

Commissioners in quandry over official salaries

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Raises for Wayne County officials were discussed at the Tuesday commissioners meeting but no action was taken on the request to move the county base from $21,800 to $25,500 per year.

Officials who attended the meeting said the county was currently near the bottom of the state in pay for county officials. If approved, the county officials would not receive the raises until 1995, after the 1994 elections. The commissioners must set the salaries for the positions before Jan 15, before the filing period for the elections.

"PEOPLE WHO work at taxpayer expense should not expect to live in luxury," said Sid Saunders, county highway superintendent, "but they shouldn't have to duck in alleys to avoid bill collectors either," he added.

He suggested the current pay level for officials put them in the latter category.

County Treasurer Joyce Reeg pointed out other neighboring county office holders with less workload and more employees to handle it than she had who were getting paid more than her position was funded for.

Mike Pieper, County Attorney, told the commissioners it could be a morale issue for the county and that he feared county offices might experience rapid turnover if the pay scale doesn't keep pace with other counties and the private sector.

Pospishil said he thought whatever salaries are set, they should be set uniformly for all county officials. However, Mrs. Reeg said she thought the county sheriff should be paid more than the other county officials because of the more hazardous nature of the work.

Setting the salaries for county commissioner positions also was on the mind of the county board. Currently the commissioners get 50 percent of the salary level of the other county officials on the theory that theirs is only a half-time position.

But the commissioners Tuesday agreed that the job has turned into more than a half time post in recent years and noted that some counties in the state have considered increasing the commissioner scale to 65 percent of the other officials.

SAUNDERS POINTED out that in our county, where the commissioners take a more active, hands-on role in road supervision, the 50 percent level could be considered below what their pay should be.

The commissioners decided to take the salary considerations under advisement and make a decision by the next meeting on Dec. 21.

Another ticklish employment issue discussed Tuesday was consideration of what to do with the county superintendent of schools position. With the declining number of rural schools to supervise, (only three in Wayne County) commissioners are considering abolishing the superintendent's position and con-

It's easy in Wayne

It is easy to do your Christmas Shopping in Wayne this holiday season through the use of Santa Cash, said Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce Retail Committee chairman Will Davis.

He said through the cooperation of the Wayne banks, shoppers with approved credit, can get no interest loans of $500 to $1,500 to spend on holiday items at dozens of Wayne stores.

The unique promotion saves credit card fees and allows shoppers to use their income tax refunds which will come several months from now, to pay off Christmas purchases without paying any interest.

Davis said he hopes area residents appreciate and take advantage of the unique offer that can't be repeated in other larger towns.

"That is one of the nice things about doing business in a small town," he said. "We help one another and work to make your holiday obligations easier."

Kids! Write to Santa!

Wayne area youngsters who wish to write to Santa Claus may send their letters addressed to him at the North Pole and mail them at the Wayne Post Office, according to Postmaster Dave Kirkpatrick.

In special arrangement between the Post Office, The Wayne Herald and Santa's Elves, the letters will be published in The Wayne Herald, Dec. 21 so Santa will be able to read them before Christmas.

Juvenile justice is debated

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) -- Gov. Ben Nelson's proposal to build a secure prison for young people who commit violent crimes received support Wednesday from some judges who handle juvenile cases.

Young offenders are getting more violent each year, but the state's juvenile reform facilities continue to resemble college campuses, said Larry Gendler, a juvenile court judge in Sarpy County.

"We have facilities that were built to rehabilitate youths 40 to 50 years ago ... kids have changed," Gendler said.

Violent juvenile crime has increased in the past 10 years.

The number of juveniles arrested for rape doubled in the state from 1982 to 1992. The number arrested for felony assaults more than doubled in the same period, according to statistics from the state Criminal Justice Commission.

Plans to build a new juvenile prison at a cost of $5 million to $10 million were part of a 10-point crime legislation proposal unveiled Wednesday by the governor.

The proposed legislation would toughen gun laws for minors and create a central youth services office within the state Department of Correctional Services.

Two key elements in the plan call for the construction of a youth prison and boot camp for young offenders.

The special prison would be for young offenders convicted of vio-

Neighborhood group lights luminaries again

Plans have been announced by residents in the Knowles Subdivision in Wayne to expand the Christmas display of luminaries in their neighborhood this year.

The residents there will expand their display to include over 1,300 lighted candles in sand-weighted paper bags this year. Last year the display included about 500 luminaries.

The residents of the neighborhood will set up and light the candles Dec. 23 beginning at about dark, according to one of the organizers, Bill Dickey. He said the neighborhood will use the occasion to carol and share the Christmas Joy with one another.

Visitors are welcome to drive by and view the luminary display, but drivers are asked to be on the lookout for the many excited children who will be out carolling that evening.

The Knowles Subdivision encompasses Birch Street, Second Avenue, First Avenue and Maple Street.

Toys for Tots effort needs area support

Each year Goldenrod Hills Community Services sponsors the Toys for Tots program. The agency became involved in the program 13 years ago, and this year, Wayne county will once again be involved in the program.

Individuals in the community may adopt children who will benefit from the Toys for Tots program, and then these individuals will be responsible for purchasing a gift for that particular child. The adoption tree is located at Pamida in Wayne.

Christine Stuthman, family services coordinator with Goldenrod

Hills Community Services, is coordinating the adoption of children in Wayne, Cedar and Dixon counties. Last year 156 children were adopted in these counties and this year over 200 children will be receiving gifts.

Goldenrod Hills Community Services receives referrals for the Toys for Tots program from their own files, the Department of Social Services, churches and other organizations. For more information please call the Wayne office at 375-4960 or the Wisner office at 529-3513.

The Henry Leys arrived in Wayne in the summer of 1880. That winter proved to be one of the most severe in middle western history. The storms raged from the Black Hills to the river south of the LaPorte settlement without a break. Many deer, unable to find food because of the heavy snow, drifted with the storm. Pioneers found at least 500 bodies of deer in the snow the following spring. Winter isolation resulted in a fuel shortage in the area. Most pioneers were ready for long periods without a chance to replenish supplies so had laid in plenty of foodstuffs, but were forced to burn slough grass, hay, cobs and even corn and furniture in order to keep from freezing.

How evil triumphs

Dear Editor:
I am outraged that donations made to the United Way are being used to put homosexual textbooks into the hands of children in public schools. I, along with thousands (no doubt hundreds of thousands) of decent Americans, do not believe that the United Way should be assisting on the homosexual attacks on our youth.
Surely the United Way can find better things to support than to fund this filth in public schools!
Homosexual acts are sin. God says so! Books such as "Daddy's Roommate," or "Heather Has Two Mommies," or "Gloria Goes to Gay Pride," or "Annie on My Mind," or "All-American Boys" are already being placed into schools by the United Way funded "Project 21."

In a letter to William Smith (Jan. 9, 1795), Edmund Burke, the British statesman who feared political reform, wrote: "The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing." (Bartlett's Familiar Quotations, page 454). — Oh, how true!
Homosexuals do not have children of their own — they have to get to yours! What are you going to do about Project 21? Nothing? If so, then as Burke said, Evil will triumph!
God help us!

