

Be careful; '93 ag mishaps were way up

Agriculture-related fatalities in 1993 were more than 300 percent higher than the previous year, according to a University of Nebraska-Lincoln safety engineer.

In part, Dave Morgan blamed last year's adverse weather conditions for the increase in accidents.

"It had to do with people being behind and hurrying to catch up," Morgan said. Tractor overturns accounted for the largest number of deaths, he noted.

The 1993 death statistics recorded 35 agriculture-related deaths, compared to 11 in 1992. The 1993 figure reverses a trend of several years when agriculture-related deaths were fewer, Morgan said.

Almost half the accidents happened after 5 p.m. when people were tired, Morgan said. Thirty-five percent of the total fatalities occurred between 2 and 4 p.m.

Everyone just kept pushing instead of taking a break, Morgan said. Breaks are important, especially during that mid-afternoon period. That is the time when people's attention spans begin to wander, Morgan explained. Heat waves rising ahead of the tractor, blowing winds, and equipment vibration also can cause fatigue to an operator — even in an air-conditioned cab.

Even after a noon break, the operator experiences the cumulative exhaustion of pushing all day, and very possibly the night before.

When starting to experience "cultivator blight," Morgan said to get off the tractor. Shut everything down, walk around and do something different. Get a glass of tea or coffee. Check the machinery — but don't reach into it without thinking first.

Younger drivers, especially, need to get off the equipment for a while. People under 17 years of age are over-represented in the accident statistics, Morgan said. Even though

Cinnamon roll for breakfast

Middle school and high school students from throughout Northeast Nebraska participated in an all-night drug and alcohol-free lock-in at Wayne State College Friday night and Saturday morning. The event, sponsored by the Wayne drug-free youth group "FRIENDS" was attended by over 100 teens and very tired adult chaperones. The youngsters had energy enough Saturday morning to conclude the event with a "cinnamon roll" in the middle of the WSC Rec Center.

More counties adopt address plan

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Ten percent of the counties in Nebraska have adopted the Wayne County rural addressing system in preparation for Enhanced 911 service. Sid Saunders told the Wayne County Commissioners Tuesday.

Cedar County, the latest to sign on to the Wayne County system, brings to four the number of counties bordering Wayne who have chosen to develop an identical system to ours.

The system will assign a three digit number to every rural road and a house number to every rural residence based on where it is in relation to a road. North/south roads are named avenues and east/west roads are called roads.

Saunders developed the system in response to a need for rural addresses as areas of the state develop enhanced 911 emergency reporting systems. Under the new telephone systems, when a person calls an emergency dispatcher a readout automatically appears with the caller's address.

The system has been proven to cut emergency response time and save lives.

The first enhanced 911 service is still a few years away in the Wayne area while funding is accumulated to pay for the new equipment, but prior to its implementation, the rural addresses need to be assigned.

They may be strange for some to get used to. For instance the address of a home a mile west and a mile and a half south of Wayne would be something like 85849 Avenue 575.

With hundreds of houses to assign numbers to, it will take time, said Saunders.

The commissioners also discussed the cost of placing road signs up throughout the county. With over 500 intersections, placing signs at Wayne Jaycees are reminding city residents of the Community Clean-Up day Friday, April 22.

Jaycees will begin curbside pickup of outside refuse collected from lots, streets, alleys and private home sites throughout town beginning at 6 p.m. Friday.

The organization will not haul appliances or furniture and is asking that residents confine refuse items to outside rubbish and not garage and basement clean-out items.

"The project is designed to spruce up the look of our town for the spring," said chairman Garry Poutre. He encourages families to look around their neighborhoods to attack unsightly problems in streets and alleys as part of the project.

Hint of summer swelter felt

Monday's high temperature of 91 degrees in Wayne tied the all-time high set in 1985 according to the National Weather Service station in Norfolk. Sunday's 87 degrees fell a couple degrees shy of another record as Waynians enjoyed the warmest days of the year.

In fact, Monday's temperature was the warmest in more than nine months. The mercury rose to 92 degrees on two occasions last summer—July 4 and June 17.

Wayne enjoyed just six days of 90-plus degree temperatures in 1993 and just four days in the 90's in 1992. The last time the thermometer rose to the 100 degree level came on July 4, 1990 went the temperature reached 104 degrees.

In the precipitation category Wayne is nearly 1 3/4 inches below normal as of April 1 based on the 10-year averages. At the end of December of 1993, Wayne was close to five inches above normal for the year. Last year's moisture total in Wayne was 31.65 inches.

Quiet nights offered at 'B&B'

"My club visited the bed and breakfast in Osmond and I decided that this was something that we could do. We are now in our third year of serving guests," said Lyla Swanson, co-owner of Swanson's Bed and Breakfast located seven and one-half miles north of Wayne on Highway 15.

After the Swanson's three children were grown and had families of their own, Ernie and Lyla decided to add an extra bedroom and bathroom to their home to be used when all the children and grandchildren come home. This addition has become known as the Honeymoon Suite of the Bed and Breakfast which also has two upstairs bedrooms that are open to guests.

The Swanson's rooms are usually used one or two weekends per month with November through January being the busiest months for guests.

GUESTS OF the Swanson's have come from various locations in Nebraska, California, Massachusetts, Florida, Colorado and Tennessee. This past summer they even had a zookeeper and his family from Hawaii. "He was attending a zookeeper's meeting in Omaha and decided to try to locate family that had been in the Allen area. He was very interesting," said Lyla.

"We are listed with Nebraska Bed and Breakfast and Bed and Breakfast U.S.A. It is through these two publications that we get most of our guests."

"A lot of the people who visit us are hunters. We get people from all over who like to come here and hunt. We have 200 acres of CRP ground that is very good for hunting. We have even kept their dogs in the basement when it was so cold this past winter," said Lyla.

