

Great harvest days but corn yields are down

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Great harvesting weather has greeted the region during the past week bringing the soybean harvest to near completion and getting the corn pickers dusted off.

Early reports on the corn harvest yields have not been good, according to Wayne County ASCS director Teri Post.

With only about 10 percent of the corn crop in, yields have been average or below. The yield is expected to be off as much as 30 percent from a year ago for corn, she said. While the corn yields may not be anything to write home about, the soybeans have been a pleasant surprise for the area.

Soybean yields were well above the 25 bushel average for the area, with the county average expecting to come in above 35 bushels this year. Many farmers reported yields in the 40s with some as high as 50.

Carroll Feed and Grain reports the first loads of corn came in on 120 bushel fields with moisture in the 18 to 25 percent range. Farmers generally must sell corn for a discount if the moisture content is above 15 percent. Many opt to leave it in the field to dry or if they have the equipment, mechanically dry it themselves.

Early corn loads at Wayne Grain and Feed have shown moisture readings in the 18 to 20 percent range with test weights from 52 to 54.

"This has been great drying weather," Ms. Post said of the current conditions. She said we still need more of the low humidity days to get the corn to dry down.

She said yields were off this year primarily because of poor germination brought on by the wet, cool weather conditions this summer. On the brighter side, she said she expects by the early indications, the corn quality will be up considerably over last year.

One third is raised

Wayne United Way fund drive has raised $8,000 of the $25,000 goal so far. The $8,000 has been received from the business drive in progress at this time, according to Rusty Parker, co-chairman of this year's drive.

For the fourth year, City Administrator Joe Salitros has challenged City of Wayne employees with a contest. For every $100 given by a particular department, he will work for that department for half a day. Past contests have resulted in Salitros working in the water department at the waste water treatment plant, electric department at the light plant, for the city clerk/treasurer department and for the police department.

"The Wayne United Way board appreciates Joe's efforts and the employees of each department for participating in the United Way Drive," said Parker. "This contest is a great way to get involved in supporting United Way which is supporting the community of Wayne. Wayne businesses and their employees participation are very im-

Cascading leaves

Near perfect weather conditions over the weekend made the chore of raking leaves more of a game than work for a couple of 4-H members involved in community service work. Becky Fletcher and Casey Daehnke are members of the Dog Creek 4-H club that spent Sunday afternoon raking leaves for elderly people in Wayne.

Exchanges aid cultural awareness

By Lea J. Calhoun
For the Herald

Wayne is in the middle of efforts to encourage cultural awareness and mutual respect between nations.

Ellen Heinemann of Wayne is the local Educational Foundation for foreign study (EF Foundation) volunteer representative. Heinemann was born and raised in Northeast Nebraska. Other than volunteering for various activities, Heinemann helps her husband with the business end of their farm located east of Wayne.

This is Heinemann's first year as an EF Foundation volunteer and has brought two foreign exchange students to Wayne this year. Since 1979 the EF Foundation has helped more than 25,000 American families discover the joy of sharing their homes with foreign exchange students. The EF Foundation is a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting world peace through international exchange.

Heinemann said the families she has found so far have volunteered to be host families.

"Once a family is interested, I meet with them and explain the program," Heinemann said.

The family then fills out an application. "A family learns a lot about themselves because it includes a lot about themselves because it includes questions on what they enjoy doing together, reason for wanting a foreign exchange student and their goals and expectations of how they would work as a family to incorporate another person," Heinemann said.

In addition, the family needs two letters of recommendation from

Good press on road number plan

Wayne county highway superintendent Sid Saunders has received statewide publicity on the Associated Press for his road numbering system that would make it easier for people to find their way on Nebraska's rural roads.

Dawson, Gosper and Dixon counties have told Wayne County they are adopting the plan, which could be extended to any county that wants to use it, Sid Saunders said.

The numbering system is based on a one-mile grid employed by the original surveyors of Nebraska who in the 1800s divided the state into square-mile sections.

Under Saunders' system, a three-digit number is assigned to each section line in the state. Most county roads run on section lines and the numbers can be used to identify county roads, Saunders said.

The new system was developed as a means of providing specific addresses for rural residents to permit establishment of the enhanced 911 emergency dispatching system.

Saunders is encouraging all counties in the state to adopt the system.

Outcomes education scrutinized

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Outcomes based education is a concept that is getting careful scrutiny in Wayne and it is clear the idea is not getting carte blanc approval from anyone in the community.

Wayne School Superintendent Dr. Dennis Jensen spoke to the Wayne Elementary Boosters about the new buzzwords in education Monday night and while he said he was not in support of adopting the whole concept for Wayne, there might be some parts of it that would work here. Many of the parents at the meeting indicated skepticism about all parts of it.

JENSEN SAID the issue has deteriorated in many areas of the country to a debate over teaching values, morals and lifestyles and that is not what outcomes based education originally was intended to be.

"I don't fear outcomes based education," he said. "I want to look at it to see what we can get out of it." He said a better term for the process necessary to bring the educational system in line with a dramatically changing society might be goals centered curriculum.

He said under this plan the community could set high expectations for its graduates and design the curriculum back from graduation to help students achieve those levels.

He explained to the some 40 parents and teachers who attended the booster club meeting Monday the original concept of outcomes based education was to set higher goals for students, establish standards that each student must achieve before moving on and raise the level of academic expectation for all students.

TOWARD THAT end, Jensen said the Wayne community has already established some outcomes goals for its students and is working to raise expectations for all students.

Last year a committee of parents, administrators, teachers and community leaders drafted a vision statement for the schools and goals for graduation, which is in itself an outcomes-based model, he said.

Jensen said he didn't see dramatic changes forthcoming in the Wayne Schools with respect to outcomes based education and that whatever changes would be adopted would be done with the full knowledge and support of the whole community, including parents, teachers, and community leaders.

He said even though the Wayne Schools have a great track record in graduating more than 98 percent of its students, sending 97 percent on to post secondary education and having top students score consistently above average on test scores compared with the state and nation's top students, there is still room for

Omahan gives $1 million to Wayne State

Former Omaha business executive, Bob Cunningham, and his wife, Kay, have announced a $1 million estate gift to Wayne State College's current fund drive. The gift will endow future capital expenditures and student scholarship programs.

Cunningham, a native of Wayne and 1939 graduate of the college, served as chief executive officer of the Omaha Livestock Exchange for 33 years prior to his retirement in 1983. During his administration, the Omaha stockyards rose to become the world's largest livestock market — a position it maintained for 18 years.

Cunningham was also founder and for 25 years the chief executive officer and Washington representa-

Obituaries

Annie Kingston

Annie Kingston, 92, of Wakefield, formerly of Allen, died Saturday, Oct. 23, 1993 at the Wakefield Care Center.
Services were held Monday, Oct. 25 at the First Lutheran Church in Allen. The Rev. Kip Tyler officiated.

Annie Margaret Kingston, the daughter of John Phillip and Sarah Sebern Boeshart, was born Jan. 31, 1901 in Mills County, Iowa. She moved with her family to a farm near Waterbury, then as a nine-year-old to a farm near Dixon. She attended school at Waterbury and at Clark Center Rural School. She married James Richard Kingston on Sept. 20, 1920 at Ponca. He died Nov. 24, 1985. She worked at the M.G. Waldbaum Company in Wakefield and as a cook at the Home Cafe in Allen. She moved to Wakefield in 1981 and into the care center on May 20, 1993.

Survivors include two daughters, Rachel Kubik of Emerson and Mrs. Bernard (Faith) Keil of Allen; five grandchildren; 12 great grandchildren; one sister, Rachel Schutte of Homer; nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by four sisters and three brothers.

Pallbearers were Jerry Stanley, Jamie Hamlin, Dennis Lipp, Pete Snyder, Dean Boeshart and George Boeshart.

Burial was in the Eastview Cemetery, Allen, with the Bressler-Humlicek Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Irving Anderson

Irving Anderson, 76, of Hoskins died Sunday, Oct. 24, 1993 at the Immanuel Medical Center in Omaha.

Services will be held Thursday, Oct. 28 at 10 a.m. at Zion Lutheran Church, Pierce. The Rev. Peter Cage will officiate.

Irving Nathaniel Anderson, the son of Iver and Minnie Stamm Anderson, was born Oct. 28, 1916 on a farm near Hoskins. He attended rural School District #77 and graduated from Winside High School in 1934. In 1935, he began riding as a jockey for Calumet Farm in Lexington, Ky. and continued with Calumet through October 1940. He then rode for John Hay Whitney at New York and Florida tracks until he was drafted in the fall of 1941, and served through 1945. During his racing career, he rode in the Kentucky Derby three times and finished third with Market Wise in 1941. He won the Widener Challenge Cup (Florida) plus other stakes with Bull Lea. He won the Flamingo Stakes (Florida) with Woolf Woolf, and rode Four Winds to victory in the Lassic Stakes at Arlington Park (Illinois) in 1946. He married Frances E. Butler of Front Royal, Va. on April 15, 1944. After World War II, he rode briefly until 1946 when he became a trainer for Art Rooney at the Shamrock Farms in Maryland. In 1952 they moved to Nebraska and farmed until 1956 when he joined the official staff of the Nebraska Racing Circuit until retirement in 1984. He was a member of the Tomek-Otto Post #72, American Legion, Pierce, Zion Lutheran Church of rural Hoskins, The Jockeys' Guild and the North American Society of Racing Officials.

Survivors include his wife, Frances of Hoskins; two sons, Wayne and Sally of Cairo and Warren and Beverly of Aurora; one daughter, Mrs. Rick (Cathy) Bussey of Hoskins; eight grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs. James (Iva) Robinson of Hoskins and Mrs. Winston (Bonnie) Abernathy of Brandon, Fla.

He was preceded in death by his parents, one grandchild and one great grandchild.

Names of the creeks in Wayne County are very descriptive. Logan Creek, the largest and the one running along the south edge of the city, was probably named for John A. Logan, as was Logan precinct. But according to legend it is said to be named for a young Indian. A warrior was pursued by members of an enemy tribe. He dashed into Wayne County's largest creek, his horse floundered in the mud, and he and the animal drowned. Both were buried in the same grove at Elml bluff. The young Indian's name was Logan and hence some tell that the creek carries his name.

Mandating local problems

Local government leaders will be participating in a national message to be sent to Washington decrying the growing number of unfunded mandates being heaped on local school boards, city councils and county commissions by federal and state lawmakers.

Voters need to be aware that a lion's share of the local tax revenues are going to pay for local programs which have been mandated by federal and state laws. School boards, city councils and county commissions often have their hands tied when it comes to setting local priorities for limited resources because new mandates have dipped dramatically into local revenue sources.

When a federal mandate forces local taxes to be raised, or forces the elimination of a popular program it is seldom the federal lawmaker that takes the heat, it is the local board.

Asbestos abatement, landfill closures and new solid waste management rules, new drinking water regulations, new waste water treatment rules, special education requirements, Americans With Disabilities Act, to name a few, are often sensible and necessary new laws but each requires funding to implement.

But that funding does not come from the federal level. Increasingly, those new programs are funded from strapped local government budgets. That means either local taxes must increase or programs without the federal or state mandate must be cut.

Wayne County Commissioners were forced to cut back on road maintenance and county employees budgets last year because of just this problem. The average Wayne County voter would place a higher priority on passable rural roads and better service from county officials rather than a new courthouse elevator or new procedures for solid waste handling. But those decisions cannot be made locally under the existing federal and state mandate system.

It is a system that wrongly usurps local decision making and priority setting responsibilities which have traditionally been performed by local governments.

We share the view of local officials who are participating in the campaign against unfunded mandates.

No new law should be passed at the state or federal level without specific funding provisions that do not pass the costs on to the local governments.

