Wayne is dangerous place too

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Wayne is becoming a more dangerous place, Police Chief Vern Fairchild warned in his annual report given last week to the Wayne City Council.

Brandishing menacing looking weapons which he said were taken off of juveniles in the community, Fairchild contended that the community should not be looked on as isolated from the dangers of larger towns.

The police chief contended that the city might see more turnover in its police department because the pay for a beginning officer is low ($8.52 per hour to start) and the dangers inherent in the job are just as great here as in other towns which pay more.

"Today, everyone of them is looking for a job," said Fairchild of his new young officers. He said they could leave as certified officers and get $10 an hour in other towns.

Fairchild told a story about the danger involved in the job. He said one of the men arrested in connection with a burglary in Norfolk recently and who will be charged with other burglaries in Northeast Nebraska was involved in a minor traffic accident in Wayne the night before.

The man, who was heavily armed

Hoarfrost or Horse frost?

Foggy and frigid conditions created winter wonderland scenes of white flocked trees and rural fields in recent days in the Wayne area. While pleasant to look at from a warm car or from behind a large picture window, the scene were nothing man nor beast wanted to really be a part of. Temperatures were minus 12 Monday. The horses in this scene southwest of Wayne were not particularly put out by the cold conditions, however. Perhaps they sensed the forecast which calls for moderating temperatures.

Fullerton after new JD center

FULLERTON, Neb. (AP) — An economic development group is planning its strategy to convince Northeast Nebraska Juvenile Services to build a satellite juvenile detention center here.

"The two biggest reasons why I could see building a juvenile detention center in Fullerton are to give the community the ability to employ more people and promote economic development in the community," said City Administrator Troy Strom.

There now are juvenile detention centers in Wayne, Omaha, Lincoln and Scottsbluff. Fullerton is about 35 miles northeast of Grand Island.

Greg Eckel, administrator of the Wayne center, said he would like to build a more centralized center to handle juvenile offenders from Grand Island, Kearney and Hastings, as well as York and Hamilton counties.

But first, a new center needs to be built in Wayne to replace the current building, which does not meet juvenile jail standards, Eckel said at an information meeting last week.

Once that project is completed, Juvenile Services might consider building a satellite center in central Nebraska that would house 25 to 50 juveniles, he said.

The new center would cost about $1.5 million to $2 million, he said, but it would be at least a year and a half before construction begins.

In the meantime, the Fullerton Area Economic Development Corp. is starting up a recruitment campaign.

"We have to take proper action within that year ... to make sure Fullerton is top of their list," Strom said.

The first step will be to conduct a labor survey to determine if Fullerton has a big enough population.

'Weather just plain...'

"Just plain old Nebraska weather," was how Wayne weather observer Pat Gross summed up January. "There was plenty of snow, very cold temperatures and a nice January thaw."

The thaw, though short lived, came on the 24th when temperatures soared to 59 degrees. The month's low, recorded on the 18th, was minus 13.

Six and a half inches of snow fell in January bringing to 20 inches, the total snowfall this winter.

The year started off pretty much where last year left off. Precipitation totals for the month were above average. Three quarters of an inch of total precipitation fell compared with under a half inch as the normal 10-year average.

Chemicals fight water woes

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Wayne may implement chemical warfare techniques against water and waste water treatment problems in the near future, according to Mert Marshall, water department foreman.

Addressing long-standing complaints about odor coming from the waste water treatment plant, Marshall told Wayne City Council last week that he was investigating the use of chemicals to stop the stench. He said the situation generates the most complaints in the summer and that a chemical has already been purchased to try and address the problem this summer.

Marshall said he hopes residents in the area will notice a difference this year.

ANOTHER CHEMICAL approach to a water problem in Wayne may be the addition of something to inhibit pipe corrosion in household water pipes, said Marshall. He said the chemical additive is being investigated as a solution to the high copper content found in Health Department testing of the city's water supply.

Water testing done in 1993 indicated higher than normal copper in several samples taken from homes in the city. Marshall said the above normal test results were generally found in newer homes with copper pipes and water softeners.

He told council the Health Department has asked the city to conduct an extensive study on corrosion control and submit it to the department by June of 1995. Marshall said this would be very expensive and he had found a company willing to conduct the study and suggest possible chemicals to add to keep copper and other metals from entering the water.

MARSHALL SAID the city's first tactic after the tests showed high copper content was to tell the Health Department that the city didn't believe its water was harmful since copper seldom creates the health problems that lead and other heavy

Who's going to argue?

Following last week's snow storm, city snow plowing crews piled snow on sides of the streets where parking is not allowed, which means city police probably didn't spend a lot of time handing out tickets for parking in these no parking zones because you wouldn't have been able to park there even if you wanted to.

Death-ethic pervasive

EDITOR'S NOTE: Allen O'Donnell has submitted his thoughts on the "Walk for Life" held in Lincoln. Below is the third of his three-part series.

The ethic of death and darkness will be hard to turn around. Our society seems determined to continue on this road of self-destruction.

I thought about those early years when I started teaching in California. If anyone had tried to tell me then that America would be killing its own offspring wholesale someday — well, I would have considered that to have been the most bizarre statement ever! And a hemlock society? And children aged 10, 11, 12, 13, with guns shooting each other in our streets, restaurants, homes, schools! No Way! Not America, we were too smart, too good, too moral, to ever allow such things to happen here. Look at our history: we have come through so much, and we were sacrificing so much for our children, and for others around the world; to assure that life could advance and prosper.

Still, I have just returned from a walk with 5,000 Nebraskans because we Americans are doing just that. Yes, I am very perplexed. I need a new Maimonides to explain all this to me. We Americans are killing our children in the womb, and outside the womb. We are destroying our tomorrow's. We have chosen death over life. And to hear those whom I consider to be very bright people argue "choice" — boggles my mind. For whatever reason they refuse to go to the heart of the issue. That is: life or death.

I thought about slavery and how so many people tried to rid our America of that disease before the Civil War, but that War had to be our "reckoning." Then it took from Lincoln to Kennedy to get a decent piece of civil rights legislation, and today we still suffer through racial bias and prejudice. To top it off our Supreme Court then removed religious morality from the public classrooms and replaced it with absolutely nothing.

As I walked I thought about a nation dedicated to life, liberty and happiness for all, that now is bankrupt in funds, $4 Trillion worth — and bankrupt morally as it allows the killing to go on in the abortion mills, in the streets, in the homes. Television and Hollywood serve as the moral classrooms for millions of our children. And there is no intention of advancing the teaching of ethics or morals in the public schools. Life has become so cheap. Whatever happened to the moral imperative?

