Storm dumps snow but no worries here

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

Surprisingly, there were no traffic accidents reported by the Wayne Police Department on Wednesday and Thursday during the ice and six-inch snow storm that hit Wayne.

According to dispatchers at the police department, they were prepared for a number of calls to come in because of the ice but fortunately, there were none.

People obviously stayed home during the storm, plus the college was not in session which meant less traffic—two factors that aided in the lack of fender benders and other normal icy road mishaps.

Murray said. "Then we worked about 12 hours on Wednesday and another seven on Thursday."

Despite the seven hours put in on Thanksgiving Day, Murray said most of the crew was done by noon or 1 p.m. because they started at 5 a.m. which still allowed them to enjoy the holiday with their families.

MURRAY said the ice was difficult to clear because the chemical used doesn't have much effect in the cold temperatures that were present.

"We use a salt, calcium chloride and gravel mixture which is the standard mixture used," Murray said. "The salt itself will not activate properly in temperatures below 20 degrees and the calcium chloride will work until the temperature gets below zero. Beyond that you need a liquid calcium chloride and we do not have that."

Murray said the coldest temperature he recorded was 11 degrees and even then, it was still drizzling. Murray says there are about 21 people who can operate the snow plows in his coverage area.

WAYNE Highway Maintenance Superintendent Harold Murray said his crew put in extra hours to ensure as safe as possible holiday travel. Murray says his area includes Wayne, Hartington, Crofton, Laurel and Obert and of the five, Wayne had the least amount of ice and snow to remove.

"We put in an extra three hours of work on Tuesday night when the freezing rain started coming down,"

Senator defends role of college overseers

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A senator who co-authored the law governing the state's Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education said Monday he's not surprised critics are attacking the commission.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly said the sticking point seems to be the difference between governance and coordination.

A group of the state's top university and college officials, the Nebraska Council for Public Higher Education, met Friday and said it wants the law revised to narrow the commission's scope in some coordinating activities and to make clear what the commission can and can't do.

Warner said it's impossible to find a legal definition to solve the question. "It's a degree kind of thing and I'm not too sure that some aspects of the commission haven't gotten over too far," he said.

For example, tuition is a governance issue usually left to the individual colleges and universities. But, it could be part of the master plan and brought up for discussion purposes.

"I have sometimes thought that the coordinating commission doesn't separate those things that are OK to talk about in planning, but inappropriate to impose," Warner said.

The coordinating commission wasn't invited to Friday's meeting, said commission executive director Bruce Stahl.

He said he wouldn't have expected the colleges and universities to ask for more commission oversight. He said the institutions signed off on the commission's rules and procedures and had input on the commission's master plan for higher education statewide.

Stahl said it appears the council

Sales season open; retailers smiling

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Wayne retailers are already posting sales numbers well ahead of last year as the holiday shopping season opens in earnest today, traditionally the busiest shopping day of the year.

Promotions designed to attract shoppers to Wayne are having a positive impact retailers have said. Santa Cash, a program to grant interest free loans for money which can be used to purchase Christmas gifts at over 70 Wayne businesses is catching on, said Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce executive assistant, Nancy Schulz.

She said Friday interest in the use of Santa Cash was picking up as shoppers begin to catch the holiday shopping spirit. Each of the Wayne banks is offering up to $1,500 in Santa Cash interest free for 120 days.

"IT REALLY MAKES more sense than using your credit cards," said Mrs. Schulz. "Many shoppers have said they will be shopping for Christmas with their tax refund without having to pay interest—it's great," she added.

The first drawing for Holiday Magic will also be held today. Under this promotion, shoppers in Wayne can get the amount of their purchase back in Chamber Bucks if their name is drawn in the weekly chamber drawing.

Friday sales were reported brisk according to Mrs. Schulz who said many shoppers have shown their preference for friendly, personalized service in Wayne and the advantage of Santa Cash over the crowds and hassles in the larger towns.

Wayne's Pamida Manager Dean Carroll reported one of the busiest days ever at his store Friday morning. He said sales were well above budgeted projections for the store and that was surprising because of the inclement weather.

