

NAFTA passage lauded here

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Passage of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) should have a positive impact on the economy of Northeast Nebraska industry observers and researchers here are saying.

"Mexico is a natural trading partner for us (in Northeast Nebraska)," said Wayne State College economic geography professor Bob Foote. He said the country needs feed grains and meat, which are the two main commodities produced here and has energy in the form of gas and oil to sell, which will always be a needed item in Nebraska.

"THERE IS very little that Mexico produces that will compete with us," said Foote as he cited a tremendous potential for food exports from this area to a growing urban market in Mexico. He said 14 to 15 percent of the total imports into the Mexican economy are food products currently and that percentage should increase as the population continues to urbanize. Seventy-six percent of the Mexican population is urban, a number that has increased dramatically in the last 20 years. "Urban people don't raise their food, they buy it," he said.

Before NAFTA U.S. products sold in Mexico were charged substantial tariffs, while their products sold here without restrictive government add-on fees. As NAFTA is phased in, that situation will change, Foote said.

The farm economy in Northeast Nebraska won't be the only sector to benefit from NAFTA, he said. Industrial manufacturers in the area will also see benefits.

"AS A WHOLE, it should be good for us," he said. He cited the anticipated growth in the truck traffic between the two countries as being beneficial to the Great Dane trailer plant in Wayne. Foote predicted the impact of NAFTA would be felt in the long term and there would be no great effects immediately.

Wayne County Farm Bureau members went on record in favor of the new trade agreement before its passage this week, citing the potential tremendous new market for ag products from here.

Helping drum up support for legislative votes on the issue were members of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, who also expressed joy that the agreement was approved by

Harvest seen as disappointing here

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Harvest season is quickly drawing to a close in Northeast Nebraska and most observers call the results disappointing but not the "bitter harvest" described in other areas of the Midwest.

"Yields are down especially from last year," said Randy Gunn, District Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service. Yields in this area will probably end up close to or below the 100 bushel per acre figure on average said Gunn.

Bitter harvest elsewhere

By Sharon Cohen
Associated Press writer

In this season of bounty, Mike Pieper is a farmer on barren soil. Instead of taking out his combine to harvest, he's cleaning up mud, repairing machines -- and digging out from financial disaster.

"The flood would go away if someone gave me $1.5 million," the Iowa farmer says with a hint of a smile. "Then we wouldn't miss a beat. But

That certainly wasn't what most everyone expected during the summer of wet weather, explained John Witkowski, specialist at the Northeast Research and Extension Center in Concord.

HE SAID THERE was a natural tendency during the summer to be optimistic about a great crop because of the moisture conditions. But yields in the 100 average range have been "just kind of disappointing." A 100 bushel per acre average would be about normal but is 50 percent below last year's bin buster.

where's the money going to come from?"

It's a question farmers across the Midwest are asking. The flood destroyed thousands of acres and billions of dollars of crops, creating a bitter harvest in America's heartland.

"There's an old farm saying that a drought will scare you, but a flood will kill you," said Gregory Hanson.

See HARVEST, Page 8

"You never really know until it is in the bin," he added.

Especially disappointing were the yields on irrigated corn, said Witkowski. He said in many cases dryland crops came in ahead of irrigated this year, which is the opposite of normal. Late planting times and an early frost are thought to have limited yields below what moisture conditions would have otherwise permitted.

STILL, AREA farmers are fortunate to get any crops at all when you look around the Midwest, said Witkowski. Flooding, hail and high winds left many farmers without any crop at all and have caused grain markets to climb as harvest yield reports fell.

From 90 to 95 percent of the corn in the area is in the bin, according to reports from area elevators.

Wayne Grain and Feed reports better than 90 percent of the anticipated crop in with yield ranging from 80 to 130 bushels per acre. Storage is still available there although things are filling up. Moisture ranges there have been from 17 to 18 percent.

At Carroll Feed and Grain 95 percent of the crop is reported in with yield averages between 95 and 100 bushels and moisture ranging from 18 to 19 percent.

Winside Grain and Feed also reports 95 percent of the crop in with yields between 90 and 140 bushels. Moisture was listed at 15 to 22 percent in Winside and storage is still available there.

Creeping toward goal

The Wayne United Way continues its push toward the 1993-94 goal of $25,000. At the present time the United Way fund drive has received $18,000 in cash and pledges toward this year's drive.

The Wayne United Way Board heard a report at its regular monthly meeting Wednesday that approximately 72 percent of the businesses have responded for $16,000. Also the residential drive is 75 percent complete.

The Board noted that with 28

New 'WeLCoMe House' minister on duty

By Clara Osten
for the Herald

On Nov. 1 Matthew Witmer became the new Director of Campus ministries for United Ministries in Higher Education (UMHE) at Wayne State College.

As director of Campus Ministries, Witmer serves Presbyterian, United Church of Christ, Christian Church and United Methodist students at WSC. His office is located at the WeLCoMe House located across the street from the Student Center on campus.

He also works closely with the Catholic and Lutheran Campus Ministers. "Each minister serves students in his or her specific religion but we work together for the good of the ministry," said Witmer.

"I feel that many people, especially the young; these days seem rudderless as far as their faith is concerned. Most of them want and seek direction but are troubled by having to determine what is real and what is not."

"In today's fast paced society, I feel that it's important to have someone who is there to offer a smile, a sense of support and a few words of encouragement."

"I hope to continue the already established, warm sense of presence of the UMHE Campus Ministry at Wayne State College."

"I have office hours from 9 a.m. to noon, Monday through Friday. My main objective right now is to let students know that there is someone here who cares," said Witmer.

Witmer is a native of Devils Lake, N.D. who grew up in Bemidji, Minn. He earned his Bachelor of Science Degree in Mass Communication from Moorhead State University in 1986 and spent five years working in various aspects of television and video production.

In 1991 he was called to serve as

Fostering art sale

During September and October Allen "Butch" Reimers of Plainview had some of his oil paintings displayed at the Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) office in Plainview. Butch not only does oil paintings, but is heavily into wooden craft items and tole painting. Jan Jorgensen, RC&D coordinator, is pictured with Butch. One priority of the RC&D is to stimulate economic development in the six county area. Offering artists a place to show their work is one way to expose the talent that exists in communities. The items that are displayed are all for sale and everyone is encouraged to stop by to view the artists' work. The office is located on east Highway 20 in Plainview.

