Search over She's alive

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

The search for 19-year-old Wakefield native Laura Kucera came to an end late Tuesday night—nearly 80 hours after she was reported kidnapped by gunpoint in a residential area in Wakefield by 22-year-old former boyfriend Brian Anderson of Concord.

Kucera had somehow survived an ordeal that ended with several gunshot wounds from a small caliber handgun to her upper back torso including at least two head wounds, though she was unconscious when found. She was immediately evacuated by Marian Air Care and admitted in critical condition to the Marian Health Center in Sioux City, Iowa around 11:30 p.m.

Anderson had originally told authorities that he had dropped Kucera off in South Sioux at Hardee's Restaurant but he later changed his story and led police to Kucera's exact location through his lawyer Doug Luebke of South Sioux, three miles North of Macy in a remote, isolated area of Thurston County.

Dixon County Sheriff Dean Chase, Thurston County Sheriff Harold Obermeyer, deputies from their respective departments along with Nebraska State Patrol investigators and County Attorney's from Dixon and Thurston County, Leland Miner and Matthew Samuelson were among those arriving on the scene.

When the search party found Kucera she was lying on her back and for the most part, feared dead. One of the deputies saw the body move which came as a surprise to Chase. "It was a real shock considering the amount of time she spent out there wounded

A large group of Wayne business and community leaders attended the unveiling of plans for the Heritage Plaza development at Wayne State College Thursday afternoon. College President Dr. Donald Mash announced the college will seek approval to have the Plaza named after retired college president Lyle Seymour.

Mash unveils plaza plans

Dr. Donald Mash, president of Wayne State College, formally unveiled plans for the new Heritage Plaza on the Wayne State College campus Thursday. Dr. Mash also announced the college plans to submit to the Nebraska State College Board of Trustees a proposal to name the plaza after College President Emeritus Lyle Seymour.

"When you think about our heritage, Doctor Seymour is a piece of it all," Mash said. He noted that Dr. Seymour was a student of Wayne State and holds a degree from the college. Dr. Seymour has also served as a faculty member, an administrator and president. Dr. Mash noted that Dr. Seymour is still active on the college's foundation board as a volunteer, having served in that capacity since his retirement.

The Heritage Plaza will be an outdoor courtyard area which will be adjacent to the Conn Library located near the center of the college's campus. "We believe one of the best things about being on campus is the activity of the campus," Mash said during the ceremony Thursday. It was attended by Wayne business and community leaders.

The Heritage Plaza will provide a place for students and faculty to interact outside of the classroom and provide a setting for many campus events, he added.

Plans call for the project to begin with final review of construction plans in January 1995. After which bids will be solicited and accepted. Following this process, approval will need to be obtained from the State College Board of Trustees to award the contract.

Construction is tentatively scheduled to begin in May 1995 with completion and dedication of the project projected for October 1995.

A feature of the plaza will be a larger than life bronze statue commissioned by noted western sculptor and Wayne State graduate Herb Mignery.

Estimated costs for the project are $100,000 which will all come from private donations. "Already nearly $63,000 has been raised during the "Building Bright Futures" capital campaign conducted by the college's foundation.

The completion of the campaign, which began in 1991, will be celebrated this Saturday evening as part of the Wayne State homecoming activities.

United Way kicks off fund drive

The Wayne United Way organization has kicked off its 1994-95 fund drive with a goal to match last year's $25,000 fund raising effort.

This year's campaign chairman, Curt Frye, said this is the 39th year of the United Way in Wayne.

The organization provides a cost effective way to raise funds for a number of agencies servicing the Wayne area. Since funded agencies incur no fund-raising expenses, the maximum amount of funds donated are made available to directly benefit clients of the community help agencies, said Frye.

In Wayne, programs which benefit from your United Way contributions include: People are Loved, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Wayne Senior Citizens Center, Haven House, Wayne Ministerial Association, Wayne Child Care Board, Wayne Kinship, Wayne County Red Cross, Salvation Army, Wayne Recreation Board, Wayne Community Care Hospice, Wayne FRIENDS drug free youth group and Rainbow Riders.

The business drive will continue for approximately another month be-

The proceeds from this project are used primarily for sight and hearing conservation activities. The club also helps in community improvement activities and sponsors a talent contest, a football skills contest and a spring track meet for area youth. Wayne game moved to Saturday

The Wayne Blue Devils football team was slated to play their final home game of the season on Friday against O'Neill. Due to the recent wet weather, however, the game was postponed to Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. at Memorial Field.

Wayne will enter the contest with a 3-2 record but on a two-game losing skid while O'Neill hopes to snap a three-game losing string and even their mark which currently stands at 2-3.

Zeiss attends symposium

By Clara Osten
For the Herald

Wayne High School Principal Dr. Donald Zeiss was one of 51 secondary principals chosen to attend an Educational Leadership Symposium in Washington D.C. this past week.

The symposium, sponsored by Metropolitan Life and the National Association of Secondary School Principals, was designed "to bring principals together to dialogue issues facing schools across the nation," said Zeiss.

Earlier this year Zeiss was chosen as Principal of the Year. It was this honor that qualified him for the trip to Washington D.C. "In June I received a letter informing me of the symposium. Then in August I received information concerning various topics we would be discussing," said Zeiss.

Among the topics the principals discussed were the school to work transition and Goals 2000, research and technology. The principals were divided into groups and met with numerous assistant secretaries of Education. The small groups then reported their findings to the large group on Tuesday.

"I was really impressed with the ability to dialogue with these people. There were principals there from schools with 2,500 students in their schools. I would say that the average principal had 1,500 students in his or her school," said Zeiss.

"For the most part, concerns voiced by these people were the same. These included motivating students, avoiding absenteeism and money for technology," said Zeiss.

The group also toured the USA Today building and listened to the president of USA Today, Peter Prichard. This large newspaper does Zeiss said most of the time spent in Washington D.C. was spent working and in various meetings. They did, however get to take a nighttime tour of the city, making stops at several monuments and memorials.

