A colorful outlook

Wayne Greenhouse worker Kay Wagner of Winside just may have the brightest job of all right now as she sorts through thousands of colorful poinsettias which will be shipped out for the Christmas Holiday season. The Greenhouse grows their own poinsettias from unrooted cuttings sent from California in July and once grown, sent to flower shops throughout Northeast Nebraska and Iowa.

Wayne students face outcome goals

By Les Mann
Of The Herald

Wayne City Schools will be implementing some form of "outcomes based education" (OBE) but the schools here will not deal with values, ethics and morals in the establishing exit outcomes for students, that was part of a position statement issued at the school board meeting Tuesday.

"We should provide clear and specific expectations for student success," said Dr. Dennis Jensen, superintendent of schools. He said establishment of OBE in some schools, including those in Columbus, Neb., has been controversial. But he added,

"I want us not to be afraid of the word 'outcomes.'"

HE SAID THE system, some of which has already been implemented through the approval of mission statement and goals for graduation which were passed last year, simply will identify goals and expectations for students as they move through the school system.

A chart on the outcomes goals for Wayne displayed at the Tuesday meeting said exit outcomes would be "those things students should know, be able to do, be like and feel when they graduate."

Jensen cited the address by Dr. Doug Christensen, deputy commissioner for education for Nebraska, who spoke in Wayne last week, in his explanation of the need for establishing new higher goals for students and the schools.

"OUTCOME SEEMS like a real logical thing to do," said Dr. Sid Hillier, president of the board.

Board member Cap Peterson said establishment of OBE in some areas has become controversial because there are "a lot of different ways people are using OBE."

Once goals and standards for each level are established, the curricu-

Wayne cable committee to advise City Council

By Kevin Peterson
Of The Herald

A Cable TV Advisory Group has been formed in Wayne to concentrate attention on how Jones Intercable is handling the cable franchise in our City from a programming standpoint and quality of service offered.

Publication times change

The holiday publication schedule for the Wayne Herald will mean early deadlines and early distribution of the Friday editions next week and the week following.

Deadlines for news and advertising information in the Friday, Dec. 24 and Friday, Dec. 31 editions will be on noon the Wednesday prior.

The editions both weeks will be distributed on Friday morning to allow carriers and newspaper employees to be home with their families.

"These types of advisory groups have been successful in other areas where Jones Intercable operates," Mayor Bob Carhart said. "South Sioux has a group like this and they've really been happy with the results."

The Wayne Advisory Group consists of seven people with Garry Poutre acting as the city's liaison between the advisory group, city council and Jones Intercable. "Garry was elected liaison because he can relate to some of the concerns because he deals and works with people from television networks in the way of poles, wires and distribution of cable," Carhart said. "He is actually an eighth person on the advisory group and he will sit in on meetings they have."

Those who have been appointed to the Cable Advisory Group represent all four wards of the City. "These seven people were selected through a discussion with city council members who brought up their names from discussions or concerns voiced in the past by

City tax issue destined for May election

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

It appears more likely that voters in Wayne will be facing a one cent sales tax proposal on the election ballot in May after the Wayne Library Board formally asked city council to proceed with plans for a new library and senior center to be funded in part by a temporary sales tax.

Lois Shelton, chairman of the Wayne Community Center Committee also recommended at Tuesday's city council meeting that the city proceed with the sales tax proposal to fund the library and senior center as well as crucial needs at the city auditorium.

As discussed, the sales tax would be a temporary tax with a voter imposed expiration once the capital projects identified for funding in the election were paid for.

A ONE CENT sales tax would raise over $400,000 per year in Wayne according to estimates from the state revenue department. The library proposal calls for construction of a $1.3 million facility to include the library and senior center along with shared meeting rooms and would include kitchen facilities for the senior citizen lunch program.

Pat Gross, president of the library board, said the board believes it could raise from $300,000 to $500,000 from private funding sources for the project, which would reduce the tax need.

Councilman Doug Sturm said he had heard concerns from constituents that once approved, a sales tax would never be removed. He was told the law provides for voters to set specific deadlines for expiration of the tax.

MAYOR BOB Carhart said he feared lumping too many projects into the sales tax vote might jeopardize voter support for a new library. He said the city would have to decide if each project should have to stand alone at the election.

