Concord man charged; abducted teen missing

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

Area law enforcement officers are still in search of the whereabouts of 19-year-old Wakefield resident Laura Kucera today after her abduction at gun point by 22-year-old Brian Anderson of Concord, Saturday afternoon in the residential area of Wakefield.

Kucera, described as 5-7 and 140 pounds with blue eyes and brown hair was seen getting into a vehicle driven by Anderson after being held at gunpoint around 3:15 p.m., Saturday afternoon by two juvenile witnesses ranging in ages of junior high to younger high school age.

Anderson called the Dixon County Sheriff's Office on Sunday and told authorities that he was turning himself in but he never arrived, forcing the sheriff's office to dispatch an officer to arrest him.

"We knew where he was calling from and we sent an officer and the subject did not resist arrest," Dixon County Sheriff Dean Chase said. "He was arrested in Ponca."

Anderson was initially charged with the following: Kidnapping, Use of firearm to commit a felony, Violation of Protection Order, Criminal Trespass, Assault with a deadly weapon, Assault and Violation of Probation.

Chase said Anderson appeared at his first hearing on Monday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. and was officially charged with four felonies: Count 1—Kidnapping which is a Class 1A felony and carries a maximum sentence of life in prison; Count 2—False Imprisonment which is a Class 4 felony and carries a maximum sentence of five years in prison; Count 3—Use of Firearm to commit a felony which is a Class 3 felony and carries a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison; Count 4—Operating a motor vehicle to avoid arrest which is a Class 4 felony and carries a maximum sentence of five years in prison. The Dixon County Court appointed South Sioux City attorney Doug Luebke to defend Anderson.

"All we have to go on right now is what he (Anderson) tells us," Chase said. "He claims to have dropped Miss Kucera off in the parking lot of Hardee's Restaurant in South Sioux around 8:15 p.m. but there were no other witnesses to this."

Chase said from the time Kucera was abducted and the time Anderson said he dropped her off is about five hours. "They apparently drove around for this amount of time which means they covered a lot of area," Chase said. "Our search is on and we have areas we are concentrating more on but the longer the time she's gone, the

Concrete shortage seen

By Jim Reese
For the Herald

Rationing of concrete supplies has placed delays on construction projects throughout the region this summer and the supply shortage is creating additional headaches for contractors trying to work through one of the busiest construction seasons on record in Wayne. "There's only so many cement suppliers throughout the country, and due to unplanned earthquake and hurricane damages, it has caused a problem all over," said Don Siefken, Wayne City Planner and building inspector.

The tension for contractors builds as with the coming of the winter months which will halt much of the already backlogged work.

Siefken said projects are still underway in Wayne, including new street projects in the new Vintage Hill Subdivision where engineer Mark Westergard said GLC Construction Company has set up its own batch plant on site and the city has talked informally to the local cement mix plant to ensure continued supplies.

Priority projects will be getting limited supplies first while smaller jobs "will have to wait," said Ken Wilson, batch person for Norfolk's Hartland Concrete. In previous years customers could receive concrete

Victory celebrated at Wayne State

The Wayne State Foundation and Wayne State College alumni and friends will hold a victory celebration during homecoming weekend Saturday, Oct. 8, in Wayne to mark the successful completion of the $13.5 million Building Bright Futures campaign.

At the college's opening faculty meeting in late August, Dr. Donald Mash, Wayne State president, credited private fund raising and the additional revenues generated by the college's dramatic enrollment growth, as the "difference-makers" in the college's significant progress in recent years. Since 1988, full-time equivalent enrollment has increased 55 percent and dormitory occupancy is up 53 percent.

The Building Bright Futures campaign is the first time the college and the Foundation have undertaken a national comprehensive fund-raising effort.

Preparation began in 1989 with a needs assessment on campus followed by feasibility studies with alumni and friends in 31 locations around the country. The campaign goal had two parts: $5.5 million in cash gifts and cash pledges, and $8 million in estate commitments.

"Regardless of where they live now; our alumni and friends want to see the college and its service region thrive," says Dr. Mash.

"Because they know the college's work makes a significant difference for individuals, businesses and communities in our region, they responded with their gifts. They have made an investment in the future and the college is the vehicle to generate the return," he added.

Campaign funds are earmarked for scholarships, faculty development, campus physical enhancements and to strengthen the Wayne State Foundation's endowment. Among other activities, 38 fund-

Campus growth continues

Wayne State College has posted another fall enrollment gain with 4 percent more full time equivalent students than were enrolled in 1993.

The latest enrollment gain brings the six-year total enrollment increase to 55 percent, according to figures released by the college this week.

A total of 3,900 students are enrolled in Wayne State Classes this fall. The head count calculates to 3,150 full time equivalent (FTE) students when part time students are accounted for.

raising dinners were held in cities throughout Nebraska and around the country during the nearly two-and-one-half year period of the public portion of the campaign. The campaign was publicly kicked off in May of 1992.

Three special activities will be featured at the victory celebration's black-tie-optional dinner Oct. 8. They are the unveiling of a limited-edition bronze sculpture by Herb Mignery, a silent art auction and the premiere of the college's new

Courthouse elevator mulled

By Clara Osten
For the Herald

Wayne County Commissioners, seeking a less expensive alternative to a proposed $379,000 elevator, sought advice from a Lincoln architect at today's meeting.

Jerry Berggren of Berggren and Woll Architects was present to discuss various proposals to make the courthouse more accessible and remain within standards set forth by the State Fire Marshall.

Berggren had been retained last year to help the County deal with several pressing issues including compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act which mandates handicap accessibility for public buildings. In June of 1993, Berggren and Woll recommended an exterior elevator be added to the Courthouse and the cost at that time was estimated to be $379,000.

Three new proposals were presented to the commissioners at today's meeting. The first was some type of wheel chair or chair lift. "While this would probably be the least expensive, it might not meet the Fire Marshall's Standards," said Berggren.

Also proposed was a ramp on the west side of the courthouse that would lead to the second floor of the building. "The problem with this plan would be that it would be outside and subject to the weather. Also, at present, I have no estimate of cost," said Berggren.

Berggren recommended to the commissioners that an elevator be installed inside the building. Possible locations include adjacent to the present fire escape on the outside of the building. Drawbacks to this plan include the cost of construction and the problem of doors being open when handicapped persons needed to enter the building.

The location that received the most positive response was that of locating the elevator in the northwest corner of the building. Discussion included the fact that if an elevator is installed through the existing structure, less cost would be involved.

Berggren was asked to study the possibilities of locating the elevator in the northwest corner, including what would need to be done with items currently in this area and what, if anything, would need to be done in the way of electrical wiring. Berggren will return to the commissioners with his findings at the Nov. 15 commissioner's meeting.

In other business the commissioners approved adding a project to the One Year Plan to include the installation of a driveway culvert northwest of Wayne.

Auction

The 20-inch limited-edition sculpture will be number one of 100 and will be signed by Mignery. It will be auctioned at a special time during the evening.

Mignery will set up a studio in the old power plant building on campus to make a larger-than-life clay sculpture. The sculpture later will be cast in bronze and erected in what will be campaign-funded Heritage Plaza, to be constructed in the spring of 1995 in the center of campus. The plaza will be a gathering place for students, faculty and visitors.

The limited-editions are replicas of the larger sculpture. Guests at the victory celebration will have first opportunity to order other numbers of the limited-edition, in 12-inch, 20-inch and 36-inch sizes. Proceeds from the sales of the limited-editions will help fund renovation of the old power plant building into a studio arts facility.

Mignery grew up in the sandhills of western Nebraska and attended Wayne State from 1955-1959. He is one of America's foremost western artists and is among only a handful to be invited into the prestigious Cowboy Artists of America.

Faculty, students, alumni and friends have contributed their original works of art or items from their collections for the silent art auction. Among them is a cane sword, valued at $750, which was owned by John G. Neihardt, who was poet laureate of Nebraska and a graduate of Wayne State when it was a state normal school.

Other items include 14-carat gold handmade men's jewelry for formal wear, valued at $2,060; a six-foot tall abstract wooden sculpture valued at $4,000; and many paintings and drawings ranging in value from $40 to $1,000.

Reservations for the victory celebration are $30 per person or $50 per couple and can be made by contacting Wayne State Foundation, 402-375-7510.

An important indicator of the on-campus health of the college is the enrollment of students living in the dormitories. There are 90 more students (a six percent increase) living on-campus this fall compared to last fall. Dorm occupancy, which is now at capacity, has also increased dramatically over the last 6 years, climbing from 1,033 in 1988 to 1,585 today.

