118TH YEAR — NO. 30

County officials to receive raises; called underpaid

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Several Wayne County Officials will receive a raise in January of 1995 if they win reelection this year.

County Commissioners set the salaries to take effect in 1995 at $24,500, up from the $21,800 base currently received by such officials as the county clerk, treasurer, sheriff, assessor, attorney, highway superintendent and clerk of district court. Their $2,700 raise represents a 12 percent increase.

The amount the commissioners approved was $1,000 less than that requested by most of the officials who have been discussing the issue with commissioners at several recent meetings. However, included in the benefit package is a cost of living adjustment of up to 4 percent each year and fully paid health insurance coverage for both the officials and their families. The vote on the raises was unanimous.

COMMISSIONER Jerry Pospishil said a local businessman approached him this week and complained that it was improper to have elected county officials being paid less than street workers for the city of Wayne. He said he heard quite a few comments that the county officials were underpaid.

As part of the salary action commissioners also increased the pay for their own posts. Commissioners, beginning in 1995, will receive $14,700, up from their current pay of $11,356. Their $3,300 per year raises represent a 29 percent increase and better reflects the workload requirements placed on the commissioners they said.

"Right now you could almost attend a meeting every day of the week," said Pospishil of the workload. "We have a lot of additional responsibilities, I'll tell you," he added.

COMMISSIONER Merlin Beiermann warned his fellow commissioners, however, that the salary increase was a big jump to take in one year's time.

"But we've been going backwards," said Commissioner Bob Nissen of the salary level of the Kids learn about fire fighting

Fifth grade members of the Junior Fire Brigade in Wayne practiced putting out fires with chemical extinguishers during Monday night's activities at the Wayne Fire Hall. Volunteer firemen in Wayne meet with the youngsters monthly to go over fire safety practices and prevention techniques. Each student Monday doused small gasoline fires with their extinguishers.

Burglars are nabbed

Two suspects are in custody in Norfolk and will be facing numerous burglary charges including several charges in Wayne, according to Police Chief Vern Fairchild.

The Chief said evidence indicates the two who were arrested in Norfolk in the act of burglarizing a business Monday night, links them to four burglaries in Wayne Sunday night or early Monday morning in which over $800 in cash and checks were stolen.

Fairchild said entry was gained a Riley's, The Washhouse, Koplin Auto Supply and Geno's Restaurant in Wayne Sunday or early Monday through forced doors and he said all indications are the incidents were related and that the suspects in Norfolk would be charged with the crimes as well as other burglaries which were similar last year in Wayne.

He said officials are waiting to piece the facts together to determine if the two may be responsible for what appears to be a rash of burglaries throughout Northeast Nebraska in recent weeks.

"We're not sure how much of what was stolen we will be able to recover," said Fairchild. Over $700 in cash, plus checks were stolen from Geno's in the Sunday burglary he said.

He encouraged businesses to use the night depositories at their banks.

Month's Hero down plays his role

By Clara Osten
For the Herald

"For 25 years Stan has contributed his time, talent and resources for the maintenance of the heating system at the First United Methodist Church. He has done countless deeds for me and others in the neighborhood. He is a Good Neighbor!!!"

These are just two of the attributes of this month's Unsung Hero, Stanley A. Morris.

Morris tries to down play his contributions as nothing out of the ordinary, but his list of civic accomplishments over the past 46 years is long and noteworthy.

Born in Bloomington, Minnesota 77 years ago, Morris and his wife Beth moved to Wayne in 1948 and owned and operated Morris Machine Shop until their

First baby finally here

Wayne's New Year's baby is finally here.

Logan Thomas Weinandt was born this morning at 6:55 a.m. at Providence Medical Center. His parents are Jolene and Matt Weinandt of Wynot. Logan weighed 8 pounds, 11 ounces and is 22 inches long.

He joins two sisters, Brittany, 4, and Kelsey, 2.

Grandparents are Larry and Helen Borer of Elgin, Neb. and Clovis and Alice Weinandt of Hartington. Great grandparents are Louise Ketteler of Petersburg and Mr. and Mrs. Florence Burbach of Hartington.

Free eye exams offered

A program to provide eye examinations to low-income working people and their families gets underway in this area this month.

The program, called Vision USA, is being sponsored by the Nebraska Optometric Association and is part of a nationwide effort initiated by the American Optometric Association.

Local optometrists and Lions Club members are participating in the project.

Low-income workers can sign up for the free eye care by calling 375-1781 or 375-7346 in January, according to John Lange, O.D., chair of the Vision USA program in Nebraska.

The eye exams will be given in optometrists' private offices in March, coinciding with the 67th anniversary celebration of Save Your Vision Week, March 6-12. The optometrists are volunteering their time and services as "a way of giving something back to the people of our community," Dr. Lange said.

To qualify for the free eye care, persons must: have a job or live in a household where there is one working member; have income below an established level based on family size; and have had no eye examination within 12 months.

This is the third year the Vision USA program has been offered nationally. Last year, more than 55 NOA-member optometrists across the state donated their services and nearly 300 people received the free eye care.

Stan Morris of Wayne said he doesn't think he has done much to deserve being named an Unsung Hero in Wayne. His friends think differently.

retirement in 1990.

Since moving to Wayne, Stan has performed many tasks, both noticed and un-noticed, that have benefited his neighbors, the Wayne Community and the entire area.

His service to his neighborhood includes lighting pilot lights in the middle of the night for a widowed neighbor, shoveling snow from walks and driveways and pushing out cars when someone is stuck in the snow.

The person who nominated Morris stated, "When our children were small, Stan would take time from his busy schedule to fix a broken tricycle or favorite toy."

The Wayne community has benefited from Morris' generosity in numerous ways. He has served on several board positions at the First United Methodist Church for more than 20 years.

Eileen Nichols, church secretary, said, "Stan maintains and cleans the furnace and recently painted the interior of the furnace room. He goes about his work quietly, never expecting any recognition for his time or efforts."

His "time" includes checking the boiler daily during the winter months and arriving at the church at 6 a.m. on Sunday to regulate the temperature for the morning services.

He also does general maintenance work in and around the church.

Morris is very modest in taking credit for any of his civic accomplishments but has been recognized several times by both the Wayne Herald and the Wayne community for his service.

Morris was featured in a December 1966 Herald article concerning his manufacturing of relief valves for dredges. He was one of only three men licensed to make and install these valves.

In 1980 Morris was honored twice by being named Chamber of Commerce Man of the Year and the Small Business Administration District II Man of the Year.

Part of the nomination letter sent to the Small Business Administration stated "a prime motive for Morris Machine Shop's nomination has been Stan's unsurpassed devotion to community and social organizations."

Morris has been a member of the Masonic Lodge since 1944 and a member of the Cornhusker Shrine Club of Sioux City since 1960. He and his wife Beth served as presidents of the organization in 1983. They have sponsored three children to the Shriner's Crippled Hospital in Minneapolis.

He has been very active in the baseball association for many years, maintaining the ball park lighting system for more than 15 years, furnishing labor for improvements and maintenance of the park. In 1980 when he anticipated the reconstruction of the city's ball park, Morris donated the use of a large section of land near his shop to be used as a ball field.

Morris has also been active on the Wayne Municipal Airport Board and did routine maintenance for the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department trucks and equipment for more than 25 years.

Since his retirement in 1990 Morris has continued to work on a part-time basis at his former shop. He does machine work and welding whenever he is needed.

The Golden Years

As part of a new law, job holders now have an option when an elderly parent requires care for a health problem. Under the U.S. Family and Medical Leave Act, companies with 50 or more employees must grant requests for up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave in a single year to care for an immediate family member with a serious health condition, or when the employee is unable to work because of a health condition, or for the birth or adoption of a child. Employees must have worked for their company for one year to be eligible. The law requires that pre-existing health coverage remain in force during the leave, and an employee can return to the same or an equivalent job.

For a TV commercial promoting fresh fruit, several sports standouts were auditioned as examples of mature adults pursuing health and fitness. Chosen to star in the commercial, taped on Stanford University's track, was Burt Morrow, a champion hurdler at age 80. He didn't start leaping over hurdles until he was past 70. Since then he's won many gold medals in national senior competitions.

Remember When? May 1, 1961 — One of nine passengers on a flight from Miami to Key West waved a pistol and ordered the pilot to fly to Havana. It was the first skyjacking of a U.S. airliner.

How To Dispose of Outdated Medications

Outdated or unused medications must be disposed of carefully to avoid risk of accidental poisoning. Tablets, capsules, and syrups should be flushed, and the bottles thrown away. Patches, such as those for nicotine and estrogens, should be returned to their original packaging and thrown away in receptacles not accessible to children and pets. Even used patches still contain medication that could be absorbed by a child or pet. Remember to store all medications out of the reach of children prior to their disposal.

