Wayne voters to get shot at sales tax issue

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Voters in Wayne will be asked to approve a one percent sales tax during the May election.

Wayne City Council unanimously agreed to send the tax issue to the voters during its meeting Tuesday night. The ballot issue guarantees the sales tax will expire Oct. 1, 1999—five years after the tax would start if approved on the May ballot.

The ballot language also specifies that the revenue generated by the five-year tax can only be used for capital projects including a new library and senior citizen center facility, storm drainage improvements, renovation of the City Auditorium and the city's share of the cost of widening Highway 35 through Wayne.

COUNCIL members discussed the particulars of the proposed capital projects and the estimates of the revenue to be raised by the tax at length Tuesday. At one point it appeared that the final decision would be delayed another two weeks over questions raised by Council member Doug Sturm.

Sturm raised issues which caused other council members who had introduced the issue to momentarily withdraw it. Stressing the imporance of presenting a unanimous position to the voters, Darrel Heier withdrew his motion on the tax resolution until Sturm's questions could be answered. He said he would like the decision to be unanimous.

LIBRARYBOARD President Pat Gross urged council not to delay the issue for two more weeks because the library foundation had contracts ready to sign with a professional fund raiser and wanted to begin negotiation on the obtaining options on the first choice for a site for the new facility.

He said of the four sites identified in the city center area, the library board and senior citizens had selected it number one priority and wanted to get the option agreed to on the site.

Sturm, however, questioned whether the city would actually receive the $400,000 per-year in sales tax revenue estimated by the Nebraska Department of Revenue. He said he heard from people who said it would be much less than that.

CITY ADMINISTRATOR Joe Salitros acknowledged that the estimates were just that, but were arrived at through experience. He added that even if the city plans on

Incumbents seek reelection

Incumbents have begun to file as candidates for reelection in Wayne City and County races.

Patty Wieland, fourth ward council member in Wayne filed for reelection Wednesday. Darrel Heier, first ward council member and vice-mayor, filed for reelection Thursday.

Two county officials also filed Thursday. Debra Finn, incumbent county clerk and Clyde Flowers, incumbent county surveyor both will seek another term.

Deadline for incumbents to file is Feb. 24. Non-incumbents have until Mar. 11 to decide whether to seek election.

Let it snow

Wednesday night's snow storm may have wreaked havoc for area drivers but it did not detract from the fun of these kids as they enjoyed a day home from school. Snow blows schools closed

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

Wednesday night's snow storm brought four inches of snow to Wayne according to official Wayne weather observer Pat Gross, but it was the high winds that caused drifting, thus the cancellation of many area schools on Thursday and Friday. Thursday night an additional two inches fell in Wayne for a total of six in the two-day period.

Wayne School superintendent, Dr. Dennis Jensen said two school buses got stuck while picking up students early Thursday morning. Originally, Wayne had planned to start school one hour late but after the bus troubles, they called it off for the day.

Friday, Wayne students started school two hours late with other area schools including Laurel, Osmond and Randolph, cancelling for the day because country roads were drifted shut.

"We had buses running Friday only to areas where it was obviously passable," Jensen said. "There were some areas they just couldn't get too." In fact, Jensen said one family with children in the Wayne Middle School, called the school and told them not to even try to get out to their residence because of the snow packed roads. Those children arrived to school on Friday, via a tractor.

"Luckily, the buses were able to get out after being stuck with out having to call for additional assistance," Jensen said. "Both were stuck early on the routes so there weren't many students aboard." Jensen said after getting un-stuck, the bus drivers returned what students they did have to their homes.

Monday may be the final day of January but Jensen said the Wayne District has just 1.75 snow days they can use yet, and February hasn't even arrived. "We have to get in 1,080 hours during a school year," Jensen said.

WAYNE COUNTY Highway Superintendent, Sid Saunders said all three of his crews are out trying to get the county roads passable but the wind has been the biggest enemy.

"Until the wind really dies down, we're going to continue to have problems," Saunders said. "There really isn't a lot of real bad drifts but all it takes is one to stop you and with the wind, it's been a challenge."

Saunders says there is a Wayne crew, Winside crew and Carroll crew out trying to clear roads. "As soon as the wind dies down it won't take long," Saunders said.

The Highway Maintenance Superintendent, Harold Murray said the treatment used on the roads started to work on Friday afternoon a little better because the wind began to die down. "As soon as the wind picks back up and the temperatures drop, it will start freezing back on the roads," Murray said.

The treatment used by the crews consist of gravel, crushed rock salt and calcium chloride. There are three standard crews and two satellite crews according to Murray. The standard crews are in Wayne, Laurel and Hartington with satellite crews in Obert and Crofton.

The weekend forecast calls for dry days but cold temperatures.

Accused 'denying he's guilty'

Cedar County Judge Paul Robinson Thursday ordered James W. Forsberg held without bail in the Cedar County Jail on murder charges.