Yet I'm sure that the 5,000 who made that walk would go back out there again, tomorrow, if asked to. Why? We continue to hope. To pray. To trust. We do not trust in man. As the coin has it, we trust in God. Ernie Pyle once wrote, "There's no atheists in foxholes." This is a war. It's a war to try to bring America home to her moral moorings, to that kind of morality found at the base of the Statue of Liberty written by Emma Lazarus. It is an ethics which manifests human life as sacred, and that must be protected, nourished, loved, from conception to natural death.

Everyone knows the truth about when human life begins. Now we need to return to the belief that human life must be treated as sacred and inviolable from the moment of the beginning of that life, once again.

We'll be going back down to Lincoln this time next year. Anyone who wishes to go along, just mark your calendar. We are in this one for the duration.

Capitol News —

Taxes will be political issue

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — The answer: "Taxes. Taxes. Taxes."

The question: Name the top three reasons Kay Orr didn't win reelection as governor in 1990.

That may be overstating things a bit, but not greatly.

Ben Nelson's pledge to fix the state's income tax system to make it fairer for middle-class taxpayers hit home with voters four years ago.

Most folks have a pretty good idea what they send to Lincoln.

Plus, it's hard to resist that age-old political promise: I'll cut taxes.

Nelson is also making taxes an issue in 1994. After all, he led the state out of the personal property tax crisis he inherited shortly after taking office.

Recent events, however, may have put some dents in the governor's tax armor.

Last week, the U.S. Supreme Court, ruling in an Oregon case, decided that states could tax railroads while exempting other types of personal property.

You tax fans, of course, will remember that it was those silly railroads that shoved Nebraska down the tracks that eventually led to a crisis on personal property taxes.

If you recall, courts had ruled that a federal law required that rail cars be taxed just like other types of personal property.

Because of that and because of the way the Nebraska Constitution was written, the Nebraska Supreme Court ultimately ruled in 1991 that a whole bunch of personal property that had been tax-exempt — like business inventory and agricultural property — now needed to be taxed, like the rail property.

Ouch. But Nelson, armed with an ad campaign financed by state businesses, led us out of that tax crisis by obtaining voter approval to change the State Constitution.

Along the way, however, the state had to start taxing breeding livestock and farm machinery in order to also tax railroads, a tax issue Nelson is getting static over.

Last week's Supreme Court opinion suggested that, in retrospect, the state may not have had to do so many tax gymnastics to flip out of its tax dilemma.

It may — and emphasize may — offer a chance for the state to back up on some of those changes that hit farmers and ranchers so hard.

That's not the only new tax development the governor has to deal with.

Last week, it was discovered that state revenue officials goofed when delivering new income-tax withholding directions to employers across the state. That led to overpayment of state taxes by middle-income wage earners.

Yikes. That's more than a little embarrassing for a governor whose income-tax cut was supposed to go into effect this year.

Nelson administration officials were adamant that the over-payment of income taxes would be corrected by April 1 and that refunds would ensure that the tax cut eventually reaches people's pocketbooks.

That didn't prevent Republicans, however, from complaining that the "bureaucratic blunder" was a political maneuver. The events of last week served as a reminder of how much jeopardy governors can face when taxes are an election issue.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Legislative session is in second quarter

By Stan Schellpeper
District 18 Senator

We are over-a-fourth of the way through this short (60-day) session of the Legislature. It seems as if we are spending a lot of time debating issues that, on the surface, would not appear to require this kind of time. There are a number of senators who are not supportive of the Governor's crime bill or welfare reform package and are looking at ways to minimize discussion of these two issues.

The Revenue Committee, of which I am a member, is currently debating two bills which would allow the cities of Lincoln and Omaha to increase their local option sales tax. If the Legislature grants them the authority to increase the tax it would put the sales tax in Omaha and Lincoln at 7% with the cities retaining 2%. State revenue comes mainly from income tax and the 5% sales tax. In the event these bills are enacted, I believe the state would need to look at other revenue sources besides sales taxes if addisession which would raise taxes or expand the sales tax base unless the elimination of other taxes is on the table.

We have spent a great deal of time debating whether local law enforcement officials should have the authority to cross city limits or county lines to pursue individuals who have committed misdemeanor violations and are attempting to avoid arrest. There are some senators who are opposed to high speed chases. In my opinion, it only makes sense that we have a law which would allow law enforcement officers to pursue across city limits or county lines when needed. The State Patrol currently has the authority to pursue across the entire state.

As always, if you would like to comment on these bills or any other legislation, please do not hesitate to contact myself or my staff at 471-2801.

tional revenue was needed. The reason for this is because 7% is about as high as many officials of the state would go without taking the risk of hurting business or taxpayer's pocketbooks. An alternative to raising the sales tax rate is to expand the sales tax base to cover selected services. This seems to me to be a sensible choice due to the dynamic growth of service industries. It would be my intention that we only expand the sales tax to replace real estate or personal property taxes.

In further pursuit of this goal, I have introduced LB 1159, which would extend the sales tax to specific services in order to eliminate all personal property taxes. We probably will not raise or expand any taxes this session as the mood of the Legislature is to leave taxes alone. I personally will not support and will not vote for any law this

Profit motive Students think it isn't necessary?

Mann Overboard

By Les Mann

With just a couple months until the tax filing deadline it's a good time to talk about profit.

Right now most of us are wondering why we had so little of it and why we have to share so much of what little we did have with the government.

Many people criticize the profit motive in business, but I think we should stop and remember it was the profit motive that made America great. Free enterprise, not government, has given us our sociological and technical advances.

The effort by every person and every business to better themselves using the opportunities our system provides is part of that American profit motive. The goal by everyone to make a profit, has made America great.

I hope we aren't losing sight of that fact in modern, liberal times.

We seem to be moving ever closer to a socialist state. I cite as an example a recent survey of high school students conducted by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

In the survey 67 percent of the students said they did not believe in the need for profit.

- 82 percent do not think we have competition in American business.
- 62 percent think their government has a responsibility to provide jobs.
- 63 percent were in favor of government ownership of banks, railroads and steel companies.

•61 percent rejected the profit motive as necessary to the survival of the free enterprise system.

•Exactly half the students thought the government contributed most to national prosperity.

These statistics would tend to indicate that we are raising a generation of young people who think their government owes them something, that business is bad and we need to kill the free enterprise system.