With the horizon filled with new mandate ideas like a national health care plan, new water system testing, radon testing requirements, lead abatement and more, it is imperative that the message get back to Washington and Lincoln.

If it is something you think we must do that we aren't doing now, you figure out a way to pay for it.

Crime measures draw political fire

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — My summer vacation was spent driving around the state of Colorado.

You know the place — great mountains, ritzy ski resorts and pro sports, yet residents there can't quite be happy unless their college football team beats our Cornhusking flatlanders.

Go, figure. Well, our neighbors to the southwest also delivered a message this summer about another big issue in our state: gun control.

Growing fear about violence pushed the Colorado Legislature into a special session this summer. It resulted in a series of new laws aimed at curbing violence, particularly involving youths.

That trend has found its way onto the prairie.

Nebraska Attorney General Don Stenberg and Omaha Mayor P.J. Morgan (you know, the one who drives the Harley) weighed in first.

They proposed a series of get-tough-on-crime steps, from mandatory minimum sentences of three years for those involved in drive-by shootings to speeding up death-penalty cases.

U.S. Rep. Peter Hoagland, an Omaha Democrat, followed with proposed federal laws banning handgun possession by minors.

The Legislature is also expected to announce its own package soon, mixing gun-control bills with new ways to deal with criminals.

The announcements triggered the normal round of political fire.

Gov. Nelson accused Stenberg and Morgan of grandstanding; Stenberg complained that people were tired of waiting for Nelson to propose something.

Omaha Sen. John Lindsay, who heads a task force (which ironically includes Stenberg) looking at crime legislation, said the attorney general should have waited for and worked with the task force; Stenberg said that group wasn't going to agree with his key proposal, mandatory minimum sentences for bad guys.

There was enough sniping to start a gang war. Hey wait, that's what we're supposed to be stopping here, isn't it?

Anyway, the bickering illustrates one solid truth in this debate: there is no simple answer to curbing crime.

Putting more people in prison is expensive. Building a prison costs $25 million and up — money the state doesn't have. And judges say those mandatory minimum sentences don't work.

Gun-Control measures usually end up catching only a few bad apples. And even the good proposals (like requiring adults to keep their guns away from children) end up getting hacked to pieces by the National Rifle Association and other pro-gun groups.

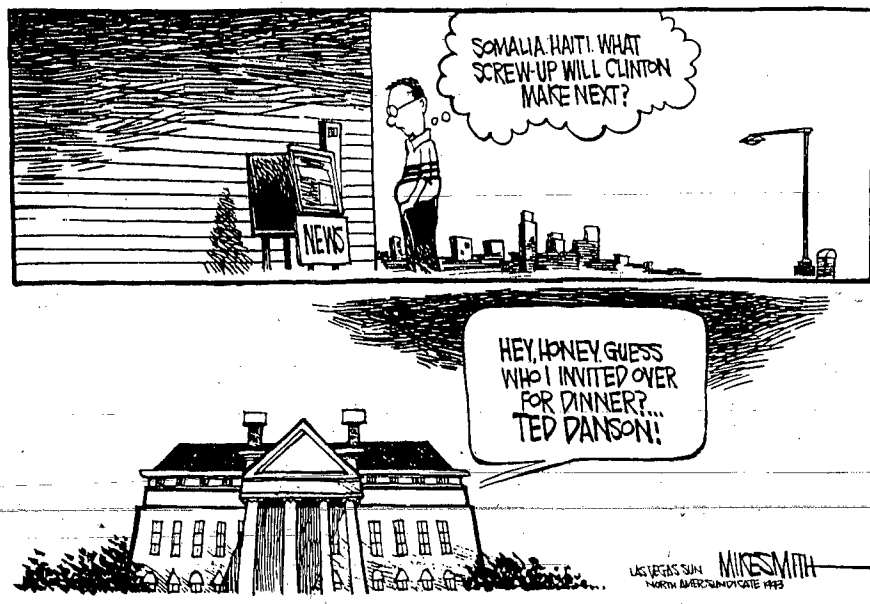

But in Colorado, a series of tragic shootings raised pressure so high that something was done.

Nebraska has had some well-publicized shootings recently, too — a suspected gang shooting in Scottsbluff, a pregnant teen shot and killed in Omaha, bullets fired at a York judge's home.

So maybe we'll be following Colorado's lead.

Maybe they'll send us a couple of mountains, too.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

'Anagatha'

It's no mystery; messy desks can be murder

An "Anagatha" is defined in my "Sniglets Dictionary" as any mysterious item that inexplicably appears as part of the clutter on your desk.

My desk collects anagathas like a windshield collects bugs. "It's a mystery to me how you find anything on that desk," more than one co-worker has admonished as they covertly slide another item onto the growing pile.

A bigger mystery still is how (and, yes, why) I write a weekly column amid all this clutter and chaos. There are days when it is nothing but murder.

"Now, what am I going to do with that fossilized dinosaur dung was placed on one of the piles on my desk. That's more interesting than most of the stuff in your column, put it there," said the rude and tenuously employed anagatha depositor.

Well, I've reached a new low...twenty-three pieces of the Jurassic era fossilized fertilizer collected in Utah, sold at a London auction for $4,500. At that rate, can you just imagine what our city sewage treatment plant could be worth in 50 billion years?

Mann Overboard
By Les Mann

Woolly Worm Mystery

We have been trying to predict the winter severity for eons by looking at caterpillars. The theory goes that if the woolly worms are dark in color, the winter will be bad. Light worms mean mild weather.

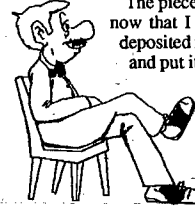

In another anagatha item, I discovered in my desk clearing frenzy, Hagerstown, Maryland has taken the woolly worm folklore to new heights. There a contest is held to give prizes for the biggest, and cutest woolly worms collected.

They are predicting average winter weather early but milder in the end. The worms this year appear to have dark bands in front and light hind ends.

I've only seen light ones in this area this fall. I hope that means what it is supposed to mean.

Some anagathas defy description.

The piece of art at left falls into that category. But at least now that I have done something with it, the person who deposited it here will not be offended if I take it off my desk and put it where it belongs...in the round file.

These firemen have a real ball

In a new twist on the volunteer fire department fall fund raising efforts comes the news item from Valencia, Pa. about that town's firemen holding a topless dance revue.

The event packed the firehall at $15 a head and fire chief Bill Rooker said his department had to turn to hiring the strippers for fund raising because bingo games, raffles, dinners and dances were keeping the department going.

While a financial success, the event drew criticism, as it should, from ministers and others who said the event was demeaning to women.

To that the fire chief said there have been no complaints in the past when the department's ladies auxiliary staged male strippers as a fund raiser.

Ben always had an answer

Where it came from I don't know, but one of the best anagathas I found on my desk this week was listing of quotes attributed to Ben Franklin.

- Forget your mistakes, but remember what they taught you.
- Happiness is not the absence of conflict, but the ability to cope with it.
- We weaken whatever we exaggerate.
- The control center of your life is your attitude.
- It is better to do good than just to talk about it.

Corn Board favors NAFTA

Dear Editor:

In 1992, Nebraska corn farmers produced over a billion bushels of corn. That's a lot of corn. But it isn't worth a plug nickel unless we find a customer to buy it. As a member of the Nebraska Corn Board, I am charged with the responsibility of managing checkoff funds to expand markets for the corn we produce.

At times, this can be incredibly challenging. U.S. corn producers have recently lost key corn export markets in Russia and South Korea. For every market lost, a new market must be found. This is why the Nebraska Corn Board, made up of nine corn farmers, recently targeted Mexico as a key potential market for Nebraska corn. Passage of NAFTA, the North American Free Trade Agreement, is critical to opening up this market to the corn you and I produce.

NAFTA won't solve all of our country's agricultural problems, but it won't bring the "knock out" punch that some would lead you to believe, either. The good news is that there are 90 million people in Mexico who want to buy our corn. NAFTA would go a long way to opening up this dynamic, new market.

Finally, I encourage you to request a copy of the UNL NAFTA report by writing the Nebraska Corn Board, P.O. Box 95107, Lincoln, NE 68509.

Farewell Good Old Days are gone

Goodbye G.O.D.! The Good Old Days (G.O.D.) now rest, buried in the cemetery of values. While alive and well, no one guessed your passing could occur so abruptly! At the onset, we didn't realize your values were so vulnerable to an infectious virus of decadent liberalism. Those of us first observing your symptoms, signaling you were suffering from a drought of common sense, were debilitated by a fear: that of speaking up. It happened so fast! Now we're saying goodbye!

GOODBYE G.O.D.! You showed us some mighty good times!

Like the days when children, reared to respect others, didn't pack pistols, having been taught by heavy-duty role modeling parents.

Like the days when sex education was taught at home, not at school with condom dispensers.

Like the G.O.D. when "Oh my God!" was a carnal curse. Children weren't taught cursing the Creator was "cute". Slow minds now use the curse in robotic replacement of mental activity.

Like the days when parents didn't exhibit a gargantuan greed for a parade of possessions, consequently leaving time to share with their children. The virus is old, but who thought the resultant plague would end in producing latchkey kids?

Then there were the days when, after a hard day working, dad would arrive home. His children greeted him with hugs and his wife, finding forthright satisfaction in being wife, mother and homemaker, would greet him with a home-cooked meal. But more than that, she represented his reason to live, and vice versa. Though not materially rich, the family found wealth in each other. After worshipping at the altar of assets, the family circle has unraveled.

'Somebody has to be the watchdog'

Dear Editor:

In our job as watchdog for the taxpayers, the Nebraska Republican Party has worked to hold Gov. Ben Nelson accountable to the citizens for his actions in office. The most recent occasion of the watchdog barking was the use of a taxpayer-funded Department of Economic Development newsletter that was a blatant promotion for the Nelson-Robak campaign.

Melvin Paul, the statehouse columnist for the Nebraska Press Association recently wrote that Republicans should not focus on the failings of the Democrats. If we do not do our job, then who will?

In his column, Mr. Paul criticized the potential Republican candidates because they are not being as well known as Nelson. I would urge Mr. Paul to check and see how well known Bob Kerrey and Ben Nelson were to Nebraskans more than a year prior to the governor's election. Of course, they were not well known at all. Part of the campaign for governor is to introduce the candidates to the voters and Nebraska voters will know the Republican nominee well when it is to vote. The Republican governor candidates are currently working to build grassroots support that is essential for success next year.

In addition, Mr. Paul wrote that the GOP is not "given much of a chance to beat Nelson." He does not say who has this opinion but we believe Nebraskans disagree with this assertion. Because of the Nelson Administration's pattern of arrogance toward the state's taxpayers, the eventual Republican nominee for governor will be poised for success at the polls in November of 1994.

Lutt-Gamble are wed at Redeemer

Robin Carolyn Lutt, daughter of Terry and Peg Lutt of Wayne, became the bride of Robert Dean Gamble, son of Larry and Linda Gamble, also of Wayne during an Oct. 9 ceremony at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne.

The Rev. Michael Girlinghouse officiated.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father and her godfather, Jack Lutt, Winside. She wore a white satin floor-length gown, featuring a scalloped v-neckline and long pleated sleeves which tapered to the waist. The Basque bodice and sleeves were intricately detailed with crystal pleats, pearls and rhinestones. The cathedral train was also adorned with crystal pleats, lace cutouts and a candy box bow.

She carried a silk bouquet of white roses, star flowers and plum stephanellas. Attached to the bouquet was her grandmother's pearl necklace, which the bride's mother had worn on her wedding day.

