Voters to decide on $7.9 million bond

By Clara Osten
For the Herald

Voters will have an opportunity to decide on a new Middle School facility and addition to the Wayne High School but they will have to wait until March to make their vote official.

In a special meeting Friday, the Wayne School Board voted to hire a bonding agent and proceed with a special election tentatively set for March 14.

The proposed $7.9 million construction project will not include funds for an auditorium nor will it include funds for expansion of the existing lecture hall facility to be able to handle school assemblies.

Instead, an auxiliary gym which is retained in the plan, will be pressed into service as a multipurpose facility with a portable stage and folding chairs. The elimination of auditorium facilities shaved about $1 million off the anticipated cost of the bond proposal.

The decision to cut the facilities was not unanimous. Board members Phyllis Spethman and Will Davis argued for keeping the plan that was sent to the board by its citizen study committee intact with provisions for an auditorium but in the end the vote came down to a 5-1 decision to proceed without it.

Other board members expressed fear that the $8.8 million price tag on the full project might scare voters off and doom the critically needed Middle School replacement.

Bonding agent will be Darwin Reider of the firm Kirkpatrick Pettis from Omaha. The firm will help coordinate the campaign for the March election and fiscal matters if the voters approve the financing proposal.

It is anticipated the 20 year bond issue would raise the tax rate approximately 40 cents per hundred dollars of property valuation or $200 per year on a $50,000 property.

A great slate of six candidates took to the stage Monday to ask for votes during the Wayne School Board Candidates Forum. The prospective board members fielded a variety of tough questions, each explaining their views candidly and forthrightly.

County delays ADA action

By Tom Mallen
Of the Herald

Wayne County Commissioners today delayed action on installing an elevator in the Courthouse by instructing Custodian Art Barker to gather further information from the State Fire Marshal's office as to why the Marshal does not believe that platform (wheelchair) lifts do not comply with state and federal guidelines and what other regulations the Marshal will put on renovations to the courthouse.

Lincoln Architect Jerry Berggren, at the request of the commissioners, had investigated installing an elevator in the north-west corner of the courthouse, to provide handicap accessibility to the three main floors of the building. Berggren's written report maintained that the commissioner's desired location would not be easily accessible and that "while this could be done, a less costly, more central location would be immediately in front of the County Clerk's Office door." Berggren calculated a budget of between $170,000 and $180,000 for the project. His earlier report estimated the cost of building an attached, exterior elevator at $379,000.

The commissioners expressed concern that the architect's estimate was not realistic. Commissioner Jerry Pospishil stated, "That's $180,000 just to make it accessible with an interior elevator, this does not address the cost of entering the building." Barker noted that Americans with Disabilities Act guidelines require a 48 feet long wheelchair ramp to enter the building and later implied that the commissioners may want to consider a new courthouse location, "that sandstone is flaking away...the entire building is sitting on sandstone which may or may not be repairable."

Pospishil suggested that the county close off the third floor of the Courthouse, "it'd be a lot cheaper to eliminate the upper floor," he said. The commissioner reasoned that the monies in the courthouse fund would be better spent building a new addition on to the existing structure, "For that $400,000 you could build a heck of a good addition for the court system."

Berggren had forwarded a letter to the commissioners from the Fire Marshal's office, which stated in part, "every required exit, exit access or exit discharge shall be maintained free of all obstructions or impediments... installation (of platform lifts) in required exit, exit access or exit discharge areas will not be allowed."

Candidates sound similar at school board forum

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Each of the six candidates for the Wayne School Board voiced strong support for passage of a bond issue to fund school building needs during a candidate's forum Monday night.

There were few areas of disagreement among the candidates in the well-reasoned discussion of educational issues facing the Wayne district. The forum, sponsored by the West Elementary Boosters, was attended by approximately 90.

Each of the candidates voiced support for plans to construct a new wing on the high school building to be used as a replacement for the middle school facility and to add shared space for both buildings. The only mild dissent to the bond issue and building plans placed in force by the current board was Bob Dyer's request that the board not push anything through "until after the new board members are elected."

All the candidates also agreed it would be more practical to find ways to raise additional funds to keep existing programs going rather than discuss cuts even if state aid continues to decline.

Six candidates, two of whom are incumbents, are vying for the three seats that are up for election Nov. 8. Besides Dyer, the candidates are Jean Blomenkamp; John Carollo; Will Davis, incumbent; Dennis Lipp, and Dr. Ken Liska, incumbent.

Introduced in alphabetical order by moderator Mark Ahmann, the candidates were asked to present an opening statement about their qualifications and then respond to questions presented in writing by members of the audience.

Mrs. Blomenkamp, an assistant professor of education at Wayne State College said she would bring 26 years of professional education experience to the school board post. She said she has worked closely with the board for the past 11 years and would like to give back to the citizens of the community through service on the board.

Stressing the need for strategic planning and better communication, Mrs. Blomenkamp said she would "stay close to the people and truly listen to them."

She said before making decisions about the long term future of the Carroll school, the public should be informed about the demographics and legal aspects of the issue.

"What would be the loss to this district if some or all of those

College opposes funding change

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) -- At least one community college doesn't go along with a Nebraska Tax Review Committee proposal to fund the state's six community colleges with state tax funds instead of property taxes.

The Northeast Community College Board of Governors approved a resolution Thursday night opposing the proposal. Board members spoke strongly against the plan they say likely would weaken local control over community colleges.

The Tax Review Committee appointed by Gov. Ben Nelson to study property taxes included its community college proposal in a list of several suggestions to change the tax system in Nebraska.

The state pays about $36 million to finance community colleges, with property taxes accounting for about $50 million and tuition adding another $21 million.

Community college funding statewide requires about 3 percent of all property taxes collected in Nebraska.

NECC board member Helen Morten of South Sioux City said property tax support makes community colleges more responsive to local citizens than would statewide support. Total state funding would mean state authority over the community colleges, she said.

Service is best salesman says retiree

By Clara Osten
For the Herald

"Service is our best salesman" has been the motto for Charlie and Marge Kudrna of Charlie's Refrigeration for the past 19 years.

The Kudrnas came to Wayne in 1958 from Hastings to work in the repair business.

"I went to work for H. W. Kugler. At that time I was making $65 a week and supporting a wife and three children. I do remember keeping very busy. When I got to Wayne there were 35 conventional washers in the basement that needed work," said Charlie.

In 1972 the Kudrnas went to work for themselves, doing repair work out of their home. In 1976, they purchased the building that is currently Charlie's Refrigeration and began selling appliances as well as servicing them.

Since that time Charlie estimates that he has made 1,500 service calls per year and averaged at least 15,000 miles of driving to repair and replace appliances.

"We have a service radius of 20-25 miles from Wayne and service all makes and all types of appliances," said Charlie.

Two years ago Charlie had major back surgery, spending eight hours on the operating table. That, his age and the fact that his knees have begun to give him problems, have made Charlie and Marge decide to retire.

The Kudrnas sold their business to Charlie's nephew and his wife, Brad and Janiece Berge, who will continue to provide the services Charlie did. In addition they plan to install furnaces.

Charlie and Marge hope to travel. "We want to go to Kentucky next year to see some of Charlie's army buddies that we have stayed in contact with for 40 years but haven't gotten the chance to see," said Marge.

Marge has been as involved in the business as much as Charlie has. "I kept the books for the business. There was no such thing as a 'quiet day' here. On the days that weren't as busy as others, I tried to get caught up on things I couldn't do the day before," she said.

Both Charlie and Marge said the thing they will miss most about not working is the people that they have dealt with throughout the years.

The Kudrnas are members of the Evangelical Free Church which they helped start in 1971.

They have four sons, 10 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

"Wayne has been very good to us and we're glad we made the choice to come here. We hope to spend the rest of our lives here," said Marge.

Charlie echoed his wife's comment by saying that he appreciates all the customers they have dealt with and hopes they continue to be Brad's customers.

(Carroll) children chose to go elsewhere?" she asked in response to a question about the future of the elementary school.

Mrs. Blomenkamp faced a couple more questions than the other candidates. She was asked about her husband's role as negotiator for the Wayne teacher's union and how that would affect her role on the school board.