This attitude seems ironic as we observe what has been happening in socialist countries of late. Socialist countries are now trying to introduce free enterprise economic principles to help improve quality of life.

They have seen that the capitalist profit motive may not be as bad as Herr Marx had originally taught.

I get an opportunity to talk to journalism students every so often and one of the first things I always tell them is that a newspaper is in business to make a profit.

Newspapers are different than many other businesses in that they also have a strong public service obligation and tradition. But ultimately the profit position is what determines whether the newspaper will remain in existence to provide the service to its public.

Many of the best newspapers, indeed many other of the best businesses in the world, are no longer providing a service to their public. They are no longer in business. Their managers may have been like the students surveyed by the Chamber of Commerce. They may have forgotten or ignored the need to make a profit so as to insure the service would be maintained.

It was the great organized labor leader Samuel Gompers who summed it up best when he said:

"The worst crime against working people is a company which fails to operate at a profit."

Merlin plays name game

Merlin Wright

Like your name? Were you named after a parent or relative?

Names are images, written and verbal, for identification. Though parents attempt to give each child a unique handle, others likely already have the same moniker. Glancing inside a phone book provides evidence that most names are not rare.

You have the name "Richard", but people call you "Dick". Persons having the name "William" are often "Bill". If you're a "James", friends probably call you "Jim". If you're "Andrew", "Andy" is a likely tag.

Other shorties include: "Ben" for "Benjamin"; "Chuck" for "Charlie"; "Tom" for "Thomas"; "Matt" for "Matthew"; "Herb" for "Herbert"; "Cal" for "Calvin"; "Bob" for "Robert"; "Vic" for "Victor"; "Dave" for "David"; and so on.

On the other side of the coin: "Deb" for "Deborah"; "Marj" for "Marjorie"; "Jan" for "Janice";

"Susie" for "Susan"; "Viv" for "Vivian"; "Glo" for "Gloria"; "Liz" for "Elizabeth"; "Kathy" for "Katharine"; "Judy" for "Judith"; "Jennie" for "Jennifer"; "Pam" for "Pamela", etc.

Are we addicted to short names? Perhaps. One wonders what the parents were thinking when they named their to-be-president sons: Ulysses Simpson Grant, Rutherford Birchard Hayes, Warren Gamaliel Harding, Richard Milhous Nixon? Were they honoring relatives?

Governmental agencies do not like the extended names of states, consequently Nebraska is NE, Missouri is MO, Connecticut is CT, Illinois is IL, and Kentucky is KY. It may be the first time government ever cut back on anything.

Certainly in contention for having one of the longer names is the late German historian: Prince Hubertus Loewenstein-Wertheim-Freudenberg. Pity those in a check-out line waiting for him to sign a check!

Computer promoters scared off many would-be users by originating such names as binary, bit, byte, boot, bug, alphanumeric, interface, modem, DOS and baud rate. Talk of searing the wary! Programmers evidently didn't want you to know that if you can drive a car, you can

4-H Communication workshops scheduled

Effective communication is one of the most important skills that we can teach our young people, according to Dana Rethwisch, Extension Educator for the Northeast Five Extension Programming Unit. So important, in fact, Cooperative Extension has planned a series of workshops dedicated solely to communication.

The workshops will concentrate on verbal communication through demonstrations, speeches, public service announcements and personal interviews.

"4-H'ers are expected to prepare a demonstration or speech each year, to be given on the local club or project level," said Rethwisch. "They may also choose to present their demonstration or talk in competition at the county or area level. These workshops will help them learn and polish the skills of preparing and delivering such a presentation."

The workshop will teach the basic how-tos, as well as tips to make giving public presentations easier.

Public Service Announcements will be added as a new category for competition at this year's 4-H Public Speaking contests, and will be included in the workshop series. For competition, 4-H'ers will create and present a 30-60 second radio public service announcement regarding some aspect of 4-H that interests them. The workshop will introduce 4-H'ers to this area of competition, and teach them to write and present an effective public service announcement.

As youth apply for awards, scholarships and jobs, they will often be required to participate in an interview process. "Many youth have no experience or training in interviewing," said Rethwisch. "By providing a training session regarding interviews, we hope to teach youth some of the do's and don'ts of interviewing and how to promote themselves to an interviewer. We will also provide youth the opportunity to practice-interview." This new aspect of communication training should be especially attractive to teenagers.

The communication workshops are open to the public. 4-H members, other youth, parents and volunteers are especially encouraged to attend. Workshops are scheduled for Feb. 8 at the Northeast Research and Extension Center near Concord; Feb. 10 at the Dakota County Courthouse, east basement entrance meeting room; and Feb. 21 at the Pender Fire Hall. All workshops will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m., and will cover the same information.

Waynians' son is decorated Pentagon brass

Col. Jon Beckenhauer, son of Howard and Dorothy Beckenhauer of Wayne was recently decorated with the Order of Military Medical Merit Medal in a ceremony at the Pentagon in Washington, D.C.

Col. Beckenhauer is a 1965 graduate of Neligh High School. He received his Army Aviator wings in August of 1967 and was immediately assigned to Assault Helicopter units in Southwest Asia.

During his three years in Vietnam he served as a gunship pilot and later Chinook instructor pilot flying more than 3,200 hours of combat assault time in UH-1, CH-47 and AH-1 aircraft.

He earned the Distinguished Flying Cross, Vietnam Cross of Gallantry, Bronze Star, Purple Heart and 26 separate Air Medals before his return to Ft. Sill, Okla. in 1971. At Ft. Sill, the then Captain Beckenhauer was a flight examiner and company operations officer before his discharge from active duty in April 1972.

He immediately returned to Nebraska and joined the Nebraska Army National Guard and went back to college to finish a bachelor's and master's degree at the University of Nebraska. Between 1975 and 1981 he was an industrial arts teacher in the Lincoln Public Schools system.

Getting transferred into the Medical Service Corps branch in 1978, he went on to distinguish himself not only as an Army Aviator but has served in numerous positions in the military's Medical Operations field.

Reentering active duty in 1981, he served four years at the University of Nebraska as an ROTC instructor and was one of three finalists for the Kinman Oldfield Award given to the "Best ROTC Instructor" nationally.

At the Health Services Command in San Antonio, Texas, Beckenhauer became the Army National Guards first Medical Mobilization Planner in 1985 and was the driving force behind the writing of regulations and deployment plans used during the mobilization of reserve components during Operation Desert Storm.