In its recommendation, the library board said it would not be practical to remodel the existing facility because of space and access limitations at the site.

Gross said within the last week a friend of his fell down the steps at the library, breaking a collar bone,

Investigation is continuing

RANDOLPH — Cedar County Sheriff Elliot Arens reported that the continuing investigation into the death of Bill Milander and the disappearance of Merlin Sassaman is being conducted by the Cedar County Sheriff's Office and Nebraska State Patrol.

Sassaman was last seen on Dec. 14 in the company of Mr. Milander in the Coleridge area.

Milander was reported missing on Dec. 15 in the late afternoon and his body was discovered on a vacant farm place north of Randolph at approximately 7:15 p.m. The preliminary cause of death appears to be a suicide by hanging, according to Arens.

Approximately 30 volunteers from the Coleridge community assisted in a ground search with four wheel drive pickups and ATVs. Approximately 46 square miles have been covered in the search so far.

The two events appear to be related, said Arens.

Rescue call

WINSIDE — The Winside volunteer rescue squad was called to a one-vehicle rollover on Highway 35, 4 1/2 miles south of Winside on Friday, Dec. 10 at 4:56 p.m. Both Winside units were used to transport two individuals, Jeff Ryan, 31, Pierce, and Bob Woodard, 25, Norfolk, to the Lutheran Community Hospital in Norfolk. Ryan was thrown from the vehicle.

Paper drive is scheduled

WAYNE — Boy Scout Troop 174 will conduct a paper drive in Wayne on Saturday, Dec. 18. Residents are asked to have their newspapers bundled and by the curb by 8 a.m. The Scouts will also be collecting pop cans.

Teachers are nominated

WAYNE — The college of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the University of Kansas has nominated two Wayne High School Teachers for their Teacher Recognition Program. Nominations are received from students enrolled in honor classes who are asked to select high school teachers who have had a profound influence on their academic life.

Senior English teacher Judy Schafer and chemistry/math teacher Duane Blomenkap have received the honor.

Good Neighbors needed

Wayne Mayor Bob Carhart is looking for a few good people. Carhart, who is the Ak-Sar-Ben ambassador for this area, would like to see several nominees from this area for the annual Ak-Sar-Ben Good Neighbor Awards. The Good Neighbor awards program is in its 50th year of recognizing good deeds in Nebraska communities.

It is one of the numerous Ak-Sar-Ben recognition programs and is co-sponsored by the Omaha World-Herald.

Nominations from citizens throughout Nebraska and western Iowa are encouraged. The program honors individuals and groups cited by neighbors for performing unselfish, neighborly deeds during 1993 without compensation or personal gain.

Nominations will be accepted from organizations and individuals. Application forms may be obtained by writing to Ak-Sar-Ben Good Neighbor Awards Committee, 6300 Shirley, Omaha, NE 68106.

Completed forms for nominees from this area must be submitted to Mayor Carhart by March 15.

Framed citations and gold lapel emblems are awarded annually to those selected by a statewide judging committee. Honorees will be announced about June 1, 1994.

'We're in the midst of a positive period'

The decade of the '90s will go down in history as one of the most significant for growth and progress in the City of Wayne predicted Joe Salitros, city administrator, in a "State of the City" talk delivered to Wayne service clubs this week.

Salitros delivered his glowing report to the Kiwanis Club at its noon meeting Monday and to the Rotary Club at its breakfast meeting Wednesday.

He cited a long list of recent developments in the community which include employment expansion at Great Dane trailer manufacturing plant as well as Heritage Industries and other manufacturing concerns in the city. He cited as well the development of retired housing development and the new nursing home under construction.

SOME OF THE new developments in the city, among them the Rainbow World Day Care Center which opened this fall, were an outgrowth of the Wayne strategic planning effort called "START" which began nearly five years ago.

"Here in Wayne, America we have sat down and strategically planned our future," he said, adding those plans are coming to pass.

Projects on next year's city agenda include street improvements for Vintage Hills subdivision, a new apartment complex proposed for land north of the National Guard Armory, continued work on the sewer line extension from Country Club Road to Highway 35, discussion of a 60 pad mobile home park (the land is already purchased) and the platting of a new 17 to 19 lot subdivision west of Oak Drive and several other smaller housing developments, he said.