HOT ITEMS ARE in the electronics—especially games, appliances and toy departments, he said. "It's been super," he said of the store's kickoff sale.

Sue Davis at Sav-Mor Pharmacy echoed Carroll's positive projection for the holiday season. She said since their store's holiday open house last week sales have been up 11 percent above a year ago. She added people seem to be attracted to the small-town helpful atmosphere in Wayne.

She said Wayne retailers have joined together to promote the com-

Tickets still available to hear singers

The Wayne State College Madrigal Singers will present their Elizabethan Christmas dinners at 7 p.m. nightly, Friday-Sunday, Dec. 10-12 in the college's Student Center.

Clad in 16th century attire, the 20-member group takes audiences back to the Renaissance era, specifically England under the rule of Queen Elizabeth I. These events were first introduced to Wayne State in 1971 by their founder and director Dr. Cornell Runestad.

During the singing, poetry and comedy (complete with a court jester), the audience is treated to a dinner, which in the 16th century usually consisted of beef, Yorkshire pudding, the wassail drink and a flaming dessert.

Over 200 performances have been given by the group during its 20-year history of performing in the United States and abroad. Performances have been given at the Westminster Cathedral in London, the Notre-Dame Cathedral in Paris and the Pantheon and St. Peter's Cathedral in Rome. The munity as a whole by offering Santa Cash and Holiday Magic, and that the efforts are provided as a benefit to shoppers. "It know they appreciate it because they have told us so," she said.

Nationally, holiday sales are projected to be well above a year ago and are expected to add fuel to the economic growth picture.

Meanwhile, a family specialist with the University of Nebraska suggests one way parents can make this holiday season less stressful is to start planning as soon as possible.

Parents should make a specific budget and start making time for holiday shopping right now because people tend to spend more as the deadline nears, according to Kathy Prochaska-Cue, University of Nebraska-Lincoln family economics and management specialist.

"Set a budget before you go shopping so you know how much money to spend on each child or other person on your list and be sure it is a written copy," she said. "Base the amounts on your overall budget, family values and feelings on the season."

Prochaska-Cue suggested that the budget be written on a 3-by-5 card to put in a wallet or to wrap around a credit card. Holiday purchases should be limited to one credit card, if credit cards are used, she said. Help keep track of credit card purchases by recording them on the back of the budget card, she added.

Parents can also save time by scheduling holiday shopping for times when stores aren't so busy, Prochaska-Cue said. Avoid shopping on weekends and over the lunch hour if possible. Instead, try to shop during the week during dinner hours, from about 5:30 to 7 p.m. Parents could also try trading baby-sitting time with other parents or try to get a different lunch break at work, earlier or later than the regular noon hour.

Parents also need to have ideas as to what they want to give their children and know their price range before entering the store. Families with more than one child need to decide if it is necessary to even out gifts, she said. It's hard to even out gifts in terms of dollars, especially when children are of different age groups. Instead of focusing on money, it might be easier to decide that each child gets one or two major gifts and four or five smaller gifts.

"Parents need to remember the real purpose of the holidays," Prochaska-Cue said. "Parents need to examine what they are really trying to buy."

If parents feel guilty for not spending enough time with the child the rest of the year, they often overspend on the child to make up for it.

"Parents want to remember what they're really giving with the gifts," she said, "if kids aren't taught about the cost gifts, but are taught about the true sentiment of Christmas gift giving, the entire family will have a more meaningful Christmas."

LEAD fellows train for travel at WSC

Thirty LEAD fellows from throughout the state of Nebraska will be preparing for travel abroad during a seminar at Wayne State College on November 28-30.

The group, which will be traveling to Germany, Denmark, Poland and the Czech Republic for three weeks beginning Jan. 12, will learn about economics, geography, politics and agriculture in these countries.

The Nebraska Agriculture Leadership Council, Inc. chooses 30 individuals from throughout the state each year to participate in LEAD (Leadership Education/Action Development). During the two-year program, Fellows participate in 13 three-day seminars. They also attend two study/travel seminars, one domestic and one abroad.

