WAYNE, NE 68787

118TH YEAR — NO. 73

The best in Wayne County pie baking art was available Thursday evening at the Ice Cream Social sponsored by the ladies of the Eastern Star at the Wayne County Fairgrounds. Shown displaying their tasty pastries were Lila Kay, Doris Harmer and Dorothy Rees.

Immobile parade plan nixed for Chicken Show '94

Parade entries are already coming in for the Chicken Show parade Saturday, July 9 and members of the Chicken Show committee have nixed the idea -- for this year at least -- to have a parked parade.

The committee discussed the possibility of lining up the parade entries on Main Street and then have parade viewers walk up and down the parade route as a unique twist on the traditional plan. But tradition will win out this year, complete with horses for the popular and fun parade.

Fear over what the "Chickendales" entry might be in a parked parade may have been one of the reasons for not proceeding with the idea, said one committee member. "Yea, we can't let those boys sit too long in one spot, its best to keep 'em moving," said committee member Roger Polt, whose likeness was unceremoniously plastered on the paper bags worn by the multi-tonned mass of dancing humanity.

Meanwhile, Henoween activities planned on the Friday night before the Chicken Show will include a talent show contest on the stage in the Carhart Parking lot on Main Street. The event will be held in conjunction with the Cornhusker State Games Gold Medal Talent Search which is seeking Nebraska's best singer, dancer, magician, ventriloquist, comedian, lip-syncher, etc. The talent search will begin at 5 p.m. on Henoween.

Other entertaining activities are being planned in the downtown area for Henoween.

Appreciative crowd attends ag fete

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

A small but appreciative crowd attended the Wayne Ag Appreciation Day activities at the county fairgrounds Thursday. Approximately 400 attended the evening performance of "Branson City Limits."

Many of them enjoyed pie and ice cream at the Eastern Star ice cream social before the performance and earlier in the day youngsters paraded the best in area beef animals at the steer and heifer show.

"We were really happy with the response and we think we have something to build on for the future," said John Farnan, executive director of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber's Agricultural Council organized the event as a spin off of the traditional free bratwurst feed which has been discontinued because of cost according to Farnan.

Bill Claybaugh, chairman of the ag council said he was pleased with the response to the steer and heifer show which attracted ten more head of the regions best beef animals than last year's early June show.

The steer and heifer show attracted 62 entries. The early June show is seen as a good tune-up for fair and livestock shows later in the summer.

Judge Galen Frenzen, Fullerton, Neb. picked the steer exhibited by Cory Thomsen for the top money prize of $150 for overall champion market steer. John Stoltz from Elgin showed the reserve which earned a $75 check.

Stoltz also took home a $100 check as the exhibitor of the champion

Wayne is singular in monument conflict

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Doing the right thing occasionally gets you into hot water, says Val Rausch, but he adds he's going to keep right on doing the right thing.

"If we have to go out of business because of this, so be it," said the third generation monument maker who donated a monument to the Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne as a memorial to babies who are victims of abortion, abuse and neglect.

Placement of the stone in the Wayne cemetery last month has generated a howl of protest from residents who contend the commentary on the monument is inappropriate, that it violates cemetery rules which others must follow and that it is in effect advertising for the out of town monument company.

The monument is similar to those Rausch's South Dakota-based company has erected in community cemeteries throughout the region, he said and Wayne is the only community which has generated any opposition to the tribute.

Since the host of letters to the editor calling for removal of the Dear Wayne . . .

My name is Giulio Slavich, and I am an Italian exchange student, who graduated from Wayne High School and who is going to fly back home June 13.

The first day I came here I was shocked: I was coming from a town composed of 280,000 inhabitants, and all at once I found myself part of rural Nebraska. The familiar boot-shaped Italy had disappeared for a new world: the "little" Wayne. Now the idea of seeing all those open places is a part of my mind, and I am accustomed to the American way of life.

I think that the reason I accomplished all that is the kindness and will to help of the Waynian Community. Those first hard days, when my host family Bob, Margie and Jeremy Meyer were introducing me to various people, I was always told "Welcome to Wayne."