One of the reasons for the enrollment growth at the school has been the increased student scholarship aid made available through the Wayne State College Foundation, according to College President, Dr. Donald Mash.

Calling the foundation's fund-raising campaign "the difference maker," Mash said the private funding provided through the $13.5 million capital campaign was an indicator of the self-help aggressiveness of those associated with the college.

more fearful we are that her safety looks bleaker." Chase said the gun Anderson allegedly used to kidnap Kucera has not been found.

Family members and friends close to Laura say they fear the worst for her because she would have phoned someone by now if she was able. Anderson claims he does not know where she is at because after he dropped her off he drove home.

Anderson had already spent 14 days in the Dixon County Jail after violating a protection order against Kucera, recently. Kucera, however, was also given a protection order and told not to go near Anderson.

Wayne County Attorney Michael Pieper said charges against Brian Anderson are also pending in Wayne County in review of reports for violation of protection order against Laura Kucera after an incident, Wednesday in which police responded to a report of a car accident in Wayne involving both parties.

Kucera is the daughter of Dave and Mary Kucera of rural route Wakefield. The Dixon County Sheriff's Office would like anyone with information leading to the whereabouts of Laura Kucera to call 402-755-2255.

Courthouse pride

For untold years, the tower of our County Courthouse has been closed, depriving all but the courthouse maintenance workers of what must be a spectacular view of Wayne, America.

For all of its years, the entire Courthouse has been closed to those we call physically challenged.

And now the challenge of making this landmark accessible to all people, faces our commissioners. Although most of us never give a second thought to the business that may bring us to a courthouse, it is a shame that our greatest resource of public information is closed to anyone.

The commissioners, faced with spending hundreds of thousands of our tax dollars, proceed with caution as they seek an economically viable solution to our Americans with Disabilities Act problem. The money needed to provide access to all, has already accrued in the courthouse's maintenance accounts. An elevator, which would serve all citizens should be installed now. Let's do the work and proceed with making our courthouse the pride of Wayne County.

Debunking the weatherlore myths

Looking back on my calendar, I see the first cicadas were singing in the Wayne area on August 4.

If you believe the folklore that says frost will arrive within six weeks of the cicadas first song, that means we should have had a frost on Sept. 15. The low temperature that day was 64, the high was 92. So much for folklore.

The law of averages says we aren't due for frost for another week or more. The cicadas are full of pond scum. Where do they get off trying to deceive us like that? They must have taken lessons from the woolly worms.

I saw a dark colored woolly worm the other day. According to weatherlore, dark colored worms are supposed to mean a harsh winter. I saw one last summer too, and the summer before that and the summer before that. Some would say last winter was harsh, but I've seen worse and the winters of two and three years ago certainly did not live up to the woolly worms' dire predictions.

But the squirrels seem inordinately active this fall. Maybe that is a sign. Using these signs to try to predict the winter reminds me of the old, oft-told story in western Nebraska about the early ranchers who were worried about whether they would have enough hay to get their livestock through the winter.

After putting up the first cutting, they decided they would climb the ridge to ask the old Indian chief whose lodge overlooked their valley if he had read any signs that indicated what kind of winter the region would experience.

The chief scratched his chin and replied, "Uhhmm, might be bad, but too early to tell."

The ranchers returned to their valley and decided to be safe they should put up extra hay. After the second cutting they returned to the old Indian and asked if there were any new signs. "Uhhmm, look bad, much snow, very cold," he told them.

Concerned about their ability to weather the coming weather, they returned to the ranch and set about to put up even more hay and feed. They added to their stocks of firewood. They rechecked their cabin and laid in extra food supplies.

Feeling confident they were prepared for the worst, the ranchers returned to the old Indian sitting forlornly by his fire. "Does it still look like we're in for a bad winter?" they asked.

"Uhhmm," he replied. "To be worst winter ever. Many blizzard. Few survive," was his newest prediction.

Worried that they still might be unprepared, the ranchers asked the Indian what signs he used to arrive at his disastrous forecast.

"Uhhmm, look over valley. See white man put up much feed..."

The way I see it, predictions are wrong a large percentage of the time, whether they are made by woolly worms, old Indians, cicadas, squirrels, meteorologists, Old Farmers Almanacs, mystics and other prognosticators. But they are wrong almost 100 percent of the time when made by newspaper editors.

Lois and Larry Yoakum, late of Wayne, who were active in the Chicken Show movement here before relocating to Kentucky, called recently to report checking out the competition.

Chicken Show competition that is.

They attended the International Chicken Festival in London, Ky. a couple weeks ago and reported it pales in comparison to the fun of the Wayne Chicken Show. London's claim to chicken fame apparently rests with the fact that Col. Sanders began his Kentucky Fried Chicken empire there.

Though the crowds were in attendance and food was abundant at the Kentucky festival, Lois reported she saw no fun events like the egg drop, chicken calling contest and Cluck-off.

A big hit at the festival this year was a couple of former Nebraskans walking around in Wayne Chicken Show t-shirts.

Lois said she and Larry were approached by many Kentuckians asking them where they got their neat Chicken Show t-shirts they were wearing. They had seen nothing like that in Kentucky before.

Those folks apparently need to lighten up. We should send a delegation down there to show them what a chicken celebration is all about...

...a delegation lead by the Chickendales.

Property tax revolt is brewing

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — It never fails; if you want to start an argument, particularly in rural Nebraska, mention property taxes.

My father, a country boy who made good in the big city, still gets peeved when you start mentioning the property taxes he pays on our family farm.

In Lincoln, a revolt is brewing about spending on local schools and the resulting property tax burden that creates.

All across the state, people complain about property taxes as much as the weather and the national ranking of the Nebraska football team.

By the way, only the football team ranks higher nationally than this state's reliance on property taxes.

With that in mind and sensing that another petition drive to limit government spending is looming, several Lincoln-based groups have been meeting over the summer to come up with solutions.

Thus far, some pretty old ideas are being dusted off for another run up the flagpole.

Two committees, one formed by Gov. Nelson and the other by the Nebraska State Education Association and the Nebraska Farm Bureau, have been advocating a shift of several governmental services off of the property tax rolls.

The governor's committee has thus far recommended a shift of $118 million worth of programs: the special education programs mandated on local schools, the community colleges dotting the state, and Educational Service Units (ESUs) that were set up to help schools consolidate services and cut costs.

An alphabet soup of other agencies are also being targeted for shifts, from the busing costs of schools to the costs of prosecuting and defending criminals in district courts.

Such court costs have nearly bankrupted some counties;

Richardson County, for instance, and its huge bill for paying attorneys to defend the Rulo cult murderers.

The NSEA/Farm Bureau group has set a goal of presenting at least $300 million in tax shifts to the Legislature next session. That would be about one-fifth of all the property taxes levied on its poor taxpayers, and an amount that would clearly show up on the annual tax bill.

This all sounds good. The trouble is, these are "tax shifts" and not "tax reductions." Shifting the funding of these operations to the state will mean higher sales or income taxes, or an expanded sales tax. Hello tax on food or a tax on services.

Some folks would rather pay the piper through taxes on their earnings or purchases rather than the size of their backyard or bungalow — that's fine — but such tax shifts usually result in higher total taxes, not lower.

Something has to be done. Angry taxpayers across the nation, Michigan in particular, have thrown out property taxes in lieu of a fairer mix of taxes.

Nebraskans nearly had a chance to vote on a similar measure in this fall's election, but a petition drive failed after an 11th hour increase in the signature requirement.

Nothing seems to be getting voters too excited in this fall's election, but if something doesn't happen with property taxes, we'll see those complaints turn into angry action.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Financial situation plagues our nation

Dear Editor:

Our nation is in very deep trouble on many fronts. Our financial situation is desperate... we are bankrupt and by all measures, that is a state of desperation. Our government can no longer pay its bills... can only monetize its debt (print funny money) for just so long before the world financial community blows the whistle, and, to make it worse, we are rapidly approaching the stage where we will no longer be able to borrow to cover our payments on the interest, never mind the principal of our national debt.

Our social infrastructure is being crushed by the weight of endless social programs, most of which are useless at best and grossly destructive of our society at worst. Our taxpayers are providing financial assistance for half of the Globe and are going without many family and business needs in order to do so.