ANOTHER large group of the bed and breakfast's guest list comes from parents of Wayne State College students who come to visit their children.

Newlyweds often choose the Swanson's Bed and Breakfast to spend their wedding night.

Sen. Kerrey delivers computers to Laurel

Sen. Bob Kerrey was in Laurel Monday to help unload the last pieces of advanced computer equipment he helped the school obtain.

"This effort represents to me the best in what government can do when we harness its power to help people," Kerrey said. "This is a case of people and government working together to improve education, and it is going to make a real difference in these kids' lives."

Kerrey helped the school obtain surplus computer equipment from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Kerrey became involved in January when Lyle Van Cleave, an industrial technology at Laurel-Concord Public Schools, wrote him that the schools were having trouble acquiring surplus computers.

Kerrey located the surplus equipment at NASA's Johnson Space Center in Houston and helped arrange its transportation to Laurel.

He helped unpack the last of the computers Monday, then spent the day in classrooms working with the students.

"Smaller towns like Laurel and Concord often don't have the same access to this technology as larger schools, but these kids need the education just the same," Kerrey said. "This equipment can enable kids in Laurel and Concord to access educational resources the world over. This is an exciting day for Laurel and educators and students across the country."

In addition to delivering computer equipment, Kerrey met with students and faculty to discuss technology issues, visited computer classes, talked to the senior government class and lunched with the students.

Japanese Connection

Jill Pickinpaugh, a sixth grade teacher at Wayne Middle School was on line with Japan Monday night as part of a demonstration of the new video and audio connections that will allow Wayne students and Japanese students to communicate and exchange language and cultural experiences.

Andrew Metz

New Eagle Scout named

Andrew W. Metz, Wayne, will receive his Eagle Scout award at a ceremony planned for Sunday, April 24 at 3:30 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church of Wayne.

Andrew will be honored by Troop 175 at the Eagle Court of Honor. The Court of Honor is open to the public and all are invited to attend.

Andrew is the son of Dean and Sandra Metz of Wayne. In the fall of 1984, at the age of 7, he joined Cub Scout Pack 175 as a Tiger Cub. Then in 1988, after earning the Arrow of Light, he joined Boy Scout Troop 174. Andrew has held the troop offices of Assistant Patrol Leader, Patrol Leader and Senior Patrol Leader, and is a member of the Leadership Corps.

During his scouting years, Andrew has canoed down the Niobrara River and has camped at Camp Cedars, Liska's farm, Ike's Lake, Grove Lake, Camp Butterfield, Camp Luther, Ben Delatour Scout Ranch in Colorado, Philmont High Adventure Base in New Mexico and last year he organized a hiking expedition to the American Lakes in Colorado.

For his Eagle Scout Project, Andrew organized and led the painting and shingling of the First Presbyterian Church garage during the summer of 1992.

Andrew is a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Wayne and is a junior at Wayne High School. Some of his activities include football, track, varsity band and jazz band. He worked for the custodial crew at Wayne State College during the summer of 1993.

Correction

The Wayne Herald incorrectly reported that part-time Wayne teacher Jerry Caraway had resigned. Caraway said he had not resigned but rather a contract was not offered to him to teach middle school P.E. next year because the school district filled the slot with existing personnel.

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

During the first five years of the new privatized busing service for Wayne Community schools the district will save a minimum of $123,000, superintendent Dennis Jensen told the school board last week.

Jensen prepared the cost projections based on the first full year of service provided by Nebraska Bus Company and the cost comparisons between what the district has been paying and what the terms of the lease agreement are.

Under the lease terms, the district saves bus driver salaries and employee benefits, insurance costs and equipment replacement costs, said Jensen. An added benefit is the savings of administrative staff time in management of the bus system.

Total costs of leasing the bus service through Nebraska Bus Company during the five year contract will be $893,650 compared to Jensen's estimated cost of $1,016,895 if the district continued to own its own buses.

He said additionally the new bus company headquartered in Wayne means additional school taxes paid, the company paid over $2,500 in school taxes last year he said.

The firm is negotiating with other school districts in the area to expand services to neighboring communities said Jensen adding that will mean more jobs for Wayne.

The superintendent said the transition to the private bus service has not been without problems, but he said the transitional difficulties have been ironed out and he said other area school districts are taking note of the Wayne experiment and are liking what they see.

Many school districts across the nation are moving to private bus services because of the savings Jensen cited. Wayne's advantage is that the company it has a contract with is small but growing and is looking to develop in this area with Wayne as a hub.

He said there have been much fewer problems with transportation this year than last year and praised the bus company for its flexibility. He said there have been complaints about bus service but they are addressed and that there are no more complaints now that there ever have been when the school system owned the buses.

The school board has the option this year of not renewing the bus contract for the full five year term. But citing the favorable report on the status of the lease agreement the board elected to continue with the contract.

People over 65 take more prescription medicines than any other age group. A doctor issuing a prescription takes into account possible side effects and interactions with other medicines a person is taking. But what about over-the-counter remedies? They "can end up doing more harm than good if you don't read their labels," the Food and Drug Administration says. Look for warnings against usage by people with certain health conditions, and of possible side effects. Is one of these products safe to use with your prescriptions drugs? Ask your doctor.

An annexation plan

A main difficulty with extension of city services outside the boundaries of the incorporated limits of the city was touched upon last Tuesday with city council members began discussing an annexation plan for the city of Wayne.

When residents and businesses receive the benefits of city utilities and city services while they are outside the incorporated boundaries they may be very reluctant later to look favorably on city annexation efforts.

Several areas bordering Wayne fall into this category. Utility services have been extended in the past without the city boundary moving with them. This means the utility services are provided but the city gains no property tax benefit from the unincorporated area.