It is really incredible how those three simple words made me feel good in my new experience and erased homesickness from my mind. I should also mention all my friends that heard countless times the question, "What's the mean of that word?" Anytime I asked, anywhere I went I always found wonderful people.

After this one year, after all I learned, all I can say is Thanks, Thanks everybody. Everyone played an important role in this year, a year that I hope, left a sign in my life and your lives. I hope I left a good image of my country as an ambassador of the Italian culture and I ask you to welcome next year's exchange students the same way you treated me.

I have to especially thank my parents for giving me the opportunity of spending this year abroad and my host family for doing so much for me this year. I thank the Wayne School District for letting me study at Wayne High School and everybody who works there. Last I have to thank all my friends for being all a friend can be.

Again, thanks to the whole community.

Health forum features women's worries

By Clara Osten
For the Herald

Providence Medical Center is sponsoring a Women's Health Forum to be held Tuesday, June 21. The forum will be held at Riley's Convention Center and is open to all women.

There is no charge for the forum except $4.25 for the luncheon. All those attending will receive a coupon for a discount on their next mammogram at Providence Medical Center.

Reservations are required for the forum and can be made by calling the hospital at 375-3800. Reservations must be made by June 16.

Speakers for the event will be Stephanie Miske, MD, Radiologist and Kathy Schultz, Physician Assistant.

SCHULTZ WILL give presentations on breast self examination and pap smears.

Miske, who is a radiologist with Radiology and Nuclear Medicine in Omaha is in charge of the mammography department. She will present information on what a good mammogram is, what cancer looks like and what steps a woman can take if cancer is detected.

"No one is immune from getting breast cancer. One out of nine women will get breast cancer during their lifetime. However, only 10 percent of women get regular mammograms to help in the detection," said Miske.

The American Cancer Society recommends women get a baseline mammogram between the ages of 35-40. Between the ages of 40-55 a mammogram should be done every one to two years according to family history of the disease and doctor's recommendations. After age 55, a mammogram should be performed annually.

BEGINNING in October 1994 all facilities that perform mammograms will need to follow the Food and Drug Administration's under the Mammogram Quality Standards Act. This will mean that mammograms can only be performed by qualified persons on machines that have passed inspection. Providence Medical Center is certified in both areas.

"Mammograms have received a

Fireworks will be displayed in Wayne

The Wayne community will be treated to a Fourth of July fireworks display, sponsored by the Wayne Jaycees.

The last time fireworks were displayed in Wayne was two years ago as part of the Hank Overin Celebration Day and talk at that time was to possibly start an every-other-year fireworks show.

"The Jaycees were approached by the Hank Overin appreciation committee two years ago to shoot off fireworks," Jaycees fundraiser chairman Ron Gentrup said. "The last time we had fireworks as an annual event was 1986."

Gentrup said the response from the community has been very encouraging for this year's display. "Our goal is to raise $4500," Gentrup said. "That will put on a good 30-minute show. If anyone out there wants to donate to the fireworks fund, you may do so by sending a donation to the Wayne County Jaycees at P.O. Box 146 in Wayne, NE 68787."

Gentrup said the goal is to get some kind of ball game lined up prior to the fireworks display but as of yet, nothing is set in concrete. "At the end of the month we are planning to meet with the Wakefield Community Club and Wakefield baseball coach Paul Eaton for future plans concerning fireworks between the two communities depending on feedback," Gentrup added.

Questions concerning the fireworks display should be directed to project chairman Scott Brummond at 375-4161 or fundraising chairman Ron Gentrup at 375-1130 or 375-3860 (home).

market heifer at the show. Reserve market heifer was shown by Pat Wiese of Lindsay. In the breeding heifer class, Josh Vogel exhibited the champion animal and Tim Wiese showed the reserve. They won $75 and $50 respectively.

Youngsters also had an opportunity to hone their showmanship skills for the summer's fair competitions during the Thursday event in Wayne. Amanda Reeson was the champion junior showman with John Stoltz winning reserve. Intermediate showmanship honors went to Layne Sievers and Craig Reeson. Senior showmen champion and reserve were Leann Stuart and T.J. Nelson.

