118TH YEAR—NO. 49

WAYNE STATE COLLEGE vice president for administration and finance, Andy Soll, shows off plans for the new student center complex for the college. Construction begins next week on the $4.6 million college addition described as a "campus mall."

Long-awaited WSC center work begins

Construction work will begin Monday at Wayne State College on the new $4.6 million addition to the Student Center building.

The Nebraska State Colleges Board of Trustees approved the award of the construction contract to McHan Construction of Sioux City at its meeting last Friday. The work will involve a 31,000 square foot addition to the existing 52,000 square foot building plus extensive renovation to the existing building.

Construction on the long-planned project was delayed for more than a year awaiting approval by the Nebraska Coordinating Commission on Higher Education. Funded through student fees, the new center will offer new gathering and lounge spaces, an enlarged book store, new offices for student organizations and student services such as housing, counseling office and cooperative education and a new banquet hall, according to Andy Soll, vice president for administration and finance.

designed a facility which will be familiar and comfortable for students.

An enlarged cash cafeteria operation is designed in the renovation phase of the existing center but the existing student food service area which was remodeled a couple of years ago will remain essentially the same.

Soll said when the renovation is complete on the downstairs cafeteria, the college may look at providing dining options for students to allow them to eat at one or the other facility for variety.

THE RENOVATION on the cash cafeteria will triple the seating area and provide multipurpose use as well as an expanded offering of menu choices he said.

The new facility will also offer much more meeting room options for campus organizations and conferences he said.

Construction on the new addition is scheduled to be completed by this time next year. Renovation work on the existing center will not be undertaken until after the addition is complete and existing functions are moved into the new portion. Renovation work should take approximately eight months, said Soll.

HE SAID THE new student center is designed to be the "main entrance" for the campus from the new parking lot area to the east of campus. Construction work will eliminate several score of parking places between the existing student center and Bowen Hall.

The winning contractor for the project is not new to the Wayne

Students should feel safe

Students have a right to attend school without fear of being threatened by violent weapons. That is the basis for a new statement of position by the National Association of Secondary Principals and is a position Wayne High Principal Dr. Donald Zeiss said he supports fully.

Citing recent unfortunate events in Pierce and Humbolt, Neb. along with reports of guns being found in school in Sioux City, Zeiss said it is fortunate "we have not had to deal with this on the scale some other areas have" but he added the area should not consider itself immune.

"Violence is exacerbated with the increase of weapons in our schools," said Zeiss. He said the schools would be taking steps to not only implement apprehension and prevention programs to combat the possession of weapons in the schools, but would also stress school based parent involvement and violence prevention education.

The Wayne City Schools have a trained crisis response team which would be ready to help students cope with, among other things, violence situations in the school but the avoidance of these problems is the responsibility of more than just the school personnel the new position statement contends.

Last year alone some 31 deaths nationwide were attributed to the students taking weapons to school. Another chilling statistic cited by Zeiss is that a 1993 Louis Harris poll reported that 1 in 25 students have taken a handgun to school in a single month and that 59 percent of the students polled know where to get a handgun if they think they need one.

"The popular culture seems to glorify violence at every turn," said Zeiss. He added the causes of violence are multiple and include poverty, role models, loss of moral values and disintegration of the family.

"I was drafted just after my 18th birthday and by the time I was 21, I was back home again," said Willis Lessmann as he recalled the time he spent serving the U.S. during World War II.

In August 1943 Lessmann was drafted by the United States Army and sent to Ft. Crok in Omaha. From there he went to Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. to be processed.

He received his basic training at Camp Gruver, Okla. and while there decided to join the Air Corps. This training took place at Shepard Field, Texas.

"SEVERAL OF my friends and I got into as much trouble as possible without being Court Marshalled because there wasn't much to do. We even got sent to jail once and then sent back to Oklahoma," said Lessmann.

While on a two week leave back to Wayne, he received orders to go to Boston. There he got on a liberty ship with thousands of others. His ship joined a convoy of 105 ships headed toward England.

