118TH YEAR — NO. 31

Wayne Council moves ahead on tax issue

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Wayne City Council voted unanimously Tuesday to ask the county attorney to prepare a resolution and ballot language asking voters to approve a one cent sales tax for Wayne that would expire in five years.

The tax proceeds, estimated at $2 million over 5 years, would be used to build a new library and senior citizen center, provide extensive improvements to the city auditorium and upgrade the storm drainage system in the downtown area.

Even though the vote was unanimous to proceed with the issue, there is sentiment on council to scale back the proposal to a shorter term for the sales tax and do fewer projects.

COUNCIL MEMBERS Darrell Fuelberth and Doug Sturm expressed concern that the voters may not approve of a five year sales tax for all the projects and maybe the city should take the projects in smaller bites.

"All these projects are very viable projects," said Fuelberth but he added he didn't want to see them jeopardized by the city asking for too much at once.

Other councilmembers countered that the projects, including the storm sewer system would have to be built eventually and would cost more and reduce the city's bond rating by increasing the debt if funded through property taxes.

"If we don't put the sewer on it, then we are going to have to increase property taxes," said Ralph Barclay. He made the motion to proceed with the full package and a five year limit on the sales tax.

If council approves the resolution calling for an election, the vote will be held at the May primary. If voters approve the one cent tax it would not begin being collected until October. If the sales tax is rejected by the voters, the city could not take the issue to the ballot again for at least 23 months, said City Administrator Joe Salitros.

FIFTY-SIX CITIES in Nebraska have a sales tax. Norfolk is currently considering asking its voters to increase its local sales tax from one percent to one and a half percent to fund priority street improvement projects, said Salitros.

The driving force behind the sales tax proposal has been the Wayne Library Board and leaders of the Senior Citizen Center, who are proposing a $1.2 million joint facility

Flap raised over school move

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

There was quite an audience at the Wayne School Board Meeting, Tuesday at the high school. Several interested citizens attended the meeting when they heard of possible changes in athletic department assignments.

One of those changes appears to be that of athletic director, a position held by Ron Carnes for the past eight years. As the board meeting commenced, Dr. Sid Hillier, school board president said what transpired between Dr. Dennis Jensen, superintendent and Ron Carnes on Jan. 7 is not a public issue.

When contacted by the Wayne Herald, Dr. Jensen said he could not comment on what transpired at the Jan. 7 meeting with Carnes because it was a personnel matter. However, the Wayne Herald has learned from other sources the initial discussions surrounded possible reassignments of athletic responsibilities.

Hillier said the events between the two happened in a closed door session. He did say, however, the board is aware of the intentions of Dr. Jensen regarding the athletic director position. Hillier also said the board would not speak on personnel matters in a public format because it would be unprofessional.

Following that announcement, Bob Dyer, president of the Wayne Booster Club took the floor on behalf of Carnes and presented about 70 letters and petition signatures that were collected on Monday from Wayne residents and athletic directors from other schools

Chamber to seek new executive

The search is underway for a successor to Curt Wilwerding as executive vice president of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce and Wayne Industries, Inc.

Wilwerding announced his resignation last week and it will become effective Feb. 11.

A search committee comprised of members of the Chamber and Wayne Industries boards of directors has already received several applications from prospective candidates.

Applications for the post will be accepted until Feb. 28, at which time the committee expects to fill the position, according to Dave Ewing, spokesman for the search committee.

"The members of the board of Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce and Wayne Industries extend their thanks to Curt Wilwerding for his dedication and service to the Cham-

'First Family' likes Wayne

Jolene and Matt Weinandt of Wynot, Neb. liked the services of Dr. A.D. Felber of Wayne and the treatment they receive from Providence Medical Center. Those were the two prime reasons Mrs. Weinandt cited for traveling about an hour for doctor visits and to have her baby in Wayne.

The Weinandts were the proud parents of the first baby born in Wayne in 1994.

Logan Thomas was born Jan. 11 at 6:55 a.m. He weighed 8 pounds and 11 ounces and was 22 inches long.

Hospital staff dressed Logan in style for the first family portrait Tuesday. He wore a special sash designating him as "Mr. 1994."

Mrs. Weinandt said they hadn't expected Logan to be the first baby of the year, coming 11 days after the first. One other time in the last ten years the first baby waited until the 11th. That was in 1990. Previously the newcomer has usually checked in before the 4th.

Mrs. Weinandt told the Herald from their home Friday that mom and baby are doing fine. She said she and her husband were happy with their bright eyed boy.

"We would have been happy with a girl too," she added but Logan has two sisters, Brittany 4, who is in pre-school and Kelsey, 2.

Mrs. Weinandt is a homemaker and her husband is involved in farming with his father.

