted by the Cedar County Sheriff's Office and the Nebraska Department of Social Services.

Wayne actors fare well in one-act competition

Wayne-Carroll High School students Ben Wilson and Kerry McCue captured the best actor and best actress awards during the Northern Activities Conference one-act play competition held Monday night in Hartington.

Other schools presenting performances were O'Neill, Hartington Cedar Catholic and South Sioux City.

Wayne's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" by William Shakespeare was selected as the best play, but was penalized for going 15 seconds overtime and was reduced to second place in accordance with the rules.

Hartington's production of the same play moved from second to take first place honors.

WAYNE will perform at district competition on Dec. 2, also at Hartington.

Sophomore chosen to attend HOBY seminar

Wayne High School sophomore Tammy Teach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Teach of Wayne has been selected to represent Wayne at the Hugh O'Brian Youth (HOBY) Foundation Leadership Seminar to be held next summer in Omaha.

Miss Teach was chosen by a selection committee of Wayne High School staff members for the coveted HOBY honor which includes all expenses paid at the seminar.

The Hugh O'Brian Foundation has been conducting youth leadership seminars for outstanding 10th graders since 1958. The seminars allow student leaders the opportunity to meet, interact with and question regional, national and international leaders.

The goal of the seminars is to develop student leadership potential, to encourage students in their quest for self-development, to introduce future leaders to present leaders and thus open discussion on vital issues and to help students explore the American economic and democratic systems.

Mary Ewing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ewing, was chosen as alternate for Wayne, according to Wayne High School Counselor Terry Munson.

Planning Commission will meet to reconsider proposal

The Wayne Planning Commission has scheduled a meeting to reconsider its recommendation to the city council to pass a proposed revision of the comprehensive plan for the city.

The commission had voted 3-2 two weeks ago to send the plan to the council with recommendation for passage.

But commission members later notified council of their intention to reconsider the issues raised at a public hearing on the plan with a possible goal of achieving a consensus on the overall plan.

The commission is scheduled to discuss the plan at its meeting Monday at 7:30 at City Hall.

Professor presents paper

Dr. William Slaymaker, associate professor of English at Wayne State College, recently presented two papers on the Kenyan writer Ngugi wa Thiong'o at the Midwest Modern Languages Association meeting held recently in St. Louis.

The theme of the conference was "Multiculturalism" and Slaymaker had the opportunity to hear and participate in debates on the topic with well-known scholars such as Bell Hooks and Gerald Graff.

Slaymaker, who has been a member of the Wayne State faculty since 1989, earned his bachelor's of arts degree from Western Michigan University, and his master's of arts degree and Ph.D. from Indiana University.

Aggressive enforcement promised

Party planners warned about law

By Les Mann
Herald Publisher

With the holiday party season just around the corner, liquor law enforcement authorities are announcing renewed efforts in the Wayne area especially, to limit alcohol abuse. "Emphasis is being placed in the Wayne area on house parties being conducted where alcoholic liquors are being either sold, given away or made available," said David Nicholson, an inspector with the liquor division of the Nebraska State Patrol.

Nicholson cites a seldom used state law that could allow the state to seize property where frequent parties are held and where liquor laws are violated—especially those pertaining to minors.

WAYNE COUNTY Attorney Mike Pieper confirms the law would make it possible for the state to place a lien on property for payment of fines and costs associated with violation and conviction of the liquor laws. It is possible, but remote, that the law would be used in this way, said Pieper. He added however, that his office aggressively prosecutes liquor law violations, especially those associated with house parties in which minors are involved. He said one such set of cases involving procuring for minors and sale of liquor without a license is moving through the court system in Wayne right now.

People who own the premises where house parties are held need to be aware of the liabilities, both Pieper and Nicholson agreed. "An aggressive enforcement action is being initiated by the Nebraska State Patrol to identify these party organizers and stop such activities," said Nicholson. He added the enforcement will be directed at the people renting and owning properties used for illegal house parties.

"THERE IS A problem with this kind of activity in our area," said Pieper. He cited the danger of drunk driving and other law enforcement problems that can result from the practice of sponsoring house parties. He said the problem seems more prevalent in college towns, which Nicholson confirmed in specifically addressing Wayne for special enforcement activities.

Young voice for democracy

Winner of the local Voice of Democracy contest is Annette Hellmers, Wakefield. The presentation was made by VFW Post 5291 Representative Eddie Baier. Annette is a senior at Wayne High School and her winning speech was entitled "My Voice in America's Future." Her speech will now be entered into district competition. The contest is sponsored locally by VFW Post 5291 and the Ladies Auxiliary. Chairpersons for the local contest are Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Baier.

Lights contest open

The Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce recently announced its eighth annual home lighting contest in the Wayne area. To be entered in the contest you only need to contact the Chamber office at 375-2240 with your name and address. The Chamber will then enter your home in the contest. The deadline is Dec. 11.

"There are many beautifully decorated homes in the Wayne area that need to enter the contest," stated Curt Wilberding, Executive Vice President of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce. "Many people visiting Wayne have commented that the homes and the community street lighting have made this one of the most beautiful holiday communities they have seen," he added.

People come to the community to do their shopping and then tour the decorated homes. With all of the work put into decorating, everyone should take the time to share in the beauty of these homes.

