

An interested group of Wayne County residents surveyed the conditions at the historic LaPorte Cemetery in the fog Saturday morning and discussed plans for renovation and restoring the site where some of the first residents of Wayne County were buried. The old graveyard is six miles south east of Wayne.

Multi-cultural ed may face schools starting next year

The Education Committee of the Nebraska Unicameral last week sent to the full Legislature a compromise measure requiring school districts to begin implementing a multicultural education law in the 1993-94 school year.

"As a classroom teacher, I know this can work," said Jim Kubik, a Norfolk High social studies instructor who is on a one-year leave of absence to work for the Nebraska Department of Education.

His task is to help set up the guidelines for the gradual implementation of Legislative Bill 922, which he wrote. The Legislature passed it last spring.

Sponsored by state Sen. Ernie Chambers of Omaha, the measure requires all school districts to gradually make multicultural education a part of their curriculums in order to foster cultural awareness and understanding, starting with the 1993-94 school year.

Kubik was in Wayne for a presentation to the American Association of University Women two weeks ago.

"Some people say this will take away from the basics of education," Kubik said. "I think this is one of the basics of education. If you've got a top-notch math student who expresses racist comments about other cultures, what do you really have?"

Kubik said there are any number of ways multicultural education can be made part of regular school curriculums.

"A history teacher can make sure that discussions of events include perspectives of different races and cultures," he said. "A literature teacher can add a book by a black author to the semester reading list. A physical education class can play a game created by Native Americans."

"You're still teaching history, literature and P.E., but you've infused multicultural awareness into it," he said.

Kubik said it won't be as easy to incorporate cultural awareness into some other classes, such as auto mechanics or math.

"So, maybe the auto mechanics teacher has a bulletin board put up that shows pictures of mechanics of different races," he said. "And perhaps a math teacher talks a little bit

Historic restoration underway

By Les Mann

An effort is underway to preserve and restore what some in Wayne County see as a historic treasure.

Only three veterans of the War of 1812 are buried in Nebraska and one of them is in the LaPorte Cemetery six miles southeast of Wayne.

It is sad to see what has become of the pioneer cemetery over the years says history buff and volunteer Steve Gross of Wayne, who wants to see the pioneer cemetery placed on the national register of history places.

Dating back to 1870, the cemetery is located near where the first settlement was established in Wayne County at LaPorte. The town was the site of the original county seat. Everything was relocated to Wayne when the railroad located there instead of at LaPorte.

OVER THE YEARS the cemetery had been allowed to deteriorate, become overgrown with brush, trees and weeds. Deadfall from the trees has damaged several of the headstones.

But a move is underway to reclaim the cemetery.

"These are the people that bought, made and used the things that are sitting on museum shelves today," said Gross. He said he has always had an interest in cemeteries and the history of people in them. Once he happened across the original Gross family settlers in the Midwest while touring a cemetery in eastern Iowa.

With the help of other volunteers interested in preserving the history of the area, Gross plans to replant the cemetery and attempt to identify all the graves. County road crews helped the process last week by removing many of the old diseased trees and underbrush from the two-acre cemetery.

Espy fights for rural

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy says he will fight to make sure rural America gets its share of any economic recovery plan.

In his first congressional testimony since becoming secretary, Espy also told the House Agriculture Committee on Wednesday he was moving along on proposals to restructure the department.

"I want to provide basic services that other parts of the country take for granted," Espy told the committee on which he served before his appointment by President Clinton.

Espy referred to his efforts to create community development banks for rural America, and said he would find staff and funding for the Rural Development Administration, created in the 1990 farm bill.

He also said he supported the Rural Electrification Administration, an

Benefit dinner set

Neihardt Hall on the Wayne State College campus will sponsor an "all-you-can-eat" spaghetti dinner this Sunday, Feb. 14 to help raise money to assist in the treatment of a four-year-old Columbus boy who was diagnosed with rhabdomyosarcoma (a soft tissue cancer) a little over a month ago.

Jacup Griffiths was diagnosed with cancer after the discovery of a lump on his back, which was the beginning of several chemotherapy and radiation treatments.

Side effects of the chemotherapy treatments include loss of hair, nausea and the destruction of cancerous cells as well as healthy cells.

In order to increase Jacup's resistance to infections, he must be given daily injections at a cost of $160 per day.

PROCEEDS from Sunday's spaghetti dinner will help pay for this treatment necessary to build up Jacup's cell count.

The spaghetti dinner will be served from 5 to 8 p.m. in the basement of Neihardt Hall at a cost of $2. Donations of food and/or money are also being accepted.

Persons who have questions regarding the event or would like to donate money are asked to contact Tammy Ferris at Neihardt Hall, 375-6858.

Time to think ahead

Lyle Kathol, coordinator of career prep and automotive technology instructor at Northeast Community College, speaks to a class at Wayne High School about career preparation, a program that helps students make sure they are preparing for a highly skilled career as early as their freshman year. Northeast College proposed the career prep program to area schools several years ago and continues to promote it to administrators. Wayne and Norfolk Public Schools have implemented the program for their students.

The GOLDEN YEARS
by Pat Lichty

One hundred couples turned out for an out-of-the-ordinary senior prom in the Eastport, New York, high school. It was for senior citizens, and it started at 3 p.m. because most of the guests don't like to drive at night. Students decorated the gym, prepared and served the food and fielded a 17-piece dance band (wearing ties and white shirts). The idea was to give older people in the community a chance to see the school and students "close up" — one week before a public vote on the school budget. The budget passed, 453 to 375.

A new generation is learning to appreciate Les Paul's guitar artistry. At 76 he has been performing Monday nights at a New York City jazz club. Because of arthritis, he says, he had to make a special pick and learn to play with two fingers instead of four. Today's leading young guitarists show up to join in his performances.

A very unfair bill

Dear Editor: I enjoy the articles in your paper which are written by school staff or administrators. Good to know the new programs and policies. Having visited the elementary school, as grandparents, last week, my wife and I are convinced school now has to be much more exciting than way back then.

In your Jan. 26 edition, page 2B there was an article by Supt. Dr. Jensen. It dealt with LB3 which was passed in last summer's special session marathon. As I understand, this law shifted the financial burden for education of foster care and wards of the court children from the Department of Social Services to the Department of Education. This could cost (School Dist. 17) taxpayers $72,000. This year. This is a very unfair bill. Your help in correcting this situation would be welcome. Also could you tell us if Senator Conway voted against this bill or sold us down the river?

Thanks
Wilbur Giese

A post-holiday 'whew'

Dear Editor: Now that everyone has taken down their holiday decorations and life has pretty much returned to normal, I would like to thank the hundreds of postal customers who helped make this holiday season a success in Wayne by mailing early and wrapping their packages with care.

I also would like to thank the employees of the Wayne Post Office for putting forth extra effort under demanding circumstances to make this a happy holiday for all our customers.

Many employees worked overtime when they would rather have been home with their families and loved ones — helping you mail your last-minute packages during our extended window hours and even working on Sundays. On Christmas Day, our employees lifted many people's spirits by delivering parcels.

I am particularly proud of our employees in Wayne because they focused on the needs of our customers and came through when you needed them most. "We Delivered for Yule."

Property tax hearings set

Dear Editor: We are nearly one third of the way through the 93rd legislative session. There are still many very important bills that need to have public hearings. Personal property tax issues, which dominated the last session, will not be quite as prominent this year, nevertheless, several bills on this subject will be heard in the Revenue Committee on Thursday, Feb. 18 at 1:30 p.m.

I encourage anyone who has been affected by, and dissatisfied with, recent personal property tax changes, to come to Lincoln to testify or simply show your support of the bills introduced by some of our rural senators to correct our unfair personal property tax.

It is important that Gov. Nelson and the urban senators know just how unpopular the current personal property tax system is. The bills address everything from repealing the tax on breeding livestock and fertilizer tax to my bill which exempts all personal property taxes. I feel strongly that this issue should be brought before the Legislature until finally all property taxes are removed.

Last week hearings were held on another important issue. Currently, Nebraska is the only state which does not participate in the Federal Insecticide Fungicide and Rodenticide Act or FIFRA.

Opposition to its funding mechanism from fertilizer and chemical dealers in Nebraska have delayed its implementation. It would be funded from a tax on chemicals sold in the state and by a license fee for dealers and applicators of chemicals.

If Nebraska does not participate in FIFRA, it is likely that many chemicals, such as Atrazine, will be banned for sale and use in the state. Concern at the hearing that chemical prices in Nebraska would be greatly increased was alleviated with an explanation of the pricing system.

It was explained that prices are set on a national basis which has in fact, meant Nebraska farmers in this state have been paying FIFRA surcharges on chemicals in other

Capital News —

Senator's pay an issue again

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

When a commission studying legislative compensation recently recommended a big pay raise for Iowa legislators, Gov. Terry Branstad recommended the commission be disbanded.

Now the Nebraska Legislature is recommending a pay raise for itself. I'll bet there are more than a few people who would now just as soon see the Legislature disbanded.

Under a proposed constitutional amendment introduced in the Legislature, state senators would get regular increases in pay according to increases in the cost of living.

The salary of senators is currently set in the constitution at $12,000 a year, where it has been since 1988. If voters approve the change, senators would get a pretty good jump in pay to catch up with the inflation of the last five years and then would get annual pay increases after that.

Obviously, this probably is not the best of times for the Legislature to be asking voters for a raise.

THE STATE IS facing a budget gap of over $60 million. Now a raise of a few thousand bucks for 49 people is not much money in the overall scheme of a 1.6 billion-buck budget. It's spittin' in the wind. But it's just the symbolism of the whole thing, paying themselves more while other things are getting cut.

And as the approval of term limits in the November election showed, the Legislature and all the rest of government isn't held in real high esteem right now. There is a lot of focus on government ethics and rightly or wrongly, there's an impression the Legislature is lacking something in the area.

The Legislature in its first month of the 1993 session hasn't done a lot to sharpen up that image, with one senator arrested for drunken driving and two others implicated in a deal where a phone company paid to be their host at the U.S. Open Golf tournament. Ouch.

TO TOP IT off, despite all the public concern, only one ethics related bill was introduced in the Legislature this year. That one came from eight freshman.

The sad thing about it is senators probably do deserve a raise. The pay is too low for how much time they spend. It would be a shame if we go another 20 years without increasing that salary, like we did the last time.

I think Sen. Chris Boutler had an interesting idea that well ties together the pay issue and the ethical things that has the public so down on government.

