'Just don't ask me to blow my horn'

It was hot, the sun was shining in his eyes, and Little Boy Blue wasn't in any mood to blow his horn prior to the start of the kiddie parade which took place last Saturday morning in Winside as part of the annual Wayne County Old Settlers Celebration. Portraying Little Boy Blue is Dewey Bowers, five-year-old son of Bob and Janice Bowers of Winside. For more pictures of the weekend celebration see inside today's Wayne Herald.

Five year turn-around wins praise

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

It has been just over five years since Dr. Donald Mash walked on the campus at Wayne State College to take over a troubled institution.

The college five years ago was a much different institution than the one that is a major force in the Northeast Nebraska economic picture today. And, the observers both in the region and on the outside point to Mash as the man who has turned things around.

Five years ago enrollment was on the decline, a president had left after votes of no confidence from the faculty and strong opposition from the community, the financial picture was unclear and the image of the institution in the region was poor.

High school counselors were telling their advisees not to attend Wayne State.

WITH ALL THE negative swirl surrounding the campus, Mash recalls today that professional friends questioned why he would want to choose Wayne for his first post as a college president.

"A number of people saw that (the problems) as a real liability," said Mash last week. "I saw it as an opportunity. I knew they were going to be looking for new leadership."

He said he was attracted to Wayne by its size and role as a regional public college—not unlike the small college where he did his undergraduate work.

"I thought it was a great place with great people and I thought it had a great amount of potential," said Mash. He discounted his own role in the improvements at the college saying "the president gets too much credit when things are going well and conversely, too much of the blame when they are not going well."

But others have a different view. MASH WAS recently singled out for praise by state senators who appreciated his role of selling the college during the difficult budgeting decisions.

"He is a breath of fresh air," said Sen. Scott Moore, who praised Mash for strong leadership and not lecturing to senators when presenting the needs for the campus.

Other senators, including Kurt Hohenstein, said Mash is well-respected in the legislative body and is a strong asset for the college and Northeast Nebraska.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, the dean of the legislature, said Mash is first of all, a nice person.

Beyond that important trait, Warner said the college president has accomplished a great deal in his time in Wayne.

"The substantial enrollment growth is a credit to the faculty and the entire campus but he is still the one who inspires the others to do it," said Warner. He said he was pleased to see Mash implement his vision for the college as a regional institution.

THE RECORD of accomplishments both on-campus and off-campus people point to in espousing his leadership are many.

Enrollment and dorm occupancy have increased 30 percent in five years.

Operating budget is up 50 percent

'Old Settlers' enjoy bluebird skies

Blue sky and sunshine provided a perfect atmosphere for the 92nd Wayne County Old Settlers Celebration held Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Winside.

Youngsters provided the entertainment on Saturday morning during the annual kiddie parade, followed with a kid's pedal tractor pull and games. This year's parade theme was "Fairy Tales and Nursery Rhymes."

There were 11 entries in the theme division of the kiddie parade, with first place going to an entry entitled "Rub a Dub Dub, Three Men in a Tub," featuring Carrie Hansen, Will Janke and Matthew Peter. They were followed by Jessica and Gina Geier as "Pinocchio and Gepedo" (second place), and Bryce and Jordyn Roberts as "Peter Pan and Tinker Bell" (third place).

In the wheels division of the parade, with 10 entries total, first place went to Collin Prince, Cassie Prince and Caitlyn Prince as "Prince Charming, Rapunzel and Sleeping Beauty." Second place was won by Josh Harmer, Jamie Harmer and Kayla Frederick as "Cinderella, the Fairy Godmother and Coachman," and third place went to "Old Woman in the Shoe," featuring Jade Kai, Ian Kai, Kia Kai and Jasmine Kai.

The pet division of the kiddie parade featured five entries, and the first place winner was an entry entitled "Humpty Dumpty," with

Jessica Creighton and Megan Lemburg. Second place went to Rachel Peters and her dog as "Little Bo Beep and Her Sheep," and third place went to Michael and Stephanie Mason as "Hey Diddle, Diddle, the Cat in the Fiddle."

IN SUNDAY'S grand parade, the winner of the theme division was St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Winside with an entry entitled "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands."

Second place went to Roadside Dairy of Winside with "True Love," and third place went to Winside American Legion Auxiliary Unit 252 with "It's a Grand Ole Flag."

In the open class division of the parade, the first place winner was "Cowboy's Carriage Unlimited."

'Henoween' events set

The Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce is hoping that families will take advantage of a variety of entertainment planned during Henoween on Friday, July 9, the night before the annual Wayne Chicken Show.

Nancy Schulz, administrative assistant at the Chamber, said Henoween is a new twist to this year's Chicken Show and will include activities for chicken enthusiasts of all ages.

Many Wayne businesses are planning to remain open late on Friday and Henoween participants are encouraged to shop in Wayne and take advantage of the many Chicken Show specials.

ACTIVITIES ON Friday will include a variety of fun type booths from 5 to 9 p.m., sponsored by several non-profit organizations.

The booths will be set up on

Fatalities decline

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) -- The rate of fatal accidents on Nebraska farms apparently has been in decline since 1969, according to two men who have studied the subject.

Since a standardized form of record-keeping was put in place in the state in 1969 nearly 900 Nebraskans, including 184 children, have died in farm accidents.

Only 10 deaths were attributed to farm and ranch mishaps in 1992, and there have been four deaths through mid-June of 1993.

Rollie Schnieder, recently retired as a full-time farm safety specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, and Dave Morgan, his part-time replacement, have taken turns tracking the trends.

They co-authored a book, "Rural Accident Rescue," released in March. Morgan said the decline in fatalities matches a decline in farm population as well as improved safety practices.

Schnieder said classes that started decades ago emphasizing safety in operation of tractors and other equipment are paying off. About 25,000 Nebraskans have taken those courses, he said.

"We have kids coming back through this that are the sons and daughters of those who came through this way back in the '70s," he said.

"Even though we have less farms, we still have a lot of people where there are multiple employees—where they have 20-30 people working at a feedlot and this type of thing," Schnieder said.

The old race cars are on the road, and off too, on their way to the east coast. They left California Sunday and are due through Wayne Friday.

And they're off!

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) -- Ninety-two antique cars lined up in this coastal community over the weekend to start their precision-driving competition through 16 states to the opposite coast.

The Interstate Batteries Great American Race, judged on how well each car completes a series of timed instructions, began Sunday and ends in two weeks in Norfolk, Va.

The cars, including a 1910 Knox Raceabout, will motor through Barstow, Las Vegas, Denver, Des Moines, Iowa, Peoria, Ill., Indianapolis, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Cambridge, Mass., among other cities.

The competition, first started in 1983, is a controlled speed contest of precision driving and endurance. Daily driving schedules range from 210 miles to 470 miles.

The antique race cars are due through Wayne on July 2 sometime after 10 a.m. according to race officials. The route the cars take through Wayne will not be announced until that morning when they leave their pitstop in Columbus en route to Sioux City.

Significant development

The State Highway Department's announcement that it will be including plans for a connector road from Highway 12 near Newcastle to the new Vermillion Bridge across the Missouri River in its next five-year plan is significant news for Northeast Nebraska.

Until now, the bridge truly was a seen as a "bridge to nowhere" since provisions had not been made for approach roads and connections to major thoroughfares.

The Nebraska plans now call for its 10 percent matching funds for the entire $17 million project plus the approach road work is scheduled.

The state has not yet included plans for the upgrading of the roads between Newcastle and Norfolk through Wayne. Rep. Doug Bereuter has encouraged the Wayne connection. He wants to see the route developed as a major connector between I-29 and U.S. 81, which is being upgraded as an expressway.

State plans already call for upgrading of Highway 35 as an improved 2-lane connector between Norfolk and Sioux City through Wayne. Work is ongoing in sections of that route to fulfill the plans. Some have encouraged a change in plans for Highway 35, calling for it to become an expressway.

With a limited state and federal highway construction budget, it is doubtful the area will get all its expressway and new route wishes fulfilled in the near future.

The new bridge will be a major addition that Bereuter and S.D. Rep. Tim Johnson have worked hard to win funding for.

Northeast Nebraska got a major plumb with the appropriations and planning for the bridge and connectors and the upgrading of Highway 81.

It may be too much to expect the Wayne-Newcastle connector and the upgrading of Highway 35 all in this same frenzied roads development phase.

'Forced strife' bill?

In recent years labor unions have suffered from government actions that have hampered their forced membership and worker control efforts.

The Reagan-Bush years were not kind to big labor organizations and the American public wasn't too upset to see the powerful unions brought kicking and screaming into the economic realities of the times.

But a new bill before Congress promises to return the labor organizations to their previous position of ultimate power (and with it the threat of corruption).

The bill, S. 55/H.R. 5, is called the "Forced Strike" bill. It would give union bosses the right to force workers (both union and non-union) to go on strike or be punished or fired if they refuse.

The measure will have long ranging negative effects on the economy because it will encourage more strikes and move the economy away from "right to work" prosperity.

We encourage you to call our congressional leaders and tell them this proposal will hurt economic growth in our state and region.

Senators have summer off; we relax

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

If you are one of those Nebraskans who thinks your Legislature serves you best when it isn't doing anything to you or for you, you should probably rest easily this summer.

Unlike the past couple of summers, nobody around the Statehouse is talking about any crisis or burning issue that will force the 49 senators back to work prematurely in a special session.

The senators went home at the beginning of this month and, for now, aren't expected back to do the official business of the state until the start of their regular 60-day session in January.

That pesky Nebraska Supreme Court always could toss out a tax case or something else that demands immediate attention. But I doubt any legislators are working their summer vacation plans around something the court might or might not do.

PREDICTING WHAT the Supreme Court will do is kind of like forecasting Nebraska's weather. Who knows what's going to happen?

After they take a little bit of a break, some senators probably will mosey back to Lincoln to take care of a little work in their Capitol offices. When they do, I'll bet they stop in the Legislative Chamber to check out the new carpet.

Did you hear about that?

The state is finishing up a little renovation work on the Capitol. When the senators come back to work next year their precious feet will be treading on custom-woven wool carpet that cost a mere $54.84 a square yard.

The bill just for the carpet was about $89,000. Then you toss in a few thousand bucks ($9,000 to be exact) for installation and a $20,000 fee to a consultant who, among other things, watched the carpet being made at a Philadelphia factory.

When the adding machine stops clicking, the total bill to the state's taxpayers for this premium floor covering will come in at about $125,000.

Bob Ripley, the Capitol's restoration manager, defends the purchase that will replace the worn red carpet that was put into the chamber in the 1960s.

The newly purchased custom-woven wool carpet will duplicate the brown, gold and gray carpeting placed on the mail floor of the west Legislative Chamber when it was built in the 1930s.

THE OLD RED wall-to-wall carpeting detracted from the beauty of the Legislative Chamber, Ripley said.

The new carpet will bring out more of the character the room was designed for, Ripley said.

"Any time there is public money spent, it will be examined. That's as it should be," Ripley said. "But why shouldn't we honor the historical significance of this building? I'm not embarrassed to do that at all."