Among the interesting aspects of the city that Zeiss was not aware of the high technology world of work. According to Jason Barelman, Coordinator for Cooperative Education at Wayne State, these students have worked with different companies doing internship work during the summers and the companies have chosen to continue their employment during the school year.

"There is also a law there that states each car must have at least three people in it or the people are required to ride the Metro, which is the subway system," said Zeiss.

"I am very honored and humbled to have been chosen for this honor. I was very impressed with the way we were treated and the ability to communicate our concerns with these people," said Zeiss.

"I find it interesting that these students have been able to continue their jobs through use of computers. We are definitely involved in the High Technology Age," said Barelman.

Stacy is a senior from Lincoln with an Accounting major. She is employed by the Gallup Organization. The firm does marketing research throughout the United States and on an international level.

"I have been employed off and on by Gallup for nearly five years, doing various non-accounting jobs. It wasn't until my internship that I began doing accounting activities," said Stacy.

"My job includes doing accounting work for Gallup Canada based in Toronto. I do the payroll, accounts payable and accounts receivable for them. When I graduate in December, I will have a full-time job with the company."

When Stacy started working for Gallup in May the person who had been in charge of the Canada office had just quit and Stacy was given the opportunity to take over this part of the business. The company had planned to hire another person to do the work temporarily until Stacy could return after graduation.

However, after some discussion, it was decided that the work could be done by computer, with use of a phone and modem. A computer and fax machine were installed in Stacy's dorm room. Mail is sent to her in Wayne and she is able to do the work when it is convenient for her.

"After a few minor problems with transmitting the information from Wayne to Lincoln were worked out, there haven't been any problems for me. Things have been working very well," said Stacy.

Jim Boeshart has an Industrial Management major with a concentration on Construction Management. He is a senior from Sioux City, Iowa who has been working for Lite-Form, Inc. This firm is a construction supply company which has recently added a construction division to the company.

"The company sends me hand-drawn sketches and I do drafting on my personal computer and add the company logo before sending them back. The amount of time I spend depends on the number of drawings that need to be done," said Boeshart.

Lite-Form has become a national firm, doing business throughout the United States and into Canada, Mexico and Japan. They use styrofoam for forms when constructing concrete basement walls.

"Ninety percent of our products are for residential homes. I will continue to do the drafting until I graduate in May of 1995. After that, I will continue to be employed by the company, doing both drafting and supervising the construction of the basements," said Boeshart.

Boeshart has worked for Gateway 2000 and various construction companies and enjoys being able to continue working on projects related to his major while continuing his education.

said the business community traditionally contributes about 75 percent of the total funds collected.

like she was," Chase said. "Things sped up quickly at that point."

A Dixon County deputy who is a certified EMT (Emergency Medical Technician) and paramedic attended to Kucera and noted that her vital signs appeared to be stable.

When found, Kucera was wearing a light weight jacket, shorts and a shirt. Anderson also through his lawyer, led authorities to the discovery of a small caliber handgun at a location on Highway 75 south of Macy. It is not known at this time if this handgun was used in inflicting any injuries to Kucera.

Mary Kucera, Laura's mother told several media members that she doesn't know how her daughter could have survived other than, "she must be very strong."

Anderson's father Don who farms near the Concord area, said he couldn't explain what happened. He did say the couple, referring to Anderson and Kucera experienced problems in their relationship—something Mary Kucera also verified.

"He was looking for love... and didn't know how to handle it," Anderson said of his son to the media. "It's just devastating to us, that something like this could happen."

Brian had earlier violated a protection order against Kucera and had spent some time in jail in September because of it.

Last Saturday in Wakefield Anderson allegedly took Kucera by force from outside a home vacated by Mario Tello—a place where Kucera sought refuge from Anderson.

Kucera had apparently been visiting her friend Mary Tello at 312 Oak Street in Wakefield. Anderson had asked for Kucera to come talk to him and she refused while walking into the Tello home. Kucera allegedly called 911 but Anderson entered the Tello house immediately after and forced her out of the house and into his truck.

Anderson phoned authorities on Saturday night and told them he was going to turn himself in but when he never arrived, an officer from Dixon County was dispatched to find him and bring him. Anderson never resisted and was taken into custody.

Both Anderson and Kucera had filed protection orders against each other which showed a history of a relationship gone sour. Anderson was released from the Dixon County jail late in September after violating the protection order and was ordered not to be in Dixon or Wayne counties with the exception of work or going home. He worked at Laurel Ready Mix.

In a separate incident in Wayne on the 28th of September, Kucera told authorities that Anderson broke out a window on her vehicle and pushed her across the front seat and drove her car to Norfolk against her will.

Anderson is facing a violation of protection order in Wayne County according to County Attorney Michael Pieper pending review of reports. Anderson had broken the window of another Kucera vehicle in August and among the penalties was a mandatory attendance at anger and battering sessions of which he had not attended yet as of October 1.

Anderson, facing four felony charges in relation to the abduction of Kucera last Saturday has not officially been charged with any additional felonies at this time.

Concord Research Center to study return of CRP to crops

The Northeast Research and Extension Center at Concord will be the only center in the state to study the effects on land which will be taken out of the conservation reserve program and returned to crop production.

The center has received permission to conduct research on the Charles Paulsen farm adjacent to the research facility near Concord.

"The return of CRP land to crops will have immediate impact on Nebraska agriculture," said David Holshouser, integrated weeds management specialist at the center. He said in a survey of 75 Northeast Nebraska landowners who have CRP acreage 57 percent have plans to return their land to crops when the contracts begin to expire next year.

Statewide, 1.4 million acres or seven percent of all croplands were enrolled in the CRP program. The CRP program was established as part of the 1985 farm bill and was designed to remove highly erodible land from crop production.

Only 5 percent of the CRP contracts will expire in the first year but 82 percent of the remaining acres will come out of the program the next two years, said Holshouser.