To be sure, the utility users whether in the city limits or outside, pay fees which cover their share in the cost of maintenance and extension of these services. We are not saying those who utilize city services while living outside the city taxing district are not paying their fair share. But, there will be a natural reluctance for them to agree to accept annexation and the additional city tax of 70 cents per $100 of assessed valuation that comes with it if they can continue to avoid the tax.

It would be better if the city established a policy, at the time all sewer water and even electrical extensions are implemented, that says annexation must be completed at the same time.

When the development is in the process and utility extension is requested is when property owners should decide if they want to be in the city or not.

That policy would avoid difficult annexation issues which might develop years later.

Spare the rod?

The United States teen vandal in Singapore who has been sentenced to caning after pleading guilty to doing thousands of dollars in damage in a vandalism spree has prompted a worldwide outcry against corporal punishment.

We have been told the act of caning, or hitting the perpetrator's backside with a bamboo rod can leave permanent scars, cause shock and psychological trauma.

There are many of us in America who are old enough to remember and we dare say even appreciate the permanent scars, shock and humiliation we received as youngsters when we did something that might have caused someone (with justification) to go looking for a willow switch or hickory stick.

If the stuff would have grown here the weapon of choice might have been a bamboo cane for us too. The rise in juvenile crimes seems to us to have grown in converse relationship to the decline in the application of persuaders against young backsides.

We can't condone physical torture and permanent disfigurement but it seems to us that the application of something forceful against that young vandal's backside might do a world of good. The punishment meted out in the sentencing may seem severe to some of us, but it was not unusual for the time and place in which the crime was committed.

The teen and his compatriots knew they were not under the lenient protection of United States law when they went on their vandalism spree. We think they also need to know and accept the consequences of their actions.

A generation of us older folks who were brought up fearful and respectful of the influence of a willow switch can't be too wrong.

Political palm

Malady rampant during election year.

People who play tennis a lot are susceptible to sore, inflamed, creaky elbows. Everyone knows the malady as "Tennis elbow."

If you've got it, it hurts. You're out of sorts. You're especially upset because you can't do the thing you really love doing (which got you into trouble in the first place) playing tennis.

There are treatments, but most of them come with a doctors order to cease and desist with the tennis racket.

Imagine then the problem a politician would face in an election year when he or she develops a related condition known as "political palm."

You may think this is funny, but I'm serious. Just try going out and shaking hands with say, a thousand people a day for nine weeks. Toward the end of the ordeal your right hand will begin to resemble a rock lobster with eczema.

We're nearing the home stretch on the political campaigns. Break out the horse liniment and lanolin boys, we got us a lot of cases of political palm out there.

Middle America has to be the hardest on those who suffer from political palm. Out here a handshake is a sign of enthusiasm, vitality and honesty. If that guy that wants your vote approaches you with a weak, wet fish handshake or winces when you put the Cornhusker death grip on this hand, you're not as likely to think he deserves your confidence.

The really good politicians are the ones suffering from political palm who don't let you know it hurts. I remember when Ronald Reagan was campaigning in 1984 he actually had himself fitted with a plastic palm to help relieve the strain on his hand from exuberant flesh pressing.

He discarded it when people reacted negatively to the armor coated hand-shake.

There's no way around it. If you want to enter political life you have to suffer through it. Pre-campaign workouts at a dairy without milking machines would help, but there are fewer and fewer of those these days.

When you shake the hands of politicians in the last days of the campaign, ask them about their political palm conditions and give them a good squeeze for me.

Senators pull it out at the buzzer

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — In basketball terms, the Nebraska Legislature was 15 points down with a minute to play last week.

Shots on major tax issues — repealing the fertilizer and breeding livestock taxes and giving Omaha a sales tax hike to renovate its Civic Auditorium — had been misfiring all season.

Lawmakers, like coaches who don't get any breaks from the referees, were getting downright nasty.

Then something truly amazing happened.

In one whopper of a legislative deal, guided by crafty Sen. John Lindsay of Omaha, most folks problems were solved. Not completely solved, mind you, but solved nonetheless.

Farmers and ranchers, who were first told to expect nothing from the 1994 session and then told to expect everything, got the goofy tax on breeding livestock repealed.

The fertilizer tax doesn't go away immediately, but it eventually goes away. Lincoln Sen. Chris Beutler, won some funding for rural environmental cleanups. And corn and sorghum growers don't have to cough up a new checkoff to subsidize ethanol production — the fertilizer tax will do that.

Omaha senators, who had been bickering all session about whether a 1/2-cent rise in that city's sales tax was OK, got money to fix up the dungeon-like Civic Auditorium and more.

Under the compromise, Omaha will get a cut of the state's cigarette tax to not only fix up the auditorium but begin planning a convention center.

They ended up with more money than they originally wanted, and avoid a bloody filibuster battle by Sen. Ernie Chambers, who hates sales taxes because they hurt poor people but loves cigarette taxes because he hates smoking.

When the deal was finally approved, senators who had been shouting barnyard obscenities at each other a few days earlier were hugging and exchanging high-fives.

The bigger, ugly mood that had hung over the Capitol like summer humidity switched immediately to what legislators like to call a "lovefest."

And this was the lovefest to top all lovefests.

Until the compromise, the now-ended 1994 session was going to be the year of the filibuster and delaying tactics.

It looked like farm senators, and Gov. Nelson, were going to get blanked on the livestock and fertilizer issues, and Omaha senators would shoot zeroes (for a second year) in fixing up the auditorium.

Ethanol backers, who were trying to uphold multi-million dollar promises to companies who built ethanol plants, were also looking at zippo in '94.

But with the clock ticking down, senators decided it wasn't worth fighting anymore.

The one-house unicameral, which had shown how ugly legislating can become when an inspired minority of senators want to block bills, suddenly showed its beauty: that lawmakers can compromise, and pass, important issues when inspired.