RIPLEY WANTED, and apparently got, the best money could buy. He even found a factory with a weaving machine that was like the one used to weave the original carpet.

The Nebraska State Capitol is one of the state's architectural treasures and should be treated and maintained with great respect and care. I'm not saying he should have gone to some bargain basement carpet shop and found some remnants, but I'll bet Mrs. B or almost any other floor-covering merchant in the state could have found him 1,200 square feet of beautiful, long-lasting carpet for a better deal than $125,000.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Request 'no' vote on application

Editor's Note: Gary Costilow submitted this copy of a letter he sent to Wayne's Mayor and Council.

Dear Mayor Carhart:
I am very much concerned over an item that has appeared before Wayne Industries on two occasions and is scheduled to appear there again; and will be heard by the City Council on June 29, 1993.

The city of Wayne at present has at least 26, soon to be 27, food/beverage retail businesses in operation. For the City to even consider a low interest loan to anyone in this overly-populated, highly-competitive, business is incomprehensible unless the same loan is made available to all other food/beverage establishments. (A solution I do not recommend.)

Riley's, a sole proprietorship, with 3 cost centers (bar, kitchen and dance hall), has applied for a $36,000 loan for "operating capital" to be used for "liquor and food inventory, promotion and advertising" so that he may "become dominant in the area." I have no problem with his intentions provided that these needed funds are derived from a commercial source. It would be reprehensible and immoral for the Council to promote unfair competition or show favoritism to any retail business in this town.

Additionally, application for this WRLF loan was made as a "Primary Business" as per "Wayne Industries procedures for Wayne Revolving Loan Fund." (Copy attached.) There is no way possible for Riley's to qualify itself as a Primary Business in accordance with these established procedures. Therefore re-application should be made as a "Secondary Business."

I respectfully request a "NO" vote on this WRLF application appearing before the City Council on June 29, 1993.

Gary Costilow

Working together is better

Dear Editor:

After reading your last two issues of the Herald concerning the Chicken Show Parade and the "Great Horse Controversy," I submit that the city powers responsible for starting it are trying very weakly, to get out of the problem by telling yet another little story.

The original letter stated and I quote, "Please advise all horse show groups that they will have to furnish their own clean-up crew or not be permitted to participate." How can anyone consider this a "plea for help?" Members of the Chicken Show committee, and the public, had a very good reason to be upset with what they were being told.

Our city has the most equipment of any city its size in the state of Nebraska, and we, the people, have paid for it. If the letter had requested help for manning clean-up crews, people would have volunteered.

I think it's time that the city employees remember who they work for. They are not there to dictate to us! It's now going to take a city employee lead group to erase the black eye that they created. Working together, rather than mandating, generally creates a great environment to achieve anything. Let's work together to improve our city and also have the greatest Chicken Show ever!

Working for a better Wayne,
Mark L. Griesch

Stick up for horses

Dear Editor:

I feel I must write to stick up for all the horse lovers around our area. (I don't even have a horse, but I love to see them in a parade!) Many people I have visited with, feel that Wayne would be making a big mistake by banning horses from the Chicken Parade. Who tells Vern Schultz what is done on this subject? Laurel had a great parade a couple weeks ago and had hundreds of horses and they were so beautiful! They had elowns picking up behind the horses and made it that much more fun!

If you ban horses in the parade, then you better also ban dogs and cats relieving themselves in the sand boxes in our city parks where our children go to play! It's the same difference!

Thanks, Donna Lutt

Musician to perform at Wayne Chicken Show

I had an enjoyable phone visit with Susan Wright from Denver last week. Some will remember Susan as the Wayne High and Wayne State College music student who is now developing a professional music career in Denver. Some others may remember her as the public relations director for Region IV in Wayne in 1977 and 1978. She is the daughter of Virginia Wright, the retired registrar of Wayne State College.

Mann Overboard

By Les Mann

She recently released an album of original songs and traditional folk music and held an introductory concert in Denver. Virginia, who attended her daughter's Denver concert reported the event was well-received.

In announcing the album release, Susan sent me a copy of her new CD, one of the few perks of the position. Most of the stuff that gets sent to us like that seldom gets listened to, but I happen to like folk music, so I gave it a try. There is a decidedly feminist bent to the lyrics but I think it is all in good humor and fun.

There's a song on there in which she pokes fun at Shirley McClain for her reincarnation beliefs. It's a real hoot. "In almost every past life she claims she was some kind of queen.

"And Shirley though I'm skeptical, you know I've got to ask. "Were you really Coleoptera, or were you just her asp?" reads the lyrics on part of the song.

Susan, who will be in Wayne for the Chicken Show and has been encouraged to perform Friday night during Henoween activities, will hopefully perform the song. I think you'll enjoy it too.

Susan relates that it is tough to get ahead in the music business at her age. That's why she was reluctant to give me a specific year that she graduated from Wayne High. She said it was in the sixties.

"They don't like people who are over 35 or 40," she said of the recording companies. That's why, when she released the album, it was self-produced and distributed by her through Gizmo Productions.

And producing a high quality CD isn't cheap, she said, but it needs to be done if you want to get it in play.

Susan, who often accompanies herself on guitar, piano and flute, says she has been "classically trained." She said she has been playing professionally since she was in the 7th grade. She went to California in 1973 and Atlanta in 1975 to pursue her music career, performing in clubs.

She moved to the Virgin Islands in 1981 and performed there for several years, which maybe where she picked up a Caribbean flair, which comes through on several of the songs on her new album, "Down in Mexico."

In the late 80s she toured the United States and Canada with other performers presenting concerts to promote world peace.

Since then she has been performing in Denver.

She has a great sense of humor which comes through in her songs and when you talk to her on the phone. I'm looking forward to her performance in Wayne for the Chicken Show.

I'm also looking forward with great anticipation to the "Greatracers" who will be whizzing and clanking through Wayne on July 2.

The cross-country antique car race is due through Wayne sometime that morning, enroute from an 8:40 stop in Columbus to a lunch stop in Sioux City.

The racers left Huntington Beach, Calif. on Sunday and are due in Norfolk, Va. on July 10.

Others attending were John and Shirley Sals and Jim and Arlene (Hinnerichs) Miller of Lincoln, Dorothy (Rees) Bartlett of Englewood, Colo., Milan and Elaine (Wurdeman) Tonjes of Pender, Lynn and Pat (Tucker) Roberts of Carroll, and Arland and Dorothy (Beyeler) Aurich of Wayne. Helen Hinnerichs of Lincoln also joined the group.

Kant reunion in July

AREA - The location of the annual Kant reunion has been changed this year to the Stanton Senior Center. It will be held on Sunday, July 11, beginning with a noon potluck dinner.

President this year is Irene Kant of Norfolk, with Peg Krueger of Wakefield as secretary.

Bible school held at Altona

ALTONA - First Trinity Lutheran Church of Altona held vacation Bible school classes on June 14-18, with 26 students enrolled and three guests on Friday. The theme was "The Greatest Treasure Hunt - Discovering God's Promise."

Teachers were Angie Siefken, preschool; Julie Stuthman, primary; Clara Heinemann, junior; and the Rev. Ricky Bertels, upper grades. Helpers were Lois Siefken and Amy Vyborny, with Clara Heinemann and Lois Siefken in charge of music.

A noon pizza party was held Friday in the school. In the afternoon, 28 students and seven adults traveled to Wayne Care Centre to entertain. They were assisted in serving lunch by several LWML members.

Vacation Bible school students sang several songs during worship services on June 20, followed with fun and fellowship in the school. Coffee and rolls were served by the youth group. Bible school students then gave a short program consisting of singing, a play, and recitation of Bible verses learned during the week.

Andersons celebrate 60th

ALLEN - Wilmer and Fran Anderson of Allen were honored at a family dinner on June 25 for their 60th wedding anniversary.

Attending were Judy and Junior Cook of Allen, Brad and Linda Anderson, Catherine and Trevor of Newburgh, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Von Minden of Martinsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Fegley of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Don Lehmann of Sioux City, and Helen Ellis and Eleanor Ellis, both of Allen.

Roths wed 74 years

COLERIDGE - Ed and Elsie (Walter) Roth, residents of Park View Haven Care Center in Coleridge, will observe their 74th wedding anniversary on July 6.

Friends and relatives are invited to congratulate them on the occasion with cards and letters. They should be addressed to the couple at Park View Haven Care Center, 325 North Madison, Coleridge, Neb., 68727.

Roths were married on July 6, 1919.

Barbara Vogler May bride of Brett Fuelberth in Louisville

Barbara Vogler, daughter of LeMar and Diana Vogler of Louisville, and Brett Fuelberth, son of Darrel and Nancy Fuelberth of Wayne, exchanged marriage vows on May 29 at 6:30 p.m. at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Louisville.

The couple traveled to Telluride, Colo. following their marriage and are making their home in Irwin, Iowa.

The bride, a 1989 graduate of Louisville High School and a 1993 graduate of Wayne State College, is an instrumental music teacher at Irwin-Kirkman-Manilla Schools.

The bridegroom graduated from Wayne High School in 1989 and from Wayne State College in 1993. He is employed as a vocal music teacher at Irwin-Kirkman-Manilla Schools.

GUESTS attending the couple's double ring service were registered by Lori Eckhoff of Wayne. The Rev. Gerald Gottberg of Louisville officiated, and decorations included candles and preserved flowers.

Ushers were Vance Vogler of Lincoln and Aaron Musson of O'Neill, and candlelighters were Nicole and Jason Hesser of Hickman.

Karen Vogler of Louisville was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Catherine Brutsche of Coon Rapids, Iowa, Jennifer Hinners of Manning, Iowa, and Rhonda Fuelberth of Omaha.

Serving as best man was DEan Fuelberth of Omaha. Groomsmen were Chris Mendel of Normal, Ill., and Joel Hansen and Todd Barner, both of Wayne.

Flower girls were Amber and Alesha Vogler of Murdock.

Wedding music included the processional, "September's Love," composed and performed by the bridegroom. Tamara Luhr of Osmond sang "O Lord Most Holy," and friends of the couple who are members of the Wayne State Concert Choir sang "Set Me As a Seal," "Let Us All Lift Our Hearts" and "Peace I Leave With You." Organist was Chris Kaiser of Omaha.

THE BRIDE was escorted to the altar by her father and selected a white satin gown, fashioned with bateau neckline with a heart-shaped inset on the beaded Alencon lace bodice and long Gibson girl sleeves covered with applied lace.

The dropped torso of the low V back was edged with lace and accented with a candy box bow, and the full circular skirt was finished with a scalloped edge, with wide scallops of netting forming the cathedral train.

Her fingertip veil was attached to a headpiece of satin, roses and pearls, and she carried preserved bridal pink roses.

The bride's attendants wore burgundy satin frocks in tea-length, fashioned with portrait collars with lace accents and princess bodices. Each carried a brass candle holder decorated with dried flowers.

The men were attired in black tuxedos with white paisley vests and ties.