The center's research effort will seek to develop the best management procedures for bringing land out of the CRP by determining the effects of

Jason has lived on a farm all his life, and received runts from his father to take care of for the first time, when he was in third grade. Now Jason helps with harvesting and running the grain cart too. Jason also just bought a tractor with the money he received after selling his two hogs in the fair. He and his father plan to restore it this winter. Jason also just passed his tractor safety course, allowing per-

Jason talked about the plans he has for college, and says he would like to lean towards something in farming or agriculture.

"I really want to farm like my grandfather and father," he said. "It's been part of our family for a long time, and also it's a lot of fun."

"One of the first colors I think he ever learned was John Deere green," Jason's mother Mary said with a smile.

Leaders look to add religion

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) -- Religious leaders at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln want to add a third 'R' to the traditional studies in reading, writing and arithmetic: religion.

"It's a struggle," said the Rev. Larry Doerr of the United Ministries in Higher Education. "It's the culture. Nobody wants their fraternity pals to think they're religious."

Students at UNL were greeted last week with back-to-school events such as tours, picnics and talks by university officials before classes start Monday.

Many students continue to make religion part of their college life, but Doerr and the Rev. Larry Meyer, pastor of the Lutheran Student Center, are among those who would like to see more people involved.

Meyer also is coordinating the Association of Campus Religious Workers, a group of about 20 religious organizations with some form of campus outreach.

"Generally speaking, about 15 percent of students fill out religious preference cards," Doerr said.

On one recent afternoon, Meyer gave a freshman student and her family a tour of the Lutheran Center, which is the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America's campus ministry, including the chapel, a kitchen where students can always get a cup of coffee, a lobby where fires are stoked in the winter and facilities for playing pool, studying and socializing.

Meyer told the woman about a paint-a-thon and other projects she could get involved in this semester.

"On any given day, more than 100 students come through here for one reason or another," said Meyer, who this year is coordinating the Association of Campus Religious Workers (ACReW), a group of about 21 religious organizations, with some form of campus outreach.

Doerr's organization, also known as Cornerstone UMHE, is the campus ministry for four denominations -- United Methodist Church, Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), United Church of Christ and Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).

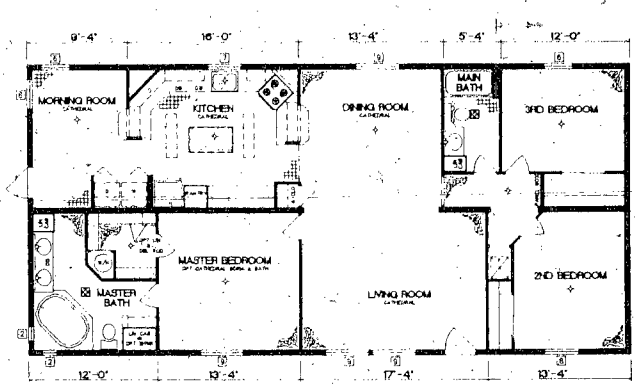

Doerr said mainline churches are

WSC spikers win pair of home matches

The Wayne State volleyball team won a pair of home matches Tuesday and Wednesday over Briar Cliff and the College of St. Mary's in Rice Auditorium which evened Sharon Yanis' team's record at 13-13.

Tuesday, the 'Cats lost the first game to the visiting Chargers but roared back to claim the next three, thus the match, 9-15, 15-12, 15-7, 15-7. WSC trailed Briar Cliff, 11-3 in the second game and came back to win. They were never threatened in the third and fourth games.

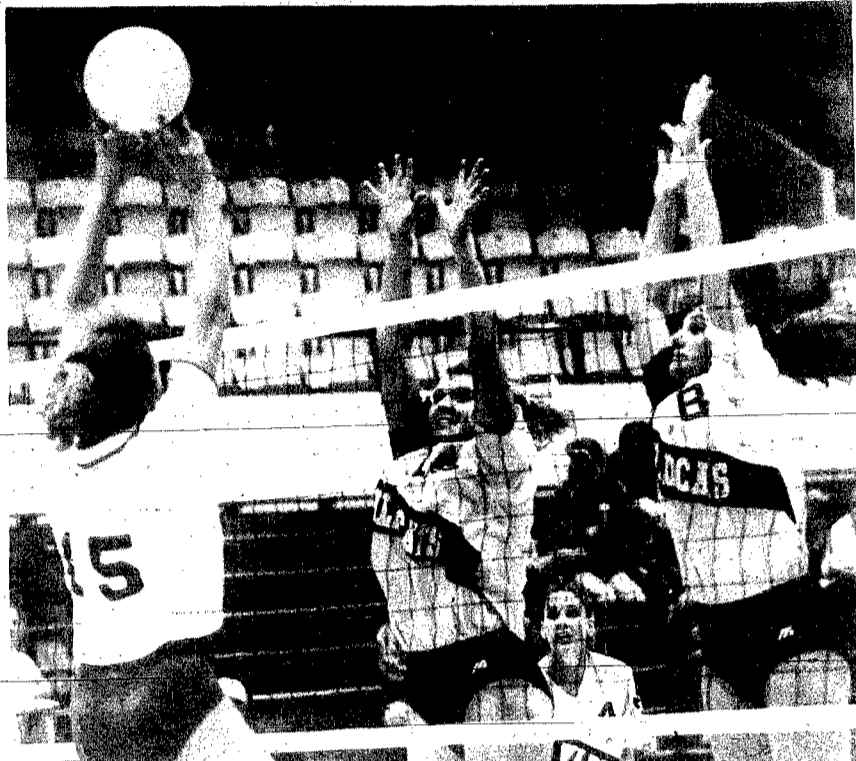

Carol Sigdestad came off the bench to lead the winners in attacks with 14 kill spikes on 20 of 23 attempts. Tammy Gablenz had 13 kills on 25 of 27 attempts and Lora Grant was 37 of 42 with 10 kills.

Jaime Melton finished with 37 ace sets while defensively, Gablenz led the way with 14 digs and three blocks. Laura Pfister had 12 digs and Grant finished with 11.