Burglary suspects well armed NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) -- Police have arrested three men they believe are responsible for about 40 burglaries in northeast Nebraska.

Police do not know whether all three men are connected to all or some of the burglaries.

Police responded to an alarm at a Norfolk business early Tuesday and arrested Timron E. Gilfert, 20, and John W. Fendrick, 22, after they allegedly left the store through a back door and began walking away from the building, said Capt. Leon Chapman.

Kirk D. Bauermeister, 19, was arrested for burglary at his home later Tuesday morning.

All of the men are from Norfolk. Police recovered 15 handguns, several semi-automatic ammunition magazines and gun cleaning equipment allegedly taken from the store when they arrested Gilfert and Fendrick. The merchandise was worth $3,000.

Each had a loaded 9mm semi-automatic handgun at the time of arrest and Fendrick also had a loaded 22-caliber semi-automatic handgun. The three weapons allegedly were taken in a Dec. 27 Yankton, S.D., burglary, Chapman said.

In addition to guns, the property included cash, jewelry, clothing and sporting goods and was allegedly taken over the last month during about 40 burglaries in Columbus, Wayne, Tilden and Yankton, S.D., Chapman said.

Medical staffs busy with flu patients

By Clara Osten
For the Herald

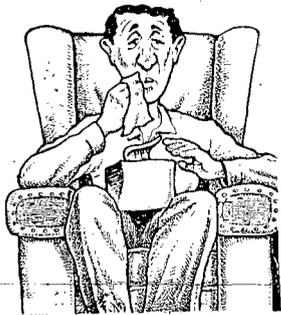

"Sore throats, fever, chest congestion, nasal congestion, nausea and aches and pains. I have seen people that have all these symptoms," said Will Davis, a pharmacist at Sav-Mor Pharmacy.

Local reports show that this area is following state trends as the number of people suffering from colds and influenza has risen steadily.

According to the state Department of Health, children and young adults have been among the hardest hit. Several schools have been forced to close because of the high rate of absences.

In Wayne, the flu has affected people in different ways. According to the staff at Northeast Nebraska Medical Group, "a lot of what we have been seeing is caused by a virus. Antibiotics won't help these people. The best thing for them is Tylenol or Ibuprofen. Liquids and rest are the best thing for most of these symptoms. People have been coming in expecting to get an antibiotic and be able to go back to work the next day. This is not the best thing to do."

Will Davis recommends that people who have flu symptoms visit their doctor to rule out a bacteria related illness. "There have been several cases of secondary pneumonia reported. This is not something to take lightly. People have visited their doctors more than once because the symptoms just do not seem to go away."

At the schools, the number of absent students varies. The high school reported a high of 28 students out on Monday to a low of 10 absent on Friday. AT the Middle School, 32 of the 314 students were absent on Wednesday. That number had dropped to 21 by Friday.

Dave Lutt, West Elementary Principal, said, "On Tuesday we had 29 or eight percent of our students out. Today (Friday) we have 20 students gone. This is above our average of 10-12 students but not as high as we have been in the past. The average length of the absences has been two to three days."

"We have been very fortunate because we have had only one faculty member out," said Lutt.

which would be built somewhere in the city center area. The library foundation has already begun fund raising efforts geared toward raising up to $500,000 of the anticipated development costs for the new facility from private sources and grants.

When discussion commenced on the need for replacing the library, the auditorium needs were also brought up with members of a citizen study group which has been working toward the development of a multipurpose civic center asking the city to include the auditorium in its plans.

A year old architectural study of the auditorium called for over $400,000 worth of improvements to the building. Most expensive among the listed needs for the building were new roof, heating and air conditioning systems, new electrical system, new windows and doors, new seating and approximately $60,000 worth of remodeling to address Americans with Disabilities Act requirements.

DOUG STURM said he thought the city might be able to get by with much less than the full ADA changes outlined in the architectural study. He said he was told the ADA requirements do not always mean extensive structural changes must be made.

Other councilmembers said they thought the law did not give the city a choice when it begins building new or remodeling old buildings. "We have to meet it (ADA requirements)," said Barclay.

Dr. Jensen said a second meeting between Carnes and himself was scheduled today where final recommendations would be made concerning assignments.

Carnes did have a person representing him from the Nebraska State Education Association, Carol Following Dyer's short presentation, the board continued on through the agenda as planned before going into executive session to discuss administrator salaries.

Carnes declined to comment on the matter, saying only that he's been advised not to talk about the situation.

Randolph voters approve school bond issue handily

RANDOLPH, Neb. (AP) -- Voters in the Randolph School District on Tuesday approved 577-383 a $3.97 million school bond issue that will be used to build a two-story addition to the junior and senior high school.

The money also will be used to demolish a building built in 1911.