The bride fashioned her mother's dress of ivory silk. The bridegroom's mother chose a pink satin and lace dress.

KEN AND Charlene Hesser of

Mr. and Mrs. Brett Fuelberth

Hickman, Wini Milby of Aurora, Colo., and Robert and Donna Eckhoff of Wayne greeted the 220 guests who attended a reception afterward in the church social hall. Arranging gifts was Brigen Nicmann of Lincoln.

Anita Fuelberth of Wayne and Honey Lynn Eyman of Nebraska City cut and served the cake. Marcille Uken of Wayne poured and Pam Boehle of Wayne served punch.

Waitresses were Sharon Roerber of Ashland and Donna Konecky of Lincoln.

Showers

Missy Martinson

ALLEN - A miscellaneous bridal shower was held for Missy Martinson on June 16 at the First Lutheran Church in Allen. Decorations were in the honoree's chosen colors of teal and peach, and 75 guests attended from Allen, Martinsburg, Newcastle, Ponca, Homer, Wynot, Wayne, Carroll, Atkinson and Omaha.

The program included a poem read by Rhonda Kliment. Stacey Martinson, Kristin Hansen and Shelly Williams sang "Friends Forever," accompanied by Vicky Hingst. Hostesses were Kim Hans and Diane Sullivan. Chantel Hancock baked the cake.

Missy Martinson and Todd Sullivan will be married on July 17 in Allen.

Allen classmates meet after 50 years

The 1943 graduating class of Allen Consolidated School held their 50-year reunion on Saturday evening at the Marina Inn, South Sioux City.

A program and special presentations were made by class member Melvin Mathieson of Lincoln.

Attending the reunion were Vandlyn Blatchford Newman of Dexter, Minn.; Velma Carr Cohan of Las Vegas, Nev.; Joyce Isom Kuebler of Marysville, Wash.; Shirley Peterson Wait of Upland, Calif.; Loren Smith of Sheridan, Wyo.; Lois Hale Nelson of Peru, Ind.; Keith Fegley of Sioux City, Iowa; Calvin Bones of Council Bluffs, Iowa; Ruth Henderson Nobby; Phyllis Jones Swanson, Phyllis Dyson Geiger and Dorothy Potter Brownell, all of Allen; Rachel Kingston Kubik of Emerson; and James (Melvin) Mathieson of Lincoln.

The class has held reunions each time the Alumni Association meets. This year marked the first time that Joyce Isom Kuebler was able to attend. Unable to attend due to illness was Gail Jones Hill of Allen.

Four of the graduating class members are deceased, including Donna Combs Deurmier, Donna Truby Fender, Ruth Gloschen Osterander and Duane Andrews.

Another class member was Leonard Tondreau of Los Angeles, Calif.

Visiting with the classmates and extending greetings were Rose Marie Duffy Graham of Fullerton, Calif., Dorothy Anderson Engle of Arvada, Colo., Marjorie Malmberg Carpenter of Hawarden, Iowa, Joe Carr of Gladstone, Mo., and Pearl Boeshart Snyder of Allen.

The class is planning its next reunion during the alumni gathering in 1995.

Pilger site of annual Koehlmoos reunion

Thirty-five family members of the late Heinrich and Maria (Mindeman) Koehlmoos gathered for a reunion on June 27 at St. John's Lutheran Church in Pilger.

Relatives attended from Nevada, Mo.; Blair, Emerson, Norfolk, Omaha, Pilger, Randolph, Stanton, Wayne, West Point, Wisner and York.

The oldest present was Clara Stunkel of Norfolk, and the youngest was Brenda Reeg, daughter of Ted and Marilyn Reeg of Wayne. Traveling the furthest distance were Leo and Lillian Penn of Nevada, Mo. Three births, four marriages and three deaths were recorded for the year.

The 1994 reunion will be held the fourth Sunday in June at the same location.

Speaker will explore humor in health care

Nurse humorist and professional clown Patty Wooten will present her program "Jest For the Health of It" from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Thursday, July 8 in Northeast Community College's Activities Center Theatre.

This personation explores the nature and value of humor in the health care setting, and will explore how to develop comic vision, improve your sense of humor and learn how humor can increase personal and professional effectiveness.

Objectives of the program include defining guidelines for using appropriate humor with patients, discussing how laughter can be a therapeutic tool to cope with stress and listing specific ways to use humor and increase fun levels at work.

Participants will learn how to use humor to communicate and motivate, use humor to help patients improve stress management skills, utilize techniques for helping patients develop a more playful and healthful lifestyle, laugh at upsets and setbacks, and use humor to trigger laughter and stimulate the immune system.

Managers, counselors, nurses, social workers, chaplains and other interested persons are encouraged to participate. Cost of the program is $45 which includes lunch and materials.

For more information about the program, or to register, contact Jerry Brungardt, director of allied health services, Northeast Community College, 644-0440, or 1-800-348-9033.

Sluggers play at Laurel, Tuesday Wayne downs Emerson

Wayne's Midgets and Junior Legion baseball teams garnered convincing victories over Emerson, Monday night at Hank Overin Field in Wayne.

The Midgets needed just five innings to blank the visitors, 10-0 behind the pitching of Ryder Hoffman who pitched a complete game and allowed just one hit while striking out eight.

In fact, Hoffman had a perfect game in tact until late in the fourth inning. Wayne scored 10 times on nine hits and committed one error while Emerson suffered five errors.

Craig Wetterberg belted a pair of singles with an rbi and Jeremy Sturm had two singles to lead Wayne's offensive attack. Adam Bebee had two rbi with one single and Dusty Jensen slapped an rbi single while Hoffman, Cody Stracke and Josh Starzl each had a base hit. The win moved the Midgets record to 9-4.

The Juniors also had a five-inning game, 10-running Emerson, 17-7. Robert Longe got the win from the mound after pitching 4 1/3 innings before Mike Williams came in for the final two outs to pick up the save.

Wayne finished with 17 runs on 16 hits while committing two errors while Emerson had seven runs on 10 hits and two errors. Mike Williams paced the offense with two doubles and a single while Todd Fredrickson and Jim Fernau each doubled and singled.

Tim Reinhardt, Scott Day, Robert Longe and Kelly Meyer each had two singles while Jason Wehrer had one base hit. Dane Jensen officially had no plate appearances but he scored three runs—reaching base three times on free passes from Emerson pitchers.

The Juniors improved to 9-6 and are scheduled to play a make-up game at Laurel on Tuesday night along with the Midgets before traveling to play Wisner on Wednesday.

The Midgets will then travel to play in the Seward Tournament on Friday while the Juniors remain home to entertain Homer in a double-header.

Wayne wins twice at South Sioux Tourney

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Wayne Junior Legion baseball team played in the South Sioux City Tournament over the weekend and came away with a 2-3 record, leaving them 8-6 on the season.

Last Friday the locals defeated Sioux Falls, 7-1 as Robert Longe went the distance on the mound to earn the win. Wayne pounded out 13 hits in scoring seven runs while committing just one error while Sioux Falls had seven runs on six hits and one error.

Longe was the offensive catalyst for Wayne with a double and two singles while Scott Day, Dane Jensen and Todd Fredrickson each had a pair of base hits. Fredrickson also stole three bases. Jason Wehrer doubled while Mike Williams, Jim Fernau and Kelly Meyer each had a base hit.

Wayne was defeated, 7-1 by Omaha Roncalli on Saturday as Dane Jensen took the pitching loss. Wayne had two hits and one error while Roncalli had eight hits and no errors. Tim Reinhardt doubled for Wayne while Mike Williams laced a single.

The Juniors were shut out in the third game, 10-0 by St. James of Minnesota. Jason Wehrer pitched the first four innings before being relieved by Kelly Meyer for the final two. Wayne had four hits and one error while St. James had 10 hits and no errors.

Mike Williams, Scott Day, Dane Jensen and Todd Fredrickson each had a single to round out the hitting attack.

Wayne got a complete pitching performance from Tim Reinhardt on Sunday as the Juniors shelved Brandon Valley of Minnesota, 13-3. Reinhardt scattered two hits while striking out a dozen batters.

Wayne notched 13 hits in the game with one error while Brandon Valley had four errors. Robert Longe led the locals with three base hits while Jim Fernau and Dane Jensen each had two singles.

Todd Fredrickson doubled while Mike Williams, Reinhardt, Jason Wehrer, Mark Zach and Jason Shultheis each had a single.

Seward defeated Wayne in the final game, 4-2 as Todd Fredrickson took the loss despite striking out six. Wayne led 2-1 until the bottom of the fifth inning when Seward tied it up. The game remained tied until the eighth inning when Seward scored two runs.

Both teams finished with 11 hits with Wayne being led by Mike Williams, Tim Reinhardt and Todd Fredrickson with two base hits each. Robert Longe, Dane Jensen, Jason Wehrer, Kelly Meyer and Jason Shultheis each had a single.

WHILE THE Juniors were playing in the South Sioux City Tournament the Wayne Midgets hosted Dakota City in a twinbill, Saturday afternoon at Hank Overin Field.

Wayne split with Dakota City, winning the first game, 5-2 and dropping the second contest, 6-2. Wayne's first game victory was only the second loss tagged to Dakota City this season.

Cody Stracke was the winning pitcher and he gave up just two runs on five hits. Wayne had five runs on six hits while committing four errors. Ryder Hoffman, Stracke, Craig Wetterberg, Adam Bebee, Jaimey Holdorf and Joe Lutt reached base off base hits.

In the second game Wayne's Josh Starzl was given the loss from the mound after pitching the first 4 2/3 innings before being relieved by Dusty Jensen for the final 1 1/3 innings.

Wayne finished with two runs on four hits and two errors while Dakota City had six runs on six hits and two errors. Jason Starzl, Josh Starzl, Dusty Jensen and Jaimey Holdorf each had a base hit for Wayne.

Member/guest golf tournament held

The Wayne Country Club Member/Guest Golf Tournament was held Saturday and Sunday with 39 teams competing.

Saturday's competition was a two-man best ball while Sunday's event was individual stroke play. Both days tournaments were handicapped and the overall winners were Bob Reeg and Jim Potts with a two-day combined score of 192.

Jim Hudec and Brook Darnell placed second with a 194.8 while Doug Rose and Scott Layton tied for third with Bill McQuistan and Tom Borg at 201.8.

John Anderson and Doug Bruner placed fifth with a 203 and Terry Munson and Curt Munson finished sixth with a 204.2. Gene Casey and Dave Anderson placed seventh with a 204.4 and Don Koeber and Bob Shirck placed eighth with a 205.6. Ken Dahl and Rod Dahl placed ninth with a 206 and Lee Stegmann and Tom Preston placed 10th with a 206.2.

In just Saturday's tournament with the best ball the team of Rose/Layton placed first with a 14-under par 58 while McQuistan/Borg placed second with a 59. Reeg/Potts also fired a 59 while Pat Garvin and

Bruce Lang placed fourth with a 60. Dave Nicholson and Chuck Holmlaka teamed up to shoot a 61 as did Hudec/Darnell, Anderson/Bruner, Doug Sturm and Jerry Denton and Dave Swanson and Randy Swanson.