Immediately after the Dec. 11 deadline, the names and addresses will be publicized so that people will be aware of the homes that are decorated in the Wayne area and are entered in the home lighting contest.

Prizes this year are available for the top three homes in the contest. The winners are decided by three groups of people each year. The prizes this year are Chamber Shopper Gift Certificates in the amount of first place, $50; second place, $30; and third place, $20.

Extension must build

GRAND ISLAND - Members of Cooperative Extension must build on their strengths as educators and adapt to continuing changes at the local, state and national levels, a University of Nebraska administrator declared here last Wednesday evening.

Ken Bolen, dean and director of Cooperative Extension, spoke at the awards banquet during the annual meeting of the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Association, which is comprised of extension agents and specialists located throughout the state.

Bolen said Cooperative Extension has a reputation for providing unbiased, research-based information in educational programs for youth and adults.

"We need to emphasize our teaching role" which was a fundamental part of the Smith-Lever Act passed by Congress in 1914, he said.

This act provided for a local, state and federal partnership to transfer information through educational programs. Although clientele needs and delivery methods have changed during the past 78 years, Bolen said the concept is just as viable today.

"As we look to the future, we need to make sure our educational programs respond to the high-priority needs of Nebraskans," he continued. "We need to be a forward thinking, responsive organization this is flexible and willing to change and try new approaches."

Dolan-Baker wed in Minnesota ceremony

Brenda Marie Dolan and Scott Alan Baker exchanged marriage vows on Sept. 19 at St. Michael Catholic Church in Milroy, Minn.

A reception followed at the Eagles Club in Marshall, Minn.

The bride is the daughter of Kenneth and Marie Dolan of Lucan, Minn., and the bridegroom is the son of Burnell and Esther Baker of South Sioux City.

Grandparents are Mabel Haberer of Wayne, Clarence Baker of Wakefield, and Joseph Dolan of Lucan, Minn.

INCLUDED in the wedding party were Patty Johnson, matron of honor, and bridesmaids Lori Baker-Magrath, Lisa Baker, Mary Dolan and Kim Hewitt.

Best man was Sean Baker, and groomsmen were Ron Dolan, Bill Melena, Dan Gross and Dave Kock. Ring bearer and flower girl were Brandon Baker and Abby Oakland.

The newlyweds traveled to the Black Hills of South Dakota and are making their home in Marshall, Minn.

Thanksgiving origin program at Minerva

Arlene Ellermeier presented a program on the origin of Thanksgiving during a meeting of Minerva Club on Nov. 23. Hostess was Verna Rees.

The first Thanksgiving was celebrated on a Thursday in 1621 with a feast shared by the Pilgrims and Indians. Through the years, presidents and governors have signed Thanksgiving proclamations declaring a day of offering thanks, gathering together as families, and sharing with the misfortunate.

Thanksgiving Day is now celebrated annually on the fourth Thursday of November as a day set aside to give thanks and to recall the goodness of God in blessing the Pilgrims with their first good harvest.

PAT Prather presided at the business meeting, and members participated in roll call with a favorite poem.

Hollis Frese, historian, brought articles of interest from a Minerva Club Halloween party in October 1915 and a Christmas party in December 1916.

Mildred Jones presented two poetry books to Minerva Club written by Grace Welsh Lutgen, entitled "Prairie Fagots," published in 1949, and "Sunflower Petals," published in 1960. The books belonged to Mildred's mother, and Grace Lutgen was an early member of the club.

MINERVA Club will meet for a luncheon on Dec. 14 at 11:30 a.m. at the Black Knight. Afterward, members will travel to the home of Mildred Jones for a program and gift exchange.

Gifts and cards will be given to members unable to be present.

Briefly Speaking

Dixon women plan lunch, auction

DIXON - Dixon United Methodist Women will hold their annual bazaar auction, soup and sandwich luncheon and bake sale on Saturday, Dec. 5.

Lunch will be served beginning at 11 a.m., and bazaar items will be auctioned off beginning at 1 p.m.

Winside history books available

WINSIDE - Winside centennial officers remind area residents that there are still some Winside Centennial Edition History Books available for Christmas gift giving.

Redeemer WELCA invites women to Christmas dinner

Redeemer Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America held their circle meetings on Nov. 11 in the church social room. The meetings centered on thankfulness and thank offering boxes were returned.

It was announced that the Christmas potluck dinner will be at noon on Wednesday, Dec. 9. Hostesses are Marilyn Bodenstedt and Leona Hagemann, and the program committee is Dorothy Grone, Anita Johnson, Viola Meyer and Elaine Salmon.

The WELCA executive board will decorate and everyone is encouraged to assist with clean-up. Each member is asked to bring a dish of food, a guest, and table service for themselves and their guests.

A special invitation is extended to all women of Redeemer to attend the Christmas dinner, as well as meetings or other events during the year.

FOURTEEN members attended Mary Circle and were joined by the Rev. Frank Rothfuss, the Rev. Mike Girlinghouse and Cynthia Puntney. A thank you was received for serving a Campus Ministry supper.

Lesson leader was Margaret Anderson and hostesses were Gena Luhr and Norma Koeber.