Not all youth bad

Dear Editor:
We hear so much negative information concerning the youth of our nation. It seems difficult to find any positive input in all media we are exposed to about the teenagers and youth ... however, I had a most delightful experience that I wish to share.
I had my car serviced in Winside this past week. In order to get to work, the owner called his son and had him bring me to Wayne. This young man opened the car door for me and waited until I was settled before he closed it. (This act of gallantry nearly shocked me on the spot!) It was so wonderful to be treated with respect and kindness. On the way to work the young man shared his goals and dreams about attending Wayne State. He was well groomed and dressed ... no long hair, no earrings, just a clean cut, well mannered young gentleman. "Jeff" talked about his dreams of his education and future without using profanity of any kind. What a treat to listen to him! This kid obviously was brought up with morals, standards and values. In the evening, he returned to Wayne to take me back to his father's business and to my car. He asked if I needed assistance to step up on a high curb and extended his hand. You don't find these "old fashioned manners" in most young men. I was honored by his respect again for a woman and his elder.

The gist of this dissertation is that ... Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gallop have raised a remarkably well mannered, polite son and I extend to them my congratulations. Parents such as these are needed more in this country. And to Jeff ... thanks for bringing my confidence about young people back to a good perspective!

Savor a peaceful holiday story

By Melvin Paul Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — A Christmas Carol has always been one of my favorite holiday shows.

You know the story: that stingy Scrooge is transformed by the ghosts of Christmas into a gift giving, lover of mankind and Tiny Tim. Now that's the spirit of Christmas.

Well, some of it must have gotten into the Capitol water supply because love and harmony are breaking out all over.

Of course, I'm talking about the season-long sniping, then cease fire, over anti-crime legislation.

First, Attorney General Don Stenberg introduced a bunch of ideas.

Then, Democrats and Gov. Nelson alike knocked them down like so many snowmen on a slushy, winter day.

The governor and a bipartisan group of senators followed with their own proposals, aimed only at youth violence.

To no one's surprise, Stenberg and fellow Republicans launched a counter attack, saying the governor was a "Johnny-come-lately" to the issue and was only trying to con-jure up votes for 1994.

Nelson scored literary style points with his comeback, charging that Stenberg was a "Donnie-come-lately" to a fight that some senators and state officials have been waging for years.

It was all business as usual at the Tower of the Plains.

That is until an unexpected, and sort of bizarre, peace broke out.

State Sen. Brad Ashford of Omaha, a Republican candidate for Congress and the Legislature's top gun-control advocate, offered an unusual peace offering. He said the crime issue was so important that he would drop out of the congress-sional race if Nelson, Stenberg and other combatants would sit down and try to work out their differences.

At this point, cynics and bah-humbung fans everywhere imagined that beleaguered Democratic Congressman Peter Hoagland was leaping for the phone to ask Nelson and fellow Democrats to attend the meeting so that Ashford (probably Hoagland's top competition) would drop out of the race.

That, apparently, didn't happen. What did was a surprising gesture of cooperation — everyone agreed to sit down and talk, and try to work things out.

And, since no one really insisted on Ashford dropping out, he gets to stay in the race for Hoagland's job and still be the anti-crime peacemaker.

(Geez, could Hollywood please hurry up and film this story.)

Even though we've witnessed sort of a Miracle on 14th Street so far, don't expect another after the meeting: on most anti-crime ideas, the governor and his senators, and Stenberg and his backers, are far apart.

But the fact that the Hatfields and McCoy's of this issue will be attempting to join hands is a Christmas-time story we should savor for a while.

At least until that all-out war between State Auditor John Breslow and state senators erupts again.

Even Scrooge can't help that one.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Support was greater

Working on life-long piece of art

Looking for a new lease on life? Can you afford the cost? The new lease will likely require changes.

Our bodies and minds are sculptured like clay, malleable like iron, ductile like gold. We can make of them what we will. We are all artists with a world filled with glorious colors. Models are found everywhere.

We are constantly changing. Change is the only constant thing we have. We are becoming either better or worse. We are becoming stronger or weaker. We are doing better than ever work today - or poorer. We cannot remain static. We progress or recede. The choice to remain unchanged is nonexistent.

Food and drink constantly change the body. Whatever goes into the stomach later works itself into blood, bones and brain. When we eat nourishing, wholesome, strengthening food we cannot fail to build bodies compounded of strength and symmetry.

The magazines and books we read, the people with whom we associate, the television and movies we see, the music we hear - all furnish mind food. The person who associates with inspirational, helpful, successful, kind, high-minded, well disciplined people is apt to become like them. They serve both as models and as colors. As the dye's hand is tinted by the colors in which he works, so are our lives colored by our associates - by the sensations we receive, by the messages which come to our minds through our eyes, ears, senses of touch, taste and smell.

It is a lifetime game we play, this one of painting masterpieces. In every face is found more than a Raphael can carry away on a canvas. But whether the message of the face is one that inspires greater faith, hope, love and courage, or whether the message be of hate, fear, cowardice and meanness, that depends on the colors we have used and the models we have chosen. Christmas reminds us of the One born in Bethlehem. His life - a Masterpiece! Those who have chosen to use Him as a model have always found their personal guiding star.

If you're looking for a new lease on life, be sure to read the fine print! Discovery is most often made by paying attention to little things...such as a Babe in a Bethlehem manger.

Christmas can change us, provided we're looking for something of more value than what we currently prize.

Commercialism

Maybe at Christmas there isn't enough of it

It happens about this time every year. Some pundit or commentator somewhere gets on his high horse, stands up in the saddle and blasts just about everyone in general for "commercializing" Christmas.

Most of these commentaries offer little in the way of ideas for solutions to the perceived problem, but rather seem more intent on just complaining about it.

Doing a nifty piourette on the high pomel, many commentators decry businesses who push Christmas giving, they complain about how many people forget the reason for the season, they chide businesses that start holiday sales earlier every year, they denounce advertising they claim encourages us to spend more than we can afford, they grumble that Santa seems to have replaced the Holy Child as the main character of the season, they whine about how grouchy Christmas shoppers and store clerks are...

The basic theme of the customary "lost meaning" diatribes is that the business community is evil because they encourage people to purchase gifts for one another.

The idea of gift giving at Christmas is not unwholesome. The Magi started the tradition along about the first Christmas, if memory serves, and their gifts weren't cheap and tawdry baubles either.

To be sure, there are abuses and excuses for valid complaints about how our society approaches Christmas these days. But I'm not willing to accept the broad black brush that some use to paint the entire business community as "grab a buck holiday sleaze merchants." Most businesses and business people never lose sight of the reason for the season.

During the current holiday season, as in past years, I have seen touching ads, (one a full page from a car dealer which said nothing but "Remember, It's His Day,") and commercials which deliver the right message.

Businesses annually spending millions of dollars on very spiritual commercials and advertisements with religious messages that spread the word about the meaning behind the holiday. You'll hear traditional carols on the radio, see Christian and family values espousing messages in the newspaper and all of these sponsored by the same businesses who have been criticized for being too commercial.