Voter turnout was about 70 percent in the northeast Nebraska district that includes Randolph, Belden, Sholes and part of McLean. Seven absentee ballots were still out, but they won't be enough to make a difference, said Cedar County Clerk David Dowling.

The two-story addition will include classrooms, a learning resource center, a computer lab, a gym and administrative offices.

Bill would limit college commission

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) -- The Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education could not interfere with much of the internal business of state colleges and the University of Nebraska under a bill introduced Tuesday.

The proposal put before the Legislature by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly would clarify the commission's role and specify the continuing authority of individual institutions.

Critics contend that the commission has overstepped the authority the Legislature intended to grant it. Warner's proposal (LB1063) specifies that the commission "shall not invade the institutional governance of management authority of any governing board..." of an institution of higher learning.

The bill requires the commission to consult with governing boards in carrying out a variety of its duties, including the compilation of reports to the Legislature involving everything from program evaluations to tuition rates.

The commission was granted expanded powers through a constitutional amendment adopted by voters in 1990. Shortly after the Legislature passed enabling measures, the commission began to clash with the University of Nebraska and other state colleges over its proper role and authority.

Burglaries

Gilfert and Fendrick were arrested on suspicion of burglary and possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony. Gilfert was also arrested for possession of a firearm by a felon.

Bauermeister was arrested on suspicion of burglary.

Wayne boys hold off Laurel to post ninth win of season

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Wayne boys basketball team hosted Laurel, Tuesday in the third game in the last five days for the Blue Devils. That tough stretch of games saw the Blue Devils go unscathed with wins over Schuyler, South Sioux and the Bears as Wayne defeated Clayton Steele's Laurel squad, 58-53.

Wayne jumped out to a 14-9 lead after the first quarter but the Bears tightened the gap by intermission, 29-27. Laurel took the lead early in the third quarter and both teams flip-flopped throughout the remainder of the period with Wayne clinging to a one point lead, 45-44 after three quarters.

The two teams continued to see-saw back-and-forth until late in the quarter when Wayne took control off a couple miss-handled possessions by Laurel.

"Our kids played hard," Wayne coach Rocky Ruhl said. "We played a very good basketball team who shot the ball extremely well."

The Bears hit 56.8 percent of their shots for the game and 64.5 percent of the shots taken inside the three-point arc. "Laurel was 21-37 from the field," Ruhl said. "That's real good shooting, especially when you consider it isn't even their home floor."

Still, the 9-1 Blue Devils hung tough and when the game was on the line they responded. Matt Blomenkamp led the winners with 22 points while Robert Bell poured in 17. Ryan Pick followed with seven and Mike Fluent tallied six.

Laurel was led by the talented

Reinoehl brothers as Jared and Jeremy shared team honors with 17 points each. Wayne won the battle of the boards, 28-19 as Bell led the way with nine caroms while Blomenkamp and Fluent had six rebounds each.

Wayne had just 10 turnovers and Laurel, 11. The Blue Devils were 9-17 from the foul line and Laurel was 10-16.

WHILE THE boys were entertaining Laurel, Roger Reikofski's girls team was playing at Randolph and the Blue Devils came up short against the Cardinals, 53-38.

Wayne trailed 23-9 at the half and did not threaten the double digit lead of Randolph in the second half. "We just couldn't make our shots," Reikofski said. "We hit 1 of 17 attempts in the second quarter."

The 5-6 Blue Devils were led in scoring by Carrie Fink with 10 points and Jenny Thompson with eight. Tami Schluns and Amy Post each finished with five.

Wayne boys (58), Laurel (53): Wayne—Matt Blomenkamp, 22; Robert Bell, 17; Ryan Pick, 7; Mike Fluent, 6; Joe Lutt, 2; Jason Carr, 2; Kirk Carnichael, 2.

Laurel—Jeremy Reinoehl, 17; Jared Reinoehl, 17; Rich Rasmussen, 8; Cody Carstensen, 6; Tyler Erwin, 5.

Wayne girls (38), Randolph (53): Wayne—Carrie Fink, 10; Jenny Thompson, 8; Amy Post, 5; Tami Schluns, 5; Audra Sievers, 4; Katie Lutt, 2; Katy Wilson, 2; Cori Langenfeld, 2.

Wayne grapplers lose dual on scoreboard but not mat

The Wayne High wrestling team may have come up five points short to South Sioux in dual action, Thursday in Wayne, but Todd Viereck's squad won where it counted—on the mat.

The Blue Devils had to forfeit three weight classes because they were open which gave South Sioux an automatic 18 points and the Cardinals took full advantage of that as they decided the Blue Devils, 34-29.

