Schedules told for churches

By Clara Osten

As the school year draws to close, area churches are making plans for Vacation Bible School Several churches have plans to hold activities within the next two weeks while others plan to hold their classes later in the summer.

Grace Lutheran Church plans to have two separate Bible Schools. The first will be for preschoolers and will be held Monday, May 23 through Thursday, May 26. The school is designed for three through five year-olds and will run from 9-11 a.m. The following week, Tuesday, May 31 through Friday, June 3 Bible School will be held for students kindergarten through seventh-grade. The theme for this year's classes is "Come to the Party — Celebrate Jesus". All children are welcome to attend. For more information, call the church office at 375-1905.

Redeemer Lutheran Church will have Vacation Bible School from Tuesday, May 31 through Saturday, June 4. Classes will run from 8:30 11:30 Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday. A picnic will be held at the park following Saturday's class. The theme for this year is "Come Along with Jesus". This year's offering will be given to the ELCA Hunger Appeal: Hope for Children Fund.

Seventy-five students who make up the graduating class of 1994 from Wayne High school will receive their diplomas Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Willow Bowl on the Wayne State College campus.

Described as a diverse group of graduates by High School Counselor Terry Munson, the 1994 class is maintaining the record of graduation rates established by their predecessors at Wayne High. Nearly 100 percent of the students who were in the class at the beginning of their high school years will be receiving

THE WAYNE graduation rate is traditionally well above state and national averages and even far exceeds new graduation goals estab-lished under Nebraska 2000 guidelines, Munson said.

Munson said the class is composed of a diverse group of achievers from state champion drama stu-dents to athletes who will be receiving college scholarships to national merit and regent scholars in academic standing.

This years seniors also are the first group of graduates to complete a year under the new eight-period day, which Munson said puts more pressure on some students because

Political flap settled over grad speaker

Of the Herald

The Wayne High Commencement Ceremony set for Sunday was at the center of a whirlwind of statewide political intrigue this week

Jan Stoney, retired USWest executive and candidate for the United States Senate WILL be the commencement speaker Sunday. Mrs. Stoney had been announced as the speaker for the ceremony earlier this month, but a call Thursday from a state Democrat official caused the school to withdraw its invitation (for a time) to have her speak.

WAYNE HIGH Principal Dr. Don Zeiss said he believed the Democrats might take legal action against the school if Mrs. Stoney were allowed to speak. She is the opponent of Democrat Sen. Bob Kerrey for the senate election in November. She was listed on the program as a former USWest executive and had told school officials she would talk about her career which started as a secretary before she rose to a position as one of the top busi-

'Miracle' carnival is May 26

All Wayne area youngsters ages pre-school through fourth grade are invited to attend the second annual Children's Miracle Network Carnival on Thursday, May 26, being co-sponsored by Dairy Queen and the Wayne Kiwanis Club.

Jacque Kinnett, manager of the local Dairy Queen, said that while the carnival is to be a fun event for area children, it is also a fund raiser for the Children's Miracle Network Telethon to help fund children's medical services and programs at St. Luke's Regional Medical Center in Sioux City.

All of the proceeds from the carnival will go to the Children's Miracle Network Telethon to be used at St. Luke's. Last year the carnival raised $350 and organizers are hoping for an even greater turnout this year.

The carnival will be from noon

ness executives in the state.

Even though the speech was going to be nonpolitical, Zeiss said he thought Thursday morning it would be better to seek another speaker because of the political and legal concerns which were raised in a phone call he received from David Hunter, chairman of the first district Democrats. Zeiss said a complicating factor was the fact that his son works for the Stoney campaign and he feared that might also reflect negatively on the school.

HUNTER TOLD the Wayne Herald he didn't intend to issue threats of legal problems or intimi-dation when he called Zeiss to voice strong objection to the graduation speech by Stoney.

But that is exactly what Zeiss said he interpreted from the conversation and is why he and Superintendent Dennis Jensen agreed to call the Stoney's campaign office and ask her not to come. That left the school scrambling for a substitute. Jensen called Wayne State College President Dr. Donald Mash who agreed to fill in and new programs were ordered to be printed with the speaker change.