Bob Keating and Steve Tunink along with Kevin Peterson and Mike Horky tied for 10th place at 10-under par 62's.

Iowan aces Wayne golf hole

WAYNE-Newell, Iowa native Doug Bruner aaced the number 17 hole at the Wayne Country Club, Sunday while playing in the Wayne Member/Guest Golf Tournament.

Bruner used a 5-wood for the 180-yard par three and said the ball bounced twice on the green and then rolled into the cup. It was Bruner's second hole-in-one. He also owns an ace at Buffalo Ridge Golf Course in Kearney. Bruner was playing with John Anderson, Bob Keating and Steve Tunink.

Wayne softball teams compete in Norfolk Golden Girls Tournament

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Wayne fast pitch girls softball teams competed in the Norfolk Golden Girls Tournament on Saturday and Sunday. Each team played five games.

In the 14-under division Wayne lost its first game, 12-0 to Norfolk Golden Girls as Katie Lutt was tagged with the loss. Wayne was held to two hits—singles from Marci Post and Jenni Beiermann.

In the second game Wayne lost 14-2 to Bob's Point After in a very strange contest. Katie Lutt was given the loss from the mound despite throwing a no-hitter.

Wayne had two runs on one hit and 12 errors while Bob's had 14 runs on no hits and no errors. Lutt did manage to get Wayne's lone hit with a single.

Wayne defeated Tilden, 11-10 in the third game as Stacey Langemeier got the win with relief help from Kari Wetterberg. Wayne finished with 11 runs on 12 hits while Tilden had 10 runs on just five hits.

Katy Wilson was the offensive catalyst with a home run, triple and single while Jenni Beiermann had a double and two singles. Alcyia Jorgensen, Marci Post, Stacey Langemeier, Anne Wiseman, Rebecca Dorcey and Melissa Weber each had a base hit.

On Sunday the 14-under team played Tilden once again and the score was much different as Wayne completely dominated, 13-1 as Kari Wetterberg got the pitching win with relief help from Katie Lutt.

Wayne had eight hits while Tilden had just one. Katy Wilson continued her hot batting with a double and single while Rebecca Dorcey slapped a couple base hits.

Wetterberg smacked a double while Anne Wiseman, Alcyia Jorgensen and Jenni Beiermann each singled.

In the fifth game which was a trophy contest for fifth place of the tournament, Wayne defeated West Point, 11-7. Kari Wetterberg got the win after scattering five hits and striking out eight.

Wayne also had five hits from the bats of Wetterberg with two singles, Jenni Beiermann with a triple and Katy Wilson and Stacey Langemeier with a base hit each. Wayne improved to 13-8-1.

THE 16-UNDER team went 2-3 in the tournament, losing their first games of the season after entering the tournament with an unblemished 9-0 mark.

In the opener Wayne fell to Fremont Touch-N-Go, 10-2 as Wendy Beiermann suffered her first loss from the mound this year. Wayne was limited to three hits—singles by Beiermann and Katie Lutt and a triple by Jenny Thompson.

In the second game Wayne defeated Arden's Drywall out of Lincoln, 3-2. Wendy Beiermann got the win, scattering four hits in giving up just two runs. Wayne had five hits but none bigger than Katie Lutt's two-run home run in the fifth inning that gave Wayne the win.

Melodee Lage had singled earlier in the inning and also scored on the home run by Lutt who was pinch-hitting for Kristen Hurlbert. Carrie Fink notched a double in the game while Kari Wetterberg and Molly Melena each singled.

Wayne fell to Millard Expressions, 7-4 in the third game despite the fact that both team managed five hits. Wayne never led in the game, however and Wendy Beiermann took the pitching defeat.

Carrie Fink doubled to lead the Wayne offense while Jenny Thompson, Kristie Hall, Katie Lutt and Heather Nichols each singled.

The locals blanked Arden's Drywall of Lincoln on Sunday, 5-0 as Wendy Beiermann tossed a one-hitter. Wayne, meanwhile pounded out 11 hits in the game led by Jenny Thompson's double and two singles.

Kristie Hall and Heather Nichols each had a pair of base hits while Molly Melena doubled. Kari Wetterberg, Katie Lutt and Carrie Fink each singled.

In the fifth game Wayne was defeated by the Norfolk Golden Girls, 9-6. Wayne had five hits in the game while Norfolk recorded six. Wendy Beiermann was tagged with the loss despite the fact Wayne had many chances to win the game.

The locals led 4-1 after the first inning and 5-3 after three. Norfolk took the lead at 6-5 after the fourth and never looked back. Kristie Hall led Wayne with two singles while Molly Melena tripled. Katie Lutt and Jenny Thompson each singled.

THE WAYNE 18-under team went 1-4 in the tournament—their first losses of the season and slipped to 8-4 on the year. Wayne dropped the first game, 12-0 to Arden's Drywall of Lincoln. Melanie Mowinkel took the pitching loss for Wayne.

Wayne managed just one hit—a single in the final inning by Erin Pick, while Arden's had six. In the second game Wayne lost an 8-7 decision to Wimmer's of West Point. Mowinkel again took the loss from the mound despite giving up just three hits.

Wayne had nine hits and led 7-3 heading to the final inning of the game before West Point scored five to win. Mowinkel had a triple and two singles to lead Wayne while Kari Huwaldt had a triple and a single. Tina Lehman also had a triple and single while Traci Oborny doubled and Tina Oborny singled.

Wayne fell, 9-8 to Omaha Expressions in the third game despite out-hitting the opposition, 9-3. Melanie Mowinkel suffered her third straight loss from the mound in a game that saw Wayne leading 8-5 heading into the final inning, before the Omaha squad scored four times to win.

Tina Oborny had the hot bat for Wayne with three singles while Tina Lehman had a triple and double. Mowinkel doubled while Traci Oborny, Maria Eaton and Audra Sievers each singled.

Wayne's lone win was a come-from-behind victory over Sioux Falls, 11-10 on Sunday. Melanie Mowinkel earned the pitching victory, scattering five hits. Wayne had 12 hits in scoring its 11 runs. After taking a 4-1 lead after the first inning, Wayne watched Sioux Falls score eight times in the third and once in the fourth inning for a 10-6 lead.

Wayne scored five times in the bottom of the final inning—all with two outs to post the victory. Keena Roth singled in Tina Lehman for the winning run.

Roth led Wayne with a triple, double and single while Kari Huwaldt had three singles. Tina Oborny and Tina Lehman each had two singles while Melanie Mowinkel and Jenny Thomsen had one base hit each.

Sports Briefs

UNL baseball camp in Wayne

WAYNE—There will be a baseball camp on Monday, July 12 at Hank Overin Field in Wayne, put on by the Nebraska Cornhuskers baseball coaching staff.

UNL coach John Sanders will conduct the camp which goes from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. for ages eight through incoming seniors. The cost of the camp is $15 and applications can be picked up at the City-Rec Office, Hank Overin Field or by calling 375-4803. Registration must be complete by July 8.

There will be no baseball practice held that day because of the baseball camp.

Chicken Days Softball Tourney

WAYNE—The Wayne Softball Association will hold its annual men's slowpitch softball tournament during the Wayne Chicken Show on Saturday and Sunday, July 10-11.

This is a USSSA-sanctioned D-RFC and E Divisional and State Qualifying Tournament. Entry fee is $70 plus two balls with an entry deadline of Wednesday, July 7. Call Doug at 375-2019, Mike at 375-3700 or Aaron at 375-2422 for further information or to register.

Uhing leads North team to win

WAYNE—Brad Uhing scored 14, first-quarter points en route to a game high 26 in leading the North All-Stars to a 110-82 win over the South in the 10th Annual Northeast Nebraska All-Star Classic, Saturday night in Norfolk.

Uhing left the game with about six minutes left in the fourth quarter, needing just two points to tie the all-star game scoring record.

Safer and healthier Nebraska is goal of joint study at UN-L

A safer and healthier rural Nebraska is the goal of a one-year joint study by the Nebraska Department of Health and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Department of Biological Systems Engineering.

The Agricultural Injury Prevention Program is being funded through the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, in conjunction with Cooperative Extension. The project coordinator is David Morgan, a UNL safety engineer.

The purpose of the survey is to determine target areas in creating educational materials used in health awareness courses, first aid classes, 4-H and FFA projects and extension programs, Morgan said.

Currently agricultural injuries aren't officially recorded in Nebraska, said Morgan, who in 1987 conducted a pilot rural injury study. However, UNL statistics show that from 1988 through 1992, 104 farm workers were killed. Morgan noted that nationwide in 1991 more than 140,000 disabling farm injuries and 1,400 deaths occurred. Those deaths represented 14.2 percent of all occupational fatalities—but only 2.7 percent of the workers.

Eighty-nine Nebraska hospitals have been invited to participate in this survey, said project assistant Libby Milroy. The study is scheduled to run through the summer of 1993 to the summer of 1994.

The information collected will be confidential and general, Milroy noted. For example, the data will point to where certain injuries occur most often; the time of day and season; and the age and gender of the injured person.

The data will indicate what type of educational information is needed and where, which should ultimately lead to more awareness, conscientiousness and safer actions, Milroy explained.

The information also should be an indicator if hospital or ambulance care needs to change in handling rural injuries, Morgan added.

"If you know what the facts are you can define a problem better and attack it," Morgan said.

For example, the 1987 study involving 16 hospitals showed that only 30 percent of agriculturally-injured people were transported to hospitals by ambulance. That could mean that they were more severely injured than the remaining 70 percent, who either drove themselves to the hospital or were driven by someone else.

Interestingly, Morgan said, no matter how these injured people got to the hospital, the length of stay was approximately the same. That points to the fact that emergency response and ambulance care have an effect on lost time, he said.

Milroy added the data may show that closing rural hospitals could be detrimental to local communities, especially in life- or limb-threatening circumstances.

Injured people "may be able to drive 10 miles to their own hospital, but can they drive farther?" Milroy asked.

The survey also may help measure the economic impact that rural injuries have, Morgan pointed out. For example, how much yield is lost if an injury prevents a producer from timely harvest of his crop, asked the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources engineer.

The study also could demonstrate the importance of insurance in rural injuries, Milroy said.

Travel to Mexico

Several Spanish students of Wayne High School, along with one Wayne State College student, accompanied Wayne High Spanish teacher Carmen Stark on an eight-day trip to Mexico City, Taxco and Acapulco on June 11-18. Stark said the trip was designed as a cultural experience and for students to practice their Spanish language skills. Taking the trip were, front row from left, Laura Bauermeister, Angella Beachene (WSC student), Amy Post, Angie Hudson and Carmen Stark; back row from left, Mary Ewing, Twila Schindler, Sarah Witkowski and Matt Schaefer.

Tips offered on fireworks

Fireworks add sparkle to the nation's birthday party but they can present a serious safety hazard, according to Keith Hansen from the Injury Prevention and Control Program at the Nebraska Department of Health.