And when it comes to the practical meaning of the season, look around and see who is among the ones with their sleeves rolled up getting the necessary work done. Business leaders are leading the charge to raise funds for United Way, the food pantry, and countless other charities. They are active in their church communities and contribute generously to charities and needy causes.

Most businesses consciously attempt to operate under Christian principles and it seems ludicrous to use the Christmas season as an opportunity to criticize all businesses as being motivated by nothing but greed.

What can it hurt to tell the "good news" story in commercials and advertisements during the Christmas season? How can anyone say Christian values and the story of the first Christmas are being too commercial when the right message is being spread to millions?

Maybe what we should be complaining about is that there aren't enough commercials which include the real reason for the season rather than complaining that there is too much commercialism at Christmas.

And rather than complaining that the season starts too early, let's try to make the season of giving, sharing and loving last all year long.

Put the wraps on holiday hazards

It's easy to get caught up in the fervor of the holidays. The festive music, busy shopping malls and many business and family arrangements can be fun as well as hectic.

The Safety and Health Council of Greater Omaha offers some tips to make sure an accident doesn't spoil your holiday season.

Christmas Trees
A real tree can add to the spirit of Christmas by filling your home with beauty and the scent of pine. But a real tree can also pose a fire hazard.

Try to select a fresh tree by looking for one that is green. The needles should bend and not break and should be hard to pull off the branches. Also, look for a trunk sticky with sap.

Cut off about two inches of the trunk and put the tree in a sturdy, water-holding stand. Keep the stand filled with water so the tree does not dry out quickly.

Also, keep your tree away from fireplaces, radiators and other heat sources which could cause a fire. Make sure the tree does not block foot traffic or doorways.

Tree Lights

Look for the UL label on lights. Check lights for broken or cracked sockets, frayed or bare wires or loose connections. Replace or repair any damaged light sets.

Also, use no more than three light sets on any one extension cord. Extension cords should be placed against the wall to avoid tripping hazards, but do not run cords under rugs.

Turn off all lights on trees and decorations when you go to bed or leave the house.

Tree Ornaments

Never use lighted candles on a Christmas tree or near evergreens placed on a table or fireplace mantel. Extinguish all candles when you are not present.

Around youngsters, avoid decorations with sharp edges or small removable parts, and ornaments that are easily broken.

Fireplace

You should not try to burn evergreens or wreaths in the fireplace or in a wood stove to dispose of them. They are likely to flare out of control and send flames and smoke into the room.

Also, do not burn wrapping paper in the fireplace because it often contains metallic materials which can be toxic if burned.

Toys and Gifts

Be especially careful when you choose toys for infants or small children. Be sure anything you give them is too big to get caught in the throat, nose or ears.

Avoid toys with small parts that can be pulled or broken off. If you are giving toys to several children in one family, consider their age differences and the chances that younger children will want to play with older children's toys. Books are good gifts for children because they are safe and encourage children to read.

Plants

Small children may think that holiday plants look good enough to eat. But many plants can cause severe stomach problems.

Plants to watch out for include mistletoe, holly berries, Jerusalem cherry and amaryllis. Keep all of these plants out of children's reach.

Stress

The holiday season is one of the most stressful times of the year. You can't avoid stress completely, but you can give yourself some relief.

Policy on Weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area.

We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication.

The Library Card

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

As Paul Harvey used to say, "And now we bring you a pot pourri of today's news."

ITEM: The Library is sponsoring a program on Monday evening, Dec. 13, at 7:30 p.m. Wally McRae, cowboy poet, will read his poems and bring a bit of high plains cowboy lore to his audience. This program is a part of the Plain's Writers Circuit and is funded in part by the Nebraska Endowment for the Humanities. So, podner, round up those strays and mosey on down to the library for an evening with Wally, our cowboy poet!

ITEM: Guess who is coming to town? Better yet, coming to the Public Library? Why, Santa of course! Santa will be visiting the story hour on Saturday, Dec. 18 at 10:30 a.m. We think he can be persuaded to stay long enough to read a couple of stories to the children that morning. Mark your calendars, Mom. Santa Claus is coming to the library!

ITEM: Something important is about to happen in the library. Do you remember newspaper stories and discussions about an automated library service for our patrons? We have completed the preliminary work of barcoding all library materials and entering the information into the data base. We are entering patron names and preparing new library cards to give to our patrons to complete the process. The new system will be operative by Jan. 2. Patrons may now ask for a new barcoded card at the desk. Your old card is still needed, however, to check out books during December. Rural patrons (those living outside the city limits) are reminded that the annual fee can be paid now. The fee is $15 for the year from the date of issue. That amount is equivalent to the per capita tax paid by Wayne residents in support of the library. In order to check the system and provide for staff in-service, the library will be closed Dec. 29, 30 and 31.

Other library closings will be Dec. 25 and 26 and Jan. 1 for holiday observances.

If you have any questions, please stop at the desk or call 375-3135. Our hours remain the same: Monday through Friday, 12:30 to 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Sunday, 2 to 5 p.m.

Wayne State women down Morningside; Wildcat men lose by 14 to Mankato St.

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Wayne State women's and men's basketball teams continued season play on Saturday with the women's team entertaining Morningside College of the North Central Conference while the men were on the road at Mankato State against another North Central Conference foe.

In Rice Auditorium, the Wildcat ladies improved to 4-2 with a 92-78 over the Lady Chiefs as Jodi Otjen poured in a season-high 19 points on an 8-12 night shooting from the floor.

WSC led the visitors, 44-36 at the intermission and out-scored them, 48-42 over the final 20 minutes. Freshman Amy Brodersen continued her stellar play with 15 points and Linda Heller tossed in 13 while Lisa Chamberlain was in double figures with 11.

Brenda TeGrotenhuis, Deb Kostreba and Mindi Jensen each finished with a half-dozen points while Lynn Nohr, Marla Stewart and Deedra Haskins tallied four each. Liz Reeg and Kristy Twait rounded out the scoring with two points apiece.

WSC held a 43-38 rebounding advantage led by Otjen's 10 boards while Chamberlain hauled down six and Brodersen, five. Brodersen was 4-5 from the field and a perfect 7-7 from the foul line.

The Wildcats were 18-29 from the foul line and Morningside was 11-24. The 'Cats did suffer 31 turnovers compared to 28 for the Chiefs and WSC got three blocked shots from Jensen and three steals from Heller.

The Wildcats will host Denver University on Tuesday before hosting Dakota State on Friday and Concordia College on Saturday.

THE WAYNE STATE men's team fell to 1-4 with a 91-77 setback to Mankato State despite trailing by just one point at the intermission, 40-39. Dan Anderson scored a career high 23 points on a 10-15 night shooting from the field and 3-4 performance from the foul line.

Nate Parks scored 17 points and Billy Patterson tossed in 14 while Terry Mailloux and Greg Ryan tallied seven apiece. Omar Clark netted four, Mike Mitchell, three and Steve Skradski, two, to round out the scoring.

The Wildcats were 30-68 from the field and 10 of 12 from the foul line while the host team was 29-59 from the field and 25-32 from the free throw line. The 'Cats were out-rebounded, 37-34 with Parks and Mailloux leading WSC with six caroms while Brad Uhing hauled down four rebounds.