"We're both professionals and that is not something that would be a problem," she responded. Though apparently uncomfortable with the question, she said the skills and advantages she would bring to the school board would outweigh the "disadvantages" of her husband's position as a teacher negotiator.

Responding to a question about her criticism of the board during the primary, Mrs. Blomenkamp said the district needs board members who will be responsive to the community and that she would promote better communication.

She said she agrees with the efforts school superintendent Dr. Dennis Jensen and the board have made in upgrading technology programs at the school but she said she disagreed with "some of the policies and objectives." She did not answer a question about what her position would be on a vote of confidence for Jensen.

The second board member introduced was John Carollo. He said he sees a severe problem of space in our schools and wants to see better facilities both in Wayne and Carroll.

He said he would approach the key issues "with balanced cooperation and a little bit of logic."

He said the communities have made a big investment in their educational systems and like anything else invested in, you expect a return.

"Students in school affect all of us," said Carollo. He added some day one of the students now in school may be treating the community as a doctor or lawyer.

He added he hopes the proposed construction project is done right the first time and that the students are not shortchanged. He appealed to the people of the district to make sure the full needs of the district are included in the bond issue and it is passed.

He said he has a concern about the space studies and the talk about moving Carroll students to Wayne Elementary. He said upgrading the Carroll School and leaving those students where they are, might provide a better return on investment.

On the superintendent, Carollo, said "Overall he has accomplished much and progressed this school forward." He said he would take a positive position in a vote of confidence for the superintendent.

He said the changes and improvement efforts underway in the school system were exciting and he wants to be a part of it.

Will Davis, incumbent, was the third candidate to speak. He got a big laugh when he said he chose to run for reelection to the board because of the high pay. There is no pay for school board members. But, he added, that seriously there would be a good return on the effort because the future of the children is crucial.

He said he wanted to finish the job started when the board hired a superintendent (Jensen) to upgrade education technology in the system.

"So that no one is deceived, I do support the bond issue. So that no one is decided, I favor keeping the Carroll school and will support that." He said he thinks the Carroll issue can be addressed so that everyone can win.

Davis, a Wayne pharmacist, also said he supports Superintendent Jensen and would vote to retain him. He said he has not always agreed with the administrator but that he definitely believes the schools are moving in the right direction with technology.

"When we find that perfect person we're going to clone him and put him on the school board," said Davis.

He said he tries to bring the human element to the school board adding that every advancement in technology should be counterbalanced with an increase in human service element.

He matter-of-factly invited the voters to vote for him if they wanted to and one of the other candidates if they didn't.

Bob Dyer said he decided to run for the school board because he wanted to see quality education efforts continue. He said he could play an effective role in providing good managerial skills and leadership.

An executive at Great Dane, Dyer said he sees the increased use of team concepts in the American business world. He added the movement can be enhanced through education. Extra-curricular activities are an important part of a student's education, he said pointing out the team concepts learned in sports, drama and band.

Dyer said he was not sure about the Carroll School issue but voiced skepticism about the figures released by the schools saying that the Carroll students could be absorbed into Wayne Elementary without additional space needs.

Dyer said he disagreed with the superintendent on some issues, especially the decision to replace the Wayne High Athletic Director. He said he didn't like the way the move was handled. However, he said he had mixed feelings about other areas of the superintendents performance and did not voice a position on a hypothetical vote of confidence.

He said he has the financial background to help the district and supports a progressive, total-quality approach to the school system.

Dennis Lipp, said his children have gotten a very good education in the last ten years in the Wayne schools and he wants to be a part of the effort to continue to improve the school system.

"I believe we should give back for what we have received," said the Wayne bank officer.

Lipp said he thinks it is a good idea to sit down with Carroll residents and students to openly discuss the future and options for the school there. He said he is not sure of a position to take on the issue because there are still many questions and answers to be discussed.

"Change is always tough for people," said Lipp explaining why some have been critical of the Wayne Superintendent. However, he said he likes most of the changes implemented by Jensen at the behest of the school board and he would vote to retain him.

"We have a good system. I am genuinely interested in the children of our district and have a great hope for the school system in the future," said Lipp. He said he hopes voters support him because of his long-time involvement as a volunteer for youth activities in the area.

The final candidate to have the opportunity to speak was incumbent Dr. Ken Liska. The Wayne veterinarian said he has been a horseowner, business owner and land owner in the district for the past 25 years and he has the perspective to know what the impact of the cost of education is.

He said his children have all graduated from the district and he will continue to work as hard as he can to "make our system the envy of Northeast Nebraska."

"I am proud of the advancements our board has challenged our administration to make," said Liska. He said he would bring objectivity to the position if reelected. He said the board should consider the total cost of education for the entire district. He said the district could save $147,000 by closing the Carroll School and busing its 50 students to Wayne and that he would welcome the discussion about that issue with residents of the Carroll area.

"If I have contributed anything to this district, I am most proud of the decision to hire (Dennis Jensen)," said Liska. "I am in strong support of him. I wouldn't be here if I wasn't. He has an extremely good work ethic and he only has the best interests of the students in mind," Liska added.

He said voters should select him because of his 6 years of experience on the board and because of his maturity and objectivity. He said the changes that have been implemented are making waves.

"But, I'm proud to be on the board that is making changes," said Liska. "I support the current board and the current administration."

Bundle up it may be hot in there

Chris Lueders helps an unidentified fellow fireman prepare to enter the Super 8 Motel in Wayne Monday, but the only thing that got hot was the fireman. A malfunctioning alarm sent firemen scurrying to the motel. There was no smoke, no damage and no cause for alarm, reported motel management which said the rumors Tuesday have been rampant.

Teachers honored in Who's Who

A select group of area teachers have been named to the Who's Who Among America's Teachers, a book compiled from nominations received from students who are listed in the Who's Who Among American High School Students and the National Deans List.

All of the 66,500 teachers listed in the top educators directory were nominated by their former students.

"There is no greater honor teachers can receive than to be recognized by former students for their excellence and dedication," said Paul

Krouse, publisher of the book. "In this publication we clearly have the best teachers in America selected by the best students."

Local educators honored in the 1994 edition of the publication include:

Emerson: Daniel Joseph Bormann, Emerson-Hubbard High School, and Deborah A. Relitz, Emerson-Hubbard Elementary School.

College Fair is coming

The 10th Tri-State College Fair is scheduled Oct. 23 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Marina Inn in South Sioux City.

The fair for high school students and their parents, or anyone considering going back to school, will feature representatives from over 100 colleges, universities and vocational schools throughout the midwest and nation. Vocational-technical schools from four states plan to be represented. The military, including ROTC and the service academies, will also be represented.

The afternoon offers prospective students and parents a chance to talk with representatives about post-high school educational opportunities. They may also pick up printed material which will be available.

Financial aid officials plan to conduct special meetings all afternoon to acquaint parents with the process for obtaining financial aid. The sessions will explain step-by-step procedures for obtaining scholarships and other types of aid to help finance post-high school education.

Students from 85 high schools in an 18-county area in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota have been invited to attend the fair, the largest in this area.

The Tri-State College Fair is being coordinated by Western Hills Area Education Agency and promoted by area high school counselors.

Seeking help with stolen bikes

Dear Editor:

They say people in small towns come to each others aid. I am asking for your help. Monday evening, Oct. 10, my son Tom had yet another bike stolen. It was stolen from behind Wayne High School. The bike is a 26" Diamond Back, black in color, 21 speed. Frame #F3406579. Tom uses his bike for transportation to and from work and school.

Tom also had a 26" white Schwinn stolen from in front of Quality Foods in June of this year. License #610, 18 speed.

If anyone, knows where these bikes might be found, please contact the Wayne Police Department.