Nebraskans lottery happy

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) -- Nebraskans have spent on average of $16 per person to buy 25 million Nebraska Lottery tickets in just the first four months of the game, according to state officials.

When Powerball's multimillion-dollar jackpots and other computerized lottery games come to Nebraska, expectations are for an additional $30 million per year ($19 per person), officials predict.

Sales totals would place Nebraska near the bottom in a ranking of the 37 states with lotteries.

An analysis of state-by-state wagering in 1992, the most recent year for which complete statistics are available, shows the amount bet per capita in Nebraska was $258 on its varied gambling outlets. That total includes wagers on horse racing, keno, picket cards, bingo and raffles.

Nebraska's per-capita ranking is 26th overall, although the state didn't have its own lottery then.

States around Nebraska had some of the highest per-capita totals in 1992.

South Dakota, with its video poker machines and casinos in Deadwood, was third. Colorado was fourth, pushed by its casino gambling.

North Dakota ranked high without a state lottery because of its popular pull-tab charity cards. Iowa and Illinois also ranked high with their riverboat casinos adding to the betting pool in those states.

Betting on Indian reservations wasn't included because those figures are unavailable in 1992, the analysis said.

Acting Nebraska Lottery Director James Quinn said the amount bet on keno, raffles, bingo, pickle cards and pari-mutuel racing were considered when officials came up with the annual lottery sales estimates.

The officials estimate sales could be $30 million for scratch-off tickets and $30 million for Powerball and other computerized games.

"But I think everyone agrees it will take a lot of work for $30 million," said Charles Brooke, the former director of the Montana Lottery and now director of government relations for Automated Wagering International Inc. of Bozeman, Mont.

AWI is one of three companies that bid to supply the Nebraska Lottery with the on-line, or computerized, system and related services to bring Powerball and other games to the state. Lottery officials rejected all three bids Dec. 30, saying they were too high.

The bidders were AWI, GTECH Corp. of West Greenwich, R.I., and On-Line Nebraska of Omaha, whose majority shareholders are former U.S. Sen. David Karnes of Omaha and Greg Erwin of Omaha, who owns Big Red Keno companies.

Bids have been kept confidential. Nebraska Lottery officials are researching ways to cut costs, then will ask for new bids.

Officials with AWI and GTECH Corp. said there are ways to deal with Nebraska's sparse population and gambling competition to make the on-line games profitable to the state and company that wins the contract.

"Nebraska's situation is not unique in the industry," Brooke said. "Other states have been successful. I'm confident Nebraska will be, too."

The three bidders asked for a percentage of sales that John Adams, the lottery's deputy director, said would have been economically unsound.

Beef supplies provide good news

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) -- America's beef lovers should be able to take advantage of good supplies and lower prices in 1994, the National Cattlemen's Association said.

Chuck Lambert, director of economic activities for the association, said beef production is expected to increase by about 3 percent from 23 billion pounds of beef carcass weight to 23.8 billion pounds.

That would indicate an increase in per capita beef consumption from a little less than 66 pounds per person annually to 67.5 pounds retail weight. Lambert expects beef cattle production to increase slowly over the next few years, which could result in per capita beef consumption reaching 69-70 pounds per person by 1996.

Lambert said beef exports, which account for 6 percent of U.S. beef production, also should increase in 1994 after declining for the first time in several years in 1993.

Increased beef supplies, plus an increase in the supply of competing meats, will keep pressure on beef prices, according to Tom Brink director of market research for CattleFax, a market information service associated with the NCA. Beef prices could be 2 percent lower than they were in 1993, when the average price of all grades of beef was $2.70 per pound.

Seasonal swings in beef prices are expected to follow their usual pattern of surging in the first part of the year, smaller supply in spring, larger supply again in summer and a fall decline, Brink said.

The highest retail prices likely will come in spring when supplies are low and there is a seasonal increase in demand with the start of the outdoor grilling and picnic season.

Beef production for the first half of 1994 could be 1 percent to 3 percent above the same period in 1993, according to University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension economist Allen Wellman. That's due to cattle feeder placements and feedlot inventories, and increased cow slaughter.

Wellman expects fed cattle prices to average slightly below last year's levels over the first six months of this year. Last year, fed cattle averaged $79 to $80 in the January-to-March quarter, and close to $80 from April-to-June.

Prices could continue to trend a little lower than a year ago through the rest of 1994, but other factors such as feed, feeder cattle prices and the overall economic outlook could play a role.

According to Lambert, the nation's cowherd is the largest it has been since 1985. He expects to see the herd expand further before supply-demand factors hurt prices enough for cattlemen to cut back.

According to the Agricultural Statistics Service, the July 1, 1993, cattle inventory was 110.6 million head, up 1 percent from a year before. The number of heifers being held-as-replacements also was up 2 percent on the same count.

THE SALARY resolution for the commissioners also includes a provision to annually adjust the commissioners' pay to keep it at 60 percent of the pay received by full-time elected county officials.

The commissioners voted to keep the pay for the part-time county superintendent of schools at $10,400. They voted to increase the pay for the county surveyor from $665 to $700 a year.

Nissen is the only elected county official who will not be up for reelection this year.

Wayne beats Schuyler, South Sioux

Blue Devil boys back on track

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Wayne boys basketball team came off Christmas Break like they never missed a beat. The Blue Devils notched two major victories over the weekend against quality opponents to leave them with an 8-1 record heading into Tuesday's home game with Laurel.

On Friday, Rocky Ruhl's squad defeated Schuyler, 55-45 in a make-up game from earlier in the season. Wayne led 16-11 after the first quarter and 29-24 at the half.

Robert Bell led the winners with 15 points and Matt Blomenkamp tossed in 14. Ryan Pick and Joe Lutt were near the double figures mark with eight apiece and Kirk Carmichael chipped in with six.

"This was a good win for us," Ruhl said. "It probably wasn't the prettiest game in the world but we won. We allowed Schuyler to get a little close late in the game but I was pleased with the way we finished the game, hitting our free throws."

Wayne out-rebounded the Warriors, 35-20 led by Mike Fluent's 11 caroms while Bell hauled down nine. Wayne committed just eight turnovers and Schuyler had 10. Wayne was 10-18 from the free throw line while the visitors were 8-15.

ON SATURDAY, the Blue Devils hosted Class A South Sioux City and played nearly a perfect game en route to an 86-71 victory. "Everybody was on," Ruhl said. "The kids came ready to play and took care of business."

The Blue Devils hit 62 percent of their shot attempts including an 8-12 outing from behind the three-point line. The game was tied at 22 after the first quarter but Wayne went on a 24-11 scoring run in the second period to take control of the game.

Matt Blomenkamp enjoyed his finest game ever as a Blue Devil, pouring in 29 points and hitting 71 percent of his shot attempts in the process. Robert Bell tickled the twine for 18 points including three, three-pointers. In fact, Bell was 3-3 from three-point range.

Mike Fluent tallied 14 points and was 7-8 from the field and Ryan Pick was in double figures with 11.

Joe Lutt finished with eight points. "It was just a total team effort," Ruhl said. "We were focused. It was a fun game to watch because both teams were lighting it up from the outside."

South Sioux's top gun Brian Schwiager tallied 27 points to lead the Cardinals. Wayne out-rebounded South Sioux, 27-13 as Fluent led the way with nine caroms.

Wayne suffered just nine turnovers but South Sioux had only six. The Blue Devils were 20-30 from the foul line and the visitors were 9-12.

THE WAYNE girls did not enjoy the same success the boys did in their outing with South Sioux, Saturday. Roger Reikofski's squad ran head on into a very solid Class A team in the Lady Cardinals and Wayne ended up on the short end of an 86-34 score.

Wayne trailed 32-7 after the first quarter and 53-11 at the half. "We obviously didn't play very well and South Sioux had a tremendous team," Reikofski said. "They hit the offensive boards when they did miss a shot and we didn't stop them."

The 5-5 Blue Devils were led by Carrie Fink with 14 points and Jenny Thompson with seven. South Sioux finished with a 50-35 advantage on the boards despite 13 caroms from Anne Wiseman. Wayne turned the ball over 28 times versus 19 for the winners.

Wayne will travel to play Randolph on Tuesday.

Wayne boys (55), Schuyler (45): Wayne—Robert Bell, 15; Matt Blomenkamp, 14; Joe Lutt, 8; Ryan Pick, 8; Kirk Carmichael, 6; Ryan Martin, 2; Mike Fluent, 2.