WSC will host Morningside on Wednesday before playing host to South Dakota State on Saturday.

WAYNE STATE'S Lynn Nohr looks to cross up a Morningside defender during first half action of the Wildcat's 92-78 victory over the Chiefs, Saturday in Rice Auditorium. Mike Barry's squad hosts Denver on Tuesday.

Blue Devils win by one point in season opener Wayne edges Battle Creek

The Wayne boys basketball team entered last Friday's season opening game with Battle Creek as the 10th best team in Class B, according to the state rankings put out by the Omaha World-Herald.

Still, this was the first-time in the last-several years that the Blue Devils were playing against a Battle Creek team that had this much preparation time because the Braves were in the championship game of the C-1 football playoffs the past two seasons, leaving them very little time to prepare for the basketball season.

Wayne overcame a six-point deficit in the final 3:24 to edge the Braves, 47-46—the game winner coming on a free throw by Ryan Pick with just two seconds remaining.

In fact, over the final seven seconds of the game, Wayne got three shot attempts and two offensive rebounds before Pick was hacked in the act of shooting. Robert Bell was sent to the foul line with seven seconds to go but the highly successful free throw shooter missed the front end of a one-and-one.

Mike Fluent got the offensive rebound and fired the ball back up, drawing iron. Pick, however, got the good positioning for the rebound and was fouled on his game winning shot attempt. Pick hit one of two free throw attempts.

Wayne led the Braves, 28-20 at the half but were out-scored by a 20-9 margin in the third quarter which left the Blue Devils trailing by three, 40-37. Bell led the winners in scoring with 16 points while Matt Blomenkamp poured in 15. Pick and Kirk Carmichael scored six points each while Joe Lutt and Mike Fluent rounded out the attack with two apiece.

The Blue Devils won the battle of the boards, 30-22 as Blomenkamp hoarded nine caroms while Fluent had seven. Bell finished with five rebounds and Pick garnered four. Fluent blocked four shots and Blomenkamp led the team in steals with six while Bell and Pick had three thefts, each.

Blomenkamp also dished out a team high four assists and Pick had three while in the turnover category, Wayne suffered 18 compared to 14 for Battle Creek. Despite the win, Wayne was a dismal 3-12 from the free throw line, not to be out-done by the Braves, however, who finished 0-5 from the charity stripe.

Wayne will travel to play Columbus Lakeview on Saturday, an upset winner over state-ranked Ord last Saturday. In the "B" game, Wayne blasted Battle Creek, 69-44 as Ryan Martin paced the winners with 13 points while Mike Imdieke had a team high five caroms.

WSC grid banquet slated for Saturday

WAYNE-The Wayne State football banquet will be held at Riley's on Saturday. A social hour will begin at noon followed by a 1 p.m. dinner. There will be a program at approximately 1:30 p.m. The public is welcome to attend. There is a $10 charge per person.

Seventh grade boys lose twice

WAYNE-The seventh grade boys basketball team fell to West Point in the season opener, recently, 37-28 and then lost a 47-30 decision to South Sioux.

Against West Point, Wayne had trouble shooting free throws as they suffered a 1-15 outing. Ryan Dahl led the team in scoring with 17 while John Magnuson followed with four. Robbie Sturm had three points while Matt Sobansky and Darin Jensen had two apiece.

In the game with South Sioux, Wayne found itself trailing 24-7 at the intermission before playing the opponents even in the second half at 23 apiece.

Dahl led the Blue Devils with 17 points and Sturm followed with five while Magnuson and Brian Hochstein had three each. Matt Munsell rounded out the attack with two. Head coach Dan Fehringer said the boys are working very hard and have shown marked improvement from the beginning of the season.

Laurel girls off to slow start but boys down Crofton, 68-59

The Laurel girls and boys basketball teams were in action last Thursday and Friday with first-year coach Rick Petri and his girls team playing at Coleridge on Thursday while hosting Crofton on Friday in a double-header, with Clayton Steele's boys team.

At Coleridge, Laurel lost a 47-44 heart breaker in overtime. Dawn Wickett went to the foul line with 11 seconds left in regulation and sank two free throws to put the Bears up by one point but a Laurel foul on the inbound pass from Coleridge allowed the Bulldogs a one-and-one opportunity with nine seconds left.

The Coleridge player made one free throw to tie the game at 40 but the Bears did not get off a good shot which forced an overtime. "In the overtime Coleridge made just one basket but they hit five of six free throw attempts," Petri said. "I thought our effort was really good," Petri said. "We only shot 29 percent from the field and yet we had our chances to win the game."

Dawn Wickett led the Bears with nine points while Tara Erwin scored eight and Samantha Felber, seven. Amanda Hartung and Kari Kraemer each scored six and Becky Schroeder tallied five while Cathy Mohr rounded out the attack with three.

Schroeder was the rebound catalyst for Laurel with nine caroms while Wickett and Felber had eight each. The Bear's "B" team blasted Coleridge, 41-12 as Sara Ehlers led the way with 10 points.

Wickett and Schroeder shared team honors in scoring with six each while Hartung netted five. Felber, Mohr, Heather Cunningham and Tracy Ankeny each had two points.

Felber hauled down a team high 10 rebounds and Schroeder notched six boards. The 0-2 Bears will look for their first win on Tuesday night when they travel to play Winside.

WHILE THE girls team struggled against Crofton, the boys started the season off on the right foot with a 68-59 victory over the Warriors—a team Laurel hadn't defeated in several years.

"We lost to this team three times last year," Steele said. "It was nice to finish a game with them with us on top for a change." The Bears broke open a tie game at halftime by out-scoring the visitors, 19-8 in the third quarter for a 45-34 advantage.

"I thought we played well for the first game of the season," Steele said. "We didn't get the ball inside as much as we would have liked but we're happy to get the win."

Cody Carstensen paced the Bears scoring attack with 22 points while Jeremy Reinoehl poured in 21. Tyler Erwin was also in double figures with 11 and Jared Reinoehl netted nine. Shane Schuster scored three and Rich Rasmussen tallied two.

Laurel was out-rebounded, 34-27 with the Bears being led by Rasmussen and Jeremy Reinoehl with six caroms each. Laurel took excellent care of the basketball, suffering just six turnovers while Crofton had 11. The Bears were 31-42 from the free throw line and Crofton was 8-19.

Laurel will play at Winside Tuesday.

First-year Wayne girls basketball coach Roger Reikofski watched his Blue Devils improve to 2-0 with a 59-45 win over Pierce, Saturday in Pierce. Wayne had already started the season on a high note with a win over Sioux City West away from home on Thursday.

Pierce led Wayne, 12-10 after the first stanza but the Blue Devils held a 27-25 halftime advantage. Wayne continued to lead throughout the third quarter and maintained a 39-32 lead after three quarters of play before out-scoring the host team, 20-13 over the final eight minutes.

"The girls did an excellent job of playing defense," Reikofski said. "They only allowed Pierce to take 40 shots from the field while we had 62. This drastic difference in total was due to an aggressive defense all over the court."

Wayne's extreme defensive pressure forced the Lady Bluejays into 38 turnovers which gave Wayne an extra 22 ball possessions because of just 16 Wayne turnovers.