Deaths, blindings, amputations and severe burns happen every year around the country because of careless handling of fireworks. The State Fire Marshal's Office reports 94 injuries from fireworks were treated in Nebraska hospitals last year.

Hansen offered these tips from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission for a safe holiday weekend:

- Do not allow young children to play with fireworks under any circumstances. Even the "sparkler," which is often considered to be the ideal firework for young children, burns at very high temperatures and can easily burn skin or eyes and ignite clothing.

- Allow older children to use fireworks only under close adult supervision.

- Read all warning instructions printed on the label.

- Light fireworks outdoors in a clear area away from houses, dry leaves and grass and other flammable materials.

- Keep unused fireworks away from the area.

- Be sure other people are out of range.

- Never ignite fireworks in a container, especially a glass or metal container.

- Don't try to relight or handle malfunctioning fireworks. Douse them with water and throw them away.

- Keep a bucket of water nearby for emergencies.

- Store fireworks in a dry, cool place.

- If someone suffers skin burns from fireworks, apply cold water or ice, then cleanse the area with soap and water. If the burned area is on the face, hands, feet or eyes, or affects a significant portion of the body, take them to the emergency room of the nearest hospital.

- The Health Department also cautions people about other hazards associated with the July 4th holiday:

- Avoid overexposure to the sun. Wear a sunscreen with a protection level of SPF 15 or greater.

- Keep a close watch on children playing on the beach or near the pool.

- Don't abuse alcohol. A significant percentage of adult drownings are associated with drinking.

- Don't drink and drive.

- Wear a seat belt.

with Kevin Bowers of Newton, Iowa, owner and driver, escorting his mother, Geneva Bowers of Carroll, and his great aunt, Irene Bowers of Winside.

Second place in the open class division went to 86-year-old Arlowyn Wingett of Carroll as "Uncle Sam." This was the 70th parade Arlowyn has participated in.

Taking third place honors in the open class division were the Wayne Ambassadors/Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce.

IN THE road rally competition, Russ Puls, Tadd Behmer and Mike Behmer of Hoskins took first place; Gene and Tiffany Jensen of Winside took second place; Terry Thies and VerNeal Marotz of Winside took third place; and Shawn Kai and Terry Nelson of Winside took fourth place.

Class A winners in the horse shoe tournament were John Sunderman, Pender, first place; Rollie Johnson, Neligh, second place; and Josh Orris, Winside, third place.

Winners in Class B (partners) were Gene Jensen and Larry Wagner, Winside, first place; Pete Wylie, Winside, and Paul Wantoch, Hoskins, second place; and Dan Westershaus, Winside, and Gary Brummond, Wayne, third place.

Winners also were announced in the American Legion's annual cash drawing. They were Rod Ortwich, Stanton, $100; Kelly Asmus, Hoskins, $75; Arlene Pfeiffer, Winside, $50; and Jon Paulsen, Hoskins, $25.

Also from 5 to 9 p.m. will be a craft show in the Wayne city auditorium. Schulz said the show will feature a variety of arts and crafts, including chicken related items.

Several groups will be entertaining throughout the evening on a flatbed at the corner of Third and Main Sts., and residents are encouraged to bring their lawn chairs to sit back and enjoy.

Entertainment will include the Elderberry Band from the Emerson Senior Center between 6 and 6:30 p.m., a magic show at 7 p.m., singer Susan Wright at 8:15 p.m., and the Country Kickers of Omaha performing western dance demonstrations at 9 p.m.

Also scheduled at approximately 7 p.m. are bathtub races sponsored by the Agri Business Council of the Chamber. Viewers will be able

Skies at night arouse curiosity

Clear night skies this summer are great for arousing curiosity, particularly, though not mandatory, if one has a pair of binoculars.

After 11:00 p.m. skies are no longer in the embrace of the deteriorating rays of sunlight hanging around the western horizon.

What is there to see? We mid-westerners would have to be brain dead not to be fascinated by the nightly star-studded umbrella. There are also the planets, constellations, and occasional meteorites. As the seasons change, our views of the heavens change also due to our Earth dashing across the heavens at 18.5 miles per second. Think about that for a moment and then listen to yourself complain about never getting to go anyplace!

Most of us can find the Big Dipper, North Star and Pleiades. Other folk are familiar with locating the Andromeda Galaxy (binoculars or telescope necessary), Pegasus Square, and Orion's belt accompanied by Rigel and Betelgeuse. These may be seen at different times and seasons of the year. Perhaps the most familiar sky objects are the Sun and Moon. But there are other objects out there which have a mystery all their own.

THE NIGHTS are rare when unidentified lights cannot be observed overhead. About a year ago we were observing the eastern sky around midnight and observed a light the size of a pinhead flying northbound at tremendous speed, seconds later another followed, then another. All seemed to be traveling the same velocity in single file. After about 30 seconds of questioning what they might be, they returned out of the north, heading south just seconds apart, only this time there were four. I presumed I had missed one on the original observation.

Satellites are observable any clear night and their movement can be easily spotted against the star background. These four speedy little critters were not satellites. Satellites do not reverse direction.

What were they? A phone call to the FAA tower in Sioux City established there was no air traffic in the area, either civilian or military. So what were they? Who knows.

AROUND 11:30 p.m. Sunday

Board suggests revising agricultural land values

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) -- An advisory board said Friday the state should again revise the way it values agricultural land for tax purposes.

The Agricultural Land Advisory Board adopted seven recommendanight a quick check of the heavens revealed a high flying jet (lights were visible but no sound — a common sight), but there was also a southbound white light with a speed greatly exceeding that of most aircraft. After about six seconds it vanished. See what you're missing this summer? And its free! Or maybe you are also a sky watcher and have seen even more interesting objects?

WHAT FLIES there? Remember, the first American jet flew October 1, 1942, and it wasn't until approximately three years later that the public was told. The more modern "stealth" fighters were plying the night skies for about six years before the "secret" plane was made known to the public. So what is on wing now?

U.S. AND European sky watchers are sparked. "Donuts-on-a-rope" contrails produced by unidentified, high-speed, high-altitude aircraft are being reported. The Pentagon boys may be testing a high-tech super-secret craft. Suggestions are that it may have a totally different form of propulsion. Witnesses have taken pictures of contrails shaped like doughnuts, accompanied by pulsating sound, forceful to the point of vibrating walls.

In fact, a series of unexplained sonic booms over California during the last two years caused shock waves recorded by earthquake sensors at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena. Daylight observations have been made over Edwards AFB, California, Portland, Ore.; and Denver. Observers have seen the same in Great Britain. Trade journal shoptalk indicates the plane's operational base is likely at the highly classified flight test base at Groom Lake, Nevada. Bill Sweetman suggests in "Jane's Defense Weekly" the plane decelerates (coming from over the Pacific Ocean as does the shuttle), decelerates over the Los Angeles area, then heads northeast to Nevada.

AVIATION enthusiasts are aware of the Pentagon's "black budget", for which budget figures are not disclosed, and continual development of sophisticated research craft, particularly spy planes.

Rather interesting that the Air tions offered by its chairman, state Agriculture Director Larry Sitzman.

The board decision followed a statewide series of meetings during which many farmers argued that their land values increased too much in 1992.

Agricultural land currently is taxed at 80 percent of its market value, while residential and commercial real estate are taxed at 100 percent of value.

Some farmers contend that their land valuations have increased artificially because there are too few valid sales each year to get an accurate overview of land values.

The new recommendations include: --Using land sales from several years to calculate value instead of using sales from just one year.

--Reviewing information from auctions, banks, realtors and attorneys as another way to get a more accurate picture of property values.

--Better training of county assessors and boards concerning valuation and appeals.

--Giving county assessors more input into the creation of the Nebraska Agricultural Land Valuation Manual. It is written by the State Department of Revenue and sets guidelines for farmland valuations.

--Simplifying the valuation appeal process.

--Changing the date for notice of valuations so it doesn't conflict with the busy planting season.

Tax Commissioner M. Berri Balka said he concurred with the intent of the proposals but said he was not sure all of them could be implemented under current laws.

Noodlehead Acres

By Raisin I. Browns

aka: Merlin Wright

Force's 1993 budget contains a line item (no amount stated) for a research program identified as "Senior Citizen". More interesting: the U-2 project was called "Senior Year"; the SR-71 Blackbird spy plane venture was "Senior Crown". Development was in what is known as Area 51 in Nevada.

So perhaps our tax dollars are flying around the night skies in a new form. We'll likely hear about it in four or five years.

While we wait to find out what our government is up to (who should live so long!), you may want to step outside and glimpse the heavens one of these nights. Telling your spouse you just saw little lighted jineys buzzing around crisscrossing over town should get you a day off work anytime.

The Library Card

This column is written twice a month to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at Wayne Public Library.

According to Publisher's Weekly, June 14, 1993, these are the top 15 best sellers in fiction. (Those books starred are in the library.)

- 1) "The Bridges of Madison County" by Robert James Waller.
- 2) "Pleading Guilty" by Scott Turow.
- 3) "The Scorpio Illusion" by Robert Ludlum.
- 4) "The Client" by John Grisham.
- 5) "Like Water for Chocolate" by Laura Esquivel.

- 7) "Gai-Jin" by James Clavell.
- 8) "A Season in Purgatory" by Dominick Dunne.
- 9) "Paper Doll" by Robert B. Parker.
- 10) "Star Wars #3: Last Command" by Timothy Zahn.
- 11) "Einstein's Dream" by Alan Lighuman.
- 12) "Pigs in Heaven" by Barbara Kingsolver.
- 13) "Charms for the Easy Life" by Kaye Gibbons.
- 14) "The Infinite Plan" by Isabel Allende.
- 15) "J is for Judgment" by Sue Grafton.

Five of the top 15 non-fiction best sellers, according to Publisher's Weekly, are listed below. Those in the library are starred.

- 2) "Women Who Run With Wolves" by Clarissa Pinkola Estes.
- 3) "Beating the Street" by Peter Lynch.
- 6) "The Way Things Ought to Be" by Rush Limbaugh.
- 8) "Healing and the Mind" by Bill Moyers.

- 2) "A Time to Kill" by John Grisham.
- 3) "The Pelican Brief" by John Grisham.
- 4) "The Firm" by John Grisham.
- 5) "The Client" by John Grisham.
- 6) "Pleading Guilty" by Scott Turow.
- 7) "J is for Judgment" by Sue Grafton.
- 8) "I'll Be Seeing You" by Mary Higgins Clark.

Non-fiction works most called for by Wayne America are, among others:

- 1) "Dakota" by Kathleen Norris.
- 2) "Women Who Run With Wolves" by Clarissa Pinkola Estes.
- 3) "Sam Walton: Made in America" by Sam Walton.

The library is really jumping these afternoons. Our summer reading program is in full swing. The hour from 1 to 2 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays is also the activity time when the children have crafts, stories and/or videos. If you are in the library at that time be forewarned — you could stand in line for check-out when activity time is over! It gets somewhat hectic.