The charges stem from the Jan. 17 death of Ellen Gray, 74, Coleridge, whom authorities said Forsberg ran down and killed with his pickup on Main Street in Coleridge.

Forsberg appeared before Robinson with his attorney Michael Stevens of Yankton Thursday. A preliminary hearing date has not yet been set.

Stevens denied the charges that Forsberg deliberately hit Mrs. Gray with his pickup while she was crossing the street.

Stevens said he would vigorously defend Forsberg on the charges. "He's denying that he's guilty of any crime."

Cedar County Attorney Mark Behm amended the charges against Forsberg to list first degree or second degree murder but deleted the possibility of lesser manslaughter charges against the accused.

Townspiece have said Forsberg, 59, has maintained a long-standing dispute with the Gray family and that Mrs. Gray had complained of harassment by Forsberg in the past but no charges were ever filed.

The Associated Press reported Friday that affidavits filed during the court proceedings Thursday claim that Forsberg brooded over being charged in the death of his daughter and blamed his troubles on the local banker.

Mrs. Gray was the widow of James Gray who was long-time owner of the Coleridge National Bank.

Residents plan move to new digs

Plans are being laid for the transfer of residents from the old Wayne Care Centre to the new facility which is tentatively set to open May 1 according to interim administrator Delberta Peterson.

Current residents and their families have already begun to make decisions on layout and designation for their new larger rooms, according to Mrs. Peterson. She said all current residents and their families are being asked to select accommodations in the new facility by Feb. 10.

The spacious new one-level facility on 14th Street near Providence Medical Center replaces the exist-

College commission is good says official

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The chairman of the Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education gives the commission a good rating in its first two years, but he also apologized Monday for possibly stepping on any toes.

The commission had to move quickly to establish rules and priorities, Eric Seacrest told college and university officials gathered for a goal-searching session.

The rapid movement was required so decisions could be based on facts, not political or ideological bases, Seacrest said.

The commission is attempting to make less burdensome its procedures on budget, program and facility reviews, which the constitution

Wayne church gets new minister

By Clara Osten
For the Herald

Wayne's Church of Christ has a new minister. Troy Reynolds and his wife Stephanie recently moved to Wayne from Norfolk.

Troy is finishing up his senior year at Nebraska Christian College in Norfolk and will graduate in May with a degree in Pastoral Ministry.

Stephanie is a math education major at Wayne State College and will graduate in December, 1995.

Troy is a third generation minister. His father and grandfather have been and still are ministers. Although Troy graduated from Lexington High School, his family has lived in numerous places including Texas, Wyoming and several Nebraska towns.

"I HAVE always enjoyed ministering and the devotion part of being a minister but always said I would never be a minister. I entered college as a math major but half way through the first semester I heard an extremely motivational speaker and said to myself 'I want to be able to tell others about God like he did,'" said Troy.

Prior to coming to Wayne, Troy served as a student minister at Oakdale, Neb. for two years at the Oakdale Church of Christ. "This congregation was approximately the same size as our congregation here in Wayne, but it was mostly a retirement age congregation."

"Our congregation here is much more diverse. We have college students, families with children and older members as well."

"BECAUSE OF the wide range of people we have, there is a lot of potential for our congregation. We have approximately 45-50 members but they have been very cooperative in helping get things done for the church," said Troy.

"Right now the congregation is in the process of setting goals. When we have written goals, we will be better able to see where we want to go."

The Reynolds are excited to be in Wayne. Both said they felt mandates, Seacrest said.

"We all understand why colleges and universities need a substantial amount of autonomy," Seacrest said. He claimed there is less debating and fewer turf battles among the schools now than before the commission was created.

Jane Renner Hood of Lincoln, vice chairwoman of the group, said the commission "must take a long view, and we must do it with all of you."

Commission member Sheila Griffin of Lincoln proposed Monday's goal-searching session several months ago, long before some criticism intensified over the commission's direction and area of authority, Hood said.

Consultant Aims McGuinness told the educators, policymakers and others at the meeting that pressures on coordinating bodies and governing groups will grow as states feel economic and political constraints. Those financial considerations will be coupled with some public uncertainty or unhappiness with education and with policymakers.

McGuinness is with the National Center for Higher Education Management Systems in Denver.

McGuinness said there is frequent debate about the role and authority of a state's flagship campus (such as the University of Nebraska-Lincoln), and proposals to close or merge schools.

Issues on transfer of junior college credit also surface often.

Long-standing geographical or political feuds often translate into education battles, McGuinness said.

Legislators today often are skeptical about the effectiveness of school improvement legislation they themselves just passed, the consultant said. Coordinating commissions should be impartial and apolitical, he said, and cannot get too close to either politicians or colleges and universities.

The Nebraska commission and others like it can gain more clout if they develop agendas and priorities in public, and emphasize conflict resolution, not regulations, McGuinness said.