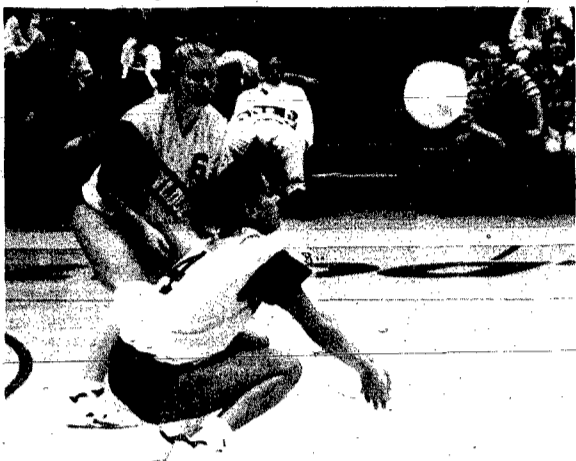

Wednesday, WSC had little trouble with St. Mary's, winning convincingly in straight games, 15-0, 15-6, 15-4. Lora Grant led the team in attacks with a dozen kill spikes on 22 of 24 attempts while Tammy Gablenz was 12-12 with six kills. Carol Sigdestad was 6-7 with five kills and Laura Pfister was 15-16 with five ace hits.

Jaime Melton led the setting crew with 19 aces while Kari Pichler recorded seven. Pfister had three ace serves to lead the 'Cats while Gablenz had two aces.

Grant led the defense with six digs while Gablenz, Jenifer Svitak and Pfister had five each. WSC will travel to play Kearney, Wednesday. The next home game is slated for the 24th against Augustana.

Wayne reserve harriers compete

WAYNE-The Wayne reserve cross country team hosted Norfolk's reserves, Tuesday at the Country Club. Norfolk won the boys dual, 10-34 and the top seven runners to cross the finish line were from Norfolk before Wayne's Spencer Bayless came across in a time of 19:58.

Cory Erxleben was 10th in 20:25 and Aaron Kardell was 15th in 21:45 while Ryan Sturm was 16th in 24:10.

Allen spikers fall to Bancroft

ALLEN-Rachelle Borg's Allen Eagles volleyball team lost a straight games match to Bancroft-Rosalie, Tuesday in Allen, 1-15, 10-15 leaving the Eagles with a 2-10 record.

"We came out very nervous playing a top team like Bancroft," Borg said. "We made a lot of mental mistakes. Then, in the second game we started playing better and more relaxed."

Borg said her squad played with a lot of heart and intensity in the second game. Abbey Schroeder led the offense with four points on 5-5 serving while Jaime Mitchell had two points and was 4-4 in serving. Jill Sullivan and Deb Plueger were each a perfect 4-4 in serving with one point.

Andrea McGrath was 11-13 in setting with three aces and Deb Plueger was 19-20 with three aces. Tanya Plueger was 8-10 in attacks with three kill spikes while Mitchell was 10-14 with two kills. Tanya also notched four blocks.

Allen will host a triangular on Tuesday with Winnebago and Bancroft-Rosalie.

Wayne reserve gridders down Schuyler

WAYNE-The Wayne reserve football team improved to 2-2 on the season with a 16-14 win over Schuyler, Monday in Wayne. Ryan Junck connected with Lyle Lutt for a touchdown pass in the first quarter and Terry Hamer darted over from three yards out in the second quarter to account for the Blue Devils scoring.

Tyler Endicott paced Wayne's ground attack with 32 yards while Junck was 8-15 through the air for 82 yards with one interception. Adam Diediker was Junck's favorite target with three receptions for 42 yards.

Defensively, Wayne was led by Brent Geiger with 10 tackles including a quarterback sack. Wayne will play in West Point, Monday.

Laurel spikers improve to 12-0

LAUREL-Patti Cunningham's Laurel Bears defeated Hartington, Tuesday and then received a forfeit from Walthill, Thursday which left the Bears with a perfect 12-0 record on the season.

Despite the perfect record Cunningham said her team didn't play perfect in Hartington. "We were very inconsistent," she said. "We built a 9-4 lead in the second game and we started subbing freely and we never scored again in that game and got beat. It was nice, however, to come out and dominate the third game."

Tracy Ankeny was 17-17 in setting with two aces to lead the winners while Katie Newton was 10-10 with one ace. Gina Monson was 61-61 in setting with 26 aces and Ankeny let the hitting crew with eight kills on 11 of 14 attempts. Becky Schroeder was 12-12 with six kills and Megan Adkins came off the bench and notched four kills on 13 of 14 attempts.

Schroeder had two blocks to lead the defense and Adkins had one. The Bears will travel to play Pierce on Tuesday before a nine-day lay-off.

Blue Devils volleyball team improves to 15-4 with wins

The Wayne volleyball team re-entered Class C-1's top 10 this week at number 10 prior to playing in the South Sioux Invitational, Tuesday night.

The Blue Devils went 1-1 in the four-team field, losing to Iowa's Class 4A number one ranked team, Sioux City Heelan in the first round, 11-15, 5-15 but bouncing back to drill Sioux City West, 15-03, 15-0.

Joyce Hoskins' team then played in O'Neill, Thursday and came home with a 15-4 record following a victory with scores of 15-13, 13-15, 15-11.

In South Sioux the Blue Devils came out flat against top rated Heelan but still played the Crusaders closer than South Sioux did in the finals. "We just weren't as fired up to play as we should have been," Hoskins said. "I don't think we were intimidated by Heelan's top ranking but we just couldn't get anything going."

Carrie Fink led Wayne with four points and two aces while Angie Hudson had five points and one ace. Fink was 53-53 in setting with 11 aces with Jenny Thompson, Katie Lutt and Hudson all sharing team-honors in attacks with three kill spikes each.

Thompson was 13-19 in attempts and Lutt was 18-25 while Hudson was 9-12. Amy Post was 6-7 with two kills. Both Thompson and Lutt had one ace block each.

In the consolation match the Blue Devils blasted Sioux City

West as Carrie Fink put on a serving exhibition. The senior setter scored 25 of Wayne's 30 total points and in the second game, she started serving and when she'd finished, Wayne had a 14-0 lead. Fink had eight aces in the two games.