Upon leaving San Antonio, Beckenhauer was reassigned as the Medical Advisor to the 7th Medical Command in Heidelberg, Germany in 1989.

During this tour of duty, he was instrumental in the planning and had direct supervision of the deployment, housing and training of more than 4,000 Reserve Component Medical soldiers mobilized to Europe during Desert Storm in 1990-91. These actions earned him, among other awards and citations, the Meritorious Servious Medal.

Upon his return to the United States, Beckenhauer was selected as one of only two Army National Guard military officers to study at the National Security Fellowship program at the Harvard University JFK School of Politic's, earning a PhD in Military Science.

After completion of this school in 1992 he was promoted to Colonel and assigned to his present position as the Army National Guard advisor to the Surgeon General in Washington D.C.

Col. Beckenhauer's superior performance over his entire career has reflected great credit upon himself, his country and the United States Army.

He was married in 1971 to the former Ann Evans of Sydney, New South Wales, Australia and they are the parents of two children, Robert and Brittany.

Wayne donor drives fight the critical national blood shortage

The Siouxland Blood Bank has recognized the donors who donated at the First National of Omaha service center blood drive last week in Wayne.

Twenty-eight individuals volunteered to donate and 26 pints of blood were collected during the drive on Monday, Jan. 24.

The blood bank recognized the following first time donors: Sharyn K. Cornett, Paula L. Easley, Cindy S. Echtenkamp, Jay W. Cochenover, Angela Kay Jones and Ron B. Smith.

Donor consultant Pam Masching said the blood bank is very appreciative of all the donors who have contributed during the current national blood shortage brought on by severe weather and the California earthquake.

"Our ability to fulfill our commitment to our hospital patients is dependent on the support of local communities like Wayne," she said.

A total of 90 pints of blood was collected during a community-wide blood drive held Thursday, Jan. 27 at Providence Medical Center, according to Ms. Masching.

She issued special honors to eight gallon donor Gene Casey, six gallon donor Marlin Schuttler, five gallon donor Ron Wriedt, and one gallon donors Larry L. Brodersen, Theresa M. Hyspe, Jo Ann Wurdeman and Bob Zetocha.

There were a sizeable number of first time donors at the blood drive as well. They were: Sandie R. Bennett, Sister Deana K Case, Jim B. Granquist, Jennifer H. Jones, Keri A. Kamrath, Robert J. Keating, Delores E. Koch, Amy J. Lehn, Ann M. Lemпка, Christopher M. Looft, Jeff L. Lutt, Amy A. Schaeffele, Lowell N. Schardt and Joan M. Schmoltd.

The February blood drives in this area will be Feb. 21 for the employees at M.G. Waldbaum in Wakefield. That will be held from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Conference Room. The general public is invited to the blood drive scheduled Feb. 24 at Providence Medical Center from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

There is still a critical national shortage of blood supplies, said Ms. Masching.

Tax fighter is back at it

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) -- Anti-tax crusader Ed Jaksha is considering another statewide petition effort. This one is a proposal to put a lid on hikes of assessed property value and prohibit property taxes for funding of Nebraska schools.

The prospective petition effort would be separate from a drive already under way by the Committee for Trio Amendment, which would eliminate value-based property taxes entirely.

Jaksha has initiated several tax-cutting calls in recent years. He said Thursday that his new plan would require less replacement revenue and might be more politically salable.

In its draft form, the petition would allow tax rates above 1 percent of assessed value only with approval of voters, and only for two years at a time. It would limit increases in local government budgets to a cost-of-living adjustment and growth in valuation, and prohibit the state from mandating local expenditures without providing funds.

The petition also would allow taxpayers to join for class-action lawsuits on property tax matters. Paralleling existing requirements for changing the state constitution, it would require not only a majority, but a certain level of voter participation for approval of bond issues and budgets that exceeded the proposed limits.

Unlike the Trio Amendment, Jaksha's draft petition specifies funds lost to property tax revenue cuts would come from sales and income taxes.

Stan Dobrovolny, leader of the Trio Amendment campaign, said he didn't think Jaksha's effort would address the problem of property valuation.

Jaksha said he is working out details of the plan, and could file the petition effort with the secretary of state's office as early as next week if everything comes together.

to provide 25 or 30 workers for the new center. Fullerton has about 1,450 residents.

If there aren't enough people in Fullerton to staff the center, a regional survey would be conducted to determine if the surrounding area could support the center.

Strom said the community will be encouraged to write letters of support, asking Juvenile Services to consider putting the center in Fullerton.

Fullerton would be a good geographic location for the center because of its proximity to central Nebraska towns that use the Wayne center, Strom said.

at the time of his capture, told a Norfolk police officer that he was ready to shoot the Wayne officer who investigated the accident if the officer had looked in his car to see the stolen goods in the back.

The chief said the police face ever increasing dangers even in Wayne. Another trend relating to police work, he said, is that neighbors are tending to file more complaints with police against their neighbors.

"It used to be 'help your neighbor,' now it's 'Hell with your neighbor,'" said the Police Chief.

said Koenig, are learned at an early age.

He said that is why this year's theme "Kids Who Use Their Brains Use Their Bodies," was selected. He wants to see heart healthy habits instilled early.

"Recent studies show that 25.8 percent of the high school students who smoke, tried their first cigarette while in the sixth grade," said Koenig. "Each day, more than 3,000 American children smoke their cigarette."

Another factor in unhealthy hearts is lack of exercise and poor nutrition Koenig said. One of the Heart Association public service announcements this month shows a youngster sitting in front of a television set eating junk food. "Prevent couch potatoes while they're still small fries," says the caption.

Koenig said children who spend hours of inactivity in front of the television set are establishing unhealthy habits for the future.

Fullerton might already have some competition for the proposed center.

Eckel said Grand Island has expressed interest about having the center built there.

Hall County Attorney Ellen Totzke said the county could save money if a center was built closer to Grand Island.

"We'd like to see one much closer," such as in Fullerton, Totzke said. "Of course it would be really nice to have it across town."

In other water safety issues, the city water department has been very busy keeping up with new water testing standards. He said the new regulations take a lot more time and record keeping.

THE CITY ALSO implemented its backflow program last year to keep contaminated water from siphoning back into the drinking water supplies. He said nearly all of the high-hazard locations in the city have been contacted and many backflow devices have been installed.

Meanwhile, in his report to the city Council, Marshall showed a decline in the amount of water used last year over 1992. He said the water usage related directly to how wet a year the city has.