Tax

receiving the lowest possible estimate from the sales tax, that amount would be sufficient in five years to pay for the specified projects.

He said the library/senior center would take approximately $850,000 in tax funds, the sewer project $460,000 and the auditorium $450,000. These would be covered even if the city only received $350,000 a year in sales tax revenue over the five years, he said.

Sturm also asked if the library would be the first project completed if the bond issue passes. For the city administration's part, Salitros said it would be more practical to complete the storm sewer work first because of the schedule for widening of Highway 35 in 1997.

STURM ASKED if the new library would be housed in a newly constructed site or placed in an existing building? Gross said the library board and senior citizens agreed with the architectural study recommendations that it would be more practical to buy property and build a new facility.

Sturm said he was not really against any part of the sales tax and capital improvement proposal but that he had been asked a lot of questions and he wasn't yet able to defend issues.

Council member Darrel Fuelberth, who had previously raised questions about going ahead with all the capital projects at once, said he had been contacted in recent days by many residents and most of them were supportive of proceeding with all the capital projects.

"THESE ARE all essential," he said.

Council member Sheryl Lindau said she liked the idea of a five year limit on the tax regardless of the amount raised. She added in the two months the council has been talking about the issue not one person has appeared at a council meeting to say anything negative about it.

At that point the resolution was reintroduced and it passed on a 7-0 vote to proceed to the election.

Gross thanked council for its decision and said history would show that the city benefited from life-improving projects that would be enjoyed for 30 to 50 years by implementing a "very minute burden (the sales tax)."

glad to finally have a house to live in after living in a small apartment for nearly two years.

At the present time, Troy has office hours at the church from 9:30 a.m. to noon on Tuesdays and Thursdays. "Because the church office is rather small, I also have an office at my home and can be reached there most of the time. The rest of the time Stephanie and I are out visiting the congregation and finding out what their needs are," said Troy.

ANOTHER aspect of the Wayne community that the Reynolds are excited about is the Campus Ministry. They hope to get involved with the college students and beginning Feb. 7, they will be holding regular Monday night meetings to get acquainted with students.

In his spare time, Troy enjoys watching and participating in sports activities. He also enjoys reading.

Stephanie spends her free time sewing, cooking or singing.

The Reynolds say their main goal at the present time is to get to know people and get involved with their congregation. "We want to become a part of the lives of those to whom we minister," said Troy.

Thoughts on 'Life's Walkway'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Allen O'Donnell has submitted his thoughts on the "Walk for Life" held in Lincoln Saturday. Below is the second of his three-part series.

I heard a number of people discuss the fact that infanticide and euthanasia were "on the horizon" right now in a number of European countries. We all have heard of Dr. Kevorkian, haven't we. A number of early societies sacrificed their young and their virgins to the many "gods" that they feared. Others killed their elderly when they became "overly-burdensome."

But in America we are supposed to be too civilized, too smart, too ethical, for that. Our society was founded on God. Yes, there were the seekers after gold, the soldiers, those who were exploring — but, in every instance there were the bibles, the ministers, the priests, the crosses, and there was the Mayflower Compact, and Thanksgiving.

Granted, there are horror stories, as with every civilization in every period of history. But America — well, we were better than that. After every horror we tried to do better, everytime.

Just where did this idea of killing our very own offspring come from? That is what we are allowing, and doing, and everyone knows it. Of course, we hush it up, hide it behind sterile white gowns, behind closed doors, and TV would not dare show the life that lives in the womb from the moment of conception — even though science has filmed it and it is on record.

My Turn

As I walked along with the crowd talking with a student I could not help but think about all that is happening in our times: the good and the worrisome. Our Nebraska economy looks good, and the national economy isn't all bad. The wars continue in Europe, Africa and elsewhere. Wayne America is a place to be proud of in so many ways — economically, culturally, spiritually and the education is just fine. But there are 90 million Americans who have trouble balancing a check-book or reading a road map. My mind had to go to Los Angeles and the earthquake. I wondered how some of my former students were holding up under the shocks. I lived in Southern California for more than six years.

Then I thought of the deep freeze and the east coast. I was born and raised there. Fifty dead from the earthquake, and 100 from the deep freeze. And there are more than 4,000 abortions every day in America. In my native New York City, there have been more than 30,000 deaths from AIDS, and the life span of the American male has declined in New York City over the past few years. The dead. The dying. The killing. We know about the Sudan, Chad, Somalia, Ethiopia. But we hide the other kind of killing as best we can, don't we?

Consider how long it took America to realize that there is a crime problem among our children. Only now is there action being taken on that account. It has been around since the 1970s — early 70s. One of the greatest causes of death of our children today is the gun.

Tuberculosis is making a strong comeback, and the Clinton Health program wants to include pregnancy as a "sickness" to be treated with taxpayers money for abortion. How strange.