Maid of honor was Kari Lutt, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Carolyn Alt, godmother of the bride, Shelley Jorgensen, Barb Frevert and Dana Nelson, friends of the bride. Each wore a tea-length gown of iridescent taffeta grape.

Flowergirl was Lesli Sturm, cousin of the bride. The bride's personal attendant was Traci Wingett, sister of the groom.

The groom wore a black tuxedo with tails. Best man was Randy Gamble, cousin of the groom. Attendants were Mike Heithold and Danny Frevert, friends of the groom, and Brent and Brian Gamble, brothers of the groom. They wore black tuxedos with iridescent taffeta grape cummerbunds and bow ties.

Ringbearer was Jacob Triggs,

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gamble cousin of the groom.

Ushers for the ceremony were Andy Lutt, brother of the bride; Skip Gamble, cousin of the groom; Cory Nelson, Russ Hamer, Bill Landanger and Clancy Wingett, friends of the couple.

Organist was Marilyn Wallin and soloist was Mary Murtaugh. They performed "The Father Says I Do", "There Is Love", "Only God Could Love You More" and "Make Us One".

Hosting the reception and dance at the National Guard Armory were Randy and Joni Holdorf, uncle and aunt of the bride and Keith and Mary Gamble, uncle and aunt of the groom.

The couple is making their home in Wayne where the groom is employed by Great Dane and serves as a member of the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department. The bride graduated from Wayne State College in May and is employed at Lutheran Community Hospital in Norfolk.

Hospital Auxiliary Bazaar scheduled for next week

The annual Wayne Hospital Auxiliary Bazaar will be held on Thursday, Nov. 4 from 3 to 8 p.m. at the Wayne City Auditorium.

A special feature this year will be the collectibles department which will be located in the Women's Club Room. The families of seven deceased members of the community have been kind enough to donate items in their memory. Articles available will include glassware, small appliances, linens and party goods. Other departments featured will be a food fair and craft boutique.

Chances will be available on a queen size quilt made by the "Piece Makers" Quilting Club, an antique rocker donated by Miron and Louise Jenness, a wreath donated by the Wayne Greenhouse and a porcelain doll-and-high chair donated by the Auxiliary and Donna Schumacher.

A luncheon of soup, chili, sandwiches and pie will be available during the bazaar.

Co-chairpersons are Luella Marra and Donna Schumacher.

Committee heads are food fair, Joyce Pippitt and Marvel Corbit; collectibles, Elda Jones; ticket sales, Bernita Sherbahn; crafts, Luella Marra and Donna Schumacher; kitchen, Lois Hall and Louise Jenness; tickets, Marilyn Carhart; and membership, Zita Jenkins.

Donations of collectibles, baked goods and crafts may be brought to the city auditorium from 2 to 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 3 and after 8:30 a.m. on Thursday, Nov. 4.

Because of the efforts of the Auxiliary and the community, $15,000 in equipment was donated to Providence Medical Center in 1993.

"We are hoping that the community will be as supportive to our efforts this year," said Donna Schumacher.

United Methodist Women meet for noon luncheon

The United Methodist Women met Wednesday, Oct. 13 with a noon luncheon served by the Theophilus Interest Group with 37 present. The October birthdays were Jo Day, Becky Wilson and Hallie Sherry. Helen Rose pinned a Corsage for Missions ribbon on each, while the birthday song was sung. Della Mae Preston gave the Missionary Minute and reminded everyone to bring their jars for missions in November.

Marj Porter, vice president, presided over the meeting, which began at 12:55 p.m. She read a poem by Addie Scheve entitled "Chrysanthemums, Lasts and Lasts." Imogene Brasch talked about the Christmas Fair. She passed out a paper for donations to the fair and when and where each could work.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Dola Husmann read the correspondence which consisted of:

1. Thank you from Anna Stamp.
2. Invitation to attend Guest Day at the Wisner UMW on Tuesday, Oct. 19 at 2 p.m.
3. WSC Campus Ministry is asking for a donation to UMHE.

4. Tecumseh Laotian Ministry is asking for a donation to help support their ethnic ministry.

5. Thank you from Norma Ehlers to the UMW for honoring her and Elsie Ehlers with the Dedicated Light.

6. Thank you from Pastor Don for the Corsage for Missions presented to him on UMW Sunday.

Officers training meetings are in Elgin on Oct. 18 or at Creighton Oct. 23.

Our concerns include Maureen Wacker, Joe Claybaugh, Deb Gross, Anne Wells, Mary Sensenig and Roberta Welte.

Hallie Sherry reported on the book "The Scandal and the Scar." Ruth Reed thanked the UMW for helping with the funeral of Mildred Jones.

The father-son banquet is Sunday night and those who can help serve, please contact Joyce Niemann.

Doris Stipp had the Pledge to Missions program. She was assisted by Fern Kelley, Helen Rose and Pauline Merchant.

The next meeting will be Nov. 10 at noon with the Sisters of Patience interest group serving.

Longe-Anderson are united in double ring ceremony in Wayne

Laraine Longe of Omaha became the bride of James E. Anderson, also of Omaha during a Sept. 4 ceremony at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne. The bride is the daughter of Verna Mae and the late Alvin Longe of Wayne and the groom is the son of Lawrence and the late Maxine Anderson of Grand Island.

Pastors Merle Mahnken and Jeff Anderson of Wayne officiated at the 5 p.m. double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with white candles, red bows and carnations in red and white.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Gene Longe, Lake Andes, S.D. She wore a white satin chapel-length gown which was decorated with Schiffli lace, pearls and iridescent sequins on the scoop neckline bodice and three-quarter length raised fitted cap sleeves. A full flowing satin skirt and chapel length train fell from the Basque waistline. A waistline bow at the back finished the gown.

She wore a bridal wreath of white flowers and pearls with a shoulder-length veil. She carried red and white roses.

Alissa Conkling, Fremont was the vocalist accompanied by pianist Flo Stuckwish, Omaha and organist Barbara Meyer, Wayne. They performed "The Wedding Song" and "God, A Woman and A Man".

Matron of honor was Linda Slagle, friend of the bride, Springfield, Mo. Other attendants were Ronda Wiese, Council Bluffs, Iowa; Michelle Anderson, Grand Island; Melodie Longe, Wayne; Heidi Longe and Holli Longe both of Lincoln.

The brides attendants wore red sizzle taffeta tea length gowns.

Flowergirl was Brittany Patterson, Omaha. Candlelighters were Amanda Loewe, Wayne and Beth Conkling, Fremont. Ringbearer was Tyler Patterson, Omaha.

Brother of the groom, John Anderson, Grand Island, served as best man. Groomsman were Brent

Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson

Erickson, Omaha; Lance Huffman, Omaha; David Longe, Wayne; Trevor Longe, Norfolk, and Adam Bebec, Wayne.

Ushers were John Moench, Blair; Chad Longe, Orchard, and Dustin Longe, Lake Andes, S.D.

The men wore red bow ties and cummerbunds. The groom's tuxedo was white while the other men wore black tuxedos.

A reception at the Ramada Inn in Norfolk followed the ceremony. It was hosted by Don and Judy Longe, Lincoln, and Donna and Tim Jordan, Moab, Utah. Approximately 250 attended the reception.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple is making their home in Omaha.

The new Mrs. Anderson is a 1982 graduate of Wayne High School and a 1985 graduate of Wayne State College. She is employed at Hartford Insurance Company. The groom is a 1980 graduate of Grand Island High School and received his bachelor's degree in 1984 from UNL and master's degree in 1989 from Kansas University. He is a senior project geologist at Geotechnical Services, Inc.

Don't Let School-Age Children Miss Medicine Doses

Many medicines are designed to be taken once or twice a day. This is good news for parents of school-age children. The first daily dose often can be given in the morning, before the child leaves for school; the second can be given during the evening. But what happens when the child is given a prescription to be taken three times a day? The second dose often should be given while the child is at school.

The parent may not want to send the entire container of medicine to school because it might be lost. And in this age of suspected drug abuse, it is unwise for children to send an unlabeled tablet or capsule in a piece of foil or envelope. The solution: Ask us for a small bottle or vial that is appropriately labeled with the child's name and the name of the medicine. You can place a single dose of medicine in that container for your child to take to school.

Womens Club meeting held

The Wayne Womens Club met Oct. 8 in the Womens Club Room with 16 members and one guest, Randy Pedersen, present.

A memorial for Celestine Manning was given by Marion Jordan and concluded with silent prayer.

Orvella Blomenkamp welcomed the group. She had a reading enti-itled "A Slice of Life" by Edgar Allan Poe and also a poem by him was read.

Secretary and treasurer reports were read and approved. Roll call was our favorite National Park.

A thank you note was read from Jennifer Gustafson.

Marion Jordan will present the older Woman's Club books to the Wayne museum.

A discussion was held on the keys for the cupboards. It was decided to contact Merlin Sievers to check them.

The first Friday of the month at 9 a.m. is a program for the Senior Citizens held at the college.

Orvella brought a get well card and all signed it for Florence Wagner. Marion Jordan will take it to her.

Orvella thanked the hostesses, Hazel James, Marion Jordan and Adeline Vakoc for serving.

The next meeting will be Nov. 12 with Adeline Sievers and Bernice Damme serving.

Orvella read a word of wisdom which read "be cheerful, of all the things you wear, your expression is the most important."

Mary Dorcey made the motion to adjourn and Angie Denesia seconded.

Randy Pedersen showed a film on the Black Bears and also told about them.

Wayne wins award from power district

The city of Wayne is a winner of the "Leading Edge" trophy, presented by Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) in recognition of achievement by an outstanding wholesale electric customer of NPPD.

Wayne was given the award for its work in area development.

NPPD presented the award during the annual NPPD Wholesale Customers Meeting Oct. 18 at Kearney.

Awards were given in recognition of outstanding achievement in the fields of winter load growth, incentive payments in relation to electric load, area development and annual sales increase.

"Leading Edge" and "Peak Performer" awards were presented to 16 municipal systems and power districts that purchase power at wholesale from NPPD.

Lloyd Castner, NPPD manager of marketing, said the "Leading Edge" award was presented to those customers who have achieved special accomplishments.

members of the community.

When selecting a family Heinemann interviews the family. Heinemann explains to the family that they do not receive any compensation for hosting the student. The student is asked to supply money for clothes and expenses. The host family is expected to provide family needs. For example if the family goes out they are asked to include the student as a member of the family.

Some rules the EF Foundation has set up include the parents be at least 25 years of age. A single parent without children may not host. A student must have his/her own bed. Two students may not be placed in the same home and Wayne High likes not to have two students of the same nationality in the same year.

When interviewing the family, Heinemann asks herself. Does everyone in the family seem excited about hosting a student? Would the parents enjoy having an instant son or daughter added to the family? Is the family financially capable of hosting a student? Do they understand what expenses are involved? Is the family patient and open minded? Are the family members willing to take the time to teach a student the culture and language?

Wayne school district waves the tuition for foreign exchange students. The student pays for lunches and extra curricular activities only. The students do not get a whole year's credit. So, if a student lives Madrid, Spain as a junior they will return a junior. The student is expected to maintain at least a "C" average in all subjects after an initial adjustment period.

Heinemann indicated Wayne High School has averaged about two students per year for the last five years, however, Wayne has only sent one student overseas in the past five years.

Some of the benefits to the hosting students include learning about other cultures. The student is encouraged to give programs to share their culture. Also, lasting bonds between student and host family are frequently made.

Through the EF Foundation, students from Australia, Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Columbia, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Korea, Mexico, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Taiwan, and United States participate.

Students study Amish

German I students at Wayne High School began their year learning about Americans of German descent. They read, for example, about the Amish, saw a video on present-day Amish life, and discussed what it would be like to spend the summer with an Amish family — what one would learn from them and what one would miss. Several volunteers tried out recipes from an Amish cookbook and shared the delicious results with the class.