Fourteen members also attended Dorcas Circle. Lesson leader was Mary deFreese and hostesses were Blanche Backstrom and Joyce Sievers.

Plans were made to furnish food and help with the soup and pie supper at St. Mary's Church following the community Thanksgiving service on Nov. 22. Two members assisted with bingo at Wayne Care Center.

Nine members attended Martha Circle, with Janice Barclman as lesson leader and Olga Nissn and Sandy Rothfuss as hostesses.

THE visitation committee sent 40 Halloween cards and one baby card. Five women and Pastor Girlinghouse visited 27 Redeemer members who are shut-ins or residents of the care center.

Inservice offered for 4-H tailoring project

"Learn About Tailoring," an advanced 4-H clothing project in a satellite presentation, is being offered and is designed to help volunteer leaders and agents learn how to tailor a jacket, coat or blazer.

The two-hour presentation will demonstrate that tailoring is simply using interfacing, pressing techniques and either hand, machine sewing, or fusing needed to shape and stabilize fabric to retain a precise look.

Topics to be covered include pattern and fabric selection, interfacing and lining choices, and pressing equipment and techniques.

THE TRAINING will be held from 10 a.m. to noon on Wednesday, Dec. 9 and will be offered at two locations in the Northeast Five Extension Programming Unit.

The locations are the Extension Office in Hartington and the Northeast Research and Extension Center at Concord.

Persons planning to participate are asked to contact the Cedar County Extension Office at 254-6821 or the Wayne County Extension Office at 375-3310 by Dec. 4 to pre-register so appropriate quantities of materials can be on hand.

LEGION AUXILIARY

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit 81 met Nov. 9 with four officers and 13 members present. Betty Bressler, president, called the meeting to order. Famy Johnson, chaplain, gave the opening prayer. In memory of the deceased veterans, a moment of silent was observed.

The president reported on the treats served the fourth, fifth and sixth graders following their Halloween skating party.

Jolene Miller gave a report on legislation and national security. The report stated how the media plays a roll during an election.

Sharon Salmon, membership chairman, reported that Unit 81 has 95 paid members.

Betty Bressler, president, reported on National Education Week, Nov. 15-21. Alice Johnson took care of treats for the teachers.

Carol Ulrich gave a report on the Dixon County Convention and banquet held Nov. 11 in Wakefield.

Alice Johnson read the proposed guidelines for the Auxiliary memorial scholarship. A formal set of rules and guidelines will be drawn up.

A motion was made and seconded to purchase Christmas gifts for three residents at the Wakefield Health Care Center.

A Christmas party will be held on the regular meeting night of Dec. 14 at 6:30 p.m. The executive board will be serving.

A motion was made and seconded to send a donation to Ponca to help cover expenses for County Government Day on Nov. 24.

The meeting was closed with the singing of "We Thank Thee Now Our God." Marie Bellows and Phyllis Swanson served lunch.

SURVEY

Wakefield filed their solid waste management plan before the Oct. 1 deadline. This can be accomplished through reducing, reusing and recycling.

The Pop's Partners 4-H Club will be delivering house-to-house surveys on Nov. 27-28. The questions will be centered around interest in recycling and methods preferred by the Wakefield area. If time allows, the 4-H's will ask the questions and record the answers on the surveys. Rural residents opinions are also wanted. Surveys may be picked up at the Fair Store, Wakefield National Bank, bowling alley or drug store. The surveys should be returned to the City Clerk's office.

RAISED $700

Twenty-five citizens of Wakefield and the surrounding area joined thousands of other Nebraskans to walk all over cardiovascular diseases during the American Heart Association Turkeywalks held this fall.

In Wakefield the walk raised approximately $700 for American Heart Association.

Javanah Bebee was the top walker, turning in $230. Ian Tyler was the youngest participant and Vivian Olson was the most mature Turkeywalker. Three turkeys were given out to walkers who raised over $40 in donations.

The Wakefield Turkeywalk was sponsored by Norbest Inc., Nebraska Turkey Growers Coop, Nebraska Turkey Federation, M.G. Waldbaum Co. and The Fair Store. Committee members who organized the walk were Janell Daberkow, Lauren Weisser and Lori Utemark.

SLOGAN DEADLINE

The Community Image and Appearance Task Force of START has received a few suggestions for a Wakefield slogan for the welcome sign, but would like some more. The deadline has been extended to Tuesday, Dec. 1.

In order to create more interest in submitting slogans, the committee is offering a $25 prize, to be paid in Wakefield dollars to the author of the motto selected.

Suggestions may be left at the Wakefield Republican or sent or given to Bob Clough, a member of the task force.

PEO MEETS

PEO Chapter CZ met Nov. 16 at the home of Virginia Fraser in Allen. Doris Linafelter was co-hostess.

Kathy Potter introduced Mrs. Leland Miner, who presented a program on living wills.

The next meeting will be Dec. 9 at 6:40 p.m. in the home of Mary Ellen Sundell, with Kathy Potter as co-hostess. Note time and date change.

Prepare bulbs now for indoor blooming

For a touch of spring at mid-winter, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln horticulturist suggests starting bulbs now in pots.

Amy Greving said almost any spring bulbs can be used, including tulips, daffodils, crocuses and hyacinths. These bulbs are readily available now at area nurseries, since they are planted in the fall for spring emergence, she said.