LEAD was organized to address the needs of men and women involved in the business of agriculture. It provides opportunities to broaden the knowledge of Nebraska agriculture leaders and to strengthen their leadership and decision-making abilities, according to Gary Berman, associate director of LEAD.

Marty Strange, executive director of the Center for Rural Affairs, will be the guest speaker during the opening dinner on Sunday, Nov. 28.

Dr. Wesley Peterson, an associate professor of agriculture Economics at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, will also make a presentation.

would prefer what the commission issued to be when it had little authority before voters approved creation of the new commission in 1990.

"The commission has urged the institutions to become increasingly efficient and focus on those areas in which they excel," Stahl said.

Cooper, Green attend annual conference

Connie Cooper and Ron Green from Wayne were among the more than 130 people who attended the Association of Community Professionals (ACP) 13th annual conference Nov. 18-19 in Grand Island.

The conference, "Paradigm Shift: The Nebraska Vision," was sponsored by ACP and Central Community College for individuals who provide developmental disabilities services in their communities. Sessions focused on various aspects of quality improvement, self-assessment and change and a forum addressed developmental disabilities service issues.

amendment giving the commission the power to coordinate the activities of the state's public postsecondary institutions.

The commission was given statutory responsibility to review and approve or disapprove instructional programs at the schools, to review budgets and modify or recommend modifications to the Legislature or governor, and to review and approve or disapprove capital construction projects.

Redeemer Women hold Thanksgiving meeting

Redeemer Women of the ELCA met in their monthly circle meetings Nov. 10. Thank offering boxes were returned at this service of thankfulness, led by Margaret Korn, Mary Circle; MyJet Bargholz, Dorcas Circle; and Barb Heier, Martha Circle.

Janice Barelman, subscription chairman, attended each meeting to take subscriptions for Lutheran Women Magazine.

Fourteen members attended Mary Circle. Hostesses were Norma Koeber and Dorothy Grone. Roll call was answered by each telling of something for which they were thankful.

Thirteen members attended Dorcas Circle. Hostesses were Shirley Brockman and Joyce Sievers.

Eight members attended Martha Circle with Barb Heier as hostess.

David Leroy Johnson, Redeemer's resident at Bethpage Mission in Axtell, is to be remembered at Thanksgiving by the Martha Circle and at Christmas by the Dorcas Circle.

A petition was circulated opposing TV and other medias which show increase violence. The petition will be sent to U.S. Senator Kart Conrad of North Dakota in an effort to show opposition to the violence and its effect on men, women and children.

The sewing committee reported on the boxes of clothing and quilts they had packed for Lutheran World

Relief. The visitation group had sent 33 Halloween cards to shut-ins and members in area care centers and visited 21 members. Thirty-two Thanksgiving cards had also been sent, as were 90th birthday cards to members Margaret Kugler and Clara Spahr, who celebrated the same day in November.

December visitation will be the first Wednesday in December, due to the holiday season.

The annual Christmas potluck will be at noon on Dec. 8. The video, "There Is No Escape from Christmas" will be shown. Hostesses are Janice Barelman, Barb Sievers and Marilyn Bodenstedt. The Women of the ELCA executive board is to decorate and everyone is to help with clean-up.

Each member should bring one dish of food and table service for themselves and their guests. This would be a good time to introduce other ladies of the congregation to Women of the ELCA.

Acme meets

Acme club met Nov. 15 with Pauline Merchant as hostess. 10 members were present. Betty Wittig was in charge of the program. Roll call was answered with a Thanksgiving memory.

The next meeting will be Dec. 6 with Mary Doescher as hostess and a Christmas gift exchange.

To celebrate 68th year

Mr. and Mrs. George Langenberg Sr. of Hoskins will observe their 68 wedding anniversary with a family dinner on Sunday, Nov. 28. The Langenbergs, who have lived in the Hoskins area all of their married life, are members of Peace United Church of Christ near Hoskins.