German II has finished its review of last year's material and is learning how to shop for clothes in Germany, remembering that German stores are closed on Sundays. Students also listened to a new CD from Germany with music of the early 80s, which is currently experiencing a revival and giving many listeners the feeling of dejavu (ecoute?).

German III and IV students are taught in the same class. They are using different textbooks and work at their own level much of the time, but do many activities together. In September, the students welcomed Dr. Thomas King, Assistant Professor of Voice at Austin Peay State University in Clarksville, Tenn.

The class prepared questions and videotaped the interview with their guest. Dr. King also directed the class in a dramatized version of a Goethe poem, to which he sang the musical counterpart by Schubert. Professor King was a professional opera singer in Germany for five years and sang in over 400 productions.

German Club has placed its candy order and will be selling Advent calendars in November.

Health, tax issues face senators

by Les Mann
Of the Herald

Health care issues are going to be a key to the legislative session when it convenes in January and Wayne business people are pretty much against talk about new sales tax on services, those were two of the points made during the Nebraska Chamber Legislative Forum in Wayne Monday.

State Chamber leaders, State Sens. Pat Engel, South Sioux City and Stan Schellpeper, Stanton, joined community leaders and members of the Wayne Kiwanis Club for lunch and issues discussion Monday.

In spite of a nearly unanimous show of hands in opposition to any new sales tax on services, Sen. Schellpeper said he is in support of just such a measure, but only to serve as a replacement for personal property taxes, which he said should be abolished.

He suggested eliminating all personal property taxes as being "very unfair." Instead, he said he has proposed legislation to broaden the state sales tax on services which currently covers utilities and entertainment to include legal services, automotive and other service labor, lawn care, hair cuts, farm management, dating and escort services and other "non-essential" types of services.

He said the state is going to have to raise an additional $60 million to cover medicare costs alone in the 1995-96 fiscal year.

He said Nebraskans are going to have to take a look at expanding sales taxes on services.

Fresh from his appointment to the legislature's Appropriations Committee, Sen. Engel said he was excited about the coming session.

He said he was "very fortunate to get on the Appropriations Committee."

The 1994 session will have 400 to 450 carry over bills from the last legislative session. With that many or more new bills expected to be introduced, with the session scheduled to be 60 days instead of 90 days, and with it being an election year, things are going to be plenty hectic, said State Chamber Vice President Barry Kennedy.

GOODBYE G.O.D!

Like the days when male and female virginity was a virtue; and premarital sex was a vice. Hollywood helped bury taking any responsibility for sexuality, making it simply recreational. Television renamed murder, adultery, fornication and prostitution in order to entertain persons impaired with limited minds.

Like the days when parameters of right and wrong were easily definable. A penalty of social disgrace awaited anyone violating codes of modesty!

Like the days when people could occasionally blush, or be embarrassed! Remember how smart it was to have functioning moral values!

Like the days when men guarded their language because a lady was present. Now, with equal opportunities, women use the same vulgarities.

Pornographic verbiage in 1993 comes disguised as intelligence.

GOODBYE G.O.D!

Had we realized your demise was to be so soon, perhaps we could have given you an injection from an ancient prescription. Within the antidote's label it reads: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

We could have!
We didn't!

improvement.

As an example, Jensen cited the test scores for Wayne's more academically challenged students. He said the lower one third of Wayne's students academically score at the same level or below when they are tested against state and national students at their level.

Many changes have already been implemented to address those shortcomings. These curriculum changes have been implemented while trying not to water down the emphasis placed on the upper level achievements either, he said.

The GOLDEN YEARS

by Pat Lichty

Home ownership, paid for over the years, can be the foundation for financial security in the later years. The majority of people 75 and over own their homes, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. Although home ownership reduces housing costs, it is important to plan ahead to assure that there will be adequate income for living costs. Less than 15 percent of women 75 and older who live alone had incomes of more than $20,000 in the latest year for which statistics are available. For 58 percent of such women, incomes were less than $10,000.

"Getting my drivers license brought the cataracts to my attention. Basically, I just couldn't read anymore. I was about to lose my license because of it.

I was under a lot of myth in regards to surgery. My understanding was that you lost your depth perception. That the surgery was only good for 5 years—a lot of things like that. I did a little investigating on my own. I called different 800 numbers, and asked a lot of questions about pain, hospitalization, different things like that.

There was absolutely no pain to the surgery. They told me that I would have some discomfort, but I didn't have any. I had both eyes done 27 days apart. 'Cats ranked 12th nationally; fourth regionally Wayne State tames Mustangs

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Wayne State Wildcats tamed the Mustangs of Southwest State, Saturday in Marshall, Minnesota by a 63-34 margin despite trailing the host team, 34-27 at the intermission.

It was the first time this season the Wildcats were behind at halftime but Dennis Wagner's crew responded tenaciously in the second half, scoring the game's final 36 points—all in the final 30 minutes. "We went in at halftime and made a couple defensive adjustments and just shut them down in the second half," Wagner said. "In fact, they didn't score from midway through the second quarter on."

The win left WSC with a perfect 7-0 record on the season with Michigan Tech awaiting the Wildcats arrival, Saturday in a noon central starting time.

WSC jumped to number 12 in the nation after the win but more importantly, moved into the number four slot in the region. Only the top four teams in each region qualify for the post season playoffs.

Wagner said Southwest State had a very explosive offense but his defense didn't appear like they came to play football, at least right away. "We just got off on the wrong foot," Wagner said. "We gave up some real big plays that we shouldn't have. On the other hand, however, I'm very pleased with the way we responded in the second half by keeping them from scoring. It shows the character of our team," Wagner added.

Wayne State was never in a state of playing major league catch-up football even though the host team scored 34 points in the first quarter and a-half. The most the Cats trailed by was seven points because every time the Mustangs scored, the Cats answered—that is, until the second half.

"I thought our offense played well the whole game but to be honest, we had six dropped balls in the first half and three would have been for touchdowns," Wagner said. "Defensively, we had two different teams show up with the latter being the one we want to see all four quarters for this week's game at Michigan Tech."

The WSC mentor doesn't know why the defense struggled with miscoverages in the first half and he hasn't ruled out the lay-off last week as having a possible ill affect after they appeared to be in sync every week.

Top gun quarterback Brett Salisbury was simply awesome in Saturday's game, completing 40 of 51 passes with just one interception for 345 yards and even more impressively, seven touchdowns—a WSC record.

Ed Jochum had the previous record of five touchdown passes in 1984 against Midland. Byron Chamberlain proved to be Salisbury's top target and he set a WSC record with 15 receptions for 133 yards. Lee Harper held the previous record for catches in a game with 14 against Kearney in 1991.

The third Wildcat record set on Saturday was sophomore Andy Parr's point after kick record. Parr went into the game needing just one point after kick to tie Dan Ernst's mark of 70 set in 1970 and the Fremont kicker booted seven against the Mustangs running his total to 76.

Chamberlain tied teammate Damon Thomas for touchdown receptions in a game with three. Thomas set the standard earlier this year against Iowa Wesleyan.

Lamont Rainey rushed for a career high 200 yards in 19 carries to lead the ground attack and WSC ran up and down the field for 666 total yards—falling eight yards shy of the record set earlier this season against Mayville State.

The Cats had to punt just one time as their ball control ability rang up 39 first downs while Southwest State had 23 first downs and the Mustangs had to punt seven times.

Defensively, Adonice Nunn led the Wildcats with six tackles while Wilson Hookfin and Jon Adkisson had five each. Brad Otis finished with four tackles including a pair of quarterback sacks while Bernie Muller and Bill Federson also had four tackles.

Maurice Arrington and Jerome Watts each tallied three tackles. Muller and Jason McIntyre each had a fumble recovery and Hookfin had two interceptions.

It was only fitting that WSC's final scoring of the game came on a 30-yard interception return for a touchdown by Wilson Hookfin after the Cats gave up over 300 yards through the air in the first half alone and 411 for the game. Hookfin ended two of Southwest State's final three possessions with interceptions.

Girls place fourth and boys finish seventh Wayne harriers place at State

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Wayne girls and boys cross country teams posted top 10 finishes at the annual Nebraska State Cross Country Meet, last Friday in Kearney. The Lady Blue Devils placed fourth with 122 points and the boys finished seventh with 138. There were 18 teams competing in the state meet—all were top three finishers of the six districts.

Plattsmouth won the state championship with 40 points while York was runner-up with 74.

Columbus Scotus finished third with 116 followed by Wayne and Auburn in the top five.

Norris, McCook, Waverly, Grand Island Northwest, Gothenburg, Grand Island Central Catholic, Gretna, Elkhorn, Schuyler, Holdrege, Broken Bow, Ogallala and Hastings Adam Central rounded out the field of teams in order.

Wayne senior Tami Schluns closed out her high school cross country career with a 22nd place showing in 17:05 while Wakefield senior Richelle Wockman, competing in her first cross country season ever, placed 23rd just one second back of Schluns. Everyone in the field was chasing York senior Nora Shepherd who finished in a time of 14:49—59 seconds ahead of runner-up Amy Parsons of Plattsmouth.

Melodee Lage ran to a 26th place time of 17:17 and Jessica Ford crossed the finish line in 18:43. Tammy Teach also ran for the Blue Devils. "These girls ran well at the state meet capping off a great season," coach Rocky Ruhl said.

"We were hoping for some medals but it just didn't happen. The girls had a great year, losing only to South Sioux City, (who finished fifth in the Class A State Meet) and Wahoo Neumann, (who won Class C's State Meet)."

Ruhl said he would have liked to see his squad finish in the top three but he's not complaining. "It was a great improvement from the 18th place finish last year," Ruhl said. "It is the second best finish in the history of our school." (The 1990 team placed third.)

THE BOYS were led by sophomore Spencer Stednitz who medaled with a 13th place finish of 17:26—32 seconds behind the champion, Aaron Carrizales of Morrill and just two seconds away from a top 10 finish.

York won the team title with 44 points while Grand Island Northwest was second with 67. Crete finished third with 81 and Minden was fourth with 90. Elkhorn Mt. Michael rounded out the top five with 114 and Waverly was sixth with 135 followed by Wayne, Broken Bow, Gretna, Norris, Morrill, Columbus Lakeview, Gothenburg, Holdrege, Albion, Seward, Boys Town and Ogallala.

Chris Headley placed 27th for Wayne in 17:58 and Nate Stednitz was 31st in 18:04. Ryan Martin was timed in 19:53 and Aaron Geiger finished in 19:54. Clint Dyer also ran for the Blue Devils and was timed in 21:20.

"I thought the boys ran very well as a team," Ruhl said. "They competed very hard and deserve their finish. They captured their fifth straight district title this year which is a great accomplishment for Wayne High."

Ruhl said Spencer's 13th place finish as a sophomore shows a great nucleus for next season. "Finishing seventh as a team is the best finish for the boys that I've coached," Ruhl said. "The summer running really showed up at the state meet. When everyone takes part in this, our depth will really show. I think you always want to be number one, but we are happy with our finish."

Editors note: The Wayne Herald would like to thank Stan Stednitz and Nancy Wiese for their assistance in getting pictures of the state cross country meet.

Allen football team defeated on final play

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

One of the best high school football games of the year in any class, was held in Allen last Friday with the Eagles playing host to Wausa.

Allen came into the contest with a four-game win streak and Wausa sported one of the conferences best defenses. It turned out to be an offensive explosion for both teams and amidst a very controversial ending, Wausa prevailed, 44-42 scoring the final eight points with no time on the clock. The visiting Vikings ran a total of eight plays inside the Allen 10-yard line with less than two minutes remaining and with the aid of ghost call by the officials and the lack of a call.