Our schools are turning out very well indoctrinated, but miserably poorly educated citizens, so poorly educated, in fact, that the SAT and ACT tests are having to be reformed. That means that the potential college student's scores have dropped so low that those in charge have had to lower the scoring methods in order to hide the true facts. We will now be told that our schools are doing very well, indeed, in their goal of educating our people. It won't be true, but the newly normed scoring system will make it appear to be true.

Our citizens are being taxed so excessively that many families no longer have a parent left at home to keep the home fires burning. The children are running amok and destroying everything they can get their hands on while both parents are out working in order to be able to pay local, state and federal taxes which will be used for the benefit of everyone and everything except the beleaguered taxpayer.

Does this mean that America is finished... that we are only waiting for the final bell to toll? Is it over... this country which has been the cradle of liberty, the hope of humanity? Does this mean that our enemies, those whom we have nurtured at our bosom, those who were

Even youngsters have some worries

Summer sunlight shimmered on the lake reflecting on two pre-teens idly spending their afternoon in profound conversation, their fishing lines luring underwater life.

"Do you ever worry much 'bout goin' home without catch'n anything?"

"Oh yeah! I worry 'bout a whole bunch of things."

"You too? Like what?"

You know, like what might happen if the sky would suddenly break in two?

"Wow! When I went to bed last night I got to think'n 'bout what if the rainbow would tip over!"

And here's somethin' else! Suppose all the birds forgot to teach the baby birds how to fly, and they'd have to walk!

"Awesome! Did you ever wonder where the birds hide during a bad wind storm?"

No, but I saw a worried squirrel shimmy up a limb in a storm. Lightning was right behind him! The limb broke off, but he just scampered back up the tree.

"Dad says lightning is dangerous! I wonder why you couldn't save a bolt of lightning in a jar?"

"Wait! I've got a bite!"

"Pull!"

It got away! Fish are mighty smart. A computer game I've got says fish sometimes swim in schools. Bet we've got a better school than they do.

"Do you suppose they have cranky teachers?"

Naw, 'cause if they did, they'd probably have to stay after school and miss the bus.

"Wouldn't it be neat if fish would all swim right over here and jump up on the shore! Would my dad's eyes ever bug out when I brought home a whopper!"

Wish our dads could have come along. Dads are funny. They're always busy, but say they never have the time when you want them to do something.

"Yeah, like last night. I asked dad to watch me play ball, but he was too tired. I wonder where all that tired goes by morning? He sure tears around in the morning. Hardly eats breakfast."

My dad too. Sometimes I wish the clocks would suddenly all just go in reverse!

"Specially when we're havin' fun! Maybe I could go back in time and ride a dinosaur."

See those fluffy clouds? I'd like to go lasso that big one an' gallop all over the whole universe!

"Ain't summer neat! So many things to think about!"

If there just wasn't all the worries.

"But wait 'til we grow up, and we won't have any worries!"
Yeah! Like our folks!

Stoney for Senate

Dear Editor:

What are you going to vote for on Nov. 8? Do you support a balanced budget amendment, line item veto for the president, a capital gains tax reduction, term limits for congress, increased tax deductions for families with children and less government regulation?

"Wait a minute, these are issues, they're not on the ballot!"

Wanna bet? Jan Stoney for U.S. Senate.

Red Cross meeting set to save chapter

A meeting has been called to reorganize the Wayne County Red Cross chapter. The informational meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Oct. 27 at the Mineshaft Mall.

Bob Kelly regional field service manager for the Red Cross from Omaha told the Wayne Herald the local Red Cross chapter would be disbanded if new interest is not shown in volunteers for its board of directors.

Kelly said approximately 20 local Red Cross chapters in Nebraska have been closed in recent months because of board inactivity. He said Wayne's board has been inactive in recent years and is on the bubble if new volunteers do not come forward.

The meeting on Oct. 27 will inform potential volunteers about the different service roles of Red Cross which provides disaster relief and community services as well as fund raising for national and international disaster relief.

For information about the upcoming meeting, local residents may call Mary Nichols at 375-1922 (work) or 375-1950 (home).

NO! They have not won the war! They have only won the first battle! They would not have won even that battle had Americans rallied to the cause of liberty!

Can Americans, all Americans, fight and win in this battle for our native land? No, there are those in our country who cannot fight because they have no faith in our people, in our system of government, in our Constitution, in the rightness of our goals.

Only those Americans who know that we haven't lost it yet, those whose courage is strong and whose faith is powerful, can and

Don't tell me that we can't do it! I know we can. I know America. I know Americans, real Americans. Allen team wins at penning

The Dixon County Cowboys, a team from Allen, Neb., finished the 1994 team penning competition as the top point champions in the state with 1,904 points compared to 1,781 scored by Golden Sun Feeds team from Valparaiso.

As the top point scorers, the team made up of Gary Gregg and Don and Kirk Cunningham, received championship trophy belt buckles for their season performance.

The team penning contest involves three-person teams on horseback sorting designated cattle from a herd and "penning" them in a small holding pen. Competition is based on time. Each team's time starts when the first member of the team has crossed the starting line and the field judge has indicated the start by dropping a flag. The team must sort from the herd those cattle (marked by numbers) that have been assigned to them. Once sorted, the cattle are brought to the holding pen, driven inside and the gate is closed. Time is taken when the field judge determines the gate is closed and signals by dropping the flag.

The championship penning held Sept. 24 in Grand Island closed the season that included more pennings and participants than ever before.

100 teams in 46 Nebraska Cattlemen sanctioned contests. The 30 teams which traveled to Grand Island qualified for the finals by placing in local NC-sanctioned contests. They were awarded "dollar points" (one point for each dollar won from the jackpot funded by entry fees) and points were accumulated throughout the season.

The Nebraska Cattlemen association serves as the spokesman for the state's beef cattle industry and represents nearly 5,000 cattle breeders, ranchers and feeders, as well as 50 county and local cattle-men's association.

But he added he has heard reports of delays as much as a year on road and building projects in the Omaha area because

Rainfall plays catchup

After playing catchup in the annual precipitation derby most of the year, September's rainfall of 4.19 inches has brought the area to very near the normal rainfall total. Last year's soggy summer which delayed many construction projects has also been blamed in part for the increased demand this year.

Wayne City construction permits issued this summer totaled more than $7.2 million, a dramatic increase from $2.7 million in 1992. Last year $6.7 million in construction permits were issued in the city.

September normally delivers 2.91 inches of rainfall but this year was 1.28 inches above average, reports Patrick Gross, official Wayne weather observer. To date this year, 21.85 inches of precipitation have fallen in Wayne compared to a normal 22.59 inch average for the period. That leaves us only 3/4 of an inch short of average to date.

The high temperature in September was 92 recorded on both the 14th and 15th.

The low for the month was 37 degrees recorded on the 27th.

Domestic abuse targeted in Oct. awareness effort

October has been designated National Domestic Violence Awareness Month by President Clinton. Across America, survivors and crisis agencies are encouraging the public to take time to learn about the impact of domestic violence on families in our communities. Haven House of Wayne, the local crisis agency in Wayne, has planned several activities to promote awareness of domestic violence during October.

One activity, entitled A Day of Unity, will be held on Thursday at the Wayne State College Student Center in the Nebraska Room beginning at 10 a.m.

Speakers, distribution of awareness ribbons and stickers and a display of the Nebraska Clothesline Project will be part of this event.

Ann Hoeschler, Training Specialist for the Nebraska Domestic Violence/Sexual Assault Coalition out of Lincoln will lead a dynamic discussion on domestic violence and how it affects children.

A panel discussion on "Legal Enforcement Response to Domestic Violence" will feature Scott Ford, chief of police, South Sioux City; Elliot Arens, Cedar County sheriff; Thad Trooper, patrolman, Wayne Police Department. Moderator will be Dr. Paul Campbell, Wayne State College.

A second panel discussion will be on "Legal Response to Domestic Violence." Panelists will be District Judge Robert Ensz and Mike Pieper, Wayne County attorney. The moderator will be Laura Barelman, Wayne State College instructor who is also an attorney. This event is free of charge and open to the public.

Other awareness activities planned by Haven House are Domestic Violence Awareness displays at all area libraries, including the Conn Library at Wayne State College.

Conn Library will feature a display of the Nebraska Clothesline Project throughout the month of October. The Clothesline Project is a visual display that bears witness to the violence against women in the state of Nebraska. Each shirt hung is decorated to represent a particular woman's experience with violence, by the survivor or someone who cares about her.