The shot just beat the buzzer.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Whew! Not sorry this one's over

By Stan Schellpeper
District 18 Senator

As the legislative session comes to a close, I must admit I don't believe there is a single senator who is sorry this session is over. We had more disputes and filibusters this session than anyone can recall. Even though there was no single issue that dominated the Legislature's time, it seemed we could spend a substantial amount of time on just about anything.

I am pleased with the compromise worked out among the rural and urban senators on several tax issues. I am especially happy with the fact that we did not allow the City of Omaha to increase its city sales tax rate. Under the compromise in LB 961, two cents of the existing cigarette tax collected each year will go to Omaha for the next six years to help renovate the city auditorium. When and if we need to raise additional revenue to fund state government, we will undoubtedly need to look at the sales tax as a source of revenue.

Despite the failure to repeal the fertilizer tax entirely, I am supportive of the proposal to set aside the money generated in order to fund ethanol production credits. No additional check-off funds on grain will be necessary. One of the best parts of the compromise is the repeal of the personal property tax on breeding livestock. Even though the money collected on the breeding livestock tax was used by local governments, many senators feel it is very unfair to tax only breeding livestock that is depreciated for federal income tax purposes. Some farmers and ranchers pay the personal property tax and some do not. The unfortunate thing about the repeal is that the lost revenue will need to be replaced by additional taxes on real estate. However, it has been estimated that agricultural interests will bare most of the costs of increased real estate taxes.

As always, if you have any concerns or problems that I or my staff can help with, or if you would like to have your name and address placed on our mailing list for future questionnaires, please do not hesitate to contact my staff at 471-2801. Since we are now heading into the interim period, I would like to urge you to call me at home, 439-2907, if you would like to talk with me personally. Thank you to all of those people who have contacted me this past session. As I have stated before, without public comment the job of state senator would be much more difficult.

Small and large is relative thing

Think SMALL.

Micro-manufacturers now make transistors so small 100 of the tiny electronic servants fit on the end of a hair.

New York City is populated by 8.5 mil. people. Nebraska has 1.5 mil residents. We're small!

When you're big, like Bill and Hillary, you make a "mistake" of $6500 on your taxes and pay only a monetary penalty years later. But let a "small" Nebraskan do that! Yow-w!

It's the small lawbreaker who fails to get a parole or pardon. If you speed, the court will see you pay plenty, but if you choose to shoot the man running off with your wife, then you can expect a quick parole with subsequent book and movie royalties.

Manufacturers sell products in "big", "giant" and "super celestial" packages. Can you imagine a cereal manufacturer claiming "We sell only in small sizes.!"

Heaven help you if you mention anything good about a small school! Hundreds of us are grateful for educations in small rural schools, but heavenly cheese and cracker barrels, can one actually have any intellectual dimensions if educated on such a "small" scale! Some think not.

You and I have heard sermons in our country and small town churches that if given in a "big" city church, would cause holy smoke to ascend from pews that haven't been on fire since the 15th century. Big churches want credit for involvement in "big issues". Small Nebraska churches keep empowered with the Word.

I have heard Memorial Day speeches in small cemeteries that would need no apology if presented in Arlington National Cemetery.

I have heard a small child sing Silent Night outperforming any TV super star.

We faithfully sing "O Little Town of Bethlehem" while being urged to move to the big city.

Anyone living in a small town knows it is the best place to live, but when you're out of town and asked "Where do you hail from?" you hesitate to say you're from "Wayne", "Hoskins", "Carroll", "Wakefield", or "Laurel" because you know the big city folk will consider you likely haven't the slightest inkling as to what is transpiring in the metropolis, or world, because you're country. Yes, indeed!

I don't know where the election was held, or the decision was made, but it seems for anything to be "good" it was voted that it has to be "big".

Forget the election. Think small! Enjoy!

GUESTS OF Swanson's Bed & Breakfast have come from as far away as California and Massachusetts according to co-owner Lyla Swanson. Even a zookeeper brought his family to the quiet location. The Bed & Breakfast is one of three in the Laurel-Dixon area.

"They can stay here, away from family and friends, and then go back to open presents the next day, before leaving on their honeymoon," said Lyla.

Most of the persons staying with the Swansons stay one night but they have had people stay as long as a week.

PRICES FOR the room and breakfast are $40 for the Honeymoon Suite which has a private bath and $30 to $35 for the upstairs rooms which share a bath.

"People like to come out here and watch the birds or look at the flowers that we have planted in our various flower gardens. Kids like to play with the cats and dog. Sometimes they even get to help with chores," said Lyla.

Most guests arrive early in the evening that they are staying. Lyla offers them coffee, tea and cookies and then checks to find out what they would like for breakfast and at what time they would like it served. The breakfast menu includes French toast, sausage, scrambled eggs or an egg casserole and homemade caramel rolls.

"MY GOAL is to make people feel comfortable. With hunters, I usually use either a plastic or terry cloth table cloth. I don't want them to have to worry about ruining any of my good things. With most of the other guests, I use my good table cloth and china," said Lyla.

"We have really enjoyed talking with the people who have stayed here. We have developed friendships with several couples and have visited their homes."

If someone would like to make reservations and the Swanson's rooms are full, Lyla recommends one of the other bed and breakfasts in the Laurel-Dixon area. These are run by the Kenneth Kardells and Marie George. "If I am full, I recommend one of these bed and breakfasts and if they are full, they recommend me," said Lyla.

"This really isn't a money making venture. We do it because we like people and like to visit with them. We haven't had any problems and have thoroughly enjoyed doing it," said Lyla.

SWANSON'S BED & Breakfast is located seven and one-half miles north of Wayne on Highway 15 and offers its visitors a quiet get-away.

They're younger with faster reflexes, they have less experience in compensating for fatigue and boredom, and how to operate the equipment safely.