HIS IDEA IS to package a pay increase with the elimination of some of the perks senators get, free meals and drinks from lobbyists, free football tickets and other freebie gifts.

Voters might be more inclined to vote a pay increase to senators if they knew some of those things were out the window. And senators may be more willing to give up those things if they know they're going to be paid in a reasonable way. Heck, they could afford to buy their own food.

I don't know if it could sell with either the public or senators. But it seems worth looking at to me. The alternative is senators getting $12,000 paychecks into eternity and the wining and dining continuing to grate at voters.

It's a vicious circle we should try to break.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

percent wrong. Evidently as a student in your school's spelling class you went into optical seclusion. You ought to go talk to some Wayne State students. They would be the first to tell you that after getting an A.B. degree they know they're going to have to learn the rest of the alphabet.

"But learn'n English is hard! School was so tough my teachers had to give my grades month to month resuscitation. That made me feel purty bad so I turned to food for satismacktion. I done smacked too much so the teacher moved me into remedial feeding."

"Food is flour power. Geedies to you are what confounded interest is to a banker. That will give you a girthequake if you're not careful."

"Dora tells me I shouldn't eat in such a laphazard hurry, but by dingy-dongies when she cooks up one of those plottluck dinners I just sorta go overboard. Guess that's why I weigh two hundred and plenty."

Fruitcakes and other menaces to society

Gerald Otte has some advice for all the folks who have solar collectors on the south sides of their buildings.

He was passing his advise around the other day when he visited Mark Griesch's warehouse on South Main and noticed Mark's solar collector blowing a bunch of warm air.

"You're gonna hafta move this thing to the north side of the building," Griesch reported Otte told him.

When asked why he thought the solar panels would work better on the north Otte replied logically...

"Well Clinton's says he's going to turn the world around..."

to Canada in the sixties who are not fans of a Los Angeles baseball team either.

I suppose we need to rename all teams to inanimate objects.

Plants, yeah, that's the ticket. How about the Buffalo Begonias. (Certainly couldn't make them play any worse in the Stupor Bowl). Or we could have the Miami Marigolds, Pittsburgh Pansies and San Diego Snapdragon.

Minerals would be acceptable too, I would presume. The new Denver baseball team already has a leg up on the trend. The Colorado Rockies surely will offend no one, unless your name is Sierra or McKinley maybe.

The Cleveland Indians should become the Cleveland Coal Lumps. Really, have you seen them play in recent years?

Of course, we should avoid colors for team names. That's what started this mess in the first place. Browns, Reds, White Sox have got to go.

Cincinnati Sycamores, Houston Hickory Nuts, New Orleans Nasteriums...yeah, those are not offensive to anyone. Unless you wear the uniform.

Occasionally we should be reminded that a reputation built through a thousand years can depend on the conduct of a single moment.

I was attracted to a recent news report by an intense hatred for the subject of the story.

Someone finally found a good use for fruitcakes.

Following the Christmas fruitcake season a car dealership in Kansas City offered $5 to anyone who would bring in their fruitcake and have it smashed with a sledgehammer.

There were few takers. What a pity.

I subscribe to theory that there haven't been any new fruitcakes baked (or hatched?) for over ten years. Those being given as gifts each year are simply being recycled from the previous year's gift cache.

The best thing to do with a fruitcake is to take a sledge hammer to it and put us out of our misery. Shooting is too good for them.

The only good fruitcake is a dead fruitcake.

It's time to clear a bit of the rubble out of the old column idea file. I suppose you've heard, or maybe you haven't, of the group of cattlemen who are planning to wage a protest. With all the concern over sports team nicknames, the ranchers might as well get on the bandwagon.

The super bowl champions should change their nickname. "Cowboys" might be thought to be demeaning to a group of otherwise peace-loving people.

Makes about as much sense as the claim made recently that the word "chief" not be used to describe government leaders because that might be demeaning to Native Americans. I'm no particular fan of the Tomahawk Chop and the Chiefs, Redskins, Braves, and other teams with Indian-related nicknames are not high on my list of favorite things. (Matter of fact they aren't even on there.)

It just seems like there ought to be more important things to get upset about. But, if the trend continues, we are likely to hear from animal rights activists who want names like Broncos, Dolphins and Colts removed so as not to deride animals. Then maybe Catholics will protest the group of baseball playing priests in San Diego. There's also some fellows who moved

Local schools participate in Heart Month activities

Elementary students in St. Mary's and Wayne-Carroll Public Schools are involved in various activities during American Heart Month in February.

Third graders in each of the schools are making posters using the theme, "Valentines for Heart," and depicting foods that are healthy. The posters will be judged and prizes awarded during lunch on Feb. 12.

School lunches on Feb. 12 will feature a heart healthy menu, and volunteers from the Wayne County Board will speak briefly on healthy eating choices.

Packets are available in all grades that include games, songs and activities related to healthy hearts.

"These are examples of how the American Heart Association (AHA) is using our gifts of money in the area of education," said Marian Simpson, publicity chairman for the Wayne County Affiliate of the AMA.

Simpson added that attitudes toward a healthy lifestyle must be developed and nurtured early in life, and she assures residents that money they give when an AHA volunteer calls at their door will be used wisely.

WHAT ABOUT USING ALUMINUM COOKWARE?

People absorb more aluminum from antiperspirants and antacids containing aluminum than they do from aluminum cookware. People who have a diagnosed kidney disease and older people tend to retain aluminum within their bodies. But even those people need not worry about the minute quantities of aluminum they may get from their pots and pans.

Briefly Speaking

Support group for women only

AREA - Area women who are in, or have been in, a controlling or abusive relationship are invited to attend a new support group organized by Haven House of Wayne for women only. The group's first meeting is today (Tuesday), and interested women are asked to call 375-4633 to register. A spokesman for Haven House said the group is free of charge with free child care available. All groups are strictly confidential.

Valentine luncheon scheduled

AREA - Marie Huck, columnist, will feature Valentine readings and poetry as part of an upcoming luncheon sponsored by the Norfolk Christian Women's Club. All area women are invited to attend the "Candlelight and Hearts Delight" luncheon on Tuesday, Feb. 16 from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Alley Rose Supper Club in Norfolk. All first time guests and the one who invited her will be honored with a Valentine gift. Susan Warneke of Norfolk will be the soloist, and Mavis Theis of Crescent, Iowa will speak on "The Revealing Colors of Our World." This is a modeling school graduate and color consultant and holds seminars on fashion, color and image. She is also the 1992 Iowa Mother-of-the-Year. Luncheon reservations are due Friday, Feb. 12 by calling Pat at 371-3643 or Bonnie at 375-1791. A free nursery is also provided by reservation.

Business, Professional Women meet

WAYNE - Wayne Business and Professional Women (BPW) met for a 6:30 p.m. dinner on Jan. 19 at the Black Knight, followed with a business meeting and program. Guests were Diane Clinch, owner of The Undercut, and Karen Anderson of Coleridge, a Wayne State College graduate who presented the program entitled "AIDS and Its Effects on Women." Anderson is employed as director of counseling at the Boys and Girls Home in Sioux City and speaks to organizations throughout the area. It was announced that the drawing for a BPW fund raiser will take place Feb. 11 at 8:30 p.m. at Mines Jewelers in Wayne. Raffle tickets are being sold for a pinky ring and the money will go to provide a $100 scholarship for a non-traditional student to attend Wayne State College. Tickets may still be purchased from any BPW member at a cost of one for $1 or six for $5. The next dinner meeting of the Wayne BPW will be Feb. 16 at 6:30 p.m. at the Black Knight. Following dinner will be the announcement of this year's "Employer of the Year" winner who will speak on the benefits of women employees.

94th birthday celebrated

LAUREL - Ethel Erickson celebrated her 94th birthday on Feb. 6 at Hillcrest Care Center in Laurel. The event was sponsored by her family and the Concordia Lutheran Church Dorcas Circle of which Ethel is an honorary member. Guests were present from Lincoln, Omaha, St. Paul, Wayne, Laurel, Concord and Dixon. The birthdays of family members Edna Mac Anderson and Ray Stanley were also celebrated. Birthday cakes and ice cream were served in the afternoon.

First Trinity LWML meets

ALTONA - The Lutheran Women's Missionary League (LWML) of First Trinity Lutheran Church, Altona, met Feb. 4. The Rev. Ricky Bertels opened with prayer and the lesson, "God as Planner," from the Effective Society Planning conference held recently. The lesson concluded with group singing of "To God Be the Glory." Darlene Frevert presided at the business meeting with eight members and three guests, Janice Bertels, Ashley Easley and Lois Siefken. She also reported on the Effective Society Planning conference. An announcement was made concerning a retreat for pastors and their wives. The LWML will participate in collecting books, including Bibles, for Lutheran schools in Brazil. They are to be hard cover books and are to be brought to the Spring Workshop. It was announced that the Ash Wednesday service will be at Altona. A list of workers for the various Lenten fellowships will be placed on the bulletin board in the church narthex. The pastors conference will be held in Altona on April 6, with Darlene Frevert, Clara Heinemann and Julie Stuthman on the committee to work. A memorial was conducted for Ella Reinhardt. Pastor Bertels led in prayer and the group sang "Abide With Me." The dedication song was sung for the mitre box offering, and the meeting closed with the table prayer and Lord's Prayer. Hostess was Julie Stuthman. The next meeting will be March 4 at 1:30 p.m.

Auxiliary hears several reports

Several reports were given during a meeting of the Irwin L. Sears American Legion Auxiliary #43 on Feb. 1 in the Wayne Vet's Club room. President Helen Siefken opened the meeting and Chaplain Pro Tem Frances Doring gave the prayer, followed with the flag salute and singing of "The Star Spangled Banner." Twelve members were present and repeated the preamble to the constitution of the American Legion Auxiliary. ETHEL Johnson, Americanism chairman, read "Whose Job is It?" Eveline Thompson, Girls State, education and scholarship chairman, announced that information regarding the programs is available by contacting Terry Munson, guidance counselor at Wayne High School. Linda Grubb, hospital chairman, reported sending get well cards to Jewell-Cavner, Louise-Kahler, Maria Brugger, Luverna Hilton and Vivian-Mau. Safety Chairman Winifred Craft read "How to Dress for the Different Weather." A letter was read from District III President Geraldine Cline announcing that the district convention will be held at Thurston on March 13. The auxiliary will meet in the Presbyterian Church. Eveline Thompson was elected Wayne County vice president for 1992-93 during the Wayne County Convention held at Winside.