Mr. Langenberg will also be observing his 92 birthday on Nov. 29, still remains active by feeding cattle. He retired from farming in 1961. Mrs. Langenberg is an active member of several clubs. She also does all of their own cooking and laundry.

The Langenbergs were married Nov. 28, 1925 in Sioux City, Iowa. Their children are Shirley Wagner, Stanley and Virginia Langenberg, George Jr. and Glenda Langenberg, all of Hoskins. They

Mr. and Mrs. George Langenberg Sr. also have six grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Schrad - Jacobsen united in marriage

Deborah L. Schrad, Winside, became the bride of Robert R. Jacobsen, also of Winside during an afternoon ceremony Nov. 13 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

The bride is the daughter of Richard and Dorothy Schrad, Marshalltown, Iowa. The groom is the son of Dorothy and the late Warren Jacobsen, Winside.

The church was decorated with round candelabras, pew bows and an altar arrangement of turquoise, wine and white flowers. The Rev. Fr. Don Cleary performed the double ring ceremony.

Cindy Kovar, Niobrara, was the vocalist and Vona Sharer, Wayne, provided organ accompaniment.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional white satin gown and carried a bouquet of white, turquoise and wine colored roses.

Maid of honor was Kristine Penquite, Altoona, Iowa. Bridesmaids were Annette Pitkin, Sioux City, and Becky Anderson, Wausa, Neb. The attendants wore turquoise taffeta dresses which were tea length in front and floor length in back.

Flowergirl was Stephanie Thomsen, Wakefield. Candlelighters were Julie Jacobsen, Winside, and Jacey Klaver, Wayne. Ring bearer was Cody Bourke, North Platte.

Best man was Tim Hamer, Wayne, with Johnnie Sump, Wayne, and Travis Redel, Columbus, Neb. serving as groomsmen. Ushers were Doug and Devin Schrad, Sioux City, Dan Schrad, Marshalltown, and Randy Jacobsen, Winside. The men wore grey tuxedos and the groom's was with tails.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Winside Auditorium. Larry and Kathy Redel, Columbus, Neb., served as hosts.

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas and the Grand Canyon, the couple are at home in Winside. The bride, a 1986 graduate of Marshalltown High School and 1990 graduate of Briar Cliff College, is employed in the housing office at Wayne State College. The groom is central supply manager at Wayne State College.

Bubeck to speak at the Free Church in Concord

Dr. Mark Bubeck will be at the Evangelical Free Church in Concord for a series of meetings Saturday, Nov. 27 through Tuesday, Nov. 30, speaking of "Understanding the Spiritual Warfare of the Christian Believers." The time for Saturday, Monday and Tuesday is 7:30 p.m. Sunday's times are 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. Bubeck founded the International Center for Biblical Counseling in Sioux City in 1987. He is also the author of several books including "The Adversary," "Overcoming The Adversary" and most recently, "The Satanic Revival." He states "The Christian is engaged in a battle, a battle with Satan and demonic powers. With today's increased interest in the Occult, the Christian needs to be aware of this battle and prepared to fight! The battle will not go away. Ignoring it could be disastrous." Dr. Bubeck has traveled widely throughout the world in conference work and in teaching spiritual warfare principles. He lives in Sioux

Dr. Mark Bubeck

City, where he was pastor at the Central Baptist Church for 10 years. The public is cordially invited. For further information call Pastor Bob Brenner at 585-2396.