Wayne boys (86), South Sioux (71): Wayne—Matt Blomenkamp, 29; Robert Bell, 18; Mike Fluent, 14; Ryan Pick, 11; Joe Lutt, 8; Kirk Carmichael, 4; Jason Carr, 2.

Wayne girls (34), South Sioux (86): Wayne—Carrie Fink, 14; Jenny Thompson, 7; Tami Schluns, 4; Amy Post, 2; Katie Lutt, 2; Anne Wiseman, 2; Audra Sievers, 2; Melissa Weber, 1.

WAYNE'S MATT Blomenkamp looks to get past a Schuyler double-team during action at the Wayne High gym last Friday. The Blue Devils defeated the Warriors by 10 and then defeated South Sioux on Saturday.

Basketball program starts Saturday

WAYNE-The Wayne High Little Kids Basketball Program will begin Saturday at Wayne High for boys and girls in grades three through six. The program will continue each Saturday through the 19th of February with the exception of Feb. 12.

Third and fourth grade girls will practice from 8:30-9:45 a.m. followed by the fifth and sixth grade girls from 9:45-11 a.m. Third and fourth grade boys will practice from 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. and the fifth and sixth grade boys will practice from 12:15-1:30 p.m.

The annual high school program is coached by Wayne high coaches Roger Reikofski and Rocky Ruhl along with players.

Parent's Night for wrestling

WAYNE-Thursday's wrestling dual with South Sioux at Wayne High will also be Parent's Night. Action is expected to get underway at 7 p.m. Following the dual there will also be a Wayne Wrestling Club meeting in room 203. The meeting is open to everyone.

Grapplers earn sixth place at Wisner invite

The Wayne wrestling team placed sixth at the Wisner-Pilger Invitational, Saturday. Todd Viereck's squad scored 102 points and had eight medal winners led by Dusty Jensen at 160 and Jason Shultheis at 171 as both were crowned champions.

Jeff Hamer finished runner-up at heavyweight and Terry Rutenbeck at 140 along with Cory Erxleben at 135 each placed third. Jeremy Meyer placed fourth at 135 and Brent Geiger placed fourth at 152 while Jeremy Sturm placed fourth at 145.

Creighton won the team title with 172 points while West Point placed second with 129. Norfolk reserves were third with 119 and West Point Central Catholic was fourth with 118. Wisner placed fifth with 114 and Wayne followed.

Pender, Pierce, Wisner's reserves, Schuyler's reserves and Lyons-Decatur rounded out the field of teams in order.

Jensen won his first match by pin in 3:29 before winning his semifinal match, 9-7. In the finals he won by an 8-6 margin. Shultheis won his first match by default and won his semifinal match by pin in 2:33. In the finals he won by a 4-2 margin.

Hamer won by pin in 2:50 in his first match and won by pin in 1:26 in his semifinal match before losing 3-0 in the finals. Erxleben won by pin in 5:55 in his first match before falling by a 7-1 margin in the semifinals. In the consolation finals he won by a 7-6 margin.

Rutenbeck won by pin in his first match in 1:11 before falling, 12-3 in the semifinals. In the consolation finals he won, 8-6. Wayne was open in three weight classes which more than likely led to its sixth place finish instead of anything higher. Wayne will dual South Sioux on Thursday night in Parent's Night.

WSC men split weekend home games; gals win big

The Wayne State men's basketball team was defeated by Bemidji State, 105-94 Saturday in Rice Auditorium but Mike Brewen's 'Cats rebounded on Monday night and edged Dana College, 91-89.

In Saturday's game the visitors scored 60, first half points to take a five point lead into the locker room and Wayne State couldn't slow down the hot shooting Beavers in the second half.

Bemidji State connected on 54 percent of its shots from the floor, hitting 40-74. The 'Cats, however, didn't shoot the ball badly either as they connected on 35 of 66 attempts for 53 percent.

Billy Patterson paced WSC with 21 points while Dan Anderson tossed in 14. Terry Mailloux and Greg Ryan each netted 13 and Nate Parks scored 10. Kyle White was the sixth WSC player to reach double figures with 10 points.

Both teams finished with 37 rebounds with Mailloux leading WSC with nine caroms while Anderson and Ryan had five each. Mike Mitchell dished out a team high six assists while White and Omar Clark had four apiece.

The 'Cats did suffer 25 turnovers compared to 22 for Bemidji. Patterson had three steals to lead the team which fell to 3-8.

On Saturday, the 'Cats led Dana, 46-41 at the half but had to come from behind to win late in the contest. Terry Mailloux scored a basket with nearly 90 seconds to go in regulation to give WSC a two point lead and there was no more scoring the rest of the way. In fact, Dana didn't score over the final 2 1/2 minutes of the game.

Billy Patterson led WSC in scoring once again with 20 points while Dan Anderson poured in 14. Omar Clark netted 10 while Brad Uhing and Nate Parks finished with nine each.

WSC won the battle of the boards, 51-44 led by Mailloux's 10 caroms while Uhing hauled down nine and Anderson, eight. Kyle White dished out a team high seven assists and the 'Cats had only 15 turnovers while forcing 24.

THE WAYNE State women blasted visiting Bemidji State in their lone game over the weekend, 83-58 leaving Mike Barry's squad with an impressive 11-3 record.

The 'Cats jumped out to a 39-28 lead at the intermission and were never threatened in the second half. "Our bench really played well,"

Barry said. "They've been doing a good job for us all year long but against Bemidji our top two scorers got into foul trouble and the bench came to the rescue."

Barry said his squad supplied very good pressure on Bemidji, forcing them out of their game plan. "They just weren't ready for our type of pressure," Barry said.

"We forced 37 turnovers. They are more of a half court type of team but we forced them into a full court game and they didn't respond very well."

Linda Heller and Brenda TeGrotenhuis led the winners with 13 points each while Ann Kramer netted 11 and Jodi Otjen, 10. WSC out-rebounded the visitors, 47-30 led by Mindi Jensen with eight rebounds and Kramer and Otjen with five each.

Lynn Nohr and Deb Kostreba shared team honors in assists as each dished out five and Lisa Chamberlain had a team high, six steals. Both Wayne State teams will travel to play Winona State on Wednesday.

WSC men (94), Bemidji St. (105): WSC—Billy Patterson, 21; Dan Anderson, 14; Greg Ryan, 13; Terry Mailloux, 13; Nate Parks, 11; Kyle White, 10; Mike Mitchell, 5; Omar Clark, 4; John Rollman, 2; Brad Uhing, 1.

WSC men (91), Dana (89): WSC—Billy Patterson, 20; Dan Anderson, 14; Omar Clark, 10; Brad Uhing, 9; Nate Parks, 9; Terry Mailloux, 8;

John Rollman, 7; Greg Ryan, 6; Kyle White, 6; Steve Skradski, 2.

WSC women (83), Bemidji St. (58): WSC—Linda Heller, 13; Brenda TeGrotenhuis, 13; Ann Kramer, 11; Jodi Otjen, 10; Lynn Nohr, 8; Amy Brodersen, 6; Marla Stewart, 5; Deedra Haskins, 4; Lisa Chamberlain, 4; Kristy Twait, 3; Liz Reeg, 2; Deb Kostreba, 2; Mindi Jensen, 2.

Laurel boys defeat Pierce by 10 while girls defeated by 27

The Laurel girls and boys basketball teams hosted Pierce, Friday and the Bears teams earned a split with the Bluejays as Rick Petri's girls team fell, 55-28 while Clayton Steele's boys won, 69-59.

In the girls game the Bears trailed 13-6 after the first quarter and they never really threatened after that. "This was probably our worst outing of the season," Petri said. "We just weren't ready to play. We didn't do a good job of handling Pierce's pressing defense and we turned the ball over a lot."

The 2-7 Bears were led in scoring by Samantha Felber with eight while Leann Stewart netted six. Amanda Hartung and Becky Schroeder scored five each and Alissa Krie scored four.

In the boys contest, Laurel led 15-12 after the first quarter and 28-19 at the half. Laurel took an 18 point lead into the fourth quarter and actually led by as many as 23 before settling for the 10 point victory.

"With just 1:30 to go in the game we led by 23 and with 40 seconds left in the game we led by 21 but yet we won by 10," Steele said. "They hit about three long range shots right at the end to close the gap in a hurry."

The 6-2 Bears were led by Jared Reinoehl with 18 points and Jeremy Reinoehl with 15. Cody Carstensen was also in double figures with 11. Laurel did a good job of handling the ball as they suffered just eight turnovers while forcing 20. The Bears were 25-36 from the foul line while Pierce was 18-31.