Facility doesn't belong in Wayne

Dear Editor:

I live in the neighborhood just two blocks from the Wayne Juvenile Detention Center. It will be two years in December since I have lived here. Our neighborhood is one of the best I have ever seen as far as being close friends. Nearly all of us have young families. My self I am a single parent with a young daughter. I have never been afraid of living in Wayne. Our children ply outside together near our homes and we don't lock our doors when we are home. But now we are fearing that it is coming to being locked in all the time. What is the problem going on at the JDC? Is there adequate staffing at all times. Where is administration when all these escapes occur? The administrator joked of sounding a siren off the building... I don't have a problem with that. At least then we could keep our eyes and ears open and be able to protect ourselves because our Police Force cannot be everywhere at once. The answer always seems to be Build a New Building! I think the answer is we cannot handle this type of facility in Wayne. Yes, it may bring in money for our county but is it worth jeopardizing the safety of our community. Don't forget our schools are very close by and there are no fences keeping them out of there. Of course, fences never seem to be a problem for them. These may just be kids but they are kids who commit adult crimes: Think of the property damage they have already caused and most of all the physical assaults on the staff. You cannot hire just anyone to handle these offenders. They need extensive training and knowledge of just what can happen. The facility doesn't belong in a residential area and does not belong in Wayne. We should have listened to our commissioner(s) who opposed it. We as a community need to make our voices heard regarding this very dangerous problem. Be at the next Wayne County Commissioners meeting. Our neighborhood will!

Jan Stoney listens and learns

Dear Editor:

Yes, it's an election year! I try to forget our Jr. Senator has almost unlimited campaign funds — million$; that a billionaire has joined his re-election team — one of those dreadful "rich tax-dodgers" Clinton bashes; that our Senator has been lavishly purchasing mid-leading TV ads for months; that he "agonized before casing his crucial vote for that historic tax increase — forgetting Nebraska citizens; he vaunts his "Nam" bravery and bodily sacrifice; he's factually one of Congress' leading spending sponsors, joining the Democrat majority of two-house Congress for 58 of past 62 years and their fiscal spending insanity.

Kerrey returns to Nebraska sounding more conservative than 1964 Goldwater; and he voted for the meaningless, pork-filled "Crime Bill"; that he's Chm. of special Ad Hoc Senate Committee that labels Social Security and Medicare as "entitlements." Yes, Mr. Kerrey, you're one smooth, professional politician. You deny yearning for the White House. I try to forget these and other deceptive actions: but I can't. I prefer remembering that your opponent, Jan Stoney, rose from a clerical position to top position in her large business, becoming honored as one of the nation's foremost business leaders. She started in a less-than-affluent neighborhood. Her campaign reaffirms Republican precepts — less spending, less taxes, less government intrusion, regulations, regimentation. She listens. She learns. She's not arrogant. She'll remember Nebraska citizens. My vote is not for sale. We hope Nebraskans aren't!

Bob Thomas

Thanks for participating

Dear Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank those who took the time out of their busy schedules to participate and attend Day of Unity, which was held in the Student Center on Thursday, Oct. 6. The event kicked off National Domestic Violence Awareness Month, and was sponsored by Haven House of Wayne, along with Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, to promote awareness about domestic violence and how it affects our communities.

Renown authority on domestic violence issues, Ann Hoschler, of the Nebraska Domestic Violence/Sexual Assault Coalition, was keynote speaker during the morning session. Ann gave a dynamic, eye-opening presentation entitled "Code Black & Blue," which took a close perspective on domestic violence and how it affects children and greater society.

The afternoon session was a series of two panels, both moderated by Wayne State faculty. Session #1 "Law Enforcement Response to Domestic Violence," featured panelists Chief of Police Scot Ford of South Sioux City, Cedar County

Capitol News —

Nebraska's educated youth leaving

By Melvin Paul

Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — Maybe it was my dad who first told me. Maybe it was someone else.

But since I was a kid on the farm, I've always heard the line about how it was important to go to college so you could get a good job.

That usually meant moving off the farm or away from a small town.

Ingrained in our Nebraska culture is this idea: the most successful people are the ones that moved away. You can't be an expert unless you're from New York, California or some other high-falootin' place, is how it goes.

A recent study indicates that the urge to move away from our pristine prairie state was mighty powerful in the last decade.

The study, by the Federal Reserve Bank out of Kansas City, indicated that Nebraska was one of two states in a seven-state region to experience "substantial" out-migration of educated residents from 1985 to 1990.

One of the bank's economists said Nebraska faced a "worrisome prospect" in the 1990s because the brain drain was more evident among college-educated persons under 45 years of age, than those over 45.

That means that our young people with big degrees are moving elsewhere to find jobs and raise families — a "brain drain."

That suggests that Nebraska doesn't have the kind of good jobs to keep our brightest kids. Some people suggest that new jobs being generated in the state are lower-paying, low-skilled variety that won't keep or kids from moving away.

That is what's happened in neighboring Iowa. A recent story in the Des Moines Register indicated that Iowa has given millions to businesses for creating jobs but that most of them are low-paying telecommunications jobs. Between 1981 and 1992, the average wage in that state fell by $1.50 an hour.

The same sort of thing, a Nebraska business researcher says, is happening in this state. We are not creating "career-type" jobs.

The brain drain study immediately became a campaign issue.

Republican challenger Gene Spence claimed that Gov. Nelson has missed opportunities to bring new and better jobs to the state.

The state ranked No. 1 in non-agricultural job growth in April of 1991, Spence said, but ranked 42nd in the same category in May of this year.

Nebraskans hate dropping in any polls, namely football, but this is a serious fall.

Nelson countered that the survey was done several years ago and that figures suggest that the brain drain has slowed under his watch since 1991.

He said his administration has started programs to attract better paying jobs, and is working on other programs.

This is one big issue, and one that deserves to stick around beyond election day.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

MAIL CARRIERS' MOTTO (REVISED): 'NEITHER SNOW, NOR SLEET, NOR DARK OF NIGHT, NOR RAIN OF BULLETS SHALL KEEP THESE COURIERS FROM THEIR APPOINTED ROUNDS'

Under-the-skin chip scarey concept

Citizens are the watchdogs of the state! When you barked, Washington listened!

A microchip the size of a grain of rice, programmed with a code number, and emitting a specific radio frequency, is being used to implant just below an animal's skin. A scanner "reads" the chip for I.D. purposes.

After the scanner reads the information, the data is entered into a computer for livestock management. Target: a world I.D. system for animals.

Bingo! How long do you think it took Big Brother to promote a similar I.D. system for citizens? Not long!

Two weeks ago a federal commission on immigration called for a computerized identification system for every American.

Why? Their excuse: a way to prevent illegal immigrants from getting jobs. Sure, and the Martians are going to land at the Wayne County Fairgrounds tomorrow.

The U.S. Commission on Immigration Reform recommended the national computer registry of every American as the best way to ensure that employers do not hire illegal immigrants.

The American Civil Liberties

Merlin Wright

Union jumped in and promptly objected with a spokesperson noting that if the feds are going to have every American's name in a computer, accessible to every employer in the 50 states, it raises great concerns about adequate safeguards: For once the ACLU got it right and nailed it.

A computer pilot program introducing this concept could have been implemented by the Clinton administration without congressional action. The national computer database would have included name, Social Security number, work status, and a personal I.D. number or word. Would it have ended there? Not likely! So there is no under-the-skin chip yet, but with its insatiable appetite, just give government time. We are a government by bureaucracy, remember?

Hearing powerful objections, the Clinton Administration turned down the Commission's recommendation. Politicians will surely reintroduce the concept in disguised form.

With a chip embedded in your hand (used to pass over a laser at the checkout counter for transferring funds) you would never get lost. Uncle Sam could, via satellite, know where you were at any given moment and would know every transaction you made. Big Brother could then figure your taxes.

The only reason the Commission on Immigration Reform did not reach its goal was because of the howl of protest from citizen watchdogs.

Anyone care to mark a ballot requiring a few of these loonies' from office come November?

If we were to buy everything by the pound, some things we think are expensive wouldn't seem so bad and things we consider cheap would not seem so at all.

Take the first class postage stamp for example. Put a per pound price on those babies and mailing a letter wouldn't seem so cheap at all. How's $963 a pound sound for stamps?

On the other hand, a typical three bedroom, wood frame home with a basement only runs about 70 cents a pound. What a bargain.

Economist Jon Vara got me to thinking with his article in a recent issue of the Old Farmer's Almanac when he offered some comparisons of prices for items if we purchased everything by the pound.

For instance, he explains, a new two-door economy car costs only $3,284 a pound, which is less than a pound of coffee at about $3.75.