WHOLE WHEAT BIBLE STUDY

How to receive answered prayer

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible. One of the many blessings that comes from living the new life in Christ is answered prayer (Rom. 6:4). Because we live only to please God every day by performing God's Will in our lives, we assure our hearts before God and we can ask in prayer without doubting (John 9:31; 1 John 3:18-19; James 1:6). We know He considers us righteous because we practice righteousness for God (1 John 3:7). And we know He hears the prayers of the righteous (1 Peter 3:12; Prov. 15:29). We practice living as Jesus Christ lived and as the Father lives by keeping the sayings of Christ (1 Cor. 11:1; Eph. 5:1; John 12:47; Luke 8:21). We also control our thoughts and the words we speak so that they are pleasing to God (1 Peter 4:11). But most of all, we use the members of our bodies as instruments of righteousness (Rom. 6:13; 1 Peter 3:11-12). We practice righteousness constantly to please God and to produce good fruits for Him (1 John 2:29; 3:10; John 15:8). The good fruits we produce on our spiritual trees are good works (Col. 1:10; Matt. 3:10; 7:17-20; Phil. 1:11). By conforming to godliness and by practicing righteousness, we allow God the Father to reveal His Son Jesus Christ in us (John 14:23; Gal. 1:16; 4:19). Keeping the commandments of Jesus Christ is not grievous, but very enjoyable (1 John 5:3; Matt. 11:30). It is the peaceful way that God created us to live (Jer. 10:23; Prov. 16:3; 20:24; Heb. 10:20, 24). We are at peace with ourselves because we are at peace with our Maker (John 17:13; 2 Thess. 3:16; Phil. 4:7). All we must do now is endure to the end (Matt. 10:22; 24:13; Rev. 2:26). We must remain loyal to God by remaining diligent and continuing to persevere in righteousness (Luke 21:19; Rev. 2:2-3, 19; Gal. 6:9; 2 Thess. 3:13; Heb. 12:3). We have a purpose in life. We have found that purpose. We now know how to please God and complete our purpose by conforming our lives to His Way of life (1 Tim. 4:7; 6:3). Because we are seeking to please God in all our ways, we are abundantly blessed and our prayers are answered (Matt. 6:33; John 10:10; Mal. 3:10). WAYNE'S JENNY THOMPSON and Carrie Fink were selected to the Wayne Herald All-Area Volleyball Team. Thompson led the Blue Devils in hitting and blocking and Fink was the top setter.

KATHY OTTE was one of the area's top setters this year which earned her a spot on the Wayne Herald All-Area Volleyball Team. She was sick when pictures were taken.

ALLEN'S STEPH CHASE and Steph Martinson (left) were named to the Wayne Herald All-Area Team for their solid play this year as was Wakefield's Kali Baker and Mary Torczon (right). The two Trojans along with teammate Kathy Otte led Wakefield to a 19-win season.

LAUREL'S KRIS STARK and Samantha Felber were named to the Wayne Herald All-Area Volleyball Team for helping lead the Bears to a successful season.

All-Area Volleyball Team is released

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

Twelve of the Wayne Herald area's top female volleyball athletes were honored today as the Wayne Herald released its Volleyball All-Area Team.

Winside and Wakefield each put three on the squad while Wayne, Laurel and Allen had two apiece. The All-Area Team is based solely on what the Wayne Herald sports department decides. Coaches have nothing to do with the selections and neither does the fact that certain girls may have made all-conference teams.

The Herald picks its top 12 based on what they've seen in matches covered. Winside, of course was the only area team to qualify for the Nebraska State Volleyball Tournament.

Kari Pichler became the only female in Winside history as well as any of the other four area schools to be a part of four consecutive state tournament teams. In fact, Pichler is the only female to never lose a sub-district or district volleyball game in which she started all four seasons.

She was a major cog in the wheel that turned the Winside volleyball team and for coach Angie Schroeder. Her court leadership and ability to spike the ball as well as set the ball made her a threat every time she touched the ball.

Catherine Bussey had a tremendous season for the Wildcats. Despite her size she was one of the strongest hitters in the area and she took a lot of pressure off teammates Christi Mundil, Chris Colwell and Wendy Miller because of her ability to spike the ball. It gave the opposition that much more to defense when they played Winside.

Christi Mundil, earns a spot on the All-Area Team once again for her play throughout the season. She was a solid floor leader and was often called on to deliver the knock out punch when Winside needed the point. She was also the leader of the team in blocks.

Wakefield suffered just three losses on the season—unfortunately all to the same team in Winside. Still, the Trojans had a great season and made vast improvements over last year.