If an operator is really tired, there's nothing wrong with a 10- or 15-minute nap, Morgan added. A nap in the shade after a large noon meal used to be commonplace, as did morning and afternoon "lunches," complete with sandwiches, beverages and cookies.

The farm operator today may not have someone bringing snacks to the field, or cooking a hot noon meal at home. If that's the case, the operator should realize the value of taking snacks and beverages along when heading out to the field. Sugar-Free Candy

Many "sugar-free" breath mints and candies contain sorbitol as a sweetener. Sorbitol is slowly absorbed from the intestine and may cause bloating and diarrhea. If 5 to 10 candies or mints are eaten in one hour, they may cause these symptoms, so do not consume these as if they were regular candy. Though sorbitol is normally safe, it may cause problems when used in excess.

What to do about teenager's acne

QUESTION: I am 14 and have crummy-looking pimples all over my face. What causes them, and what can I do to clear up my skin?

DR. DOBSON: Practically every part of your body is affected in one way or another by the period of change you are experiencing. Even your skin undergoes major changes, whether you are a boy or a girl.

A study of 2,000 teenagers asked the question, "What do you most dislike about yourself?" Skin problems outranked every other reply by a wide margin.

Skin eruptions occur primarily as a result of an oily substance that is secreted during adolescence. The pores of the skin tend to fill up with this oil and become blocked. Since the oil can't escape, it hardens and causes pimples or blackheads.

When you get numerous pimples or blackheads regularly, the condition is called acne. If this happens, it will be important for you to keep your skin clean, minimizing the oil and dirt on your face.

If the problem is severe, as you obviously feel it is, you should ask your parents to take you to a dermatologist, who is a doctor specializing in skin problems. Acne can now be treated effectively in most cases.

QUESTION: My wife and I are extremely busy during this period of our lives. My job takes me on the road several days a week, and my wife has become very successful as a real estate agent.

Quite honestly, we are not able to spend much time with our three children, but we give them our undivided attention when we are together. My wife and I wish we had more family time, but we take comfort in knowing that it's not the quantity of time between parent and child that really matters; it's the quality of time that makes the difference.

Would you agree with that statement?

DR. DOBSON: There is a grain of truth in most popular notions, and this one is no exception.

We all can agree that there is no benefit in being with our children seven days a week if we are angry, oppressive, un-nurturing and capricious with them. But from that point forward, the quantity verses quality issue runs aground. Simply stated, that dichotomy will not be tolerated in any other area of our lives; why do we apply it to our children?

Let me illustrate:

Let's suppose you are very hungry, having eaten nothing all day. You select the best restaurant in your city and ask the waiter for the finest steak on his menu. He replies that the filet mignon is the house favorite, and you order it charcoal-broiled, medium rare.

The waiter returns 20 minutes later with the fare and sets it before you. There in the center of a large plate is a lonely piece of meat, one inch square, flanked by a single bit of potato.

You complain vigorously to the waiter, "This is what you call a steak dinner?"

He then replies, "Sir, how can you criticize us before you taste that meat? I have brought you one square inch of the finest steak money can buy. I doubt if you could get a better piece of meat anywhere in the country. I'll admit that serving is small, but after all, sir, everyone knows that it isn't the quantity that matters; it's the quality that counts in steak dinners."

"Nonsense," you reply, and I certainly agree.

My concern is that the quantity vs. quality cliché has become, perhaps, a rationalization for giving our kids neither! This phrase has been banded about by over-committed and harassed parents who feel guilty about the lack of time they spend with their children.

The boys and girls are parked at child-care centers during the day and with baby-sitters at night, leaving little time for traditional parenting activities.

And to handle the discomfort of neglecting their children, Mom and Dad cling to a catch phrase that makes it seem so healthy and proper: "Well, you know, it's not the quantity of time that matters, it's the quality of your togetherness that counts."

I maintain that this convenient generalization won't hold water.

WSC baseball team earns championship in Colorado

The Wayne State baseball team captured the championship of the University of Northern Colorado Tournament over the weekend after going 3-1.

John Manganaro's squad brought their offensive arsenal to the tournament and the 'Cats took advantage as they ripped 55 hits and scored 43 runs in the four games.

WSC blasted Doane in the opener, 15-5 as Bryan Stockwell went the distance to earn the win. The 'Cats pounded out 17 hits and committed one error in the contest while Doane had nine hits and one error.

Jeff Schnieder enjoyed his best two-day stint ever as a Wildcat, leading off with a 4-5 outing that included a triple and three singles while knocking in four runs. Mike Vanderwilt nearly hit the cycle with a triple, double and single while Raul Urias doubled and singled.

Tim McDermott laced a pair of singles while Anthony Brown smacked a home run. Chris Looft belted a double while Chad Cerveny, Cory Reeder, Jon Small and Pat Moran each singled.

Wayne competes at Wisner invite

The Wayne track teams participated in the Wisner-Lions Club Invitational, Saturday in Wisner with the girls tying for third place honors with 42 points while the boys placed sixth with 64.

The majority of the girls' points were scored by distance runner Tami Schluns who swept the field in the 1600 and 3200 meter races. Schluns was clocked in 5:52.7 in the 1600 and 12:41.3 in the 3200.

Anne Wiseman added points for the Blue Devils in the same two races with a fifth place effort of 6:19.6 in the 1600 and a sixth place time of 13:37.2 in the 3200.

Mel Lage placed fifth in the 3200 in 13:22.1. Jenny Thompson placed third in the 300 hurdles with a 50.1 clocking while adding a fifth in the 100 hurdles in 17.3. Angie Hudson's 12.9 clocking in the 100 meter dash was good enough for sixth and the 1600 meter relay team of Beth Meyer, Sandy Burbach, Thompson and Hudson placed fourth in 4:35.