O, so many things run through a mind as one walks with 5,000 from the Nebraska State Capitol to the Nebraska Union. I realized as I looked around that there was no generational gap on this issue. No, most of those around me were much younger than me. But there is a morality gap between the "pro-life" and "pro-choice" forces. That is without question.

When I hear those whom I would otherwise respect — those with experience in life beyond the classroom, those in business, those in the professions, shouting for "choice," then I am perplexed. They should know better, I believe. Life is not cheap and they should know that. They should know that the Golden Rule is the one rule that never fails. We kill life in the womb today, and we are now moving toward killing life outside the womb already: call it infanticide or mercy killing. There is a Hemlock Society in place in America, calling for recognition and respectability. Their role is to help people kill themselves. Death and darkness vs. life and light: that is where the battle lines are formed.

Daffodil Days to bring hint of spring; funding

The American Cancer Society will bring a welcome touch of spring to Wayne March 18 to 20 when it conducts its annual Daffodil Days Celebration. Money raised during Daffodil Days funds the society's research, education and patient service programs.

Wayne County Women of Today volunteers will be taking orders and collecting donations. The minimum order is one bouquet of 10 daffodils for a donation of $5 per bouquet. Flowers may be picked up at the Wayne Greenhouse, 215 East 10th Street, March 18 and 19. Daffodil Days concludes with Hope Sunday on March 20.

Orders may be placed by picking up forms at area businesses or by contacting Laura Hochstein at 375-4740. Checks are to be made to the American Cancer Society ad flowers prepaid by Feb. 23.

Supporting daffodil days means giving hope to cancer patients and giving yourself a touch of spring. Please join your friends and neighbors in spreading a touch of spring during Daffodil Days Celebration.

You get more for your money when you buy at home . . .

It is simple logic. Home area businesses give you the same or equivalent goods at the same or better prices with far less traveling time, cost and highway hazards.

And part of their profit on every deal with you is used to help you pay local taxes and to support all other good and useful community activities.

Sutton church wedding site for Fredrickson-Leininger

St. Mary's Catholic Church in Sutton, Neb. was the setting for the Sept. 25 wedding of Kristin Lee Fredrickson of Lincoln and Jeffrey Joseph Leininger of Pleasant Dale. Father Douglas Morin officiated the 3 p.m. ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Leininger

The parents of the couple are Dennis and Nancy Fredrickson of Wakefield and Steve and Marcia Leininger of Sutton.

Special guests were Florence Fredrickson of Wakefield, grandmother of the bride and Etta Leininger of Sutton, grandmother of the groom. Lawrence Weber, grandfather of the groom, was unable to attend.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a J.P. Original gown of white tulle and pale pink satin. A sweetheart neckline, short puff sleeves and basque-waist satin bodice were adorned with hand-pearled Venice lace. The gown's full skirt of sheer tulle over blush satin fell gracefully to a chapel-length train, both of which were trimmed with satin cording. White french-wire ribbon was entwined in her bouquet of bridal pink roses, white calla lilies and yellow mini-carnations.

Kelly Fredrickson of Lincoln, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Dilynne Byers-Lucey of Lincoln, friend of the bride; Kim Glissman of Omaha, sister of the bride; and Kelli Leininger of Lincoln, sister of the groom. They wore champagne pink suits of bengaline fabric, with short puff sleeves worn off the shoulders.

Flowergirl was Christy Wiedel, cousin of the groom. Chance Bergen, friend of the groom's family, was ringbearer. Candlelighters

Organist was Regina Leininger of Sutton, aunt of the groom. Soloists were Betsy Kerns of Lincoln, friend of the bride, and Michele Schmer, friend of the groom. Songs sung were "This Is The Day," "Speak Lord," "Take Lord, Receive," and "Love of the Lasting Kind."

Gift offerings were Joe and Colleen Weber of Omaha, aunt and uncle of the groom. Tom Leininger of Oxford served as lector. Tyler Lemkau of Sutton and Justin Yost of Harvard were servers.

Alyce Leininger of Sutton, aunt of the groom, decorated the altar with flowers. Other church decorations included white bows on the altar candleabras and pew candles.

A dinner reception was held at the Sutton Legion Hall, and dance at the fire hall. Hosts and hostesses for the couple were Roger and Linda Cottrell of Tula, Tenn., aunt and uncle of the bride, and Lawrence and Rose Bauder of Sutton, friends of the groom's family. Jean Simpson of Wakefield, aunt of the bride; Joan Gross of Ord, aunt of the bride; Dawn Wiedel of Geneva, aunt of the groom; and Joan Rasby of Sutherland, aunt of the groom, cut the cake, poured coffee and punch.

The bride graduated from Wakefield High School in 1983, and received an associates degree in business at Wayne State College. The groom graduated from Sutton High School in 1984 and received a bachelor of science degree in agriculture at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln in 1989.