Through the generosity of G & L Enterprises of Wayne, 2500 Domestic Violence Awareness flyers have been distributed in our area. Tau Kappa Epsilon has also distributed several hundred flyers for the Day of Unity and Domestic Violence Awareness Month on the WSC campus and in Wayne.

The Haven House agency will have purple ribbons available for the public. The color purple symbolizes life and freedom for those no longer living with violence.

Haven House invites the communities of Northeast Nebraska to join in "reaching toward a non-violent future" for our children and families this month. For more information about Domestic Violence Awareness Month, please call 375-4633.

Philp-Manning wed in garden ceremony

Kathryn Philp of Columbus and Barry Manning of Los Angeles, Calif., were married in the garden at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James Robert Philp in Bellevue, Wash. on Saturday, Aug. 6. The afternoon ceremony was officiated by Tony Barone of Kirkland, Wash.

Parents of the couple are Kathryn and James Philp of Bellevue, Wash. and Barbara and Larry Manning of Gardena, Calif. The bride's mother is formerly Kathryn Sandahl, sister of Vivienne Hugelman and Priscilla Eaton of Wakefield.

Matron of honor was Kristin Birnbaum, sister of the bride, of Columbus, Ohio. Best man was Intae Myong, longtime friend of the groom, of Denver, Colo. Flower girl was Harmony Hopkins, niece of the groom, of Gardena, Calif.

The ceremony, written by the bride and groom, included music performed by friends of the couple. Erl Barone and Andy McConnell sang "Tomorrow Night" with guitar and harmonica accompaniment. Karen Skrinde sang "Grow Old With Me," accompanied by Omar Rane on guitar.

The bride wore a white, off the shoulder, silk shantung gown, accented by silk roses on the shoulder and back with a veil to match. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The matron of honor and flower girl wore elegant attire in taupe, white and dusty rose to complement the bride's colors. The groom and best man wore black tuxedos.

The ceremony was followed by a dinner reception also held in the garden of the Philp residence. Live jazz guitar was selected as background music for the reception.

The couple continued their celebration with other family members at the Sandahl family reunion held in Denver, followed by a honeymoon in Hawaii.

The bride currently is a personal banking officer at US Bank of Oregon and the groom is a transportation planner for the Port of Portland. They reside in Portland, Ore.

Why is there confusion on discipline?

QUESTION: Why is there so much confusion on the subject of discipline today? Is it really that difficult to raise our children properly?

DR. DOBSON: Parents are confused because they have been taught an illogical, unworkable approach to child management by many professionals who ought to know better.

Child development authorities have muddled the water with permissive philosophies that contradict the very nature of children. Let me cite an example:

Growing Pains is a question-and-answer book for parents, published by the American Academy of Pediatrics (a division of the American Medical Association). The following question, written by a parent, is quoted in the book, along with the answer provided by the pediatrician:

CHILD SLAMS DOOR IN PARENTS' FACE

Question: What does one do when an angry child slams a door in one's face?

Answer: Step back. Then do nothing until you have reason to believe that the child's anger has cooled off. Trying to reason with an angry person is like hitting your head against a stone wall.

When the child is in a good mood, explain to him how dangerous door-slaming can be. Go so far as to give a description of how a person can lose a finger from a slammed door. Several talks of this sort are generally enough to cure a door-slammer.

How inadequate is this reply, from my point of view. The writer failed to recognize that the door-slaming behavior was not the real issue in this situation. To the contrary, the child was demonstrating his defiance of parental authority, and for that he should have been held accountable.

Instead, the parent is told to wait until the child is in a good mood (which could be next Thursday), and then talk about the dangers of door-slaming. It seems too clear that the child was begging his mom to accept his challenge, but she was in the other room counting to 10 and keeping cool. And let's all wish her lots of luck on the next encounter.

As I've stated, the great givers of parental advice have failed to offer a course of action to be applied in response to willful defiance. In the situation described above, for example, what is Mom supposed to do until Junior cools off? What if he calls her dirty names and whacks his little sister across the mouth?

Dr. Dobson

Answers Your Questions

You see, the only tool given to Mom by the writer above is postponed reason. And as every mother knows, reason is practically worthless in response to anger and disrespect.

QUESTION: Permissiveness is a relative term. What does it mean to you?

DR. DOBSON: When I use the term permissiveness, I refer to the absence of effective parental authority, resulting in a lack of boundaries for the child. This word represents childish disrespect, defiance and the general confusion that occurs in the absence of adult leadership.

QUESTION: Do you think parents are now beginning to value discipline more? Is the day of permissiveness over?

DR. DOBSON: Parents who tried extreme permissiveness have seen its failure, for the most part. Unfortunately those parents will soon be grandparents, and the world will profit little from their experience.

What worries me most is the kind of discipline that will be exercised by the generation now reaching young adulthood. Many of these new parents have never seen good discipline exercised. They have no model.

Besides, in many cases, they have severed themselves from the best source of information, vowing that anyone over 30 cannot be trusted. It will be interesting to see what develops from this blind date between Mother and Baby.

Public invited to hear Masters at WSC

William H. Masters, M.D., director of the Masters and Johnson Institute in St. Louis, Mo., will present "Sexual Myths and Misconceptions" at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 12 in Wayne State College's Rice Auditorium. The public is invited.

Masters began his study of reproductive biology at the University of Rochester School of Medicine where he received his M.D. in 1943. Early in his career, Masters resolved to focus on the study of human sexual activity, but was advised by a colleague to first establish himself in a different field, gain the support of a respected university and acquire a strong scientific reputation before entering the controversial area of human sexuality.

Masters followed this advice by conducting extensive research into reproductive biology, focusing on hormone replacement, sexual function and aging and solutions to the problems of infertility.

He is a Professor Emeritus of Clinical Obstetrics and Gynecology on the faculty of Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis where his research began. In 1981, he was named a Lecturer in Human Sexuality in Psychiatry at Washington University School of Medicine.

In 1954, Masters began his preliminary studies into human sexuality. In 1957, he was joined by Virginia E. Johnson, who provided the needed female perspective in observing and analyzing the physiology of sexual response. Together they wrote the landmark medical texts "Human Sexual Response" and "Human Sexual Inadequacy."

Although written in medical terminology, both books became popular bestsellers, emphasizing the paucity of information on sexuality available to the general public at the time. Their subsequent books include "The Pleasure Bond," "Homosexuality in Perspective," "Ethical Issues in Sex Therapy and Research," "Crisis: Heterosexual Behavior in the Age of AIDS," and "On Sex and Human Loving."

With Johnson and other colleagues at the Masters and Johnson Institute, Masters has published over 200 scientific papers and 16 books. His most recent books are "Biological Foundations of Human Sexuality" and "Heterosexuality."

Years of research and observation helped Masters and his colleagues determine the physiologic basis of sexual response and provided insight into behavioral and other etiological sources associated with sexual dysfunction and disorders troubling many couples.

From this they developed an innovative, intensive, two-week therapy model and methodology to help alleviate sexual problems and their related effects on relationships. Adaptations of this model of psychotherapy for sex-related problems are now widely used throughout the country.

Masters is a member of the medical staff at various St. Louis hospitals. He has been a certified member of the American Association of Sex Educators, Counselors and Therapists since 1975, and is a member of numerous professional societies and numerous honorary societies.

Nonprescription Pain Reliever Can Cause Gas

Intestinal gas is so common that one in five Americans self-medicates for this problem at least once each month. Gas may be caused by conscious and unconscious air swallowing and eating foods such as cabbage and beans that ferment in the intestine. Several prescription medicines also can cause gas. The popular over-the-counter pain reliever ibuprofen also has been implicated as a gas producer. Ibuprofen is sold under many brand names including Advil and Nuprin.

Stopping medicine use is one approach to dealing with gas caused by a medicine. However, this is not always possible. Over-the-counter products containing simethicone are available to help control gas. It helps gas bubbles come together so that they can be belched or passed as flatus. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration considers simethicone safe and effective for use with gas.

Marian Venteicher had a Cataract.

She had No-Stitch Cataract Surgery.

We lived on a farm northeast of Osmond when we first started seeing Dr. Feidler. That was when he first came to Norfolk more than 20 years ago. A lot of my friends come to Dr. Feidler.

I have a daughter-in-law who is a surgical nurse at a cataract hospital in Texas. All they do is cataracts. I called her and she made me feel better. A lot of my friends had cataract surgery and they told me what it was like. I was still a little apprehensive because I have some health problems and I didn't know what I was getting into. But I got along alright.