Blue Devils snap two-game losing skid with wins over West Point, Logan View

WAYNE'S MIKE Fluent battles for a rebound against West Point during first half action of the Blue Devils seven-point win over the Cadets last Friday.

Wayne State teams beaten

The Wayne State women's and men's basketball teams were beaten soundly by highly rated Northern State, Saturday in Aberdeen, S.D.

Mike Barry's women had their six-game win streak snapped by the number one team in America in NAIA-II, 100-77. It was a revenge game for the Wolves as the only loss they've suffered this season is an opening game, 75-71 setback to the Wildcats in Rice Auditorium.

In fact, at the present time, Northern State's women, have the nation's longest win streak in all levels of play for women and men at 18. It was only the fourth loss of the season for the 'Cats versus-16 victories.

WSC trailed by just five points at the intermission, 47-42 but were out-scored, 53-35 in the second half. Amy Brodersen led the 'Cats with a dozen points while Deb Kostreba and Jodi Otjen tossed in 11 apiece. Northern State held 'Cats leading scorer Lisa Chamberlain to eight points.

Marla Stewart tallied nine and Deedra Haskins finished with eight. WSC was 29-67 from the field for 43 percent and 15-25 from the charity stripe. Northern State connected on 34 of 59 shots for 58 percent and they hit 26-36 from the free throw line.

WSC was out-rebounded, 40-38 with Chamberlain and Otjen sharing team honors for the 'Cats with seven boards each. Chamberlain also had five steals.

The 'Cats had 22 turnovers in the game compared to 21 for the winners and as a team WSC had just 10 assists while Northern State players combined for 29.

The 'Cats will travel to play Bemidji State on Saturday before returning home to host Winona State the following Wednesday.

THE WILDCAT men also had their hands full with Northern State, ranked 13th in the nation in NAIA-II. WSC was beaten by 20 points the first time the two teams clashed this season, on opening night but the Wolves doubled that the second time around, winning 108-68 after leading by only 10 at the half.

The 'Cats were 26 of 71 from the field for just 37 percent and they were only 6-28 from 3-point range while Northern State knocked down 38 of 81 shots for 47 percent and the Wolves hit 10-20 from 3-point range.

WSC even struggled from the foul line, hitting just 10-20 while the host team was 22-28. Dan Anderson led a group of four WSC players in double figures with a

The Wayne boys basketball team snapped a two-game losing skid over the weekend and now have a two-game win streak which will be on the line in the first round of the NAC Conference Tournament, Thursday in Hartington when the Blue Devils face South Sioux.

Rocky Ruhl's squad did not look overly impressive in weekend wins over West Point and Hooper-Logan View on the road, but Ruhl said his team showed signs of breaking out of their recent slump at Hooper.

In West Point, Friday the Blue Devils found themselves down quickly to a red-hot shooting Cadets team. Wayne was behind 8-0 before Mike Fluent put the first points on the board on a follow-up shot after an offensive rebound following a Robert Bell miss at the 3:32 mark of the opening stanza.

The Blue Devils trailed 15-7 after the first period, a quarter which saw Wayne hit just two of 10 shots including a 3-pointer by Matt Blomenkamp with just nine seconds remaining.

Wayne eventually trailed by as many as 12 points in the first half on two different occasions. The shooting touch of Wayne didn't get that much better in the second quarter as they connected on 3-12 but despite a horrendous first half performance, Ruhl's troops trailed by just five at 24-19 at the break.

The Blue Devils came out a little more fired up in the second half and quickly erased the five-point deficit. Wayne scored the first six points of the third quarter to take its first lead at 29-28. The lead changed hands three times in the quarter but the Blue Devils led, 33-31 after the third period.

Wayne hit six of its 10 shot attempts of the third quarter and the defensive intensity was turned up a notch led by Ryan Pick, Jason Carr and Joe Lutt.

In the first part of the fourth quarter, Wayne's cold shooting returned for a while as the Blue Devils missed their first five shot attempts. Blomenkamp and Lutt, however, snapped that streak with back-to-back 3-pointers to give Wayne a 40-34 lead.

Down the stretch it was the free throw shooting that sealed the win as Wayne hit 10 free throws in the final eight minutes. Robert Bell led Wayne in scoring with 15 points including a 11-14 performance from the foul line.

Blomenkamp tallied 14 and Pick chipped in with eight. Wayne and West Point had 21 rebounds each with Fluent leading the Blue Devils with seven caroms. Wayne had 10 turnovers in the game compared to eight for West Point. The Blue Devils hits 17 of 22 free throw attempts for the game while the host team was just 10-20.

AGAINST LOGAN View on Saturday, Wayne jumped out to a 26-19 lead at the half and had built a 20-point plus lead in the second half before settling for a 54-39 victory, leaving them with a 12-3 record.

"We had some good stretches in there," Ruhl said. "We got our break going a little bit more and showed some positive signs."

Kirk Carmichael came off the bench to lead Wayne in scoring with 15 points after a perfect 7-7 night from the field. Joe Lutt tallied 10 while Ryan Pick and Matt Blomenkamp tossed in eight apiece.

Both teams came away with 27 rebounds with Mike Fluent leading Wayne with nine caroms while Robert Bell hauled down six. Fluent was also 3-4 from the field in scoring six points.

Both teams had just eight turnovers in a well played game and Wayne was 6-14 from the free throw line while Logan View was 9-13. The Wayne reserve team split their contests over the weekend with Dave Hix's team downing West Point, 29-27 but falling to Logan View, 49-21.

Wayne (51), West Point (44): Wayne—Robert Bell, 15; Matt Blomenkamp, 14; Ryan Pick, 8; Joe Lutt, 7; Mike Fluent, 3; Kirk Carmichael, 2; Jason Carr, 2.

Wayne (54), Logan View (39): Wayne—Kirk Carmichael, 15; Joe Lutt, 10; Ryan Pick, 8; Matt Blomenkamp, 8; Mike Fluent, 6; Robert Bell, 5; Jason Carr, 2.

Six earn medals at Albion Wrestling Invite for Wayne

The Wayne wrestling team traveled to compete in the Albion Invitational, Saturday—the only tournament the Blue Devils compete in that medals six places like they do at the state tournament.

Wayne placed last of the 10 teams competing with 48 points. Kearney won the team title with 212.5 while runner-up honors went to David City Aquinas with 168.

York placed third with 163.5 and Lexington was fourth with 135. Albion rounded out the top five with 103.5 and Neligh-Oakdale was sixth with 84 followed by Broken Bow with 77, David City with 66, O'Neill with 49 and Wayne.