Laurel will travel to play Wayne on Tuesday.

Laurel girls (28), Pierce (55): Laurel—Samantha Felber, 8; Leann Stewart, 6; Becky Schroeder, 5; Amanda Hartung, 5; Alissa Krie, 4.

Winside grapplers capture own meet

Paul Sok's Winside wrestling team captured top honors at their own invitational, Saturday and in doing so, looked quite impressive. "This was the best we've looked this season and quite possibly, the best we've wrestled as a team in a long time," Sok said. "We had 10 medal winners out of the 11 kids that wrestled for us."

Coming into the meet Scott Jacobsen at 112 pounds and Brady Frahm at 152 pounds were ranked number one in Class D and both of them lived up to that billing by capturing first place Saturday.

Josh Jaeger, ranked fourth in Class D, also placed first at 125 and Lucas Mohr was crowned champion at 130. Jason Wylie was the Wildcats lone runner-up placer at 119 while Robert Wittler placed third at the same weight of 119. Shaun Magwire also placed third at 140.

Fourth place finishes went to Nate Behmer at 103; Dave Paulsen at 189 and Steve Svatos at 135.

Jacobsen wrestled for the first time in several weeks after suffering cracked ribs in December and he pinned Tim Moylan of Ainsworth in 3:01 of the finals.

Jaeger decisioned Ainsworth's Bryan Wysocki, 8-0 in the finals and Mohr won his championship by decisioning Spencer Hawkins of Oakland, 13-7. Hawkins, incidentally, is a state placer from a year ago.

Frahm needed 4:29 of his finals match to pin Wyatt Frahm of Plainview. Wylie lost in the finals to defending state runner-up Del Hawkins of Oakland, 16-3.

Robert Wittler decisioned Steve Schellpeper of Stanton, 5-4 for third place honors and Magwire pinned David Puetz of Norfolk Catholic in 2:34. Behmer was pinned in 2:55 by Justin Huggins of Ainsworth in the consolation finals and Svatos was decisioned, 6-0 by Norfolk Catholic's John Bauer.

Dave Paulson placed fourth after losing a 17-6 decision to Kory Richardson of Ainsworth. Winside will host a dual with Stanton and Howells on Thursday before traveling to compete in the Battle Creek Invitational on Saturday.

BRADY FRAHM makes his move en route to pinning his opponent during the Winside Invitational, Saturday. Frahm is the number one rated wrestler in Class D at 152 pounds. Winside as a team, ranks fifth.

WINSIDE'S JOSH JAEGER works over his opponent during Saturday's Winside Invitational. Jaeger captured the championship in his weight class and helped lead Winside to its first invitational title of the year.

Allen girls breeze past Ponca, 54-29

The Allen girls basketball team upped their record to 7-2, Friday with a 54-29 victory over Ponca in Allen. Lori Koester and Gary Erwin watched their team take a 28-16 lead into the locker room at half before putting the icing on the cake in the third quarter with a 17-3 scoring run for a 45-19 lead.

Tanya Plueger and Steph Martinson led the winners with 19 and 18 points, respectively. Dawn Diediker was also in double figures with 10. Allen out-rebounded Ponca, 31-22 led by Plueger with 14 rebounds and Martinson with eight caroms.

The Eagles had 21 turnovers but forced 27 and Allen was 4-11 from the foul line compared to 7-8 shooting by Ponca. "We got excellent guard play from Dawn, Holly Blair and Abby Schroeder," Koester said. "Dawn has been doing a magnificent job of providing the leadership our team needs."

Koester was also pleased with the consistent inside play of Tanya Plueger and Steph Martinson. Allen will host Bancroft-Rosalie on Friday.

In boys action, Allen was blasted by Ponca, 83-46. Jeff Schoning's squad couldn't find any consistency on offense outside of Curtis Oswald who finished with 21 points. Casey Schroeder was also in double figures with 10.

The Eagle boys won their first game of the season last week in Wausa with a 60-59 victory over the Vikings in overtime. Tim Fertig hit a free throw with 15 seconds to go to give Allen the lead and the win.

Curtis Oswald led the team with 24 points while Casey Schroeder tossed in 18. Fertig netted nine and Jay Jackson chipped in with nine.

Allen girls (54), Ponca (29): Allen—Tanya Plueger, 19; Steph Martinson, 18; Dawn Diediker, 10; Holly Blair, 4; Abby Schroeder, 2; Debbie Plueger, 1.

Allen boys (46), Ponca (83): Allen—Curtis Oswald, 21; Casey Schroeder, 10; Jay Jackson, 4; Craig Philbrick, 3; Mike Blohm, 3; Scott Williams, 2; Tim Fertig, 2.

Wakefield boys get revenge in tourney

The Wakefield basketball teams enjoyed success at the Pender Post Holiday Tournament over the weekend as Brad Hoskins' boys captured first place while Gregg Cruickshank's girls settled for runner-up honors.

The Trojan boys got the sweet taste of revenge twice, by beating Pender in the first round and Emerson-Hubbard in the championship—two teams that had beaten Wakefield earlier in the season.

In fact, the Pender game on Friday was the third time in 30 days the two teams had clashed. Wakefield jumped out to a 11-7 lead after the first quarter and took a 32-21 lead into the intermission before holding on for a 54-49 victory.

"When you play the same team this many times in a short amount of time you pretty much know each other," Hoskins said. "We gave a few new looks, however, and changed some player assignments which really worked out to our favor."

Wakefield's first half was aided by three, Justin Dutcher 3-pointers and another long range bomb from Cory Brown who led the team in scoring with 20 points. Dutcher finished with 13 and Miah Johnson netted seven.

Both teams garnered 28 rebounds with Brown and Blecke leading the way with six caroms each. In the first two meetings Wakefield had a hard time controlling Pender's Steve Vogt, who scored 50 points total but in Friday's game, the Trojans defense held Vogt to 13 points.

IN THE championship game against Emerson-Hubbard, the Trojans set out to defend prolific scorer Brent Beacom who had scored 25 the first time the two teams met.

Wakefield's defense did its magic again as they held him to just 12 points en route to a 61-57 victory. "We played a tough zone defense against them because they have such good outside shooting ability," Hoskins said. "They hit just 7 of 25 from three-point range."

The 6-5 Trojans were led by Miah Johnson with 13 points while Wes Blecke netted 12. Lucas Tappe chipped in with nine and Ryan Ekberg scored eight while Cory Brown tallied seven.

Wakefield out-rebounded the Pirates, 51-36 as Brown led the team with 10 caroms while Blecke had nine. Both Ekberg and Tappe each had eight rebounds.

Wakefield will travel to play Walthill on Tuesday and then travel to Winside on Friday.

THE TROJAN girls also got some revenge over the weekend as they beat Pender for the first time in several seasons, 39-34 in their first round game on Thursday.

"We were only up 17-15 at the half but we came out in the beginning of the third quarter and scored the first eight points," Cruickshank said. "We used a good, pressing defense which resulted in some easy baskets."

Maria Eaton was the only player in double figures with 13 while Mary Torczon netted eight. Kali Baker was right behind with seven and Jamie Oswald tallied six.

Wakefield won the battle of the boards, 31-26 with Torczon leading the way with eight caroms.

In the championship game, however, Wakefield was defeated by Emerson-Hubbard, 45-26. The Trojans only trailed 25-17 at the half but could only manage nine, second half points.

"We probably went from the extreme of playing our best game of the year against Pender to playing our worst game of the year against Emerson," Cruickshank said. "We just didn't come ready to play."

Mary Torczon led the team in scoring with eight points while Maria Eaton tallied six. Eaton had six rebounds for team honors. Wakefield connected on just 8 of 41 field goal attempts.

The 4-6 Trojans will play at Walthill on Tuesday and host Emerson on Thursday before traveling to play Winside on Friday.

Wakefield boys (54), Pender (49): Wakefield—Cory Brown, 20; Ryan Ekberg, 6; Justin Dutcher, 13; Wes Blecke, 2; Miah Johnson, 7; Lucas Tappe, 6.

Wakefield boys (61), Emerson (57): Wakefield—Miah Johnson, 13; Wes Blecke, 12; Lucas Tappe, 9; Ryan Ekberg, 7; Cory Brown, 7; Justin Dutcher, 7; Tony Nixon, 5.

Wakefield girls (39), Pender, (34): Wakefield—Maria Eaton, 13; Mary Torczon, 8; Kali Baker, 7; Jamie Oswald, 6; Andrea Carson, 4; Suzann Ekberg, 1.