I have a lot of confidence in Dr. Feidler. He just makes you feel that way. I've been going to him for so many years and I know he does what he can for his patients. I was well satisfied, they took really good care of me. We're taking a trip to California. When we get back I'm going to have the other eye done."

Wildcats rip through Wesleyan

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Wayne State football team broke open a close game at halftime with Iowa Wesleyan, Saturday at Memorial Field to win going away, 40-17, improving Dennis Wagner's squad to 4-1 on the season.

The 'Cats went into the locker room at the intermission with just a three point lead, 20-17. "We knew it was going to be a tough football game," Wagner said. "Iowa Wesleyan has a good football team. I don't think they'll lose another game the rest of the season."

Wesleyan managed to stay close to WSC in the first half, thanks in part to a pair of blocked punts which set the visitors up with a short field. "We put ourselves in a tough situation giving their offense a couple opportunities to score deep in our territory," Wagner said. "We can't afford to do that."

The 'Cats got things going on offense immediately, as Lamont Rainey plunged over from one yard out at the 11:13 mark of the opening stanza for a quick 7-0 lead.

Wesleyan answered late in the first quarter on a 10-yard run by quarterback Ronnie Ashton but the extra point attempt failed leaving WSC with a 7-6 lead. Rainey darted in from seven yards out for the second of his four touchdowns in the game with just over a half-minute remaining in the first quarter.

Early in the second quarter Ashton scored the second of his two touchdowns on another 10-yard run and he also ran for the two-point conversion to tie the game at 14 but just 39 seconds later Byron Chamberlain took a reverse handoff from Hendershot and broke loose for a 31-yard touchdown run.

Wesleyan's final score came on a 28-yard field goal to make it a 20-17 halftime score but the second half was all WSC. Rainey scored two touchdowns in the first seven minutes of the third quarter on runs of 10 and 1 yards and Lamart

Cooper caught a 21-yard scoring strike from Ray Powers late in the fourth quarter to account for the scoring.

"We turned in a strong all-around performance," Wagner said. "Right now, however, I'm concerned with our special teams play. Teams are continuing to kick away from us and our kickoff team did an excellent job of kicking the ball deep but our punt team did not do such a good job."

The offense and defense of WSC turned in another stellar performance as the highly prolific offense rolled up over 500 yards with 245 coming on the ground and 281 through the air.

Lamont Rainey ran for 140 yards and Jason Williams rushed for 64 to lead the ground attack while Hendershot and Powers combined to go 24-42 with one interception and 281 yards with one touchdown.

Hendershot played the first half and former starter Ray Powers came out and started the second half after missing the last eight quarters of football because of an injury to his foot.

"Our game plan was to switch quarterbacks at the half," Wagner said. "Ray is our starter and you don't lose that position because you are injured. Obviously if Jared was having a fantastic outing we wouldn't have changed but we felt the game wouldn't be hindered if we did."

Byron Chamberlain was the leading receiver in the game with eight receptions for 97 yards while Jerry Garrett caught seven passes for 43 yards.

Defensively, the 'Cats held Wesleyan to just 51 yards rushing and 258 yards total. "The defense played solid as a unit," Wagner said. "We felt at the beginning of the season this could be one of our best defensive teams ever with out having a big name player like a Brad Outis."

Jon Adkisson led the defensive charge with 14 tackles while Jeff Lutt had eight-and-a-half with a half-sack to his credit. Jason McIntyre finished with seven tackles and Robert McConico had six while Dion Johnson finished with five-and-a-half with 1 1/2 sacks to his credit.

Sean Francisco had five tackles in the game while Brian Clausen, Scott Eisenhauer and Maurice Arrington had four each. Eisenhauer also had a quarterback sack and Zach Toms intercepted a pass.

The victory celebration over Iowa Wesleyan will be short, however, as WSC must now focus to play rival Kearney on Homecoming Saturday at Memorial Field.

The Lopers lost their first game of the season, Saturday at home to Western New Mexico, 48-35. "This will be a big game for both teams," Wagner said. "Defensively, they have played well all season and they also have a strong offense with some big players. The key to the game will be turnovers and execution. A mistake from either team could be the difference in the game."

The Lopers defense is led by former Wayne High football stand-out Matt Bruggeman who returns home Saturday as the leading tackler for the Lopers with 43 including six tackles behind the line of scrimmage and two fumble recoveries.

Wayne loses in triple overtime

JOSH STARZL looks for additional help in gaining yardage from his quarterback Ryan Pick during action last Friday night in Wayne. The Blue Devils fell to 3-2 with the upset loss to West Point and will host O'Neill, Friday in the final home game.

Laurel gridders still perfect after blasting rival Pierce

Tom Luxford expressed some concern heading into last Friday's home contest with Pierce if his team could play with a much bigger team in the Bluejays.

The answer was yes and the Bears did it with speed in a 39-7 blowout. Junior running back Jeff Wattier, arguably the fastest high school runner in Northeast Nebraska took the opening kickoff and rambled 90 yards to give his Bears a quick 6-0 lead and with the exception of a 14-yard fumbled punt return for a score late in the first quarter, Pierce was never in the ball game.

Wattier added to his first score with a 13-yard scoring run on the Bears next possession to give Laurel a 12-0 lead before the Bears fumbled a swing pass that resulted in an easy score for the Bluejays.

Wattier scored his third touchdown of the night early in the second quarter when he broke loose from 22 yards out and Todd Arens closed out the first half with a seven-yard scoring run for a 25-7 intermission cushion.

Cody Carstensen darted in from three yards out in the third quarter and the final score for the Bears came in the fourth quarter on a 33-yard pass from Tyler Erwin to Jared Reinoehl.

The victory left the third-rated Bears perfect after five weeks of the season but Luxford was cautious about over-celebrating the win. "We have a huge game this week that we can not afford to overlook," Luxford said. The Bears will travel to play the second rated Bloomfield Bees, Friday.

"We played a superb football game in every aspect," Luxford said. "I was told it was the worst loss a Pierce team has ever suffered against a Laurel team. The kids had a great week of practice and we played exactly the way we had hoped. We need to have that same intensity and performance this week."

Luxford said the win over Pierce was a monumental win for the Bears program. The Bears ran up and down the field all night, tallying nearly 400 yards of total offense while holding the Bluejays to under 100.

Wattier sprinted for 136 yards on 16 carries while Carstensen had 52 yards on nine attempts. Erwin was 7-16 through the air with one interception and 170 yards. Jared Reinoehl had a marvelous night receiving with four catches for 138 yards while Jeremy Reinoehl had two catches for 22.

Defensively, Kody Urwiler led the way with a dozen tackles while Dustin Ankeny had eight. Eric Abts had six tackles and a fumble recovery and Ryan Kvolis finished with six tackles. Jared Reinoehl had five stops and a fumble recovery.

"Our kids really deserved this big win," Luxford said. "I'm really proud of them and I'm real proud to be their coach."

The Wayne High football team etched their names in the record books last Friday but the outcome of the 1994 homecoming game with West Point was not a happy one.

The Blue Devils played in their first triple overtime contest but it was the Cadets who prevailed, 27-21. The game ended in regulation tied at seven. "It was a very disappointing loss for us," Wayne coach Lonnie Ehrhardt said. "In the first place, we feel the game shouldn't have even went into overtime because we had our chances to win it in regulation but failed."

Wayne had an 18-play drive late in the fourth quarter but failed to score. The Blue Devils were on the five-yard line and faced a third down and goal situation. A delay of game call was whistled on Wayne putting the ball back to the 10-yard line and on the ensuing play quarterback Ryan Pick was sacked which left field goal kicker Anders Lundsgaard looking at an attempt of nearly 40 yards rather than a 22-yard try if Wayne hadn't received the penalty or the sack.

"This is a situation where we feel we won the battle but lost the war," Ehrhardt said. "We had two other scoring opportunities in the second quarter but didn't convert."

Wayne scored in the first quarter when Josh Starzl sprinted in from three yards out. Lundsgaard converted the point after kick and the score remained 7-0 until the third quarter when West Point scored on a three-yard run.

Wayne got the ball first in overtime and scored on a 12-yard pass from Ryan Pick to Jason Carr but West Point answered with another three-yard scoring run.

In the second overtime West Point got the ball first and the Cadets scored on a one-yard dive. Wayne answered when Pick scored from a yard out sending the game into a third overtime.