"FOLKS, IF YOU'RE not excited, you ought to be," Salitros told the service club members as he cited recent additions to the retail business sector of the community and the lack of vacancies on Main Street.

He alluded to the possible request of the voters to approve a temporary one cent sales tax in May to fund a new library and senior citizen center as well as possible other capital needs for the city as further efforts to address the community needs identified in the original START program.

He cited the growth and new developments at Wayne State College as having a dramatic impact on the community as a whole.

"A LOT OF energy comes out of that institution," he said.

Further work Salitros said he expected to take place in the city during this decade includes storm sewers (1995), widening and resurfacing Logan Street (1996), paving the new north-south airport runway (1996) and widening of Highway 35 (Seventh Street) to three lanes through the city (1997).

Looming in the not too distant future as well will be utility rate adjustments, he said. According to the city administrator, water prices have decreased but sewer prices have increased and the net effect should be that the changes in those catego-

United Way Fund nearing '94 goal

The Wayne United Way has reached 95 percent of its 1993-94 goal of $25,000, according to board members.

The United Way board of directors are very pleased with the support this year's drive has received from the community of Wayne. The board believes this year's goal will be attained and would like to encourage any businesses and individuals who have not participated in this year's drive to do so now.

Your donations to the Wayne United Way are greatly appreciated and go directly to helping the following local agencies: PAL's, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Wayne Senior Citizen Center, Wayne Haven House, Wayne Ministerial Association, Wayne Child Care Board/Rainbow World, Kinship, Wayne Friends, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Wayne Department of Recreation, Rainbow Riders and Wayne Community Hospice.

Donations can be dropped off at Farmers and Merchants State Bank, First National Bank and State National Bank.

Outcome

lum would be designed to achieve those higher levels, the education leaders said.

In other business at the Tuesday meeting, the board:

- Toured the Middle School Building to look at problem areas. A community committee is working on recommendations for board action on building needs for the school system. Upon their return from the tour, several board members made negative comments about the old school building.
- Heard concerns about the access to the new Internet computer network available through the Educational Service Unit. Jensen said he fears the system once fully established, will not provide enough access to Wayne students. He said the ESU will only be licensed for 250 computers on the system. He said Wayne schools alone have more than 60 computers he would like on the system and he foresees doubling that in the future.

•Heard a report on attendance at parent teacher conferences. Jensen said he was pleased with the parental participation although the elementary parents got a much higher attendance grade than middle school parents, who scored better than high school parents.

Cable

them," Carhart said.

People are urged to contact any of these people when they have a cable concern or if they are interested in receiving a cable network not currently offered. Carhart said in the past, people with concerns have contacted city council members and the answers were not always readily available and with the addition of this Cable Advisory Group, some of those problems may be answered faster or acted upon quicker.

Carhart said the advisory group will study and make recommendations to the city council if they feel there is a need to do so. "The City has not relinquished its authority on cable," Carhart said. "It is still the negotiating body for cable but the City has advised for this cable group."

The group will get together for the first time in January. Members of this group include: Randy Vande Velde, 375-3243; Ken Marra, 375-1229; Anita Fuelberth, 375-4386; Mark Ahmann, 375-3163; David Lutt, 375-4527; Luverna Hilton, 375-2177 and Elaine Anderson, 375-2024.

Carhart says he hopes this group will input their own ideas and concerns as well as the people they are to be serving. "We believe we have a well diversified group from all parts of the City," Carhart said. "The number of people in the advisory group is just a number that the city council agreed on."

KTCH general manager Mark Ahmann says he feels he can offer something to the group having been in the communications field for many years. "I enjoy cable and I feel I can offer some input to this advisory group as well as learn a lot," Ahmann said.

"We are in this group to study what we are getting for our dollars," Dave Lutt said. "There are also times where some parts of the City get poorer reception on some of the upper channels which is a concern for many people."

Lutt said the group was not formed to censor shows on certain channels. "We have nothing to do with what is being aired," Lutt said.