Carrie Fink led Wayne with 17 points while Tami Schluns poured in 14. Jenny Thompson was also in double figures with 11 while Amy Post tallied five while Katie Lutt and Audra Sievers scored four each.

Amy Ehrhardt and Anne Wiseman rounded out the scoring with two apiece.

Both teams converted 15 free throws with Wayne getting an extra charity toss. The Blue Devils also won the battle of the boards, 37-35 led by Sievers' nine caroms while Fink hauled down seven. Lutt finished with six rebounds and Schluns had four.

Wayne notched 20 steals in the game with Lutt notching six thefts while Schluns had five and Thompson, four. Thompson dished out six assists and Lutt and Schluns had four assists.

"I'm really proud of this team so far," Reikofski said. "They are working hard, listening very well to directions during timeouts and playing together as a team."

The "B" team was defeated by Pierce, 47-22. Wayne was led in scoring by Cori Langenfeld with nine points and Katy Wilson with five. The "C" team was defeated, 36-16. Melissa Weber, Christine Swinney and Sarah Metzler each had four points.

Wayne Herald releases its All-Area Football Team

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Annual Wayne Herald All-Area Boys Football Team is being released a little later than normal this year, but better late than never.

The Laurel Bears headline the squad with seven athletes making the 25-man team while, Wayne netted six on the annual team.

Winside and Wakefield each placed four on the team and Allen had three players honored for first-team status. Bears head coach Tom Luxford gets the nod for Coach of the Year this season after guiding his team to the State Playoffs for the second straight year.

Tyler Erwin, Cody Carstensen, Jeff Wattier, Jeremy Reinoehl, Jared Reinoehl, Randy Quist and Todd Arens all earned first-team honors for their quality play for Luxford and his staff. The good news for Bears fans is all but Quist will return next season.

Wayne suffered a dismal 1-8 season but the Blue Devils still had plenty of talent that didn't go unnoticed. One of the highlights for the Blue Devils was the quality play of sophomore running back Josh Starzl who headlines the list of Wayne players along with Jason Carr, one of the most feared receivers in the area because of his ability to catch the ball in a crowd and break loose for a big play.

Carr was among the most consistent receivers in all of Northeast Nebraska. Dusty Jensen, Matt Robins, Jeff Hamer and Matt Blomenkamp also earned a spot on the all-area team.

Winside's four selections include fearless running back Brady Frahm, Lonnie Grothe, Benji Wittler and Jeff Bruggeman. Winside, however, sports one of the brightest lights of the future in receiver Jaimey Holdorf who made some spectacular grabs in his freshman season for coach Randy Geier.

Wakefield selections include perhaps the best defensive player in the area in Cory Brown along with teammates Ryan Ekberg, Miah Johnson and Dave Jensen.

Allen sported one of the best running backs in all of Nebraska in Steve Sullivan. The senior sprinter darted for more than 1500 yards along with being one of the top scorers in all of D-1. He is joined on the first team by Curtis Oswald and another brilliant receiver in Case Schroeder.

The Player of the Year Award goes to Steve Sullivan of Allen for his quality play all season. Sullivan was one of those players that every time he touched the ball you held your breath because of his ability to break it open for a long gainer.

Sullivan edges Wayne's Jason Carr, Wakefield's Cory Brown, Laurel's Jeremy Reinoehl and Winside's Brady Frahm.

Those earning honorable-mention status include Jay Jackson and Aaron Thompson from Allen; Jaimey Holdorf, Jayme Shelton and Colby Jensen from Winside; Cody Skinner and Craig Anderson from Wakefield; Dustin Ankeny and Kody Urwiler from Laurel, and Andy Metz, Mike Williams, Kelly Meyer, Jason Starzl and Jason Wehrer from Wayne.

THE ALLEN Eagles placed three players on the annual All-Area squad with Steve Sullivan, Casey Schroeder and Curtis Oswald. Sullivan was also honored as the Wayne Herald Player of the Year.

Winside grapplers fourth at Creighton Invite, Saturday

The Winside wrestling team placed fourth in the Creighton Invitational, Saturday in Creighton scoring 109.5 points. Creighton captured top honors at its own meet with 210 points followed by Neligh-Oakdale with 131.5 and Norfolk Reserves with 122.

Norfolk Catholic finished behind Winside with 73.5 points followed by Pierce with 46.5; Clearwater, 42.5; Osmond, 42; Pender, 40; Tilden Elkhorn Valley, 30.5; Plainview, 24; Creighton reserves, 16 and Randolph, 0.

Paul Sok saw seven of his grapplers bring home medals, however, in the season opening invitational led by Brady Frahm and Jason Wylie as each garnered a championship while Scott Jacobsen and Josh Jaeger placed runner-up.

Robert Wittler and Lucas Mohr each placed third and Dave Paulsen placed fourth.

Frahm needed just 40 seconds to pin Norfolk's Shawn McGrath at 152 pounds for championship honors while Wylie won by technical fall, 16-1 over Matt Polak of Creighton at 119 pounds to place first.

Jacobsen was injured at 112 pounds, falling to Jeremy Johnson of Neligh by default in the championship match and Jaeger was edged, 4-2—by Cory McManigal of Creighton in the finals of the 125 pound weight class.

Wittler won his consolation match at 125 pounds with a 9-4 decision over Neligh's J.J. Snodgrass while Mohr-pinned Erik Funk of Norfolk Catholic in the consolation finals at 130 pounds. Paulsen was decided, 11-2 by Creighton's Jeremy Simons in the heavyweight category.

"I was pleasantly surprised with our showing in the first meet of the year," Sok said. "Unfortunately, Scott Jacobsen will be out until after Christmas with a couple of cracked ribs."

Jacobsen made it half way through the first period of his championship match before he was forced to quit through an injury default. Sok said Frahm and Wylie looked quite smooth en route to winning their respective weight classes.

Winside will dual Pender and West Point Central Catholic in Pender on Thursday before competing in the North Bend Invitational on Saturday.

Winside boys over come 16 point deficit to defeat Allen

The Winside boys basketball team split their first two games of the season last week as Randy Geier returned to the helm after a two-year absence.

The Wildcats opened the year on the road at Allen on Thursday, and came away with a 59-54 victory despite trailing by as many as 16 in the first half.

The Eagles led was 10 at the intermission at 37-27 but Winside out-scored the host team, 14-4 in the third quarter to tie the game at 41. "We changed defenses in the middle of that second quarter to a 1-3-1 zone," Geier said. "That really changed the momentum to our favor."

Jeff Bruggeman paced the winners with 18 points while Marty Jorgensen was close behind with 17 and Ryan Brogren was in double figures with 10. Kurt Jaeger scored five and Colby Jensen netted four while Jayme Shelton and Jeremy Jenkins rounded out the attack with three and two points, respectively.

Jay Jackson led Allen with 15 and Casey Schroeder tossed in 13 while Curtis Oswald and Tim Fertig netted nine each. Davis Miner scored six and Craig Philbrick rounded out the attack with two.