Fink was also 33-33 in setting with 18 aces led by Katie Lutt's 10 kill spikes on 13 of 14 attempts. Jenny Thompson was 8-11 with five kills and Angie Hudson was 7-8 with four kills. Lutt and Anne Wiseman had two ace blocks each.

"It was nice to see us dominate a match with a 15-3, 15-0 outcome," Hoskins said. "We played at our level the whole match—there were no letdowns and Carrie really did a nice job of serving the ball."

Following the tournament three Wayne players and three Heelan players were named to the all-tournament team. Carrie Fink, Angie Hudson and Katie Lutt were the Blue Devil honorees.

The Wayne reserves also played in the South Sioux tournament and Dale Hochstein's squad placed third as well, losing to Heelan in the first round, 9-15, 7-15 but rebounding to beat Sioux City West, 15-5, 15-8.

Melissa Weber was the leading scorer with 15 points while Carla Kemp scored 10. Hochstein said his team played a little flat at the start of the second game with West but the Blue Devils came on strong.

IN O'NEILL, the Blue Devils were pushed to the limit by a solid

O'Neill team which suffered just their third loss of the year against eight wins. "We had good leads in all three games but we let O'Neill back in it," Hoskins said. "We played well and I am not going to take that away from our girls but we need to play aggressively the whole match. The only comfortable lead in volleyball is when the score reads 15 on your side."

Wayne maintained a 9-3 lead in the first game before O'Neill rallied to make it close and in the second game the Blue Devils 7-3 lead evaporated and turned into a loss. Wayne led by a 12-6 margin in the third game before O'Neill closed the gap to one at 12-11.

Blue Devils setter Carrie Fink may have stepped into the state record books with her performance as she recorded 46 ace sets, unofficially snapping the C-1 mark of 45.

Wayne runners get second at NAC meet

The Wayne cross country teams competed at the Northern Activities Conference Meet, Thursday afternoon in South Sioux and placed second to the host team in both girls and boys divisions.

The girls team finished just one point behind, 18-19 and the boys finished nine points behind the Cardinals, 16-25. "I thought the girls team competed pretty hard," coach Rocky Ruhl said. "They really pushed South Sioux who has a pretty good team. We need to focus on next week and the district meet where we will see David City Aquinas and Pierce—two of the top teams."

Ruhl said the boys team may have received a wake-up call at South Sioux. "We need to be focused and compete," Ruhl said. "We did neither of those at South Sioux. Clint Dyer was out with the flu but Carrie had a great night setting the ball but we have to get a hold of O'Neill's video tape recorder and re-check," Hoskins said. "We don't want to make a mistake on something like this."

Fink was 86-96 in setting, Angie Hudson led the team in scoring with nine points and one ace while Fink and Melissa Weber had eight points each. Jenny Thompson was the leading spiker with 18 kills on 31 of 49 attempts. Katie Lutt was 24-31 with eight kills and Hudson was 14-18 with seven ace hits. Amy Post was 10-13 in hitting with six aces.

Thompson also led the team on defense with six blocks while Lutt, Hudson and Post had two each. Wayne will travel to play Hartington Cedar Catholic on Tuesday.

you still have to find a way to regroup and step it up. If we run like this next week at districts, this team will not be running at the state meet."

Mel Lage led the girls with a second place finish in 16:41 while Sara Kinney placed third in 16:48. Jessica Ford was fifth in 17:03 and Lisa Walton was 10th in 19:28. Tammy Teach also competed and was timed in 21:31.

Spencer Stednitz led the boys team with a second place effort of 17:39 while Chris Headley was third in 17:45. David Enz was clocked in 19:47 while Matt Meyer placed 11th in 20:08.

Chris Dyer was timed in 20:22 while Andrew Bayless ran just two seconds behind him. Cory Erxleben, Aaron Kardell and Ryan Sturm also competed for the Blue Devils. The district meet will be Thursday in North Bend.

Wakefield wins at Osmond

WAKEFIELD-The Wakefield volleyball team defeated Osmond, Tuesday in Osmond despite losing the first game, 14-16; 15-11, 15-12. The Lady Trojans improved to 5-5 on the year and will host Newcastle on Tuesday and Coleridge, Thursday.

Bree Oswald led the Trojans in serving in Osmond, 20-21 with one ace while Mindy Eaton was 14-17 with three aces and Mary Torczon, 14-14 with two aces.

Stacey Preston was 42-44 in setting with 14 aces while Mindy Eaton was 26-28 with 10 aces. Amy Hattig paced the offensive attack with 14 kill spikes on 24 of 25 attempts. Torczon was 19-26 with eight kills and Alison Benson had five ace hits.

Wayne golf team headed to State after placing third

It's not often a golf team can shoot their worst round of the season and the head coach can walk away with a smile but for Dave Hix and the Wayne girls golf team, that's exactly what the scenario was in Oakland, Thursday afternoon.

The Blue Devils placed third at the district golf tournament and qualified for the annual Nebraska State Girls Golf Meet to be played Thursday at the Norfolk Country Club.

"The conditions were about as bad as you could imagine," Hix said describing the weather in Oakland. "There was consistent 30-mile-per-hour winds with rain and drastic fluctuations in temperatures all day."

Hix said all the teams got nine holes in before the rain started but the wind was constant. Still, the Blue Devils found a way to get back to the state tournament where they hope to improve on last year's last place showing at state.

Blair won the district championship with a 407 while Elkhorn settled for runner-up honors with a 408. Wayne fired a 425—32 strokes ahead of the host team Oakland-Craig.

Catha Fogelberg of Elkhorn was medalist with an 84 but Wayne had three medal winners in the top 10. Kristine Kopperud carded a 99 for fifth place while Molly Melena lost a three-hole playoff for eighth place and settled for ninth with a 105. Erica Stoltenberg placed 10th with a 107.

Tisha Rothfuss carded a 114 to round out the varsity scoring. Krissy Lubberstedt also played varsity but her 121 was not counted in the team scoring.