Wausa faced a fourth down and 10 play from the Eagles 11-yard line with 52 seconds remaining. A pass was attempted to running back Marty Thorrell but the pass was not only uncatchable but had hit the ground before the receiver had even looked for it.

Still, the official called Allen defensive back Craig Philbrick for defensive holding and the Vikings were given a fresh set of downs to work with and the ball at the five-yard line.

Allen's defense did not give in and held Wausa on its first three attempts at the endzone and the Vikings were with out timeouts on the last two plays so the clock continued to run.

The last play of regulation saw the Vikings run up to the ball at the one-yard line with less than three seconds remaining. They called the play, (with the clock still running) and the quarterback looked at both sides of his line, then snapped the ball.

There was no time left on the clock when the ball was snapped but the play was allowed to stand. Before the snap of the ball, the entire Wausa line was in motion, but still no call and the touchdown plunge by Marty Thorrell stood.

Then came the all important two-point attempt in which Thorrell got the ball on a pitch play and scored.

All-in-all, it was a tremendous football game and neither team deserved to walk away with a loss. Still, however, you have to tip your hats to the Allen defense for holding Wausa out of the endzone for seven plays in a row.

Wausa deserves all the credit in the world for doing what they had to do to win. The Vikings trailed the Eagles, 42-32 with less than five minutes to go in regulation but managed to come back and win.

Wausa led 8-6 after the first quarter but Allen held a 28-24 lead at the half. The Eagles actually got on the board first on a one-yard run by quarterback Curtis Oswald after Tim Ferig intercepted a pass on the first play of the game.

Thorrell, simply a fantastic running back for Wausa scored the first of his five touchdowns on the night from two yards out and the two-point conversion made it an 8-6 game.

Oswald was then tackled in the endzone for a safety and on the ensuing possession Thorrell scored on a six-yard run for an 18-6 lead. Allen, however, has an outstanding running back of its own in Steve Sullivan and on the ensuing kickoff Sullivan ran it back 70 yards for a touchdown to pull Allen with in four points.

The Eagles defense held and Allen got the ball back. Sullivan made the Vikings pay with a 32-yard scoring run which gave Allen a 20-18 lead. Wausa came right back and scored on a 20-yard run to regain the lead but Allen closed out the half with an eight-yard touchdown run by Sullivan to lead 28-24.

The Eagles had the lone score in the third quarter on a 23-yard pass from Oswald to Casey Schroeder for a 34-32 lead after three quarters. Thorrell sprinted in from 36 yards out early in the final stanza to pull the Vikings to within in four at 34-30 but Allen came right back and Oswald scored on a five-yard run.

Thorrell scored the Vikings final 14 points with his one-yard run with 4:23 left and another one-yard run as time expired.

"I thought both teams played hard," Allen coach Warren Jensen said. "I don't think I could have asked for anything more from our kids in the way of effort."

Sullivan finished with 134 yards rushing on 34 attempts while Oswald gained 41 on 10 carries. Fullback Aaron Thompson rushed six times for 25 yards. Casey Schroeder had two receptions for 64 yards to lead the receiving corp.

Defensively, the Eagles were led by Sullivan's 22 tackles and Craig Philbrick's 21. Oswald and Schroeder had 17 each and Jason Moran finished with 15. Jay Jackson was also in double figures with 13.

Winside ends its game with Wynot early with 45-point rule

Randy Geier's Winside football team needed just a little over two-and-a-half quarters to dispose of Wynot last Friday in Wynot, 48-0. The Wildcats ended the game at the 3:38 mark of the third quarter on freshman running back Jeremy Barg's five-yard touchdown run.

"What else can I say except it was a total team effort," Geier said. "We didn't make self-destructing errors and everyone got a lot of playing time." The victory marked the second straight for Winside, now 4-4 on the season.

"We scored on our first six possessions of the game," Geier said. "Then we were held out of the end zone on our seventh possession before closing out the game with touchdowns the last two times we had the ball." Benji Wittler scored on a four-yard run to give Winside a 6-0 lead after the first quarter but the 'Cats exploded for 30, second quarter points. Wittler connected with Jaimey Holdorf from 26 yards out to start the scoring blitzkrieg with Brady Frahm running for the two-point conversion.

Lonnie Grothe plunged over from seven yards out for a 20-0 game and Grothe came back on the next possession and exploded for 48 yards out with Jeremy Barg converting the two-point play on a run.

Wittler went back to the air for Winside's next score—a short three-yard toss to Jayme Shelton with Grothe running for the two-point conversion. Winside maintained a 36-0 cushion at the intermission.

Joe Schwedhelm gave Winside a 42-0 advantage with a three-yard scoring run before Barg completed the game. Grothe led the ground attack with 105 yards on 13 carries while Wittler was 4-8 in passing for 71 yards. Holdorf was the leading receiver with three receptions for 68 yards.

Defensively, Winside was led by Shelton and Jeremy Jenkins with five tackles each while Dave Paulsen had four. Greg Mundil recovered a fumble. The Wildcats will close out their season on Wednesday night in South Dakota as they play Newcastle in the dome at Vermillion.

Wayne gridders fall to Cedar Catholic

The Wayne Blue Devils lost to C-1 rated Hartington Cedar Catholic on the gridiron last Friday in Wayne, leaving Lonnie Ehrhardt's squad with a 1-7 record heading into Thursday's season finale against Pierce at Memorial Field in Wayne.

Cedar scored 14, first quarter points and maintained a 20-0 halftime advantage before settling for a 27-8 victory. The Trojans scored touchdowns on runs of 2, 9 and 5 yards and the last score came on a 70-yard interception return.

Wayne's lone score came in the fourth quarter on a 10-yard run by Josh Starzl and the two-point conversion was successful as Matt Blomenkamp hit Mike Williams.

"To be honest, we played real good defense," Ehrhardt said. "However, we just can't give the ball up to the opposition where they have a short field to work with before scoring."

Cedar's first score came after the Trojans set up shop at the Wayne 36-yard line. The second scoring drive started at midfield and the third scoring drive wasn't much of a drive at all as they started at the Blue Devils 12-yard line.

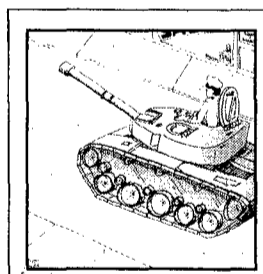

"Our specialty teams didn't have a strong outing," Ehrhardt said. "We didn't do a good job of protecting our quarterback and Cedar kept the pressure on him all night."

The Wayne mentor was very pleased with the effort he got from his squad on defense. "We allowed Cedar just 58 yards in the second half and 24 of those came against our reserves in the final minutes of the game," Ehrhardt said.

Jason Wehrer led Wayne with a dozen tackles while Josh Starzl had nine and Kelly Meyer, eight. Dusty Jensen and Matt Robins each had seven tackles and Mike Williams finished with six. Jason Starzl had an interception and Cody Stracke recovered a Cedar fumble.

Josh Starzl was the leading ground gainer for the Blue Devils with 30 yards on 12 carries. Blomenkamp was 11-27 with two interceptions for 91 yards with Jason Carr leading the receiving corp with five catches for 59 yards.

Laurel wins by one

The Laurel Bears notched their third football victory of the year, last Friday in Plainview with a 22-21 victory and it was the second straight win for the Bears, who came off a big win over Neligh in the home finale the week before.

Tom Luxford's crew had to come from behind to post the win, however, as Plainview had built a 21-7 lead in the third quarter. The Bears got on the board first with a four-yard run by Jeff Wattier and Sami Piira's point after kick.

Plainview scored on a 64-yard run to tie the game after the first quarter and the host team led 14-7 at the half after a 10-yard scoring run in the second period.

Plainview then scored on a 15-yard run in the third quarter for a two-touchdown lead. Cody Carstensen gave the Bears back some momentum later in the third quarter with his 79-yard punt return for a touchdown and then early in the fourth quarter Jeff Wattier scored his second touchdown of the game on a two-yard run.

The Bears went for the two-point play to give them a lead and converted it when back-up quarterback Jeremy Reineohl ran an option and kept the ball himself.

"We decided to go for two even though there was over eight minutes left in the game," Luxford said. "It turned out to be a good decision because there was no more scoring by either team."

Laurel was dealt a blow in the second quarter when sophomore starting quarterback Tyler Erwin left the game with a shin injury and didn't return. "Jeremy Reineohl stepped in at quarterback and he did a fantastic job for us," Luxford said. "I thought this game pitted two evenly matched teams but we gave up some big plays in the first half. We made a couple adjustments at halftime and in the second half we shut them down."

Laurel finished with 253 yards and Plainview netted 246. Jeremy Reineohl led the team in rushing with 62 yards on eight carries while Jeff Wattier gained 61 yards on 12 attempts. Erwin was 3-4 in passing for 55 yards and Reineohl was 1-4 for 51 yards. Jared Reineohl caught three balls for 76 yards and Jeremy Reineohl caught one for 26.

Defensively, Laurel was led by Todd Arens with 10 tackles while Cody Carstensen had nine and Randy Quist, seven. Dustin Ankeny finished with six tackles.

Laurel will attempt to end the year with three straight wins on Thursday when they travel to play Creighton.

NEWS FROM SCHOOL

From the Desk of the Superintendent

On Nov. 11 at 7:30 p.m. during parent-teacher conferences, the district will be sponsoring an 'open house' activity in the computer lab in the high school building. The high school has a new networked computer lab that represents the state of the art in teaching students how to access and manage information through using computers and other related technologies. There will be a demonstration of the system in operation given by those that were involved in the design and installation: Wayne State College computer department; Complete Computer Systems, Inc.; and Wayne High School faculty. This collaborative effort resulted in a very impressive networked computer lab — one that the public should see to appreciate!

There are 24 IBM compatible (I.T.I.) computers in the business room (old typing room) linked through a 16 megabyte token ring network to an IBM 95 micro-channel computer (file-server) in the high school library. From the file server, the 24 computers receive all their information — all the software applications are on the main computer in the library. Some of the software packages include:

1. Novell — a managing system for the network.
2. Microsoft Words for Windows — a word processing program
3. Windows — an operating system for organizing the desk top
4. A+ Geometry Program — software resource for geometry
5. Mavis Beacon Teaches Typing — Typing resource program
6. Winnebago Program — Library automation software
7. Sir and Tom — Library resource materials for students
8. Encyclopedia on CDROM — Information resource for students
9. Auto Cad 12 — Computer Drafting program for industrial technology
10. IBM Edlan Package — Software package that includes classroom management and administrative information

As time passes, and more students and instructors use the system, there will be many more curriculum support programs shared through the file server and networked system. Additionally, as more faculty members and students become comfortable with the system, the number of computers linked into the network will increase. Since the network was operational, cables have been laid to connect 2 computers in each English classroom to the file server; the industrial technology lab is set to link into the main computer in the library; computers in the library have access to the file server; and, the district is working the Macintosh company to add the Mac Lab to the network enabling students to access the information on the main computer to not only IBM compatible computers but also through the Mac format. Students also can access information from the CDROM tower connected to the file server.

The district has also been fortunate in seeking some private funding to add a router to the file server meaning that students with computers at home could call the computer after school via their own modem and be able to work with programs on the file server or access the CDROM tower. One more important resource that is slowly becoming more available to all students is Internet, which is an on-line database that enables students and faculty to research information in libraries across the world (plus being able to directly connect with other schools, students and teachers). Finally, the computer network has made Internet available to the community. Once the router and a dedicated phone line has been installed, after school hours, access to Internet will be available to the community through the file server in the high school library. Through this service, business can research current resources on the stock market, journal articles regarding business and industry, and establish communications through E-Mail with people with like interests. Internet is a powerful resource for a variety of information and the district is excited to be able to offer this service to the community. The necessary equipment is in stock, the district is only awaiting the installation.