Among the Cable TV Advisory Group's first meeting's discussions will be the possible addition of a new channel to Wayne's basic cable network—EWTN, Eternal Word Television Network which is a Catholic station that airs such programs as family movies.

WAYNE MAYOR Bob Carhart looks over photographs of a public library from another city during the city council meeting, Tuesday night. Come May, voters may be asked to vote on a one cent sales tax increase to fund a new library and senior center. Estimates say that the one cent tax could generate as much as $400,000 per year. The tax, however, would only be temporary until the facilities are funded.

which he said tragically points to the need for a new street-level facility.

Responding to a question from Mayor Carhart, Gross said the board believes the city should proceed this coming spring with the sales tax vote and he said the library would be offering free services to rural residents as part of the proposal if it was legal to do so.

IDELODO JONES, a spokesperson for the Wayne Senior Citizens, said she believed senior retired residents of the community would be supportive of a one cent sales tax to fund the proposed facility. She said seniors like to feel like they are contributing something to the community and would support the project.

Councilmembers Ralph Barclay and Jane O'Leary praised the library senior citizen center proposal.

"You are to be commended as a board for the way you have handled this and go about it," said Barclay.

Mrs. O'Leary said improved accessibility would increase the usage of both the library and senior citizen center. She added she was delighted to see the council moving ahead on a project to benefit the community rather than implementing some new regulations.

CONSIDERATION OF the sales tax vote and a decision may come as early as next week, when city council holds its second meeting of the month, moved up a week because of the holidays. The meeting will be Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

In other business at Tuesday's meeting, Council approved:

- A $500 increase in the allocation to the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce from $4,500 to $5,000 next year.

•A retroactive payment of over $900 worth of pay to a city employee for salary not paid when he went to National Guard training in 1990 and 1991. The city policy was changed since then to meet state law which says public entities must pay salaries of Guard members while they are on Guard service. Mayor Carhart called the practice "double dipping" since the guard member gets military pay and city pay both.

•A renewal of the state Department of Roads maintenance agreement for Highways 15 and 35 through Wayne. The cost of the annual service work the state performs is $1,420 to the city, which Vern Schulz called a very good value for what they do.

Library is in period of change

The Wayne Public Library will close the following days to observe the holidays and for the changeover to the circulation computer, early closing on Dec. 24, 12:30 to 4 p.m.; closed on Dec. 25, 26, 29, 30, 31 and Jan. 1. The library will be open again beginning Jan. 2 with regular hours. Regular hours are 12:30 to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays and 2 to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

Now would be a good time to pick up your new patron cards, renew rural registrations at $15 a year and to stock up on holiday reading.

Any questions can be answered by calling the library at 375-3135.

Growth

ries "should offset each other." He said it was likely electrical rates would be "adjusted" in 1995, the first significant change since 1983.

WHAT TO DO with the aging city auditorium will be another quandary facing the city. Architectural estimates say it would take $400,000 to renovate the 1935 building, he said.

Salitros told the Kiwanians that open discussion of the sales tax funding mechanism for the new library senior citizen center and possibly for the auditorium among city council members in the past several months has resulted in "no large scale public outcry either for or against (the sales tax)."

Wayne girls lose by one in first home game of season

WAYNE'S CARRIE Fink puts up a shot during fourth quarter action of the Blue Devils one point loss to West Point, Thursday. It was Wayne's first home game of the year after three games on the road.

The Wayne Blue Devils girls basketball team suffered a heart-breaking, 51-50 loss to West Point, Thursday night in Wayne in the season's home opener. The loss left Roger Reikofski's crew with a 2-2 record while West Point improved to 2-2.

Wayne came out gunning in the first quarter, building an 11-2 lead before settling for a 14-10 lead after the first stanza. West Point began going inside more in the second quarter and the results were good for the visitors as they found themselves leading by a 28-24 margin at the half.

"We just didn't execute the ball at all in the second quarter," Reikofski said. "Carrie Fink didn't play that quarter because she had two fouls and I didn't want to see her have three in the first half."

Wayne out-scored the visitors, 12-10 in the third quarter to draw with in two points at 38-36 heading into the final period. Down the stretch West Point seemed to take control as they built a seven-point lead with under three minutes to go.

The Blue Devils, however, did not give up and tried to rally.