Lessmann arrived in Liverpool, England in May 1944 and took a train to a Replacement Depot. There he and another soldier were chosen to leave and were put on a train to Liecester, England without being told why.

When they arrived in Liecester, they were greeted by a huge crowd of people and a band playing.

"I was sure that there must be some very important officials around to cause all the commotion, but we found out that we had been chosen to be part of the 82nd Airborne. When they told us we had a choice of whether or not to stay and then told us that our pay would be doubled, we decided to stay," said Lessmann.

THE TOWN OF Liecester is about 100 miles from London. "It is really a beautiful part of England. The town was practically untouched by the war except for the fact that about 100,000 people from other parts of England had fled there for safety," said Lessmann.

Lessmann received extensive airborne training. He learned to ride gliders into battle situations. Each glider held 13 men, a pilot and copilot.

The glider was constructed of light-weight metal with a floor made of six inch solid oak. "The glider was towed by a C-47 twin-engine cargo craft that was not armed. We were pulled by a 90 foot nylon rope and escorted by a small fighterplane."

Airborne Army which was much faster, could move farther and were more self-sufficient than the land forces. Men from all the Allied countries made up this Army.

During the fall of 1944 Lessmann and his company trained for an actual attack. "A typical day of training included getting up at 5 a.m. and doing one hour of grass drills which are similar to aerobics. We then ate a huge breakfast, loaded our packs and hiked 20 miles at an almost running pace. We would

Program helps homeowners

Nineteen participants are enrolled in the UN-L Extension program "Open the Door to Home Ownership" which meets weekly in Wayne. Several local speakers have taught them more about the financial and personal advantages of home ownership as well as how to be a smart consumer when house and loan shopping.

The program is coordinated by Extension Educator, Lynda Cruickshank and was made possible through a grant from the University of Nebraska Center for Rural Community Revitalization and Development.

Quotes from participant evaluations:
"As a result of this session, the first thing I will do is get together a better and more accurate, thorough budget."

"I learned that financing isn't impossible. Money down is the biggest obstacle."

"I was most surprised to learn about an Environmental Audit and that the EPA is making checks on rural property more."

"I will be sure to look at new construction as an option."

Cruickshank says the Extension Service is anxious to offer the class again if there is enough interest. There has even been an interest shown for a class on how to refinance or move up in housing. Anyone interested in either class should contact the Extension Office at 375-3310 to get their name on the mailing list.

Open the Door to Home Ownership workshop participants learn more about the education, maintenance and upkeep of a house from Wayne builder John Vakoc and Goldenrod Hills Weatherization Project Coordinator Craig Malmberg.

There are still two juveniles at large who escaped from Wayne. The first to be returned to Wayne was picked up last week in Sioux City. Wayne Police Chief Vern Fairchild said the search for the remaining two juveniles at large is continuing.

"At this point we don't have any leads on the whereabouts of the other two," Fairchild said. "All police stations, however, have the information on the two missing juveniles including descriptions on a computer."

then return to camp by early afternoon."

In September 1944 the company went to a marshalling area which is a very secure area near an airfield. While here, the men performed drills and other activities to make the enemy believe they were going to invade.

THE COMPANY'S first invasion was to Holland. "It was very foggy when we left. The paratroopers left about one hour ahead of us. We flew south from Liecester over the English Channel to fake out the enemy. We flew over the North Sea, then turned around and went to the Netherlands. All total, we were in the air for six hours."

"When we got over land, we started getting shot at. We were flying at 500 feet to avoid anti-aircraft fire. Because gliders have no protection, many of the men were sitting on their helmets to avoid getting shot."

After landing safely, but not with the rest of his company, Lessmann and those on his glider found their way to Grosbeck, Netherlands and the rest of the men. They set up a defense and stayed a couple of months.

DURING THIS time the Germans were just across a river and were using the Americans as targets. "I learned right away that if I was going to stay alive, I was going to have to use my head," said Lessmann.