She recommended using a shallow container for planting. After laying in two to three inches of potting soil, place the bulbs on the surface pointed end up. Then add more soil until the tips are just barely showing.

The pot should be watered well, then placed in a cool basement or refrigerator at 35 to 48 degrees without further watering to give the bulbs their required dormant season.

After about 10 weeks, check the bulbs every few days, Greving said. When the exposed tips start to show green or whitish new growth, bring the pot out into a warm, well-lighted location. Once the plants bloom, flowering can be prolonged by returning the pot to the cool basement or refrigerator at night, she said.

Greving warned against mixing large and small plants in the same pot; the small plants will be overwhelmed. But different colors of like plants can be mixed and matched to complement room decor or just to add a splash of brilliant color just when its most needed, she concluded.

EVEN DOZEN CLUB

Leoma Baker was hostess for the Even Dozen Club meeting Nov. 17 with 12 members present. Linda Paul and Alice Muller were guests.

Nelda Hammer, president, conducted the business meeting and welcomed the guests. Leoma Baker read the minutes of the last meeting and Edna Hansen gave the treasurer's report.

The club will purchase a Christmas gift for a Wayne Care Centre resident. Florence Geewe thanked the group for the gift and cards she received while in the hospital.

The Christmas supper with husbands as guests will be held Dec. 11 at 7 p.m. at the Vet's Club in Wayne.

Election of officers was held with Leona Hammer elected president; Dorothy Meyer, vice president; Elsie Greve, secretary; and Mylct Bargholz, treasurer.

The next meeting is Dec. 15 with a potluck luncheon at 12:30 p.m. with Cindy Bargholz as hostess. Cards furnished entertainment following the meeting.

SERVE ALL CLUB

The Serve All Extension Club met Nov. 18 with Gertrude Ohlquist as hostess. Virginia Leonard presided at the meeting, with all reading the extension creed. Ten members answered roll call with childhood memories of Thanksgiving. Dorothy Driskell read the minutes of the last meeting and gave the treasurer's report.

Ardath Utecht, health leader, read two reports entitled "Interesting Facts About Your Body" and "What Is Normal Aging." Virginia Leonard gave an environmental report. A committee of the club helped play bingo and served refreshments at the Wakefield Care Center Oct. 23. A donation will be given to the Lions Club to be used for Christmas gifts.

The club will become a social club in January and Virginia will be chairman. Suggestions were given for club meetings in 1993. Miriam Haglund, Ruth Boeckenhauer and Grace Longe will make booklets, planning activities for the year. The Christmas luncheon will be at 12:30 p.m. on Dec. 9 at the Hotel in Wakefield. The social committee, Alice Heimann and Gertrude Ohlquist, will be in charge of entertainment.

Gertrude Ohlquist led a craft lesson and Christmas decorations were made. Miriam Haglund was the winner of the hostess gift.

AAL MEETING

The Aid Association of Lutherans Branch 1554 met Sunday night at Salem Lutheran Church in Wakefield. Larry Baker conducted the business meeting with 21 members attending. A committee was appointed to plan next year's meetings. Pastor Kip Tyler gave a report on the journey to Dulac, La. the past week by a group of eight Wakefield residents to deliver food, clothing and other items to the Hurricane Andrew victims.

The next meeting is Dec. 13 with a potluck supper and Christmas party.

Jerry Kingston and Jennifer Kingston of Phoenix, Ariz. visited in the Gertrude Ohlquist and Jack Kingston homes over the weekend.

Wakefield caravan travels to Louisiana

A group of eight Wakefield residents traveled to Louisiana last week to deliver a variety of kits to victims of Hurricane Andrew.

The group left Nov. 17 for Dulac, La. and arrived home on Nov. 21.

Making the journey in a caravan of three pickups and a van were Merle and Lois Schwarten, Carol Nixon, Kip Tyler, Ruth and Kermit Johnson, and Becky and Norman Swanson.

Delivered were a variety of items donated by the Wakefield community and by others as far away as Omaha, Iowa and Colorado.

The community project has been ongoing since Hurricane Andrew struck and was organized by Carol Nixon, with the assistance of several individuals and organizations.

Donated items were delivered in time for Thanksgiving and Christmas, and were packaged in kits such as quilts, sheets and pillows; baby kits including diapers, formula and bottles; and kits for children including clothing, coloring books and a gift.

Nixon commented that some very nice items were donated as Christmas gifts for the hurricane victims.

INCLUDED in the groups helping with the project were all of the Wakefield churches, which served as collection points, and elementary youngsters who contributed Christmas gift items, etc. for their counterparts in Louisiana.

The Quest Class collected cash at a football game and had their efforts matched by the Aid Association for Lutherans, and Boy Scouts donated food collected during their "Scouting for Food" efforts.

Cash donations totaling $1,200 were also received.

NIXON pointed out that assistance came not only from within the community, but also from outside the Wakefield area.

Former Wakefield resident Karen Siebrandt Adams had her Girl Scout troop collect items in Omaha. The girls also traveled to Wakefield to assist with packing kits.

Nixon said many other volunteers also helped with packing of the donated items.