Battle Creek ran away from the rest of the field with 170 points while West Point finished second with 61. Wayne tied with Oakland-Craig for third while West Point Central Catholic was fifth with 40. "We finally got a chance to run in a meet," coach Dale Hochstein said. "Other than the wind, it was a good day. Our experienced athletes placed well and our underclassman did a good job of improving their times and running competitively."

Hochstein said Wiseman did well in placing in both distance races and several girls had personal bests. "Our competition won't get any easier so it's a matter of buckling down and going after it from here on out," Hochstein added.

The boys were led by Nate Stednitz who won the 400 meter dash in 52.7 while anchoring the winning 3200 meter relay team which was clocked in 8:52.3. Matt Blomkamp, Chris Headley and Robert Bell rounded out that winning foursome. Stednitz also placed fourth in the 800 meter run in 2:13.4.

Headley notched a runner-up finish in the 3200 in 10:50.6 while placing third in the 1600 in 4:56.5. Wayne's other gold medal winner on the day was Jeff Hamer with a personal best of 51-feet in the shot put.

Wayne linksters win in rain default

WAYNE-The Wayne Blue Devils golf team did not get a full round of play in at Norfolk last Thursday before the rains, thunder and lightning came. Golf coach Terry Munson said the scores of all five golfers were added together to come up with a total and Wayne edged Norfolk-Catholic in both the varsity and reserve team competition.

The varsity won by two strokes, 187-189. The only two players to finish were Kelly Hammer and Ryan Martin and each carded 43's. Nate Salmon had just two holes to go with a 33 to his credit and Ryan Pick had two holes to go with a 37. Jason Carr had three holes left and his total was 31.

The reserves won by 21 strokes, 154-175. Adam Diediker, Scott Olson and Terry Hamer each finished with three holes left and Diediker was scoring the best of the three with a 31 while Olson had a 33 and Hamer, 37. Kurtis Keller and Lyle Lutt each had four holes to go with Keller sitting at 24 and Lutt, 29.

"The lack of practice last Monday and Tuesday with the bad weather had its effect," Munson said. "We need some quality practice time." Wayne will compete in the O'Neill Invitational on Wednesday.

Laurel went first, second, fourth and fifth in the individual standings led by Shane Schuster's medaling round of 84. Ben Dahl placed runner-up to his teammate with an 87 and Chad Anderson and Nic Dahl placed fourth and fifth with 89's.

The Wakefield team was led by Todd Gilliland's 95 while Jason Thiel carded a 108. Andy Muller finished with a 112 and Cory Coble netted a 113. Tyler Peters finished with a 114 but his score was not tallied on the team total although Peters did notch the second lowest round of the day for Brad Hoskins' team with a 48. "We just suffered too many penalty strokes," Hoskins said. "We ended up having 14 penalty shots."

"It was fairly windy which kept the scores high but we played real well," Helgren said. "The junior varsity team also kept their season undefeated by winning their nine-hole invite with a 195."

Jeff Erwin was medalist with a 45 while Jared Anderson carded a 47 for runner-up honors. Spencer Bose tied for fifth with a 49 but lost the last place medal in a play-off. Travis Stingley rounded out the reserve scoring with a 54.

Wakefield's reserves were paced by Austin Lueth with a 52 while Travis Rouse carded a 57. Mike White notched a 69 and Mike Rischmuller netted a 70. Betsy Erikson also competed for the Wakefield reserves and she carded a 72.

ON MONDAY afternoon the Bears visited Randolph's golf course and edged the two teams in a triangular. Laurel carded a 191—one stroke ahead of Creighton and three strokes ahead of Randolph amidst the extreme windy conditions.

Shane Schuster was medalist with a 44 followed by Ben Dahl with a 45 and Chad Anderson with a 49. Nic Dahl and Jeff Erwin each carded 53's. The Laurel reserves won by 15 strokes after a 194 score. Creighton was runner-up with a 209 and Randolph finished with a 220.

Mark Johnson was the top golfer for the reserves with a 45 while Jared Anderson tallied a 46. Travis Stingley notched a 48 and Spencer Bose finished with a 55. B.J. Ehlers also played for the reserves and fired a 56. Laurel will host a triangular on Thursday with Wakefield and Coleridge.

Wayne State softball team gets three wins in Kearney

The Wayne State women's softball team went 3-3 in the University of Nebraska-Kearney Invitational over the weekend. Joan Scherbring's squad came home with an 8-19 overall record.

The Wildcats won the opener, 4-3 over Regis College out of Denver, Colorado. Jenny Nieland earned the victory in a game that saw the 'Cats pound out eight hits while committing four errors. Regis had seven hits and no errors.

Maryellen Livingston singled in the game-winner in the bottom of the seventh inning. Lori Foster tripled and singled to lead the offense while Nieland aided her own pitching cause by doubling and singling. Kim Stigge, Michele Reinhardt, Kelly Rotert and Livingston each had one base hit.

In the second game the Wildcats were handed a 1-0 loss by Morningside. Livingston was tagged with the loss despite tossing a two-hitter. WSC had just one hit and one run—a Jeni Umbach single in the first inning.

WSC did have runners on first and third with two out in the seventh inning but failed to score.

Scherbring's squad bounced back in game three to defeat the University of Southern Colorado, 7-2 with Alex Ross picking up the victory. WSC notched a dozen hits and had three errors while Southern Colorado had seven hits and no errors.

Livingston tripled and singled and Kim Stigge doubled and singled to pace the offense. Michele Reinhardt and Sarah Lee each laced a pair of singles while Lori Foster, Jeni Umbach, Ross and Nieland each had one base hit.

On Sunday the 'Cats were defeated for the second straight day by a 1-0 margin—this time by Central Oklahoma. Jenny Nieland was tagged with the loss. The 'Cats could manage just three hits while Central Oklahoma had seven hits.