The added purse of prize money for the youngsters was generated from contributions from J.B. Ranch in Wayne, Jerome Settles in Hoskins, LK Farms in Hoskins, Liska Angus in Wayne and TWJ Farms of Carroll.

Farm safety day camp is set

The newly formed chapter of the Northeast Nebraska Farm Safety 4 Just Kids is conducting a Farm Safety Day Camp from 8:45 a.m. until 3 p.m. on June 23 at the Laurel city park.

The Farm Safety 4 Just Kids chapter was chartered in May. The goal of the chapter is to provide educational programs for youth and their families in Northeast Nebraska. The June 23 Day Camp is designed for youth 6 to 14 years of age, and their parents.

The camp includes a farm safety t-shirt, a certificate of attendance, lunch, swimming and safety sessions and demonstrations on first aid, PTO safety, grain auger safety, electrical safety, ATV safety, animal safety, grain wagon safety, chemical safety and water rescue.

The cost for farm safety training day including t-shirt is $12. Parents are encouraged to attend. The registration, including t-shirt, for adults is also $12.

However, if you would like to become a member of the Northeast Nebraska Chapter for Farm Safety 4 Just Kids the membership fee is $15. This includes a farm safety newsletter, a membership to the national organization and free attendance for one parent to the day camp in Laurel.

In case of inclement weather, the program will be moved inside. Participants will be awarded their farm safety t-shirts at registration and are required to wear them for the day. The youth will be divided by age for the sessions. The camp is limited to the first 100 registered. Registrations are due June 18 to insure delivery of the t-shirts.

The last session will be held at the Laurel public swimming pool, weather permitting. Youth will be released at 3 p.m. Participants should bring their own swim suits.

Look for a registration form in the week of June 13 issue of the Northeast Nebraska Rocket, or for more information, or registration form, contact: Rod Patent, Wayne County Extension office, 375-3310 or Joan Adkins, chairperson, Farm Safety 4 Just Kids, 256-3581.

lot of attention recently. Because of this, the quality of mammograms has increased. However, they are not perfect. Cancers can be missed in up to 10 percent of the time," said Miske.

"It is important for women to know where they have had previous mammograms. We need to compare past mammograms with present ones to detect and changes.

"Breast cancer doubles every 120-180 days. It is important to find it as early as possible. The five year survival rate is 85 percent for cancers that are detected early," said Miske.

Susan Hollman

WSC grad is promoted in Omaha

Susan Hollman has been promoted to Regional Sales Representative of Streck Laboratories in Omaha, according to Connie Ryan, president.

Hollman has been with Streck for five years and previously held the position of buyer in the purchasing department. She will assume responsibility for direct customer and distributor sales in the Midwest Region for the company. Streck manufactures and sells quality assurance controls for hematology instruments in hospitals and clinical laboratories.

A native of Nebraska, Hollman has a B.A. degree in business education from Wayne State College.

Streck Laboratories is involved in the research, development and manufacture of hematology reference controls and other clinical laboratory products. Streck's products are distributed throughout the United States and 42 countries worldwide.

Startling stories

Storyteller Jym Kruse wowed the youngsters who attended the summer story hour program at the Wayne Public Library Tuesday. Sponsored by the Nebraska Humanities Council, Kruse provided two free programs at the library.

Dry hydrant program implemented

The Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Council plans to begin offering the opportunity to purchase materials for the installation of dry hydrants.

A dry hydrant is a pipe system permanently installed in existing ponds and streams that provides a suction supply of water for fire protection use.

In many rural areas, a lack of water sources can impair a fire department's ability to do its job quickly and efficiently. If fill-up points are a long distance from the fire, volunteer fire fighters may not be able to maintain an uninterrupted water supply. A dirty hydrant hookup provides a ready supply of water to tank trucks. Some of the other benefits are conservation of water, a saving in money, a saving in energy, possibly a lower insurance premium for the fire department and lower operating expenses.

If you are interested in learning more about dry hydrants, contact the RC&D Office in Plainview at 582-4866. Information about where to order high quality dry-hydrant components will be available.