Wakefield girls (26), Emerson (45): Wakefield—Mary Torczon, 8; Maria Eaton, 6; Jamie Paulson, 3; Kali Baker, 3; Jamie Oswald, 2; Suzann Ekberg, 2; Andrea Carson, 2.

Winside boys fall to Beemer

WINSIDE-Randy Geier's Winside boys basketball team lost a 60-50 decision at Beemer, Friday leaving the Wildcats with a 1-6 record heading into Tuesday's contest at home with Hartington.

Winside trailed 14-11 after the first quarter and 35-25 at the intermission. The loss offset an outstanding performance by Ryan Brogren who finished with 15 points and 15 rebounds.

Jayme Shelton tallied 10 points and Jaimey Holdorf netted eight. Kurt Jaeger scored six and Colby Jensen netted five while Marty Jorgensen chipped in with four and Jeremy Jenkins, 2.

Both teams recorded 43 rebounds with Jensen notching nine caroms to finish second to Brogren.

The Way It Was...

Annual New Car and Truck Shows were a popular event for the Wayne Auditorium in the 1930s according to Roy Coryell, who submitted this photo he believes was taken in 1938 or 1939. Area car dealers packed the shiny new models into the auditorium, 20 units in all and gave the public a chance to see them all for the first time together, from Nash's to new Ford V-8s. A new car could easily be purchased for $600 in those days.

Kerrey supports electronic classrooms

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) -- North-east Nebraska can't afford to delay investing in a proposed instructional television network that would link classrooms across the area, U.S. Sen. Bob Kerrey said.

The Nebraska Democrat attended a conference on the proposed network Wednesday at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

Supporters of the network include a partnership involving more than 50 school districts, Wayne State College, Northeast Community College, Nebraska Indian Community College and Educational Service Units 1 and 8 in Neligh and Wakefield.

Two-way, interactive television would be available through the network, allowing schools to share classes, teachers and to combine resources to offer new courses. The network also could be used to bring such classes as nursing and emergency medical training to remote areas.

Kerrey said he hopes the proposed network can be implemented statewide and not just in northeast Nebraska. Combining resources statewide might make it easier to find funds, he said.

The education partners hired Tele-Systems Associates to do a feasibility study of the network. The Hastings, Minn., company completed the study earlier this year and recommended combining towns in clusters.

Whether the money comes from the government or private sources, it's an investment in the state's infrastructure, Kerrey said. Not investing in the network would be wasting an opportunity, he said.

Joe Ferguson, Northeast's director of industry, business and economic development, said funding hasn't been determined, but the college has worked with the city of Norfolk to see if a Community Development Block Grant can be obtained.

Newest session underway in Lincoln

By Stan Schellpeper
District 18 Senator

The 1994 Session of the Nebraska Legislature convened on Jan. 5 for the short 60 day session and we expect to adjourn around the middle of April. Our first major legislative action was to elect a new speaker who will set our agenda for this session.

Sen. Ron Withem of Papillion was elected by one vote over Sen. George Coordsen of Hebron. I am very hopeful that Sen. Withem will be fair to rural interests. As the Legislature shifts to an urban majority, it is very important that rural senators work together to ensure that rural interests are protected.

We will be debating a number of carryover bills that were introduced last year but were not far enough up on the agenda to be debated and passed. All new bills introduced this session will have a hearing where the public will have an opportunity to comment on the proposed legislation.

The hearings will probably be scheduled to begin around Jan. 18. If past years are any indication, I would expect about 400 new bills to be introduced within the 10 days set aside for bill introduction. Many of the bills will not be debated, because of the short session, unless they are designated as a Senator or Committee priority bill.

The Legislature will likely spend considerable time debating the Governor's crime package in addition to the health care reform proposals he plans to introduce to the Legislature. I intend to become involved in the rural health care section of this bill not only because of its importance to rural Nebraskans but also because of the need for additional funding for important rural health programs I have sponsored in the past.

The Governor's crime package will take an exceptional amount of time and debate due to the opposition by some senators to the inclusion of mandatory minimum sentences for certain crimes and offenders. I plan to support most of this bill because it is essential that we get crime under control in Nebraska. However, it is also important that we continue to work toward rehabilitation of convicted criminals through educational and vocational skills programs.

I would like to urge anyone who has a view or concerns with the bills we are debating to contact me personally or my staff. My phone numbers are 439-2907 at home and 471-2801 at my office in Lincoln. A new addition to my staff this year is Lyn Heaton who is originally from Creighton. Lyn has many relatives in District 18 and he is familiar with many of the concerns you may have with your state government.

Nebraska Wesleyan University student Jennifer Chapman, Wayne, has been appointed as copy editor of the Cornerstone, the college's weekly student newspaper for the spring semester of 1994.

Nebraska Wesleyan is located in Lincoln.

Holli Trube, Wayne, has been named to the Southeast Community College Beatrice Campus Dean's List for the fall semester of 1993.

Arnold Johnson of Wayne, a lease operator for Tom Snell Trucking, Inc. of Ellinwood, Kan., was honored at the company safety meeting Dec. 18 for five full years of service to the firm. A company Christmas party and dance was also held that day.

Wayne Lions Club schedules annual area talent contest

The Wayne Lions Club has scheduled its annual talent contest for 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, March 27 in the Ley Theatre on the Wayne State College campus.

Entry blanks for those wishing to participate in the contest will appear in the March 15 issue of The Wayne Herald. Deadline for entries will be March 22.

Participants will compete in six divisions: 8-years-old and under; 9-11 years old; 11-years-old and under (groups of three to nine persons); 12-14 years old; 15-18 years old; and 12-18 years of age (groups of three to nine persons).

Contestants age on July 1, 1993 determines the division in which he or she competes. The age of the oldest contestant in a group determines the division in which the group competes.

Performances are limited to four minutes maximum. Judging is based on talent (30 points), perfection of performance (20 points) and audience appeal (10 points). No acts using fire will be allowed.

First and second place winners will be named in each division and trophies will be awarded. First place winners will go on to participate in the Lions district contest which will be held in April and winners there will compete in the State Lions Talent Contest, which will be held in Norfolk in June.

People wishing additional information about the local talent contest should contact Hilbert Johs of Wayne at 375-7334 or 375-3369.

Farm Show opens Jan. 19

The president of Shows Inc., Joe Stavas, announces the upcoming Northeast Nebraska Farm Show to be held in the Activities Center at Northeast Community College in Norfolk on Jan. 19 and 20.

This year's show will feature 90 commercial exhibits, with booths in the gymnasium and larger farm equipment conveniently displayed just in front of the Activity Center at Northeast. The college and Radio Station WJAG are sponsoring informational programs dealing with topical farm issues including "Conservation Compliance" on Wednesday and "Safety and Health on the Farm" on Thursday. The informational programs start at 10:15 a.m. each day.

Show times will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both Wednesday and Thursday. Patrons will also have an opportunity to register for door prizes, as well as a grand prize of a complete home satellite television system, and a first prize of a custom made pickup top.

The show, now in its seventh year, is free to the public.

Holiday is time for indulging sweet tooth

Years ago, when I was a student nurse, I attended the national convention in Atlantic City. I was introduced to salt water taffy, and loved it. I taught my kids to like it; not that you have to teach kids to like candy.

There is a candy store in Keystone, S.D., where you can watch the machines making the stuff. They have yummy fudge, and we tried it; but we also bought salt water taffy.

Veryl Jackson transported our kindergartners in the van, and gave them each a handmade gift at Christmas time. Ann's was a huge stocking, made of bandana print. The kids decided it was Mom and Dad's sock, so it gets put out with theirs on Christmas Eve. Since Dad loves butterscotch drops, there is usually a bag of those. And one of salt water taffy for Mom. This year, there were two bags of taffy. And I've eaten an awful lot of it the past two weeks. "I can't eat just one."

Mike gets the lemon and licorice flavors; I like all the rest. There are still a dozen pieces in the candy dish on the coffee table.

I've just watched the Tom Peterson farewell which Ann taped. It certainly brings back memories, of pointers! Tom was the speaker for Sue's graduation, and that was 12 years ago, so he's been doing the weather report for a long time. He'll be missed.

The song at the end, "I'll not take these things for granted — any more" is so appropriate. We have to be reminded, over and over again. Even the little traditions, like butterscotch drops and salt water taffy, are important.

The cold snap had me hunting for long Johns. And putting flannel sheets on the bed and stoking the wood stove. Even paying the propane bill on time!

I have to remember to take my nurse's bag out of the car at night. The stethoscope gets so cold, it could probably cause a heart attack.