Everyone is looking forward to the final party and ice cream social in Bressler Park. We should say all except for one little boy who told us that he did not like ice cream. That is sad. We will have to do something about that. Parents, remember to stress to your children that they must complete their contract to be eligible for the party.

Have you fond memories of last summer when Chautauqua came to Wayne? We received a newsletter recently announcing this year's Chautauqua program which is being held in North Platte, July 9-13. If you are in the vicinity and want more information you can contact the North Platte Chamber of Commerce. Some of the same presenters we heard will be on stage in North Platte this summer.

Some of our patrons have discovered our new hours and are taking advantage of the 12 noon opening time. It's especially handy on a lunch hour because we are relatively quiet at that time. We would like to remind summer reading program children who expect to give book reports before 1 p.m. that they must wait until 1 p.m. when the full staff is at hand.

What else can one do on a rainy summer afternoon but read? We have all the ingredients for a pleasant afternoon with a good book. Come in and browse. Ask at the desk for recommendations. We are here to help.

Summer hours are Monday through Friday from noon to 8 p.m., and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. See you at the library!

Dermatologists have gone on record as saying, "Self-tanning creams do give you a tan color. They are safe, but they do not offer any protection from the sun at all." In fact, two recent studies have shown conclusively that these tanning accelerators do not shield you from sun damage. You are encouraged to use sunscreens and sunblocks whenever you are out enjoying the sun. Your pharmacist can help you select the right one for you.

BIBLE SCHOOL

St. Paul's Lutheran Church held vacation Bible school classes June 7-11 from 8:30 to 11:45 a.m. There were approximately 90 students attending, 10 of them were visitors. The theme for the week was "God's Greatest Treasure Hunt: Discovering God's promises."

Beverly Sprick was vacation Bible school coordinator. Crafts for nursery through second grade were led by Angie Hansen and Trisha Sprick. Third through eighth grades were led by Sandra Brudigan, assisted by Linda Kirsch.

Music for nursery through third grades was led by Lori Suchl and Gail Lee. Gloria Lessmann led fourth through eighth grades, accompanied by Bonnie Hansen. Gloria Lessmann was also program leader.

Teachers and their classes included pre-school, Holly Sebade, assisted by Jessica Lee; kindergarten, Heidi Bonsall, assisted by Robin Sebade; first grade, Dianne

Jaeger, assisted by Betty Miller; second grade, Luann Westorhaus, assisted by Dean Westerhaus; third grade, Jackie Koll, assisted by Jessica Jaeger and Mary Evans; fourth grade, Dorinda Janke, assisted by Shaun Magwire; fifth grade, Patti Deck, assisted by Mary Jensen; sixth grade, Rhonda Sebade, assisted by Gail Jaeger; seventh grade, Pat Janke; and eighth grade, Pastor Jeffrey Lee.

Each session was opened with a chapel service, led by Pastor Lee, then followed by music. Mission project for the year was the Orphan Grain Train. Kool-aid was provided and ladies of the congregation furnished cookies each day. The week closed with a program on Friday evening, followed by a picnic. Ice cream was served by the Aid Association for Lutherans.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL HELD

Winside Trinity Lutheran Church and United Methodist Church combined their vacation Bible school classes this year, using the theme "Jesus Loves You." There were 62 children, preschoolers age three through sixth graders, including visitors. Classes were held June 7-11 from 9 a.m. to noon.

Preschoolers through kindergarten classes were held at the United Methodist Church and first to sixth grades were held at Trinity Lutheran Church. Their daily schedule included opening devotions and music, Bible lessons and crafts. A special picnic was held on Thursday in the village park and their vacation Bible school program was held Friday evening in the auditorium. The United Methodist Women provided a lunch afterwards. During the week the congregational members provided cookies and kool aid.

Barb Junck and Jeanine Longnecker were this year's vacation Bible school coordinators. Music was directed by Darci Frahm and Brenda Seaman. Susie Rabe, Wendy Rabe and Heather Fischer were in charge of this year's picnic.

Teachers were preschool (age 3), Jeanine Longnecker with Darci Frahm and Stacy Schwartz as helpers; preschool (age 4), Yolanda Sievers with Jennifer Hancock and Linda Andersen as helpers; kindergarten, Tawyna Krueger and helper Tammy Thies; first and second grad, Marysa Bleich with helpers Kathy Ruppert and Connie Van Houten; third and fourth grade, Pastor Marvin Coffey with Jeff Barg as a helper and Joyce Vanosdahl for crafts; fifth and sixth grade, Peg Krueger with helpers Mandi Topp, Brian Fuoss and Barb Stenwall as helpers.

WAKEFIELD - A company in Sioux Falls began routine maintenance work on the Wakefield water tower last week. The $49,000 contract for the project includes sand blasting the water tank inside and out, examining the inside, and sealing and painting both the inside and outside surface.

Without any rain delays, the job is estimated to take 15 working days. During that time, the City of Wakefield has shut off water to the tower and is pumping it directly from the wells. Residents have been asked to conserve water by watering after dark and alternating days they water lawns.

The GOLDEN YEARS

by Pat Lichty

Many senior citizens will be among bicyclists from all over the U.S. who head for Iowa in July for the 20th anniversary running of the Annual Great Bicycle Ride Across Iowa. About 500 of the 10,000 participants each year are in their 60s or 70s, not daunted by the challenge of pedaling 500 miles in one week. It's not a race. All entrants make nightly stops at specified towns along the zigzag cross-state route, with most riders pitching tents.

Ellie and Red Conason have shared more than 50 years of marriage and keen appreciation of design in hand-made ceramics, jewelry, fabrics and other crafts. Credited with "discovering" many artists, they closed their showplace gift shop in a New York suburban hub when it was isolated by long-running sewer construction. But their expertise didn't go down the drain. At 80 and 75, Red and Ellie remain in demand as independent curators for crafts shows and projects such as designing and stocking a crafts shop in a New York museum.

Two Wayne residents received awards at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Affiliate of the American Heart Association.

Ginny Otte was recognized as the "Outstanding Volunteer" for the northeastern division.

Otte was one of the early members of the Wayne board and has made significant contributions to the organization. Most recently she served as co-chairperson for the annual celebrity water event.

Marian Simpson was given an award for having the second most publicity appear in the print media during February (Heart Month). The winner was Gail Russell of Beatrice.

A RECORD 400 people attended the annual meeting, including Ginny Otte, Marian Simpson and Don Koenig of Wayne.

Featured speaker was Dr. James Moller, the incoming national president. Moller shared several interesting statistics with the group.

He pointed out that the American Heart Association is the second leading contributor of money for research, with 3.7 million volunteers and a total of $300 million raised nation wide.

Moller said major emphasis this year (1993-94) will be on children and their education and will stress the need for diet and physical activity as primary priorities for schools and families.

He added that children are being diagnosed much more frequently with cardiovascular diseases, five million children suffer from hypertension, 20 million are obese, and 40 million have elevated cholesterol.

Jump Rope for Heart has earned $3.5 million since it started.

MARK Williams, state president, also addressed meeting participants and told them that Nebraska has moved from 30th to fifth in contributions to the American Heart Association related to effective buying income in the state.

from $10 million to $15 million.

•Wayne State Foundation assets have tripled.

•More than 25 new faculty positions have been added.

•The scope of the college's role as a regional help institution has been enhanced through its Bureau for Community and Economic Development, the establishment of its Center for Cultural Outreach and the location of a state Department of Economic Development office on campus.

•A major campus construction and infrastructure improvement phase is ongoing.

•Campus and community morale have improved tremendously.

FORMER WAYNE State President Lyle Seymour of Wayne had strong words of praise for the work that Mash has done. Seymour said the current president is a role model for the other college leaders in the state and in talking to College Board members and state leaders, there are never any disparaging remarks about Wayne State and its leader now. It wasn't always that way. "They (state leaders) gave him a great deal of help," said Seymour of recent budgeting decisions.

"Perhaps the strongest indication of the degree of confidence the general public has in the institution and its leadership, said Seymour is the positive response of alumni and friends to the Building Bright Futures foundation fund drive.

Seymour said he has attended several alumni functions recently and is pleased to observe the response of the alumni to Mash.

MASH'S STOCK value with state decision makers is high, said former College Trustee Keith Blackledge because he has the ability to convey his passion and "vision of what higher education ought to be."

Blackledge said the Wayne State president is exceptionally articulate and "has been very good for the college, the college system and all of higher education in Nebraska."

"He's just a great guy," said Blackledge. If there is a down side to Mash, he said it would be that he "works too hard."

Even when he plays, he plays with a passion, say his golf buddies who report that he drives himself to excel on the golf course.

Mash admits that when he moved here from large, modern, George Mason University in Washington, D.C. members of his family were support but they had the toughest adjustments to make.

"I HAD THE easiest adjustment of the four of us," he said. His wife Julie left a high powered job as a marketing manager of a computer firm; daughter Christina was a junior in high school and eldest daughter Maria stayed behind to complete college.

Christina now is completing psychology and business study at University of Nebraska-Kearney. Julie is enrolled in graduate school at Wayne State planning to launch a new career in a year and a half in counseling and Maria is a strength and conditioning specialist with a health and fitness center connected to a hospital. She has a master's degree from the University of Virginia.

Mash said he is appreciative of the support he has received both on an off campus and adds he appreciates participation in efforts to see the region grow.

THE FRUSTRATIONS in the first five year have been few, he said. One was the lack of political clout for the area he discovered when he arrived here. The physical condition of the campus was frustrating for a time, he said but many of those frustrations have been or are already being addressed along with a growing amount of response from the legislature.

Staying focused is what his plans are for the future. He said there are several more immediate goals which need to be achieved.

Among them is the desire to continue to improve the college's role as a teacher education center.

"Nationally, what is happening is playing right into our hands," he said. Bigger institutions are being criticized because they are not paying attention to teaching.

OTHER GOALS will be to attract and keep good faculty and continue to make an economic impact on the college's service region and "continue to make us more and more attractive as an undergraduate teaching institution."

With long term goals in place, does this mean Mash sees himself as a long term President of Wayne State College? Not necessarily. He has already passed the average length of tenure (3+ years) for a college president and admits he has receive overtures from other colleges, but he said he has no immediate plans to seek other employment.

He said he has made a personal and public commitment to remain at Wayne through the Building Bright Futures Campaign, a three-year project that is into its second year.

Beyond that, he is not sure, although he did say you can't assume that his next move will be to a larger college or university. "I might do something entirely different," he added. "This could be my only presidency."

THE JOB OF college president is a tough one of balancing the varied interests of faculty, students, the legislature and taxpayers, alumni, coordinating commissions and communities which all present often conflicting perspectives, said Eric Seacrest, chairman of the Nebraska Coordinating Commission for Higher Education.

He added his words of praise for the work that Mash has done and especially singled out the Mash-led effort to make Wayne State College one of the leaders in the deployment of computer technology throughout the state. He said he often cites the work of Wayne State in speeches around the state.

Waste stream should drop

By Cheryl Alberts
IANR News Writer

A University of Nebraska-Lincoln solid waste reduction project should mean regional business and industry will make fewer trips to the landfill and generate less pollution, according to coordinator Mohamed Dahab.