"We feel if we shoot what we're capable of at state next week then we have a chance to place fairly high," Hix said. "We have beaten five of the teams that qualified for state in head-to-head competition earlier this year."

Thursday's state meet will be a shotgun start at 9 a.m.

LAURA PFISTER spikes the ball between two Briar Cliff blockers during action in Rice Auditorium, Tuesday night. WSC improved to 13-13 with wins this week over the Chargers and St. Mary's College in Omaha.

WSC gearing up to play biggest rival—Kearney

Dennis Wagner's Wayne State football team turned in a strong all-around performance in downing eighth-ranked Iowa Wesleyan last Saturday, 40-17. The Wildcats, one of the nation's top offensive teams, had a balanced attack as they rolled 526 yards of total offense (281 pass/245 rush.)

On the ground, senior Lamont Rainey had a great day as he rushed for 140 yards and four touchdowns on 27 attempts. Jason Williams gained 64 yards on 11 carries.

WSC quarterbacks Jared Hendershot and Ray Powers combined for 281 yards on 24 of 42 passing. Hendershot, who played the first half was 13 of 20 for 172 yards. Senior Byron Chamberlain made eight receptions for 97 yards while Jerry Garrett had seven catches for 43 yards.

The Wildcat defense continued its strong play as it limited Iowa Wesleyan to 258 total yards, including just 51 on the ground on 34 attempts. Linebacker Jon Adkisson had a game-high 14 tackles as well as a tackle for a loss. The 'Cats have shut out their last two opponents in the second half.

This week the focus shifts to perhaps the 'Cats' fiercest rival—Kearney. The Lopers will come into Memorial Stadium with an identical record of 4-1 after dropping their first game of the season last weekend to Western New Mexico, 48-35 in Kearney.

UNK averages 374 yards and 20.6 points per game with most of its yards coming on the ground. E.J. Hancock has rushed for 493 yards this season while quarterback Chad Rutar, a sophomore from Thurston and Pender High School has passed for 797 yards and seven touchdowns.

Todd McCoy is UNK's top receiver with 20 receptions for 314 yards. Defensively, former Wayne High standout Matt Bruggeman leads the way with 43 tackles.

Kearney's biggest distinction is the size of its offensive line—the biggest in the state which includes the Nebraska Cornhuskers. The left tackle is Todd Peters, a 6-4, 295 pound senior from Hastings while George Murdoch plays left tackle at 6-7, 360 pounds from Palm Dale, California.

Corey Williams is the center at 6-1, 275 from Papillion and Chad Vokoun is the right guard at 6-5, 290 from Grand Island. The right tackle is Sean Evans at 6-8, 345 from Littleton, Colorado.

"There's no doubt about it, they (UNK) have a big team," Wagner said. "This is a big game for both teams. I think turnovers and execution will be the keys of the game. A mistake from either team could be the difference in the game."

Wagner said he hopes to see a big crowd at Saturday's game. "We need to have a big crowd," he said.

"It should be a lot of fun. Offensively, Kearney likes to run the no-huddle offense and they take short drops and throw quick passes when they aren't running the ball effectively."

Last week the Wildcat coaches named Lamont Rainey as the offensive player of the game for his performance while Jon Adkisson got the nod on defense. Sophomore kicker Andy Von Dollen was chosen for his deep kickoffs which limited Iowa Wesleyan's returns on special teams.

Adkisson was also named the Nebraska NCAA-II Defensive Player of the Week for his 14 tackles. Adkisson is a 6-1, 222 pound junior linebacker from Columbus.

LAMONT RAINEY was named the offensive player of the week for his performance against Wesleyan.

JON ADKISSON earned defensive player of the week honors and NCAA-II Player of the week honors.

THE WAYNE HIGH girls golf team qualified for the Nebraska State Golf Tournament after a third place showing at the district tournament in Oakland, Thursday afternoon. Dave Hix's team fired a 425 which was the worst score of the year but due to the weather conditions it wasn't all bad. Kristine Kopperud, Molly Melena and Erica Stoltenberg each placed in the top 10. The golf team has nine members including back row: Melissa Ehrhardt, Krissy Lubberstedt, Kristine Kopperud, Sandy Burbach. Front: Molly Melena, Erica Stoltenberg, Tisha Rothfuss, Ann Swerczek and Amy Ehrhardt.

Community Outreach Program planned by Winside churches

Winside's three local churches will be participating again in the annual Community Outreach Program, which tries to make Thanksgiving and Christmas a little brighter for area needy families.

"We have approximately 20 families this year which includes about 25 children ranging in ages up to 18 as well as a number of senior citizens on limited incomes," said Joni Jaeger, one of the co-chairmen. "The Winside Boy and Cub Scouts recently collected 424 cans of food, which were generously given by Winside residents for this project. Each year we pack a basket of canned foods, meats, produce and the essentials needed for a blessed Thanksgiving dinner, including either a turkey or a ham. At Christmas each child receives a gift certificate for some new clothing."

"It takes about $700-$800 each year for these food baskets and gift certificates," said Mrs. Jaeger. "To raise funds for these certificates and food items the chairman, Sunday school teachers and congregation members held a bake sale Oct. 7. Co-chairmen have also been selling Nebraska football raffle tickets."

Nov. 2 has been designated Community Outreach Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church and United Methodist Church and Nov. 13 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. The co-chairmen would appreciate any donations of cash, canned goods, frozen meats, garden produce, quilts, blankets, mittens and caps and any other clean, good quality winter clothing for children and good used or new toys. Any of these items, except frozen meat, can be left in the church basements and marked Outreach. All donations will be used for Winside area residents or other needy families attending the Winside Public Schools.

If anyone knows of any needy family in the area or you have any questions, you can contact any of the co-chairmen. They are Trinity Lutheran Church, Darcy Frahm and Sally Schwartz; United Methodist Church, Patty Skokan and Jeanine Longnecker; and St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Gail Jaeger and Joni Jaeger.