CHAPLAIN Doring read a prayer for peace, followed with the singing of "America" and the penny march for the Little Red Schoolhouse Nurses Scholarship Fund. Serving were Dorothy Parenti and Mabel Sommerfeld, with the next meeting of the auxiliary scheduled March 1 in the Wayne Vet's Club room.

Baby baptized at Hoskins

Lyle Logan Marotz, son of Kevin and Leah Marotz of Hoskins, was baptized on Jan. 31 during worship services at Trinity Lutheran Church in Hoskins. The Rev. James Nelson officiated, and sponsors were Sherri Schmale and Lori Bernel. Lyle wore his father's baptismal gown. The Marotzes hosted a dinner afterward in honor of the occasion. Special guests were great grandparents Lyle Marotz and Nelda Lueders of Norfolk, and grandparents Robert and Joan Jensen of Winside and Lane and Jeanie Marotz of Hoskins. Other guests included Lonnie and Lori Bernel and Derek of Sioux City, Ed and Sherri Schmale, Kayla, Kyle and Kourtney of Carroll, Nancy Chapek of Omaha, and Erin Marotz and Jay and April Neisius of Hoskins.

Card shower planned for Carroll woman

Gertrude Moore of Carroll is celebrating her 80th birthday on Thursday, Feb. 11, and her family is requesting a card shower in honor of the occasion. Cards should be addressed to Mrs. Gertrude Moore, Carroll, Neb., 68723. Mrs. Moore had resided and worked in Northeast Nebraska all her life. She has four children, 15 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Wayne cagers rebound with wins in consolation rounds

After suffering first round upsets at the Northern Activities Conference Tournament last Thursday in South Sioux, the Wayne girls and boys basketball teams rebounded to take third place with wins on Saturday over O'Neill.

Marlene Uhing's girls won a 56-52 decision over the Lady Eagles while Bob Uhing's boys team sprinted out of a recent slump by scoring 93 points and blasting O'Neill by 46 in a 93-47 rout.

The Lady Blue Devils trailed O'Neill 16-6 after the first quarter and 29-20 at the half. Wayne still trailed 44-38 after three quarters of play but out-scored O'Neill 18-8 over the final eight minutes to post its 13th win of the year against four defeats.

"We were a lot more aggressive on offense in the second half," Uhing said. "We went to a half court trapping defense at the end of the third quarter and our defense did a nice job of containing O'Neill's scoring threats."

Liz Reeg led Wayne, with 28 points while Erin Pick and Jenny Thompson netted 11 each. Jenny Thomsen finished with four and Danielle Nelson added two.

Wayne dominated the boards, 31-16 as Reeg hauled down a team high 10 caroms. The Blue Devils finished with 14 turnovers compared to seven for the Eagles but Wayne hit 13 of 15 free throws including a perfect 10-10 by Reeg, while O'Neill was 4-6.

"Liz played a real nice game,"

Uhing said. "We also got some quality play from Jenny Thompson who hit three, three-pointers." Wayne will travel to play Stanton on Tuesday.

THE WAYNE BOYS out-scored O'Neill 31-9 in the first quarter and never looked back as they improved to 15-2 on the season with an easy victory.

"We came out and played hard and we were emotionally ready to play," Uhing said. "Our team had fun." Wayne led 55-29 at the half and 79-38 after three quarters.

Bobby Barnes led a group of 10 Wayne players in scoring with 20 points while Brad Uhing poured in 19 and Matt Blomenkamp added 17. Mike Fluent was in double figures with 15 points while Arnold Schwartz and Robert Bell scored six each. Regg Carnes scored five followed by Ryan Pick and Joe Lutt with two each. Mark Meyer rounded out the scoring with one point.

Wayne dominated the boards, 40-16 led by Fluent with 12 rebounds. Wayne had just nine turnovers while forcing O'Neill into 21. Wayne was 9-17 from the foul line and the Eagles were 10-15.

"Mike Fluent played extremely well," Uhing said. "Matt Blomenkamp had an excellent all-around tournament and Robert Bell did some nice things for us in both games."

Wayne will travel to play Madison on Friday. The Dragons upset C-1 top rated Battle Creek in tournament action last Friday.

Football team signs one more

WAYNE-Dallas Schwery of Harlan, Iowa will continue his academic and athletic career at Wayne State College. Schwery, a 6-3, 225-pound offensive lineman, was a two-time elite all-state and three-time all-conference selection at Harlan High School. He was also selected to play in the Iowa Shrine Game.

"Dallas is a great catch," says fourth-year WSC head football coach Dennis Wagner. "He has a great frame to build on, and should play a lot of football at WSC. He comes from an outstanding program, where I think he's only lost about four games in his whole career."

Wakefield boys fall in finals to Walthill

The Wakefield boys basketball team defeated Coleridge in the finals of the Clark Division Tournament, Friday in Wausa, 40-38 to advance to the Lewis & Clark finals on Saturday against Walthill, where the Trojans were defeated, 49-42 at Wayne State College.

Wakefield coach Brad Hoskins said Friday's game with Coleridge was a close one all the way. "There really wasn't an easy moment for either team the whole game," Hoskins said. "I thought defensively, our team did a whale of a job in holding a quality Coleridge team to 38 points. Conversely, Coleridge did a great defensive job on us. Both teams were playing a mirror of each other as we both ran the same offense," Hoskins added.

Wakefield led 12-10 after the first quarter but trailed 19-18 at the half. The Trojans regained the lead after the third quarter at 27-25. Both teams netted 13, fourth quarter points.

Larry Johnson led Wakefield with 13 points while Ben Dutton tallied 10. Cory Brown scored nine and Miah Johnson netted six. Cody Skinner rounded out the attack with two.

Wakefield held a 25-23 advantage on the boards led by Dutton with nine caroms and Brown with seven. The Trojans had 12 turnovers compared to 17 for the Bulldogs. Wakefield was 10-17 from the foul line and Coleridge was 5-8. "It was important for us to beat a team like Coleridge," Hoskins said.

ON SATURDAY THE Trojans took a 30-26 lead over Walthill at halftime, only to be out-scored 13-5 in the third quarter to trail 39-35. "We had lead up until the end of the third quarter," Hoskins said. "Walthill's half court trapping frustrated our guards."

Hoskins said his squad was still in position to win the game down the stretch but failed to take advantage of their opportunities. "Walthill is easily the best team we've faced this season," Hoskins said.

20 grid recruits sign

Wayne State College head football coach Dennis Wagner announced 20 student-athletes have signed letters of intent to continue their academic and football careers at Wayne State.

Eleven Nebraska high school standouts, along with nine transfer student-athletes, make up the WSC recruiting class of 1993.

"We're very pleased with the fact we were able to get the receivers, offensive lineman, and quarterbacks because we were hurt by graduation in those areas," Wagner said. "We are very excited about this recruiting class. We're looking forward to next season, but still have a lot of unanswered questions and shoes to fill from our graduating senior class."

The Wildcats lost 13 players from last season's 5-4 football team, and compete as independent division II members of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA-II).

The 12-9 Trojans were led by Ben Dutton with 15 points while Larry Johnson scored 10 and T.J. Preston added seven. Cory Brown tossed in six points while Miah Johnson and Cody Skinner added two each.

Wakefield held a 33-24 rebounding advantage led by Dutton's 14 boards and Brown's eight. The Trojans had 22 turnovers compared to 13 for Walthill and Wakefield was 9-12 from the foul line while the winning Bluejays were 8-10.

THE WAKEFIELD GIRLS advanced as far as the finals of the Clark Division against Wausa on Friday but Gregg Cruickshank's squad fell by a 33-27 margin to the host Lady Vikings who went on to defeat Bancroft-Rosalie in Saturday's final at Wayne State.

The Lady Trojans led 10-2 over Wausa after the first quarter but the game was tied at 12 at the intermission. Wakefield led 22-20 after three quarters but were out-scored 13-5 over the final eight minutes.

"We had a four point lead with three minutes to go in the fourth quarter but we got a little tentative on offense and we turned the ball over a couple times against Wausa's press," Cruickshank said. "We had plenty of chances in the final minutes but we just fell short."

Despite the loss Cruickshank was proud of his team's effort. "Our girls played a super defensive game," Cruickshank said. "They gave as good of effort as they have all season."

Heidi Muller led the Trojans with eight points while Angie Peterson netted six and Kathy Oue, five. Cindy Torzon finished with four points while Jaime Oswald and Kali Baker netted two each.

Wakefield out-rebounded Wausa, 24-21 as Muller and Maria Eaton shared team honors with six rebounds each. Both teams had 15 turnovers. Wakefield was 2-6 from the free throw line and Wausa was 7-9.

Buzzer beater three-pointer costs WSC women; Men beaten

Mike Barry's Wayne State women's basketball team lost a heart-breaker, Saturday night in Bemidji, Minn., as the host team sank a three-point basket at the buzzer to defeat the Wildcats, 92-91.

The 'Cats had the ball with 27 seconds left in regulation and the score tied at 89. Lisa Chamberlin put up a shot that drew iron but was Cheri VanAuker was there for the offensive rebound and put back to give WSC a 91-89 lead with 12 seconds left.

"Bemidji State didn't even call a time out," Barry said. "They came right down the court and penetrated the lane and dished off to an open girl from three point range and she drained it."

Barry said his team ended up losing the game from the bonus range as Bemidji State nailed seven, three-pointers in the second half in just 10 attempts. "They hit six of their last seven," Barry said. "That was a tough way to lose a game but when that girl put that last one up at the buzzer we knew it was going in."

The 12-8 Wildcats led by as many as 14 points in the second half before Bemidji rallied. "We had a 14 point lead and in three straight possessions they sank three-pointers," Barry said. "That trimmed the lead to five just like that."

Barry said this was a game that came down to who had the ball last as to who would win it. The loss put a damper on Jodi Otjen's career high 31 point performance.

The Battle Creek native nailed 11 of 18 shots from the floor and was 9-10 from the foul line. Mary Schnitzler followed with 17 points and Lisa Chamberlin tossed in 14 while VanAuker tallied nine. Lynn Nohr finished with seven while Brenda Te Grotenhuis and Kristy Twait scored four each. Linda Heller and Ann Kramer rounded out the scoring with three and two points respectively.

WSC was out-rebounded, 46-40 despite Otjen's 15 carom outing. The 'Cats had 12 turnovers while forcing Bemidji into 21. WSC will host a four-game home stand beginning Tuesday night when they play Morningside.