Trailing by five points with less than 30 seconds left in the game, Fink sank a three-pointer. On West Point's next possession, Fink stole the ball and went in for the lay-up to pull the Blue Devils to within one point. Unfortunately, there was just one second left and West Point ran out the time on the ensuing in-bounds pass.

Jenny Thompson poured in a season high 23 points to pace the Blue Devils while Carrie Fink scored 11 including Wayne's first and final points. Senior guard Tami Schluns tallied six points.

Wayne was out-rebounded by a 27-26 margin with Schluns leading Wayne with five boards. The Blue Devils had 14 turnovers compared to 12 for the visitors and Wayne was 12-23 from the free throw line. However, Wayne was just 3-10 from the foul line in the fourth quarter. West Point hit 17 of 28 free throw attempts.

Wayne (50), West Point (51): Wayne scoring: Jenny Thompson, 23; Carrie Fink, 11; Tami Schluns, 6; Katie Lutt, 3; Amy Post, 3; Anne Wiseman, 2; Erica Stollenberg, 2.

Laurel boys lost first game

LAUREL-The Laurel boys basketball team suffered their first defeat of the season, Tuesday in Homer with a 58-52 setback to the Knights. The Bears were out-scored, 19-12 in the first quarter and actually kept the game quite close throughout.

Laurel trailed by a 30-26 margin at half at 42-38 score after three quarters. Jared Reinoehl led the Bears with 21 points while Jeremy Reinoehl added 11 and Rich Rasmussen chipped in with 10.

Cody Carstensen netted five points and Shane Schuster tallied three while Travis Stungley rounded out the attack with two. The 3-1 Bears were 14-18 in free throw shooting while Osmond won the game from the charity stripe, hitting 21 of 27 attempts.

Ask me about SANTA CASH

Darrell Doescher
Doescher Appliance

"We have seen a big increase in the use of Santa Cash this year over last year. The program was started earlier this year and people better understood how it worked. People can use Santa Cash and pay for it with their income tax refund. Also there have been customers that have made purchases with Santa Cash with anticipation of receiving money for Christmas."

Randy Pedersen
The Diamond Center

"Santa Cash is a great promotion for the community. It's a good incentive to keep people shopping in Wayne. Santa Cash gives us an advantage over the shopping malls because the malls can't offer 120 days interest free monies. I've been real happy with the return and usage of Santa Cash this year."

Will Davis
Sav-Mor Pharmacy

"The retailers have joined together to promote the community as a whole by offering Santa Cash. People are attracted to the small town helpful atmosphere in Wayne. Santa Cash is a program bigger communities can't offer. We have seen an increase in the use of Santa Cash this year over last year, and it will be something that keeps building as people understand the benefits."

Lower Elkhorn NRD Board Sets 1994 Cost-Share Program Guidelines

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District board set the 1994 guidelines for the Conservation Cost-Share, Lands for Conservation, and the No-Till Drill Demonstration programs at the November board meeting in Norfolk.

The 1994 sign-up period will begin January 3rd for LENRD and State conservation cost-share funds, according to Ken Berney, LENRD assistant manager. The NRD board authorized $500,000 for the Conservation Cost-Share and Lands for Conservation programs.

Landowners applying for LENRD Conservation Cost-Share funds must have also applied for Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) cost-share funds at the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office.

Practices that are eligible for cost-share assistance are grade stabilization dams, water impoundment reservoirs, terrace rebuilds, new terraces, water and sediment control basins, tile and waterway terrace outlets, and diversions. Approved structural practices will be constructed only on land considered not adequately treated.

The NRD board also approved the guidelines for the 1994 Lands for Conservation Program.

"This program provides farmers with an extra incentive to get conservation on the land during the normal growing season," said Berney. A landowner has one of two options with the 1994 Lands for Conservation Program, according to Berney.

The first option remains the same as previous years. construction must be completed between April 1 and September 15. The field may be planted to a cover crop or another crop preceding or after construction and may be harvested or pastured during the contract period. The field must be available for construction by August 1. Eligible landowners will receive $50 per acre.

The second option requires construction to be completed between April 1 and July 31. This option pays landowners $75 per acre to idle only the area actually involved in construction and the rest of the field can be farmed.