Hobbies was the theme for the Wayne Women's Club meeting

The Wayne Women's Club met Nov. 12 at 2 p.m. at the Womans Club Room with 17 members and one guest, Mrs. Tilgner, present.

Roll call was hobbies and Barbara Sievers brought her hobby and displayed it. Others told about theirs.

A memorial for Lillian Miller was given by Orvella Blomenkamp and Lillian Granquist.

Orvella Blomenkamp and Marian Jordan contacted Merlin Sievers and he fixed the table and got the keys for the cupboards.

A discussion was held about the Cemetery Association in Wayne. A motion was made by Kay Kemp and seconded by Lillian Granquist to donate $100 to the Cemetery Association. Then Ailene Sievers told what the money is used for. A new building has been built and a rest room installed at the cemetery. Whatever the Sievers' do at the cemetery is all volunteer work. Donations are accepted at any time.

If anyone wants to rent the club rooms they are to contact Janice Mitchell.

A discussion was held on the Christmas gift to the Wayne Care Centre. Dorothy Grone made the motion and Marjorie Olson seconded it that Mrs. Ed Kluge get a poinsettia and take it to the Care Centre. She also is in charge of giving out names to organizations for Christmas gifts for residents of the care centre.

A get well card was brought by Orvella and she asked everyone to sign it for Marian Jordan, who fell and broke her wrist. It was mailed by Ardyce Reeg.

A round of applause was given for Ed and Leona Kluge who observed their 60th wedding anniversary on Nov. 13.

The next meeting will be Dec. 10 at noon at the Black Knight. This is the Christmas dinner. Beverly Ruwe will have the program with a film "Here's Looking At You Kid." Roll call will be tell about a part you had in a Christmas program.

Orvella thanked the hostesses, Ailene Sievers and Leona Daum for serving lunch.

Orvella closed with a reading, "It's Up to You," by Crystal Hastings.

Mrs. Tilgner of Ben Franklin Store had the program. She displayed Christmas angels and also told how to make different and colorful decorations.

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid meets on Nov. 10

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid LWML met Nov. 10 with 44 members present. Mary Janke gave the opening devotions, reading a "Prayer of Thanks."

Delores Utecht, president, called the meeting to order. The minutes were read and approved and the treasurer's report was given and filed for audit.

Irene Victor gave the report from the visiting committee. Four visits were made and six cards were sent. Leora Austin reported sending flowers to Adeline Sieger, Dorothy Grone and Elinor Jensen.

Delores Utecht reported serving the wedding of John Martin and Anna Victor and thanked everyone who helped.

The family fun night is scheduled for Jan. 30. The idea of having a quilt to work on was discussed. Chris Mahnken will chair the committee.

It was announced that the clothing drive for Lutheran World Relief was to end Nov. 11 and a motion was made to start a drive for coats, caps, mittens and sweaters to be taken to Project Hope. The aid will also donate quilts.

Esther Hansen reported serving 109 at Rally Day and thanked everyone who helped.

Irene Lutt reported that 16 quilts had been given to the Orphan Grain Train and 18 to Lutheran World Relief.

Members were reminded to bring at least three dozen cookies for the Dec. 5 cookie walk, and it was decided that extra cookies needed to be brought to make plates for the shut-ins. The committee will set up on Dec. 4 at 1:30 and cookies should be brought that afternoon. Ellen Heinemann reported that the cookie recipe books will be for sale at the Cookie Walk at a cost of $1 containing 92 recipes.

It was announced that the Aid will be serving taverns, chips, pickles and bars on Dec. 2 prior to the Advent service. The committee is Delores Utecht, Maria Ritze, Cynthia Rethwisch and Betty Wittig.

The Christmas carry-in dinner was discussed and a motion made to give the birthday offering to the seminar students, and to take a special offering to be sent to Camp Luther. The Aid chose four names of care centre residents to buy Christmas gifts for. They are Irene Geewe, Art Hagemann, Meta Mikkelsen and Lena Rauss. Leora Austin and Esther Hansen will buy the gifts.

A sign up sheet was passed around for those wishing to donate a pie to the Thanksgiving dinner at the campus center on Nov. 21.

The Aid was asked to serve the 65th anniversary of Art and Lillian Brummond on Dec. 12 from 3 to 5 p.m. Those who volunteered to help are Delores Utecht, Leora Austin, Esther Hansen, Dorothea Schwanke, Bonnadell Koch, Irene Victor, Betty Wittig and Cynthia Rethwisch.

The auditing committee is Melvy Meyer, Dorothy Meyer and Helen Bean.

Millie Thomsen read a letter from Lee Weander. Joan Temme will write to him this month and Delores Utecht will write to Jeff Warner. Thank yous were received from Carol Rethwisch and Lanora Sorensen for helping with the Fall Rally and from Dorothy Grone, Adeline Sieger and Elinor Jensen for cards, visits and flowers. Thank yous and donations were received from John and Anna Martin for serving their wedding and from Chuck and Ruth Victor for use of the kitchen on rehearsal night.

New officers for 1994 are Millie Thomsen, president; Mary Janke, first vice president; Maria Ritze, second vice president; Esther Brader, secretary; and Elinor Jensen, treasurer.

A program, entitled "Finding God in the Grocery Store" was given by several ladies.

Hostesses for the meeting were Linda Coulter, Pam Ekberg and Helen Bean. Seated at the birthday table was Bonnadell Koch.

Bridal Shower

Tiffany Nelson

A gift basket for various rooms in the house was the theme of a bridal shower given for Tiffany Nelson by Kodi McNeil and Becky Porter in the home of the honoree's grandmother, Lil Tarnow in Wakefield on Nov. 13.

Guests attended from Wayne, Pender, Wakefield, South Sioux City, Holdrege, Bronson, Iowa; and Brookings, S.D. Afterwards games were played and gifts opened. A variety of desserts was served, along with a champagne toast to the bride-to-be.

Decorations were in her chosen colors of red and black with a musical bride doll as a table centerpiece.

Tiffany and Andrew Glover of Bronson, Iowa will be married Nov. 27 at Hope Lutheran Church in South Sioux City.

Altona LWML hold Thanksgiving meeting

First Trinity Lutheran Women's Missionary League of Altona met Nov. 4 with Pastor Bertels giving the lesson, a hymn study of "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come." The group sang "Praise and Thanksgiving" and joined together in a Thanksgiving litany.