WHILE THE WOMEN were playing in Minnesota, Mike Brewen's men were playing in Wisconsin against Parkside and the 'Cats slipped to 7-15 after an 83-54 defeat.

WSC trailed by just four points at the intermission, 38-34 but were out-scored 45-20 in the second half. David Allen led WSC with 15 points while Paul Stella netted 12 and Dan Anderson, 10. Dave Summers scored five points while Keith Whitfield and Terry Mailloux tallied four each. Greg Ryan and Michael Parks rounded out the scoring with two points each.

The 'Cats were out-rebounded by Parkside, 38-31 with Allen leading Wayne State with nine boards. Summers dished out four assists to lead the visitors.

The Wildcats had just 11 turnovers in the game but the host team suffered just seven. WSC was 23-57 from the field for 40 percent and 4-7 from the free throw line while Parkside was 29-60 from the floor for 48 percent and 15-20 from the charity stripe.

The Wildcats will host nationally ranked NAIA power Briar Cliff on Wednesday in Rice Auditorium.

authorless. Let me tell you Raisin, sometimes her words are a dime a doesn't, and I can't get a word in sledge-wise."

"Do you ever stay mad at each other for very long?"

"Naw, not usually. I tell her not to slam her face in my mind. Then we bury the hatchet, but in a well-marked spot. She's real good at giv'n me an "I"-lashing: I think, I hope, I want. You know how that goes. She has even threatened to dress me in our old-school colors — black and blue."

"Wow!", I said. "Remember, Homer, marriage is a lot like a prize fight, the preliminaries are sometimes better than the main event."

"Could be. Well, I 'spose I'd better git. Jist thot I'd come over for a little peevedropping. Better git home to the speaker of the house. She's a bit clockeyed and I told her I'd make it by seven."

NRD offers 4-H camp scholarships

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District is now accepting applications for 4-H summer camp scholarship from youth throughout the 15-county district. The Lower Elkhorn NRD will reimburse six 4-H members for the full camp registration fee.

Three scholarships are available for the Natural Resources and Leadership Camp which will be held June 14 to 18 at Halsey. Winners of the three ExpoVisions Camp scholarships will attend the camp in Lincoln from July 7 to 9.

Scholarship winners must register for the camp, arrange for their own transportation and pay all fees. The Lower Elkhorn NRD will reimburse the registration fee after the scholarship winners send camp attendance verification to the Lower Elkhorn Office.

Any 4-H member who would like to apply for these scholarships should contact their local Cooperative Extension Service office for more information and an application form. All applications must be received by March 31. 4-H scholarship winners will be notified in April.

Teen Supremes sponsoring teen lock-in Area youth, ages 13 to 19, are invited to attend a Teen Lock-in on Friday, Feb. 19 in Wayne city auditorium. The teens planning the event say, "plan to stay up all night."

Activities will include volleyball, dancing and dance lessons, games, munchies and movies. There will also be two learnshops, entitled "I'll Take Charge" and "Your True Colors," presented by the extension staff.

Pre-registration is required and limited to the first 40 teens. Anyone wishing to register is asked to stop by the Wayne County Extension Office, located in the basement of the courthouse, or call 375-3310 to obtain an official registration/health form.

The registration fee is $10.

FEDERAL MANDATES FOR PHARMACISTS

During the next few weeks, the pharmacists at Sav-Mor Healthmart Pharmacy will be gathering information about you when you get your prescriptions filled. For some of our customers, it is being done to fulfill a federal mandate, but for all our customers, it is being done because it is in the interest of your good health. As an addition to our counseling activity that has been our trademark for years, our computer system has added the ability to screen for interactions between various drugs and disease states that may be present. The benefit for our customers is obvious in this case. If the interaction profile in our computer picks up a potentially harmful outcome before it happens, everybody wins. For this reason, we will be asking questions concerning disease states, age, other drugs you are taking, and so forth. Your cooperation in this matter will help us provide better service for you. Choose Sav-Mor Healthmart for your family because we have always cared enough to provide patient counseling to all our customers. Sav-Mor Healthmart Pharmacy, Wayne, Nebraska.

PEO program on national parks

WAYNE - Wayne PEO Chapter AZ met Feb. 2 in the home of Bonnie Lund with 24 members and one guest attending. Assisting the hostess were Joan Carhart, Marie Mohr and Barbara Kelton.

During the meeting, Marian Simpson reported on the Continuing Education Grand Fund. Financial need is one of the criteria for awarding grants, with business and nursing being two of the most popular fields. In excess of $5,000,000 is available for grants.

Donna Liska announced that the college group will meet on Feb. 16 in the home of Bonnie Lund.

A program on national parks was given by Margaret Lundstrom, who reported that the National Park Service was founded in 1916 and there are currently 37 national parks, with Yellowstone National Park being the oldest and largest.

The next meeting of Chapter AZ will be Feb. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Jean Griess.

agency that had been set up to provide electricity to rural America but has authority to promote other kinds of public works. The agency has been criticized as being outdated and overbudgeted.

Espy had set rural economic development as a priority, but his attention has been diverted by a food poisoning outbreak in the Pacific northwest and by the failure of Russia to make good on U.S.-backed loans for farm goods.

Espy did say he was proceeding with his plans to reorganize the department and would meet soon with committee members to discuss it. He said those plans were a factor in delaying some key appointments.

"I will take my time to carefully select the best men and women," he said, but "some of these assistant secretaries ... will be eliminated."

WSC play is cast

Gwen Jensen of Wakefield has been cast in the role of Tessie for Wayne State College Theatre's production of "The Miss Firecracker Contest." Jensen is a 1978 graduate of Wayne High School where she was active in theatre and speech. Presently Jensen is a senior majoring in theatre, English and speech at Wayne State. Jensen's parents are Jason and Virginia Preston of Wayne.

The play is about a small town beauty and talent contest where the contestants are neither beautiful or talented. It will be performed in Ley Theatre in the Education Building on the WSC campus Sunday, Feb. 21 at 2 p.m., Monday, Feb. 24 at 8 p.m. and Tuesday, Feb. 25 at 8 p.m. This play, by Mary Beth Henley, is the third in a season of comedy for Wayne State Theatre.

Jensen's previous experiences include roles as Phoebe in "As You Like It."

For more information, contact Dr. Andre Sedriks, professor of theatre at 375-7422.

about noteworthy mathematicians of different races.

A statewide advisory group made of three task forces is developing curriculum, accreditation and assessment guidelines.

Anderson promoted

Kraig Anderson, son of Carl and Shelly Anderson of Wakefield, has been promoted to the rank of Sergeant in the U.S. Marines. He is attached to a Marine Wing Support Squadron stationed in Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii.

Anderson was commended for his esprit de corps, devotion to duty and professionalism. To qualify for a promotion, a Marine must perform effectively and loyally, plus develop and prove the capacity to handle the increased responsibilities of the next rank.

His address is Sgt. Kraig W. Anderson, MWSS 174 (S-4) MAG-24, MCAS Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii, 96863.

A copy of the curriculum's report due in April will be sent to every school administrator in the state and a series of public meetings will be held to gather reaction to the recommendations, Kubik said. The report may be altered by the task force and advisory committee before it goes to the State Board of Education for final approval, he said.

Kubik said he gets frustrated by criticism of LB922 when none of the specific guidelines has been formulated.

Some of the concerns have dealt with the assessment part of the law. Kubik said the law states that students in each district shall be tested, using an assessment system, to measure student cultural awareness every five years beginning with the 1997-98 academic year.

"We're seeking an assessment method that gets away from pencil and paper questions," he said. "We don't want to know what a student can memorize, but what a student has learned," he said.

Critics of the measure also say it's costly for school districts, requires new classes to be formed and forces a state curriculum onto districts.

None of that is true, Kubik said.

ing off the weeds and allowing the native grass and wildflowers to rejuvenate. Contributions are also being sought to replant trees, especially cedars and flower beds.

Gross said cedar trees are the traditional cemetery tree known as the tree of sorrows. He said historically they were planted in cemeteries because they supposedly moan when the wind blows through them.

The effort to replant the cemetery may be difficult because the records which date back to the pioneer days in Wayne County are "so loose."

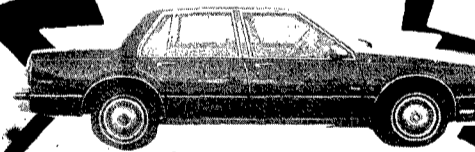

Gross said he also intends to see an association formed to work at maintaining the area once the refurbishing is completed. Plans also include refurbishing the grave markers and placing new markers on unidentified graves.

Heart Month is underway

February is American Heart Month and the American Heart Association (AHA) urges the public to be cautious when responding to mail requests for donations from non-profit organizations.

Mailings from organizations with similar sounding names may confuse the donor and divert funds away from intended agencies.

"In particular, we are concerned that the public may confuse the American Heart Association with other groups whose names include words like 'American,' 'National,' 'Heart,' 'Heart Disease,' 'Heart Research,' 'Cardiac,' 'Cardiovascular,' and so on," said Kris Giese, president of the Wayne County affiliate of the AHA.

FEBRUARY IS AMERICAN HEART MONTH

American Heart Association officials across the nation have received numerous requests for information about such sound-alike and look-alike organizations.

"WHILE THE AHA does not wish to question any legitimate not-for-profit agency raising funds for cardiovascular research, we do want the public to understand that there is no relationship between these sound-alike groups and the American Heart Association," said Giese, adding that that prospective contributors might think that when they contribute to such groups that they are giving to the AHA.

Giese reminds residents that February is American Heart Month and she encourages them to give locally when an AHA volunteer comes to their door during the annual residential campaign.

She added that the Wayne County Affiliate has no control over requests for money which are received through the mail.

THE AMERICAN Heart Association, founded in 1924, is the only national non-profit health organization devoting all its resources to one goal — the reduction of premature death and disability due to heart disease, stroke and related disorders.

As a voluntary health organization, the AHA is supported almost exclusively by public contributions and the donated time of more than 2.7 million volunteers in communities nationwide.

The AHA cautions the public to scrutinize any organization soliciting funds. The Council of Better Business Bureaus has defined voluntary Standards for Charitable Solicitations.

While not recommending one fund-raising method over another, the standards call for solicitations and informational materials to be accurate, truthful and not misleading, both in whole and in part.

THE FOLLOWING guidelines are suggested for people who are not certain about the legitimacy of an organization asking for contributions:

—Determine if it has tax-exempt status by asking to see a letter from the Internal Revenue Service. Non-profit, tax-exempt charitable institutions must register with the IRS so that contributions are deductible.