THAT'S WHEN the state media got ahold of the story and began asking questions about why Mrs. Stoney's speech in Wayne was can-

When Bob Kerrey's office heard that the Stoney speech had been cancelled because of objections from the Democrat headquarters the senator became "very unhappy" said his press aide Steve Jarding in a way that would leave you to believe that was a massive understatement.

Jarding said the senator had strong words for Hunter who he said did not represent Kerrey's position "at all." Jarding said the senator wanted the Wayne community to know it did the right thing in inviting Stoney to speak at commencement. "It's just silly and amateurish," said Jarding of Hunter's objection to her speech in Wayne. "He was way out of line.'

He said one of Kerrey's long term goals is to expose young people to political issues. "He goes around the state saying that one of our prob-lems is we are not well informed politically," said Jarding of Kerrey's position. He wants young people to listen to the ideas and be exposed to political thought.

Shirley Fletcher of Wayne was chosen as Woman of the Year for the Northeast Deanery of Council of Catholic Women. The award was presented to her by Mary Ann Vande Burg, president of the group, at the group's spring méeting held in Pender on May Fletcher was nominated by Rose Rieken and Marion Jordan of St. Mary's Church in Wayne. Her list of qualifications was sent to the Deanery and reviewed by three representatives of the group. Her selection as Woman of the Year was kept secret from her for nearly six weeks.

Qualifications for the award include involvement in both church and community activiparking lot and will include games, face painting, and clowns. There will be a police cruiser, fire truck and ambulance for the children to sit in and investigate.

Kinnett said youngsters can purchase a $2 package, with $1 going towards tickets for games andthe other $1 going towards the purchase of a Children's Miracle Network Telethon paper balloon which will include the youngster's name and will be displayed inside the Dairy Queen. For $1 more children can get five additional tickets for games.

"I know there are many local children who have benefited from St. Luke's and the Children's Miracle Network Telethon. Absolutely 100% of the donations raised by the telethon benefits the children's health services at St. Luke's hospital," said Mrs. Kinnett,

One Wayne youngster to benefit from the facilities at St. Luke's is Michael Wiltse, son of Mark and Lou Wiltse. Michael was born seven weeks premature, with severe respiratory distress. St. Luke's sent its own ambulance and team of neonatal specialists to transport him to Sioux City from Providence Medical Center.

Michael spent two weeks at St. Luke's after he was born. All but two days of that time he was in intensive care.

Students honor composer

Strings music students at Wayne honored composer Charles Mitchell during their spring concert Tuesday in the Haun Lecture Hall.

The honored composer is the great, great, great grandfather of Christy Mitchell, who was one of the stu dent performers on the program directed by Bonita Day.

Christy Mitchell and Katie Langbehn played a duet of one of Charles Mitchell's compositions, "Sunny California", which he first published in 1927. The same duet has played for several church meetings this year.

A large group of Mitchell family relatives attended the Tuesday concert from the Wayne and Allen areas. Charles Mitchell moved with his family to a farm in the Allen area in 1877. He taught rural school near there. He also played for dances, for his family and he wrote music Mitchell learned early to play the violin by ear from his elders

He was born in New York City in 1850. He died in 1932.

Thirty-five strings music students performed at the concert which also featured the presentation of awards for performance. The event was very well attended.

office promising to fight against his own party to forestall any threats of repercussions for his opponent's appearance at Wayne, school officials here decided to go ahead with the original plan.

I'm out of the game," said Mash good naturedly.

Sheryl Lindau, who heads up the local campaign for Kerrey, said she was "not thrilled" when she heard that Mrs. Stoney was going to be the commencement speaker, but she said she did not see a problem if the talk was going to be nonpolitical.

Stories about the whole episode were carried in today's editions of the Omaha World-Herald, Lincoln Journal and Star and on the wire

SCHOOL BOARD

The Wakefield Board of Education held its regular meeting May 9. In action during the meeting the board approved the hiring of Jennifer Goos as the new business teacher and Rich Fendrick as the new high school custodian.