Please come to the computer lab open house on Nov. 11 at 7:30; if you have a conference at that time, just come later — it will be a very interesting presentation.

From the Elementary Principal

Reducing report card stress

For many children, report cards are terrifying documents. Here is a child's total effort and achievement of a single marking period, all summed up by a row of letters and a brief comment by one or another teacher. On top of that, it has to be carefully read, understood and signed by parents.

Is it any wonder, then, that young children (who still don't have much experience at being judged by strangers) sometimes have a genuine fear of report cards.

But report cards shouldn't come as a big surprise. Each child is normally kept fully aware of his or her teachers' expectations and how well they are being met. But, as a parent, you too should have a good general idea of your child's school performance before the report card arrives.

Here are some tips for helping your child experience as little "report card stress" as possible:

- Talk about your child's progress throughout the year. Pay attention to homework and tests. Ask your child how he or she is doing. If you suspect any problems, don't hesitate to get in touch with teachers or with the principal to talk it over. We have to be close working partners, if we want your child to have the best possible school experience.

- Put report cards in perspective. Children want to please their parents, and a parent's disappointment often hurts more than any poor grade. So try to praise your child for what he or she does well. If your child is squeaking through with B's, but is also on the student council and is a lunchroom monitor, recognize these achievements as well. We don't grade everything your child does — and some ungraded activities are nevertheless very important for his or her development as a thoughtful, responsible adult.

Offer praise for work that's well done and encourage your child to improve in those areas where the grades are low.

- Avoid blame, punishment and harmful labels. Blaming or punishing a child for poor grades won't improve the situation. In fact, such responses only make matters worse by damaging a child's self-esteem. Labels like "lazy" and "stupid" are especially harmful and unfair. They will only dampen any child's motivation and enthusiasm to do better.

- Find out the real reason for any low grades. The reason may well be a problem in the classroom. But, for some children, doing poorly in school can also be a bid for your attention. Could it be that? Or could it be too much television? Or not having a quiet place to study? Or concern about a personal problem (I'm taller than every other girl" or "I'm the shortest boy in school")? If it is one of these, try to talk it over with your child and gradually help him or her through this difficulty.

- Be constructive. Offer your help in a low-key way. Be sincere about it — but don't try to step in and take charge of your child's problems. Work out a mutually agreeable plan for improvement, such as setting specific times for doing homework or visiting the library or making available a quiet place for your child to work.

If serious academic trouble persists, please come in and let's talk it over. We may be overlooking something important, such as a vision or hearing problem or some other limitation that can be discovered with the help of a simple test or two.

- Don't take your child's achievements for granted. When a report card brings good tidings, your child deserves to be praised for the effort and the results. Saying "That's what I expected of you" is not enough; we all expect our children to do well. The key, however, is to recognize them when they in fact fulfill our high expectations.

- Make allowance for setbacks. Even the best student may not earn A's all the time. Children, like their adult parents, also have good days and bad days. We all need understanding and encouragement to move forward and get those bad days behind us.

- Accentuate the positive. Even a terrible report card will leave you some little corner to praise your child. It may not be in academics, but rather in behavior or attitude or work habits. In any case, be supportive and look to the future. Help your child get used to the idea of showing you his or her report card and talking it over. After all, there are many more report cards to come!

Middle School Counseling Center Ms. Sudmann

The Counseling Center has been a busy place this year. We have had 24 individual student referrals. The FRIENDS Drug-Free Youth Group has been meeting weekly and now has 69 pledged seventh and eighth grade members. They have been very active this month sponsoring a dance, promoting Red Ribbon Week and helping at the Recycling Center. The West Point SODA Drug-Free Youth group invited FRIENDS to a Halloween Dance. Activities that bring youth from different communities together for Drug-Free fun are very popular with the students.

A monthly feature brought to you by The Wayne City Schools with space donated by The Wayne Herald and Morning Shopper.

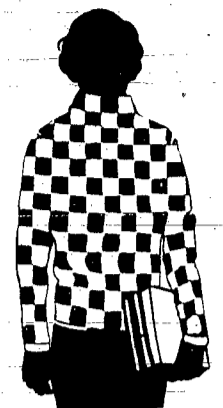

The Principal's Office — Dr. Donald Zeiss Ability and effort: Lessons from Japan

You may have heard about the impressive academic accomplishments of students in Japan.

There are numerous reasons why Japanese students are expected to learn. They are taught in the home and at school, that effort is the key to success.

Ability, on the other hand, is rarely mentioned! One American who lived in Japan, said that Japanese recognize differences in ability among children. But they consider these differences to be like the distinction of an automobile capable of going 100 MPH and one capable of going 140 MPH. There is a difference, but for most purposes, it is irrelevant.

Japanese teachers and parents teach children perseverance, self-discipline and concentration. For example, Japanese children typically spend at least twice as much time on homework as children in the United States.

Fifth Grade Science Teachers Mrs. Trenhaile Mrs. Imdieke

Did you know that in 1884 Isidor Keller invented a scholar's shoulder brace for students? The student would put one strap around each shoulder which would force the wearer to sit up straight. Mr. Keller claimed that this position was the best one in which to learn proper penmanship. Perhaps you're aware of the hunting decoy invented by John Sievers in 1897 to help hunters bag ducks, geese and other game birds. The device was shaped like a cow and large enough for two men to climb inside and roam the fields like any other cow and fool a flock of passing birds into landing nearby. Middle School 5th graders became aware of these "useful" inventions as part of the Invention Convention science project currently underway. As part of the convention, each 5th grader is required to invent a new product or improve on an old one. From the recently submitted Intent to Invent forms it is obvious to see we may have some potential patents on our hands. Also, as part of the introduction to the project, we were fortunate to participate in a presentation by Marvin Dranselka. Mr. Dranselka is a native of Wayne who invented and received an official patent on the "Countryboy Exerciser." He shared videos, government forms, and advertising posters as part of the presentation. The students even had a chance to try out the exerciser. We welcome all of you to check out the inventions which will be on the display in the middle school during parent teacher conferences on Nov. 9, 11 and 12. A big thank you to the parents for helping with this project.

From the Principal — Mr. Metteer

This is a very important time of the year for teachers, parents and students at Wayne Middle School as Parent-Teacher Conferences are upon us. These conferences are a great opportunity for parents and teachers to get to know each other and discuss the educational pathways their student should follow for the rest of the year. The Middle School and High School do not schedule specific times for their conferences. Conferences are open at the following times for your convenience: Tuesday evening, Nov. 9 from 6-9 p.m.; Thursday, Nov. 11 from noon-4:15 p.m. and 6-9 p.m.; and Friday, Nov. 12 from 8:30 a.m.-noon. The evening times are somewhat set aside for parents that are unable to attend afternoon or morning conferences. I encourage all parents to come and visit with the teachers as communication between parent and teacher is a very vital part of the student's education.

CUB SCOUTS

The family of Adam Pfeiffer served treats at the Oct. 19 Wolf/Bear Cub Scout meeting. Denner Andrew Scribner took attendance, dues and gave the scout hand shake. They had a sports lesson by playing football and discussing scoring. Guest speaker Ron Leapley came and discussed gun safety and showed a video on Eddy Eagle.

Leaders were Joni Jaeger, assisted by Paula Pfeiffer and Terri Meyer.

JOLLY COUPLES

The Werner Janke hosted the Oct. 19 Jolly Couples Club with Marian Froehlich as a guest. Prizes were won by Ann Behmer and Don Wacker. The next meeting will be Tuesday, Nov. 16 at Dale Krueger's.

CHURCH WOMEN

Lila Hansen conducted the Oct. 13 Trinity Lutheran Church Women meeting with 14 members present. The secretary and treasurer reports were given. Irene Fork gave the Bible lesson and Lila Hansen was hostess. The next meeting will be Wednesday, Nov. 10 at 2 p.m.

MODERN MRS.

Mary Lea Lage hosted the Oct. 19 Modern Mrs. Club. Prizes were won by Bev Dangberg and Mary Weible. The next meeting will be Nov. 16 with Jackie Koll.

CONFERENCES

Parent-teacher conferences will be held in Winside on Oct. 27 and 28. School will be dismissed at 2 p.m. on Oct. 27 and conferences will begin at 2:30 until 4:30 p.m. On Thursday they will be from 10 a.m. to noon, 1 to 5 p.m. and from 6 to 9 p.m. There will be no school Oct. 28 or 29.

HELPING HANDS 4-H

Nine members and parents of the Helping Hands 4-H Club met Oct. 16 for an achievement party at Melodee Lanes.

The club will hold a reorganizational meeting in November at the Rod Brogren home.

SCHOOL CALENDAR

Wednesday, Oct. 27: School dismissal—2 p.m.; parent-teacher conferences, 2:30 p.m.; football at Dakota Dome, Vermillion, against Newcastle, 8:30 p.m.

Thursday, Oct. 28: No school, parent-teacher conferences.

Friday, Oct. 29: No school, NSEA convention.

Eighteen families including two new families attended the Oct. 17 Blue Ribbon Winners 4-H Club potluck supper in the Carroll Auditorium.

A business meeting was held afterwards and opened with the Pledge of Allegiance and the 4-H pledge. The treasurers report was given. Doug French, president, reported a 4-H plaque in remembrance of club member Jason Williams was presented to his parents John and Judy Williams. New members were welcomed. They are: Shaun Magwire, son of Aric and Rita Magwire, Winside; Joshua Davis, son of Kevin and Nancy Davis and Maureen and James Gubbels, children of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Gubbels all of Carroll. Other new members include the siblings of current club members. They are Kyle Schmale, Ashley Hall, and Heather Owens. Each new club member was given the 4-H pledge to memorize before the Jan. meeting.

Twenty-six premium checks were given out from the Wayne County Fair. Club members entered 240 exhibits this year and the Club received a second place award in Herdsmanship from the State Fair. The club received a purple and a blue ribbon for herdsmanship.

Wayne County 4-H achievement night for kids, leaders and parents will be Sunday, Oct. 24 at 6:30 pm in the Wayne United Methodist Church (by Hardees). Election of new Council members and awards will be given out. The adopt-a-highway signs for the Blue Ribbon Winners have been erected. The clubs designated highway cleanup area is 1 mile south, 3/4 miles west and 1/4 mile east of the highway 35 and 98 intersection. They will clean it twice a year. Enrollment sheets for 1994 were handed out. They must be returned by the extension office by Jan. 4. The office would appreciate 4-Hers listing only the projects they are positive they will be doing. Other projects can be added on up to May 1st at the Ext. Office.

Club meetings will be held the third Monday evening of each month beginning in January. It was decided there would no longer be a lunch served because of the clubs larger membership and lack of space. It was also suggested that only one parent attend with the 4-Hers so the other parent could remain at home with the younger siblings whenever possible. Individual project leaders will meet with the youth after the business meeting.

Adult leader, Ken Hall, commended the club members on their attendance this year in working at the 4-H food stand. Election of officers was held. They will be Doug French, President; Joshua Jaeger, Vice President; Dannika Jaeger, Sec.; Lucas Mohr, Treas.; Crystal Jaeger, news reporter; Ken Hall, adult leader and Patty Deck, assistant adult club leader.

Project leaders will be: Swine, Rod Deck; Beef, Paul Roberts; Sheep, Mark Tietz; Dairy, Dave Jaeger; Horse, Gordon Mohr; Bucket Calf, Rick Davis; Small Animals, David Owens; Sewing, Sherri Schmale; Cooking, Shelly Owens.