Setter Kathy Otte was a major reason why the Trojans won 19 games because of her extreme quickness in getting to the ball and supplying quality sets for her teammates. Otte was also a good server and played very well on defense when she wasn't setting the ball.

Mary Torczon is with out a doubt the most improved player in the area this year and she enjoyed a phenomenal season hitting the ball. Torczon was a player that could change the momentum of a match with just one swing and she often did for head coach Paul Eaton.

Kali Baker is the third player to make the team and Baker is one of those athletes that plays with a lot of emotion. She supplied an immense amount of senior leadership and was one of the area's top servers.

Wayne finished its first season under the helm of Joyce Hoskins. The Blue Devils were forced into a sort of rebuilding year after losing seven of the top eight players from a year ago. Still, Jenny Thompson proved she is one of the premiere volleyball players and athletes in all of Northeast Nebraska.

Thompson was called on to do just about everything for Wayne this season and she delivered. She is one of those athletes that calls for the ball because she has the ability to take a match over by herself.

Carrie Fink is the other Blue Devil making the All-Area Team. She was the spark plug for the Wayne team this year and was called on to provide floor leadership, which she did a fine job of. Both Thompson and Fink are juniors which gives Wayne a solid nucleus for next season.

The Allen Eagles also enjoyed a fine season this year under the direction of Tracy Kuester. Perhaps one of the area's finest players of all is Steph Martinson. She was a solid performer for Allen and was the go-to player when the Eagles needed a point. Martinson could generate a lot of power in her spikes and she possesses excellent jumping ability which really made her tough to defend.

Every team would love to have a player like Steph Chase because she represents the ultimate in team player. Chase could do everything for Allen and was often called on to do exactly that. She possesses very good athletic skills which allowed her to spike the ball well when needed, set the ball which she did above average, dig the ball on defense consistently and also be one of the area's finest servers.

Laurel had a strong season with Patti Cunningham running the show in her first season and two of the primary reasons for that came in the form of Samantha Felber and Kris Stark.

Felber proved to be a dominant player for the Bears and was the team leader in hitting. Her spiking ability often fired up the rest of the team which sparked the Bears to a winning season.

It seems like every season there is one player who maybe doesn't get the ink that she deserves but she is always there and always plays on a solid, consistent level. That player this year is Kris Stark.

Stark was one of those players who could do it all depending on what the team needed her to provide. She, like Chase from Allen, is the consummate team player. She is one of those players that you don't know what you are missing until she is not in the line-up.

The honorable mention players that were close to the All-Area Team but just falling short include Chris Colwell, Stacy Bowers and Wendy Miller from Winside, Maria Eaton and Suzann Ekberg from Wakefield, Amy Post, Katie Lutt and Angie Hudson from Wayne, Heather Cunningham and Katie Newton from Laurel and Dawn Diediker from Allen.

This year's Coach of the Year is Wakefield's Paul Eaton. Eaton edged Winside's Angie Schroeder based on the marked improvement the Trojans showed from a year ago.

There is once again Co-Players of the Year this year because the area had so many fine athletes. However, Kari Pichler of Winside and Samantha Felber of Laurel earn the title. They edged Wayne's Jenny Thompson, Allen's Steph Martinson and Wakefield's Mary Torczon.

Wildcats defeat South Dakota

The Wayne State women's basketball team erased an eight-point second half deficit in Vermillion, S.D. Tuesday night, and went on to post an impressive 16-point victory over North Central Conference opponent South Dakota, 92-76.

The win left WSC with a 2-0 start over two very good teams. The Wildcats are competing in the Northeast Missouri Tournament today and Saturday. Mike Barry's squad plays the host team in the first round with the winner playing against Indianapolis University or North Dakota State—two rated teams in the NCAA-II top 20.

Against USD, the 'Cats actually enjoyed a lead for more than half of the opening stanza but USD caught fire toward the end of the half to lead, 44-36 at the break.

"We out-scored them by a 56-32 margin in the second half on their home court," Barry said. "We just plain wore them down. USD didn't have near the depth we did."