The "Dedication Song" was sung as the mite box offering was taken.

It was decided to send a $25 donation to Open Door Mission, Omaha, as well as to pay the bill for the new carpeting installed in the parsonage.

Three ladies from Altona attended the LWML Fall Rally held at Grace Lutheran, Wayne.

The District LWML Convention will be held July 9-10, 1994 at the Red Lion Inn in Omaha. The Wayne Zone is thinking about chartering a bus to the convention.

"Celebration Sunday" will be held Dec. 5 in church. A potluck dinner will follow. Members are encouraged to bring a guest to church that day.

Election of officers was held with Pearl Youngmeyer being elected as vice president and Clara Heinemann, secretary. Darlene Frevert, president, appointed Janice Bertels to fill the unexpired term of the treasurer who resigned her position due to health reasons.

Four get well cards were mailed during the past month.

First Trinity, Altona, will be featured on Channel 4 "Salute a Church" on Wednesday, Nov. 24. All members are reminded to watch the noon news on Channel 4.

The next meeting will be the Christmas luncheon at 12:30 p.m. on Dec. 2. A potluck dinner will be served with the men invited to attend. Entertainment committee will be Clara Heinemann and Esther Stark. A gift exchange will be held to reveal secret sisters.

The meeting closed with the table prayer and the Lord's Prayer. Hostess was Esther Stark.

Local Dairy Queen store earns award

Edward Watson, executive vice president of operations for International Dairy Queen, Inc. (IDQ), announced that the Dairy Queen store in Wayne has earned a Dairy Queen system award for the fiscal year 1992. Awards are presented annually to the top Dairy Queen stores in the country.

"We are proud of the hard work and dedication of the owners, managers and staff at the Wayne Dairy Queen store," says Watson. "Their desire to make their store a top performer is a credit to them. Recognizing them with this award is a way of saying 'thank you' for making the 'Dairy Queen' system a leader in the fast-food industry."

International Dairy Queen, Inc., develops and services a system of more than 5,400 Dairy Queen and Dairy Queen/Brazier stores in the United States, Canada and 20 other countries.

Wed in Sioux City

Cynthia Jean Filter, Wayne, and Dennis Loren Konsella, Sioux City, were united in marriage Saturday, Nov. 6 during a double-ring ceremony at Mayflower Congregational United Church of Christ in Sioux City.

The bride is the daughter of Bill and Carolyn Filter, Wayne, and the groom is the son of Dean and Jean Albeck, Sioux City.

The Rev. Laird Keever performed the ceremony uniting the couple while Mary Kay Hasemann, Laurel was the soloist and Jane O'Leary, Wayne was pianist.

Musical numbers selected by the couple included "The Wedding Song" and "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown with illusion neckline, wedding band collar and keyhole back. It also featured a fitted Basque bodice and Juliet sleeves. The full skirt flowed into a chapel train. The gown was detailed with hand-beaded embroidered lace, pleated organza inset and edging of Schiffler lace. She also wore a hat of pleated organza with lattice lace and pearls.

Serving as matron of honor was Rhonda Detlefsen, Mitchell, S.D. Best man was Ted Rooney, Kansas City. The bride's personal attendant was Deanna Konsella, sister of the groom. Ushers were Terry Smith, Sioux City, and Terry Filter, Lincoln, brother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Konsella

The bride's attendant wore a teal length flowered dress with white linen collar. The men wore charcoal grey tuxedos with purple ties and vests. The groom's suit featured tails and black crossie and vest.

Steve and Donna Schumacher, Wayne, greeted guests at the church and served as hosts for the reception which followed the ceremony. The reception was held at the Riverboat Inn, Sioux City.

The couple honeymooned in Minneapolis and are at home in Spencer, Iowa.

Home-based business featured in catalog

More than 100 Nebraska-made products including the works of Frey Art Studio in Wayne, are showcased in a 24-page color catalog to be released in November.

"The Good Life Gallery" retail catalog is a project of EMRG, a Kearney technology-based marketing company that is helping many Nebraska companies market their products.

"This is one of a few statewide gift catalogs featuring Nebraska-made products," said Cindy Evert, director of communications for EMRG. "However, we view the Good Life Gallery as much more than a catalog, it is a tool for market-driven economic development and creating jobs in home-based and small businesses and in rural areas."

Carlos and Sherian Frey of Wayne maintain an art studio and market miniature sculptures out of their home.

Of the 45 companies whose products are featured in the catalog, 22 are in communities with populations under 6,000 (15 under 1,500); and 14 have rural route addresses. Most of the products displayed in the catalog are made in home-based or micro-enterprises; all are members of the Nebraska Home-Based Business Association. Only members of the newly-formed, non-profit association can be considered for marketing through EMRG.

"We have found Nebraskans want to purchase Nebraska products, but it has not always been easy," Evert said. "Additionally, people outside Nebraska or former Nebraskans are also interested in buying products made here, and we are marketing to them."

Among the 120 items the catalog features are note cards, wheat and fabric weaving, Christmas and sandhill crane items, cloth and glass articles, rustic and finished wood products, jewelry, neckties, books, dolls, posters, sculpture, honey variations and salad dressing.

"We hope people will keep the catalog after the holidays and help us support these Nebraska companies year-round," Evert said. "The number of top quality items being produced in the state amazed us, but it also demonstrates the amount of pride Nebraskans take in their work."

The Good Life Gallery is a product distribution system of EMRG including a retail store in Kearney's Hilltop Mall, access to national gift markets and an upcoming Buyers Guide. To receive the catalog, call 800-243-6698. For information on the Nebraska Home-Based Business Association, call 308-236-5454 or write NHBBA, P.O. Box 2139, Kearney, NE 68848.

Hansens travel to Sweden

Dale and Sue Hansen of rural Wakefield recently accompanied Sue's aunt and uncle, Ron and Naomi McCoy of Valentine, to Sweden. The four departed from Omaha on Oct. 20 and went from there to Minneapolis, to Amsterdam, to Goteborg, Sweden.

During their week-long stay, they visited with members of Sue's grandparents (the late Emma and David Johnson) families of sister, brother's family and cousins. One interesting fact they learned was that the government asked families with "son" at the end of their names to change it because it was felt there were too many "sons." Therefore the name Johnson (Jonsson) became Jartun.