Lutheran Bible Institute being held in West Point

The first session of the 38th annual Lutheran Bible Institute of the West Point Circuit of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod was held Oct. 2 at St. Paul's Lutheran, West Point with 101 people in attendance. Rev. Gregg Hein of St. Paul's, West Point, led the group session of the Bible study on the Selected Psalms dealing with God's peace through discipline. This study will continue throughout the Institute.

The topical speaker, Rev. Bill Prewitt, St. John, Pender, led the discussion, "Individual Peace ... God's Discipline." Next week's study will be led by DCE Ron Benson, Peace Lutheran Church, Columbus, entitled "Peace For Your Family ... Family Discipline." DCE Benson will also lead the high school youth Bible study, "Running the Race," starting at 7 p.m. Pizza and pop will be served following the youth study. Admission is free to the youth.

The "Ask the Pastor" panel will not be held this year due to a lack of questions. Depending on interest, it may be back in the years to follow. Let the board members know your feelings at the next Bible Institute. The Bible Institute will be held again on Oct. 9 at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Fire Prevention Week is Oct. 9-15

Oct. 9 begins Fire Prevention Week. This week is set aside every year to commemorate the Great Chicago Fire of 1871 and increase public awareness of the dangers of fire.

National statistics show that in 1992 there was a fire injury reported to a fire department every 18 minutes, a fire death occurred every 111 minutes. Nebraska figures for 1993 show nearly one fire occurred every hour of every day causing a dollar loss of $73 per minute. Cooking and carelessness in the kitchen was the leading cause of fire in the state. Deaths totaled 21 for the year.

The theme for the National Fire Protection Agency for this year is, "Test Your Detector For Life." Does this send out a message of prevention to people, or does this send out a safety message? Yes, there is a difference. To prevent a fire means to keep from happening. Do smoke detectors keep a fire from happening? No, but they will sound an early life saving warning, if properly placed and maintained.

State Fire Marshal Mike Durst would like to impress upon all Nebraskans, that fires can be prevented, and they can be prevented by all ages. How can a small child prevent a fire? By not playing with matches and lighters. Where do children get matches and lighters to play with? From adults who have left them lay within a child's reach.

Fires occur because of carelessness. How often do you check the cords in your house for wear? It wouldn't take long to check, and by simply replacing a worn cord a fire could be prevented.

Take the following test and see how much you know about fire.

1. What is the leading cause of home fires? a. smoking materials b. arson c. heating equipment d. electrical equipment

Answer: c. heating equipment. You can avoid a fire by using and maintaining heating equipment properly. Be sure to keep anything that can burn at least three feet away from all heating equipment and never leave heating equipment unattended.

2. What is the number one cause of home fire fatalities? a. lightning b. smoking materials c. cooking equipment d. electrical equipment

Answer: b. smoking materials. You can avoid this fire by using sturdy, deep ashtrays and dousing butts with water before throwing them away.

3. Where do the majority of fire deaths occur? a. school b. home c. work d. vehicles

Answer: b. home. Most of these fatalities could be prevented if occupants changed risky behaviors and removed fire hazards.

4. When do the largest number of home fires and associated fatalities occur? a. spring b. summer c. fall d. winter

Answer: d. winter. December through February are dangerous months because of increased use of heating equipment. Holiday safety is also important during this time.

5. Which of the following time segments accounts for the largest number of home fire deaths? a. midnight to 4 a.m. b. 4 a.m. to 10 a.m. c. 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. d. 6 p.m. to midnight

Answer: a. midnight to 4 a.m. when most people are asleep. Properly installed and maintained smoke detectors can double chances of survival. Plan and practice home escape drills.

6. In what room do the largest number of home fires start? a. kitchen b. utility room c. kitchen d. attic

Answer: c. kitchen. Use caution in the kitchen and never leave cooking unattended. Know how to extinguish a small pan fire, by putting a lid over the pan to smother the fire.

7. If you keep a fire extinguisher in the kitchen, the best place to locate it is: a. over the stove b. near the exit c. under the sink d. in a drawer

Answer: b. near the exit. So you can safely fight the fire and be able to escape if it doesn't immediately die down.

8. Mild curiosity about fire is normal for young children. If the curiosity turns to fire-play behavior, a parent or care-giver should: a. punish the child severely b. have the child arrested c. seek the advice of a counselor d. ignore it

Answer: c. seek the advice of a counselor. Early intervention by a trained professional can help identify the possible reasons for the child's fire-play behavior and help to change it.

9. The best way to keep children from playing with fire is: a. don't allow any open flames in your home. b. keep matches and lighters out of sight and locked up c. let them play with fire once until they get burned and learn the hard way d. teach them to be afraid of fire

Answer: b. keep matches and lighters up out of sight. Teach children at an early age that matches and lighters are tools for adults, not toys. Young children should be told to tell an adult if they find matches, while older children can be taught to bring found matches and lighters to an adult.

10. Automatic fire sprinklers are tremendously effective in saving lives because they flood the entire home every time the smoke detector goes off. a. true b. false

Answer: b. false. Automatic fire sprinklers activate when the ceiling reaches a certain temperature and the sprinkler head(s) directly over the fire releases water, extinguishing the blaze.

Remember, "Fires Can Be Prevented." Call your local fire department or the Nebraska State Fire Marshal's office for a list of prevention tips.

8. Mild curiosity about fire is

Medicare reimbursement Plan to put rural hospitals on same level as urban

U.S. Senator Jim Exon announced that effective Oct. 1, the final phase of a plan that will put rural hospitals on the same level as urban hospitals with regard to Medicare reimbursement for services provided.

"For years, the federal government had reimbursed rural hospitals for Medicare patients at a lower rate than it paid to urban hospitals," said Exon.

Exon co-sponsored a bill that was passed in 1990 to phase in an equal Medicare payment rate. The phase in is now complete with the beginning of the 1995 fiscal year.

This will result in an increase of 4.7 percent in payment rates to rural hospitals. Payments to urban hospitals will rise by 1.5 percent.