Area coach of the year and players of year honored

All-area volleyball team released

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Annual Wayne Herald All-Area Volleyball Team was released today with 14 of the area's finest female volleyball players earning special recognition.

This was one of the strongest volleyball seasons in recent Wayne Herald history as three of the five schools covered, earned a trip to the state tournament.

Wayne landed four girls on the team including, Kristen Swanson, Danielle Nelson, Erin Pick and Liz Reeg. They are joined by Winside's Kari Pichler, Holly Holdorf and Christi Mundil along with Allen's Steph Martinson, Heather Sachau and Christy Philbrick.

Kali Baker and Maria Eaton of Wakefield also made first-team status as did Deb Ward and Samantha Felber of Laurel. Once again, the Herald would like to be clear to the readers that selections were based solely by the sports staff on what they witnessed throughout the year.

Kristen Swanson—Swanson closed out a fine career at Wayne High School by helping her team to the state tournament. She was a very consistent performer for Marlene Uhing's squad and was one of the go-to people when they needed a side-out or a point.

Danielle Nelson—Nelson was the quarterback of the Wayne team and she did a fine job of running Wayne's 5-1 offense. She led the squad in set assists and was a consistent server and defender.

Erin Pick—Pick also had a fine year for the Blue Devils as she often drew the attention of many blockers in double-team form. Pick's athletic ability often fooled opposition because she could disguise a hard spike with a well placed dink. She was also one of the team leaders on defense at the net in blocking.

Liz Reeg—Reeg made it quite clear that her state tournament appearance was her final volleyball match in varsity competition on any level because she signed her collegiate letter-of-intent to play basketball with Mike Barry's Wildcats at Wayne State the following week.

Reeg is one of those kinds of athletes that every coach wants because she can do every facet of the game well whether it be spiking, blocking, serving, passing or digging.

Reeg ended up being Wayne's leading passer on the year and she recorded the most digs.

Kari Pichler—Talk around Winside before the volleyball season began was that the Wildcats would be down this season but Pichler was a primary reason why Winside returned to the state tournament for the third straight year. Used primarily as a setter on last year's team, Pichler shared her setting duties with Stacy Bowers, which allowed her to play the game as a spiker at times.

Pichler is another one of those athletes who can do everything on the volleyball court well. She returns to Angie Schroeder's squad for one more year.

Holly Holdorf—Holdorf was the lone senior on Winside's team that qualified for state. She has been a vital part of the Wildcats three straight trips to state and this season she led her team in spiking.

Holdorf was not one of those athletes concerned with having the best stats and that proved to be one of Winside's strengths. An example is serving where Holdorf was known as a hard, tough server.

Christi Mundil—Mundil was a great compliment to Holly Holdorf and the power that each of these spikers had, proved to be costly to nearly every opponent they faced. Winside was a tough team to defend because of Mundil's ability to change the game's momentum with a hard spike.

Steph Martinson—The Allen senior enjoyed a great final year as she helped lead the Eagles to the state tournament. Martinson was a good team player who did what ever it took for her squad to win. She was a powerful hitter as well as a solid blocker.

Christy Philbrick—Philbrick shared setting duties with Dawn Diediker and the two did a great job of running the 4-2 offense. Philbrick had a way of turning the game's momentum toward the Eagles side. Despite being shorter than hitters from other teams, she would manage to come up with solid blocks. Her consistency in serving was also something that allowed the Eagles to take her for granted because she seldom had an off night.

Heather Sachau—Sachau closed out her high school career in fine fashion as she was a major contributor in propelling the Eagles to state. Sachau had a lethal spike and was always a team leader in kills and in blocks.

Maria Eaton—This Wakefield athlete is one of the Trojans best all-around players who did a great job of leading the team. Eaton's deceptive quickness and strength often gave her a surprise advantage over opposition.

Eaton also exercised her talents by using both hands to fake out opponents. She could go up to spike the ball right handed and then dink it with her left hand.

Kali Baker—Baker was Wakefield's inspirational player who often came up with the so-called "big play" when the Trojans had to have one. Baker was among the state leaders in serving for all classes and was just a consistent player in all stages of the game.

Deb Ward—Ward placed among the top six in the NENAC Conference in serving with a 95.7 percent success mark. She also yielded a 92 percent success mark in setting as she led the Bears in that category. She was the team captain for Laurel who netted 129 set assists.

Samantha Felber—Felber led Laurel in hitting with 72 kill spikes. She finished the season with a .330 hitting efficiency which is similar to a batting average in baseball. She earned most valuable player award honors from her teammates and served over 90 percent for the season.

The honorable mention players include: Wayne—Angie Thompson, Jenny Thompson; Winside—Chris Colwell; Allen—Dawn Diediker, Steph Chase; Laurel—Brandi Mathiason, Betsy Adkins; Wakefield—Heidi Mueller, Kathy Otte.

The Wayne Herald Area Coach of the Year honor goes to Wayne's Marlene Uhing as she led the Blue Devils to their finest high school volleyball season in history.

The Wayne Herald Area Player of the Year was very difficult to choose so the Herald went with co-players. When it came to crunch time it seemed that Kristen Swanson and Erin Pick of Wayne were more consistent in providing the needed side-out or score so the two some share the honor as the best in the area from the Herald's perspective.