The bride is administrative assistant to Lt. Gov. Kim Robak and Gov. Ben Nelson's counsel. The groom is an agronomist at the Dorchester Farmers Cooperative.

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev., the couple is residing at their home in Pleasant Dale.

The Library Card

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

Recently the Rainbow Riders gave us several books on horses, horsemanship and horse care to add to our collection. It is always gratifying when an organization sees a need in a certain area and then proceeds to help fill that need. We are always receptive to ideas for books from our patrons. We will try to fill your requests if at all possible.

"Lyons on Horses" by John Lyons is a discussion of his training program using common sense and logic.

"The Older Horse" by Eleanor M. Kellon offers a guide to the care and conditioning for horses 10 years old and up.

"Practical Horseman's Book of Horsekeeping," edited by M.A. Stoneridge, discusses many aspects of choosing the horse, housing and feeding the horse, outfitting and grooming the horse.

"Making Your Own Jumps" by Mary Gordon Watson describes the construction of jumps for training and show.

"Preparing for a Show" by Jane Holderness-Roddam talks about getting both horse and rider ready for competition.

"Mouths and Bits" by Toni Webber is a well illustrated description of bits and the care of teeth.

"Sheds and Shelters" by Toni Webber offers various structures for housing horses.

"Centered Riding" by Sally Swift gives many hints on correct riding posture.

"The Horse Care Manual" by Chris May covers a wide variety of problems in the care and feeding of horses.

The Minerva Club has also donated the book "Canyons of the Southwest" in memory of Mildred Jones. We thank them as well.

There are two new books on tape on the rack. Look for Garrison Keillor's newest book "The Book of Guys" and Emily Bronte's "Wuthering Heights."

New books just in include: "Honor Bound" by W.E.B. Griffin; "Bad Love" by Jonathan Kellerman; "Our Father" by Marilyn French; "The Wyndham Legacy" by Catherine Coulter; "Disclosure" by Michael Crichton; and "Fatal Cure" by Robin Cook.

Story hours continues through Feb. 30 on Saturday mornings at 10:30 a.m.

Look at the circulation desk for free copies (limited in number) of "Student Guide for Financial Aid - 1994-94," "Careers and Education in Nebraska 1994," "Free Applications for Federal Student Aid 1994-95" and a copy of the 1994 Nebraska catalog of events.

Another new book in the library is "The People's Chronology" by James Trager. This book is a reference book which contains a year-by-year record of human events from pre-history to the present. Pick a time — any year — any century and you can discover important and interesting facts of history. You'll also find the 1994 edition "Chase's Annual Events" a day-by-day directory to national and regional festivals, anniversaries and birthdays, etc.

Library hours are: Monday through Friday, 12:30 to 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday, 2 to 5. See you at the library.

WEDDINGS —

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area.

We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication.

Wedding photos to be returned should include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Wayne girls get 25 points from Thompson in victory

ANNE WISEMAN and Jenny Thompson scramble for a loose ball during first half action of Wayne's game with Tekamah-Herman on Tuesday. Wayne improved to 7-6.

The Wayne Lady Blue Devils defeated Tekamah-Herman, 51-47, Tuesday at Wayne High leaving Roger Reikofski's squad with a 7-6 record. Wayne jumped out to a convincing 14-4 lead in the first quarter and led by eight after the first eight minutes.

The visitors, however, fought back and out-scored the Blue Devils, 16-6 in the second quarter to take a 22-20 lead into the locker room. Wayne went the whole second quarter and the first two minutes of the third quarter with out scoring a basket. All six of the points in the period came from the foul line. Both teams scored 12, third quarter points which left the Tigers clinging to a two point lead.

The turning point in the game came just 50 seconds into the fourth quarter when Tekamah-Herman's bench was whistled for a technical foul. At the time it was called, the visitors had a two point lead and the ball.

Wayne's Jenny Thompson stepped to the free throw line and sank both charity tosses. The Blue Devils then got the ball at half court and Thompson connected with a jumper from the top of the key to give Wayne the lead—one they would never relinquish.

Allen gals drop two games during week by two points

The Allen girls basketball team suffered a pair of losses this week by a total of two points, dropping Gary Erwin and Lori Koester's squad to 10-5 on the season.

Tuesday the Eagles failed to soar against Coleridge as the visiting Bulldogs upset Allen, 41-40 and on Thursday Allen gave fourth rated Emerson-Hubbard all they could handle before falling, 43-42.

In fact, Allen led Emerson for the entire game with the exception of a last second shot. The Eagles led by 14 after three quarters but gave up 26, fourth quarter points while scoring 11.

"Emerson just got hot in the fourth quarter," Koester said. "We were up 31-17 after three, but they hit four, 3-pointers in the final period and we didn't help ourselves by missing the front end of four, one-and-ones."