Gene Rasmussen was named as the summer weight room supervisor, he has been a student and substitute teacher at Wakefield during the year.

The board also approved the classified staff salaries as recommended by the labor relation committee. Classified staff personnel was also discussed. Substitute teacher pay was set at $50 per day for the 1994-95 term.

President Mike Salmon discussed with the board the principal selection process and named Jerry Sharpe, LaVonne Carson, Jim Clark, Derwin Hartman and himself as members of the selection committee.

The board also discussed the proposal from Nebraska Busing Company during the course of the meeting and decided not to pursue it at this time. ->

Reports included from principal Joe Coble on the district music contest held recently in Wakefield and he called the board's attention to the success of the Wakefield High School vocal and instrumental programs. Coble also reported on the senior trip stating it went well and told the board that a senior student had requested that the board consider reinstating the academic honors of valedictorian and salutatorian.

Coble discussed with the board the recent meeting he conducted that dealt with parental concerns about the sport programs. This topic, according to Supt. Hartman will continue to be a priority item.

Hartman reported to the board that the company that installed the metal roof took care of the cost to repair the snag in the rubber roof.

Barb Preston was also a visitor at the board meeting.

WHAT WORKS AND
WHAT DOESN'T — PARENTING STYLE
The maturity and reasoning abilities of the child are key factors in determining the techniques most likely to be effective.

Preschool. During preschool ears, parents should establish and enforce basic rules of behavior and concentrate on modeling positive character traits rather than pronouncing principles along with extensive discussions, lectures, sermonettes and the like. In fact, there is some evidence that building up a child's ability to verbalize about ethical issues at this early stage can be counter-productive. One study showed that children who talked the most did themselves in with rationalizations. They yielded to improper temptation more frequently than the less verbal.

Preschoolers observe keenly, and often ask the ubiquitous "why"? Short uncomplicated answers, even if not complete or fully accurate, are best. When young children transgress, the same rules hold: a brief description of why the behavior is not acceptable, an immediate sanction that fits the offense and it is over. Long-term or delayed punishment is simply ineffective.

Pre-Teen. During the pre-teen elementary years the picture changes quite dramatically when compared to preschool. The children are capable of concrete reasoning. Because they can tell the difference between intentional versus accidental harm, we can apply reason and explain why it is wrong to steal, cheat or lie. Unfortunately, this does not mean that such a process will always eliminate bad behavior.

Literally all normal children under temptation conditions will fib, tell stories or conveniently forget to get out of a jam. They say George Washington couldn't lie. Don't be-lieve it. Research has shown that about 80 percent of children and early adolescents exhibit at least a moderate level of cheating when it appears as if no one is monitoring their work. This reinforces the point. The development of ethical consciousness and appropriate behavior is a long slow process which continues during childhood and early adolescence.

During this pre-teen phase, parents would continue model positive characteristics and discuss reasons for fairness. While the poet Ralph Waldo Emerson has suggested that consistency may be the hobgoblin of little minds, it is not for parenting. Consistency and even-handedness provide the child with a framework to encourage stability while developing.

Adolescence. It is during adolescence, however, that parents have both the greatest opportunity and the greatest challenge. The naivete of childhood gives way to an ability to think and feel at increasingly more complex levels. The scales fall away from the eyes during adolescence. The challenge is from their new-found ability to not only spot adult hypocrisy but comment upon it as well, and comment may be a euphemism, indeed. Yet the growing ability to understand rea-sons behind actions and principles as opposed to simple rules represents the major opportunity for growth toward personal and civic responsibility.

This means parents need to discuss controversial issues openly, educator, Horace Mann, put it more eloquently: "We can't educate for democracy by methods of slavery." Discussion can take place at the dinner table, riding in the car, walking along the beach; almost any place where the atmosphere is relaxed. Also parents need to dis-cuss the "other side" of a controversial issue. It is far better for teenagers to hear the line that a drug pusher is going to use, or the words in advance of a seduction scenario, or how a con artist can convincingly rationalize cheating or stealing during a discussion with you. This also gives you the chance to discuss the reasons and consequences for not yielding. Both reasons and consequences to them as individuals are important.

their own understanding. A famous

The research here is both positive and negative. Families who discuss such issues openly and help adolescents to accept ethical princi ples have a noticeably positive effect. The negative aspect is that, more often than not, the moral educator in the family seems to be the mother. Too many fathers may not make the time available and become impatient since the discussions must be slow-paced. Also parents need to learn not to turn such discussions into a debate. Ethical reasoning is not learned through verbal humiliation.