WSC lands two all-academic squad

WAYNE-Wayne State wide receiver Tom Kleespies and defensive lineman Scott Eisenhauer were recently named to the GTE Academic All-District Team as selected by the Sports Information Directors in District Seven.

Both Kleespies and Eisenhauer earned second-team status on the prestigious team. Kleespies currently maintains a 3.70 grade point average in business management while Eisenhauer sports a 3.44 grade point average in agri-business.

Junior high wrestles in Howells

WAYNE-The Wayne junior high wrestling team traveled to compete in the Howells Tournament, recently. Five grapplers took part in the meet with Jeremiah Rethwisch earning the only medal with a fourth place finish.

Rethwisch won two matches by pin and lost two matches. Jeremy Nelson, Ryan Nichols, Mickey Rutenbeck and Jody Campbell each wrestled twice and lost.

Fuelberth keeps pace with UNK's harriers

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

A year ago, Wayne senior Todd Fuelberth ran to a third place finish at the Nebraska State Cross Country Meet and in the spring of '92 he placed runner-up in the 3200 meter run at the State Track & Field Meet in Omaha.

No longer a Blue Devil, but a Loper (also blue and white) Fuelberth has taken his success in running to the collegiate level and competed nicely.

In fact, the University of Nebraska at Kearney recently returned from the National Cross Country Meet in Slippery Rock, Pennsylvania with a third place team finish.

Fuelberth, who ran as the number seven man on the varsity, placed fifth on the team at nationals and 44th individually. He ran the 10000 meter course in 34:30 and was just 14 seconds from becoming an all-American as a freshman.

"The top 25 individuals are all Americans," Fuelberth said. "Since a lot of teams have foreign runners, they place the top 25 American runners in the category of all-American."

Fuelberth says there is quite a difference between running high school cross country and NCAA-II cross country. "The practices are twice as long and the pace we have to maintain is a lot faster," Fuelberth said. "The season is also about a month longer."

An average week of cross country practice for Fuelberth consisted of approximately 60 miles. "We usually had our major workouts in the afternoons and then three or four times a week we would run in the morning as well," Fuelberth said. Nearly 20 cross country athletes donned the Loper uniforms this year but only seven traveled as varsity runners. "The fight to keep your varsity spot was always there," Fuelberth said. "There were a lot of runners competing for the spot I had."

Fuelberth was the only freshman runner for the Lopers at the national meet. The chemistry major said he pretty much ran the meet of his life in Pennsylvania.

"I was real pleased with my first year of running at Kearney," Fuelberth said. "I really didn't know what to expect but I've structured my goals for next year to return to nationals and come home as an all-American."

UNK has elevated itself to one of the national powers in cross country as they placed runner-up a year ago and now third. The top four teams at nationals receive a team trophy as well as individual trophies.

"We (UNK) are one of the few teams to receive back-to-back national team trophies," Fuelberth said. Fuelberth will return for his sophomore year as one of UNK's elite as they lose four seniors off this year's team.

A buck for all

Wildcats defeated by Morningside

WSC women fall to 0-2

The Wayne State women's basketball team was defeated, 82-68 by Morningside College, Tuesday night in Sioux City.

Mike Barry's squad fell to 0-2 after the loss but the worse news for the Wildcat program is the loss of freshman point guard Marla Stewart of Blair, who was carried from the floor with a knee injury.

The extent of the injury was not known at press time but Barry said it's possible that the injury could be season ending.

Wayne State trailed 5-0 early in the contest before Mary Schnitzler buried a three-pointer. In fact, the Wildcats out-scored the host team 16-6 in a span of nearly eight minutes to lead by five, 16-11.

Morningside then got hot for the remainder of the half and went on a 28-12 scoring run to open up a 39-28 halftime lead.

The 'Cats never caught up to the Chiefs in the second half but they did draw to within two at 65-63 with 5:05 remaining in regulation.

"Morningside played relaxed and confident down the stretch," Barry said. "With five minutes to go and the score at 65-63 the game could have gone either way. They broke our pressure and hit some shots and we had some shots that simply did not fall."

Barry said that the stats were pretty even for the game with the exception of shooting percentages where Morningside connected on 47 percent while WSC shot 36 percent.

"I thought we played well to come from 13 points behind in the second half but it was not quite enough," Barry said.

The Wildcats were led by Lisa Chamberlin and Mary Schnitzler with 18 and 17 points respectively. Schnitzler knocked down three of her eight three-point field goal attempts.

Cheri VanAuker scored nine points and Jodi Otjen added eight—all in the second half. Linda Heller tallied seven points and Lynn Nohr scored five while Stewart and Ann Kramer added two each.

The 'Cats were out-rebounded, 42-38. VanAuker pulled down eight boards to lead WSC while Schnitzler had six caroms. Otjen had five rebounds while Chamberlin and Kristy Twait had four each.

WSC had 26 turnovers compared to 24 for Morningside. Nohr and Schnitzler recorded four steals apiece while Chamberlin had three.

"Besides concentrating on the Kearney Classic on Dec. 3-5, our thoughts are with Marla Stewart," Barry said. "We hope for the best but at this time we just don't know the extent of her injury."

FORMER WAYNE running great Todd Fuelberth enjoyed a spectacular freshman season with the Kearney Lopers in cross country.