You can't even buy a pencil or a light bulb as cheaply as you can buy a car. Those are $10 and $14.30 per pound respectively, according to Vara.

If that gives you a headache thinking about it, take an aspirin. They're only $14.50 a pound.

We would expect gold to head the list of most costly items purchased by the pound. It tops Vavra's list at over $6,000, but there are some other items that are just about worth their weight in gold.

Take condoms for example. The latex kind costs cover $150 a pound, says Vara. But they're still a bargain at triple the price.

How about a Boeing 747 jetliner. They weigh in at about $375 a pound. There's several items that Vara didn't include in his pound-wise shopper's guide, so I took the liberty of adding to it.

Nebraska businesses oppose taxes

By nearly a 3 to 1 majority, businesses surveyed by the Nebraska Chamber of Commerce and Industry oppose adding new taxes, particularly a sales tax on services, to help reduce the reliance on local property taxes. Over 1,000 business people participated in the State Chamber's 1994 Legislative Forums in 29 Nebraska cities the past two weeks.

The Wayne forum was held. Seventy-three percent of those attending the Forums, sponsored by the State Chamber and local chambers of commerce, opposed adding the sales tax to services if it meant reducing their local property taxes. "This clearly indicates that people have had enough of shifting taxes to promote so-called property tax relief," said State Chamber President Jack Swartz. "We went through the same process some years back when we raised sales and income taxes to reduce property taxes, and we are back in the same situation with ever-escalating costs putting even more of a burden on local property taxes," he added.

Another controversial issue was also addressed during the Legislative Forums, namely, re-opening the debate on Initiative 300, the anti-corporate farm provision of the Nebraska Constitution. Eighty percent of participants indicated they would like to see the issue put back on the ballot for possible revisions and repeal of onerous restrictions on farm ownership.

Regarding the anticipated state budget shortfall of nearly $125 million, State Chamber members were asked how best to solve this semi-annual quandary. Fifty-five percent supported a combination of budget cuts and selected tax increases. A significant percentage who chose this option would like to see more privatization of non-essential state functions. Most members who supported taxes to help solve the shortfall preferred raising the sales tax rate.

Strong majorities, 92 percent, supported elimination of the corporate income tax "throwback rule." Another 95 percent are supportive of Amendment #1, the dispute resolution proposed constitutional amendment.

Finally, 88 percent are in favor of changing Nebraska law to limit the potential exposure Nebraska businesses may have to warn or protect customers from criminal activity on or near their premises, an issue that arose in July due to a Nebraska Supreme Court decision.

Following is a listing of statewide results of the State Chamber's 1994 Opinionnaire. In addition, results of each of the 29 locations is also given for each region. Copies are sent to each participating Chamber of Commerce and the State Senators.

The State Chamber is Nebraska's largest statewide business association, comprised of large and small companies and firms, trade associations and local chambers of commerce.

Approximately 10 Wayne Chamber members attended the forum when it was held here.

The Wayne opinions on the key issues were released by the State Chamber.

NEBRASKA CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

1. Amendment #1 - Dispute Resolutions. Amendment #1 is a proposed state constitutional amendment that will be on the ballot Nov. 8. The amendment allows anyone entering into a contract to voluntarily agree to resolve any future disputes that may arise by arbitration, mediation, or means other than litigation.

Do you support or oppose passage of such an amendment to the Nebraska Constitution? Support 73% — Oppose 27%

2. Initiative 300 - Farm Ownership. In 1982, the Nebraska Constitution was amended by initiative petition (1,300) to prohibit the ownership of farmland and operation of farms by non-family farm corporations or syndicates. After 12 years, many believe it is time for the Legislature and the voters to revisit this policy, remove farm ownership restrictions from the state's constitution, and consider placing any needed restrictions in state law.

Should the Legislature submit to Nebraska voters a constitutional amendment that would propose to repeal I.300?

Yes 91% — No 9%

TAXATION

3. Sales vs. Property Taxes. Should the Legislature extend the state's sales tax base to include most services to fund further state aid to local governments and schools earmarked to reduce the reliance on property taxes?

Yes 18% — No 82%

4. "Throwback Rule." A key to economic development is maintaining a favorable business climate. Nebraska companies are currently taxed on income from sales made not only to customers outside the state but also products that are delivered to Nebraska for storage and later shipped to other states. Iowa, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota do not have a corporate income tax "throwback rule." Some Nebraska companies have sidestepped this rule by setting up distribution points in states that do not have a throwback tax.

Should Nebraska corporate income tax law be changed to eliminate the "throwback rule?" Support 100% — Oppose 0%

5. Business Duties Ruling. In 1994, the Nebraska Supreme Court ruled that a business may be held liable for a customer's injuries resulting from criminal activity occurring on or near the place of business. The court ruled that if the place or type of business is such that the business should foresee careless or criminal conduct on the part of a third party, the business may have a duty to warn, to take precautions and to provide reasonable protection against such a person.

Should Nebraska law be changed to limit the potential exposure Nebraska businesses may have to warn or protect customers?

Yes 90% — No 10% STATE BUDGET

6. Projected Shortfall. Estimates are that a state budget shortfall in the next fiscal biennium may run approximately $96 million, due mainly to additional state employee salary increases and federal mandates in the areas of Medicaid and special education. The state is faced with the problem of either raising additional revenues or making further budget cuts, or perhaps a combination of both.

Which of the following alternatives would you prefer:

9% a. budget cuts sufficient to meet spending needs.

0% b. increased taxes to solve the budget shortfall.

91% c. a combination of both budget cuts and tax increases.

If you checked "a" or "c", which if the following cost cutting procedures would you prefer:

0% a. place all local governments and schools and the state under a 2% lid for the next two budget cycles.

0% b. reduce the amount of state aid distributed to local government and schools, thus shifting to a greater reliance on local property taxes.

33% c. make an across-the-board budget cut on a percentage basis of state agencies and programs.

67% d. identify and privatize these non-essential state functions that can be demonstrated as cost-saving to the state.

If you checked "b" or "c", which if the following taxes would you prefer be changed:

36% a. state sales tax rate increase (each 1% increase generates approximately $133 million)

10% b. expand sales tax to broad range of services (estimated $70-$100 million)

27% c. sales tax on food (estimated $70 million)

27% d. increase individual and corporate income tax rates (10% increase would generate about $75 million)

Teacher conferences slated

Elks Ruler coming to Norfolk

Robert Kluge of Fairbury, District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler, will conduct a required visitation of the Norfolk Elks Lodge on Tuesday, Oct. 18.

Kluge is the son of Ed and Leona Kluge of Wayne and a graduate of Wayne High and Wayne State College.

Kluge will meet with the Exalted Ruler, Howard L. Leshovsky, and the other Lodge officers to review the programs of Grand Exalted Ruler, Kenneth Moore of Corona, Calif., whose theme for 1994-95 is "Meeting the Challenge."

Some of the traditional Elks programs include Hoop Shoot, Americanism, Youth Services, Flag Day, Veterans, "Say No To Drugs," and Scouting. The Elks Association is the largest provider of student scholarships in the nation next to the money awarded through the federal government to students.

Eight Lodges in Nebraska East are served by Kluge and visitations have been scheduled in all eight during the months of October and November.

Lee Coatman, Past Exalted Ruler from Fairbury, will serve as Grand Esquire, during the review of the operation of the Norfolk Lodge, its programs and facilities.

Sheriff Elliot Arens and Jim Dockerty of the Wayne Police Department. Moderator was Dr. Paul Campbell, Professor, Social Sciences. Session #2 "Legal Response to Domestic Violence," featured panelists The Honorable Robert Ensz, District Judge, and Wayne County Attorney Mike Pieper. Moderator was Laura Barclan, Adjunct Faculty, Social Sciences.

On display throughout the day was the Nebraska Clothesline Project. The Clothesline Project is a visual display that bears witness to the violence against women. The clothesline is hung with shirts, each decorated to represent a particular woman's experience, by the survivor or by someone who cares about her. The Clothesline Project is being display at Conn Library on Wayne State College campus throughout the month of October. Many of the shirts on display were decorated by women in the community of Wayne. We hope everyone has an opportunity to view this powerful message sent by survivors of domestic violence.