Some highlights of the trip were visits to relatives' bike shop where 65,000 bikes a year are sold. It was soon discovered biking was a very popular means of transportation. They also toured a wooden shoe factory and imported clothing store. Other tours were to a glass blowing factory, dairy farm, shopping centers, churches over 1,000 years old, a riding school, ski resort and industrial book factory.

The Hansens said the landscape in the area they visited reminded them of the Black Hills of South Dakota. They were in southern Sweden and stayed in Gislaved with relatives who introduced them to many Swedish traditions, making the vacation more interesting. Swedish folk dances were fun to watch as they would dance for three to four hours, take a break and continue dancing for another four hours.

Since health care is a concern in this country, they explained that the Swedish government provides 100 percent medical coverage for citizens from cradle to grave. The Hansens also noted that taxes were very high in Sweden, 25 percent taxes on items bought in the stores. Gas was over $4 per gallon and food was also high compared to this country. Many items were comparable to prices in Nebraska also.

Eagles plan Thanksgiving

Wayne Eagles Auxiliary 3757 met Nov. 15 with Doris Gilliland, president, presiding. Fourteen members were present.

District meeting was held in Norfolk on Nov. 14. Attending from Wayne were Fern Test, DeAnn Behlers and Mardella Olson. Mylet Bargholz thanked everyone who worked, donated, etc., towards the bake sale.

A Thanksgiving potluck supper will be held Saturday, Nov. 20 at the Aerie home. Serving will start at 7 p.m. Friends and family are invited. The Christmas party will be held Dec. 10.

A pancake breakfast is being planned for Dec. 12, serving from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Aerie home.

Wayne Eagles will be having a soup supper and sandwiches on Thursday evenings in December, serving from 5 to 8 p.m. Proceeds will go to the building fund.

Serving was Ruth Korth and Neoma Isebrand. Serving next time on Dec. 6 is Babs Middleton and Cec Vandersnick.

Jaycees plan busy month

The Wayne County Jaycees met Nov. 8 at the Methodist Church. Scott Brummond gave an individual development course, which was a personal profile. Business discussed at the meeting included the rescheduling of the Vid-A-Kid on Nov. 20 at the Wayne Elementary School.

December will be very busy for the Jaycees. Some of the upcoming projects are Christmas tree sales, gifts for two care centre residents, Toys For Tots and gift boxes for the elderly.

A special thank you was given to the St. Mary's confirmation students for babysitting the Jaycee children.

Anyone who is interested in making a difference in our community and who is between the age of 21-40, call president Jeff Pasold at 375-3251 or membership development vice president Garry Poutre at 375-4691.

"A Lifetime of Services"

"New priorities for the delivery of women's health care are preeminent. They focus on prevention and health maintenance services in the form of screening, counseling, and immunizations. As a result, the objective of a periodic medical encounter with our patients will focus on changing a patient's behavior. A reduction in behavioral risk factors such as use of tobacco, abuse of alcohol and other drugs, lack of exercise, poor nutrition, and multiple sexual partners - can prevent 1/2 of premature deaths, 1/3 of acute disability cases and 1/2 of chronic disability cases. As Obstetricians and Gynecologists, we are dedicated to the high quality, low cost, primary-preventive health care for women."

WSC women ready to open season play with lots of talent

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Wayne State women's basketball team will take center court, Saturday in the friendly confines of Rice Auditorium where they will entertain last season's national runner-up team from Northern State.

Mike Barry returns as mentor of the women's squad this season and he likes what he sees from his crew which could see any of 10 different starters throughout the year.

"We have the potential to be as good as any team I've had in my four years," Barry said. "We have solid talent and depth but along with that we have a very competitive schedule including the first seven games."

Barry's Cats will host Northern State before playing at South Dakota and the Northeast Missouri Tournament. Then they travel to play Augustana before returning home to host Morningside, Denver, Dakota State and Concordia.

Lynn Nohr will return for her junior season as the point guard. The 5-5 Crofton native is a good ball handler and good three-point shooter. She will be joined in the back court by Marla Stewart, the Blair native who sat out last year due to reconstructive knee surgery.

Stewart is also a good ball handler who can take it to the bucket. She is a solid playmaker and a good passer. O'Neill freshman Amy Brodersen will debut her career as a Wildcat on Saturday.

Brodersen is as talented as anybody Barry's had as far as natural ability. She has good quickness and speed. Walk-on freshman guard Jesse Anderson will also be looking to break into the line up as she possesses a solid team play attitude and has good speed.

In the off-guard spot will be experienced junior Brenda TeGrotenhuis. She started some games last season and even backed up the point guard spot. She's an excellent defensive player and talented athlete who works hard. TeGrotenhuis is a native of Orange City, Iowa.

Deb Kostreba, a junior transfer from St. Joseph, Minnesota and Anoka-Ramsey Junior College, has a great understanding of the game and is a good leader on and off the court. She can shoot well and pass well.

Freshman Wisner native Mindi Jensen will be called upon for scoring down low where she simply dominated her class in high school. She also possesses a solid outside shot and is an excellent defensive player. She's also one of those players who will dive into the bleachers after a loose ball for the good of the team.

Lindsay working Wendy Helmer has been working hard in the pre-season and is a solid team player who can really shoot the three-point.

WSC will not have any trouble filling the forward spot with experience as they return leading scorer Lisa Chamberlain for her senior season. The Norfolk native is extremely talented and is a great natural athlete.

Chamberlain is a go-to player when its crunch time. She can play inside or outside and can nail the pull-up jumper. Kristy Twait is a hard worker looking for playing time this year as a junior from Emmetsburg, Iowa. Twait possesses an uncanny shooting touch and can score a lot of points quickly by knocking down the three-pointers.

Wayne native freshman Liz Reeg will look to aid the Cats in another winning season. She has the ability to draw the foul and then step to the free throw line where she is nearly a 90 percent shooter. She is a good inside player who can hit the shots from 17-feet in.

Other forwards include senior Linda Heller, who possesses great athletic ability and is a great leader who plays all out. The Milford, Iowa product can do it all, rebounding, scoring, stealing, assists and is one of those players who will dive into the bleachers after a loose ball with out hesitation.