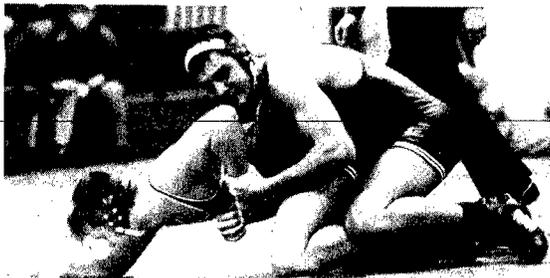

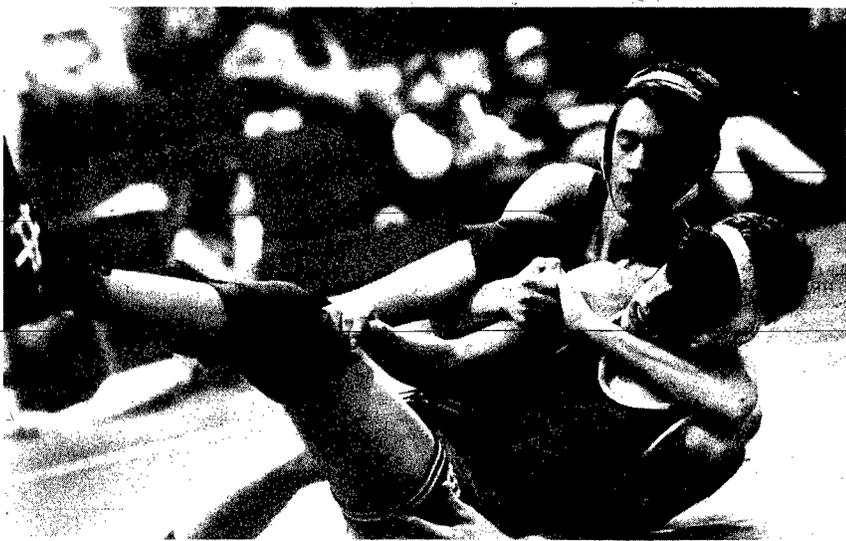

There were 10 varsity matches held and Wayne came out on top of seven of those matches. The Blue Devils were open at 103 and at 112, Jared Anderson lost by pin.

Rick Endicott wrestled at 119 for the host team and he captured Wayne's first win with a pin. Tyler Endicott followed that up at 125 with a 5-2 decision. Wayne was then open at 130 and 135.

Terry Rutenbeck wrestled at 140 and won by a 7-2 decision while Jeremy Sturm at 145, won 11-4. Brent Geiger wrestled at 152 and was decisioned, 8-0 but Dusty Jensen came right back at 160 and won by a 15-2 margin.

Jason Shultheis won by an 11-2 decision at 171 and Phil Marburger was pinned at 189. Jeff Hamer, Wayne's final wrestler, won by pin in the second period to end the evening on a high note for the Blue Devils.

Wayne will travel to compete in the Elkhorn Invitational on Saturday.

Wakefield girls upset Pirates; boys win in OT

The Wakefield girls basketball team notched a pair of victories over the week including a revenge win over Emerson-Hubbard, a team that had defeated Wakefield by 19 points in the finals of the Pender Post Holiday Tournament just five days earlier.

In fact, the Trojans 42-39 win over Emerson on Thursday was the first loss suffered by the Lady Pirates this season. Gregg Cruickshank's squad trailed by three points late in the third quarter before Andrea Carson drained a long three-pointer at the buzzer to tie the game.

The fourth quarter was hard fought for both teams. "There was about 30 seconds left in the game and we had a one point lead," Cruickshank said. "We had the ball on Emerson's end of the floor and Maria Eaton threw a baseball pass the length of the court and hit Carson in stride who went in for the lay-up and that gave us a three point lead."

Carson led the winners with 10 points while Kali Baker netted eight. Maria Eaton scored seven points and Jaime Oswald tallied six. "We got a great balanced attack," Cruickshank said. "We got quality play from the bench and everyone contributed."

Emerson did win the battle of the boards, 34-29 with Amy Hattig leading Wakefield with seven caroms. Wakefield committed 21 turnovers compared to 18 for Emerson and the Trojans were 9-21 from the free throw line compared to 11-22 shooting by Emerson.

On Tuesday, the 6-6 Trojans defeated Walthill, 42-34 behind the 14 points of Maria Eaton. Amy Hattig came off the bench and tossed in nine while Kathy Ote and Jaime Oswald netted five points each.

The Trojans out-rebounded Walthill, 34-26 led by Mary Torczon and Amy Hattig with seven rebounds each. Wakefield had 16 turnovers but forced Walthill into 22.

BRAD HOSKINS boys team also played at Walthill and the Wakefield won in overtime, 46-43. "Neither team could hit their shots," Hoskins said. "We missed 11 shots in the first half from point blank range under four feet. For the game we hit just 14 of 56 shots and that was better than the host team who hit just 22 percent of their shots."