The board also approved a recommendation to continue the no-till drill demonstration plot program. No-till drilling soybeans into corn residue has been identified by the Soil Conservation Service as a high priority for producers to achieve Food Security Act (FSA) compliance, said Berney.

"The no-till drill program is an excellent tool to promote crop residue management in this last year before the FSA compliance deadline," said Berney.

For more information on the NRD cost-share programs, contact the county SCS office or the Lower Elkhorn NRD in Norfolk.

The December board meeting of the Lower Elkhorn NRD will be held Tuesday, December 21 at 4 p.m. at the Lower Elkhorn NRD office in Norfolk.

Wayne State historian turned author visits fifth grade class

"The forgotten war" is how Dr. Don Hickey described the War of 1812 to the Wayne Middle School's fifth grade students. On Wednesday, Dec. 8, Dr. Hickey made a special visit to the Wayne Middle School to share his version of the War of 1812.

Dr. Hickey is a historian currently teaching at Wayne State College who has written a book entitled "The War of 1812." He shared with the students that this war is sometimes called "The forgotten war" because it took place immediately following the Revolutionary War but still had a great influence on our nation.

He also stirred up the student's inquisitive thinking skills by asking them several questions. These questions dealt with what they had learned in school about the war itself and how the nation could have been different today if it would not have occurred.

As Dr. Hickey drew in the minds of the Wayne fifth graders a portrait of the War of 1812, he also shared how his interest in the war began.

He shared background information on how he designed and published his book and also how his book has now come out on cassette.

The Wayne Middle School students closed the hour presentation with questions for Dr. Hickey about his background as an author, historian, professor and the war itself.

The students then thanked Dr. Hickey for sharing with them his vast knowledge about this historical event ... the war that may not be forgotten after all.

CHRISTMAS LUNCHEON

The Wakefield Happy Homemakers extension club met Dec. 6 in the home of Pauline Fischer for their cooperative Christmas luncheon.

Eight members answered Roll Call-Share a Christmas Tradition in Your Family. The secretary and treasurer's reports were given and okayed. Peggy Gustafson showed the Christmas gift she had purchased for the club to give to a resident at the Wakefield health care center.

Instead of a lesson in January they will make bags to be used at the State Convention in 1994, which will be used for place mats. Roll call in January is to bring a decoration for one bag. They filled out their yearly books. The officers were in charge of the entertainment. They had a cookie exchange and revealed their Secret Sisters with a Christmas gift. They drew for their secret sisters for 1994.

They will meet on Monday, Jan. 3 at the home of Sondra Mattes at 1:30 pm.

BY-LAWS ADOPTED

The Secretary of State of Nebraska officially filed the Articles of incorporation for the Wakefield Community Foundation on Nov. 24. The Articles were signed by Incorporators Merlin Olson and Jeanné Gardner on Nov. 22.

Since that time the Wakefield Community Foundation Board of Directors met on Dec. 6 at the Senior Citizen's Center. The board elected its officers: President-Merlin Olson; Vice president-Bill Kinney; Secretary/Treasurer-Lori Utmark. The officers will serve in their respective positions until the first annual meeting of the membership of the entire Foundation on the third Monday of March, 1994.

The Board also voted to approve a set of by-laws. The Foundation is set up to ensure the betterment and improvement of the Wakefield Community (the geographic area of School District 60R). The Foundation hopes to financially support many different types of projects in the future.

At present the Board of Directors is in the process of preparing an application with the Internal Revenue Service for tax-exempt status. Persons with questions about the Foundation are encouraged to contact any officer.

NEW BOOKS

The Graves Public Library not only provides a wealth of books to read, but also now has videos available, including, Walt Disney's "Aladdin", "Pinocchio", "Fantasia", "Little Nemo" and "The Shaggy Dog", "Once Upon a Forest", "Happily Ever After" and "Free Willy" to name a few.

Time-Life provides a variety of information. New at the library includes "The Mighty Chieftans", "Time Frame AD 1500-1600: The European Emergent" and "Voices of Triumph" are published by Time-Life. New from National Geographic are "The Great Apes" and "Unlocking the Secrets of the Unknown".