Winside dominated the boards, 52-35 led by Bruggeman's 16 caroms while Brogren and Shelton had nine each. "We really hung in there and played hard," Geier said. "We didn't give up after trailing by 16. We played solid defense and we got our transition game going in the second half." Winside had 21 turnovers compared to 18 for Allen and the Wildcats were 8-14 from the foul line. Allen was 2-4 from the charity stripe.

On Friday in Wynot the Wildcats were handed a 57-47 setback after the game was knotted at 36 at the end of the third quarter. "The game was even throughout but Wynot built a six point lead midway through the fourth quarter and they went into a stall game and we were forced to foul," Geier said. "They hit 13 free throws in the fourth period."

Bruggeman and Jorgensen shared team scoring honors with 13 while Brogren poured in 11. Shelton finished with six while Jaeger and

Jensen had two each. Winside was out-rebounded, 44-41 but was led on the boards by Bruggeman and Brogren with eight boards each.

Winside had just 13 turnovers and forced Wynot into 15 but the Wildcats struggled some at the free throw line, hitting 7-16 while the host team was 17-32.

Winside will host Laurel on Tuesday.

Lady Eagles flying high at 2-0

Lori Koester and Gary Erwin have the Allen Eagles girls basketball team soaring after the first two games with a perfect record. Allen improved to 2-0 on Saturday with a narrow 34-33 victory over Wakefield in Allen.

The Eagles led 20-11 at the half but had to come from behind in the last couple minutes to earn the win. "We pretty much led the whole way," Koester said. "It was a good, defensive battle and Wakefield actually went ahead of us with a couple minutes left in regulation but we hung on for the win."

Wakefield coach Gregg Cruickshank saw his team dip to 0-2 after the loss but said his team played well despite missing the front end of two, one-and-one attempts in the final minute.

"We were very inconsistent and tentative in the first half," Cruickshank said. "Then we started getting things going in the second half. Allen has a real nice team and we had our chances to win but just didn't convert."

Asthma Inhalers: Common Problems

Medical experts conclude that the best way to manage asthma in adults and children is to avoid materials that trigger asthma attacks and to use prescribed inhaler medicines properly. Many asthmatics use metered-dose inhalers to deliver medicines to the lung passages. According to one report, half of all asthmatics do not use inhalers properly.

Common problems include forgetting to remove the inhaler dust cap or forgetting to shake the inhaler before use. Some persons have not been taught to breathe out slowly before placing the inhaler into their mouths. Others do not inhale properly (it should be slow and deep) as they press down on the inhaler. Once the dose is delivered, the breath should be held for 5 to 10 seconds. Some forget to hold their breath or exhale only through the nose. And finally, some do not wait long enough before inhaling another dose of medicine (one minute usually is recommended).

College's ag program is tops in state

Northeast Community College's Agriculture Department was recently named the Outstanding Postsecondary Agricultural Education Program in Nebraska.

Department chairman Chuck Pohlman says Northeast's program has been serving as a blueprint for years, with many other organizations touring the department for ideas. Many have come from as far as New York to tour the program.

"We're more diversified than a lot of agriculture departments," said Pohlman. "We give students many options with a variety of available classes."

Given by the National Vocational Agricultural Teachers' Association, criteria for the award ranged from facilities and technology, to philosophy and student involvement.

Several student organizations such as the Block and Bridle Club, Livestock Judging Team and Young Farmers have also attributed to the department's success.

Agribusiness student Stacy Anderson of Pender added that these student organizations, along with dedicated instructors, have enhanced the department's growth.

"Instructors are willing to help you anytime, anyplace," she said. "They give you the personal attention you wouldn't find at a larger institution."

Jeremy Rasmussen of Platte, S.D., echoed Anderson's comments. "You get to know your instructors quite well," said the farm and ranch management major.

Current enrollment in the agriculture programs is 110, freshmen and 60 sophomores — the highest it's ever been. Last year Northeast's Agriculture/Allied Health Building opened, relieving much of the pressure for additional classroom and laboratory space. The 24,000 square-foot structure has the agriculture programs housed on the lower level.

"We're working harder to keep up with the standards," Chuck Pohlman said. "Today's students look very closely at technology and hands-on experience when choosing a program, and we will do everything we can to provide that for them."

The agriculture program was developed in 1973 when Norfolk Junior College and Northeast Nebraska Technical College merged.

Northeast offers a comprehensive two-year program in agriculture with options in agribusiness, crop production, farm and ranch management, farm mechanics, livestock, veterinary care plus college transfer. The U.S. Department of Labor lists over 200 different jobs in agriculture from production to distribution.

The college transfer program provides two years of credits that students can transfer to the College of Agriculture Sciences and Natural Resources at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, South Dakota State University-Brookings and Wayne State College.

Northeast operates a 533-acre farm adjacent to the campus with facilities to prepare students for successful careers in agriculture.

Wood carver

Joe Serres of Creighton is shown with the Chainsaw Carving of a horse that he made for the livery barn at the Winnetoon Mini-Mall. During December, the Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) office in Plainview is showing one of Joe's carvings. For 1 1/2 years Joe has been trying his hand at Chainsaw Carving. Until that time most of his job at the Village Woodworks in Winnetoon was hand carving missing furniture pieces for items he was repairing. Joe uses cedar, willow, elm and linden wood and has found that it's best to work with wood that has cured up to four years. Gayle Neuhaus, owner of Village Woodworks, does the painting and finish work. Among his chainsaw carving collection you'll find eagles, skunks, cows, coyotes, a totem pole and some santas. In the future Joe plans to make a grizzly bear out of a 2-ton maple log that he has. One of the raccoons is on display at the RC&D office on East Highway 20 in Plainview.

Program designed for farmers just getting started

"New routes to Farming" is the theme of a series of workshops scheduled for three area communities. The series will emphasize practical strategies to begin farming and "sustainable" farming practices. The workshops, sponsored by the Center for Rural Affairs' Hartington office, are designed for beginning farmers just starting their operations as well as for established farmers interested in profitable, resource-conserving farming methods.

Workshops are scheduled for 7-9 p.m. in three communities with local sponsors as well as the Center for Rural Affairs: Dec. 13, at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Madison; Dec. 14 at the Randolph High School Vo-Ag Room in Randolph; and Dec. 15 at the American Legion Hall in Verdigre.

The first workshops will feature Doug Gunnink, a successful farmer from Gaylord, Minn., who will speak on his experiences setting up hog, dairy, sheep and crop operations on his farms. Gunnink's presentation will be followed by a panel of three beginning farmers from Northeast Nebraska who will tell how they are getting started, their problems and solutions and their advice for others.

"There are twice as many farmers over age 65 as under age 35, and the number of new farmers is dwindling. But the young farmers giving these presentations are succeeding and are enthusiastic about it," said Wyatt Fraas, leader of the Center for Rural Affairs' Beginning Farmer Sustainable Agriculture Project in Hartington.

Co-sponsors are the Randolph FFA alumni, St. John's Lutheran Church of rural Madison, the Verdigre FFA alumni and the Nebraska Sustainable Agriculture Society.

Additional workshops in the series will include planning for profits, soil till, alternative crops and other topics in sustainable agriculture. Workshops are free and open to the public.

Livestock market sees varied prices

The Norfolk Livestock Market had a run of 1,445 fat cattle on Friday. Prices were $1 lower on steers and heifers, $2 to $3 lower on cows and bulls.