The project assesses how much waste is produced by a participating commercial firm — and then characterizes whether it's solid waste or hazardous waste, if it's recyclable, or if it's reusable at the site.

"True pollution prevention is when waste never leaves the plant," said Dahab, a UNL waste management engineer.

Data from the three-year study will be published in a multimedia pollution prevention program. The information, workshops and videotapes will be coordinated, in part, through Cooperative Extension to businesses and industries in a 10-state area.

"Business and industry tend to generate a lot of waste," Dahab said. In Nebraska, he said they produce about 60 percent of the total solid waste stream.

"The second thing is, they produce a lot of special and hazardous waste," which the project also addresses.

So far, about 30 cooperating businesses and industries have been involved in the study. They include grocery and department stores, restaurants, dry cleaners, farm cooperatives, automobile maintenance and repair shops, offices, printers and photography laboratories, in addition to several industries throughout the state.

Dahab said that the businesses and industries agreed to cooperate because their procedures and waste disposal methods are kept in strict confidence and because the university is a non-regulatory organization.

While the project targeted smaller Nebraska businesses, some do millions of dollars worth of business each year, Dahab said, which means they, in some cases, generate large amounts of waste.

Coming from the outside allows Dahab and his staff to provide a fresh perspective on how cooperating companies operate. They find that sometimes businesses maintain a practice because "it's always been done that way," often without thinking why. Such practices may be unnecessary, or the subsequent waste could be reduced or recycled in a different form, Dahab added.

"What it really requires is an outside look — an outside critical eye," he said.

But reducing solid waste and keeping it out of landfill space isn't Dahab's only goal. He also hopes to reduce the amount of hazardous waste generated.

Nationally, Dahab said, 90 percent of the total hazardous waste is produced by 2 percent of the nation's generators. But, he said, smaller generators also produce fairly large amounts of hazardous waste. Those producing less than 220 pounds per month are unregulated, Dahab added, which potentially means that waste could mean improper disposal.

Left to themselves, few of these smaller businesses and industries have the expertise to avoid producing hazardous wastes, he said. However, good housekeeping is one method anyone can do, he said. For example, a truckload of recyclable cardboard becomes hazardous waste if a can of solvent gets mixed in it.

"If those businesses can do a little homework by keeping contamination separated, they'll have less hazardous waste to deal with," Dahab said.

The Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist prefers to measure the results of the project in terms of acute self-awareness — that people's behavior will change once education takes place. However, he probably will visit some of the businesses later this year to examine how they reduced their waste flow.

The one-of-a-kind project is funded by grants from the federal Environmental Protection Agency. The current three-year grant ends this fall, but Dahab has applied for a second, three-year EPA grant to focus on multimedia distribution and to target commercial firms which will make good case studies. Educational material will be distributed throughout EPA Region VII (Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska) and Region VIII (Colorado, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Utah and Montana).

New urologists join staff at Providence

A farewell coffee was held recently at Providence Medical Center in Wayne for Dr. Cecil Bromfield, urologist from Lincoln.

Dr. Bromfield, a native of Jamaica, has serviced the Wayne area for 13 years and plans to return to his native land after his retirement to do volunteer work.

To replace Dr. Bromfield, Providence Medical Center has accepted the services of Sioux City Urological Associates P.C. They include John A. Wolpert, M.D., and Kenneth McCalla, M.D. Also substituting for the two will be Patrick Walsh, M.D.

Their first visit to Wayne is planned for July 19.

A spokesman for the hospital said they will miss Dr. Bromfield, but feel confident that the Urological Associates are well qualified to take his place.

WOLPERT graduated from high school in Onawa, Iowa in 1963 and received his BS degree from Creighton University, Omaha, in 1967. He also received his medical training at Creighton University and served his internship and residency at St. Paul Ramsey Hospital in St. Paul, Minn.

He joined Sioux City Urological Associates in 1977 and is a member of the Woodbury Medical Society, Inc., Iowa Medical Society, American Medical Association, Iowa Urological Association, North Central Section of American Urological Association, American Urological Association, and North Central Cancer Treatment Group.

McCalla, who joined Sioux City Urological Associates in 1992, graduated from high school in Laramie, Wyo. and received his BS degree from the University of Wyoming, Laramie, in 1979.

He received his medical training at Creighton University, Omaha, serving his internship at St. Paul Ramsey Medical Center and his residency at Hennepin County Medical Center.

McCalla is a member of the Hennepin County Medical Society and the American Medical Association.

New law could close schools

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP) — A school superintendent says a new state law requiring school districts to pay a common tax levy is the death sentence for small, rural schools.

By making LB839 law, state officials have put rural, elementary schools on a collision course with consolidation, said Richard Kamm, superintendent at Lakeview High School.

"You hear all this talk about how revitalization of rural Nebraska is important to the whole state," Kamm said. "But you're sounding the death knell for rural Nebraska when you take away state funding for education."

The levy provision, Kamm said, requires all patrons in a Class VI, or high-school only school district such as the Lakeview High School, to pool their taxes into a single, common tax levy, even though they also belong to different Class I school districts.

Kamm and others say they would lose state funding from LB 839 because by having a common levy, the property value of the district would increase and each of the schools would qualify for less state funds. The law will take effect starting in the 1995-96 school year.

Sen. Ron Withem of Papillion, chairman of the Legislature's Education Committee, defended the law, saying it's only purpose is to eliminate unfair tax advantages in certain school districts.

If the Class I, or elementary-only, school districts in Lakeview exist for valid education purposes, they won't be hurt by the bill, Withem said.

However, Withem said, "if it's just for tax purposes, and that's the only reason they're keeping the district in its current structure, then there may be some problems. But (Kamm) has told us all along that that's not the case."

Withem also disagreed with Kamm that the shift in state aid is designed to benefit only urban school districts. Withem said there will be some shifts in state aid, but the money will go to districts that have less valuation per student at both rural and urban schools.

Proposals to place a common levy on rural school districts have failed three times in the last three years, after citizens opposed the proposal at public hearings, said Gayle M. Mueller, a former Lakeview Board of Education member.

Mueller, who has served as a liaison to the Legislature and lobbied in Lincoln on behalf of Lakeview during the recent session, said he was upset about the way supporters of the common levy provision tied it to LB 839. The original purpose of the measure was to delete obsolete tuition provisions for certain students living on federal and state lands, Mueller said.

Mueller said the common levy provision was amended to the bill during the final rounds of legislation, making it impossible for rural interests to tell legislators their side of the story.

Gov. Ben Nelson, who signed the LB 839 into law, said he was "sensitive to the outrage caused by the process that was used to advance the common levy." Nevertheless, Nelson added, "in the final analysis, issues must be decided on their merit, and governors, like batters, do not get to select how the pitch comes across the plate."

Kamm said there are several advantages to keeping Class VI and I schools separate. In each of the elementary districts, teachers and administrators make the decisions about what is good for their kids, he said. And while the local districts are able to determine those needs and tax accordingly, Lakeview administrators can coordinate the delivery of curriculum, staff development and, in some cases, activities.

What the common levy will do is rob local districts of their control, put all of the money in a single pot and leave administrators competing for pieces of the same pie, said Carl Schumacher of Platte Center, another former Lakeview board member who has represented the district in Lincoln.

A sign of the times

Crews are shown working in the background on sewer lines which will be part of the new Vintage Hill Subdivision northeast of Wayne. The large sign on east 14th Street was erected recently and shows the layout for the large new development.

Paying more attention to trails

I've just finished a pan of lasagna and one of Rice Krispie bars; my traditional dishes for the family reunion at York tomorrow.

Kay is fixing pasta salad, which we've gotten slightly "hooked on" the past few years. The Big Farmer is at the farm, still chopping musk thistles. I suggested he hire someone; he responded, "You can't find anyone who will chop thistles for money."

I love him enough to have gone along to help, but I had overnight guests. Monte worked many long hours on a big wooden sign for our establishment and it has been a great marketing device. Folks go up and down Church Road to Platte River Park and to Camp Kitaki; and notice the sign.

Last night's couple was from Grand Island and are bike enthusiasts. In fact, the husband participated in BRAN, Bike Ride Across Nebraska and offered some interesting insights. They found the communities very receptive. I guess Beemer was especially hospitable, with pictures of old-fashioned bikes on awnings; and bikes with lights hanging in trees. That part sounded fun; but I'm absolutely in awe of anyone who can complete this event.

Some other information he offered: he bikes in Wisconsin and Minnesota every fall. There, they've made trails of old railroad beds; and small towns on the routes have again come to life. I'm going to pay closer attention to this project in our state now.

We had close to 2 inches of rain again this week. One of the things that has helped farmers in this area is "no-till." They've obviously been doing it a few years. It seems strange to see bean plants marching across corn stalks, but I know it has to be good for the ground to keep all that cover. An older farmer told me yesterday that there has been a significant drop in tractor-fuel consumption. But I suppose herbicide and insecticide use almost compensates.

Now it's already time to buy fireworks. We're missing Old Settler's Reunion this weekend. That's always a fun time. We have many fond memories of this annual event. Any excuse for a parade!

On Dean's list

WAYNE — Creighton University student Daniel Wurdinger of Wayne has been named to the Dean's Honor Roll for academic achievement during the spring 1993 semester. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wurdinger of Wayne.

Full-time students who achieve a grade-point average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale are eligible for the Dean's Honor Roll.

Creighton is an independent Catholic university operated by the Jesuits. It has an enrollment of approximately 6,200.

Soldier completes training

WAKEFIELD — Army National Guard Pvt. Kristen Miller has completed the mobile subscriber equipment transmission systems operator course at Fort Gordon in Augusta, Ga.

Students were taught to install, operate, troubleshoot and perform maintenance on radio access units and other electronic devices. They were also taught to install and operate power generation equipment used for telecommunications.

The soldier is the daughter of Eileen Petit of Wakefield and Richard Miller of Arlington. She is a 1992 graduate of Wakefield High School.

Dean recognizes Waynian

WAYNE — Jason Polt of Wayne has earned a place on the Dean's List of honor students at the Minneapolis College of Art and Design for the spring semester. This recognition is awarded to students who have a grade point average of 3.5 or higher on a scale of 4.0.

By including Polt's name on the Dean's List, the college indicates its recognition and appreciation of the excellence of his academic effort, said Thomas Donahue, vice president and dean of students.

Teachers participating in project

AREA — Teachers from Wakefield and Winside are among 34 from across the state selected to join Nebraska Department of Education staff members to develop curriculum frameworks which will be based on nationally recognized standards in mathematics and science.

Selected from this area to participate in the project were Rae Brown of Wakefield, a level 4-6 math and science teacher at Pender Elementary School; and Paul Sok of Winside, a level 7-8 science teacher at Winside Public Schools.

The frameworks resulting from the three-year project will provide direction, focus and coordination for K-12 math and science education in Nebraska.

Funding is provided by a grant from the Eisenhower National Program for Mathematics and Science Education.