Lessmann had been in the Army for more than a year without seeing any actual combat. "I did an awfully lot before I actually got into any combat action. That is a whole other story."

The rest of Lessmann's account of his war experiences will be printed in next week's paper.

Wayne State began the Minority Scholars Program to assist with its goal of attracting more minority faculty members, and to continue its practice of hiring teachers with practical experience in their fields, according to Dr. Ed Battistella, division head of humanities at Wayne State.

"Michael is a tremendous resource for everyone," said Battistella. "We were particularly attracted to him because of his practical experience in his field."

Cheers has served as a photojournalist with the Boston Globe newspaper, and Ebony and EM magazines.

Wayne State's U.S. Conn Library is exhibiting the "Songs of My People" photography exhibit which is also being shown throughout Europe, Asia, Africa and the Caribbean.

As a part of the "Nebraska Severe Weather Awareness Week," March 20 through 26, the City of Wayne will take part in a "Tornado Warning Drill."

The drill will consist of a mock tornado watch shortly after 10 a.m., followed by a mock tornado warning at approximately 10:30 a.m., Wednesday, March 23, in the event of an actual severe weather risk at the time of the drill, it will be cancelled.

The tornado sirens will be activated for 60 seconds at approximately 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday. The city will also activate the Cablevision Emergency Alert System at this same time.

If this were an actual tornado warning, all persons should seek below ground shelter upon hearing the sirens or cablevision warning. This would also be a good time for all employers, teachers, parents and others to practice their own tornado plans.

Vern Fairchild, assistant civil defense director, warned there is no such thing as an "All Clear" signal given on the sirens. So, "if you should hear the tornado signal being given a second time, it will mean that another tornado has been sighted and you should remain in your shelter," he explained.

"Please," said Fairchild, "do not grab your camera and run outside to take pictures when you hear the tornado signal. Some tornadoes may be extremely close before we have time to sound the warning signal," he explained.

The tornado signal in Wayne is a steady three minute tone.

AAL releases assistance statistics for last year

Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) provided Wayne area residents with more than $22,000 in fraternal assistance in 1993 through a number of programs designed to benefit individuals, institutions and communities.

AAL's 458 members in the Wayne area are organized in local volunteer groups, called branches, where they are given organization and financial resources to support humanitarian, educational, service and social projects in their communities.

In 1993, these AAL volunteers spent more than 925 hours organizing approximately 18 activities attended by 2,621 individuals.

In addition to fraternal programs of this nature, AAL has a unique benevolence program that supplements local fund raising by branch members. Through this program, called "Helping Hands: Caring Acts Through Fund Raising or Service," AAL volunteers assist individuals, congregations and communities.

Locally, members sponsored five helping hands projects, providing $3,537 among the recipients of helping hands funds were Wayne County Fair Board horse arena panels, First Trinity Lutheran Church paint, an individual with excessive medical bills and LWML building project for repair, paint and new furniture.

Through additional AAL grant programs, one Lutheran elementary school received $300, the Lutheran Student Center received $2,500 and the Lutheran Campus Ministry received $2,500 in 1993.

Through one of the nation's largest privately funded college scholarship programs, Debra Sievers was awarded a scholarship to the University of Nebraska School of Agriculture.

Also during 1993, AAL education programs were offered to Wayne area residents. Programs include "Just Say Thanks," "Branch Member Awareness Program" and "Too Good To Be True."

The programs were sponsored by local AAL branches and supported with materials from the AAL home office.

AAL members in the Wayne area are served by AAL district representative Curt Christensen, 110 West First Street, who is associated with the John Hanson Agency of AAL in Norfolk.

For 90 years, AAL, based in Appleton, Wis., has provided a wide variety of benefits and insurance protection to Lutherans and their families. WSC softball team earns a split in home season debut

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Wayne State women's softball team could quite possibly have had the nation's longest road swing, Wednesday, Joan Scherbring's squad played its first home game in two years and after a 47-game road schedule.

"We didn't play a single home game last season because the one's that were scheduled for here were either snowed out or rained out," Scherbring said.