Pork ambassador finalist

Becky Appel has been selected by the Nebraska Pork Producers Association as one of six finalists for the 1994-95 Nebraska Pork Industry Youth Ambassador.

She will be attending the 1994 Nebraska Pork Producers annual convention Jan. 21-22 in Grand Island to participate in the ambassador competition. Each candidate will be evaluated on the basis of his/her interest and knowledge in the pork industry as demonstrated in a personal interview and oral presentation before a panel of judges.

The Ambassador Program is a statewide educational program developed by the Nebraska Pork Producers Association to provide youth an opportunity to become involved in the pork industry and provide rewarding leadership opportunities. The program focuses on leadership, citizenship and communication skills through hands-on experiences. The ambassador will learn about pork promotion, research and consumer information; examine the industry's future and the role of youth in it; have the opportunity to meet industry leaders and state representatives; improve speaking skills and face challenging issues in the pork industry. The ambassador will also represent Nebraska at the National Pork Leadership Institute in Des Moines, Iowa and Washington, D.C. in July, and will receive a $500 stipend.

Becky, daughter of Gary and Darlene Appel of Hoskins, is currently a first year student at Northeast Community College, where she majors in Animal Science/Pre-Vet. A 1993 graduate of Winside High School, she is currently the Wayne County Pork Producers Youth Ambassador.

Law didn't save rats

By Cheryl Stubbendieck
Nebraska Farm Bureau

California rancher Michael Rowe is in a heap of trouble now. He's gone and done it: willfully violated the Endangered Species Act. At least, that's how the law looks at it.

What Rowe did was disc a firebreak around his house in Riverside County in southern California, as the recent California wildfires hissed over a hill and towards his ranch. It was dark, smoky and 1:30 in the morning when Rowe hitched his disc to his tractor and took the action that would save his home and put him on the wrong side of the law.

The house was saved and Rowe was a hero to his wife and three children. But he knew as he made his firebreak that he was destroying endangered species habitat. Rowe's ranch is located in a protected habitat study area for the endangered Stephens' kangaroo rat. He and many of his now-burned-out neighbors were prevented by provisions of the Endangered Species Act from properly managing the kangaroo rat's coastal sage scrub habitat around their homes.

Rowe applied a year ago to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service for permission to cut a firebreak, because he was concerned about the fuel load on his property. The permit was denied, however, because Rowe hadn't completed expensive biological studies -- just to eliminate hazardous brush cover around his home.

More than 30 homes in Rowe's area were burned. They might have been saved if residents had been able to disc in firebreaks and trim back the brush. Or if local officials had been allowed to conduct controlled burns to get rid of the excess brush.

Rowe's story has plenty of irony. Consider the poor kangaroo rat, the species the "keep the brush" effort was designed to protect. The uncontrolled fire destroyed more habitat than controlled efforts ever would have. And it's a safe bet that not a few kangaroo rats met their maker as a consequence of the fire.

This is a case where government-regulated-and-protected uncultivated brush fueled wildfires that encroached acre by acre and house by house on human habitat. As in many other situations, the Endangered Species Act put the welfare of animals above that of humans.

It can't even be argued that this is a situation that couldn't be anticipated. Wildfires in California are about as common as weeks that have Tuesdays. Rowe and his neighbors knew full well that the brush was a hazard.

At least two things should happen. First, nothing -- Michael Rowe should not be charged or prosecuted for saving his home and property. Second, Congress should get busy and start plowing through the Endangered Species Act, to make it reasonable for the human species.

Farmers, agribusinesses and community groups from Northeast Nebraska, Northwest Iowa, Southeast South Dakota and Southwest Minnesota were honored for their outstanding conservation achievements at the 47th annual banquet.

Baker has always believed that hills on his land, averaging 10 percent slope, needed to be terraced.

with them.

I was still working on the tree skirt by a small light in the back seat when I heard Jon say, "What's he doing?" I looked up to see a car turning in front of us, closed my eyes and felt the crash. Kristi was very quiet. Jon seemed to be okay.

I opened the door and saw a young man on his cellular, saying "Is this Beemer?" The other driver was still in his car, looking back at us, wondering where we'd come from.

You know I've always appreciated the volunteers who man the rescue units in rural areas. The ones at Beemer are great. Kristi was responding when they got there, but they carefully placed a cervical collar and back board and took her to West Point Hospital, where she spent the night. Jon stayed in the recliner beside her.

I called Gust and Carol Krajicek and they rescued me. In fact, Nick loaned us his car the next day. Jon made it to the game, but they couldn't even give the other ticket away. It was too cold for football.

On Saturday morning, Grandma had a lovely shower for our two expectant moms and presented them with matching quilts. I had finished that darned tree skirt. Kristi has a black eye and a headache. I have a swelled leg that is yellow today. But we were so fortunate. And I'm again thanking God for our guardian angels. Happy Advent.

Peterson reelected to state post

Carter "Cap" Peterson, a school board member from Wayne Public Schools, has been re-elected by schools in his region to a two-year term on the NASB Board of Directors. In this post, Peterson will serve as one of 19 regionally elected school board members on the policy-making board for NASB.

The Nebraska Association of School Boards represents nearly 300 school boards throughout the state. These governing bodies are responsible for approximately 94 percent of Nebraska's 280,000 public school children. The Board of Directors meets at least five times a year to establish organizational policy and set the direction of the Association, which has been in existence since 1918.

This will be Peterson's first full two-year term on the Board. He was elected in 1991 to fill a vacancy created with Richard Wardell of Blair decided to serve as vice president of the organization. In his time on the NASB Board, Peterson has served as chair of the Property and Casualty Task Force, and the Health Insurance Task Force of the Association.

Peterson has served on the Wayne Board of Education for 11 years. He is president of the Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency, Inc., who is active locally in the Kiwanis, Wayne Industries and the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. He is also past president of the Nebraska Professional Insurance Agents Association.

Peterson and eight other regional directors will be installed for their new term at the NASB Delegate Assembly dinner Jan. 9 at the Cornhusker Hotel in Lincoln. Also at this dinner, Brad Krivothavek of Norfolk will be installed as president, Sandy Jensen of Omaha will be named president-elect; and Keith Bartels of Lincoln will take the position of vice president.

The GOLDEN YEARS by Pat Lichty

Plans for the 1995 Senior Olympics, to be held in San Antonio, Texas, show how participation in sports has grown among older Americans. More than 7,000 athletes age 55 and over will compete in 18 sports. It will be the fifth biennial Senior Olympics and the 10th anniversary of the U.S. National Senior Sports Organization. The first Senior Olympics in 1987 drew 2,500 athletes who had qualified in a handful of local competitions. More than 250,000 competed in 90 local games to win invitations to the 1993 Senior Olympics held this summer.

Two years ago an industry magazine gave the title of "The Gentleman Towman" to Pat Gambardella for the courtesy and care he gives customers of his auto-towing and repair service. At 61, he still puts in 14-hour days, except on Sundays. His father started the Yonkers, New York business in 1919. Now Gambardella's grown children help run the 12-truck tow service. Customers are loyal. One, near death, gave his old car to the Gambardellas, crediting them for its longevity.