The tournament was the final one of the season for the Blue Devils who dual Columbus Lakeview on Tuesday at Wayne High before preparing for the district tournament which begins Friday, Feb. 11 in Omaha at Gross.

Wayne did have six medalists on the day including a third place effort by Jason Shultheis at 171 pounds. The Wayne senior won a 1-0 decision from Kearney's Ryan Smith in the consolation finals.

Jeremy Sturm, Brent Geiger and Cody Stracke each managed to place fifth while Jeff Hamer and Rick Endicott brought home sixth place medals. Also competing for Wayne in the tournament was Jared Anderson, Tyler Endicott, Brent Geiger and Terry Rutenbeck.

There was also a reserve tournament in Albion and Wayne had three grapplers taking part. Brown went 3-0 in the meet and Rethwisch went 2-0 while Campbell went 0-2.

JOE LUTT literally puts man-to-man pressure on a West Point player to keep him from scoring an easy lay-up during last Friday's game at West Point.

Winside grapplers fourth at Ainsworth

Paul Sok's Winside wrestling team faced their strongest competition of the season at the Ainsworth Invitational, Saturday. The Wildcats managed to place fourth and had seven medalists in the process.

Burwell captured the team title with 139 points while Bassett Rock County placed runner-up with 119. Burke, S.D. was third with 116 followed by Winside and Ainsworth with 95.5.

Rushville placed sixth with 73 and Gothenburg was seventh with 41 followed by Crawford with 37.5 and the O'Neill reserves with 11.

"We kind of had a mixed day," Sok said. "There was some good wrestling and some not so good wrestling. We made a few costly mistakes but I think this was by far our toughest tournament of the season."

The Wildcats had two champions on the day in 119 pounder Jason Wylie and the surprise of the tournament, 130 pound Lucas Mohr. Wylie got behind 5-0 in his championship match with Colbey Olson of Rock County before disposing of him, 11-5.

Mohr got past a previous top rated wrestler in Class C from Rock County before moving into the finals where he took care of a rated wrestler from the state of South Dakota by decisioning Cory Newharth of Burke, 8-6.

Runner-up honors went to Scott Jacobsen at 112 who was defeated, 3-2 by Ben Mader of Crawford in the finals—the same grappler who beat Jacobsen two years ago at the state tournament.

Josh Jaeger also placed second at 125 after losing a 4-0 decision to Bruce Hanson of Burke, S.D. in the finals. Brady Frahm was defeated in the finals at 152 by an 8-6 margin to second ranked Class C grappler Steve Dawe of Burwell.

"Brady got behind 6-0 before he started wrestling," Sok said. "He nearly completed his comeback attempt but fell two points short." Lonnie Grothe placed third at 160 pounds and according to Sok, he wrestled very well after his first match.

The seventh medal placing went to Joe Schwedhelm at heavyweight where the freshman placed fourth. Winside will travel to compete in the Clearwater Invitational on Saturday before preparing for the district tournament which begins Friday, Feb. 11 in Howells.

Two other Wildcat grapplers took part in the reserve portion of the Ainsworth Tournament and Robert Wutler placed first at 119 while Nate Behmer took second at 112.

Wayne girls improve to 8-6 with 52-40 win over Cedar

CARRIE FINK drives to the basket for two of her game high 18 points against Cedar, Monday at Wayne High.

The Wayne girls basketball team improved to 8-6, Monday with a 52-40 victory over Hartington Cedar Catholic in a make-up contest at Wayne High.

Roger Reikofski's team grabbed a 12-7 lead after the first quarter but had that advantage trimmed to just one point at the half, 24-23. Wayne's defense kept Cedar at bay in the third quarter as the visitors did not score a point until under the two minute mark of the period.

The Blue Devils out-scored Cedar, 12-4 in the third quarter to open up a nine point game heading to the fourth quarter. Cedar cut the gap to five early in the final period but Wayne went on a 7-0 run after that to lead by a dozen.

They were never threatened after that. "I thought our girls did a real nice job of blocking out on the boards," Reikofski said. "In the first half Cedar had just two offensive rebounds and they had a total of eight for the game, which is pretty good on our part considering they were a bigger team."

Wayne never took one trip to the free throw line until the fourth quarter but the Blue Devils responded when they finally did get there by hitting seven of nine free throw attempts.

Carrie Fink led the winners by pouring in 18 points while Jenny Thompson tossed in 11. Wayne won the battle of the boards, 34-31 as Katie Lutt and Audra Sievers shared team honors with eight each.

The Blue Devils had 19 turnovers in the contest compared to 23 for Cedar and the Trojans ended up 10-19 from the free throw line. Wayne will travel to Hartington on Friday for the first round of the NAC Conference Tournament where they play none other than Cedar Catholic in the first round.

Wayne (52), Cedar Catholic (40): Wayne—Carrie Fink, 18; Jenny Thompson, 11; Anne Wiseman, 6; Cori Langenfeld, 4; Katie Lutt, 3; Melissa Weber, 2; Amy Post, 2; Katy Wilson, 2; Amy Ehrhardt, 2.

ANNE WISEMAN shoots over a Hartington Cedar Catholic defender during fourth quarter action of Wayne's 12-point win over the Trojans. The Monday contest was a make-up game from last week. Wayne will now face Cedar again this Friday in the first round of conference.

Laurel, Wakefield boys get past first round of tourney

The Laurel and Wakefield boys basketball teams captured victories in the first rounds of their respective conference tournaments, recently while Allen and Winside were knocked out of conference play.

Laurel, playing in the NENAC Tournament defeated Bloomfield in the first round, Saturday in Randolph, 74-62. The Bears led 19-15 after the first quarter and stretched that lead to 13 by intermission at 38-25.

The Bears held a comfortable 17 point lead heading to the fourth quarter before substituting freely. The win pushed the Bears record to 11-3 and earned them a spot in the semifinals to be played Tuesday night in Plainview against Crofton.

Cody Carstensen paced the winners with 25 points including an 8-8 performance from the foul line. Jared Reinoehl threw in 23 points and Jeremy Reinoehl was in double figures with 13.

Laurel won the rebound battle, 30-22 as Jared Reinoehl hauled down 12 caroms while Rich Rasmussen had six. The Bears took good care of the basketball, suffering just six turnovers while Bloomfield had a dozen. Laurel was 14-21 from the foul line and the Bees were 11-17.