Pierce junior Ann Kramer has enjoyed an excellent pre-season. She is solid in all areas right now and is very intelligent about the game. She is a smart court player who will see a lot of quality time.

Jodi Otjen will lead the crew of post players. Otjen is a three-year starter who has been the main go-to player for the past three seasons. She averaged 13 points and 13 rebounds per game last year. Otjen has a good turnaround jumper and can really crash the boards. She is a native of Battle Creek.

Wayne will also welcome junior transfer Deedra Haskins from Liberty, Texas. Haskins is the biggest post player Barry's had in his brief tenure at WSC at 6-3. She runs the floor very well and averaged 20 points and 12 rebounds a game in junior college. Haskins is labeled as having the ability to really do some great things for the Cats.

Wayne State men's cage team to host defending runners-up

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Wayne State men's basketball team will begin the season campaign on Saturday at home against the defending NAIA national runners-up in Northern State of Aberdeen, S.D.

Mike Brewen returns to the helm for the Wildcats but will have some new faces on the sidelines with him as Al Magnani begins his first year as the first assistant coach and Brian Pearson becomes the new graduate assistant after a successful collegiate career at Iowa State.

Magnani comes to WSC from Eagle Grove High School in Iowa where he was the head coach for the past five years. Previous to that he was the head coach at North Wineshiek High School, also in Iowa.

Magnani's coaching style features defense and winning. The last three teams he coached at Eagle Grove were the most proficient in both of these categories in the school's history.

"I am very pleased to have Al join our program," Brewen said. "He has seven years of head coaching, has been an activities director and he knows the recruiting process."

In addition to the assistant coaching position at WSC, Magnani will be the assistant recreation center coordinator under Eldon Hutchison. Magnani earned a bachelor's degree in Sociology from Northern Iowa in 1985.

Pearson comes to WSC with loads of playing experience while playing for the Cyclones under Johnny Orr. As a player, he earned four varsity letters, was the team captain as a senior, was a frequent starter, received the Outstanding Senior Award, and played in the NCAA tournament twice.

Pearson also played for Palmer High School in Iowa where his team won 102 consecutive games and earned three Iowa State Championships.

"It's hard for me to believe there has ever been a more qualified graduate assistant at Wayne State," Brewen said. "We are getting a man who possesses a solid work ethic and has been a winner at every level."

Pearson earned a bachelor's degree in Speech Communication from Iowa State and plans to pursue a master's in Athletic Administration while at WSC.

This year's Wildcat team will have its share of experienced players with eight having seen considerable college playing time. Brewen says he optimistic for the next couple years as he hopes the Cats start turning the corner.

"We have a young but experienced team," Brewen said. This year's Wildcat team will be Brewen's first team that is all his. WSC may look to pick up the pace in game tempo this year and get back into more pressure defense. "We have the athletes that can push the ball up the floor," Brewen said.

'Cats being left out of playoffs is a joke

As the NCAA Division II play-offs get underway this weekend, many locals will choose between several options. First, they can listen and see who wins and loses with a slightly heavy heart since the Wildcats are not among the so-called elite 16 or they can ignore them all together which unless I miss my guess, most will choose to do—and for good reason.

The NCAA-II selection committee has proven they are a joke and that college football at least on the Division II level, is none other than a popularity contest that ranks among the junior high level.

Wayne State enjoyed a phenomenal season this year and yet, they are staying home. The NCAA chose Pittsburg State as the fourth representative in the Midwest Region—another joke.

When it comes down to the end of the season everyone wants to see who is the best team in the country and sadly, this will not happen this year. Division II officials believe they have a great system because their national champion comes from a playoff.

The only difference between Division I and Division II now seems to be that teams get shafted before the playoffs instead of after the bowl games. Let me explain why the NCAA-II is no better than your average Joe Blow picking the top teams in the coffee shop.

Three of the four teams from the Midwest Regional qualified for the playoffs with two losses. WSC suffered just one, on a Hail Mary pass with less than 30 seconds remaining in the game after the Wildcats had committed eight turnovers and yet, out gained the opponent who went 8-3 by the way, by 250 yards.

Pittsburg State, who the so-called experts believe is a much better team than WSC because they play all these really tough guys, not only has two losses but they were blown out of both games they were defeated in—in other words, they proved they were not the better team and yet they are one of the final 16 teams.

It doesn't take a genius to figure out there is a major problem with this system—wait a minute, maybe it does take a genius because the NCAA claims they have all these guys on the selection committees of all four regions of the highest integrity, whatever.

The Midwest Regional has five committee members, two from the North Central Conference, two from the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Conference and one for the independents.

If a vote came down to picking an independent over one of these conference teams, again it doesn't take a genius to figure out these gentleman of high integrity are going to look down on the independent and pretty much put the shaft to them—which is exactly what happened.

I'm sorry, but I refuse to believe that a North Central Conference representative or a Missouri Conference representative is going to pick an independent team instead of one in their conference which after all, would make them look better. And wouldn't you know it, two North Central Conference teams and two Missouri Conference teams qualified for the playoffs—boy what a coincidence.

Now, turning our attention to what I used to believe was the most respected team in all of NCAA-II, North Dakota State. It seems that one of NDSU's football coaches spent quite a bit of time lambasting

For Pete's Sake

By Kevin Peterson

of a doubt his complete ignorance—unfortunately, his hillbilly logic must have been used by several other members of the NCAA selection committee.

It is his remarks that also prove that Wayne State never had a chance. They were ruled out before the season even started and regardless of what they've accomplished on the field, the politics involved in collegiate athletics prevented them from proving to the rest of the country they are one of the best which is a complete travesty to college football.

The bottom line is, the NCC and Missouri Conference reps were afraid of WSC because the Wildcats are the new kids on the block and after all, we can't be upsetting the apple cart now, can we.

the Wayne State football team in several issues of the Fargo newspaper.

Well, all I can say to him is that not only has he proven he's a complete jerk, but the respect his team's have enjoyed in the past has diminished greatly. How this podunk fool can even judge a team like Wayne State with out ever having watching them, proves beyond a shadow

Dixon fireman fundraising for pocket pagers

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

The Dixon Volunteer fire department is raising funds to try to move into the modern age. Members of the department currently are notified of fires either when they hear the fire whistle sound at the station or when someone calls their "fire phone" at home.

If they are away from the house they may never get word.