The 10-5 Eagles were led against Emerson by Tanya Plueger with 12 points while Dawn Diediker and Jaime Mitchell netted eight each. Allen out-rebounded the rated Lady Pirates, 34-32 as Steph Martinson led the way with 12 caroms while Plueger hauled down nine.

The Eagles suffered 22 turnovers compared to 14 for Emerson and Allen was 14-26 from the foul line while the host team was 8-16. "Our defense played very well for the most part," Koester said. "We have three losses this season by a total of five points."

In the Tuesday contest with Coleridge, the lady Eagles suffered a dismal free throw shooting night which cost them the game. "We were just 8-25 from the foul line," Koester said. "We missed many front ends of one-and-ones."

Allen led the visitors, 20-18 at the half and the game was tied at 28 after three quarters. Tanya Plueger led Allen with 12 points while Dawn Diediker tossed in eight.

Plueger also hauled down a team high 13 rebounds.

Wildcat senior trackster Jackie Heese sets record

Wayne State senior trackster Jackie Heese broke the 10-year-old school record for the 1500 meter indoor run, last Saturday at the South Dakota Indoor Meet.

Heese was clocked in 5:18.1 for seventh place, but breaking the WSC record set by Lynn Surber in 1984 of 5:21.5. Teammate Kathy Dalton placed eighth in the same event with a 5:22.7 effort.

The meet was the first of the season for the Wildcats. "Jackie's race was pretty remarkable considering that she had pneumonia just a couple of weeks ago," Wildcat mentor Brian Kavanaugh said. "She just started doing speed work last week and once the speed work starts affecting her races, her times should really start improving."

In other results, Jason McDermott placed fourth in the high jump after a 6-4 leap. "Jason nearly cleared 6-6," WSC assistant Jeff Ruzicka said. "The school record of 6-8 is clearly in his reach this year or next."

In the middle distance races, freshman James McGown ran 4:20.3 for 1500 meters. That is an equivalent to about a 4:40 mile, just one second off his personal best in this his first race of the season.

McGown also ran 2:44.6 for 1000 meters, missing the school record by a mere seven seconds. Junior Steve Dinsmore and freshman Mark Beran also ran strong in the meet with Dinsmore winning his heat in the 800 meters in 2:04.9 and Beran ran 16:56 for 5000 meters—equaling his best time outdoors.

"Mark Beran's time in the 5000 is equivalent to about 28:02 for 8000 meters, or two minutes faster than he ran during cross country last season," Kavanaugh said.

In the sprints, Charronna Chambers, Patricia James and Brandon Benson ran well as Chambers ran to a 7.2 clocking in the 55 meter dash for third place honors. P.J. ran 7.5 in her heat and just missed the finals and Benson was timed in 7.1.

"The times were a little slow, mainly because the athletes weren't supposed to be wearing spikes," coach Rick Moorman said. "While a lot of other teams apparently ignored that rule, our kids did not and we had a lot of trouble with getting good enough traction, especially at the start of the races."

Wayne State will host its own Indoor Meet on Feb. 5 in the Rec Center.

Shannon Peterson and Laura Blowers will be guest performers during music classes on Thursday, Feb. 3.

Friday Feb. 4 is the final day of the week-long celebration and has been designated "Important Person Day."

Students are encouraged to invite parents, grandparents or another important person in their lives to spend all or part of the morning with them.

ALSO, ON Friday morning there will be a performance by the kindergarten class, a talent show and a school Mass at 10:45 a.m.

According to Mrs. Black, "all of these activities serve to promote the theme of 'Sharing God's Gifts'. The students involved in the talent show and the various guests during the week will be sharing their talents, gifts and treasures with the students."

Catholic Schools Week serves to build community awareness of and involvement in Catholic schools throughout the U.S. According to the Jan. 1994 issue of National Catholic Education Notes, "These schools offer a public service, effectively educating children and instilling in them a sense of citizenship. The parents of the school children save the government thousands of dollars."

IN NEBRASKA there are 320,718 children enrolled in grades Pre-K-12. Of that number, 28,157 are in Catholic schools. The Archdiocese of Omaha has 19,553 students, the Diocese of Lincoln has

Laurel's Daberkow home after Navy assignment

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Kelly Daberkow, son of Delwyn and Joyce Daberkow of Laurel, recently returned aboard the submarine USS Pargo, homeported in New London, Conn. from a science deployment under the Arctic ice.

The submarine engaged in a first-time cooperative scientific effort, which included having seven civilian scientists aboard.

Known as "SCICEX 93," the scientists conducted experiments and obtained information regarding global climate change, geological evolution of the Arctic Ocean basins, changes in the permanent ice pack and the Arctic Ocean's biological and chemical environment.