WAKEFIELD LED Hartington by 19 points in the third quarter of their tilt in Wakefield, Monday in Lewis & Clark Conference tourney play, but Brad Hoskins' crew failed to deliver the knock out punch and had to settle for a 75-71 victory.

Wakefield will now play Osmond in a rematch of an earlier game which resulted in the Trojans losing on a last second 30-foot, 3-pointer by the Tigers. Semifinal action will be played at Wakefield, Thursday.

The Trojans led Hartington, 19-12 after one quarter and 39-29 at the break. "We got into some major foul trouble in the second half," Hoskins said. "We ended up losing four of our starters in the game as Ryan Ekberg, Tory Nixon and Wes Blecke all fouled out and Miah Johnson got a technical foul just into the fourth quarter and our policy is that if you get a technical, you sit the rest of the game."

Johnson was given a technical for what the official felt was taunting or baiting the opponent—the first technical of its kind called this year. Still, the Trojans were able to hold on to notch the victory.

Cory Brown poured in 19 points to lead the winners while Nixon tossed in 14. Justin Dutcher was also in double figures with 13. This was the first game that reserve Travis Birkley saw any varsity action and he made the most of it. Birkley sank three of four free throw attempts in the final minute of the game to ensure the Trojans victory.

"Travis did a nice job," Hoskins said. "It was definitely his night because he sank a 3-pointer at the buzzer of the reserve contest to win the game for the Trojans."

Wakefield held a 51-44 advantage on the boards led by Brown's 13 caroms while Ryan Ekberg and Lucas Tappe had eight apiece. Both teams suffered 18 turnovers and Wakefield was 25-38 in free throw shooting while Hartington was 20-32 in a contest where 70 foul shots were attempted.

The 10-5 Trojans are currently on a six-game win streak and will be looking for revenge on Thursday for one of those five losses when they host Osmond.

THE WINSIDE boys trailed Coleridge in first round Lewis & Clark tourney action by just one point at half, Monday in Coleridge, 29-28. Randy Geier's troops, however, were limited to just two, third quarter points while the host Bulldogs gnarled their way to a 20-point cushion after the third period at 50-30.

"We did a good job in the first half," Geier said. "We hit 48 percent of our shots but that all changed in the third quarter." Geier said his team did not do a good job of blocking out on the boards and Coleridge took advantage.

"They had 19 offensive rebounds for the game which resulted in a lot of second and third chance points," Geier said. The 1-11 Wildcats were led in scoring by Jeff Bruggeman with 12 points while Ryan Brogren netted nine.

Coleridge dominated the boards, 50-27 with Brogren leading Winside with five caroms while Jaimey Holdorf had four. The Wildcats had 15 turnovers compared to 10 for Coleridge and Winside was 2-5 from the foul line while the host team was 13-23.

JEFF SCHONING'S Allen squad had the unfortunate task of playing Emerson-Hubbard in back-to-back games in Emerson. Last Friday the two tangled in regular season action and the Pirates came out on top of a 73-55 score and on Monday in first round conference tourney action Emerson blasted Allen by 40, 89-49.

Allen trailed the host team by 22 points at the intermission of Friday's game, 43-21 but the Eagles cut the gap to 10 by the end of the third quarter. "We did a good job of fighting back in the third quarter but we just ran out of gas in the fourth period," Schoning said.

Curtis Oswald poured in 27 points to lead the Eagles while Jay Jackson tallied 10. Oswald also had a team high 12 rebounds.

On Monday the halftime deficit staring Allen in the face was similar to Friday's game as Emerson led 48-27. Allen was actually tied with the Pirates at 21 after the first quarter but the host team out-scored the Eagles, 27-6 in the second stanza.

Casey Schroeder was the leading scorer for Allen with 17 points while Curtis Oswald netted 14. Jay Jackson was also in double figures with 10. Jackson hauled down nine rebounds to lead Allen while Oswald and Tim Fertig had eight each.

dozen while Kyle White and Omar Clark netted 11 apiece. Terry Mailloux finished with 10.

The 'Cats were demolished on the boards, 59-38 which resulted in a lot of second chance points for Northern State since 20 of those rebounds came from the offensive end.

White and Billy Patterson each dished out five assists for team honors and WSC suffered just 15 turnovers compared to 12 for the Wolves. The loss dropped WSC to 5-13 on the season and the 'Cats will return home to host Quincy College on Wednesday.

Trojans, Wildcats and Bears eliminated in girls conference play Allen advances in tournament

The Allen Lady Eagles are the only team in the Wayne Herald coverage area to win the first round of their conference tournament, which began Saturday in Lewis & Clark and the NENAC.

Allen blasted Beemer, 54-30 in Allen. The host team Eagles built a 15-5 lead after the first quarter and never looked back as they held a comfortable, 32-12 lead at the intermission.

"We think we're back on track after losing three of four games in the past two weeks," Eagles mentor Lori Koester said. "We had a good game Saturday against Beemer and Steph Martinson really had a nice game for us."

Martinson was 5-10 from the field and 8-9 from the free throw line while leading the winners with 18 points. Tanya Plueger tossed in 14 and Jaime Mitchell netted seven.

Allen out-rebounded the Bobcats, 38-26 led by Martinson's 12 caroms and Plueger's 10. The Eagles had 15 turnovers while forcing 20 and Allen was 14-24 from the free throw line compared to 6 of 16 shooting by Beemer.

Allen will play Bancroft-Rosalie on Tuesday in Ponca in the semifinals of the Lewis Division where Koester and Gary Erwin will be seeking their 12th win of the season against five losses.

In Clark Division play the Winside girls fell at Wausa, 47-31 and the Wakefield girls were defeated in Wynot, 36-34 just a week after defeating the Blue Devils in Wakefield by five.

Winside was out-scored, 21-8 in the first quarter and the Wildcats never fully recovered while slipping to 3-10 on the season. "Wausa came out shooting hot and we couldn't make anything," Winside coach Angie Schroeder said. "We missed a lot of easy shots."

The Wildcats trailed by a 29-13 margin at the half and 41-23 after three quarters. Christi Mundil led Winside with 10 points and the senior was prolific on the boards, hauling down 21 rebounds including 13 offensive caroms.

Kari Pichler tossed in nine points while Chris Colwell, Catherine Bussey and Wendy Miller had four each. Winside did edge the Vikings on the boards, 42-40 and the 'Cats had 20 turnovers compared to 22 for the host team. Winside was 3-6 from the free throw line and unbelievably, Wausa did not shoot a single free throw.