The final point is that adult wisdom in ethical reasoning can develop in greater depth as a result of the suggestions we are offering. For these suggestions clearly imply that a key dimension at any state of childhood and adolescence is the actual modeling of behavior by the parents. In any arena of human conduct, actions speak louder than words. In ethics they shout. Yet it takes more than modeling. Growth in understanding the reasons for the ethical principled of care, fairness, honesty, integrity and the like is just as important as the behavior. We need both. Such education by parents is ultimately and most importantly interactive.

Parents too will improve on their own standards and character. The challenge of parenting adoles-cents forces us to rethink many ersial issues sciousness can be raised when we honestly examine difficult dilemmas not only in our homes but also in our workplace. We can learn through discussions with our teenagers the meaning of Shake-speare's line, "To thine own self be

The rolling stream of life goes on, but still the vacant chair - - Recalls the time, the voice, the smile, of those who once sat there - - Is just a cluster of beautiful memories; sprayed with a million tears. Wishing God could have spared you for many more years. To some, you may be forgotten; to some part of the past. To us, who loved you and lost you - - your memory will always last. Sadly missed by

The Annual Wayne High School Athletic Banquet was held Tuesday night in the Student Union of Wayne State College. The event was sponsored by the Wayne Booster Club to recognize all student athletes at Wayne High

Booster Club representative Bob Dyer gave the welcome address followed by the recognition of spring letterwinners from boys golf coach Terry Munson and track coaches Dale Hochstein and Dan Fehringer.

Following dinner athletic director Ron Carnes along with senior representative Bob Bell introduced the senior athletes which was fol-lowed by the guest speaker, Gerry Gdowski-former quarterback fo the Nebraska Cornhuskers as well as a standout high school athlete and student at Fremont High Gdowski, now a receivers coach for the South Dakota State Jackrabbits football team of the North Central Conference, talked about a variety of ways to become a better student-athlete.

He talked about maximizing your potential in what ever you do.
"There are all different kinds of athletes," Gdowski said. "You may have one that has 10 talents and another that has only five but if you get the athlete that reaches four of the five talents he has, you're doing better than the athlete that may reach five of his 10 talents.

non-starters of athletic events because it is their determination and hard work in practice that pushes the starters to be the best they can.

The former Husker signal-caller gave several anecdotes of his days with the Big Red and coach Tom Osborne. Following his address several special awards were given Carnes presented the Terry Johnson Memorial Award to freshman basketball standout Katie Lutt while Terry Munson presented the Scholar/Athlete Award to Tami Schluns and Nate Stednitz.

Sargeant Marlin Chinn of the Wayne Police Department presented the Wayne County Law Enforcement Award to Mike Fluent and Carrie Fink and Don Koenig presented the Master Sports Award to Matt Blomenkamp, Audra Sievers and Nate Stednitz. This award went to those who went out for three sports all four years of high school.

Dr. Don Zeiss presented the Moller Memorial Award to Tami Schluns and Robert Bell Carnes closed out the special awards ceremony by presenting the Outstanding Boy and Girl Athlete Award to Jenny Thompson and Matt

Blomenkamp.

Duane Blomenkamp made mention of the most valuable athletes in each respective sport this year as voted on by the team and they included the following: Football-Josh Starzl; Volleyball—Jenny Thompson; Cross Country—Tami

Thompson and Carrie Fink; Golf-Kristine Kopperud and Nate Salmon; Track & Field—Nate Stednitz and Tami Schluns.