The next meeting will be Monday, Jan. 17 in the Carroll Elementary School at 7:30 pm. After the meeting adjourned they all sang Happy Birthday to Ken Hall for his 40th birthday. Crystal Jaeger, News Reporter.

TEACHERS MEETING

Trinity Lutheran Church Sunday School teachers met after church on Oct. 17. Sunday, Nov. 7 will be designated as Winside Outreach Sunday by all three Winside churches. They will be collecting canned goods, meats, and cash to be used for food baskets for Winside area families in need.

Nov. 21 will be the last Sunday for Sunday School classes. Christmas program practice will begin Nov. 28. Trinity and United Methodist will practice at their individual churches. At Trinity practice will begin at 9 am Nov. 28, Dec. 5, 12, and 19. The program will be on Dec. 19 during the regular church service. There will be no Sunday School classes on Dec. 26. Sunday School resumes at 9:30 am on Jan. 2.

Teachers will meet again on Nov. 4 at Trinity at 7 pm to plan the program. Anyone with questions should call Barb Junck, Sunday School Superintendent.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Twenty-five Winside area senior citizens and two guests, Leo and Virginia Nelson of Rogers Arkansas, met Oct. 18 for a Halloween Party. Games and relays were played as well as bobbing for apples. Cards were played afterwards. The next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 25 for a 12:30 pm potluck dinner. All seniors are welcome to attend. All October birthdays will be honored.

Crystal Jaeger hosted an all girls class bowling party Oct. 16 in Norfolk at Kings Lanes for her 10th birthday. Thirteen classmates and her sister Ashley were present. Cake, cookies, ice cream, pop and candy were served. On Oct. 17, Crystal and her grandmother, Elta Jaeger, celebrated their birthdays together in Crystal's home. Guests included The Gotthilf Jaeger's, the George Jaegers, The Gene Jorgensen's and Marty, the Dave Millers, and Connie, Alicia and Nathan Wills all from Winside; The Alfred Carstens and the Hary Lorenzen's of Norfolk; Mary Melcher of Stanton; the Robert Vahle's of Pender; and the Dale Jaeger family of Peirce. Several decorated cakes were served along with a cooperative lunch. Crystal's actual birthday was Oct. 13 and she is the daughter of Ernie and Dianne Jaeger. Elta's birthday was Oct. 21.

Visiting friends and relative in the Winside area the week of Oct. 18 were Leo and Virginia Nelson of Rogers, Ark.

seven attending. Scriptures from Genesis were read and discussed. Next meeting, the group will begin with Genesis chapter 47. It will meet with Frances Noe, Wednesday, Oct. 27.

Mary Noe, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Noe, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Noe of Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Geiger and Adam, Norfolk, Mr. and Mrs. Verdell Noe, Grand Island, Martha Noe, Wakefield, Grace Green, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Green, Vicky and Charlie, Allen, Emma and Marcella Shortt, Lincoln attended a 90th Birthday Party honoring their sister, Esther (Noe) Brandt at a community hall in Creighton on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 17. The event was hosted by her children and their families.

Saturday afternoon guests in the Don Peters home were Amy Peters and Shana Carstensen of South Sioux City. Evening guests to help the host celebrate his birthday were the Charles Peters family, Donna Durant and family, Justin Martin of South Sioux City, Rob Baker, Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Rouss of Wayne, and Erna Botger of Wayne.

Mrs. Merlin Smith of Dennison, Iowa is spending a few days in the Garold Jewell home. Other callers in the Jewell home during the past week were Rev. T.J. Fraser, Allen. Ruby Patefield, Mr. and Mrs. Mil Patefield, Mr. and Mrs. Virgi Carlson, Laurel, Marie George and Frances Noe, Dixon.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Recently elected 1993-94 FBLA officers, Kathy Otte, Stacey Preston, Andrea Lundahl, Maria Eaton, Kali Baker, Tammy Sandahl and Melissa Haglund, attended the Nebraska FBLA Fall Leadership conference at the Peter Kiewit Conference Center in Omaha on Sept. 29. The local officers learned many tasks and responsibilities of the state officer.

The day long event started off with fun games and energizers provided by the guest speaker, J.J. Ament, a professor from Boulder, Colo. After the morning session, the Wakefield High School officers went to separate sessions and seminars on becoming better leaders and using parliamentary procedures to run more effective meetings.

SISTER LIBRARY

Recently when business brought Barney Nashold to Nebraska he made a point to visit Wakefield, and more specifically the Graves Public Library. It seems that about 30 years ago, the Mendota, Ill. Reporter, the newspaper, there, learned that there was a Graves Public Library in Wakefield and got in touch with the librarian Agnes Hypse. Nashold's mother writes a column entitled "Backtracks and Sidetracks" for the Reporter and wanted to follow up on the sister library.

When contact was made 30 years ago it was learned that the library in Wakefield had been donated by Philo Graves, a son of Willard Graves for whom the Graves Public Library in Mandota was named.

Mrs. Nashold gave her readers a brief history of the Wakefield Library and also describes Wakefield as a community of 110 in northeast-with Pauline Fischer elected President; Arnold Brudigam, vice president; and Evelyn Lienmann, secretary-treasurer. The group also voted for national Directors.

Winning door prizes were Margaret Turner, Albert Nelson and Pauline Fischer. Cooperative lunch was served after the meeting.

Cody Henschke, son of Tom and Alyce Henschke, celebrated his second birthday Oct. 23. His actual birthday is Oct. 26. Guests included his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Bargholz and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henschke, all of Wayne; Jodene Henschke and children and Teresa Fischer and children, all of Wakefield; Tony and Shari Henschke and Alayanna of Pender; and Jerry and Susie Rabe and girls of Winside.

ern Nebraska near a Winnebago Indian Reservation.

She also noted that the two libraries currently share a common problem, handicap access. Wakefield's Library Board is currently discussing options according to Nashold. "Mendotans can well understand the present Wakefield quandary as prior to a donor's gift of a new library building there, access for the handicapped was a major concern in Mandota as well."

When in Wakefield Barney Nashold visited with Iris Larson and Paul Burman and toured the library building.

NEW FIRE TRUCK

Wakefield Firefighters are now better equipped since the arrival of a new pumper recently. The new machine was built by Smeal Fire Equipment at Snyder on a 1993 GMC Chassis.

A separate engine drives a 1,250 gallon per minute pump and the truck carries 600 feet of five inch hose, 800 feet of three inch hose and 360 feet of 1 1/4 inch hose as well as ladders and other equipment. It also has a deluge gun mounted on the truck which will put out 450 gallons a minute and carries 1,000 gallons of water, according to Fire Chief Dean Ulrich.

Cost of the new truck, $114,000.00, is being shared by the Wakefield Rural Fire Protection District, $28,500; The City of Wakefield, $28,500; and a grant from the Gardner Foundation, $57,000.

What was the department's number two pumper, a 1964 model, will now be retired. Taking its place as the number two truck will be the last new fire truck the department received 15 years ago, a 1978 Chevrolet.

LEGION AUXILIARY

The Allen Legion Auxiliary met Oct. 11 in the Senior Citizens Center, Evelyn Trube presided. Fifteen members answered roll call with "The Most Daring Thing You've Ever Done." Secretary and Treasurer's reports were read and accepted.

The annual County Legion Convention will be held Nov. 11 at Newcaste. Ladies Auxiliary tea will begin at 4:30 pm in the Firehall. Registration is 50 cents. Business meeting will follow at 5 pm. The banquet will be at 7 pm.

Membership chairman Margaret

Isom reported 62 adults, five permanent and 15 Juniors who have paid their dues. New members are Chris Isom, Judy Olson, and Christy, Lesa and Molly Mitchell. Auxiliary will again furnish coffee for Parent-Teacher conferences Nov. 2. Members voted to send $20 for "Gifts for Yanks Who Gave." Any Auxiliary or Legion member wishing to buy a ticket for the County Legion Convention contact Keith Hill. Tickets are $3.25.

November meeting will begin at 7:30 pm on Nov. 8. Hostesses to be announced. October hostesses were Kathryn Mitchell and Betty Lunz, with Margaret Isom assisting.

Opera highlights to be presented

On Tuesday, Nov. 2 the WSC Scenes Groups, made up of 10 WSC student singers and directed by Center for Cultural Outreach director Beverly Soll, will present a program of concerted and semi-staged highlights from operas by American composer Gian-Carlo Menotti.

Included on the program will be selections from The Telephone, Amahl and the Night Visitors, The Old Maid and the Thief and The Consul. Senior music majors Michele Thies of Papillion and Brandon Vennink of Manilla, Iowa will be featured in The Telephone. Ervin Schlesselman of Wayne will be featured as the boy Amahl in Amahl and the Night Visitors.

Soprano Melissa Eckhoff of Wayne will sing the dramatic aria "Steal Me, Sweet Thief" from The Old Maid and the Thief. Jodie Hankins of Norfolk will sing the part of Magda in scenes from The Consul, one of Menotti's most intense and exciting operas about a family trapped in a police state.

This Center for Cultural Outreach-sponsored concert will be presented at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 2 in Ley Theatre, second floor Brandenburg Building, on the WSC campus. There is no admission charge.

METHODIST WOMEN

The United Methodist Church held their regular meeting Oct. 14, with Velma Dennis leading the lesson "Women called of God" Others assisted in the dramatization concerning Anna, the Prophetess, at the presentation of the infant Jesus at the Temple.

Janice Hartman, President, opened the business meeting with a poem by Helen Steiner Rice. Roll Call was answered by all members. One visitor was present. A letter from Doug Crowders, Missionaries to Zaire, told of them receiving their much needed van. A treasurer's report was given and bills presented and paid. It was decided to serve rolls, pie and ice cream at the Dixon Flea Market and also have a bake sale. Some plan to go the Officers Workshop Oct. 18 at Dakota City. A Mission Minute was given by Bessie Sherman. Response Magazine subscriptions were renewed. A discussion of continuing to subscribe to the Mature Years Magazine for some of the older members was held. A decision will be made at a later date. Illness in the community was noted.

Rev. Fraser held an Installation Service for the old and new officers. Lunch was served by Phyllis Herfel and Janice Hartman. The next meeting will be our World Thank Offering Service on Nov. 11 and the time of meeting changes to 1:30 pm for the winter months.

TWILIGHT LINE

Twilight Line Extension Club met at the Velma Dennis home Oct. 12. Three members and one guest were present. The lesson was on Organ Donations. Special guest was Linda Beam of Coleridge, who spoke on organ donations and answered questions. Linda, herself, is a donor recipient of a kidney and pancreas. She encouraged people to become interested and consider donating. Over 31,000 persons in the US are in need of donations and 200 in NE. For those interested, more information is available from the Nebraska Organ Retrieval System, Inc. in Omaha and Lyons Eye Bank of NE.

The next meeting of the Club will be Nov. 9 at the home of Rozanne Hintz.

Schools set plans for conferences

Wayne Community Schools have scheduled parent-teacher conferences this year on Nov. 9, 11 and 12.

To accommodate parents, Tuesday evening, Nov. 9 and Thursday evening, Nov. 11 have been set aside for parents unable to attend afternoon or morning conferences. There will be no school on Friday, Nov. 12 as conferences will conclude at noon that day.

The conference schedule is as follows:

•Session I: Tuesday, Nov. 9; 6 to 9 p.m. Open conferences for parents who cannot attend afternoon or morning conferences.

•Session II: Thursday, Nov. 11; noon to 4:15 p.m.

•Session III: Thursday, Nov. 11, 6 to 9 p.m. Open conferences for parents who cannot attend afternoon or morning conferences.

•Session IV: Friday, Nov. 12, 8:30 a.m. to noon.

Conferences should last approximately 15 minutes each. Teachers will be located in classrooms and National Honor Society members will be present to assist parents in locating all staff at the high school. Refreshments will be served at all buildings.