"It has been a problem in the past," admits Fire Chief LeRoy Bathke. He said there have been times when the department has had trouble raising a crew to respond, especially when the phones develop problems as they have lately. In one case recently an emergency call went out on the fire phones and a message came back that said the line had been disconnected.

TO SOLVE THIS problem, the department has decided to purchase $4,600 worth of pocket pagers to provide instant communication between emergency dispatchers in Ponca and all the firemen and "First Responders" emergency technicians in the Dixon area.

The new equipment will be functioning by Thanksgiving, and now the department has to figure out a way to pay for it.

While most departments have similar equipment and 911 emergency dispatching services, the tiny Dixon department with an annual budget of only around $1,500 from tax receipts and donations, has had to "make do."

DIXON COUNTY Sheriff Dean Chase praised the efforts of the volunteers to upgrade their services when he met with them Thursday night in Dixon. He said the new system will be a tremendous benefit to all the residents of the Dixon Fire District because it will dramatically reduce emergency response time.

He said a recently installed relay antennae on the Allen water tower greatly improves emergency radio communications from the dispatch center in Ponca and would permit the dispatchers to signal the firemen and relay emergency messages on their pagers.

Chase said his office would not charge for the upgraded service to the Dixon volunteers, who said it would have cost them $100 per month to have received the same service from the Wayne dispatching center.

CHASE ALSO plugged the new enhanced 911 systems being considered for many areas of Northeast Nebraska.

"We've had frantic calls that say, 'There's a fire at the Bob Anderson place,' and then hang up," said Chase. "At one time we had six Bob Anderson's in Dixon County." The new enhanced 911 system would give dispatchers an immediate read-out of the exact location of incoming calls eliminating confusion and time consuming questions and answers.

Bathke said it was especially crucial to begin talking about upgrading service since an influx of jobs is expected in Wayne with the development of more residents in the surrounding communities. He said he attended a meeting in Wayne recently at which the leaders of surrounding communities were told to expect 500 new jobs here in the near future.

TO RAISE THE funds for the new pagers, firemen will be holding a drawing on a side of beef, are planning to continue their "iron drive" to pickup up old metal for recycling, are promoting their annual pancake feed the first Sunday in March and other fund raising efforts.

Those interested in helping with effort may contact the chief at 584-2429 or Assistant Chief Marvin Nelson at 584-2380. Or donations may be sent to P.O. Box 54, Dixon.

Three earn prestigious Eagle Scout award

Laurel youths honored

An Eagle Scout Ceremony was held at the Laurel United Methodist Church on Sunday, Nov. 14. The young men receiving their Eagle Scout awards were Josh Erwin, Mark Lute and Jason Stapelman.

The Master of Ceremonies was Dwayne Freeman, committee chairman of Troop #176 in Laurel. Jeff Erwin, senior patrol leader, and the Laurel Scouts presented the colors. The congregation sang "God Bless America" and the invocation was given by Pastor Jeff Sievert from the Laurel Presbyterian Church.

An organ-piano duet was presented by Mrs. Suzy Wacker and Jana Wacker. She played "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The challenge address was given by Jim Clark of Wakefield, the history instructor in the Laurel-Concord school system.

Jeff Moyer of Laurel, a former Eagle Scout, gave the Eagle Scout oath to the young men. The presentation of Eagle awards was conducted by Randy Gunn of Laurel.

Lyle Van Cleave from the Laurel Lions Club presented the National Eagle Scout Association Certificates. The American Heritage Flag was presented by the American Legion Representative Larry Harrington and the VFW Post Commander Regg Ward. The flags presented had flown over the capitol on Columbus Day, Oct. 12, 1993.

The red, white and blue candles were lit by 1991 Laurel Eagle Scouts Jeremy Quist, Greg Ward and Dean Heydon, as they gave the new Eagle Scouts the Eagle charge.

Tara Erwin sang "On Eagle's Wings," accompanied by Mrs. Claudia Dvorak.

The benediction was given by Rev. Ron Mursick from the Laurel United Methodist Church.

Minister

Director of Youth Ministries at two Presbyterian churches in Clarinda, Iowa. While in Clarinda, he worked with approximately 80 students in grades two through 12.

"I am excited to have the opportunity to meet students here, share our faith, learn and grow together. I want to establish a ministry based on our common belief as Christians and have fun in the process."

Witmer feels fortunate to have been called to his position at this time. "Everything happens for a reason and I especially believe this to be the case with my coming to Wayne."

"My father just retired from the ministry in Clarinda and my parents moved to Arizona at the same time I moved here."

Also, because of the nature of my position — it is a part-time position — I will be able to have both the setting and the opportunity to start a graduate program. I will begin work on my Master's Degree in counseling in January," said Witmer.

In his spare time Witmer, who is single, is active in athletics including tennis, golf, softball and basketball. He also enjoys reading, art, music and travel and hopes to continue his work in video production.

His main focus at the present is to serve as an "encourager" for WSC students.

Thanksgiving to be offered by local Churches

Soup, pie and a service of thanksgiving are being offered by the Wayne Ministerial Association at the annual community Thanksgiving service. Worship begins at 5 p.m. in the sanctuary of Redeemer Lutheran Church. Local pastors will participate in the service, with Pastor Mark Steinbach delivering the message.

"Five Kernels of Corn" is the theme for this service which takes this refrain from a Thanksgiving tradition. This tradition says that the Plymouth Colony suffered such famine that the rations for each colonist was five kernels of corn. Yet in the midst of such scarcity, these pilgrims established the tradition of giving thanks to God for what they had. In memory of this tradition, each worshipper will receive five kernels of corn.

Soup and pie will be served in the church basement following the worship. The food is donated by participating congregation and a free will offering will go to the Wayne Food Pantry and the Emergency Assistance Fund, which together assist needy families and individuals with food, lodging and other essentials.

Participating congregations include First United Methodist, Redeemer Lutheran, St. Mary's Catholic, St. Paul's Lutheran, United Presbyterian and Wayne World Outreach.

Congeniality Award

Connie Marotz was presented the Congeniality Award at the Chamber Coffee, Friday at First National Omaha-Service Center. Marotz works at the Diamond Center in Wayne. She was presented the award by Wayne Ambassadors president Mark Sorensen.

the House on a 234-200 vote.