—Contact the local office of the Better Business Bureau or write to the Council of Better Business Bureaus, Philanthropic Advisory Service (PAS), 1515 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Va., 22209, (703) 276-0133. The BBB and PAS maintain lists of non-profit agencies that operate according to their standards for charitable solicitations, published bimonthly as "Give But Give Wisely."

—The National Charities Information Bureau issues a free "Wise Giving Guide" every two months, obtained by writing 19 Union Square West, New York, N.Y., 10003.

American Red Cross spring course schedule announced

The Wayne County American Red Cross had announced its 1993 spring course schedule, with several classes being offered to all interested and qualified persons in Northeast Nebraska during the next several weeks.

The courses will be conducted by American Red Cross volunteer instructors in conjunction with Wayne State College.

THE 1993 spring course schedule includes Lifeguard Training Renewal on Saturday, Feb. 13; Lifeguard Training on March 14, 19-21; Water Safety Instructor on March 26-27, April 16-17, April 23-24; Water Safety Instructor Update on April 25; Instructor Candidate Training (ICT) on March 16 and 23; Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) on March 22-April 5 (Mondays only) from 6 to 10 p.m. (all courses will be available at this time, with adult CPR to be given first, followed with child and infant and basic life support; and CPR Instructor (available upon request and in conjunction with the CPR classes).

The course schedule also includes Standard First Aid (designed for the lay person to provide basic first aid techniques and instruction in adult CPR) on March 1 and March 3 from 6 to 10 p.m.

Also scheduled is Responding to Emergencies: First Aid, a new American Red Cross course designed for those who are in charge of groups and who may need to respond to emergency situations before rescue squads can reach the scene. The course will include advanced and updated first aid techniques, and will be offered on March 25 through April 29 (Thursdays only) from 6 to 10 p.m. A First Aid Instructor course is also available upon request and will be held in conjunction with the First Aid Courses previously described.

PRE-REGISTRATION and pre-payment of fees is required, with the pre-registration deadline one week before the date of the first class period.

Interested persons are asked to contact Linda Teach, Wayne County ARC, 607 Fairacres Rd., Wayne, Neb., 68787, or telephone (402) 375-1521 for further information and costs.

Course costs vary according to the class, but include all facility fees, books and necessary materials.

Elected to Ag Council

Jennifer Puls has been elected to serve on the 1993 Agriculture Student Council at Iowa State University. Jennifer is one of 45 outstanding students on the council. Each student represents a specific organization active within the College of Agriculture. Jennifer represents the Dairy Science Club as their junior representative.

The Agriculture Council serves as a unifying agency among the students of the College of Agriculture and acts as a means of direct, semi-official contact between the Dean of the College of Agriculture, faculty, student body and the organization which the student is representing.

Some 1993 Ag Council activities include an annual retreat, a College of Agriculture Reception, Freshman-Transfer Barbecue to welcome new students in the Ag College, an annual steak fry to provide an opportunity for interaction between the faculty and the council, a VEISHEA display and Ag Week in November, where speakers and activities are planned to promote agriculture and to give recognition to the ISU College of Agriculture.

Jennifer is the daughter of Dallas and Ruth Puls of Hoskins and is a freshman majoring in dairy science/pre vet.

Reservations are still being taken for Northeast Community College's alumni reunion on Saturday, Feb. 13.

Festivities begin at 3 p.m. in Northeast's Student Center where alumni will be given the opportunity to visit with old and new friends. An Alumni Association meeting and introductions of alumni follow at 3:30 p.m. Tours of buildings will also be available prior to a soup and sandwich supper at 5 p.m. Cost of the supper is $3 per person, and $1.50 for children 12 and under.

Alumni will be admitted free to the men's and women's basketball games against McCook Community College. Game times are 6 and 8 p.m., respectively. Alumni will be introduced between games.

All alumni (and their families) of Northeast Community College, Northeast Technical Community College, Northeast Nebraska Technical College, Northeastern Nebraska College and Norfolk Junior College are invited to attend all activities. Reservations are required.

For more information, or to make reservations, contact Jerry Holmberg, Northeast Community College, 644-0463, or 1-800-348-9033.

Dixon County 4-H'ers nominated for awards

The Nebraska 4-H Incentive Program provides inspiration and motivation to many 4-H'ers. Members compete for county, state and national recognition by reporting their 4-H project achievements and accomplishments, as well as their leadership and citizenship activities. This year 34 4-H'ers from 11 counties in the Northeast District Competition, according to Vickie Greve, Northeast District 4-H Youth Specialist. Forty-eight records were reviewed by the 1993 Awards Judging Committee and over half of the records were selected to go on to state competition this summer. Five 4-H'ers from Dixon County were nominated to represent the Northeast District in state competition.

The judging committee was comprised of volunteers and county staff from Pierce, Dakota, Wayne and Stanton counties.

District nominees will be eligible to compete in July for the opportunity to compete at the national level.

They were selected for their outstanding 4-H leadership in the following areas: Angela Abis, clothing and food nutrition; Adam Bauman, dairy conference; Mandy Hartung, fashion revue; Sonya Plueger, beef and Tanya Plueger, sheep.

4-H Show Band 'On Tour'

Young members of the Dog Creek 4-H Club in Wayne have created their own show band and went on a one stop tour Saturday performing a concert at the Wayne Care Centre. Many of the youngsters performed solos. This is the second annual Dog Creek band tour. Following the concert the students passed out refreshments for the enthusiastic residents.

Band students honored at WSC

Several junior high and high school musicians from Wayne joined students from across a three-state area for the Wayne State College Honor Band Festival held Feb. 6.

Participants were chosen through auditions, with the Junior High Band consisting of seventh, eighth and ninth graders, and the High School Band consisting of 10th, 11th and 12th graders.

The Junior High Honor Band was conducted by Fred Hanna, director of bands at Wayne State College, and the High School Honor Band was conducted by Christopher Morris of Evanston, Ill.

The students began rehearsals at 8:30 Saturday morning and gave a final concert at 6 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre on the Wayne State College campus.

PARTICIPATING in the Junior High Honor Band from Wayne Middle School and Wayne High School were freshman Kristine Kopperud, clarinet (first chair); freshman Sara Hall, clarinet (second chair); eighth grader Melissa Weber, clarinet; seventh grader Carla Kemp, clarinet (first alternate); eighth grader Liz Lindau, French horn; eighth grader Jeremy Lutt, trombone; freshman Scott Olson, trombone; eighth grader Trevor Luther, trombone; and seventh grader Chris Nelson, trombone (second alternate).

Participating in the High School

Writer's Circuit hits WSC

Author Kent Haruf will be the featured speaker as Wayne State College continues its 1992-93 Plains Writers Circuit at 4 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 16 in the Humanities Building's second-floor lounge. The public is invited.

Haruf has authored two novels, "The Tie That Binds" and "Where You Once Belonged," several short stories, and a short film called "Private Debts."

Among Haruf's many awards is the PEN Hemingway Foundation's Special Citation. He is currently an assistant professor of English at Southern Illinois University where he teaches fiction writing.

The Plains Writers Circuit is an ambitious effort to bring published authors to Wayne State College, according to Jim Brummels, assistant professor of English and published author at Wayne State.

This year marks the 15th consecutive year that authors have been hosted by the Circuit. Brummels says a consortium of four Nebraska colleges sponsor the writers. They include, Nebraska Wesleyan University, the University of Nebraska-Kearney and Northeast Community College.

The Plains Writers Circuit also receives funding from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Drug-free youth meet

The Northeast Council of Nebraska's Youth Against Drug Abuse (NYADA) met Jan. 30 at Columbus with 100 representatives from eight area drug-free youth groups. Groups represented included Bloomfield Jr. and Sr. High, Columbus, Crofton, Hartington, Norfolk Catholic, Stanton, Wayne Middle and High School and West Point.

Six Regional NYADA Advisory Councils in the state are sponsored by "The Nebraska Network of Drug-Free Youth." The Network is a statewide organization of over 113 drug-free youth groups. The regional councils provide input into the planning of drug-free youth events in the state. NYADA provides opportunities for education, networking, resource information and most of all fun. All to help keep the drug-free spirit alive.

During the event, the adult sponsors of the drug-free youth groups were honored for their dedication and representation to the youth. The adult sponsors are a vital component to the success of the drug-free youth groups and February is being celebrated as "Appreciate Your Adult Sponsor Month." The focus of the month will be on the adult sponsors and the youth of the groups expressing their thanks to them.

The NYADA event ended with everyone adjourning to the Columbus Aquatic Center for a pool party.

The Nebraska Network of Drug-Free Youth and the Regional NYADA Advisory Councils are coordinated through the Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Council of Nebraska.

Riley's Convention Center hires manager, sets opening

Dixon-native Carolyn George has joined the team at Riley's Convention Center as the banquet and convention center manager. Carolyn will handle the marketing and booking for the new 8,000 square foot convention center located in Wayne. Ms. George said several wedding receptions/dances are already scheduled and a few conferences and banquets, like Pheasants Forever and the local area Chamber of Commerce banquet and dance. The new facility is expected to be open Feb. 18 after being under construction for nearly six months. Carolyn George has a Food Service Management degree from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in addition to a Nebraska Teaching Certificate. Carolyn worked at the Nebraska East Union during college and has worked at a number of locations around the country, including Walt Disney World in Florida and Wimp's in London, England.

Carolyn's parents, Harold and Marie George, farm near Dixon.

"I am very excited to be involved with a new convention center, especially one of this magnitude in rural Nebraska," said Ms. George.

Riley's will be a regional convention center offering banquet facilities for up to 440, a full-size ballroom, and a stage for bands and concerts as well as dinner theatres and community events. The Riley's staff hopes to make the conference center truly regional by having area communities involved in different events.

Teen dances and some big name bands are scheduled, beginning in March. The Leafy Spurge Band will officially open the Convention Center on Saturday, Feb. 27 with Riley's first public dance.

New Kinship officers

New officers of the Wayne Kinship organization for 1993 include, from left, Millie Veto, secretary; Mary Temme, treasurer; Lora Young, president; Tom Barr, director; and Tom Cook, vice president. The Kinship organization matches local youth with adult volunteers who serve as role models. Barr said there are still several children who are seeking volunteers in the Wayne area and interested persons are asked to call 375-5694 for further information.