Public Radio, TV to be off

Nebraska ETV Network's station KXNE-TV, which serves Norfolk and the surrounding area, will go off the air for repairs beginning Dec. 13 for approximately one week (assuming favorable weather conditions). Coverage area includes the communities of Bancroft, Bloomfield, Center, Creighton, Dakota City, Hartington, Madison, Meadow Grove, Pender, Pierce, Plainview, Ponca, South Sioux City, Stanton, Wakefield, Walthill, Wayne and Wisner. Also affected will be the translators serving Neligh, Niobrara and Verdigré.

KXNE-TV viewers may have noticed periodic interruptions of the broadcast service over the past several months, caused by normal aging and deterioration of the transmission line. The transmission line delivers the power from the transmitter, up the tower and to the antenna. Engineers have determined that the problems are serious enough that waiting until spring to begin repairs would result in appreciably greater down time and repair cost. The repair project will replace major portions of the transmission line, restoring it to near new condition and incorporating new technologies that will reduce future deterioration.

Since Nebraska Public Radio Network station KXNE-FM is located on the same tower, it will also be off the air during the day when workers are on the tower. However, KXNE-FM will be on the air in the evenings after working hours.

Nebraska Educational Telecommunications regrets the interruption to their service in northeastern Nebraska. Cable companies and others with satellite receiving systems can receive the Nebraska ETV Network by tuning to Spacenet III, Transponder 13, 3740 MHz. Everything possible will be done to minimize this disruption.

Juvenile

lent crimes in juvenile court. Juveniles who are tried and convicted in adult court still could be sentenced to the state adult prison system.

There are about 70 inmates under age 19 at the state penitentiary in Lincoln, said Larry Tewes, Corrections Department assistant director. He said he hoped that number would decrease if there is a juvenile prison where judges could send young offenders who they keep in the juvenile court system.

Juvenile Court Judge Tom Dawson in Lincoln said he has been forced to send violent offenders to the Youth Development Center in Kearney, the state facility for young boys convicted in juvenile court, against his better judgment.

He said he's worried because Kearney is not a secure facility.

"The youth development center of Kearney is not truly a locked facility," Dawson said.

The governor estimated it will cost $4.7 million to build a 50-bed detention center in Omaha, the proposed site of the youth prison. A 150-bed facility would cost $10 million, he said.

The boot camp would cost about $5 million, Nelson said. The Legislature appropriated money for the camp last year. It is scheduled to open by 1996.

Nelson did not know the anti-pated cost of the rest of the plan, but said it would be minimal and he did not expect it to raise taxes.

The governor and many of the eight senators who appeared with him at a news conference in support of the bill, denied that the package is politically motivated and timed for next year's election.

"I'm sure to the cynics it looks like that is what everybody is getting ready for," said Nelson, a Democrat whose term expires in 1994 and who has not announced whether he plans to seek re-election.

Nelson said the plan was not an attempt to compete with Republican Attorney General Don Stenberg's crime-fighting recommendations.

tracting the work with someone with an existing school district or the Educational Service Unit.

To do so they must hold a public hearing.

"I KNOW IT is not a full time job," said Commission Chairman Robert Nissen. But, commissioners said it was not clear whether dollars could be saved by contracting the state mandated work to be done by local qualified educators or maintain the position and the office in the courthouse.

The elected office, currently held by Harry Mills is budgeted at just under half pay, for about $10,000 plus the cost of a secretary and office expenses.

Nissen said he suspects the state legislature might take the issue out of the hands of county officials within a year anyway since he expects the position or the rural school districts themselves will be eliminated by state legislative action.

Gateway Electronics graduation scheduled

Graduation ceremonies honoring 54 electronics and computer programming students including William Vrtiska, will be held Saturday, Dec. 18 at the Peter Kiewit Conference Center. The event begins at 2 p.m. with a reception to follow.

Gateway Electronics Institute is a leader in technical training in the Midwest, offering diploma and degree programs in electronics, computer repair, computer assisted design and computer programming. The curriculum is presented as a combination of classroom theory and hands-on training in an environment designed to prepare students for the technical job market.

Dr. Michael Shada, Gateway's Director of Education, will open the ceremony, followed by remarks from John Queen, GEI President. Darwin Pace, electronics department chair, will confer the awards.

November weather higher and lower than last year

Beautiful 60-degree weather one day and frigid minus 5 degrees a short time later characterized typical Nebraska weather for November, according to official local observer Pat Gross.

The average monthly high temperature was 42 degrees last month compared to 38 degrees a year ago. Ah, warmer, you say? Not so. The average low temperature for the month was 19 degrees this year compared to 26 last year.

"So, I guess that means this November was a little warmer and a little colder than last November," said Gross.

According to his statistics, November was the second month in a row with below average precipitation figures, but the year still is going down as one of the wetter years on record. Only 1.17 inches fell in November, compared to 1.71 inches in an average November.

Year to date, the rainfall total is still nearly 5 inches above average at 30.97 inches for the year. Officially, 4.5 inches of snow fell in the storm on Nov. 25, which brought the total for the month to 8 inches.

Attendance habits start at home

The Principal's Office
By Dr. Zeiss, Principal

School attendance starts at home: parents play the biggest role in developing a child's attitude towards school attendance. Here are tips to parents to encourage better attendance:

- Show you have a positive attitude towards school.
- Allow your child plenty of time in the morning to get ready for school.
- Make every effort to schedule doctor, dentist and other appointments before and after school hours.
- Refuse to write excuses for anything other than legitimate absences.

Refuse to view tardiness as acceptable behavior and discourage early checkouts.

• Plan family vacations in accordance with the school calendar as much as possible.

• If you know in advance that your child must be absent, notify the teachers and encourage your child to make up missed work.

• Talk to your child about the need to develop good habits and positive attitudes.

• Use good judgment. Don't send a child to school who is really ill.

Changes in applications

All students are encouraged to be aware of new changes in the application process for financial aid for 1994-95, according to Joan Zanders, director of financial aid at Wayne State College.

The Department of Education is sending renewal applications to students who applied for financial aid in 1993-94.

Original or renewal applications should be completed by students and parents and returned to the financial aid processor no earlier than Jan. 1, 1994. Those mailed prior to Jan. 1 will be rejected.

Students with questions should contact the financial aid office at the college of their choice.

At Wayne State College, call the Financial Aid Office at 1-800-228-9972.

Dissolve 2 pkgs. cherry flavor gelatin in 2 cups hot water.

When cooled a bit, add 1 cup unsweetened applesauce and one 10 ounce package frozen red raspberries.

Put it into a quart size star shaped mold. This is pretty for Christmas and it is good any time of the year.

When well set to serve, unmold on a round plate or platter, and garnish with some small lettuce leaves. If not in a star shaped mold, it can be shaped when unmolded.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water, add pineapple with juice, cottage cheese, mayo and marshmallows. Mix well, chill but not to set, fold in 2 cups Dream whip topping, chill to set.

This recipe can be converted to low calorie and low fat by using sugar free gelatin, 1% lite cottage cheese and fat free mayo. Tastes just the same either way.