Wayne got the ball first and failed to score on three downs. Anders Lundsgaard attempted a field goal but it missed. West Point came back and on third down and five, completed a pass into the endzone to end the game. At the end of the second overtime Ehrhardt said the thought of going for the two-point conversion never entered the minds of the coaches.

"We were confident that we would win the game in the next overtime," Ehrhardt said. "We never considered going for two."

Wayne out-yarded the visitors, 260-173 and the Blue Devils didn't commit any turnovers. Josh Starzl ran for 94 yards on 21 carries to lead Wayne's ground attack while Dusty Jensen had 17 carries for 72 yards.

Pick was 9-13 in passing for 61 yards with Jason Carr catching three balls for 19 yards while Josh Starzl and Jason Starzl each caught two passes.

Defensively, Dusty Jensen dominated with 18 tackles while Josh Starzl had seven. Brian Fernau finished with five tackles, a fumble recovery and a blocked punt while Jeremiah Rethwisch, Nick Vanhorn and Jason Carr each had six tackles.

Wayne will look to break its two-game losing streak on Friday when they play O'Neill in the final home contest of the season.

Allen gains first win

The Allen football team erased the goose egg from their win column last Friday with a 40-22 victory over winless Wynot in Allen.

The contest did not start off in the host team's favor, however, as Wynot built a quick 14-0 lead but the Eagles responded and soared back, scoring 40 unanswered points before the visitors got a late touchdown.

"We finally got our running game going," Allen coach Warren Jensen said. "We didn't start off playing that badly but we kept shooting ourselves in the foot with mistakes."

The Eagles had some costly penalties and turnovers that thwarted early drives but things got untracked in the second quarter when David McCorkindale broke loose on a 69-yard scoring run. Craig Philbrick added a late second quarter score on a 36-yard run and the score was tied at 14 at the break.

Aaron Thompson plunged over from one yard out in the third quarter and he ran for the two-point conversion for a 22-14 Allen lead. Philbrick scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter on a five-yard run and a 19-yard run and Brett Sachau closed out the scoring with a two-yard run. Wynot's final score came on a seven-yard run.

Allen amassed 331 rushing yards and nearly 380 total yards while holding Wynot to 169 total yards. McCorkindale rushed for 203 yards on 24 carries and Philbrick gained 102 yards on 14 attempts.

Mike Blohm was on the receiving end of both Allen pass completions for 48 yards. Defensively, Allen was led by Craig Philbrick's 22 tackles while Josh Snyder had 13 and McCorkindale, 11. Blohm had an interception and Scott Williams recovered a fumble for the 1-4 Eagles who travel to play Walthill, Friday.

Trojans improve to 4-1 with 35-12 victory

Wakefield cruises past Homer

The Wakefield Trojans football team improved to 4-1 last Friday with a homecoming thrashing of Homer, 35-12.

Head coach Dennis Wilbur said in defense of Homer they were a little banged up. "They had some kids out with injuries and two others were out because they were sick," Wilbur said. "They just simply had a lack of numbers."

Wakefield jumped on the visitors early with two, first quarter scores including a 26-yard interception return for a touchdown by Cory Brown on a very athletic play and the other on a 15-yard run by Brown.

Matt Peterson gave the host Trojans a comfortable 21-0 lead at the half after a six-yard touchdown catch from Justin Dutcher. Wakefield very nearly went into the half with a four touchdown lead when Cory Brown blocked a Homer punt and the ball was caught in the air by a Trojan.

In the excitement of catching the blocked punt the Wakefield runner got tangled up with some of his teammates and he fell to the ground on about the 10-yard line with no time remaining on the clock.

Matt Gustafson gave Wakefield a 23-0 lead in the third quarter when he tackled the Homer quarterback in the endzone for a safety. Later in the same stanza, Brown broke loose from 26 yards out. Dutcher closed out the scoring on a one-yard plunge in the fourth quarter.

Homer's two scores came after they were trailing, 35-0 on an 18-yard pass play and a seven-yard run. The Trojans rolled up 266 rushing yards and 85 passing yards while holding Homer to 106 total yards.

Brown ran for 180 yards on 18 attempts while Lance Jacobsen had eight rushes for 51 yards. Dutcher was 10-19 through the air with one interception and 85 yards.

Todd Gilliland was the leading receiver with three catches for 23 yards while Matt Kucera had two receptions for 15 yards. Defensively, Cory Brown led the show with 16 total tackles and an interception. Justin Macklin had eight tackles and two fumble recoveries while Lance Jacobsen had eight tackles and an interception. Matt

Kucera also had eight tackles and Ryan Hoffman had a fumble recovery.

Wakefield will seek its fifth win of the season on Friday when they host Ponca.

Unbeaten Wildcats host 4-1 Wausa, Friday

Winside garners 45-point win

Winside's football team quietly improved to a perfect 4-0 last Friday night with a 45-0 blowout of Walthill. The Wildcats moved into the D-1 rankings last week in the 10th spot but coach Randy Geier says things are about to get tough.

"We're enjoying the success we've had so far this year but we know it's going to get tougher," Geier said. "We have to play a very good Wausa team this Friday who will come in with a 4-1 record and then there's Beemer and Newcastle yet."

Still, the Wildcats to this point are over-whelming, especially to the opposition. In four games, Winside has played just one complete game with the rest ending early because of the 45-point rule. Friday's game at Walthill ended with nearly five minutes left to go in the third quarter.

The only game that went the distance was the Coleridge contest and that nearly ended in a 45-point demolition but the Wildcats settled for the 52-12 victory over a highly-rated Bulldogs team in Coleridge.

Winside's defense has allowed just 24 points in four games while the offense is averaging nearly 50 points per outing. Friday's game in Walthill saw the visitors take a 26-0 lead in the first quarter as Robert Wittler hit Jaimie Holdorf on a 35-yard scoring pass to start the ball rolling.

Colby Jensen scored on a three-yard run and Jeremy Barg rambled in from 30 yards out before Wittler hit Jason Wylie on a three-yard pass to end the first period.

Wittler threw his third touchdown pass of the night early in the second quarter as he connected with Wylie from 27 yards. Landon Grothe closed out the first half scoring with a 19-yard run for a 39-0 halftime cushion. Grothe then ended the game at the 4:39 mark of the third quarter on a 25-yard run.

"We're happy with our whole team effort," Geier said. "There was no individual standouts but everybody did their job and we accomplished our goal of winning."

Landon Grothe led the Wildcats ground attack with 60 yards, on seven carries after coming off the bench in a reserve role while Robert Wittler was 6-9 through the air for 118 yards. Holdorf caught four balls for 88 yards and Wylie caught the other two for 30.

Defensively, Jeff Bruggeman led the way with seven tackles and a fumble recovery and Josh Jaeger had six tackles. Landon Grothe and Greg Mundil each had fumble recoveries and Wylie intercepted a Walthill pass.

Winside's rushing defense held Walthill to a minus 13 yards on 29 carries and a total offensive output of 32 yards.

Wayne volleyballers suffer disappointing setback at Randolph

The Wayne Blue Devils volleyball team improved to 13-3 with a 2-1 record at the Randolph Volleyball Tournament, Saturday.

Wayne defeated Wakefield and Randolph but fell to undefeated Laurel. In the first match against the Trojans, Wayne won in straight games, 17-15, 15-6. Melissa Weber led the team in serving with 13 points with four aces. Jenny Thompson followed with five points.

Carrie Fink was 43-43 in setting with 18 aces and Katie Lutt was the leading hitter with 10 kill spikes on 22 of 25 attempts. Thompson was 18-22 with nine kills. Thompson led the team in defense with five blocks.

"We came out a little sluggish but I attribute that to homecoming festivities the night before," coach Joyce Hoskins said. "In the second game we really started coming on."

Against Randolph, Wayne won in straight games once again, 15-3, 15-11. Melissa Weber was the leading server with 13 points and two aces and Jenny Thompson followed with seven points.

Carrie Fink was a perfect 32-32 in setting with 14 aces. Thompson was 18-24 in attacks with 11 kills and Katie Lutt was 10-11 with four kills while Amy Post was 3-3 with two kills.

"I thought we played well in this match," Hoskins said. "We stayed at our level throughout the match."

Wayne was defeated by Laurel in the third match despite winning the first game, 15-12, 13-15, 12-15.

"This was a real heart-breaking loss for us," Hoskins said. "We played every aspect of the game well except for one—serving and it cost us the match."