Shriners stress safety

National Burn Awareness Week designated

Burns are a leading cause of accidental death in children under 14 years of age, with the highest single risk group being children under age two.

However, children are not the only ones at risk. More than two million people are burned annually — children and adults.

Shriners are particularly interested in saving children from burn injuries and for this reason join the Shriners Burns Institutes and United States Congress in observing National Burn Awareness Week, Feb. 7-13.

"SINCE THE Shriners opened the first Shriners Burns Institute in the early 1960's, we've been committed to helping children with severe burn injuries," said the Shrine's highest ranking official, Imperial Potentate Everett Evans.

"Naturally, we'd like to see fewer kids needing specialized burn care at our Shriners Burns Institutes, so burn prevention is the key."

In recognition of the need to educate the public about burn prevention and fire safety, the Shriners Burns Institutes and the Shrine of North America offer the following tips to help individuals stay healthy and safe from burns:

—Purchase and use only paper matches and child-resistant cigarette lighters. Babies as young as 16 months old can manipulate lighters well enough to start a fire, and children under three years old can start a fire with a kitchen match. Many burn injuries to young children result from children using matches and lighters as toys.

—Teach children that a match is a tool for adults, and should be used only for its intended purpose. Teach older children the safe and proper method for lighting matches.

—Boiling water in the kitchen is the single most common cause of scald burns occurring in the home. Always keep children away from the stove when cooking, and make sure they are not in your path or nearby when carrying boiling water to the sink or counter. Using a "fill-through-the-spout" type of teapot to boil water will minimize the risk of a scald burn from boiling water.

—Tap water can cause a serious scald burn in only five seconds if your water heater is set at 140 degrees F. Keep your water heater set no higher than 130 degrees F. And always check the temperature of the water before placing your child in the bathtub.

—More than 1,000 children were burned last year due to hot foods and liquids heated in a microwave oven. Cooking eggs in a microwave can result in serious burns unless very specific precautions are taken. Check your microwave oven manual for specific instructions for cooking eggs.

—Install smoke detectors. Most home fires occur at night when people are sleeping, so it is vital to have at least one smoke detector near the bedroom area to wake you in case of fire. Change the batteries at least once a year. Choose a specific date to help you remember to change your batteries; the annual switch to standard time in the fall is a natural. Remember: Change your clocks, change your batteries.

—Develop a home fire escape plan, and have the entire family practice getting out of the house through various exits.

THE THREE Shriners Burns Institutes and 19 orthopaedic Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children provide orthopaedic and burn care absolutely free of charge to children up to their 18th birthday.

The Shriners Burns Institutes are located in Boston, Cincinnati, and Galveston, Texas. The hospitals are founded by the Shrine of North America, an international fraternal organization with approximately 720,000 members.

Arboretum to benefit

A mutual promotion between Nebraska Public Radio and Nebraska Statewide Arboretum will benefit the Wayne State College Arboretum as well as the other arboreta of Nebraska.

Nebraska Public Radio will offer to donate a seedling tree to participating NSA affiliated arboretum sites for each new member who joins NPR. The new NPR member thus helps a local arboretum and the environment, as well as receiving a NPR membership.

Each new member will receive a certificate stating the tree has been donated in their name, and a NSA membership brochure.

NSA will obtain 200 seedlings of appropriate species for Nebraska from a commercial nursery source, and will deliver them to participating NSA affiliated sites in the spring in response to the NPR membership drive.

For more information, contact the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum, 472-2971.

Gas company purchase finalized in Nebraska

Peoples Natural Gas, a division of UtiliCorp United, announced Tuesday that the purchase of the former Minnegasco Nebraska gas distribution system has been finalized.

The former Minnegasco system served about 124,000 natural gas customers in 63 eastern Nebraska communities and will be integrated with Peoples' five-state gas distribution system. Peoples is Nebraska-based, headquartered in Omaha, and will now serve 161,000 customers in 113 Nebraska communities. Peoples also serves gas to another 308,000 customers throughout Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas and Colorado.

"Peoples looks forward to serving its new Nebraska communities," said Peoples President Jim McClymond. "As a customer-focused company, Peoples is dedicated to providing quality service to its customers and supports the growth and development of the communities it serves."

Lincoln is now the largest city served by Peoples and will continue to be the hub of operations for its new customers. Richard A. Ellingson will remain as an operations vice president, managing the new Nebraska properties.

"I believe the integration with Peoples will be positive for both the customers and our employees. Peoples has been serving Nebraskans for more than 60 years and has a reputation for providing safe, reliable and quality service to its customers," said Ellingson.

Peoples will maintain Minnegasco's current rates. For the next several months, customers will continue to receive their bill from Minnegasco until Peoples' computer system is ready to process accounts. Until that time, customers should continue to pay Minnegasco in the same manner as they always have. Emergency, service and billing inquiry phone numbers will remain the same.

Customers who have a Service Plus™ appliance service contract will continue to receive the same service. However, the Service Plus name will be changed to Service Guard, which is Peoples' appliance protection plan.

Peoples is a division of UtiliCorp United (NYSE:UCU), based in Kansas City, which provides gas and electric service to more than a million customers in eight states and the province of British Columbia. The company also is engaged in various non-regulated energy and utility-related enterprises.

HELP YOUR HEART RECIPES

American Heart Association

This recipe is intended to be part of an overall healthful eating plan. Total fat intake should be less than 30 percent of your total calories for a day — not for each food or recipe.

Cinnamon French Toast

Egg substitute equivalent to 2 eggs	Dash nutmeg
1 teaspoon sugar	Vegetable oil spray*
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract	6 slices firm-textured thinly sliced bread
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Place all ingredients except vegetable oil spray and bread in an 8x8-inch baking pan. Stir to mix well. Lightly spray a nonstick skillet with vegetable oil spray and place over medium heat. Dip one bread slice into egg mixture and turn gently to other side. Remove from pan and place in preheated skillet. Cook until brown on one side. Flip and brown on other side. Repeat with remaining slices of bread, spraying skillet with vegetable oil before adding next slice. Serve with syrup or fruit spread, if desired. Makes 3 servings.

*Do not use vegetable oil spray near an open flame or a heat source. Read and follow directions on can before using.

Laurel native honored as top college teacher

Laurel native Lin Behmer, instructor of business and office technology at Northeast Community College, has received the Nebraska Community College Association's Outstanding Faculty Award.

The award is given to an outstanding faculty member from one of the 14 community college campuses in the state. Criteria for the award includes demonstrating excellence in teaching, initiating and developing innovative programs and providing leadership in helping to solve the challenges of two-year postsecondary institutions.

Behmer has taught at Northeast for 13 years. She has also received the Northeast Community College Student Senate Outstanding Teacher Award in 1989, the American Business Women Association's Woman of the Year award in 1986 and 1989, the Nebraska State Business Educators Association's Outstanding Postsecondary Educator Award in 1989 and the Mountain-Plains Business Education Association's Outstanding Postsecondary Teacher of the Year Award in 1992.

In addition to Northeast, Behmer has also taught at Norfolk Senior High School and Norfolk Junior High School. She is a member of the women's division of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce, the Norfolk Chapter of Business and Professional Women and the Association for Business Communication, an international education organization.

Behmer and her husband, Lon, an accounting instructor at Northeast, have two sons, Scott and Kent.

Teaching excellence is one of the things that earned Laurel native Lin Behmer the Nebraska Community College Association's Outstanding Faculty Award. Behmer, an instructor of business and office technology at Northeast Community College in Norfolk, is pictured lecturing her keyboarding class.

Rod Hunke and Bob Reeg are shown discussing the new venture in Wayne which provides stock and investment services in a bank setting.

New business to 'open'

By Les Mann
Herald Publisher

A new opportunity for investments and financial services is set for grand opening in Wayne next week.

The Investment Center located at First National Bank in Wayne will help the bank become a one-stop financial center according to Rod Hunke, the new investment executive who serves as an independent contractor within the bank.

Hunke, a native of Snyder, Neb., and a 1986 graduate of Wayne State College, returned to Wayne last August to begin the new venture. Though a separate entity from the bank, Hunke works closely with the bank officers including President Bob Reeg, who recruited the young investment adviser to Wayne to set up shop in leased space from the bank.

Reeg said his goal in establishing the investment center within the bank was to offer a broader range of financial services and to try to keep bank customers and others in the community from taking their investment capital out of Wayne.

REEG CONCEDES that he may run the risk of seeing some bank deposits sifted to other types of investments through the new office, but he adds what benefits bank customers will ultimately benefit the bank as well.

"It's really a good partnership," said Reeg, adding he was excited about the opportunity to work with Rod to find the best financial services for bank clients and others in the community.

Hunke is not an employee of First National. He is a licensed representative of Investment Centers of America, Inc., a growing Midwest company which has associations with three other banks in Nebraska besides Wayne.

HUNKE DESCRIBES Investment Centers as a Midwest company that wants to remain in the Midwest where it knows its roots. He said the company is designed for Midwesterners who want to make their money work a little harder.

Many in the area will remember Hunke as a 2-year basketball player at Wayne State who married Wayne native Sonja Skokan.

"We always liked Wayne," he said. He and Sonja, who is now assistant manager at the Student Bookstore across from Wayne State College, jumped at the chance to move back to Wayne last summer. That's when Rod began training for his new job. Sonja is the daughter of Terry and Vicki Skokan of Wayne.

HUNKE SAID HE was excited to have an opportunity to build a venture from the ground up.

"I wanted to be a person that has a chance to make it or break it," he said. He added he knows there will be some tough years before he builds a client base, but that is to be expected. Without the bank's support and the built-in client base, it would be even tougher, he added.

For his part, Reeg said he feels confident about the company's bank is now associated with. He said he began investigating bank-associated investment firms over two years ago and was impressed with the Bismarck, N.D. headquartered firm's track record and philosophy.

SERVICES SPECIFICALLY provided through Hunke's firm are similar to those provided through other investment firms in the area. They include stock transactions, mutual funds, annuities, government securities and more.

Where ever people decide to invest, Hunke recommends a specific planned and regular program to build capital for future needs. He said it is especially important for young families to begin their savings and investment programs early. Mutual funds are a good way to start he advised.

Reviewing the '49 blizzard

Just when I was most discouraged with the ice and snow, I found a book about the blizzard of 1949. I was ten years old that winter, but I do not remember being aware of all the livestock losses and devastation in Nebraska that year.

I've seen photos of snow drifts in Wayne county and of a rotary snow plow in front of an engine used to open tracks just south of the Apex school. I've heard rural school teachers talk about the difficulties getting to their schools. Fred Brader once entertained me with tales of flying folks where they needed to go; especially in the spring, when the mud came.