Wakefield led 24-14 at the half but Walthill out-scored the Trojans, 17-6 in the third quarter. Late in the fourth quarter Cory Brown hit a jump shot to send the game into overtime where Wakefield out-scored the host team, 3-0 to post the win.

The 7-5 Trojans were led by Brown's 17 points while Miah Johnson tossed in 11. Brown scored 10 of his 17 points in the final quarter. Wakefield was out-rebounded, 51-36 with Brown and Ryan Ekberg leading the winners with eight rebounds each. Wakefield committed 18 turnovers but forced Walthill into 27. The Trojans were 13-24 from the foul line and Walthill was 16-25.

Wakefield girls (42), Walthill (34): Wakefield—Maria Eaton, 14; Amy Hattig, 9; Jaime Oswald, 5; Kathy Ote, 5; Kali Baker, 4; Andrea Carson, 3; Mary Torczon, 2.

Wakefield girls (42), Emerson-Hubbard (39): Wakefield—Andrea Carson, 10; Kali Baker, 8; Maria Eaton, 7; Jaime Oswald, 6; Mary Torczon, 5; Kathy Ote, 4; Amy Hattig, 2.

Blecke, 4; Lucas Tappe, 2; Andy Muller, 2; Matt Peterson, 1; Mike Rischmueller, 1.

Steve McLagan records his fifth perfect bowling game

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

Wayne's Steve McLagan is settling quite nicely into the role of a bowling kingpin. The 38-year-old loan officer at the First National Bank in Wayne, rolled a perfect 300 bowling game at Melodee Lanes, recently, his first ever perfect game in Wayne, but hardly his first ever.

The Sioux City native has bagged a handful of 300's in his illustrious career and now has two of the gems this season—one in Wayne and one in Wakefield.

McLagan, bowling for Wakefield Bowl on the Wednesday Night Owls League on December 29, was bowling on lanes 11-12. His first game ended with a 207—about average for him.

The second game started off with a bang as he started a string of strikes. "I started thinking that this could be one of those games along about the eighth frame," McLagan said. "Everything I was throwing seemed to be just right."

McLagan said his kids Nicole and Eric along with wife Teri were also witnesses to the perfect game as well as his teammates Dale Zeisler, Sparky Warren, Todd Martin and Rick Dicus.

Wakefield Bowl was bowling against Logan Valley Implement and Les Keenan, Randy Bargholz, Randall Johnson, Gary Roeber and Duane Bargholz.

"After the fifth frame my daughter reminded me that I only needed seven more strikes and after the seventh frame my son told me that I only needed five more," McLagan said smiling. "So much for pressure."

Despite having bowled four previous perfect games, McLagan said the 10th frame was tough. "I think it might have taken me a little longer to finish the 10th frame because I was thinking of everything I had to do to get the ball to keep rolling and hooking like it was," said the owner of the Columbia Power Torq.

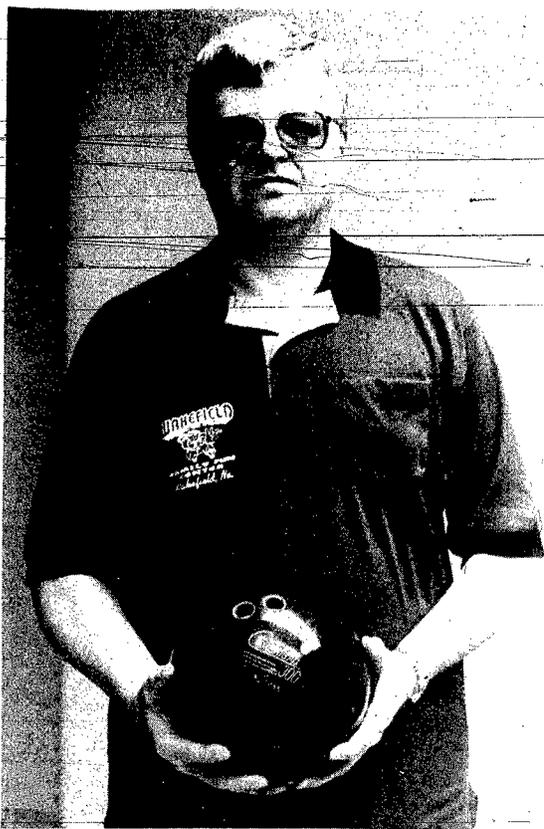

"Just before I rolled that last ball, I took a step back and took a big breath," McLagan said when he threw the 12th and final ball he felt it was going to finish high.

"I didn't think I threw it where I should have, but I guess I had enough adrenaline that I threw it harder so it didn't hook as fast and the ball finished right in the pocket," McLagan said.