In fact, Wednesday's home double-header with Washburn University of Kansas, was Scherbring's home debut despite this being her second year at the helm. The 'Cats last home contest came at the end of the 1992 season against rival Kearney.

Wayne State won its first home game with a 9-0 blanking of Washburn, behind the pitching heroics of Jenny Nieland who evened her season record at 2-2. Nieland scattered four hits en route to the shutout and she struck out five in the process while walking just one.

WSC's offense was in fine form in the opener as they pounded out 10 hits. Stacey Topf led the 'Cats with two doubles while Michele Reinhardt doubled and singled. Kim Stigge laced a pair of singles while Lori Foster, Betsy Wegner, Jeni Umbach and Michelle Rowe also singled. Reinhardt notched four RBI to lead WSC.

The news was not so good for the home team in the nightcap, however as Washburn came back to earn the split with the 'Cats, 14-3. Alex Ross was tagged with the pitching loss after hurling the first two innings and giving up 11 runs on hits. Maryellen Livingston came in for relief of Ross and pitched the final three innings and gave up three runs on six hits.

WSC finished with three runs on six hits and three errors. Livingston led the 'Cats with a double and single while Jeni Umbach blasted her second home run of the season. Stacey Topf and Tiffany Butterbaugh each doubled while Michele Reinhardt singled.

The 3-7 Wildcats will play at the University of South Dakota Tournament in Vermillion, Sunday and Monday.

MICHELLE ROWE puts the tag on a Washburn base runner at third base during first game action of Wayne State's double-header, Wednesday. WSC won the game, 9-0.

Rec B League championship held

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The men's city rec basketball championship in "B" League was held, Tuesday at the City Auditorium and team THREE came away the victor with an 89-83 decision over team FOUR.

The first half saw team three build as much as an eight point lead at 15-7 as Jerry Caraway and Troy Young nailed 3-pointers while Kory Leseberg sank a short jumper to snap a seven-all tie.

Team four kept chipping away behind the 3-point shooting brilliance of Steve Anderson who made five of the bonus shots in the first half alone. In fact, team four managed to tie the game at 41 by halftime.

Anderson was the only player in double figures at halftime for team four with 15 points while Mike Dunklau and Brad Erwin had eight each. Team three got good balance in the scoring column over the first 25 minutes as Leseberg, Caraway and Kirk Harris notched 10 points apiece.

The contest remained close throughout most of the second half until team three went on a 10-2 run led by Harris who scored five straight. Caraway also tossed in a 3-pointer and Jeff Zeiss nailed a 14-footer for a 65-57 lead. Team three came back, however, as Mike Dunklau scored four straight points and Kevin Patterson drilled a 3-pointer to pull team three to within one at 65-64.

Down the stretch team three proved to have more weapons as Glen Irwin drained a pair of long 3-pointers while Harris continued his torrid shooting in the second half, scoring 14 of his game high 24 points.

Team four did everything in their power to remain close, particularly Steve Hampl who scored 12, second half points and finished with 18 to tie Anderson for team honors.

Brad Erwin and Mike Dunklau were also in double figures for team four with 15 points each while Kevin Patterson was near the double digit mark with nine points on three, 3-pointers.

The winners were led by Harris with 24 and Jerry Caraway with 21. Leseberg notched a dozen and Randy Dunklau finished with 11. Both teams finished with nine, 3-pointers and Anderson of team four notched six.

Wildcat sluggers earn split with UNO

The Wayne State baseball team split a twinbill with UNO, Wednesday in Omaha, leaving John Manganaro's team with a 7-8 record.

The 'Cats won the opener, 3-0 behind the brilliant pitching of Jon Janssen who tossed a two-hit shutout. "Jon pitched an excellent game," Manganaro said. "He struck out three in what was a very tight strike zone and he looked good in front of the professional scout from the Houston Astros."

WSC scored three runs on six hits and they didn't commit an error. Cory Reeder paced the offense with a double and single while Mike Vanderwilt doubled.