I did not realize that 76 lives were lost, the US Army came in to open roads and fly feed to livestock, a federal disaster was declared and a doctor was flown in to Pierce to deliver the babies that were due. Pierce is 13 miles from Norfolk, where there were two hospitals. Amazing. It made all our weather-related problems pale in comparison.

Then, a real January thaw arrived and the snow on the ground had dissipated rapidly. I don't have any faith in a rodent's prediction for six more weeks of winter. I'll take the sunshine when I can get it.

As a true conservative, I watched bits of the Inauguration ceremony with suspicion. But I admit it was impressive. It always is.

I work with two dedicated liberals who harassed me all last fall. I gave them each a stuffed elephant, and I came into the office one day to find one hung on the drapery rod!

Eventually, there was a mechanical donkey on my desk and he does have a monkey on its back. I'm afraid our new president has several

Providence offering rheumatology clinic

Providence Medical Center in Wayne is offering a new service to area residents through a monthly rheumatology clinic.

Conducting the clinic is Dr. Nils Erikson, a rheumatologist and an associate of Internal Medicine Associates in Sioux City.

His next visit to Wayne is scheduled Friday, Feb. 12.

RHEUMATOLOGY is a sub-specialty of internal medicine and is concerned with diseases of joints, muscles, bones and tendons.

The rheumatologist diagnoses and treats arthritis, various types of back pain, muscle strains, common athletic injuries and rare diseases of the connective tissue and arteries in many body systems called "collagen" diseases.

Dr. Erikson earned his M.D. degree from the University of Iowa. He did his internship at National Naval Medical Center in Bethesda, Md., his residency at Naval Hospital in Portsmouth, Va., and fellowship at the University of Iowa in Iowa City.

Dr. Nils Erikson

He is certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine with sub-specialty in rheumatology.

Dr. Erikson, an Iowa native, returned to Sioux City from California in 1990.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK'S SENIOR CITIZEN CORNER

FROM THE HERE WE GO AGAIN DEPARTMENT: A few weeks ago, Senator Warren Rudman, who is retiring from the Senate this year, and Senator John Danforth, spoke about the problems the country is facing with its enormous deficit. And, you guessed it, they suggested that more members of Congress show "courage" (their word, not mine) in tackling the costs of the entitlement programs, even if they risk losing their Congressional seats.

If you feel you're experiencing another attack of deja vu, you are. We've come down this road many times over the past few years.

But the fact is that Social Security is not a boondoggle that can be held hostage to a budget. It is an insurance program for which the insured pay for the benefits. As New York's Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan has reminded us many times, Social Security is not a drain on the nation's wealth.

As a matter of fact, Social Security benefits help keep the country going. Can you imagine the sudden impact on the economy if so many people could no longer pay their rent or afford even the basics? And, can you imagine the strain on local agencies which would have to come in to pick up the slack?

Sadly, many states, including New York, have had to cut back on Medicaid funding. But the states are mandated to have balanced budgets. Without Washington's help, they are squeezed for money to pay for programs which they are also mandated to maintain.

P.S. Speaking of entitlements, is the White House really entitled to keep five florists on the payroll? Are Cabinet members really entitled to long, gas guzzling limousines

ALZHEIMER'S UPDATE: I received an interesting release from the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association regarding their recent activities. They are supporting the following proposed legislation:

1. Family Caregiver Support Act (S.972/H.R.2106) to provide flexible respite care benefits for primary caregivers of those with Alzheimer's disease and other chronic illnesses who require constant care and/or supervision.
2. Family and Medical Leave (H.R.2/SS) to provide job guaranteed unpaid leave for workers who need time off to care for a parent, spouse, or child who has a chronic illness such as Alzheimer's disease.

Another priority is securing a $1 million funding for a nationwide system to locate missing persons with Alzheimer's disease and return them to their families. The system would also train police and other emergency personnel.

From: Senator Stan Schellpeper

I would appreciate hearing your ideas on a number of issues which are likely to be considered by the Nebraska Legislature in the upcoming Legislative Session. Your input will help me in making decisions on these important issues. Please feel free to add comments concerning your opinion on these topics.

1. LB 651 has been introduced to eliminate the death penalty and replace it with a mandatory life sentence without parole or good time. Do you favor or oppose his proposal to eliminate the death penalty?

Favor Oppose

2. As a result of several court cases, the Nebraska Legislature reimposed personal property taxes on farm and business equipment. Do you favor or oppose the elimination of personal property tax and replacement of these revenues with sales or income tax or expanding the tax on services?

Favor Oppose

3. Nebraska currently does not impose a waiting period prior to abortions. Do you favor or oppose a twenty-four hour waiting period before a woman may have an abortion performed as is found in LB 110?

Favor Oppose

4. The State of Nebraska is currently facing a revenue shortfall of more than $100 million primarily because of changes in the federal government's method of reimbursing the state for Medicaid expenditures. Do you favor or oppose a tax on nursing homes and hospitals to reduce the Medicaid revenue shortfall?

Favor Oppose

Please return this survey with any comments you may have regarding these issues to Senator Stan Schellpeper, District 18, State Capitol, Lincoln, NE 68509. I greatly appreciate you taking the time to let me know your views.

Poster contest opens

The "The Environment: Clean Water" poster contest is being sponsored by the Dixon County Home Extension Clubs.

The purpose of the contest is to make both youth and adults aware of the need to take care of our environment.

All third grade youngsters are eligible to enter. Posters should be on a 12 x 18 inch paper. They may be done in pencil, crayon, magic marker or paint on either white or colored paper or on recycled or reused paper. Home Extension Club members will be contacting third grade teachers in Dixon County schools to invite participation in the contest. Extension Club members will select winning posters from each school. These winning posters will be entered in the state contest held in June.

Third grade teachers and parents of third graders are asked to encourage youngsters to enter the contest.

First, second, third place posters, plus one honorable mention poster will be selected from each school for county contest competition. Posters entered in county competition will be judged April 1 at the Northeast Center and displayed at the Dixon County Fair, Aug. 16-18. The winning poster will be entered in the state contest in June, sponsored by the Nebraska Council of Home Extension Clubs.

START REPORT

Members of the Educational Opportunities committee met at the high school library Feb. 1. Each of the subcommittees gave updates on their action plans.

TAP group reported on a good turn-out at the first meeting and positive feedback on the developing capable people workshop given. The next meeting and election of officers is scheduled for March 30.

After school child care committee reported that the school board had approved use of the school facilities for an after school program. Detailed financial plans, equipment needs, staffing needs and policy handbook have been completed. However, to get started the grant funds are needed or those interested need to hold fund raisers. The committee also discussed whether they should incorporate now or wait to work with the Recreational Opportunities committee. All agreed that we should try to get a program going by next August if possible.

In the area of adult education current offerings are good. Need to put something in the paper to get a response on the number of people interested in taking classes for credit and working towards a degree. Also discussed a college night and opportunities listing board to target the needs of non-traditional students.

OUTREACH GROUP

The annual Outreach appeal is being made in Wakefield in Dixon County. Organizations being represented are the Wakefield Boy Scout Troop, March of Dimes, American Cancer Society, the American Heart Association and the Arthritis Foundation of Nebraska.

The letters to Wakefield residents were delivered door-to-door by the Boy Scouts and Webelos Scouts on Feb. 6. If you were missed and would like to make a contribution, duplicate letters are available at the Republican office.

Rural residents with a Wakefield address in Dixon County will receive their letter in the mail.

Members of the year's outreach committee are Edna Gustafson, Helen Anderson, Iris Larson, Marge Johnson, Vivian Muller, Gloria Oberg and Janice Newton.

Deadline to make a contribution is March 1. They may be mailed to OUTREACH in care of the Republican, PO Box 110 or may be left in the drop box at the Republican office.

HAPPY HOMEMAKERS

The Wakefield Happy Homemakers Extension Club met at the home of Sondra Mattes for a cooperative salad luncheon on Feb. 1.

Seven members answered roll call, "your favorite salad." For their "Fun Kitty" they were to pay 10 cents if they gave their secret sister a partly recycled item and 25 cents if not.

There was a discussion about joining the Arboretum as a club. Evelyn Kahl will look into this as she is a member and on the board.

The third grade poster contest for 1993 in "Clean Water." Lois Berns volunteered to contact Janelle Eaton, a third grade teacher, giving her details and deadline. They will give prizes as they did in previous years. They were reminded of the categories for the Cultural Arts Contest, which is due in April. Several ideas were discussed for lessons for 1994 and the president will present them to the council at the next meeting.

Peggy Gustafson volunteered to take the lesson on "Clothing for Older Women," on March 15 at the Northeast Station. The program, "Street Smarts" will air on Channel 19 in March. The "Wellness and You" pamphlets were handed out.

The state convention will be held in Seward June 2-4. In 1994, it will be in South Sioux City with the clubs in Dixon County helping out.

They were reminded of the eight sessions "Learn How to Handle Money." These sessions start Saturday, Feb. 6 and end March 27. They will be held at Wayne in the Student Union building at Wayne State College. They decided to wait until the next month meeting to work on the decoration for the Wakefield Health Care Center. Their secret sister brown bags were handed out.

The next meeting will be Monday, March 1 at the Ellen Wriedt home with Evelyn Kahl giving the lesson on self esteem. Roll call will be "I Feel Good When Someone..."

TREE BOARD MEETS

The Wakefield Tree Board met Jan. 28 at the Senior Center. Present were Marvin Bichel, Alden Johnson and Peggy Gustafson.

Three plans presented by the Bluebird Nursery were studies for planting the newly acquired parcel of land that adjoins the city park on the west. The nursery was called to ask for a variety of evergreen species instead of the single variety they had proposed. Agreement was reached to provide five or six different kinds of trees and a variety of color in the hedging.

The application for the grant for the monies was reviewed and approved.

BIG SUCCESS

The annual Girl Scout cookie sales in Wakefield recently concluded on a successful note. Total number sold was 2,689 boxes by three different scout troops. Brownie Troop 68 sold 1,238 boxes, Brownie Troop 98 sold 724 boxes and Junior Troop 73 sold 727 boxes.

Over $670 was raised by the scouts and will be used in a variety of ways, including badges and pins, special events and activities, crafts and supplies.

Distribution of the cookies will be the latter part of February and the first part of March.