Lori Foster, Kim Stigge and Alex Ross each hit singles for the entire offensive attack. Central Oklahoma's lone run came in the fifth inning. WSC did attempt a rally in the sixth as the first two batters each ripped base hits but the 'Cats were sent down in order after that.

THE MARATHON game for WSC came in contest five against the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs as the 'Cats won in 10 innings, 8-7. Maryellen Livingston earned the victory in relief of Alex Ross.

The 'Cats appeared to have the game well in hand with a 6-1 lead heading to the seventh inning but Colorado scored five runs in the inning to force the issue into extra innings.

In the top of the 10th inning Springs scored a run to take the lead but WSC answered in the bottom half of the inning, thus ending the game. Ross got a lead off walk, followed by a Jenny Nieland single.

Livingston hit into a fielder's choice before Michelle Rowe singled to score Ross, tying the game at seven. Sarah Lee then earned a walk and Lori Foster hit into a fielder's choice leaving runners at the corners with two out. Kim Stigge then ended the game with a game-winning single, scoring Rowe.

The 'Cats offense pounded out 18 hits in the game with two errors. Springs had just 10 hits and a couple errors. Nieland belted a double and two singles while Stigge laced three singles to lead the offense.

Lee had two doubles while Ross and Umbach each doubled and singled. Livingston and Rowe each had two singles while Michele Rein-hard doubled. Lori Foster rounded out the attack with a single.

The final game saw Southern Colorado get revenge on the 'Cats for what happened the day earlier as they blasted WSC, 10-2. Jenny Nieland was the losing pitcher and the 'Cats offense was dismal, netting just six hits with two errors while Southern had a dozen hits.

Nieland and Kim Stigge each had two singles while Jeni Umbach and Sarah Lee had one base hit each. WSC will host Briar Cliff on Thursday at the City Softball Complex.

Trojan tracksters place in Lyons

The Wakefield girls and boys track teams competed at the Lyons-Decatur Northeast Invitational last Thursday with the girls placing third with 54.75 points and the boys placing fourth with 66 points.

The biggest point getter for the girls came in the 1600 meter run where the Trojans went first, second and third for 24 total points. Mindy Eaton won the event with a 5:55.5 effort while Maria Eaton was runner-up in a time of 5:56.5. Richelle Wockman placed third at 6:00.1.

The 3200 meter relay foursome of Wockman, both Eatons and Andrea Lundahl placed first in 10:58.1 while in the 3200 meter run, Maria Eaton placed third in 13:07.4 while Wockman was fourth in 13:21.8 and Lundahl, sixth in 13:32.2.

Amy Hattig notched a third place finish in the discus after a toss of 102-6 and Andrea Carson was fifth in the shot put with a 30-11.5 throw. Mary Torczon tied for sixth in the high jump at 4-8 and Wockman tied for fifth in the 800 meter run in 2:46.3.

Lyons-Decatur won the team title with 94.25 points while Dodge-Howells was second with 72.5. Stanton followed Wakefield with 54 points and Leigh was fifth with 48. Beemer led the second five with 46.25 and Oakland-Craig scored 37 for seventh. Emerson-Hubbard, Mead, Bancroft-Rosalie, Pender, Omaha Brownell-Talbot, Clarkson, Walthill and Winnebago rounded out the field of teams in order.

THE BOYS were led by Cory Brown and Ryan Ekberg as Brown breezed to the championship of the 300 intermediate hurdles with a 43.0 clocking while Ekberg was timed in 23.8 in winning the 200 meter dash. Ekberg placed third in the 100 meter dash in 11.6 plus while Tory Nixon placed runner-up in the 3200 meter run in 10:55.5. He also placed third in the 1600 meter run with a 5:03 clocking.

Matt Kucera placed third in the shot put after a toss of 42-7 while Miah Johnson placed third in the 300 hurdles with a 45.1 effort. The Trojans sprint relay team placed third in 47.7 and the 1600 meter relay team added a third in 3:50.7 while Craig Anderson rounded out the team scoring with a fifth place time of 17.7 in the 110 meter high hurdles.

Lyons-Decatur swept the team trophies with 91 points while Leigh and Oakland-Craig tied for second with 78. Emerson-Hubbard followed Wakefield with 34 points while Beemer placed sixth with 32. Mead was seventh with 29 and Stanton was eighth with 28. Pender, Bancroft-Rosalie, Clarkson, Dodge-Howells, Winnebago, Walthill and Omaha Brownell-Talbot rounded out the field of teams in order.

Wildcat men place third

WSC tracksters place at Dordt

The Wayne State track teams took part in the Dordt Invitational, Saturday and the Wildcat men placed third with 53 points while the women's team scored 34 points to place fourth.

The men were led by five, first place finishes including Brad Ottis in the shot put after a 49-6 effort. He was followed by runner-up Todd Mohler with a season best throw of 48-3. Mohler won the discus with a toss of 145-1—just ahead of runner-up Ottis who tossed the discus 143-3.5 while Jason McDermott won the high jump after a leap of 6-4. James McGown won the 800 meter run in 2:03.5 and the 1600 medley relay team of Ottis, Kiyoshi Moody, Steve Dinsmore and McGown ran to a first place time of 3:45.3.

Terry Sherman placed fourth in the discus with a 122-0 throw and he placed third in the shot put with a 46-6.5 effort. Mohler added a fifth in the javelin with a school record throw of 109-8.5 while Moody placed fifth in the 100 meter dash in 11.8.

Dinsmore ran a 2:05.7 in the 800 for runner-up honors while Mark Beran placed second in the 5000 meter run in 17:05.8. He also placed sixth in the 1500 meter run in 4:28.8 while McDermott placed seventh in the same event after a 4:35.1 clocking.

The women were led by Emily Krueger in the 100 hurdles with a season best winning time of 17.0. The 1600 medley relay team captured first in a time of 4:31.6 and in doing so broke the school record set in 1978.