Locally, the effects of this change have not yet been determined. Marci Thomas, administrator of Providence Medical Center, said, "The federal government has been working on this for several years. They took into consideration the cost of living and several other factors when determining the amount of money we will receive."

"I don't have any statistics or information on exactly what this will mean for hospitals such as ours. We will have to have more time before we can say for sure what changes will take place," Thomas said.

Checkoff dollars are invested in diet study

Checkoff dollars invested by Wayne County cattle producers were used to help fund a new study from Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, which shows people concerned about their diets don't have to eat chicken instead of beef. The study confirms that beef and chicken that are equally low in fat have virtually the same effect on reducing cholesterol levels in the body. According to the research, selection, preparation and portion sizes are what makes the difference.

The 13-week study, published in a recent issue of the Journal Archives of Internal Medicine, put two groups of men with high blood cholesterol on a heart-healthy diet with 30 percent of daily calories from fat. The only difference was that one group of study participants ate chicken as their source of meat, while the other group ate beef. The meat portions were the same and the amount of fat, saturated fat, and cholesterol in the two test diets were very similar.

The men on the beef test diet ate meals including Lemony Beef (trimmed, broiled top loin with lemon), Teriyaki Beef (marinated, trimmed top loin), and Shredded Beef (top round). Participants on the chicken-only test diet received Lemon Pepper Chicken, Italian-Style Chicken and Natural Chicken (seasoned, broiled, partially-skinned chicken breasts).

Both the chicken and beef entrees for the test meals contained only 7 or 8 grams of fat per 3.5-ounce serving and were low in saturated fat. The study participants made other lower-fat changes in their overall diet, like substituting part-skim mozzarella cheese for cheddar.

Both test diets produced significant decreases in average total blood cholesterol and low-density lipoprotein (LDL) cholesterol levels. Both beef and chicken lowered "bad" LDL cholesterol levels 9 to 11 percent.

"This research shows that it's the amount of fat and saturated fat—not the type of meat eaten—that correlates with blood cholesterol levels," said Lynne Scott, M.A., R.D., director of the Diet Modification Clinic at Baylor College of Medicine and one of the study's lead researchers.

Added Mardy Carlson, R.D., C.N., Consumer Relation Coordinator for the Nebraska Beef Council, "The study found that when beef and chicken have comparable amounts of fat, they are virtually interchangeable in regard to their effect on cholesterol levels. The important thing is how the products are prepared."

According to Carlson, families can apply the study's findings at home. "You can serve a three-ounce portion of beef top sirloin, trimmed and broiled, which has 6 grams of fat and 75 milligrams of cholesterol. Compare that to a three-ounce serving of roasted skinless chicken drumstick meat, which has 4 grams of fat and 80 milligrams of cholesterol."

Scott said that people concerned about cholesterol don't need to eliminate beef from the diet. "Long-term changes in eating habits are what's needed to lower blood cholesterol levels," she explained. "It's a matter of combining a wide variety of foods in a diet that's effective over time."

For more information on this study or the beef checkoff, a $1-per-animal investment collected each time cattle are sold, contact the Nebraska Beef Council.

Communities beating the odds in retail

While many rural communities have experienced substantial retail losses, others are beating the odds, a recent report reveals.

"Retailing Patterns Across Nebraska's Counties and Communities" could be a useful tool for Nebraska community leaders, business owners and citizens, according to co-author Bruce Johnson, an agricultural economist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The report measures the relative economic strength and weaknesses of Nebraska's retail sector from 1970-1993, Johnson said. Each county, town and city in Nebraska is measured in light of its retail pull factor, based on taxable retail sales. The retail pull factor is the relative market share of retail sales captured.

Johnson said the report's measurement of retail activity could impact many retail and trade dealers professionally, since it serves as a benchmark from which to assess the retail performance of communities across similar and differing population sizes.

"It's a base for understanding where we are coming from," the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources ag economist said. "The primary function of most small towns is retail and trade, and this study helps us see the general trends."

Trends indicate that the smaller the community, the more severe the retail loss has been. However, the report indicates that some communities have remained strong over the past decade.

Communities that appear to have remained competitive are those with a historically strong retail market, compounded by an advantageous geographic location, Johnson said. If the area is the biggest community in a 40-mile radius, it appears to have a better chance for maintaining a viable retail industry. The relatively small city of McCook, for instance, remains competitive because it is the largest community in the region. Comparable sized communities surrounding the Lincoln-

Omaha metropolitan areas are harder hit because they cannot compete with the metro center's stronger retail pull.

Johnson added that the success of one community often seems to come at the expense of the surrounding area. Communities that cannot compete with larger areas offering full-service retailing often compensate by altering their retail function.

"The point is that they can find their niche," Johnson explained. "They can no longer be everything to everybody in an age of mobile, cost-conscious consumers."

As a result, many smaller communities are experiencing the evolution of their retail activities into more of a convenience approach. While this often means the loss of specialty-type stores, other stores are sustainable by changing the emphasis to more basic goods and convenience items.

Johnson noted that some communities are beating the odds despite the magnitude of retail changes in a relatively short time and the ground smaller communities have lost to metropolitan areas and nearby competitive full-service retail stores.

"They continue to successfully function as retail centers and generate trade volume far greater than their size would indicate," Johnson added.

Something to Crow About at Riley's

WAYNE. Wayne, Nebraska is known as the home of "Chicken Days" and no where in Wayne can you get a better chicken meal than at Riley's Cafe. One choice is the Chicken Italiano, two tender chicken breasts topped with finely grated white cheddar, swiss and provolone cheeses, surrounded by a tantalizing white wine sauce.

Another favorite is Chicken Cordon Bleu. Riley's starts with a skinless chicken breast and stuffs it with ham, cheeses, spices, and bakes it to a golden brown. Or if you're truly a chicken fan, don't miss our chicken special (not available every day - that's how special it is). This meal is a chicken breast in an herb/lemon sauce baked inside a crispy pastry pocket. For a meal you won't forget, don't go anywhere but Riley's Cafe.