Our legislature reconvened this week. My daily calendar reports that a politician is someone who never met a tax he didn't hike.

Enough of this rambling. Time to hike to the mail box. Then get out a good book and an afghan.

New business classes offered

Three new business classes have been added to Northeast Community College's second semester schedule, according to college officials.

The new classes are Business Law I, which meets Tuesdays and Thursdays from 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.; Macroeconomics meets Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 11 to 11:50 a.m. and Microsoft Windows will be on Saturdays from 10 to 11:50 a.m.

Happy 40th!

Defensive class is open

The Safety Council of Nebraska will be conducting a defensive driving class on Jan. 22 in Norfolk at the Norfolk Police Department, 202 N. 7th Street, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This class is approved to grant a two-point credit on the drivers' license of a person in danger of losing his/her driving privilege.

Interested persons should contact Sgt. Richard Holter at 644-8700.

The Safety Council of Nebraska, Inc., a chapter of the National Safety Council, is a non-profit, non-governmental organization promoting safety and health throughout Nebraska.

Farmers putting the plow to rest

A nationwide survey shows more farmers are abandoning the plow for the economic and environmental benefits of conservation tillage.

The Annual Tillage Survey for 1993 also indicates Nebraska as the top state in the number of ridge-till crest.

The survey, which was conducted by the Conservation Technology Information Center and includes more than 3,000 counties nationwide, shows conservation tillage across the nation accounted for over 97 million acres or nearly 35 percent of total cropland acres planted in 1993.

About 55 percent, or 8.3 million acres, of Nebraska cropland is in some of conservation tillage. This may include ridge-till, no-till or mulch-till.

"Farmers who practice conservation tillage leave at least 30 percent of the residue from previous crops on the ground after planting," said Ron Moreland, state conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Nebraska. "Farmers maintain residue on their land to protect the soil from wind and water erosion."

Nebraska leads the nation in ridge-till with 1.4 million acres. Minnesota, a distant second, has 600,000 acres. Illinois is the top no-till state with 5.6 million acres and Iowa is leading in mulch-till with 6.9 million acres.

No-till acres in Nebraska number 2.2 million, or 14 percent of total planted cropland. Mulch-till acres number 4.7 million, or 31 percent of total cropland acres.

Conservation tillage has increased almost by a third in the last five years. Nebraska has 8.3 million acres currently in conservation tillage, compared to only 5.4 million acres in 1989.

Conservation tillage for full season corn in Nebraska totaled 5.1 million acres in 1993, compared to 3.3 million acres in 1989. Conservation tillage acres in soybeans totaled 700,000 in 1989, compared to 1.5 million acres in 1993.

Conservation tillage will continue to increase dramatically in the future, said Jim Tibbels, member of the Nebraska Crop Residue Alliance. The alliance is a group of agency and agriculture business people promoting residue management.

"With conservation tillage, farm operators don't need the big machinery, they save fuel and they can farm more acres," Tibbels said.

There have been more success stories than failures with conservation tillage during the last five years, Tibbels said.

"Farm operators that don't go into conservation tillage are going to be left in the dust."

Pork producers convention to be held in Grand Island

The Midtown Holiday Inn in Grand Island will be the site for the annual convention of the Nebraska Pork Producers Association (NPPA) and the Nebraska Pork Council Women (NPCW) on Jan. 20 to 22.

New challenges and exciting changes are sweeping the pork industry. The annual meeting of the Nebraska Pork Producers Association is an excellent time for producers to hear about the opportunities which are developing throughout their industry and discuss what these challenges will mean for Nebraska's pork producers. Understanding the benefits of their commitments and investments is essential to maintain positive results the national pork checkoff has seen thus far. Producer input on state and national checkoff programs is fundamental to leading the pork industry into the 21st century.

Several significant activities will take place at this year's NPPA annual meeting. Sid Burkey, 1993 NPPA President from Dorchester will preside over NPPA's two-day annual meeting which will include the election of 1994 state officers, state committee reports, election of delegates to the 1995 National Pork Forum and adopting the 1994 budget. Producers will also be updated on state and national programs.

Dr. Duane Reese, Extension Swine Specialist at the University of Nebraska will present his perceptions of European swine production and share some stimulating possibilities how U.S. pork producers can gain from their experience. Dana Snyder will wrap up the convention at the closing luncheon with his humor and relaxed, amusing message with pertinent applications for all.

The Nebraska Pork Council Women continues its commitment to promotion and educational programs across the state. NPCW members will continue to face the challenges of their ever-changing industry when they meet for their annual meeting, with President Evelyn May of Hampton presiding. Items of business include approval of the 1994 budget, committee reports, installation of 1994 officers and a presentation on Four Generations of Quilting by Shirley Hosier of Aurora. The top 4-H State Fair demonstration using pork will also be given by Chris Hoffman of Juniata.

Honoring and recognizing outstanding producer leaders is an integral part of the NPPA/NPCW Convention. The NPCW recognition will include the Nebraska Pork Council Woman of the Year, NPCW Outstanding Service Award, Top County/Area Groups awards and Pork Excellence awards.

Nebraska's 1993 Pork All-American, Outstanding Young Pork Producer, Commercial Seedstock and Feeder Pig Awards, along with the Pork Industry Service Award will be presented by the NPPA at the annual awards banquet on Jan. 21. The 1994-95 Nebraska Pork Industry Youth Ambassador will also be announced at this banquet.

Six exceptional youth will be competing for the title of 1994-95 Nebraska Pork Industry Youth Ambassador. The selection is being held in conjunction with the NPPA and NPCW Convention. The candidates will participate in interviews and make oral presentations on pork industry topics before a panel of judges. The six candidates are Susan Knabe of Nehawka, Eric Stuthman of Platte Center, Douglas Quaring of Ravenna, Hope Lerch of Clarkson, Becky Appel of Hoskins and Jenny Land of Waco.

For more information about the convention and pre-registration, contact the Nebraska Pork Producers Office in Lincoln at 472-2563.

Pesticide worker protection meeting scheduled

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA), in cooperation with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Region 7, is sponsoring a series of information meetings concerning the Worker Protection Standard (WPS) for agricultural pesticides.

These meetings will provide an overview of the WPS with time for questions and answers. The meetings are designed for farmers, agricultural dealers and employers of pesticide handlers and field workers. Representatives from NDA, EPA Region 7 and EPA headquarters will attend.

The meeting in this area is scheduled Feb. 10 at Columbus from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at Wunderlich Catering, 304 23rd Street, 563-3700.

Major parts of the new regulation include:

- The broad definition of agricultural establishments: farms, forests, nurseries and greenhouses.

•Employers' responsibilities for the protection of pesticide handlers, as well as field workers performing hand labor operations.

•The establishment of the standard restricted entry interval of 12 hours minimum, replacing the existing language which commonly was "until sprays dry."

•Specific types of personal protective equipment required for pesticide products.

The informational meetings will provide an excellent opportunity to learn about the new federal regulations. WPS protects agricultural workers and pesticide handlers by reducing the risk of pesticide poisonings and injuries through the implementation of appropriate exposure reduction measures.

For more information about these upcoming meetings, please call Jamie Green in the Bureau of Plant Industry at 471-2394.

Farm profits workshop announced

"Making Farm Profits Happen" is the theme of a workshop scheduled for three area communities. It is the first of two sessions on identifying farm resources and planning for profitability. The workshop, sponsored by the Center for Rural Affairs' Hartington office, is designed for beginning farmers just starting their operations as well as for established farmers interested in profitable, resource-conserving farming methods.

Workshops are scheduled for 7 to 9 p.m. in three communities: Jan.

19 at the Randolph High School Vo-Ag Room in Randolph; Jan. 26 at the American Legion Hall in Verdigris; and Jan. 31 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Madison.

The workshop will feature Wyatt Fraas and Martin Kleinschmit of the Center for Rural Affairs' Beginning Farmer Sustainable Agriculture Project in Hartington. Fraas heads the project and has worked with farmers and ranchers throughout the west and midwest. Kleinschmit owns a grain, forage and livestock farm near Hartington.

"Starting a farm or regaining farm profitability are within reach of anyone," said Fraas. "The most important element is the attitude of the farmer himself and how he chooses to use his resources."

These workshops are part of the New Routes to Farming series cosponsored by the Randolph FFA Alumni, St. John's Lutheran Church of rural Madison, the Verdigris FFA Alumni and the Nebraska Sustainable Agriculture Society.

LIBRARY BOARD

Kim Sok, president, presided at the Jan. 3 Winside Public Library Board of Trustees meeting with five members present.
 Kathy Geier gave the secretary report and JoAnn Field, the treasurer's. The December library report showed 222 items loaned for the month, with two new readers and one renewed reader. A number of books were donated from area residents.