Now that he has thrown five, 300's McLagan has changed his bowling goals—he's now chasing the ultimate series of an 800. "I had a shot at it in Wakefield earlier this season," McLagan said. "I threw a 233 and 269 for a 502 and I started the last game with 10 straight strikes. All I needed was another strike and an eight count but I stuck an 10-pin on the 11th ball and settled for a 289 and 791."

McLagan has had two perfect games rolled in his hometown of Sioux City, two perfect games bowled in Wakefield and now one in Wayne. He's been bowling since he was 10-years-old, starting in the Junior League in Sioux City.

WAYNE'S STEVE McLagan holds the ball he used to roll a perfect game at Melodee Lanes, recently. It was the fifth perfect game in McLagan's career but his first ever in Wayne. He bowled a perfect 300 in Wakefield earlier this season and has two career perfect games in Wakefield and two other perfect games in Sioux City.

"Hartington just got hot from the field in the second half," Geier said. "They hit over 60 percent of their shots." Marty Jorgensen led Winside with 12 points while Jayne Shelton netted 10. Colby Jensen and Ryan Brogren followed with eight and seven points, respectively.

Conservation Efforts Recognized at Annual Lower Elkhorn NRD Banquet

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District board honored several outstanding conservationists at the annual awards banquet on Tuesday, December 21. The event, held at the Uptown Ballroom in Norfolk, attracted 80 people.

Honored as recipients of the 1993 Conservation Honor Farm Award were Scott and Beth Doht of Lyons and the Wayne Panning Family of Hooper.

The Lower Elkhorn NRD Conservation Honor Farm Award was first presented in 1973. Each year, the NRD honors farm families for their demonstrated excellence in soil and water conservation activities.

Scott Doht has been very instrumental in encouraging other farmers to adopt no-till practices. He has worked with the SCS, NRD and Extension at several educational workshops, speaking on his no-till experiences.

Doht's conservation plan has addressed the potential for serious soil erosion problems by incorporating a no-till system, terraces, underground outlets and waterways on his farm. In 1987, this Cumming County farmer first experimented with no-tilling into soybean residue with only 70 acres. He has progressed to using no-till on a majority of his 1,400 acres.

Around the farmstead, Doht has also begun renovating his windbreak. He planted 175 pine trees in 1990 and plans to complete the entire windbreak in the future.

The Dohts were nominated by the Cumming County SCS. According to his nomination, Doht has cut the erosion on his hills by over 70 percent through the use of no-till. The reduction of soil loss will help this farmer maintain the productivity of his land for the next generation.

The other recipient of the 1993 Conservation Honor Farm Award is the Wayne Panning Family of Hooper.

Wayne and Mary Panning started farming in 1971. Today they have a 550-acre grain and livestock farm in Dodge County. He uses a crop rotation of corn, beans, milo and alfalfa in his farming operation.

Panning is considered a long-time conservationist, which is apparent by looking at the terraces, grassed waterways and underground outlets which have been installed on his land over the past two decades.

During this time approximately 44,391 feet or 8.4 miles of terraces have been built; 3,206 feet of tile outlets installed and 13,158 feet of grassed waterways of 2.5 miles constructed. Panning has worked to get terraces, grassed waterways and tile outlets installed on virtually every highly erodible acre of his farm.

Leon and Barb Bender of Humphrey earned the 1993 Outstanding Tree Planter Award. This award is presented annually to a producer who has shown a strong commitment to the planting and care of trees. The Benders were nominated by the Platte County SCS.

Bender, a grain and livestock farmer, planted several rows of trees for wind and snow protection. To maintain his tree plantings, Bender irrigated the young trees with a homemade drip system.

Richard Steffensmeier of Scribner earned the 1993 Dodge County Crop Residue Management Producer of the Year award. In its second year, this award is presented by the Dodge County Crop Residue Management Alliance. This group consists of local agribusiness representatives, agency personnel and farmers who work to promote the use of crop residue management. The 1993 award was sponsored by the Pathfinder Company of Fremont.

Marlene Blakeman, a 5th/6th grade teacher from Northern Hills Elementary in Norfolk, was recognized as the LENRD's 1993 Outstanding Conservation Education Teacher. Blakeman was also recognized by the Nebraska Association of Resources Districts (NARD) in January as the state winner of the elementary teacher division.

Blakeman has developed a broad scope of environmental curriculum and conservation messages in her classroom. Her students have participated in a variety of conservation projects including: planting trees, painting litter barrels for Maskenthine Recreation Area and developing an outdoor classroom for their school and neighborhood.