The Vikings did, however, continue their torrid shooting pace throughout the game, hitting 47 percent of their shots while Winside connected on just 26 percent of its shot attempts. Winside will travel to play Hartington, Monday in a make-up game.

Wakefield got off to a slow start in its contest against Wynot, trailing by a 9-2 margin after the first quarter. Gregg Cruickshank's squad managed to trim the lead to five after three quarters of play at 26-21 and the Trojans out-scored Wynot 13-10 in the final period but could not quite complete the comeback.

Jamie Oswald led the Trojans with 10 while Maria Eaton netted eight. Kathy Otte was right behind with seven and Kali Baker netted six.

RICK PETRI'S Laurel girls were defeated in the first round of NENAC Conference Tournament action, Saturday in Pierce by a 42-22 margin.

The Bears held a 12-11 lead after the first quarter but Laurel failed to score in the second quarter and was held to 10, second half points. "In the second quarter we suffered seven turnovers and we went 0-8 from the field," Petri said. "We had a hand in making Randolph look pretty good."

Despite not scoring in the second quarter the Bears only trailed by three points at the break, 15-12 but Randolph out-scored Laurel, 15-6 in the third quarter to put the game away.

Leann Stewart and Tara Erwin shared team honors in scoring with six points each. Samantha Felber was held far below her season average with two points. Laurel was only out-rebounded by three, 29-26 as Dawn Wickett led the way with six caroms while Becky Schroeder and Felber had five boards each.

The Bears committed 20 turnovers compared to nine for Randolph and Laurel was 4-13 from the free throw line compared to 7 of 18 shooting by the Cardinals. Laurel will travel to play Wisner-Pilger on Friday.

Allen (54), Beemer (30): Allen—Steph Martinson, 18; Tanya Plueger, 14; Jaime Mitchell, 7; Holly Blair, 5; Dawn Diediker, 4; Mindy Plueger, 4; Abbey Schroeder, 2.

HOBY representative picked at Wayne High

A selection committee of Wayne High School staff members reviewed the applications received for the Hugh O'Brian Youth (HOBY) Foundation Leadership Seminar. From the group of sophomore applicants, Kristine Kopperud was selected to represent Wayne High at HOBY. Kristine is the daughter of Keith and Cheryl Kopperud. The Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation Nebraska Leadership Seminar will be held during June, in Omaha.
The seminars bring together the best of two worlds: high school sophomores with demonstrated leadership qualities, tomorrow's leaders, and today's leaders, a group of men and women who have distinguished themselves in business, education, government, the sciences, the arts and the professions. Through intense but informal discussions, young people get a realistic look at their nation, its people and their role in the world community. A question-and-answer, give-and-take format helps to teach these 10th graders, known as HOBY Ambassadors, to think for themselves. They learn that as individuals they are important and that their thoughts and actions can make a difference. HOBY motivates students by showing them that how to think can be just as important as what to think.

The Wayne Kiwanis Club provides the financial support for Kristine to attend the HOBY Leadership Seminar.

Optimistic outlook is seen for farm economy

OGALLALA, Neb. (AP) -- Prices for crops and livestock should remain steady to strong in the near future, giving an optimistic outlook for farmers trying to recover from a dismal 1993, a market analyst said.
Ron Michaelson, with the Cedar Falls, Iowa-based Pro Farmer organization, told about 100 people attending a seminar Thursday in Ogallala that there is reason to have an optimistic view of agri-business, even after floods, storms and related disasters cut production last year.
"Prices for their products, whether it be livestock or grain, are at the point where they could be substantially higher, depending on spring weather," he said.
Michaelson said he looks for cattle prices to be strong despite inventories as large as they have been since Cards were played with prizes going to JoAnn Hokamp, Merlin and Margaret Kenny and Erwin Morris. Merlin and Margaret Kenny will be the hosts for the next meeting in February.

1972. Prices would be supported by the fact that consumer demand for beef is excellent.
Carryover in grains is very low due to poor production last year, he said. He said corn carryover is critical with about half the normal amount of grain stored in reserve.
"That puts a strain on producers this year to come up with excellent yields or the carryover will decline further," he said. "The price outlook for corn, soybeans and wheat could be the highest since 1988."
High grain prices mean added expense for producers who have to purchase it to feed to their livestock, but Michaelson said feed-grade wheat, barley and milo are good substitutes and the cost of production could be reduced by using them.

Air Force Airman Koby J. Loberg arms a missile on an A-10 Thunderbolt II before it flies a mission in the no-fly zone over Bosnia-Herzegovina in support of operation "Deny Flight."

Carroll youth works for peace in Bosnia-Herzegovina

By Rich Lamance
For the Herald

Aviano Air Base, Italy — When the United Nations passed Resolutions 781, 816 and 836 over the last year, a ban was placed on all military flights, and later on all flights within Bosnia-Herzegovina airspace. Airmen from around the globe then converged on this base in northern Italy to begin helping the U.N. enforce this no-fly area so critical to peace in the region.

Air Force Airman Koby J. Loberg, son of Harold and Janice Loberg of Carroll, is playing a part in the success of an operation that began with the U.S., France and Holland, and has expanded to NATO and six countries.

For the operation, the U.S. has Air Force F-16 fighters, Marine Corps F-18 fighters, A-10 attack planes and C-130 command and control aircraft at Aviano, along with Navy F-14 and F-18 fighters aboard the USS Theodore Roosevelt operating in the Adriatic Sea. The Air Force also has refueling tanker planes available.

Loberg plays a special role in the success of the no-fly operation called "Deny Flight." "I load munitions on the aircraft and maintain the weapon's release systems on the A-10 Thunderbolt II."

With everyone from pilots to crew to mechanics to controllers and photographers, and many others, coming together to make an operation of this size work, no one base can handle it all. Loberg is assigned to Spangdahlem Air Base, Germany, as an aircraft weapons specialist.

"In Germany, my duties are the same, except there, we fly only training missions and we don't have to work 12-hour shifts like we have to here."

Situated at the base of the Italian Alps in northern Italy, and about 50 miles north of Venice, Aviano is a perfect springboard for travel anywhere in Europe. For people stationed here, as well as for those who are here temporarily, Italy is different from life back in the U.S.

"Italy seems very hectic. The people drive very fast and aggressive. It constantly rains, but the people are very friendly."

Whether stationed at Aviano, or temporarily assigned here for a short stint to support the operation, Loberg, and other airmen are helping to add a touch of peace to a volatile and troubled part of the world.