A complimentary book "Perseverance" was received from Time Warner. It is the first of a three vol. series called "Voices of Triumph." From Double Day they received "After All These Years," Isaacs; "Honor Among Thieves," Archer; "Dragon Fly in Amber," Gabaldon. A complimentary video "Love to Read with Barney" was received from J.C. Penney. Four new puzzles have been purchased.

Children's book week was observed Nov. 15-22 with a story hour Nov. 22. Eleven children and six adults attended. Another story time will be held on Saturday, Feb. 5 from 2 to 2:30 p.m. for ages 3-7 years.
 There was $90 made at the Dec. 4 book sale. The Boy Scouts assisted with the books.

Statistical reports were given to each board member.
 A Valentine's Day raffle fund raiser will be held on Feb. 9 for a box of candy and possibly other items. Tickets can be purchased from library board members or at the library.

1993 tax forms are available at the library. The next meeting will be Feb. 7 at 7:30 p.m.

AMERICAN LEGION

Fifteen members of the Roy Reed American Legion Post 252 met Jan. 4 with commander J.A. Rademacher presiding. Bob Jensen gave the secretary report.

Issues discussed included the Jan. 14 soup supper. It will be in the elementary school multi-purpose room from 4 to 8 p.m. with a free will donation.

The annual stag night will be Saturday, Jan. 29 from 7 p.m. to 2 a.m. in the Legion Hall. They will be serving BBQ beef and pork sandwiches. There will be a $3.50 cover charge for the evening. A drawing will be held during the evening for a Browning BPS 12 gauge VR Invector rifle or $200 by the Legionnaires as well as one for a 20 gauge single shot and a $15 gift certificate donated by Outdoor Unlimited of Norfolk. Tickets are available at most Winside businesses or from Legion members. They are $1 each or 6 for $5.

CUB SCOUTS

The next Legion meeting will be Tuesday, Feb. 1 at 8 p.m.
 Collin Prince, the denner for the Wolf/Bear Cub Scouts, took attendance and dues at the Jan. 4 meeting. Jeff Meyer served treats. The boys received their popcorn sales patch and prizes.

They discussed different forms of communication, then made up a secret code. Marbles were played for fun.

Adam Pfeiffer will bring treats for their next meeting. There will be a pack meet Sunday, Jan. 16 in the fire hall at 6 p.m. They will work on decorations for the Blue and Gold. Andrew Scribner's family will be hosts.

SOUP SUPPER

The Winside American Legion will host a chili and chicken noodle soup supper on Friday, Jan. 14 in the elementary school from 4 to 8 p.m. A free will donation will be taken, with funds raised going towards the Legion general fund.

The Library Card

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

THAT day has arrived! That FATEFUL day when your public library entered the ELECTRONIC AGE! The END-OF-AN-ERA day when we no longer check books out manually but enter all transactions in the computer. THAT day we have been working toward for about three years HAS FINALLY ARRIVED!

If you haven't visited the library in 1994, drop in to see how we look. We will have a new bar-coded card ready for you (if you haven't already received one) and a new system to show-off. But please be patient as we occasionally find glitches to be corrected as we learn how to use the computer efficiently.

It's winter story hour time — Saturday mornings from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. beginning Jan. 15 and continuing to Feb. 26. We will entertain pre-schoolers through first graders with stories and videos. Mothers, bring your children and stay to browse or do a few errands while the children are hearing the stories.

New and not-so new books for your winter reading are on the shelves.
 We have 1993 edition of several Fodor's travel books — Florida, California, Hawaii, Europe, London. (We also have Chicago, but the weather is more appealing in far-away places)

"The Robber Bridge" by Margaret Atwood is her latest. We also have a copy in Large Print.
 "Blacks" by Gwendolyn Brooks is a collection of her poems.
 "Love can build a bridge" by Naomi Judd. This tells of the life of an interesting, well-known entertainer.

"The Golden Mean" by Nick Bantock completes his trilogy, "Griffin and Sabine" and "Griffin's Notebook."
 "Further Along the Road Less Travelled" by M. Scott Peck. A second book of insights and aids to everyday living that will interest you even if you have not read his first, "The Road Less Travelled."

"The Shipping News" by E. Annie Proulx. This is an interesting description of life in Newfoundland and the people who endure the rigors of the climate and the harshness of the sea.

There are several new books on tape, including "Strip Tease" by Carl Hiaassen; "Smilla's Sense of Snow" by Peter Hoeg; and "The Age of Innocence" by Edith Wharton. Good traveling companions, all!

For the small fry, we have added three new videos: "Magic That's Fun," "The Muppet's Christmas" and "Songs from Mother Goose."

And last, but certainly not least, your IRS tax forms are displayed on a cart in front of the circulation desk for your convenience! We will probably be receiving more forms and booklets in the near future.

The new year brings registration renewals for rural residents. The annual fee is $15. As we have explained before, this must match the taxes paid by Wayne city residents, and we think you're getting a lot for your money.

A new year but the old hours of service prevail. Monday-Friday, 12:30 to 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday, 2 to 5 p.m. We wish you all a Happy New Year!

Public too ready to believe what's on TV

By Cheryl Stubbendieck
 The Midland View

It's been five years now since the CBS "60 Minutes" program did its best to disparage the U.S. apple industry. Five very long years indeed if you made your living growing apples.

In early '89, that TV "news program" aired a report based on research supplied to it by anti-chemical zealots, a group called the Natural Resources Defense Council. They took on daminozide, the chemical agent in Alar, a synthetic hormone used by apple growers to regulate fruit growth and enhance quality. According to 60 Minutes, daminozide was "the most potent cancer-causing agent in our food supply."

The news folks allowed no competing viewpoints, but handed down their opinion as if it originated on Mt. Sinai. For human interest, or other purposes, the program focused its report on the effects of apple consumption on children.

It mattered not to 60 Minutes that the data it relied on had been discredited three years previously by the Scientific Advisory Panel of the U.S. Congress. Or that the "Defense Council" alleged a 100 times greater risk to children than was supported by the Environmental Protection Agency, relying on scientifically defensible data. Or that less than 4 percent of the U.S. apple crop was then treated with daminozide. Nowadays, daminozide is used on none of the apple crop -- the manufacturer doesn't make it anymore, in response to public hew and cry against it.

The public, often too ready to believe everything it hears on TV, responded by cutting its apple consumption. Per capita consumption of apples dropped from its 1989-90 peak of 21.5 pounds to 18.8 pounds in 1992. The price of apples went through the floor. Growers lost hundreds of millions of dollars. Understandably, they sued: the CBS network, the Defense Council, and other groups implicated in the damage done to the apple industry. They claimed the TV program used false information and destroyed their livelihoods. The growers gathered factual, scientific information and eagerly awaited their day in court.

Last year, however, U.S. District Court Judge Fremming Nielsen threw out the apple growers' case. Nielsen said some of the misstatements on the program couldn't be proved false -- but he never gave the growers a chance even to try.

And he said, he actually said, the First Amendment "requires that we protect some falsehood in order to protect speech that matters. Even if CBS' statements are false, they were about an issue that mattered, cannot be proven as false and therefore must be protected." By that reasoning, one ought to be able to allege with impunity that a certain member of the judiciary is two books short of a full law library. In truth he may own all the books, but the allegation must be protected from prosecution because judicial competency is an issue that matters.

The apple growers have appealed to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals and very likely the case will go all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court. They will argue that no scientific study proves Alar (with daminozide) is a carcinogen. And what they are seeking at this point is the opportunity for a jury trial, to present those arguments to a panel of reasonable people.

The five-year Alar controversy will go on for several more years. Those who believe in justice expect that the case will eventually be resolved in some fashion favorable to the apple growers. In the meantime, many growers have lost their orchards, because the lower prices they received wouldn't pay the mortgage or operating debts on the land. The victory, when it comes, will be small comfort to the former grower who lost his life's work because of a sensationalized TV story. Those who believe in justice ought also to be very concerned that a sitting judge believes the First Amendment requires protection of certain lies because they relate to "speech that matters."

Drug abuse prevention grant awarded to college

Northeast Community College has joined with 10 other community colleges in the region in obtaining grant funding aimed at drug abuse prevention. Called Heartland United Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse Consortium, the group received the funds from the U.S. Department of Education Fund for Improvement in Post-Secondary Education.

Proposed activities in the two-year program include preparing individuals on each campus to be peer trainers, providing drug-free activities for students and developing a region-wide directory of resources related to drug abuse prevention.