Hord takes part in orientation

WAYNE — Suellen Hord of Wayne was among about 135 students who participated in new student orientation activities on June 9-21 at Central Community College-Hastings campus.

Students attending the events received information on student activities, individualized instruction, dorm life, financial aid, counseling services and other areas of college life. They also registered for classes and took a pre-enrollment assessment test, which is required of all students who are enrolled in six or more credits or pursuing a certificate, diploma or degree.

Northeast Nebraska schools offering 'lunch aid' programs

The Nebraska Department of Education's Child Nutrition Office has announced the Income Eligibility Guidelines for free and reduced price meals for persons unable to pay the full price of meals served under the National School Lunch, Breakfast, Special Milk and Child and Adult Care Food Programs.

Participating schools and the office of the superintendent of schools and participating child and adult care centers have a copy of the policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party. Schools participating in this area include: Cedar County — Laurel Public and Randolph Public Schools; Dixon County — Allen Consolidated School; Wayne County — Wakefield Community School, School District #51, School District #57, St. Mary's School, Wayne Public School and Winside Public School.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents, guardians or adult participants. To apply for free or reduced price meals, households should fill out the application and return it to the school or agency. Additional copies are available from the school principal or agency administrator. The information provided on the application will be used to determine eligibility and may be verified at any time during the year by school or other program officials.

For the school or agency officials to determine eligibility, the household must provide the following information on the application: names of all household members; social security numbers of an adult household member or a statement that the household member does not have one; total household income by source and frequency; and the signature of an adult household member certifying that the information provided is correct. Households are required to report increases in household income of more than $50 per month or $600 per year and decreases in household size or a loss of benefits from Food Stamps, AFDC, SSI or Medicaid.

Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

The same meals will be made available to all enrolled participants regardless of race, color, sex, age, national origin or handicap, and there is no discrimination in the course of the meal service. Nonpricing programs provide meals at no separate charge. Pricing programs provide free and reduced price meals to those meeting the approved eligibility criteria. Persons who believe they have been treated unfairly in receiving food services for any of these reasons should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

The following household size and income criteria will be used for determining eligibility. Participants from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced price meals. Households receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) or Food Stamps are automatically eligible for benefits. Participants at adult care centers receiving Food Stamps, SSI or Medicaid are automatically eligible for benefits.

ANNUAL INCOME ELIGIBILITY GUIDELINES Effective from July 1, 1993 - June 30, 1994

START looking for a few good towns

Nebraska's START Economic Development program is looking for "a few good Nebraska communities."

Actually, START isn't recruiting for the U.S. Marine Corps, but they are looking for four or five Nebraska communities that could benefit from economic and community development. The Center for Public Affairs Research (CPAR) at the University of Nebraska at Omaha (UNO) oversees the program which has completed 41 projects involving 62 Nebraska communities since 1989. Both Wayne and Wakefield have been involved in START.

Participating communities are chosen on the basis of the community's readiness for strategic planning which includes having a core of leaders and general community support. Because the program is a self-help approach to community development, the community is required to do much of the work involved in organizing the planning, conducting surveys and carrying out action plans. CPAR provides training materials, facilitation services and technical assistance.

Each project costs $6,500 and is funded jointly by UNO ($3,500), the Omaha World-Herald ($2,500) and participating communities. The Omaha World-Herald also sponsors a follow-up meeting one year after the planning process begins.

START Economic Development is designed to be a critical element in a community's development for today and the future. Successful communities credit START's ability to bring people together to discuss and plan in a knowledgeable way as a major stimulus for community economic development.

The program is most effective in communities (and their surrounding agricultural areas) with populations between 1,000 and 10,000. If you think your community could benefit from START call 1-800-227-4533 now for more information.

Change isn't a four-letter word says specialist

Although many resist it, change is not a four-letter word. This will be a central message Natural Resource District education specialist Sallie Atkins makes in her presentation at the Nebraska Cattle-Women/Cattlemen Mini-Midyear meeting set for July 1 in Valentine.

Many in business today, cattlemen included, often resist change because of unfounded fears, Atkins says. She will explain negative change often is a result of inaction or not being involved. On the other hand, she says, positive change frequently occurs when you are involved. "All of us in the industry need to give serious, ongoing thought to this. We need to remind ourselves that each of us can make a difference. When we don't act, others do and we live and work with the consequences.

"Just ask the cattle feeders who recently participated in a two-day total quality management workshop in Kearney. They'll tell you there is a lot to be gained from digging into this subject of change. I believe as they do that there is more opportunity to be embraced if we'll take the time to learn how to look at things differently."

Atkins will apply this principle to key industry issues that include total quality management, marketing, environment protection and customer/consumer satisfaction.

The one-day mid-year program will be held at the Peppermill Restaurant and will include a little business, education and entertainment. Board meetings for both organizations will get the day started. They will be followed by three one-hour workshops that will be repeated so participants may attend all three.

In addition to Atkins' remarks, Willie Holmes will make a presentation titled "Local Dumps Are Being Closed — Waste Disposal Options in Rural Nebraska." These two workshops will be repeated and then all attendees will be able to listen to Gene Mack, Fish and Wildlife Service biologist, discuss plans of the Wetlands Task Force.

The afternoon workshops will be followed with a reception and banquet at which Muriel Bonsall will be the featured speaker. Mrs. Bonsall is a USDA Meat Grader from western Kansas and was selected as Mrs. Congeniality at the 1990 Mrs. America contest. A dance will top off the 1993 Mini-Midyear.

The midyear schedule is as follows: 10 a.m.-noon, board meetings; noon-1 p.m., lunch; 1-4 p.m., workshops (repeated); 4-6 p.m., social hour; 6 p.m., banquet and speaker; and 8 p.m., dance.

Activities for ladies not attending the workshops are being planned by the Valentine Chamber of Commerce.

An early registration fee (received on or before June 18) is $25. Late and on-site registration is $30. Both include a noon buffet, evening banquet and dance. To register send your name, address, phone and registration fee to Nebraska CattleWomen, P.O. Drawer 40, Alliance, NE 69301 or call 308-762-3005.

The Nebraska Cattlemen association conducts producer education and legislative monitoring services, is funded by membership fees and represents nearly 5,000 cattle breeders, producers and feeders, as well as 50 county and local cattlemen's associations.

The Nebraska CattleWomen is also funded by membership fees and conducts beef promotion, ag education and industry ambassador activities.

USDA penalizes buyer

Robert Becker, doing business as Becker's Livestock Buying, Hartington, Neb., has agreed to a $15,000 civil penalty and a cease and desist order from the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

A USDA official said Becker agreed to cease and desist misrepresenting to his principals the actual purchase weights of livestock, preparing documents and collecting payments based on false weights and failing to properly operate and maintain his livestock scales. Becker agreed to keep and maintain records of all business transactions subject to the Packers and Stockyards (P&S) Act.

Calvin W. Watkins, acting administrator of USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration, said Becker, in agreeing to the penalties, neither admitted nor denied the federal administrative charges filed by USDA under authority of the Packers and Stockyards (P&S) Act.

The P&S Act is an antitrust, fair trade practice and payment protection law. It is designed to assure free and open competition and to prevent unfair and deceptive practices in the marketing of livestock, meat and poultry.

The busy gatekeepers

Mark Sorensen, left and Ralph Etter were two of the busy gate men and organizers of the 4-H District Horse Show held last Thursday at the Wayne County Fairgrounds. Approximately 70 4-H'ers participated in the competition which is held as a qualifying event for the state fair.

4-H News

Ken Hall, adult leader, and Doug French, 4-H leader, conducted the June 21 meeting of the Blue Ribbon Winners 4-H Club in the Winside park. Attending were 23 members, 11 adults and five future 4-H'ers.

Doug French opened the meeting with the Pledge of Allegiance and 4-H pledge. Mandi Topp gave the secretary's report. Members decided to meet Thursday night at Mick Topp's at 7 p.m. to fill up balloons for Old Settlers.

The club adopt-a-highway project has been approved. Members decided to wait until after the fair to set a clean-up date. A barbecue will follow at the Topp's.

Fair entry tags were handed out and discussed. All animal tags must be filled out and returned to the extension office by July 21. Clothing and photography projects must be done for judging by July 24.

Fair passes were also handed out. Members decided to find a new location for their after the bonus auction pizza party this year.

Details will be discussed at the next meeting following the club tour on July 18. The tour will begin at the Claussen farm at 5 p.m. and conclude with a potluck picnic in the Winside park.

Crystal Jaeger, news reporter.

HELPING HANDS

Five members and two leaders of the Helping Hands 4-H Club met June 17 in the Nick Brogren home.

President Mary Evans opened the meeting, followed with the secretary's report by Beth Bloomfield and the treasurer's report by Connie Van Houten.

Plans were made for the fair and contest forms were filled out. Nick Brogren gave a demonstration on recycling. Beth and Mark Bloomfield served lunch.

The next meeting will be July 11 in the Winside park at 7 p.m. Each member is asked to bring one finished 4-H fair item.

Weather bouys soy price

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) -- Wet weather in neighboring states has caused a 13-cent-per-bushel increase in the being paid for Nebraska soybeans.

Secular Grain employee Andy Kuhn said Monday the increase has pushed the price per bushel past $6 for the first time in four years.

Grain commodities analyst Doug Carper said it's an unusual weather market because it's wet weather, not dry.

Carper said farmers in other soybean states have been delayed in their planting.

Twenty percent of the soybeans in Iowa have not been planted and some that were replanted washed out again during weekend rains. Iowa Gov. Terry Branstad said he's looking to other states to make a joint disaster appeal.

Carper said a recent survey indicates that there are a large number of soybeans still stored on farms. That means a bin with 10,000 unsold bushels would be holding about $3,500 more value than just four days ago.

Weather-related advances in price this time of year generally come from dry conditions and they generally disappear as soon as it rains. This could constitute a more lasting price gain, Kuhn said, because it comes in relation to expiration of planting deadlines.

"I think some people are still going to try it," he said of frustrated soybean planters in southern Minnesota, Iowa and in Missouri. "I don't know how they're going to do."

Carper said some of the Nebraska advantage gained by planting weeks elsewhere will be lost to "double croppers" planting soybeans farther south as soon as they harvest their winter wheat.

But price potential still looks promising right now.

HOT DOGS

for your July 4th picnic? We have 36 different types of wieners, franks or hot dogs. If you've ever wondered about where the names came from or what's in them — here are a few hot dog facts. Frankfurters originated in Frankfurt Germany and were originally a combination of beef and pork that was seasoned and either cured, smoked, or cooked. Wieners get their name from Austria and refers to the style and shape. Wiener-style, as originated, is sausage braided in groups of links. Hot dogs is an American slang word referring to red color as hot and long slender shape to the wiener dog. Ingredients are primarily pork, beef, chicken and turkey. Hot dogs can only contain 30% fat and contain about 180 calories. Low-salt and low fat hot dogs are also made along with turkey franks. They can also be made with natural casings or skinless. So, if you send your husband to the store to get "hot dogs" don't be surprised if he calls home and asks which one?