Seventh grade cagers 1-1 on season

WAYNE-Monte Tilgner's seventh grade boys basketball team is 1-1 after the first two games of the season with a win over West Point and a loss to South Sioux.

The Blue Devils handled West Point, 31-13 in a home contest as Chris Dyer led the way with 10 points. David Ensz scored seven and Adam Endicott poured in six while Matt Meyer and Aaron Beltz added four apiece.

Ensz led the team in rebounding with six caroms while Endicott, Dyer and Justin Thede had three each.

Wayne lost a narrow 31-27 decision to South Sioux despite 13 points from Ensz. Meyer tossed in six and Dyer had four while Thede and Beltz scored two apiece. Thede led Wayne in rebounds with eight while Endicott pulled down five caroms.

Wakefield church showing 'Hope for the Lonely' film

"Hope for the Lonely," the second in a series of videos produced by World Wide Pictures, the audiovisual ministry of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, will be shown on Sunday, Nov. 29 at the Wakefield Covenant Church.

The Rev. Chuck Wahlstrom said the public is invited to attend the video presentation at 7 p.m. A nursery will be provided.

"Loneliness is a thirst of the spirit," says Billy Graham, adding that "Hope for the Lonely" is a true-to-life story based on the life of a woman who is desperately trying to find the answers to life. The video will show the struggles and difficulties she faces, from childhood to becoming an adult, as she seeks out her answers.

Persons wishing additional information regarding the video series are asked to call the church office at 287-2692.

Hear Ye, Hear Ye,
Today's frenetic, maddening global chaos presents us with a major challenge. To abstract reality from a plethora of images that assault our vision. And to actually hear instead of pretending to listen.
Then shall we synchronize our senses with God's creation.
To not practice the good manners to accomplish this, would be to be blind and deaf.

Wayne Lutheran Campus Ministry

Thanksgiving is more than just counting our blessings and feeling fortunate about what we have.

Too often, our Thanksgiving celebrations take the form of separating ourselves from the "less fortunate" of our world and thanking God for it.

Sometimes, this leads us to make a "guilt offering" to the Food Pantry, Hunger Drive or some other charitable organization helping the less fortunate, but it still serves to set ourselves against others.

This approach to Thanksgiving runs almost completely counter to the "thanksgiving" the scriptures call us to make.

PSALM 100 drives our thanksgiving in a proper direction. There, the Psalmist writes, "Give thanks to the Lord, bless his name. For the Lord is good; his steadfast love endures forever, and his faithfulness to all generations."

First, thanksgiving begins not with our awareness of gifts and blessings we have been given, but with our acknowledgment of the giver of those gifts.

We give thanks to God, not because he has blessed us instead of others, but simply because God created us. Just knowing that we belong to a loving and gracious can draw forth our praise even in the hardest of times.

Second, the Psalmist bases his thanksgiving on the goodness, steadfast love and faithfulness of our God.

Our thanks to God is not primarily in response to what God has given us, but in response to who God is. The Psalmist thanks God because God's promises are trustworthy and true. God does what he says he will do. God acts on behalf of his people.

God is working his plan of salvation out in the midst of the history of our world. God is in control, even if that is often difficult for us to see.

YESTERDAY, we paused for a moment to give thanks. Today, we continue with our lives. Does the one effect the other? Perhaps. Perhaps not.

The leftovers in the refrigerator often last longer than our Thanksgiving gratitude! But how can a spirit of thanksgiving fill our lives in the midst of such a broken and hectic world?

In the Book of Deuteronomy, Moses answers the question this way. "Keep the commandments of the Lord your God by walking in his ways and by fearing him."

In his letter to the Philippians, Paul puts it this way, "Rejoice in the Lord always; again I say, Rejoice!"

Both Moses and Paul recommend that we loose ourselves in the goodness, steadfast love and faithfulness of our God. Both suggest that we give ourselves over to him completely.

If we rest our lives in God's hands and let God guide and direct what we do and say in life, thanksgiving cannot help but filter into the cracks and crevices of our living. Then we can give to others, not out of guilt, but out of our awareness of God's presence, power and will acting through our lives.

Again and again, Christians in horrible conditions and under the most difficult of situations have given their lives over to God and have discovered peace.

Their witness to God's power is overwhelming and clear; their praise genuine.

THIS HOLIDAY season is once more upon us. It can be a busy and stressful time for some and an amazingly lonely time for others.

To move into this season with thanksgiving in our hearts can cut through some of the garbage that can pile up on us.

To move through this season with thanksgiving can prepare us to receive the most important gift of all — Jesus Christ — whose birth we will celebrate again in just a few short weeks when Christmas comes again.

NORTHERN NEBRASKA'S CATARACT SPECIALIST

"The results are fantastic."

Wayne Dornhoff had cataracts.

He had "Single-Stitch" Cataract Surgery.

"I kept remarking to my wife that it was hazy out. She'd say no it isn't. That's how I found out I had cataracts. Plus, my vision at a distance was poor and driving at night was difficult.

Cataract surgery wasn't difficult. I didn't feel anything. The first time I got my vision checked after surgery they told me I had 20/20 vision.