Wayne missed 13 serves in the match, far below the 90 percent minimum that Hoskins likes to see her squad perform at. "We didn't serve aggressively," Hoskins said. "We were up 12-10 in the third game and we missed two straight serves which really hurt our momentum."

Amy Post led the Blue Devils in scoring with 10 points while Angie Hudson had nine and Katie Lutt, eight. Carrie Fink was 78-79 in setting with 26 aces. Jenny Thompson was 30-34 in attacks with 19 kill spikes and Katie Lutt was 23-31 with 11 kills. Hudson was 17-18 with seven kills and Post was 9-9 with no kills.

Lutt finished with four blocks to lead the defense and Thompson netted three. The loss snapped the Blue Devils' eight-match win streak. World's Best Prime Rib?

WAYNE: Maybe it is the world's best prime rib of beef - that's what they say at Riley's Cafe, and at least in Nebraska, I don't think you'll find any better. What makes this prime rib so special? Riley's starts with the very best - Nebraska corn-fed beef - and slow roasts it (up to 4 hours) in their special vapor ovens designed to seal in the meat's juices, so it's never dry or overcooked. Then Riley's slices its prime rib in generous portions to be served with hot Au Jus on the side. With all the fixings (including all the fresh-baked garlic breadsticks you can eat), this prime rib meal is only $9.95.

And for those with a wild streak, Riley's offers blackened or Western-style prime rib. If you haven't tried Riley's blackened prime rib, flavored with Cajun spices and seared in a cast iron skillet, you don't know what heaven is. For the best prime rib around, don't go anywhere but Riley's Cafe. Prime rib available Friday and Saturday nights.

Laurel spikers win Randolph tourney

Laurel volleyball coach Patti Cunningham watched as her Bears swept through the Randolph Volleyball Invitational undefeated, Saturday leaving her squad with a perfect 10-0 record on the season.

The Bears opened up round-robin play with a 4-15, 15-13, 15-6 win over Randolph. Katie Newton led the Bears in serving at 14-16 while Tracy Ankeny was 7-7 with one ace.

Gina Monson was 54-54 in setting with 18 aces led by Ankeny's 19-23 performance and 14 kill spikes. Becky Schroeder was 10-12 with four kills and Heather Cunningham was 8-14 with three kills.

Schroeder led the team in defense with three ace blocks while Ankeny had one ace block. "We started off a little slow," Cunningham said. "We showed a lot of composure to come back and win that second game because we were behind in that one as well. We got back to our game plan which was getting the ball to Tracy."

In the second match the Bears defeated Wakefield in straight games, 15-7, 15-11. Katie Newton again led the team in serving with three aces on a perfect 15-15 attempts. Tracy Ankeny was 8-8 with one ace. Gina Monson was 35-35 in setting with nine aces led by Becky Schroeder and Ankeny as each notched four kill spikes while Newton was 5-6 with a pair of aces.

Schroeder also had two ace blocks.

"Wakefield made quite a few serve receive errors but they came on strong in the second game after being down 11-3," Cunningham said. Laurel's final match was against Wayne and undoubtedly, the win over the Blue Devils was among the highlights of the season to date. The Bears came back to win the match after dropping the first one, 12-15, 15-13, 15-12.

"This was a big win for us and our program," Cunningham said. "Both teams had a lot of serving errors and both played well at times we each other wasn't."

Tracy Ankeny was 17-17 in serving with four aces while Katie Newton was 12-12. Megan Adkins was 9-10 with one ace and Gina Monson notched four ace serves.

Monson was also 70-72 in setting with 24 aces led by Ankeny with 10 kills on 23 of 27 attempts. Becky Schroeder was 11-15 with seven kills and Heather Cunningham was 17-20 with four kills while Megan Adkins was 10-11 with two aces. Schroeder had eight blocks to lead the Bears defense with three aces.

"Our team showed a lot of character after coming from behind in that third game," Cunningham said. Laurel will host Hartington on Tuesday before playing in Walthill, Thursday.

Carroll family is honored

Expanding a tradition, Mount Marty College selected two recipients of its annual Family of the Year Award recognizing each family for distinctive contributions and sacrifices.

Honored Saturday evening during the banquet highlighting the yearly Family Weekend were the Jerry and Judy Even family of Sioux Falls and the family of non-traditional nursing student, husband and father, Kevin Harm, of Carroll.

Selected from nominations by

Honored as a "Family of the Year" by Mount Marty College in Yankton, is Kevin and Deb Harm and their children, Cory, seated, and Cassie.

the campus community, the award is traditionally given to an MMC family exemplifying generosity, commitment to Christian and family values, and the ability to touch the lives of others.

This year's award was expanded to include families of both traditional and non-traditional students after Harm nominated his wife, Deb, and their two small children for the sacrifices the family has made in support of his college education.

The Evens currently have daughter Jen, a senior education and chemistry major, and son Jason, a sophomore history major, attending MMC. A third child, Jayne, is a student at O'Gorman High School. Nominations for the Evens cited the family's active participation in Christ the King Church in Sioux Falls and community activities such as United Way and the homeless soup kitchen.

At Mount Marty, Jerry and Judy seldom miss an athletic event that involves their two children. Jen is a member of the MMC women's volleyball and basketball squads and Jason is a member of the men's basketball team. Jen and Jason both are active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes on the MMC campus.

"They are the best examples of Christian values," one nomination said the Even family. "They help those in need, are friends with all, have prayer partners, are faithful Christians in every way. This family touches many lives daily in a positive way. They are not selective in whom they serve. Whoever needs them will get a response in the Even way — selfless, generous and uplifting."

Harm's nomination recognized his wife for the sacrifices she has made for his return to school.

"Deb works full-time as a secretary plus most days of the week runs the kids to the sitters and school. She keeps an immaculate house and does the best she can to make time for my study time," Harm said. "She has put of many 'trips to the mall' because there isn't time or the money at this point."

He added that the support of his family is a debt "I'm not sure I'll ever be able to repay."

Other Family Weekend activities included a student variety show, evening entertainment featuring a stand-up comic, a special Family Weekend Mass in Bishop Marty Chapel, and Sunday afternoon baseball and women's softball games.

Jaeger places fourth

Shannon Danielle Jaeger, 12 year old daughter of Daniel and Gail Jaeger of Winside, competed in the Miss Pre-Teen Omaha Pageant on Sept. 24 and 25. Shannon received fourth runner-up in the pageant. Shannon received a trophy, a bouquet of flowers, a watch and her entry fees paid to compete in the Nationals in Orlando, Fla. in January of 1995. Approximately 90 girls competed.

No present for Mike

We were having an anniversary and the Big Farmer needed pajamas. The rest of the men in this family wear T-shirts and shorts to bed, but Mike still prefers pajamas. I had a Hospice supervisory visit in Nebraska City, so I checked out the outlet mall first. Plenty of night wear, all kinds, for women and children; none for men.

So I came home by way of Plattsmouth and checked the Pamida store. Found flannel pj's, no cotton. Babysat with Thomas and Alex one afternoon and went to the Wal-Mart store in Seward. Still no luck.

Now it was the day before the day I needed them, a beautiful Saturday; and I decided to make a quick trip to the capitol city.

First, I picked two ice cream buckets of the wild plums hanging on bushes in our roadside ditches. These went to Mom for plum butter, yum!

It was a home game day, the first of the season; and with a worthy opponent, UCLA. As I headed for the Mall, I was surrounded by Nebraskans in Red.

The Buick was looking dingy, and I spotted a car wash being advertised by the DZS, Delta Zeta Sorority.

I got in line and chuckled at the bargain wash by gals in Guess shirts, Pepe shorts and fingernails so long, I don't see how they could effectively use the chamois wipes.

They did, though, and I headed for Sears. Here, were men's pajamas: cotton, long leg, long sleeve, all sizes. The lady at the counter said many customers remarked that they were one of the few who still carried them. I even found a sale on shoes, and bought Mike's birthday gift, too. (I'm the one who used to give my Mom a bad time for buying my Dad's clothes.)

Now it was time to reward myself at the Food Court. It's been remodeled and enlarged. The lines were at Arby's, etc., but I like Chinese. It's just fun to sit there, sip-ping iced tea and watch Big Red fans.

Meantime, the Big Farmer was at Art Ulrich's sale, where he bought a gift for me: Hoskins phone books, circa 1960, the year we were married; and 1961, the first year we were listed. We were on line one, and our ring was a long and a short: 121. Compare that to 402-867-2062!