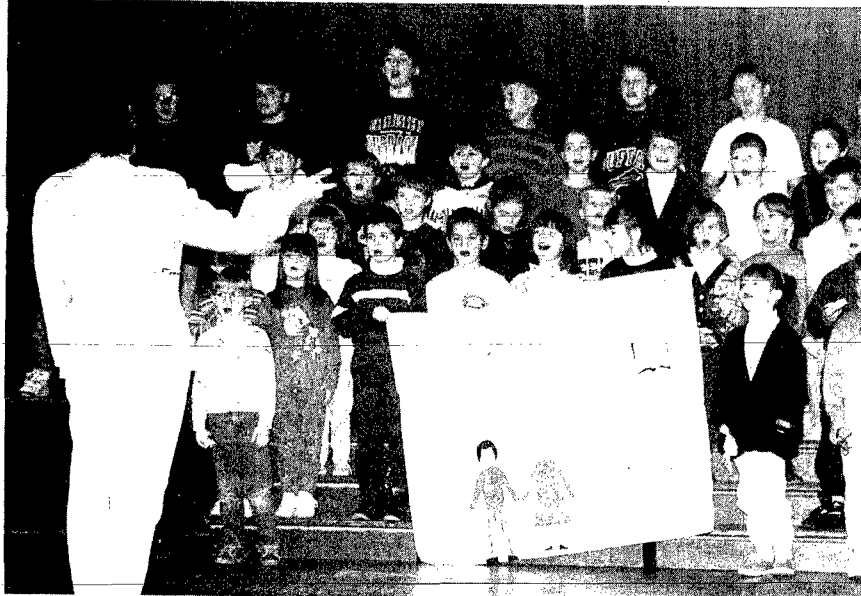

Much of the data gathered from conducting operations under the ice has non-military applications and the Navy wants to make that information available to the civilian scientific community. "SCICEX 93" marks the first time that a nuclear attack submarine has been dedicated to the collection of civilian scientific data.

Daberkow is one of the 122 crewmembers aboard Pargo who received the Arctic Service and Sea Service Ribbons for his participation in the deployment. He spent 24 hours at the North Pole and made port visits to Trondheim and Bergen, Norway; Portugal and England before returning to Groton.

Naval forces will be prepared to fight promptly and effectively, but they will serve in an equally valuable way by engaging day to day as peacekeepers in the defense of American interests, from the sea, his officers said.

Daberkow joined the Navy in September, 1989.

In celebration of Catholic Schools Week, St. Mary's Catholic School of Wayne hosted the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce weekly coffee Friday morning. The kindergarten through fifth grade students performed a song and a poem was recited for the chamber members.

Other wind chilly years

Farmer's Wife recalls

By Pat Meierhenry

With the recent cold snap, we were trying to remember when we had last experienced the severe wind-chills. The news said it was '89, and I do recall going to the Lewis and Clark Conference boys' basketball finals at WSC in extremely cold weather. The rest of Winside was there, too!

But someone mentioned the storm that came up two nights before Christmas in 1982. Remember? A lot of people were at Christmas programs. We were sacking goodies at the church to be distributed on Christmas Eve. When we finished, we went to the parsonage for coffee and cookies.

Jon called to ask if we had noticed the weather. We had not. The wind had come up and snow was flying. We started for home at once. Several turned back and spent the night at the parsonage. I'm not sure how we got home. We got stuck before we got to our driveway and walked the rest of the way. And just that distance was miserable.

I've been reading a book about angels among us, and it caused me to recall an event that occurred at Page, Neb. that night.

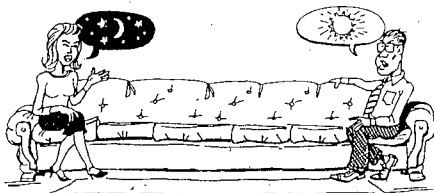

A nurse I worked with a few years ago had several children and had recently separated from their father at that time. He took them to a program at his church and his car stalled on the way back to his farm. They were not dressed for severe weather.

He got them out of the vehicle and had them hold hands. He pointed to a security light in the distance and told them they would "walk towards the light."

They all made it to that farm. There was severe frost bite, but they all survived. I remember that the security lights of our neighbors helped guide us that awful night.

But the farm place they finally came to did not have one. There was no security light, and the yard light was not on. No one could account for the light they saw, but it saved their lives. They just walked towards it. Angels among us?

"IT'S NIGHT, IT'S DAY. IT'S BLACK... NO, IT'S WHITE... YOU'RE WRONG, I'M RIGHT. LATELY IT SEEMS NO MATTER WHAT WE SAY WE END UP IN A FIGHT ..."

Tip #2 DON'T AVOID TALKING ABOUT PROBLEMS
They won't go away by themselves and you'll only get more frustrated!

... HOW CAN WE LEARN TO SPEAK OUR MINDS AND STILL HAVE EVERYTHING WORK OUT RIGHT?"

Sometimes talking with people you care about can be difficult, but it's not impossible. You can learn to express yourself effectively.

Learn practical ways to communicate with others and to manage conflict in your life from a spiritual, Biblical perspective.