The winning foursome included Jackie Heese, Roni Jackson, Kathy Dalton and Amy Brodersen. Krista Lingenfelter, placed runner-up in the 1500 meter run in 5:24.6—a personal best and Heese placed second in the 800 after a 2:27.7 clocking.

Danae DeRusse was third in the 200 meter dash with a 30.4 effort and Dalton's 2:29.4 time in the 800 was good enough for third. The 1600 relay foursome of Jackson, Lingenfelter, Dalton and Brodersen also placed third in 4:26.6.

DeRusse also notched a fourth place finish in the shot put with a 26-5 effort and Jackson ran to a sixth place time of 2:37.3 in the 800.

"The wind hurt most of the performances by the runners," assistant coach Brian Kavanaugh said. "Especially Mark Beran in the 5000 meters, during which the wind picked up significantly. There also wasn't anyone around Mark for most of the race, so he wasn't pushed too hard."

"The women's 1600 medley ran well, especially since the first two legs of 200 meters each were run by middle distance runners Roni Jackson and Jackie Heese," Kavanaugh added. "James McGown and Steve Dinsmore both ran for the win instead of for good times in the 800, as both hopefully will be close to 1:55 by the end of the season."

Kavanaugh felt the biggest surprise of the day came in high jumper Jason McDermott who ran a 4:35 in the 1500. "He had entered the race after a bet with Kathy Dalton," Kavanaugh said. "He had said he would run a 4:30—30 seconds faster than Dalton and he also said he would not finish last in his heat—he placed second in his heat."

Head coach Rick Moorman said lack of depth hurt his squads. "We should have been able to win both the men's and women's meets but we just didn't have the numbers," Moorman said. "It looks like Brad Ottis might have missed his calling and should've been running the sprints all these years as he turned in a 26-second split in the 200 meters of the 1600 medley."

Ann Berner had cataracts.

She had "No-Stitch" Cataract Surgery.

"When I went to Dr. Feidler, he examined me and found out that I had cataracts. It was hard for me to read. It was difficult to look at bright lights.

I heard good reports about Dr. Feidler from friends and people I work with. I can see so much better with my left eye, since Dr. Feidler operated on it, than I can with my right eye. When I close my right eye my curtains look real lively, and when I close my left eye they look so dingy.

I had my surgery at nine in the morning. They told me I should stay until 11 a.m., but I was ready to go earlier, and was home by 10:30 a.m. I wasn't too afraid of the surgery. I have a lot of confidence in Dr. Feidler. You can trust him."

Nebraska's Cattlemen applaud removal of unfair tax on breeding livestock in the state

Nebraska's cattle industry leaders welcome the Legislature's final passage of LB 961. While the original purpose of the bill was the property tax exemption for breeding livestock, Nebraska Cattlemen's highest priority bill this session ended up tying several rural tax issues with a plan to renovate Omaha's City Auditorium and other urban objectives.

"Cattlemen remained united and focused throughout the session in their call for the exemption of breeding cattle from personal property taxation," Nebraska Cattlemen President Logan McClelland said. "Exempting breeding cattle will not be a significant budget item for the state but it eliminates a whole class of tax discrimination. We are really pleased that our calls to end the bad tax policy have been heard." McClelland explained Nebraska Cattlemen members wanted the tax repealed because it caused bad business decisions. Tax policy should be neutral and the existing law is not. Current law motivates cattlemen to raise replacement stock rather than purchase it. In many cases, it might be better for ranch output if seedstock were purchased. It also puts the state's number one industry at a disadvantage to competitors in neighboring states.

Passed on 38 to 9 vote, LB 961 now goes to the Governor for his signature, which he has said he will provide.

The bill became a vehicle for a rural, urban tax issues compromise. An amendment to LB 961 also incorporates a compromise worked out earlier that will see the $4/ton fertilizer tax continue at that level for two years, drop back to $1 in 1997 and end in 2000. Until 1997, the $7.3 million a year in fertilizer tax revenue will pay for ethanol production subsidies. As a result, farmers will avoid paying a proposed excise tax on grain that would have gone for the ethanol subsidies.

The amended bill will give Omaha about $16.2 million state state cigarette tax revenue over a six-year period, instead of the one-year, half-cent sales tax increase that had been approved by Omaha voters. In addition, the bill will fund a secure facility for violent juveniles, fund state's deferred maintenance program and starting in 1997 fund environmental enhancement projects in rural Nebraska.

The compromise addressed competing interests of urban and rural senators, which separately were at high risk of being bogged down in political maneuvering.

Sen. George Coordsen of Hebron, original sponsor of LB 961, Sen. Jan McKenzie of Harvard, and Sen. Roger Wehrbein of Plattsmouth played key roles in the compromise.

Of the $4.8 million paid in property tax on breeding livestock which will now be exempted, $3.1 million of will be shifted to other property in the same taxing districts, mostly rural counties, with as much as two-thirds of it falling back on the ag sector. This brings fairness to the tax system and benefits many young producers struggling to establish their businesses and is not expected to affect urban counties, nor the state budget. The net tax savings to ranchers and framers should be about $1.7-2 million, a small amount compared to the $412 million they pay in property taxes. In many cases the tax on breeding cattle has been $15/head the first year after purchase — not much alone, but a substantial additional tax bill on 50 or 100 head, McClelland said.

NC continues to strongly support replacing all personal property tax and will continue pushing toward that.

The Nebraska Cattlemen Association represents nearly 5,000 cattle breeders, producers and feeders, as well as 52 county and local cattlemen's associations, and serves as the spokesman for the state's beef cattle industry.

The next meeting will be Sunday, May 22 at the Marvin Cherry home. Demonstrations will be given by Kyle Cherry, Steven Fleer, Nick Brogren and Mark Bloomfield.