A fair turnout received valuable information on these issues and much discussion was generated throughout the day. We are sorry that The Wayne Herald staff was unable to cover this newsworthy event.

Haven House will be making this an annual event, and hopes that the next Unity Day will be even more successful. Again, thank you to those who attended.

College

Hartington said past proposals to reduce property taxes with another tax or other revenue have failed. No significant reduction in property taxes ever occurs, he said.

Robert Cox, NECC president, said community colleges have been selective about how they spend their money. Community colleges already are limited on how much they may spend each year by statutory limits on property taxes, he said.

Board member Richard Corkle of Tilden said it is important that board members take a strong, unified stance in opposition to the proposal.

The board then unanimously approved a two-page resolution in opposition to the proposal.

The Clinton's And Their Clone

Bill Hillary and Ben Clinton's Nebraska Campaign Chairman

Most Nebraskans — in less than two years — have already had enough of Biff and Hillary Clinton and their politics. Most won't even consider voting for Clinton again. So, why would anybody in Nebraska vote for Ben Nelson again when he's given us four years of the same Clinton-style inertia and ineptness on the state level?

Here are the facts:

The Fact Is they really do have a lot in common. That's why Ben endorsed Clinton and his policies — and even served as his state chairman for Nebraska!!! In fact, Nelson continues to endorse Clinton's misguided policies — which shows us what Ben Nelson knows about government, leadership and responding to the taxpayers' concerns.

The Fact Is that Bill Hillary and Ben are all disciples of "New Age" politics. They know all about politics and ways to get elected, but virtually nothing about governing and supporting the kind of "common sense" politics we want. They put their own personal and political agenda ahead of the people.

The Fact Is that both Bill and Ben are making political points off the previous administrations. Neither has done much on their own to promote our prosperity and make things better. Bill is benefiting from a healthy economy because of what Presidents Reagan and Bush did before him. Ben is just riding along on the state's healthy economy — primarily due to things that were done by his predecessor six or seven years ago. Both are political freeloaders — living off the success of their Republican predecessors.

Afternoon ceremony unites Prokop-Foix

Teresa Prokop and Jason Foix were united in marriage Sept. 10 during an afternoon ceremony at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

The bride is the daughter of Ken and Shirley Prokop of Wayne and the groom is the son of Aaron and Cynthia Foix of Hornick, Iowa.

The Rev. Fr. Don Cleary officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated in hunter green, burgundy and ivory.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a satin floor length gown in ivory. It featured long sleeves and was adorned with lace and pearls around the outlines. Her finger-tip veil featured braided satin and pearls. She carried white roses and stephanotis.

Nick Sieler, Wayne, was the vocalist and Dolores Alexander, Emerson served as organist. Featured numbers were "He Has Chosen You For Me" and "On Eagles Wings".

Maid of honor was Tara Nichols, Kearney. Bridesmaids were Elizabeth Lutt, Wayne; Sharla Sylvester, Omaha, and Tanya Prokop, Wayne. They wore satin burgundy dresses.

Candle lighters were Abby Spahr, Wayne and Karen Bogenrief, Sioux City. Altar servers were Brian and Mark Finn.

Best man was Chris Clemitson, Sioux City. Groomsmen were Jason Schettler, Sioux City; Warren Sylvester, Omaha, and Jeremy Sims, Sioux City. Ushers included Steve Von Seggern, Omaha; Gary Prokop, Pender; Craig Bockholt, Vermillion, and Nicholas Spahr, Wayne. The men wore black tuxedos with ivory shirts.

Mr. and Mrs. Foix

A reception followed the ceremony. It was held at the Wayne County Club and was attended by 300 guests. Hosts for the reception were Dale and Onar Spahr, Wayne, and Dennis and Margaret Turner, Sioux Falls.

The couple plans a wedding trip in 1995. They are at home in Omaha where the bride is a student at the University of Nebraska Medical Center and is employed at University Hospital and the groom is serving in the Air Force at Offutt Air Force Base. She is a graduate of Wayne High School. He is a graduate of Heelan High in Sioux City.

Simple traditions for children

QUESTION: We are not financially able to take long car trips or delve into expensive hobbies, like skiing. Could you suggest some simple traditions that will appeal to small children?

DR. DOBSON: You don't have to spend a lot of money to preserve meaningful family life. Children love daily routine activities of the simplest kind. They enjoy hearing the same stories a thousand times over, and they'll laugh at the same jokes until you're ready to climb the wall from repeating them.

You can turn the routine chores of living into times of warmth and closeness if you give a little thought to them. The key is repetition, which conveys the feeling of tradition.

Let me give you an example. When my family was younger, I attempted as often as possible to put the children to bed in the evening. By that time of the night, my wife was exhausted and she appreciated the help. It also guaranteed me at least 15 to 20 minutes with the kids no matter how busy I had been that day.

The responsibility included diapering Ryan during the first three years of his life. (It took him a while to overcome that requirement, as it does all children.) I figured if I had to put a diaper on a squirming toddler, I might as well turn the activity into something that would be fun for both of us. So we played a little game each night. I would talk to the pins as I was diapering my son. I would say, "Pins, don't stick him; I don't really think you ought to stick him. See, he's being still; he's not wiggling around. Tonight, you don't have to suck him; maybe tomorrow night, but don't stick him tonight."

Ryan loved that game! He'd listen quietly, his eyes as big as half-dollars. And every night Ryan would say without fail, "Talk to the pins, Daddy!" It was something we did together, turning a routine activity into something of pleasure between father and his toddler.

I'm reminded of what Howard Hendricks said when his children were grown. He asked them what they most enjoyed about their childhood—the vacations they had taken, the parks they had visited, and all the moments they had spent together. Their answer surprised him. What they appreciated most were the times when he had gotten down on the floor and wrestled with them!

Answers Your Questions

My daughter felt the same way when she was young. She would rather fight with me than go to Disneyland or the zoo! After we'd had a tussle that left me exhausted, she always thanked me for fighting with her. For some reason, kids love that wild activity. There's kind of an informal love that transpires in a playful romp that doesn't occur any other way.

I also like the idea of reserving one night a week for reading aloud with the family. Sometimes that's difficult to accomplish with children of varying ages, but if your sons and daughters are clustered in age, I think it's a great activity. You can read Tom Sawyer and other books that have been so popular down through the ages. The idea is to read together as a family.

In short, I believe many Americans have forgotten the value of characteristics and activities that identify families as unique and different. This benefit was beautifully illustrated by the stage play "Fiddler on the Roof." What gave the violinist his stability and balance on his precarious perch? I want to give the same heritage to my children.

QUESTION: Most teenagers know that drug use is harmful to their bodies and can even kill them. Why, then, do they do it? Are they usually the victims of unscrupulous "pushers" who get them hooked on narcotics?

DR. DOBSON: Not usually. The introduction to drug usage is usually made by a friend in a social atmosphere. Marijuana and pills are frequently distributed at parties where a non-user cannot refuse to participate without appearing square and unsophisticated.

Many teenagers would literally risk their lives if they thought their peer group demanded them to do so, and this need for social approval is instrumental in the initiation of most drug habits.

Non-Prescription Contraception

Consistent and proper use of a contraceptive will significantly reduce the incidence of unwanted pregnancies. Natural family planning methods make use of various techniques to determine a woman's period of fertility. Natural planning requires keeping detailed records of the woman's menstrual cycles. Vaginal spermicides such as nonoxonyl-9 are used to kill sperm. Spermicides are very useful as a backup method to other contraceptive methods as well as can serve as a backup method if a birth control pill has been missed. Users must be reminded to pay strict attention to the directions for use of each product. Condoms are the most important barrier contraceptive device in an era of sexually transmitted infectious diseases (STDs). The use of latex condoms has been recommended to assist in the prevention of HIV transmission, due to the inability of natural skin condoms to prevent passage of small viruses. The use of oil-based lubricants, such as petroleum jelly, must be avoided. Appropriate water-based lubricants to use with latex condoms include K-Y JELLY.