Being afraid of cataract surgery is no reason not to have it done. There's nothing to be afraid of. The results are fantastic. Colors are more vibrant, that's the thing I noticed most. I can see at a distance again and the halos around lights have disappeared.

I've known Dr. Feidler for years. He's taken care of all my family. He's a good doctor."

"Rural Development in the Information Age" is the theme of the sixth annual community development conference set for Jan. 12-13 in Kearney.

Besides UNL's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, other sponsors include Kansas State University Cooperative Extension, Center for Public Affairs Research at the University of Nebraska-Omaha, International Center for Telecommunications Management at UNO, K N Energy Inc., DED, Nebraska Development Academy, Nebraska Industrial Developers Association, Nebraska Public Power District, Nebraska Telephone

Association, and the University of Nebraska at Kearney.

The conference, entitled "Building Partnerships for Community Development," will be held at the Ramada Inn. The conference is sponsored in part by the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension.

Keynote speakers are Sharon Strover of the University of Texas at Austin and Don Dillman of Washington State University at Pullman, according to Duane Olsen, event coordinator and UNL economist for leadership and public affairs.

Strover is scheduled to speak at noon, Jan. 12, on "Information Age Technologies Across the Nation." Subsequent sessions will highlight information age technologies for education, health, business and government. The sessions will include training, appraisal costs and benefits, and how to recognize support networks where special services can be obtained. An optional tour of Cabela's telemarketing operations also will be available to first-day registrants, Olsen said.

The event targets community leaders, volunteers, development specialists, resource professionals or anyone else interested in learning about the applications of communication, Olsen said.

Cost for either day is $25 or $45 for both days, if registration is received before Jan. 4. After Jan. 4, a late fee of $5 will be added. For more information, contact Olsen at telephone (402) 472-2041 or FAX (402) 472-3460; or JoAnn McManus at the Nebraska Department of Economic Development (DED), 800-426-6505 or (402) 471-3775.

JUNIOR SCOUTS

The Carroll Junior Scouts met Nov. 17 to make tree decorations for their tree at Fantasy Forest. On Nov. 18, six Junior Scouts attended the Dicken's Christmas Carol, which was held at the Wayne State College. There was a total of 333 junior scouts attending the play.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN

The Presbyterian Women held a carry-in Thanksgiving supper on Nov. 18 at the Presbyterian Church. Following the supper, a Thanksgiving program was given by JoAnn Owens. The next meeting will be on Dec. 2 with a noon lunch. The hostess will be Jackie Owens and the lesson will be by Eva Hoeman.

HILLCREST CLUB

The Hillcrest Club met in the home of Emma Eckert in Wayne on Nov. 17. The roll call for the day was a Thanksgiving you remember. Emma Eckert read a Thanksgiving poem and the afternoon was spent playing cards. All the members were present for the day. The next meeting will be Dec. 15 in the Eta Fisher home at 1:30 p.m.

BAKE SALE

The Methodist Sunday school children will be holding a bake sale on Dec. 5 at Farmers State Bank from 9 a.m. until everything is gone. The funds they raise will go for a TV and VCR.

THANKSGIVING FEAST

The children of the elementary school held a Thanksgiving feast on Tuesday. The kindergartners made the butter, the first and second grades made cornbread muffins and the third and fourth grades made cranberry sauce. Each year the children have their feast and this way they can show in their own way how they are thankful for everything they are able to do.

SENIOR CITIZENS

The Senior Citizens met Monday with 11 present to play cards for the afternoon. Prizes went to Etta Fischer, Esther Hansen and Edith Cook. The next meeting will be Monday, Nov. 30 at 1:30 p.m. with a potluck lunch. Clara Rethwisch was the hostess for the day.

Workshop at St. Luke's focusing on addictions

St. Luke's Gordon Recovery Centers is sponsoring a workshop for professionals in the field of addictions and a seminar for the public on establishing healthy relationships, both featuring national addiction expert John Friel.

The free events are slated for Thursday, Dec. 10, at the Institute for Health Education in St. Luke's Regional Medical Center.

Registration is required for the workshop for professionals, slated from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The presentation to the public at 7 p.m. requires no advance registration.

The workshop is designed for therapists, social workers, counselors, Employee Assistance Program (EAP) workers, chemical dependency treatment workers, clergy and nurses.

It will provide an update on treatment models and therapeutic techniques when working with clients and patients with personality disorders, shame and victimization issues.

At the public seminar, "Healthy Females, Healthy Males and healthy Relationships," Friel will look at the differences between healthy relationships and those painfully affected by co-dependency and other addictions, examine issues involving dysfunction in relationships and discuss how to establish healthy connections with other persons.

Friel, a licensed consulting psychologist, is perhaps best known to Siouxlanders for his work with the Lifeworks clinics, which he founded.

Offered by St. Luke's Gordon, the clinics help persons discover and work through family-of-origin roots and self-defeating living patterns.

An internationally recognized and respected lecturer in the areas of dysfunctional family systems, adult children, co-dependency and stress, Friel is author of three books that address addictions: "The Grown-Up Man," "An Adult Child's Guide to What's Normal," and "Adult Children: The Secrets of Dysfunctional Families."

For more information about either event or to register for the workshop for professionals, for which continuing education nursing credits will be available, call St. Luke's Staff Development at (712) 279-3273.