Carnes gave the students, parents, faculty and coaches in atten-dance a farewell address in lieu of his stepping down as an assistant coach of 30 years and athletic director of nine years following this school year,

Carnes thanked the coaches, booster club and athletes and said he was proud of the part he played in athletics at Wayne High for the past the athletes perform next year," an emotional Carnes said. "I would like to think that I made a difference to these athletes because I know they made a difference to me. Bob Dyer, Don Koenig and Du-

Laurel golfers claim district championship

The Laurel Bears golf team cap-tured the district championship in Class C held at Cedar View Country Club in Laurel, Tuesday and thus, qualified for the annual Ne-braska State Golf Meet next Tuesday in Hastings. The Bears over-came extremely strong winds to post a 36-stroke victory over runner-up Bloomfield.

Laurel carded a 354 while Bloomfield settled for a 390. The third place team also qualified for the state meet and Scribner-Snyder earned that spot with an even 400edging Omaha Brownell Talbot by a single stroke.

Coleridge placed fifth with a 414 and Orchard fired a 416 while Humphrey St. Francis tied with Weeping Water with 423's. Cedar Bluffs, Wakefield and Bancroftteams in order. Wakefield finished with a 442 team score.

The wind really made a difference in the scores," Laurel coach Don Helgren said. "It was nearly impossible at times. Some of the kids said they would put the ball, and after it had stopped, they would go to mark it and the wind would blow the ball clear off the green."

Laurel senior Ben Dahl was the gold medalist of the meet after firing a 79. Shane Schuster finished runner-up in the district meet with an 86 and Nic Dahl settled for the fourth place medal overall with an

Chad Anderson and Mark Johnson carded a 101 and 102, respectively. There were 59 golfers at the meet and less than 20 came in with Gilliland who won a playoff for seventh place with a 96. Travis Rouse and Cory Coble carded rounds of 115 and Austin Lueth notched a 116 to round out the team score. Tyler Peters played varsity and scored a 120.

"There are some things we need to work on before the state tourna-ment," Helgren said. "We will need to shoot in the 320's to have a chance at doing anything at state and I know we can shoot the score because we've done it."

Laurel will leave late Sunday for Hastings and play a practice round on Monday after an exhibition with PGA golf pros Peter Jacobsen and Vicki Goetze. The Bears will tee-off at the state tournament on Tuesday

Winside competes well at non qualifiers track meet

The Winside track teams competed in the Non-Qualifiers Meet in Homer, recently—a track meet for individuals who did not qualify for the State Track & Field Meet in Omaha this weekend.

Winside coach Jim Winch said no team score was kept, but had it been the Wildcat boys would have scored a convincing team championship with 140 points. Homer would have placed second with 104 and the third place team would have settled for 39.

Jaimey Holdorf won the 100 meter dash and was a member of the winning 800 meter relay with Jeremy Barg, Colby Jensen and Benji Wittler and Matt Jensen won the high jump.

June 1: Annual Chemigation Permit Renewal Deadline

Farmers planning to chemigate during the upcoming growing season must renew chemigation permits by June 1 to meet state deadline requirements, according to Rick Wozniak, water resources manager for the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District.

Chemigation is the application of any chemical, fertilizer or pesticide through an irrigation system. To legally chemigate in Nebraska, an operator must be certified to apply chemicals and obtain a chemigation permit from the local natural

"Farmers holding chemigation permits, even if they are uncertain whether they will chemigate later this year or next spring, should consider renewing the permits by June 1, Wozniak said. The Lower Elknborn NRD's water resources manager is encouraging area producers to reapply by the state-required deadline to avoid the increased cost and possible delays of an inspection.

Chemigation renewal permits cost $10 and must be submitted to the Lower Elkhorn NRD office at 700 West Benjamin Avenue in Norfolk.

By renewing a permit by June 1, a producer may proceed with chemigation. An inspection does not have to be performed prior to chemigation for a renewal application, Wozniak said.

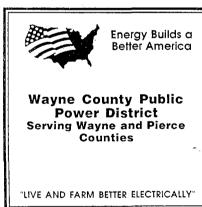

However, a random chemigation inspection may be necessary later in the season as part of the Lower Elkhorn NRD's routine summer inspections as required by state law.