Top teacher to be picked

For the seventh year, a Nebraska teacher will be honored through the US West Outstanding Teacher program.

The program recognizes exceptional teacher talent at the elementary and secondary school levels in each of the 14 states served by US West.

The Nebraska outstanding teacher will receive a $15,000 cash award which will be paid during a two-year period, to pursue projects to improve education their communities.

In announcing the 1994 program and requesting nominations, US West Communications Nebraska Vice President and CEO Jim Hawes said the company will seek teachers who reach beyond classroom walls. "We're looking for teachers whose commitment to students and to their communities is truly noteworthy."

Information about the program and application materials can be obtained from the US West Foundation, 1314 Douglas-on-the-Mall, 14th Floor, Omaha, Neb. 68102. Completed application packages must be postmarked by March 31, to receive consideration. You may call Karla Ewert at 422-3559 in Omaha or outside of Omaha at 1-800-642-8220.

The US West Foundation is one of the largest corporate foundations in the western United States. The Foundation manages charitable contributions and grantmaking programs on behalf of US West, Inc., and its family of companies. In 1993, the Foundation disbursed more than $25 million.

US West is in the connections business; helping customers share information, communications and entertainment services in local markets worldwide. In February US West became the first regional Bell company to commit to building an interactive, multimedia network in the 14 western states it serves. In May, US West became the first large American telecommunications company to form a domestic strategic partnership with a media company, Time Warner Entertainment.

Hunting may have slowed in the area because of the recent snow storm but for avid pheasant hunters, this is the final weekend of the pheasant hunting season. For those interested in trying their luck on the final weekend, forecasts are calling for a relatively dry weekend with cold temperatures.

New feedlot rules discussed

Cattle feedlot operators are having to meet new regulatory pressures since the 1972 Federal Water Pollution Control Act was enacted to address surface water concerns requiring "no-discharge" systems to prevent direct runoff into waters of the United States.

The new regulatory pressures relate to feedlot waste runoff, groundwater contamination from seepage, air pollution control and development of pollution prevention plans that address water and polluters abatement, solid waste management, sustainable production, chemical and fuel storage, wellhead protection, employee training and frequent monitoring and inspections, said Terry Mader, extension beef specialist at the Northeast Research Center in Concord.

Improved technologies are available that allow improved feedlot design and superior manure and waste management practices. As feedlots are expanded, rebuilt or new operations started, these new technologies should be utilized to reduce environmental impact, he said.

To address these concerns, Dr. John Sweeten, Extension Ag Engineer, Livestock Waste Management, Texas A&M University will present a seminar entitled "Designing and Managing Feedlots for Environmental Protection" on Wednesday, Feb. 2 at 1:30 p.m. at Wunderlich's Catering in Columbus. Dr. Sweeten will also discuss the use of fly ash in building mounds and enhancing feedlot surface conditions.

Dr. Sweeten's presentation is sponsored by the Platte Valley Cattlemen and the Nebraska Cooperative Extension. For more information contact Chuck Folken, President Platte Valley Cattlemen, 487-2439; Steve Pritchard, 363-4901; Platte County Extension Educator; or Terry Mader, 584-2261.

Soy vote to be held on Feb. 9

Soybean producers will vote Feb. 9 on whether the Soybean Promotion, Research and Consumer Information Program should continue. Producers who certify that they produced soybeans between Sept. 1 and Dec. 1 will be eligible to vote in the referendum.

Registration and voting will both be held Feb. 9 and will take place at Cooperative Extension county offices. Absentee ballots, which had to be requested by Jan. 21, must be returned in time to reach the appropriate County Extension office by Feb. 2. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service personnel will county ballots, determine eligibility of voters and tabulate results. For the program to continue, a simple majority of those voting must favor it.

In the referendum, producers will decide if they want to continue to pay the current assessment of 0.5 of one percent of the net market price of the soybeans they sell. The assessments are used to fund the program. The referendum is authorized by the Soybean Promotion, Research and Consumer Information Act.

The referendum producers will be published in a future issue of the Federal Register.

For more information, contact your local county Cooperative Extension office.

Set your conservation plan

Producers who request USDA benefits (FmHA loans, Federal Crop Insurance and ASCS payments) and farm highly erodible land are required to use a conservation system that is part of a conservation plan developed by SCS. Because some conservation plans require certain conservation practices established over a period of years, producers should discuss

Long Term Agreements with the county ASCS office.

ASCS has Long Term Agreement (LTA) funds available which may help a producer pay for the establishment of practices that are needed to comply with the Conservation/Compliance Provisions.

A signup period is being held until Jan. 31. Producers interested in receiving cost-sharing to establish long term conservation practices should sign up at the county ASCS office during this period. Producers should contact the Soil Conservation Service office first to see what type of practices will be needed before signing a Long Term Agreement at the county ASCS office.