Two members of the Lower Elkhorn NRD staff received service awards for years of service to the District. Richard M. Seymour, assistant manager of projects, of Clarkson was recognized for 20 years of service to the Lower Elkhorn NRD. Nancy Morfield, Stanton County SCS Secretary, of Stanton was honored for 5 years of service.

The December board meeting of the Lower Elkhorn NRD was held prior to the awards banquet at the district office in Norfolk. The next board meeting will be held Thursday, January 27, 1994.

Not everyone is sold on educational reforms

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) -- Sen. Kate Witek of Omaha isn't sold on some educational reform proposals, particularly those that would judge outcome success on student self-confidence or proper social skills.

She said she would debate Sen. Ardyce Bohlke of Hastings, the new chairman of the Legislature's Education Committee, "anytime, anywhere" on outcome-based education.

Mrs. Witek and Bellevue College teacher Ed Rauchut addressed about 350 people at a forum sponsored by the Citizens Alliance for Responsible Education Tuesday night.

The reform efforts, such as outcome-based education, were dismissed as unproven experiments, the speakers said.

Rauchut, a former Central High School teacher, said outcome-based education sounds like a good idea: define education goals and say students must master them before moving on to the next level.

The problem is the stated goals, or outcomes, "are rarely if ever academic" but often "a checklist of social attitudes and behaviors," he said.

Mrs. Witek also is troubled by educational outcomes that "are behavioral in nature," such as a proposed state outcome saying that the well-educated student would "believe in his own effectiveness."

She said elimination of time and failure as variables in school would be poor preparation for the real world.

Mrs. Witek this week introduced bills aimed at preventing the state from requiring any school districts to adopt an outcome-based approach.

"The state has no business mandating a method that is experimental and unproven," Mrs. Witek said.

She warned that converting all of the state's schools to outcome-based systems and training teachers to evaluate students under that method would be costly.

The audience laughed when Mrs. Witek said the educators preaching tolerance were intolerant of people who question them. There were groans when she said one reform effort aim was to teach children "to display sensitivity for the diversity of lifestyles."

The audience applauded when Rauchut joked about school-reform opponents being labeled as the "radical right" or the "Christian radical right."

Rauchut said parents should challenge proponents of outcome-based education to show them scientific research documenting the method's effectiveness.

Rauchut said it has become trendy for educators to put down the idea of drilling students on facts in favor of teaching "problem solving" or "critical thinking."

"The educators will say, 'You just want to return to the old days, when kids sat passively and the teacher crammed facts into their heads. Is that what you want?'" Rauchut said. "Yes. That's what I want."

Snow fence

This old farm fence seems to be succumbing to the snow that is piling on it. It isn't so much the snow that seems to have much of the area paralyzed these days, but the extreme cold as temperatures are expected to dip far below the zero mark on Friday night.

Most counties to get disaster aid

Stanley Foster, Nebraska state director, Farmers Home Administration, advised that in 1993, 88 counties were designated as eligible for FmHA Emergency Loan assistance because of crop losses caused by flooding, hail, high winds, excessive rainfall, early frost and other natural disasters that occurred.

The five counties in Nebraska which were not designed eligible for FmHA Emergency Loan assistance are Brown, Hooker, McPherson, Arthur and Keith.

Farmers in the 88 designated counties can apply for FmHA Emergency Loan assistance to help them recover from crop losses as a result of the many natural disasters that occurred in 1993. Farmers who suffered qualifying production losses (at least a 30 percent reduction from normal after receipt of a crop insurance and other disaster assistance) who are family-sized operators and who are unable to get credit elsewhere may apply for loans to cover up to 80 percent of their actual production losses or $500,000 whichever is less.

Farmers and ranchers should contact their current lenders to determine if they are going to need FmHA Emergency Loan assistance. The loans will carry a 4.5 percent interest rate, must show repayment and must be adequately secured. Funds may be used to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock or to make payments on other real estate and/or chattel debts.

Any farmers or ranchers who believe they have a qualifying loss should contact their local FmHA county office to file an Emergency Loan application. We recommend that those farmers or ranchers that have a qualifying loss file their application by Jan. 20 so it can be processed before the spring rush of annual operating loan applications.

The University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension in cooperation with FmHA has people available through the Ag Mentor program to assist farmers and ranchers in preparing financial information for their FmHA Emergency Loan application.

Applications for all FmHA programs will be given equal consideration without regard to race, color, sex, creed, marital status or national origin.

Governor to testify for states ethanol industry

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) -- Including ethanol in a national reformulated gasoline program won't take business from Nebraska's oil and natural gas producers, Gov. Ben Nelson says.

Nelson is scheduled to testify Friday in favor of including ethanol in the national program at an Environmental Protection Agency hearing in Washington, D.C. Iowa Gov. Terry Branstad also is expected to speak at the hearing.