An irrigation system that has not been renewed prior to the June 1 deadline cannot apply chemicals through the system until a new permit is obtained. New chemigation permits cost $30 and applicant cannut use the system until it passes a mandatory inspection.

Emergency permits can be obtained at a cost of $100. Irrigation systems meeting chemigation law standards will then be allowed to operate within 72 hours of application.

For more information on renewing or obtaining chemigation permits, call the Lower Elkhorn NRD at 371-7313.

Fifth grade students from Winside who participated in the DARE program received certificates and t-shirts during the graduation ceremony on May 13.

Winside fifth grade students graduated from DARE program graders participated in a DARE graduation ceremony on May 13 to culminate the school's first time in the DARE Program. DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) is a state program for fifth and sixth graders to lea n about drug abuse and how to avoid it in their lives.

The program is implemented through the school systems and the Nebráska State Patrol. The program runs 17 weeks each year and in Winside they will be strictly working with that year's fifth grade class. Trooper Dave Headley of Troop B, who resides in the Wayne area, works with the students each week doing fun, but educational lessons in work books, skits and role playing. He helps the students develop self-esteem, how to deal with stress, peer pressure and be more assertive.

Trooper Headley said, "Working in this program with the students gives them a chance to see that the police are not just out to arrest people and put them in jail. They see we really care about them and what happens to them.'

Fifth grade students include Kate Barg, Justin Bleich, Aimee Buresh, Jennifer Cleveland, Laurie Deck, Nichole Farran, Melinda Fleer, James Gubbels, Timothy Heich, Justin Koch, Trisha Langenberg, Stacy Magwire, Kacy Mann, Scott Marotz, Danielle Nelson, Mandy Petersen, Heather Rabe, Robbie Reed. Eric Schultz, Bobbey Stubbs, Nathan Suehl, Nathan Trautman, Winside Public School fifth Eric Vanosdall, Dustin Wade, Jessica Wade and Travis Yosten.

Before each student can graduate from the program, they are required to write a commitment essay. Six of those essays were selected to be read in the program and each of those students received a DARE drink jug. They are Lindy Fleer, Heather Rabe, Robbic Reed, Amanda Petersen, Jennifer Cleve-land and Stacy Magwire.

The rest of the class each participated in the a group skit relating to being drug-free.

After the program, Mrs. Lawrence, the fifth grade teacher, presented each of her students with a DARE certificate while Mr. Leighton, school superintendent, presented them with a DARE t-shirt and a handshake. Trooper Headley gave each one a personal handshak or hug while giving them a DARE

Trooper Headley also presented the promoters of the program in Winside, Eileen Jager, first grade teacher, and Mrs. Lawrence with a coffee mug and Mrs. Lawrence also received a DARE Bear. Mr.

Leighton received a DARE cap. Trooper Headley recognized three of the four high school students who also worked with the youth during the 17 weeks as role models for them. They were Margaret Brugger, Mari Evans and Wendy Morse. Melinda Mohr also helped, but was not present.

Plans are to continue the proram in Winside with next year's fifth grade class.

GIRL SCOUTS

May is becoming a busy month for the Carroll Girl Scouts and Brownies as they wind up their scout year. May 3 they sponsored a Suprise Teacher Appreciation tea for the Carroll teachers. The scouts supplied refreshments while the school's students presented the teachers with their thank you pictures. Each teacher and helper received a corsage and all were suprised due to the good job all students did in keeping it a secret!

Scouts also chose May 3 to thank their troop sponsors and presented the school with books dealing with handicaps (an area both troops have focused on this year), planted flowers around the trees at Farmer's State Bank, and presented TWJ Feeds and the Station with planters of flowers they made together as a troop.

Brownies met May 16 to practice their program for the upcoming Memorial Day ceremony in Carroll and to finalize plans for their camping overniter scheduled for June 4th to 5th at the Ball Park.

Juniors have been working on a pottery project and will be finishing it this month. They also plan to take horseback riding lessons with the Rainbow Riders, May 21 to earn their horselovers badges and plan to volunteer their service with the handicapped soon after.

Congratulations! We're proud of you.