Karen's Fabric Tips
MYSTERY SOLVED

There is no mystery about drycleaning. Drycleaning is simply the use of solvents to remove soil and stains from fabrics. It is called "drycleaning" because the solvents contain little or no water and do not penetrate the fibers as water does. Drycleaning solvents are fluids that actually dissolve greases and oils and remove them from the garment. Water by itself cannot do this. Natural fibers such as wools and silks can shrink, distort, and lose color when washed in water, but will dryclean beautifully. Synthetic fibers such as polyesters also respond well to drycleaning. These fibers can retain oily stains after washing, but drycleaning will remove such stains. A drycleaning machine looks much like a very large front loading home washer. It produces similar mechanical action to loosen embedded dirt. At the same time the solvent is filtered continuously to insure its clarity. Trust is the most important consideration in choosing your drycleaner.

The Golden Years

By:
Connie Dishrow

Early retirement was part of the American dream from the 1950s to the early 1980s. Many people added up savings and pension benefits to retire voluntarily in their 50s. But in the 1980s and 1990s many were "retired" early by downsizings and mergers. In 1988, on average, 462,000 people 55 and over were unemployed. By 1993, the number grew 44 percent to 667,000. Retirement planning now also includes how to cope if left jobless before becoming eligible for Social Security and Medicare benefits.

Harold Finigan, 84, and Frank Shepardson, 76, have been rowing teammates for 50 years on the Schuylkill River in Philadelphia. They were double-shell national champions in 1949. But four years ago Shepardson suffered spinal injuries in a car crash, and in 1993 Finigan was struck by a car and lay in a coma for days, one leg badly shattered. After eight months in the hospital and rehabilitation center, he went to his rowing-club boathouse. Using a walker, he moved down the ramp to join Shepardson in their double shell and off they went, rowing upriver. "Once we get into the boat, we're all right," Shepardson says.

'Cats bounce back from Kearney loss with 31-6 win WSC tames Mustangs in rain

WAYNE STATE'S defense supplied pressure all day on Southwest State quarterbacks which led to a dismal 14-40 outing by the Mustang signal-callers.

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

Dennis Wagner's Wayne State Wildcats overcame a rainy, dismal day at Memorial Field to defeat Southwest State of Minnesota, 31-6, Saturday leaving the 'Cats with a 5-2 record.

WSC bounced back from last week's homecoming loss to Kearney but Wagner said his squad's offense didn't look overly impressive despite the win.

"It wasn't a pretty win," Wagner said. "I didn't think our offense was in sync the whole game. Our defense, however, played a great football game and we are going to have to expect that same kind of performance if we are going to beat Morehead State in two weeks."

Wagner said his quarterbacks made some wrong checks and the wide receivers dropped balls that were very catchable and at times they lined up wrong. "It was just a complete lack of concentration by our wide receivers," Wagner said.

The WSC mentor did, however, credit Bobby Lugo for having a good game. "We made a lot of offensive mistakes and still won the game," Wagner said. "We have to learn from those mistakes and not make them against Morehead."

The 'Cats have a bye week this week and Wagner said it couldn't have come at a better time. "We need this break to heal some injuries and to heal the flu bug that's been going around," Wagner said.

WSC's first touchdown against Southwest State came on a six-yard interception return to the endzone by Marcus Rankin after the Mustangs had intercepted Ray Powers to halt a Wildcat drive inside the five-yard line.

Andy Von Dollen booted a 24-yard field goal late in the first quarter to give WSC a 10-0 lead. Lamont Rainey sat out the first three series due to disciplinary reasons but returned late in the first quarter and went on to rush for over 100 yards once again.

Rainey scored on a two-yard run early in the second quarter to give WSC a 17-0 lead and Jerry Garrett caught a 20-yard touchdown pass from Powers with just over two minutes remaining in the first half to give the host team a comfortable 24-0 lead at the intermission.

The 'Cats closed out their scoring in the third quarter on a 35-yard run by Lamart Cooper on a reverse play. All of WSC's scoring drives started in Southwest State territory with the longest being a 43-yard drive in four plays in which Cooper scored on the reverse.

Southwest State got on the board mid-way through the final stanza on a 20-yard run. The visitors had several scoring opportunities in the first half inside the WSC 20-yard line but the Wildcats defense thwarted all those attempts.

Jon Adkisson played another great game to lead the defense and was named the defensive player of the week in the State of Nebraska for NCAA-II schools. Adkisson had a dozen tackles against Southwest State including a quarterback sack, two broken up passes, a fumble recovery and two tackles behind the line of scrimmage.

Sean Francisco finished with six tackles while Jeff Lutt, Jason McIntyre and Brad Fitzke had five each. McIntyre also had a quarterback sack while Francisco, Erik Lehmann and Kevin Armstrong had fumble recoveries.

Brian Clausen, Dion Johnson and Marcus Rankin each had four tackles with Rankin also intercepting a pass.

Offensively, Rainey led the way with 106 yards on 25 carries while Ray Powers connected on 13 of 22 pass attempts with one interception for 85 yards. Jared Hendershot was 2-8 with one interception and 12 yards.

Jerry Garrett finished with five receptions for 44 yards while Byron Chamberlain notched four catches for 28 yards. The WSC coaches selected Andy Von Dollen as the special teams player of the week for the third straight week because of his field goals and extra points kicking perfection and Jon Adkisson on defense.

There was no offensive player of the week selected because Wagner

WSC'S BYRON CHAMBERLAIN was forced to play defense on this play when a Southwest State defender intercepted a Ray Powers pass.

said there was no one deserving of the award. Eighteen seniors will play their final home game on the 29th against Morehead State before WSC closes out the season on the road at Bemidji State and Peru State.

Winside spikers surprise Bancroft in championship

The Winside volleyball team captured championship honors at the Hartington Tournament, Saturday, and in the process defeated one of the top ranked teams in D-1 in Bancroft-Rosalie—also a sub-district foe.

Lisa Schroeder said her team got quality passing all day long which allowed her four strong hitters many opportunities which paid off.

The Wildcats defeated Ponca in the first round of pool play, 15-6, 15-7. Mindi Marotz led the team in serving with four aces on 10 of 12 attempts while Kristi Oberle was 6-7 with two aces.

Schroeder also credited the serving of Keri McMillian who came off the bench and was a perfect 7-7 with three aces. Emily Deck had 10 set aces and Stacy Bowers had nine while Wendy Miller led the hitters with 11 kill spikes on 13 of 17 attempts.

Sarah Painter had four kills and Tammy Thies had three. Thies also led the team in defense at the net with a pair of blocks. "We did struggle as a team in serving," Schroeder said. "That's why McMillian came in and she did a great job. Ann Brugger also came off the bench and was 3-3."

Winside's second match ended in a 15-4, 15-13 win over Wynot and the Wildcats didn't have the serving problems in this match as they were well over 90 percent.

Mindi Marotz was 12-12 with seven aces and Wendy Miller was 10-10 with two aces to lead the winners while Stacy Bowers led the setting crew with 10 aces and Emily Deck notched five.

A well-balanced offensive attack had Wendy Miller leading the way with six kill spikes on 12 of 16 attempts while Sarah Painter was 8-12 with five kills and Tammy Thies, 8-13 with five kills. Jodi Miller was 9-11 with two ace hits. Thies again led the team in blocks with three.

"Again we exhibited a quality passing game," Schroeder said. "Mindi Marotz, Kristi Oberle and Monica Sievers deserve a lot of credit for our successful hitting play because of their passing."

The championship match had Winside defeating Bancroft-Rosalie in straight games, 15-13, 15-13. Schroeder said she told her team before they took the floor they had nothing to lose because they weren't expected to win.

"We played very well," Schroeder said. "We jumped out to a quick 7-0 lead and we played the whole match relaxed which allowed us to play better."

Schroeder said she was also impressed with her squad's composure to hold off the Panthers when they closed the gap to one at 14-13. Kristi Oberle was 12-13 in serving with five aces while Stacy Bowers was 8-8 with two aces. Emily Deck notched four serving aces for the winners.

Bowers had 10 set aces to pace the setters while Deck had five. Wendy Miller was 10-11 with six kill spikes and Tammy Thies was 9-12 with six kills while Sarah Painter was 11-13 with five kills. Jodi Miller was 5-5 with three ace hits. Wendy Miller and Thies led the team in blocks with four each while Painter had two.