Parents are requested to comment to teachers regarding the success of the conferences.

Wayne Middle School will follow the same format as the high school. Middle and high school parents may attend conferences any time during the scheduled sessions. Elementary conferences for Wayne and Carroll will also begin at 6 p.m. and will be scheduled for parents as they have in the past. Parents will be notified of their scheduled conference time. Elementary and middle school conferences will conclude at 9 p.m.

Buses for all students will run at 11:15 a.m. on Thursday, Nov. 11. Elementary students will dismiss at 11 a.m. Middle and high school students will dismiss at 11:15.

Members of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce gathered for their weekly coffee at the Haven House domestic abuse shelter in Wayne and participated in the October campaign to develop awareness about the problem of domestic abuse in the area.

Harvest stories bring shivers

The weather was slowing the harvest, and I was hearing about some disgruntled farmers. They're tickled to have something to harvest, but it's been the most rained-on crop in my memory.

Our secretary's husband was so cranky, she was ready to bring her sleeping bag to the office. Our coordinator had a neighbor who got stuck with his combine and had to have a wrecker pull him out. To that, the secretary commented that if that happened at their house, she would be moving out permanently.

Then we did some reminiscing. I recalled the night we were shipping cattle and the semi could not get up that hill west of the driveway. Schmode's had to come out with a big wrecker and winch it up the hill.

I remember with shivers the night in the spring of '83 that the tractor with the feed wagon got stuck in the feed lot and the tractor we used to try to pull it out got stuck, too.

By Pat Meierhenry

Everybody had some horror stories like that to share. Most of us are farmer's wives in that office.

Finally, on Thursday, the sun came out again and the combines roared. I see a lot of auger wagons, the Big Farmer says they sell for about $14,000; and semi trucks to haul the grain. In fact, the semis were lined up about a mile at the elevator last week. I should get a job driving a grain truck. I could catch up on my reading while waiting to fill and then again waiting to empty.

I'm hearing reports of half of last year's yield. Of course, last year set records. But I don't understand why prices aren't going up if supplies are down.

It certainly is affecting the price of hay. Each of those big round bales is worth $100 plus. And I guess the quality has really been affected, both by the leeching effect of too much rain, and by all the time some of it laid in the field, waiting for the weather to allow baling.

And so it goes, we buy retail and sell wholesale, dependent upon the vagaries of the weather, producing products bought and sold by investors (or gamblers) on the Board of Trade, and then facing an added tax at the fuel barrel. Surely there will be a special coffee shop in Heaven, so we can gather to commiserate. See you there!

Top youth sought for conference

Area youth are encouraged to participate in the Youth Leadership Conference "Making Connections" on Wednesday, Nov. 17 at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

The conference will be held from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the college's Activities Center Theatre. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m.

Maxine Moul, director of Nebraska's Department of Economic Development, will deliver the keynote address "Youth Potential in Community Development Efforts."

Goals of the conference are to promote youth retention in rural Nebraska, challenge youth to become more involved in community development activities, identify resources available to youth in community development efforts, encourage youth/adult partnerships in community development projects and stimulate possibility thinking and building enthusiasm for a better future in their community.

Various breakout session topics will also be available. Topics include "Entrepreneurship — A Career Option," "Catch the Vision — Tomorrow's Leaders in Action Today," "Funding Community Projects — Plan, Package, Present" and "Community Development — It Takes Teamwork."

Participation is $5 per student. Early registration is also encouraged.

For more information, contact Joe Ferguson, Northeast Community College, 644-0587, or 1-800-348-9033.

The conference is being co-sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Rural Development Group, Northeast Community College, Wayne State College and corporate sponsors.

Education leader speaks here

Dr. Doug Christensen, Deputy Commissioner of Education for Nebraska, will be speaking in Wayne on Tuesday, Nov. 9 at 7:30 p.m. at the Haun Lecture Hall located at the high school.

Dr. Christensen's topic will be "Education for Citizenship in the 21st Century." This topic will deal with the changing educational requirements for our youth K-12.

He was named Kansas Administrator of the Year in 1982 and Nebraska Superintendent of the Year in 1990. His past experience includes superintendent of schools at North Platte, Bloomfield and Colby, Kan. He also served as associate commissioner of education prior to his current position as deputy commissioner.

There is no charge for this program and the public is invited and encouraged to attend. This event is being sponsored by Wayne Elementary Boosters (WEB).

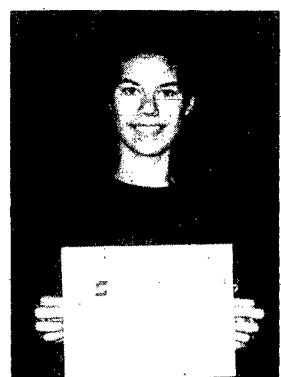

Earns technology award to Southeast College

Jill Sullivan of Allen was recently awarded a scholarship to attend Southeast Community College - Milford Campus. The scholarship was presented at the sixth annual "Technology - Careers for Women" seminar held on the Milford Campus on Oct. 6.

The purpose of the seminar was to provide women with information about career options available to them in technical fields.

The 150 participants had the opportunity to learn about several challenging career fields, including Nondestructive Testing, Electronics, Manufacturing Engineering, Computer Programming, Architectural Drafting and Surveying and Computer Aided Drafting.

A panel of women graduates who have successful careers in some of these technical fields discussed their jobs and the opportunities available to women graduates of the Milford Campus. Several current SCC students were also present to answer questions about their college experiences and to give the participants tours of the Milford Campus.

Jill Sullivan

The final activity of the day-long seminar was the awarding of 36 scholarships to attend SCC - Milford Campus. Twenty-one $2,000 scholarships and 15 $1,000 scholarships were awarded on the basis of skills assessment tests which had been administered that morning.

For more information, contact Joan Sterns at 761-2131, ext. 202.

Poster winners picked

Brooke Boelter, a fifth grader at Winside Elementary School and Nicole Jensen, a fourth grader at Wakefield Elementary were first place winners in their age groups in the third annual Northeast Nebraska Elks Association red ribbon week poster and coloring contest.

First place winners in each category will receive a $50 savings bond from the Norfolk Elks Lodge. Both first and second place winners will be eligible for entry into the Nebraska Elks Association drug awareness poster contest. Winners from the state competition will be named in January.

First place winners and their parents will also be invited to the Norfolk Elks annual youth recognition dinner held in May. At this time they will be recognized and honored along with many other fine young people.

Joins force in Somalia

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Dale Pokett, son of Jim and Nyla Pokett of Wayne, is deploying to Somalia aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Guadalcanal, homeported in Norfolk, Va.

Pokett's ship is joining other U.S. forces ordered to Somalia in response to recent hostile actions against American and other military personnel there.

Naval forces being sent to Somalia include the aircraft carrier USS Abraham Lincoln and the guided missile destroyer USS Chandler; the USS Guadalcanal's three-ship Amphibious Ready Group (ARG) with the 22nd Marine Expeditionary Unit (MEU) embarked; and the four-ship USS New Orleans ARG with the 13th MEU embarked. Each MEU has more than 1,800 Marines.

The USS Guadalcanal ARG was operating in the Mediterranean when the redeployment was ordered; USS Abraham Lincoln was in the Persian Gulf; and the USS New Orleans ARG was in the South China Sea.

This redeployment demonstrates the flexibility and mobility of naval forces. The Navy and Marine Corps are full partners in joint operations and can operate overseas to respond swiftly to crises in distant lands, from the sea.

The 1988 graduate of Wayne High School, joined the Navy in June, 1988.

Class makes BIG cell

By Susan Webber
Wayne High School

There is a new look in the biology room at Wayne High School these days.

Advanced biology class has decided to implement its learning about cells by making a life-size model of a cell. The class consists of seniors Kerry McCue, Nate Stednitz, Mark Hammer, Jeremy Sievers, Jennifer Melis and Susan Webber.

The instructor, Dale Hochstein, believes the project will help students learn how to apply ideas and use common sense.

The model consists of many parts. The nucleus, which is the control center of a cell, is four feet in diameter. It is made out of paper mache and painted red. The mitochondria, the energy producing part, is seven feet long and painted hot pink. Styrofoam balls hang from the ceiling, representing protein builders.

This project has also combined engineering, mathematics and arts and crafts skills. The students researched to find the size of the cell parts and then scaled them to the size of the room. The next step was to think of building materials — chicken wire, paint, newspaper, popcorn and styrofoam. Then came the building of the cell to the scaled measurements.

The advanced biology class is still in the construction phase, and the students hope to have a completed model to exhibit in their class soon.

Area soybean yield is top for Nebraska

The Nebraska Soybean Program has completed its 1993 soybean harvest sample project collecting 120 samples from 70 grain elevators around the state. While yields are expected to be below last year's record level, quality of this year's soybean crop is rated as excellent.

"Considering this season's dramatic weather conditions, most producers were satisfied and quite surprised at the majority of the yields they were getting off the field," said industry information director Victor Bohuslavsky.

Yields from the sample fields for this project were ranging from 30 to 50 bushels an acre. The statewide average is projected to finish around 34 to 35 bushels an acre. Bohuslavsky stated, "I think the State of Nebraska will be pretty much on target for all beans produced in the state this year."

Yield averages varied widely from one region of the state to another due mostly to weather conditions.

"Weather in the central parts of the state, whether it be high winds, hail or excessive rain, hindered crop production in those areas. The southeast corner of the state suffered from flooding due to the heavy rainfall. Northeast and north central Nebraska appeared to have had the best growing conditions this season resulting in some of the better yields."

The quality for this year's soybean crop is being rated as very good. The industry standard for protein and oil content is 35 percent and 18 percent respectively. The average content levels from the 120-samples in the harvest sample project was 35.4 percent protein and 19.4 percent oil. Protein and oil are the two ingredients in a soybean that give it value.

Soybean processors are looking for those two components in order to manufacture products like soybean meal, soy flour and soy oil.

A process called Near-Infrared Reflectance (NIR) was used to determine the protein and oil content of project samples. This analysis was conducted at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln under the supervision of Dr. Ken Frank.

Beef run highest since '78

Nebraska cattle feeders had 1.8 million cattle on feed on Oct. 1, according to the Nebraska Agricultural Statistics Service. This inventory was up 2 percent from last year and tied the record high for the month set in 1991.

Fed cattle marketings for the month of September totaled 400,000, an increase of 5 percent from 1992 but 7 percent below September, 1991. Placements of cattle into feedlots during September totaled 560,000 head, equal to last year and two years ago. Other disappearance during September totaled 20,000 head compared with 20,000 head last year and two years ago.

During the July-September quarter, Nebraska feeders marketed 1.29 million fed cattle, 12 percent more than in the corresponding period last year but 2 percent below two years ago. Placements during the quarter totaled 1.34 million head, down 1 percent from 1992 but 6 percent above the 1992 quarter. Nebraska feeders intend to market 1.2 million head of cattle for slaughter during the October-December 1993 quarter, 3 percent above the corresponding period in 1992 and 2 percent above the 1991 quarter.

Cattle on feed Oct. 1 in the 7 monthly States totaled 8.21 million, up 10 percent from Oct. 1, 1992 and 14 percent above 1991. This is the largest October 7-State cattle on feed inventory since 1978.

Placements in feedlots during September totaled 2.15 million, 1 percent below 1992 but 18 percent above 1991. Marketings during September totaled 1.62 million, up 2 percent from both 1992 and 1991. Other disappearance during September was 66,000 head, unchanged from 1992 but 13 percent below 1991.

July-September 1993 quarterly marketings for the 7 States, at 4.96 million, were up 2 percent from the same quarter in 1992 but down 2 percent from 1991.