Barry said his 'Cats shot the ball very well in the second half in the dome—a place they haven't enjoyed a lot of success in during recent years. In fact, the closest the Wildcats have come to the Coyotes in Barry's reign in Vermillion, is 25 points—until now.

"We played them twice last year and lost by seven at the Kearney Tournament and by 13 at our place," Barry said. "I was very pleased with the way we played Tuesday and that goes for our nice 2-0 start."

All 15 Wildcat players that were suited up saw playing time which goes hand in hand with the type of up-tempo game and full-court pressing defense that Barry wants his team to play.

"We ran hard the whole game," Barry said. "We kept pounding the ball at them. We caught up to them at 58 and went ahead 60-58 and from then on we out-scored them 32-18."

Linda Heller paced the explosive yet well-balanced WSC attack with 16 points while Jodi Otjen and Lisa Chamberlain netted a dozen each. Deb Kostreba was also in double figures with 10 while three others were near double figures with eight points apiece including Lynn Nohr, Amy Brodersen and Kristy Twait.

Brenda TeGrotenhuis scored six points while Ann Kramer and Mindi Jensen tallied four apiece. Marla Stewart and Deedra Haskins rounded out the scoring with two each.

WSC dominated the glass with a 54-35 advantage in rebounding led by Otjen's 10 caroms. Heller pulled down eight boards and Chamberlain notched seven.

Chamberlain and Jensen each recorded four steals while Nohr and Kostreba had three each as WSC held a 17-10 advantage in that category. Freshman Brodersen dished out five assists for team tops and the 'Cats had 21 turnovers—two less than their counterparts.

Despite the fact the Wildcats would travel on Thanksgiving day to Kirksville, Missouri they still were treated to a traditional dinner at the home of Bob and Joyce Reeg.

IN-CONTEST

Tammy Jackson, daughter of Dale and Lori, participated in the Conference Future Problem Solving Contest held at Wayne State College. Tammy was a member of the top dophmore group, which was also named the overall group.

COMMUNITY CLUB

The Allen Community Club met at the Village Inn on Nov. 15 for a dinner and meeting. Twenty-four were present. The old business on the agenda included a report from Joy Bock on the Halloween party, which 23 children attended. A report was given from the community welcome committee chairman Jerry Schroeder that several new families in the community were given welcome packets. It was moved to include a one-year membership certificate to the Allen Community Club in the welcome packets.

The Christmas drawing to be held on Dec. 18 was discussed. Santa will be in the Mini Mall at 1:30 p.m. and the drawing will be held at 2 p.m. It was moved that the club spend $200 for purchase of turkeys and/or Allen bucks to be given away at the drawing. The Christmas drawing committee will determine how many turkeys and denominations of Allen bucks after compiling a list of giveaways by the other businesses. The Community Club will also be giving away a one-year membership certificate to a non-member as an encouragement for more members.

The executive committees of the Alumni Association and the Allen Community Club will meet for further discussion of the 1995 school centennial.

New business included a report from Rob Bock on the nine member Allen Development Group Inc., which was begun in 1991 as a non-profit incorporated group. He emphasized the goal of the group is to fulfill the housing requirements of our community and reported on the progress of the day care and a speculation home being built on Lincoln Street.

Doris Linafelter announced her retirement as KTCH news announcer and correspondent for the local papers as of Dec. 31. Vicki Bupp will assume that position. Doris encouraged everyone to help Vicki by contributing news and announcements.

It was moved to continue the Christmas lighting contest and prizes as last year, with NPPD sponsoring and paying for the advertising costs. There was a discussion of new Christmas lights, but decided it was too late to pursue this project this year.

An election of officers was held, with Sheila Schroeder elected the new president and Duke Johnson, president-elect. Holding over their offices were Marcia Rastede, secretary and Nancy Ellis, treasurer.

Kathy Boswell led the group in a survey analysis of the activities, expenditures and goals of the Allen Community Club. She will tabulate the responses and give a report at the next meeting, which will be Jan. 17, as there is no meeting in December.