Winside improved to 9-6 with the three victories and will play at Hartington, Tuesday night.

Wayne gridders are shut out once again by Tekamah, 20-0

The Wayne Blue Devils football team was shut out by Tekamah-Herman last Friday night in Tekamah, 20-0 leaving Lonnie Ehrhardt's squad with a 4-3 record.

Tekamah has had Wayne's number the past three years, not allowing the Blue Devils any points while out-scoring them by a 126-0 margin.

The last Wayne team to score on the Tigers was the 1991 team that lost a 28-14 decision in Wayne. "Tekamah has a good football team," Ehrhardt said. "They just took advantage of our mistakes and they played good ball control offense."

Wayne's running game was virtually shut down by the host Tigers with 63 yards on 25 attempts while Tekamah gained 197 on 44 carries. "We seemed like we lacked emotion in this game," Ehrhardt said. "I think things will be much better this week when we play at Hartington Cedar Catholic."

The Tigers scored touchdowns in the first and second quarters but Wayne still remained in the game until the fourth quarter they broke loose on a punt return for a touchdown.

"We just kept shooting ourselves in the foot," Ehrhardt said. "We moved the ball but we just couldn't finish anything." Dusty Jensen led the Blue Devils on the ground with 57 yards on 12 carries while Ryan Pick was 10-25 in passing for 100 yards. Nick Vanhorn was the leading receiver with 30 yards on three catches.

Defensively, Dusty Jensen led the way with 14 total tackles and a partial blocked punt while Brian Fernau had 10 tackles. Josh Starzl finished with nine tackles and a blocked punt while Scott Sievers and Jason Zulkosky had eight tackles each. Nate Salmon netted seven tackles. Jason Starzl intercepted a Tekamah pass.

"Despite the loss I feel we've made tremendous improvement through out the year," Ehrhardt said. "We hope to finish out the season on a strong note."

District champs

Wayne junior cross country standout Spencer Stednitz ran his way to the district championship in David City last Thursday and will lead the Blue Devil boys into Friday's State Cross Country Meet in Kearney. At right, Winside's Melinda Mohr gets her winning time from coach Todd LaVelle at her Class D district meet in Norfolk. Mohr is one of the favorites to win the first ever Class D State Cross Country Meet.

Wakefield falls to Bloomfield for second loss

Dennis Wilbur's Wakefield football team suffered their second loss of the season last Friday in Bloomfield to the third-ranked Bees, 28-13. Wakefield's playoff hopes are still alive, however, if they can regroup and win their final two games with Emerson-Hubbard and Stanton.

"We'll still need some help from other teams," Wilbur said. "First things first, however, we have to play a good Emerson football team this Friday who's also one of our biggest rivals. Even though both teams are coming in with 5-2 records this is a game that you can throw records out the window."

Bloomfield," Wilbur said. "We can't do that and expect to beat good teams."

Cory Brown led the Trojans on the ground with 69 yards on 14 carries while Justin Dutcher was 8-15 with two interceptions and 89 yards. Todd Gilliland was the leading receiver with three catches for 49 yards.

Defensively, Brown was everywhere, notching 26 total tackles while Lance Jacobsen had 16 and Justin Macklin, 13. Ryan Hoffman was in double figures on defense with 11 tackles.

In Bloomfield, the Trojans took the lead in the second quarter when Cory Brown plunged over from one yard out. Bloomfield mounted a long drive that culminated in a six-yard touchdown run by right before the half and the Bees converted the two-point attempt to take an 8-7 lead into the half.

The host team scored two touchdowns in the third quarter on runs of 51 and three yards to take a 20-7 lead into the fourth quarter and Bloomfield put the game away with a four-yard run midway through the final quarter.

"We scored our last touchdown on the last play of the game," Wilbur said. "Justin Dutcher connected with Todd Gilliland on a 20-yard scoring pass."

The Wakefield mentor said his team played right with Bloomfield but turnovers and mental mistakes proved costly. "We had four turnovers compared to none for

WSC harriers run in Wisconsin

WAYNE-The Wayne State cross country teams took part in the Wisconsin-Parkside Invitational in Kenosha, Wisconsin last week and the 'Cats placed 12th of 24 teams in the men's competition.

"This was the biggest meet of the year," coach Brian Kavanaugh said. "Over 30 teams were represented over 230 runners in each of the men's and women's races."

James McGown shattered his old personal best by nearly a minute, finishing 26th in a time of 25:48 over the five mile course. Donny Thongdy ran a personal best of 27:29 and Chris Garvin placed third for the 'Cats in 28:11, knocking over a minute off his personal best time.

Mark Merritt, 29:09, Mark Beran, 29:55 and Chris Bye, 30:28 also competed for the Wildcats. "James McGown ran an incredible race," Kavanaugh said. "He's the first person to break the 26 minute mark for 8000 meters in WSC history."

McGown's time over the first four miles was 17 seconds better than A.D. Benson's mark—a former All-American for WSC. "As a team, we finished right about where I expected," Kavanaugh said. "We just need to fill in a few holes by next season to start placing high in major meets."

Three WSC women competed in the invite and Angie Chvala placed 56th overall with a 19:53 clocking—the first time she's broken the 20-minute barrier. Michelle Baatz was timed in 21:29 which broke her personal best by nearly 90 seconds and Charronna Chambers returned to the lineup for the first time in three weeks and ran 25:01, a personal best by over a minute.

Kathy Dalton and Valerie Schwartz did not run due to injuries. "All of the women have improved a lot this year," Kavanaugh said. The Wildcats will travel to Storm Lake, Iowa this Friday for the Buena Vista Invite.

Junior High football team closes season

WAYNE-Duane Blomenkamp's junior high football team closed out the season with a 14-0 win over Hartington Holy Trinity last week in Hartington. "The kids really went out and play hard," Blomenkamp said. "We had nearly 300 yards of total offense and really dominated the game."

Wayne's first score came on a 67-yard pass from Robbie Sturm to Jon Magnuson while Brent Tietz scored on a 41-yard run in the third quarter. The final scoring came on a safety as Magnuson tackled the Hartington quarterback in the endzone.

Josh Murtaugh led the team in rushing with 54 yards while Magnuson caught three passes from Sturm for 79 yards. Defensively, Wes Sievers led the way with seven tackles while Sturm had six. The junior high team went 1-3 while the seventh grade team alone, went 2-0.

WSC women win dual with Chadron

WAYNE-The Wayne State women's golf team defeated Chadron at Ridgeview Country Club, recently, 379-399. Kim Wittkop and Traci Pesek shared medalist honors for WSC with 89's while Kerri Goette fired a 94. Terri Dike finished with a 103 while Andrea Ebel carded a 107. April Clark also took part and scored a 109.

Winside suffers its first loss of season

The Winside football team suffered their first loss of the season last Friday in Beemer by the highly rated Bobcats, 46-18 leaving Randy Geier's squad with a 5-1 record.

"We just got beat at the line of scrimmage," Geier said. "We made some mental mistakes and it cost us. Now, our backs are against the wall and we'll have to work hard on fundamentals this week and bounce back."

Winside, clinging to playoff hopes will play its final home game on Friday when they host Wynot before heading to Vermillion, S.D. next Wednesday for a 6 p.m. contest with highly rated Newcastle in the regular season finale at the Dakota Dome.

"We haven't been behind much this year on the scoreboard," Geier said. "I think we were a little shell-shocked to get down by a couple touchdowns in the first half because it was the first time we trailed by more than six points."

Beemer scored once in the first quarter on a three-yard run and they padded that lead early in the second quarter on a 20-yard touchdown pass but the Wildcats came back and scored on a 50-yard run by Lonnie Grothe to cut the gap in half.

Beemer, however, closed out the first half with a pair of touchdowns on a 44-yard pass play and a one-yard run to take a 26-6 lead into the intermission.

The host team shut-out Winside in the third quarter while scoring on runs of 28 and 20 yards for a 38-6 lead but the Wildcats didn't give up. Robert Wittler connected with Jaimey Holdorf for a pair of fourth quarter scores from 65 and 11 yards to close the gap to 38-18 but Beemer added a late score for the final margin of 46-18.