Colleges in the consortium are in South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska. Representing Northeast Community College as a drug abuse prevention professional is Gene Engel, the college's director of housing.

Guv is optimistic

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) -- Gov. Ben Nelson is being very optimistic in saying his legislative proposals could be enacted without a tax increase, the chairman of the Legislature's Appropriations Committee said today.

Sen. Scott Moore of Seward praised the priorities that the governor spelled out in his state of the state and budget address, then added: "But there is a real question of affordability."
 The state would have to take in more dollars than usual and state employees would have to settle again for small pay increases if Nelson's programs, including anti-crime and welfare revision measures, were to be funded without the help of higher taxes, Moore said.

Moore and Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, chairman of the Revenue Committee, differed with the governor's budget assumptions.

"I am not saying his assumptions are wrong -- everyone's assumptions are open to debate at this time -- but I'm not ready at this time to accept the governor's view of things," Moore said.

Warner said a clearer picture will emerge when the state's Economic Forecasting Board meets in February to review its revenue projections.

Warner and Moore said they were reluctant to assume that all of the cost savings envisioned by Nelson, through better management and some proposed welfare revisions, could be realized.

Both noted that the state will continue to receive less federal aid to help cover Medicaid costs.

NATO not just defense group

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) -- The North Atlantic Treaty Organization, once a military defense mechanism, could aid political and economic reform in central and Eastern Europe, says Rep. Doug Bereuter, R-Neb.

The Partnership for Peace proposal that President Clinton will offer at a summit this week in Brussels would bolster NATO's ability to do more than defend its 16 members against military attack, Bereuter said.

"The Partnership for Peace is going to be an important source for stability and good behavior of the nations of Eastern and Central Europe," Bereuter told the Omaha World-Herald from his Washington, D.C., office.

Clinton developed the proposal because non-NATO countries in Eastern Europe want to join the security organization. The plan would strengthen ties between members of the alliance and former Warsaw Pact nations without extending the promise of NATO security.

However, the Utica Republican said last week that the expansion should go cautiously since there is concern that expanding the alliance too rapidly would fuel fears of ultranationalists in Russia and other republics of the former Soviet Union.

"It would stimulate great concern in the military leadership of those nations," Bereuter said.

Clinton's success in helping stabilize central and Eastern Europe is critical for U.S. trade since that region would expand the number of trade partners for U.S. companies, said Ken Wise, director of the international relations graduate program at Creighton University.

Stability in the region also reduces the chance that U.S. armed forces would have to get involved militarily, Wise said.

Bereuter is one of three vice presidents of the North Atlantic Assembly, a group of legislators from NATO countries that advises the treaty organization.

The feds are collecting

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) -- The federal government collected 24 percent more money than was owed to it in Nebraska last year compared to the amount collected the previous year.

Thomas J. Monaghan, U.S. attorney in Nebraska, said today that $10.2 million was collected by the office's Fiscal Litigation Unit during the 1993 fiscal year.

That is nearly four times the annual budget for the U.S. attorney's Nebraska office, said Monaghan, who called his office "a federal agency that pays for itself."

Nebraskans still owe about $12 million to the federal government from 1993, said Laurie Barrett, director of the fiscal unit.

Most of the money collected came from civil debts owed to various federal departments, including more than $5.7 million owed to the U.S. Agriculture Department and $2.1 million to the Environmental Protection Agency.

The money collected was forwarded to the U.S. Treasury.

In 1992, about $8.2 million in debts was collected by the Nebraska office. Barrett attributed the increase in collections to the Federal Debt Collection Procedures Act, which was passed in May 1991 and allows the office to be more aggressive in collecting debts.

Much of the money collected that was owed to the Agriculture Department stemmed from real estate values that rose on farms after they had been foreclosed, Barrett said.

The EPA total was large because of a $2 million settlement in a lawsuit, Barrett said. The settlement stipulated that the defendant's name not be released, she said.

Members of the professional cast of the musical "Cabaret" will be in Wayne for a "Black and Gold" performance Jan. 27.

Hit musical to hit Wayne

The Broadway hit-musical "Cabaret" will be presented by 3D II Productions at 8 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 27 in Wayne State College's Rice Auditorium.

The performance is part of Wayne State's Black & Gold Series.

Triply crowned as Best Musical of the Year when it opened in New York, "Cabaret" is set in Berlin at the beginning of the 1930s. Though it captures the foreboding atmosphere of the period just before the Third Reich, it dwells only incidentally on doom and decadence.

It is chiefly a fun show from the opening moment, when the leering Master of Ceremonies sings his famous song inculcating the nightclub's patrons in his own bawdiness, "Willkommen, Welcome, Bienvenue," and brings on the black-gartered Kit Kat girls, clad (or half clad) in the alluring style of Marlene Dietrich in "The Blue Angel."

At intervals throughout "Cabaret," the Master of Ceremonies struts, jeers, cackles and clowns through a handful of impudent songs intended to muffle the ominous sounds of brownshirts goose-stepping in the streets, which everyone pretends not to hear. When a rock crashes through the window of his fruit store, the Jewish owner shrugs it off deludedly as merely the action of "playful boys."

Sally (the heroine) and her American lover must part because he cannot blind himself to the frightening tide of events, and she insists on taking Sally back to the United States, but she wants to pretend that distasteful things do not exist. In the end, she returns to the raucous Kit Kat Klub and sings a wry defiance of her sweetheart's desire for respectability, "Life is a cabaret, old chum, come to the cabaret," — the show's most celebrated hit-parade number.

Tony Stevens' (director/choreographer) Broadway credits include "Perfectly Frank," "The Wind in the Willows," and "Rockaby Hamlet." He has also directed and choreographed numerous national tours, among them "Babes in Toyland" and "Jesus Christ Superstar."

Tickets, $5 for adults and $3 for high school and younger, go on sale Thursday, Jan. 13. Tickets may be purchased in the Business Office, located on the first floor of Wayne State's Hahn Building, or by sending payment to Black & Gold Tickets, c/o Business Office, Hahn Building, Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb. 68787.

Expect few changes when preparing taxes

Even though 1993 saw the passage of major tax legislation, the Internal Revenue Service says most people will notice few changes when they open their 1993 tax packages.

Many of the most talked about tax law changes won't go into effect until 1994. These include a revised moving expense deduction, an increase in the taxable portion of social security for some beneficiaries, and a decrease in the deductible portion of business meals and entertainment. Though the IRS encourages people to begin planning for these changes, they won't affect the returns people fill out this filing season.

Most people will find themselves in the same tax rate bracket in 1993 as they were in 1992. These rates are 15 percent, 28 percent and 31 percent. That's because tax rate brackets, along with standard deduction and personal exemption amounts, are adjusted each year to keep pace with inflation. Though two new tax rates, 36 percent and 39.6 percent, were added in 1993, they apply to the fewer than 2 percent of Americans at the top of the income scale.

Here are some changes to look for in 1993.

•Working families who made less than $23,050 during the year can get an expanded Earned Income Credit. Additional credit is available to families who paid for medical insurance covering at least one child, had a child born during 1993, or had more than one child living with them. The top credit is $2,364, up more than $150 from last year. Use Schedule EIC to claim this credit.

•Some married couples with no dependents now qualify to use Form 1040EZ. In the past, only single people could use this ten-line tax form. According to the IRS, Form 1040EZ can save time and paperwork for many high school and college-age workers and other people with basic tax situations.

•The amount of tax a person may earmark for the Presidential Election Campaign Fund rose from $1 to $3. As before, this has no effect on the amount of tax a person owes or the size of their refund.

•Self-employed people who are not eligible for coverage under an employer-sponsored health plan can deduct up to 25 percent of their health insurance premiums on the front of the 1993 Form 1040. Since this deduction, which had expired on June 30, 1992, was restored retroactively, those eligible should also consider using Form 1040X to amend their 1992 returns to claim premiums paid for the last half of that year.

•The annual limit on a popular depreciation provision, known as the section 179 deduction, rose from $10,000 to $17,500. Targeted primarily to self-employed individuals and small businesses, this provision enables taxpayers to write off part or all of the cost of furniture, equipment and other tangible assets in the year they are placed in service.

In an effort to save money and paper, the IRS is sending pre-addressed postcards, instead of 1993 tax packages, to almost 22 million Americans who paid someone to do their tax return last year. Because most professional tax preparers fill out returns using their own supply of forms, many tax packages are simply thrown away. The IRS asks anyone planning to use paid tax help again this year to take the postcard, with its peel-off name and address label, to their preparer. Those who expect to fill out their own returns can use the postcard to order a tax package.