Raul Urias, Chad Cerveny and Tim McDermott each singled as well for the winners.

The 'Cats were defeated in the second contest, 8-7 in eight innings. Andy Von Dollen was tagged with the pitching loss despite a solid outing. "Andy also pitched very well," Manganaro said. "He only gave up two hits and struck out four batters in that tight strike zone in four innings of play. What hurt us was an error in the eighth inning that eventually led to the winning run."

Von Dollen came in for relief of Kevin Maulick who pitched 2 2/3 innings in relief of starter Bryan Stockwell who lasted 1 1/3 innings. UNO finished with eight runs on seven hits and three errors while WSC had seven runs on just three hits and one error.

Chad Cerveny notched two RBI and laced a single to lead WSC while Tim McDermott and Cory Reeder each singled.

Manganaro's team has played 15 games in 11 days and the 'Cats have travelled over 1600 miles during that stint. "We're playing very hard and very well considering the amount of games and distances we've been travelling," Manganaro said.

"Right now we are a little beat up as our number two and three pitchers are hurt," Manganaro added. "Steve Paxson is nursing a sore arm and Chad Gillispie appears to have tendinitis."

Those injuries added to the loss of starting third baseman and leading hitter Rusty Hamer for the season has left WSC with a gap. "Rusty will get a hardship for this season which means he will have two more years of eligibility," Manganaro said. "He had his surgery in Omaha on Wednesday in which pins were put into his thumb."

Manganaro said Hamer's loss will be a void that WSC is unable to fill completely because of his fielding and batting capabilities as well as experience.

Following Friday's home opening twinbill with South Dakota State, the 'Cats will travel to play NCAA Division I Creighton on Saturday and Sunday with Saturday being a double-header outing.

Search narrowed to three for WSC men's cage coach

After carefully reviewing nearly 100 applications, Wayne State College Athletic Director Pete Chapman has announced the three finalists for the vacant head men's basketball coaching position.

Interviews with the following candidates will be held Monday through Friday with a press conference scheduled for Monday the 29th or Tuesday the 30th to announce Wayne State's new head coach. The three finalists are listed in alphabetical order.

Perry Ford—Currently Ford is the head coach at the University of Minnesota-Morris. The winningest coach in school history, he has posted a 160-99 record with seven post-season appearances in nine years.

Before coaching at Morris he was an assistant coach and a physical education teacher at the University of North Dakota. He earned his bachelor's degree in HPER from Jamestown College in 1978, and his masters in PE from the University of North Dakota in 1985.

Gary Grace—Currently Grace is the head men's basketball coach at Cornell College in Mt. Vernon, Iowa. At Cornell since 1988, Grace has achieved a 100 percent graduation rate with his players. This past season his team finished with a 17-9 overall record, an MCAC championship (13-3), and an NCAA-III tournament bid for the first time in 24 years.

Before going to Cornell he was an assistant at Nebraska-Lincoln for two years under Danny Nee. He was also a physical education instructor at Nebraska.

Greg McDermott—McDermott is currently an assistant coach at the University of North Dakota and has been since 1989. His emphasis in coaching on the floor has been with post players. He also has other recruiting and administrative duties.

In his time there, North Dakota has made four consecutive appearances in the NCAA Division II National Tournament, two North Central Conference championships, and an overall record of 120-35.

McDermott earned a bachelor's degree in History from Northern Iowa in 1988, and a masters in Sports Management from the U.S.

Sports Academy in 1994.

The Catbacker Booster Club will be hosting three noon luncheons next week at various locations for the final three candidates. Monday's luncheon will be in the senate room of the WSC Student Center with Greg McDermott.

Wednesday's luncheon will be at the Black Knight with Gary Grace and Friday's luncheon will be at the Black Knight as well with Perry Ford. All three luncheons will begin at noon and last an hour. The menu will consist of soup and sandwiches and the cost is $5 per luncheon.

For reservations contact Lorna at 375-7520. Reservations are on a first-come first-serve basis.