Nelson on Wednesday said the national program would create a market for Nebraska producers of the corn-based alternative fuel without harming other industries.

"We don't have to pit oil and natural gas against ethanol because there's going to be a market that is big enough for all concerned," he said.

Existing or planned ethanol plants in Columbus, Blair, Sutherland, Hastings and York would boost economic activity in Nebraska by $450 million each year by 1995, he said.

The Nebraska Ethanol Board also has estimated that 2,100 people could be employed in ethanol production within a few years, Nelson said.

"That's nearly four times the number of people working in the state's oil and natural gas fields," he said.

Art show to open

The public is invited to an opening reception for artist Dennis Navrat from 4:30 to 6 p.m., Monday, Jan. 17 at Wayne State College.

The reception will be held in the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery, located on the upper level of the Peterson Fine Arts Building. Regular gallery hours for Navrat's exhibition of prints are 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The exhibit will be on display through Feb. 11.

Navrat's exhibit "The Black Hills Series (1987-1994)" consists of symbolic images about the dich-tomies of living (literally and imaginatively) in the West River Dakotas for over a quarter of a century. It is a region where history and inhabitants simultaneously intrigue, sadden and inspire.

Navrat currently serves as professor and chair of the art department at the University of South Dakota. He has exhibited in over 340 exhibitions in the United States, Canada, England and Africa. Navrat specializes in handmade paper art, painting and mixed media, and operates the Hummingbird Mill at his home studio in Vermillion, S.D.

LB1055 introduced

Bill sought to teach abstinence

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A special legislative committee, acknowledging the input of a number of citizens it heard from this summer, drafted a bill to require the teaching of abstinence from sex as part of public school health classes.

In addition to emphasizing the value of abstinence, teachers would also be required to discuss such topics as AIDS as part of the public school health curriculum under a bill (LB1055) introduced by Lincoln Sen. DiAnna Schimek and others.

The measure developed from a study-of-eris-pregnancy that was prompted by an emotional debate last year over measures to restrict abortion. A group of women legislators pushed for the study, which was done by seven state senators — four women and three men — in summer hearings.

"Probably 80 percent of the people we heard from during those hearings emphasized the importance of abstinence," Sen. Ardyce Bohlike of Hastings said Tuesday.

"A number of people told us that kids need good information, and they need all the information," said Bohlike, chairwoman of the Education Committee, which is expected to hold the public hearing on the health curriculum bill (LB1055).

Sen. John Lindsay of Omaha, a bill cosponsor, said he supports the measure because it recognizes the importance of abstinence.

"Sex education has, heretofore, been valueless," he said. "Abstinence is the most effective and safest form of birth control. It needs to be part of the curriculum."

Bohlike and Schimek said the information should be taught in each grade level but in a way that takes the age, maturity and ability of students into account.

The proposed health curriculum would include:

- personal health and physical fitness, including topics from exercise to oral health, vision and hearing;
- mental and emotional health, including topics from motivation to stress;
- prevention and control of diseases with topics ranging from sexually transmitted diseases to immunization;
- nutrition and weight control;
- drug use and abuse;
- accident prevention and safety;
- community and environmental health;
- consumer health;
- lifecycles, including topics ranging from abstinence from sexual activity to human growth and development;
- mental retardation.

Students would be allowed to take the classes only with parental permission. Students would not be penalized for lack of participation.

The bill carries no enactment date. Bohlike said she'd like the law to take effect before the next school year.

Programs aim to help students

Two programs, designed to assist Wayne High School students, were outlined by coordinator Doris Meyer during Monday noon's Kiwanis meeting.

Beef council directors to meet

The Nebraska Beef Council Board of Directors will meet on Wednesday, Jan. 19 at 1 p.m. at the Nebraska Beef Council office in Kearney. Elections will be held for officers for the Nebraska Beef Council, and directors of the Beef Industry Council and the Meat Export Federation. Funding requests achievement, class absences or behavioral problems — now can turn to Meyer whose part-time work at the school is funded wholly by an annual grant.

One of Meyer's programs involves adult mentors spending approximately 80 minutes with students during school study hall where she answers questions on class subject assignments or makes suggestions on possible study habits.

"My tutoring is not intended to replace common duties of the regular teacher but merely should supplement what goes on in the classroom," Meyer said. "In the mentor program, we could use more volunteers."

proximately eight hours a month with interested students in a variety of activities such as trips to the Omaha zoo, baseball and hockey games or local sporting events.

Meyer's other duty deals with academic tutoring of students during school study hall where she answers questions on class subject assignments or makes suggestions on possible study habits.

"The second part of the two-day meeting will begin on Thursday, Jan. 20 at 8:30 a.m.

The public is invited to attend the meeting. For more information, please contact the Nebraska Beef Council office at (308) 236-7551.