"I CAN'T SEE any negatives," said Lyle George, who markets products for Restful Knights plant in Wayne to many different countries. He said the bedding manufacturer in Wayne currently exports nothing to Mexico, but would consider opening a market there.

However, he said he is more interested now in opening markets in Canada for Restful Knights products.

"It will be much easier to do business there," said George. "It is truly annoying when we sit down and try to do business in Canada," he said. By the time the Canadian government gets through adding all the things they charge, my price is too high," said George.

He said he is not worried about too many U.S. jobs going to Mexico because industries will have to meet the same safety and environmental standards now that United States industries have maintained.

He too saw the change as benefiting the future business climate rather than the immediate opening of new markets.

"We're so busy right now, I have a problem going out and selling new businesses," said George associate agriculture professor at Penn State University. "For many farmers, that could be the case this year."

In Pieper's case, the 3,200 acres he farms with his brother and others along the Mississippi in southeastern Iowa were swamped by up to 18 feet of water. He didn't see soil for three months.

Like many others, the Piepers and their four children were flooded out of their home. They hope to return soon, but it will take far longer to get their land back in shape.

"You've got river scum on everything," he said. "The grass is dead. The trees are dead. Nothing is living."

Pieper calculates his losses -- including relocating his livestock, no crop and planting expenses -- at $1.5 million. He expects disaster aid will cover about a quarter of that. He did not have crop insurance.

Still, the 38-year-old farmer will forge ahead.

"You can't lie down and play dead," he said. "Somewhere you have to come up with $700,000 to plant next spring."

Pieper's losses are more dramatic than most, but all along the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, farmers are taking stock.

Ralph Wieschan lost 1,200 of his 1,600 acres near Orchard Farm, Mo. "I'll write this year off as if there were no year at all," he said.

But he's not complaining. "When you see your neighbor's house with six inches of mud and the dry wall and the insulation sagging, and you can come into your home, high and dry, then you feel really blessed," he said.

The numbers tell a different story. The Agriculture Department recently dropped its estimate of the 1993 corn harvest to 6.5 billion bushels -- the lowest since the 1988 drought, which was more widespread. That yield was 4.9 billion bushels.

Consider: -- In Illinois, about 872,000 acres of farm fields were flooded. State officials estimate crop loss at $425 million.

-- In Missouri, about a half-million acres of cropland are at risk because of heavy sand from deposits from the river or if levees are not repaired. Crop losses are expected to cost the state more than $500 million and perhaps more than 7,000 jobs.

-- In Iowa, the corn harvest will be 918 million bushels, 52 percent less than last year's record 1.9 billion bushels. Total crop losses are estimated at more than $2 billion. Robert Wisner, professor of agricultural economics at Iowa State University estimates 10 percent of Iowa's farmers may not survive.

"On the (Chicago) Board of Trade, they have a slogan rain makes grain," said Dale Cochran, Iowa's agriculture secretary. "This year, it's not true. There was too much, way too much."

Disaster aid will help, but farmers with crop insurance must have a 35 percent loss to be eligible. "It's odd, that the people not getting disaster who are right on the border may not do as well as some of the people totally wiped out," Hanson said.

Ronald Niebruegge, a farmer near Valmeyer, Ill., on the Mississippi, lost virtually his entire crop. For now, his No. 1 worry is his house, which sustained about $65,000 in damages. If he repairs it, he knows it will be worth less because it's in the flood plain; if he moves, he fears he won't be able to keep his farm secure while living elsewhere.

Dalen Miller, a farmer from Dumont, Iowa, who played host to Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy this summer, says he won't meet his expenses this year because of wet weather, poor yields and an early frost.

His wife, Debra, started a part-time job and Miller has been working more frequently, teaching farm safety at a local college.

"Before, I was doing it for the fun and for helping other people," he said. "Now, I'm helping myself."

AUXILIARY

Roy Reed Unit No. 252, American Legion Auxiliary, Winside, met on Nov. 8 with one junior and 12 senior members present. The Pledge of Allegiance and Preamble to the Auxiliary Constitution were recited as well as the first verse of the National Anthem.

The Unit assisted at the Veterans Day program at the Winside Public School Nov. 11. In addition, the Junior class members were shown slides of the Cornjunker Boys/Girls State program which is held at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln each June.

National Education Week is Nov. 14-20. The Unit wishes to express its appreciation to the faculty and staff of the Winside Public School system for reaching out to our youth and guiding them to a future bright with dreams. Education has been a major program of the American Legion the past 70 plus years.

Program pamphlets were distributed to the membership as a guide of how to conduct a business meeting and a brief history of the American Legion Auxiliary. The Unit Vice President and Sergeant-at-Arms were each presented a notebook of vital information to be used should the Unit President be unable to conduct the meetings.

The 1994 hostess listings were distributed. It is noted that due to the fact that the Unit holds its Christmas dinner in December, there are no designated hostesses in Dec. of 1994. However, the Unit's 1993 Christmas dinner will be held Monday, Dec. 13 at the Legion Post beginning at 6 pm. This will be a carry-in meal with each member bringing some decorations for a festive appeal. The evening meal will begin at 6:30 pm and members are encouraged to attend.

Mid-Year Conference will be held at the New Tower Inn, Omaha, Jan 14-16. This conference is a gathering of Department chairmen and Unit members where instructional information and displays are available for the Units to review and seek out answers to those often unasked questions. Anyone wishing to attend should contact President Beverly Neel for additional information.

Doris Marotz will deliver the Gift Shop assignments to the Omaha VA Medical Center. Shopping committee of Audrey Quinn and Rose Ann Janke was able to purchase three outfits for young girls aged 8-12. The Gift Shop program of the American Legion Auxiliary is a long-running project whereby gifts are donated from all Units within Nebraska and are made available to hospitalized veterans at the three VA Medical Centers in Lincoln, Omaha and Grand Island. These gifts are on display at the facilities for the veterans to chose gifts for their family members due to the fact they are confined to the hospital and are unable to do the shopping themselves or due to their hospitalization are financially unable to purchase gifts for Christmas. The Gift Shop program also benefits the four Nebraska Veterans Homes in Grand Island, Omaha, Scottsbluff and Norfolk in as much as funds raised in the Gift Shop program are divided among the four homes for use in the area of recreation and entertainment. The Homes do not have Gift Shop displays as the veterans in the Homes are residing rather than hospitalized. The general public is welcome to visit the veterans facilities.