Jon and Kris and Randa stopped on their way back to St. Joe for our "Randa fix." Ann and Max sent new floor mats for the Buick, Sue and Monte presented a coffee grinder and flavored coffee beans, and Kay came with a much-needed bookcase.

Now, all I have to do is put it together!

Postscript..... It had been a hectic weekend and I didn't get this written on Saturday. That meant it needed to be faxed on Monday to get in the Tuesday edition.

I got up at 6 a.m. on Monday and wrote the lines I'd already written in my head. I had a busy day ahead. I took a used manilla envelope, wrote "Column, 9/26 and The Wayne Herald fax #", placed it at the Big Farmer's breakfast spot and blithely went off to see patients.

When I got home at 6 p.m., the envelope was laying in the same spot. And my sweetheart informed me that unless I tell him these things, there's no way his' going to know! Isn't marriage grand? I think I'm taking the birthday present back to Sears.

The Golden Years

"Pensions Not Posies" is the slogan of a national campaign of women's groups to call attention to poverty among older women. For many women, pensions are lacking or pay too little. The slogan typifies women who have to leave jobs before qualifying for pensions. One bright note: Pension coverage of women in fulltime company jobs has increased to 48 percent from 38 percent in 1972. But meaningful benefits still elude part-timers, women without higher education who work in low-pay jobs and those who take time out to raise children.

The musical "Damn Yankees" about baseball has made veteran theater producer George Abbott a winner again. When the show first played on Broadway 38 years ago, Abbott won a Tony Award. Now 106 and living in Miami Beach, Abbott served as a long-distance consultant when a 1994 Broadway revival of the show was being prepared. The revival prompted a Drama League award to Abbott for Distinguished Achievement in Musical Theater.

SUMMER RECREATION

Members of the Winside Summer Recreation Committee met Sept. 18 in the Winside fire hall. Items discussed included fund raisers, coaches for next summer, getting more parents interested in holding an office and the concession stand at the ball park. Plans are in the making for a co-ed volleyball tournament fund raiser for Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 12 and 13. The committee needs more parent involvement with these fund raisers and meetings. Anyone who would like to sign up a team for the tournament should contact either Janice Mundt at 286-4848 or Donna Marotz at 565-4449.

Other fund raising plans for the future include selling balloons at Winside's homecoming, a cake auction, a raffle and a basketball game with KTIV.

The committee will check into matching funds from Aid Association for Lutherans and Lutheran Brotherhood.

Summer Recreation Committee meetings are held the second Sunday of each month in the fire hall. More parents are needed with fresh ideas and suggestions.

The next meeting will be Sunday, Oct. 9 at 8 p.m.

Smaller grain stocks may impact market

Nebraska's feed grain stocks of old crop corn, grain sorghum and oats in all positions on Sept. 1, totaled 3.9 million tons, according to the Nebraska Agricultural Statistics Service. This is 59 percent less than last year's holdings, and the smallest since 1977.

Total stocks of old crop corn at 121.2 million bushels were less than half (43%) of the total of a year earlier and the smallest ending stocks since 1977. Corn stored on farms totaled 54 million bushels, down 61 percent from last year and off-farm stocks on 67.2 million bushels were down 53 percent from a year earlier. The sharply lower Nebraska holdings are in part a result of the 1993 corn production which totaled 785.2 million bushels, 26 percent below 1992.

Old crop grain sorghum stocks totaled 13.6 million bushels, near one-fourth (27%) the holdings of a year ago and the smallest total since 1976. Farm stocks of 6.5 million bushels were down 59 percent from 1993 and off-farm stocks totaling 7.1 million bushels were 79 percent lower. Like corn, the sharply lower sorghum holdings are in part a result of the 1993 Nebraska sorghum production of 73.8 million bushels, near half (51%) of the 1992 production.

Old crop soybeans stocks on Sept. 1 totaled 13.1 million bushels, 13 percent below last year and 26 percent below 1992. Farm stocks of 3.5 million bushels were 45 percent lower than 1993, while off-farm holdings were 11 percent higher. The overall holdings reflect in part the 1993 Nebraska soybean production which was down 13 percent from a year earlier, at a revised 90 million bushels.

Wheat stocks totaled 83.2 million bushels, 11 percent below last September but 11 percent higher than 1992. Wheat stored on farms at 26 million bushels was up 4 percent from 1993. Off-farm holdings of 57.2 million bushels were down 17 percent from last year.

Oat stocks totaled 7.2 million bushels, up 4 percent from the record low of 1993. Farm stocks of 3.6 million bushels, were the lowest of record and 16 percent below 1993. Off-farm holdings of 3.6 million were up 38 percent from the small holdings of 2.6 million in 1993.

Layne exhibited this heifer last year at Ak-Sar-Ben, and it was named the champion feeder heifer. He plans to add the heifer to his herd of beef cows.

Watching a farmer at harvesttime on a rainy day is a little like going to the zoo: he prowls back and forth, looking out one window and then the next, as though caged by the rain, trying to see sunny weather on the horizon. If he's got a computer terminal, he checks the weather map every five minutes, flipping to the markets only briefly.

He is distracted; in his mind, he is already guiding that combine down those long, straight rows. He tries not to think about harvesting, but he can't get his mind off it. If he tries to get interested in something else, it doesn't work: he starts one thing, and then another, finishing nothing. He sighs a lot, but doesn't know it. He is hard to live with, and doesn't know this either. He worries about getting the crop out of the field before the snow flies, but that's only part of his concern. Mainly, he just wants to be out there, bringing his crop in.

Harvest fever is an occupational hazard for a grain farmer. Actually, harvest is the fun part, when he reaps the rewards of his long season of hard work. When he brings in the bushels, when the money goes into the bank, when the church receives his family's annual offering.

The desire to combine is similar to the itch farmers feel in the spring when they want to plant their crop, but can't because it's too cold, too wet, or whatever. But in the springtime, the thrill of turning fresh earth fades quickly, and the farmer just wants to get the planting done and go on to the next thing. But at harvest, when the crop flows into the combine and then into the grain truck, he could go on forever. And he would do it with a smile on his face.

When the crop is ready, there is nowhere — not anywhere — he would rather be. Nebraska farmers WILL halt the combine on a Big Red football Saturday afternoon, but only for a big, competitive game. Otherwise, they'll just crank up the volume on the radio and keep on combining. If the crop is a good one, as this year, the pull of the combine is almost irresistible. If the weather is favorable, and he can harvest, he's a happy man.

But if it rains, or if the weather is capricious, it's tough on the farmer and those who share his life. It's especially bad for those with off-farm day jobs. They would much rather be out in the field than at that meeting, writing that report, or making that phone call. Somehow, all their conversations quickly turn to harvest. These farmers come alive at the work day's end, intent on getting to that combine. If a sunny day turns rainy at just this point, he's devastated. He may take to prowling around the machine shed, checking again that his machinery is ready to go the next time the sun shines.

The pull of harvest stays with a farmer, whether he leaves the profession or retires. Come fall, he says things like "Great day for harvesting" and calls up a relative or friend, offering to drive the grain truck, even if it means waiting an hour at the elevator to unload.

There is no cure for harvest fever but harvesting itself. If you're a farmer, you know this. If you live with a farmer, you know this, too. All you can do is wait. And pray for good weather.

Youth projects get Farm Credit assist

A special program sponsored by Farm Credit Services will provide up to $10,000 to help local young people finance their 4-H and FFA projects, according to Nicholas J. Leuschen, branch manager of the Norfolk lending office.

The Farm Credit Youth in Agriculture program will provide up to $1,000 per individual to help finance youth projects including feeder pigs, feeder calves, feeder lambs and other types of projects.

"Knowing how to obtain financing and manage debt are a big part of building a successful operation, and this program will give our local 4-H and FFA members practical experience in how loans are made, the credit factors involved in ag lending and how production cycles are matched to loan repayment," Leuschen said. "Young people taking advantage of this program will gain valuable experience by actually going through the steps necessary to apply for a loan and working with Farm Credit loan officers to create a business plan for their individual projects."

Youth in Agriculture loans have been made available to local 4-H and FFA members beginning Oct. 1. Anyone interested should contact the local Farm Credit lending office in Norfolk or call 402-371-1853 for more information. Applications will be handled on a first-come, first-served basis and will be available until the local $10,000 allocation is gone.

The $10,000 committed to each of 85 offices served by Farm Credit Services of the Midlands will make $850,000 available to 4-H and FFA members across the four-state area which includes Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming, Leuschen said.