POST PROM GROUP

The Post Prom group is currently seeking donations for the party to be held following the junior-senior prom later this year. Anyone wanting to contribute may leave their donations at the Wakefield National Bank. Anyone with questions regarding the post prom may contact Donna and Lorence Johnson or any junior parent.

All Wakefield junior parents are members of the post prom organizing committee.

Seminar on planting in residue scheduled

By Michael Lechner
Extension Agent-Agriculture
Hartington

Crop residue is increasingly being used as a major tool to reduce the loss of one of Nebraska's most valuable resources — its topsoil. Soil erosion and the subsequent sedimentation have been identified as major water quality problems in Nebraska.

Today, with an increasing need to evaluate and reduce production costs, residue management through conservation tillage has become an important element in farm management. Conservation tillage includes a variety of tillage and planting systems that leave at least a 20 to 30 percent residue cover on the soil surface after planting. Research conducted in Nebraska and other midwestern states has shown that maintaining this minimum residue cover can reduce soil erosion by at least 50 percent of that which occurs from a cleanly tilled field.

Erosion of topsoil begins when water detaches individual soil particles from clods and other soil aggregates. Raindrops are the major cause of soil particle detachment. A single raindrop may seem insignificant, yet when accumulated, raindrops strike the ground with a surprisingly large force. Raindrops can be especially erosive when residue, mulch or vegetation are not present to absorb the impact forces. During an intense storm, rainfall can loosen and detach up to 100 tons of soil per acre.

Another concern for many agricultural producers in northeast Nebraska is highly erodible land. Highly erodible land determinations are made by the Soil Conservation Service. These are based on the potential erosion from a particular soil. A field that contains 1/3 or more, or 50 acres or more (whichever is less) of highly erodible soils is classified as a highly erodible field. The field thus becomes the focus of conservation plans necessary for maintaining USDA program eligibility.

A common question many producers have is how to plant with the increased amount of residue on the soil surface? To help answer this question Paul Jasa, UNL Research Engineer has been placed on a joint appointment between the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension and the Soil Conservation Service. There will be four educational meetings in this area to address this subject with the same subject matter discussed at all sessions. Paula Jasa will demonstrate the proper adjustments of planters to allow the producer to plant with more residue cover on the field. Several planters will be used to demonstrate proper adjustment to achieve maximum seed placement and soil to seed contact.

The sessions will be held at the following locations:

•Tuesday, Feb. 23, from 9 a.m. to noon at the Newcastle fire hall, Newcastle.

•Tuesday, Feb. 23, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. at Gerry Miller Implement in Hartington.

•Wednesday, Feb. 24, from 9 a.m. to noon at Pender Implement Company in Pender.

•Wednesday, Feb. 24, from 1 to 4 p.m. at Logan Valley Implement in Wayne.

Expo proves interest

Exhibits, educational presentations and livestock competition attracted an estimated 4,000 people to the 20th annual Nebraska Pork Industry Exposition and Feeder Pig Show in Columbus Wednesday and Thursday.

Michael C. Brumm, swine specialist at the University of Nebraska Northeast Research and Extension Center at Concord who helped organize the educational presentations, said pork production is gradually increasing in Nebraska, which is a "major player" in the industry nationally.

Brumm said the Nebraska swine industry, which ranks fifth among states, markets about 7.3 million hogs each year out of 93 million nationwide. Nebraska has about 12,000 farms which include pig production, he said.

With about 200 farm equipment salespeople, veterinary suppliers and other exhibitors participating in the trade show, the educational presentations on Wednesday focused upon livestock genetics, facility improvements, lean pork quality and other topics.

Delmar Gerdes, a pork producer from Wymore and innovator in swine housing, presented information about efficient facilities for housing pigs.

"Never put more hogs in a pen than what it's designed for because, in the end, you'll pay for it" in livestock loss, he said.

Gerdes said producers should avoid putting lots of gadgets in the buildings, and that the facilities can be low in cost but efficient and effective.

Gerdes also explained proper facility designs for heating and air ventilation, rodent control, feed systems and other production factors.

He emphasized the need to look at genetic advancements. "The poultry industry is a long ways ahead of the swine industry" in genetic enhancements for production, he said, adding, "but we'll get there, too."

Other speakers, such as John Gadd, international hog consultant from Dorset, England and Ronald O. Bates, a swine specialist from the University of Missouri, also stressed the benefits of improving pork production through genetic management of the livestock.

Dan Gosch, Ida Grove, Iowa pork producer and member of Western Iowa Genetics, said hog producers have to know where they are in terms of the lean quality of their pigs before they can make improvements.

Gosch described the work of a nine-member group of producers who are trying to develop a good genetic base for their hogs and production of lean pork.

Speaker Stan Lammers, president of Supreme Packing Co. of Sioux Center, Iowa, talked about the Tobec machine which can determine the amount of lean in hog carcasses electronically.

For pork producers to compete in the protein market throughout the world, Lammers said, "The information we now have the ability to receive is the tool that the hog producer of tomorrow can be using to determine what kind of product will be economically feasible from a producer standpoint, acceptable from a consumer standpoint, and cost efficient."

Dr. Barbara Straw, UNL veterinarian, presented information about pork quality assurance certification.

The 1993 Pork Expo was sponsored by the Nebraska Pork Industry Exposition Inc. in cooperation with the Nebraska Pork Producers, Cooperative Extension in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources at UNL and the Pla-Co Pork Producers Association.

Feeder pig champion

Stalp Farms of Wisner, represented by Pat Stalp (left) took the champion pen-of-five in the heavyweight division during the 1993 Nebraska Feeder Pig Show. The show was held during the 20th annual Nebraska Pork Industry Exposition in Columbus Feb. 3-4. Presenting the trophy is Kevin Saalfeld of Columbus, show chairman. Stalp's pigs, which averaged 53 pounds each, were produced from Yorkshire-Landrace sows and Yorkshire boars. This was Stalp's first win at the show, and only his second time showing there.

Wisner feeder wins

A longtime Nebraska Duroc pork producer and a relative newcomer from Wisner took first places in their divisions at the 1993 Feeder Pig Show in Columbus Thursday.

The Feeder Pig Show was held in conjunction with the 20th annual Nebraska Pork Industry Exposition, Feb. 3-4.

Taking first place in the lightweight division was Lee Waldo of DeWitt. Waldo's pen of five pigs were purebred Durocs and had an average weight of 44 pounds each. Judge Don Oswald of Mason, Iowa, said Waldo's pigs would gain well, that they would be lean, and have good ham development.

Taking first place in the mediumweight division was Waldo Farms of DeWitt. These pigs, which weighed an average of 53 pounds each, were from a Duroc sow and a Hampshire boar. Judge Ron Hodney of Manning, Iowa, said the pigs would "cut like a house afire."

Waldo Farms is in its 98th year of the purebred Duroc business. Willard Waldo, a long time name in the pork industry, said that the operation is the oldest purebred swine operation in the nation, and the oldest Duroc herd in the world. Lee Waldo is Willard Waldo's grandson.

Taking first place in the heavyweight division was Stalp Ag., Inc., of Wisner. Thursday was Pat Stalp's first win at the Columbus show, and only the second time he has shown there. His pen-of-five, which also averaged 53 pounds each, were from York-Landrace sows and Yorkshire boars.

Judges scores were so close for the third place heavyweight win that they had to confer among themselves to declare a winner. Coming in at a very close second place was West Point Genetics.

Overall, Judge Martey Stewart of Dixon said the pigs were very fine this year, and that a number of pens would have had higher scores had the fifth pig been as uniform as the other four.

Judging was again olympic style. Judges had a limited time to view each pen of pigs, then held up cards announcing points. The average of the three scores was the ranking of the pens. Following the show, all pigs from the show were taken to the Senek test station south of Wymore, where they will be fed out under uniform conditions to gather performance data, including feed efficiency. Carcasses will later be evaluated and results reported back to exhibitors.

Following are the second through fifth place winners in each of the categories:

Lightweight — Waldo Farms, DeWitt; Bacon Acres, Wisner; Gerdes Farm, Inc.; Johnson; Jack Schmid, Bellwood.

Mediumweight — Alvin Teten & Sons, Talmage; K-Kim Inc., Beatrice; Carol Stevens, Fordyce; Ruth Farms, Rising City.

Heavyweight — West Point Genetics; Sander Pig, Platte Center; Gerdes Farm, Inc.; Johnson; Waldine Nuss, Sutton.

The Expo was sponsored by the Nebraska Pork Industry Inc., in cooperation with the Nebraska Pork Producers Association and University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources and the Pla-Co Pork Producers Association.

Farmer owned reserve program set

The Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended, contains provisions for a Farmer Owned Reserve (FOR) Program applicable to the 1992-crop of barley, corn and grain sorghum. The Secretary announced provisions of a feed grain FOR loan program on Jan. 7, for barley, corn and grain sorghum, which included a 600 million bushel maximum quantity for entry into the program.

Nonrecourse regular 1992-crop barley, corn and grain sorghum price support loans are eligible to enter the FOR upon the maturity date of the loan if the commodity is currently collateral for a regular Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) nonrecourse price support loan and the commodity had not previously been pledged as collateral for another CCC price support loan.

The quantity of 1992-crop feed grains that may be placed into the FOR will be determined based on the respective quantities of eligible barley, corn and grain sorghum under loan that are offered for FOR as of April 30, 1993, in relation to the 600 million bushel maximum. Commodities pledged as collateral for nonrecourse loans that have not been signed and disbursed by March 31, 1993, for barley and by April 30, 1993, for corn or grain sorghum will not be eligible for entry into the FOR.

If producers wish to participate in the 1992-crop feed grain FOR program, they have until April 30, 1993, to file an intention to participate on form CCC-906A. They must visit the County Office to file this intention to participate.

The intention to participate allows a producer to designate to number of bushels, or for grain sorghum, the number of hundredweights, under loan that they wish to place in the FOR. If the quantity intended for entry into the FOR from all producers exceeds the 600 million bushel maximum, all intentions will be reduced by a national factor. They may revise their intention to participate in the FOR up to April 30, 1993. The filing of an intention to participate does not require you to enter the FOR program when their loan matures, and the intention to participate may be withdrawn at any time.

It is very important that those interested in the FOR, contact the County Office for additional details. Intentions to participate in the FOR must be filed by April 30, 1993. They also need to obtain a regular CCC nonrecourse price support loan by: March 31 for barley and April 30 for corn and grain sorghum.

Any questions may be directed to the ASCS office, telephone 375-2453 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.