Another program which is funded by the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary is the Gifts for Yanks Who Gave. This program is a Christmas celebration at the three medical centers and four veterans homes in Nebraska. This program is funded by donations of the local posts and units across Nebraska based on their combined membership total. The funds are distributed based on $8 gifts for veterans and $5 gifts for non-veteran (spouse, widow) members. In addition, the Nebraska Regional Centers are also remembered by the veterans at these facilities receiving gifts also provided by the Legion and Auxiliary. The Christmas celebration at the Norfolk Veterans Home is scheduled for Friday, Dec. 10. Each member at the Home will receive a personal gift at that time. Unit members wrapped these gifts for the program. Hostesses for the evening were Mary Weible, Gertrude Vahkamp, and Arlene Pfeiffer. Next meeting will be the carry-in Christmas dinner on Monday, Dec. 13 at 6 pm.

NEIGHBORING CIRCLE
Erna Hoffman hosted the Nov. 11 Neighboring Circle Club with eight members and one guest, Minnie Pfeil. Evelyn Jaeger, president, conducted the business meeting. Roll call was "Different Time of the Year when the Flag is Honored."

Pitch was played with prizes going to Jackie Koll, Evelyn Jaeger and Helen Muehlmeier. The next meeting will be Dec. 9 for a Christmas dinner at Davis Steakhouse in Carroll at 11:30 am. Loraine Denkiau will be hostess.

CHURCH WOMEN
Election of officers was held at the Nov. 10 Trinity Lutheran Church Women's meeting with 13 members present. Lois Krueger was elected as president; and Helen Jones as treasurer. Other officers will retain their office for another year. New officers will resume their duties in January.

HELPING HANDS 4-H
The Rod Brogren family hosted the Nov. 14 Helping Hands 4-H Meeting. Eight members, two leaders and one parent were present. The group decided meetings will be held the second Sunday of each month at 1:30 pm. New members welcomed were Emma Burris, Liz Brummels and Kyle Cherry. Elected as officers were: President, Mary Evans; Vice President, Becky Floor; Secretary Jenny Floor; Treasurer, Liz Brummels; News Reporter, Lindy Floor; and historian Emma Burris.

An invitation party for new members and officers will be held in January. Club goals for the year are: Visit a nursing home and have an Easter party there; adopt a grandparent; and have a theme booth at the county fair.

The next meeting will be a Christmas in Italy party on Monday, Dec. 13 at Rod Brogrens at 6 pm. The girls will be on the food committee and the boys on the games committee.

BOY SCOUTS
Five Winside troop Boy Scouts and two leaders met Nov. 14 at the firehall. The boys worked on their communication merit badge. They discussed how to use the telephone and will each make a skills skit for next week to teach another scout something.

The popcorn sales for boy scouts will end next Sunday and the cub scout sales will end Nov. 23. The Boy Scouts will meet Nov. 21 in the firehall at 6 pm.

SENIOR CITIZENS
Nineteen Winside area senior citizens met Nov. 15 for a social afternoon of cards in the Winside Legion Hall. Several Thanksgiving games were also played. The next meeting will be a carry-in Thanksgiving dinner on Monday, Nov. 22 in the Legion Hall. All Winside area seniors are welcome to attend.

TOPS
Members of TOPS NE 589 met Nov. 15 for their weekly meeting. The Christmas ornament contest is still in effect. A number of articles were shared and discussed.

Meetings are held every Monday evening at Marian Iversen's at 7 pm. Guests and new members are always welcome. For more information call 286-4425.

Members of the Winside Scholarship Foundation met Nov. 15 and received word of an $8,000 donation left to the Foundation by Willis Reichert, a life-long Winside resident who died April 18, 1993.

The Winside Scholarship Foundation was organized in March of 1990 under the guidance of Ron Leapley, high school principal. The organization has received over $23,000 in donations since then. Scholarships are awarded to Winside graduates based on the interest earned from the principal. A scholarship selection committee determines how many and which applicants who have applied receive funds. As of the May 1993 graduation, seven seniors have received assistance to further their education.

Mr. Reichert's generous gift of $8,000 has been the largest so far. Many donations are made in the form of memorials for a loved one. A donor recognition book is kept, listing all donors as well as whom memorials were made for.

In other business at the meeting, members decided to set up a benefactor section in the donor book, recognizing all individual gifts of $5,000 or more. The book is on display at various scholarship foundation functions including the annual January meeting for all donors and other interested individuals to attend.

Correspondence included thank you cards from the 1993 scholarship recipients, Jennifer Hancock, Cory Miller and Jon Hancock.

Ron Leapley volunteered to draft a letter to mail or personally present to area employers of Winside residents asking for their support of the Foundation. Foundation members will distribute handouts after the elementary school Christmas concert.

The secretary reports were given by Dianne Jaeger and Carol Jorgensen gave the treasurer's report.

Election of new officers was tabled until the next meeting, which will be the annual meeting on Jan. 31 in the Legion Hall at 7:30 p.m. All donors and other interested persons are invited to come.

Cedar County gets new Extension Educator

A Winside native, Sally Ebmeier, will be filling the Extension Educator Home Economics position for Cedar County Cooperative Extension effective Jan. 17, subject to approval of the Board of Regents.

Mrs. Ebmeier has been teaching in the Laurel-Concord school system since 1986.

"After eight years of teaching in a classroom setting," said Mrs. Ebmeier, "I thought it was time for a change."

Her and her husband, Steven, farm near Laurel where they raised their three children: Christopher (22), Johnathan (20) and Mathew (18).

Mrs. Ebmeier received her mas-courage academic excellence in the social sciences, social service, student support for the Wayne State College Social Sciences Division, and the development of leadership skills among its members.

This year also marked the 17th consecutive year that Wayne State's Delta Chapter has been selected to appear on the National Roll of Distinction. It is the highest honor a local chapter can receive.

Officers elected

Pi Gamma Mu, the international social sciences honorary at Wayne State College, has elected its officers for the 1993-94 academic year.

They are Colin Ross, Pender, president; Brenda Proskocil, Ord, vice president of programming; Ken Loberg, Carroll, vice president of publicity; Michelle Sterling-Evans, Winside, secretary; and Linda Anderson, Wayne, historian.