Beemer rolled up 426 total yards compared to 210 by Winside. Lonnie Grothe gained 58 yards on the ground to lead the 'Cats while Wittler was 10-19 for 141 yards through the air. Holdorf caught seven of those completions for 141 yards.

Defensively, Winside was led by Josh Jaeger who had a remarkable game with 14 unassisted tackles and one assist for 15 total. "Josh was simply everywhere," Geier said. "He had a fantastic defensive game."

Grothe had nine tackles and a fumble recovery while Jeff Bruggeman, Jayme Shelton, Dave Paulsen and Jaimey Holdorf had six tackles each. Holdorf also nabbed a couple interceptions.

Eagles soar to 56-50 victory over Winnebago Allen wins homecoming

ALLEN'S DAVE McCorkindale breaks loose on a long run during the Eagles homecoming game with Winnebago last Friday.

It seemed more like a good basketball game between Allen and Winnebago last Friday night in Allen as the two football teams combined for 106 total points but Warren Jensen's Eagles soared to a 56-50 victory on the gridiron to give Allen a homecoming victory.

The Eagles, winners of three straight after dropping the first four on the season will look to continue their recent streak of success on Friday when they travel to play a solid Wausa team.

"Looking at the final score you wouldn't think there was very much defense," Jensen said. "However, defense is probably what won the game for us as we held them scoreless in the fourth quarter."

Allen trailed Winnebago by a 50-42 margin heading into the final period but the Eagles got a pair of touchdowns including the game winner with just over a minute to play.

"They were a big and physical football team," Jensen said. "They were tough to bring down but in the fourth quarter we switched a couple players on defense and it paid off."

Jensen said Winnebago had eight players that weighed at least 220 pounds including running back Travis Mallory who finished with 187 yards on 24 carries.

"Nobody has really stopped Winnebago all year but they've just out-scored them," Jensen said. "That's basically what we did." Allen rolled up some impressive numbers on offense including 411 rushing yards and 119 passing yards for 530 total.

Craig Philbrick was the leading rusher with 170 yards on 22 carries while Dave McCorkindale gained 136 on 15 attempts. Josh Snyder was 4-10 for 104 yards passing with Mike Blohm the leading receiver with two receptions for 50 yards while Scott Williams had two catches for 27 yards.

Defensively, Philbrick was the catalyst with 20 total tackles while McCorkindale had 17 and Snyder, 11. Jason Mitchell had an interception and Blohm had an interception and a fumble recovery. Williams also had a fumble recovery for the 3-4 Eagles.

Winnebago got on the board first on a 37-yard run but Allen answered with a 55-yard sprint to the endzone by quarterback Snyder and a 10-yard run by Philbrick—the first of his four touchdowns on the night.

Winnebago tied the game at 12 on a 39-yard run by Allen answered again when Josh Snyder hit Dave McCorkindale on a 42-yard scoring strike. Winnebago scored on seven-yard interception return and converted the two-point attempt to take a 20-18 lead into the second quarter.

Allen scored first in the second stanza on a 44-yard pass from Snyder to Mike Blohm but Winnebago took the lead at half on a three-yard run with less than a minute to go before intermission. The visitors converted the two-point attempt to lead by a 28-24 margin.

Allen scored first in the third quarter on a 12-yard run by McCorkindale but back came Winnebago with a 43-yard touchdown run and they converted the two-point attempt again for a 36-28 lead. Allen responded immediately as Philbrick rambled 30 yards and the Eagles made their two-point attempt to tie the game.

Philbrick made it an Allen victory with a 27-yard run with 1:20 left in regulation.

Winnebago regained the lead on a 12-yard run at 44-36 and Allen scored on another Philbrick, 30-yard run but the Eagles failed on the two-point attempt to still trail, 44-42. The visitors scored their final touchdown late in the third quarter on a 56-yard run and with the two-point conversion they took a 50-42 lead into the final stanza:

Aaron Thompson got into the scoring act in the fourth quarter on a 30-yard run and Snyder hit Scott Williams on the two-point conversion attempt to tie the game and

Laurel blasts Neligh by 52 to move to 7-0

The second ranked Laurel Bears blasted Neligh-Oakdale by a 52-0 margin last Friday in Neligh leaving Tom Luxford's Bears with a 7-0 record.

Junior running back Jeff Wattier set the tone for the game on the opening kickoff when he rambled 85 yards to paydirt—his fourth touchdown on special teams play this season.

Wattier went on to have a career night as he etched his name in the Laurel record books with six touchdowns. In fact, Wattier scored the first six touchdowns of the game for the winners.

"Jeff really set the tone for the game with the opening kickoff," Luxford said. "We had a lot of kids sick with the flu last week and we had some injuries from the Bloomfield game but we still managed to play very well."

Wattier's second score came on an eight-yard run in the first quarter and his third came on a 12-yard pass from Tyler Erwin in the second quarter. Wattier closed out the first half scoring with a six-yard run for a 26-0 Bears lead at the break.

His pair of third quarter touchdowns came on a 32-yard run and a 27-yard pass from Erwin and the Bears final two scores came on a 65-yard punt return by Cody Carstensen and a six-yard run by Jim Dickey.

"I was pleased with our balanced attack," Luxford said. "We had 24 rushes for 208 yards and passed 21 times for 209 yards." Wattier led the Bears with 79 yards on just six carries while Vince Ward gained 52 yards on four attempts. Carstensen finished with 30 yards on five carries.

Tyler Erwin was 15-20 for 188 yards through the air and Jeremy Reinoehl was 1-1 for 21 yards. Jared Reinoehl caught six passes for 84 yards and Jeremy Reinoehl caught six passes for 45 yards to lead the receiving corp.

Defensively, Jason Stewart came off the bench to start for the injured Todd Arens and he finished with 13 tackles while Jeremy Reinoehl had seven tackles and fumble recovery. Kody Urwiler had six tackles and Travis Stingley finished with five. Wattier also recovered a fumble.

Laurel will play its final regular season home game on Friday when they host Plainview who will come in with a must-win attitude to keep its playoff hopes alive.

Class shingling

Wayne High's Jeremy Beckenhauer and Josh Swanson put the finishing touches on re-shingling the Jake Munter residence in rural Wayne. Seven Wayne students completed this project as part of the high school vocational building construction class. "We try and do about three projects a year," instructor Dave Hix said. "It gives the kids real hands on experience in the trades area." Hix said anyone wishing to have the high school help them with a project to get a hold of him at the high school. The next project lined up for the building construction class is assembling and installing playground equipment at District 57. Jon Pick, Brian Heinemann, Lucas Thompson, Scott Sievers and Matt Niemann are also in the class.

Toys for Tots set to begin

It is time once again for the annual Toys for Tots campaign sponsored by Goldenrod Hills Community Services. This program serves children 16 and under so that they may have a present on Christmas morning.

Goldenrod Hills is asking for adherence to strict income guidelines. Interested parents/guardians must contact their local outreach office to request an application. Applications are to be returned to Goldenrod Hills by Nov. 1. Household income will be verified.

This program is not intended to supplement the presents that parents/guardians already have for their children but is to give to those who would have nothing for Christmas.

For more information, please contact Goldenrod Hills Community Services, Lynette Risor, Family Service Coordinator for Burt, Cuming, Stanton and Wayne counties at 529-3573.

During the conference, held Oct. 1-4, 51 of the nation's top principals met with key members of the Department of Education to discuss the impact of federal programs on local schools. Zeiss will be a candidate for the 1995 National Principal of the Year, sponsored by MetLife and the National Association of Secondary School Principals. The National Principal of the Year will be announced in January.

Resource group plans work

The Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation and Development Council held its regular monthly meeting on Monday, Sept. 26. The three-year plan of work was reviewed and approved. It outlines various projects the Council will focus on during that time.

This year's partners for the wildflower project are the Highway 20 Association, the Nebraska Wildflower Society, Department of Roads, Loess Hills RC&D, North Central RC&D and the Panhandle RC&D. Maps showing wildflower sites all across Nebraska will be included in the Highway 20 booklet with the colored brochure. A tourism grant will fund the project.

The knapweed awareness meeting held Sept. 9 was attended by 60 people. Identification, control and economics relating to spotted and diffuse knapweed were discussed. The display was shown at four county fairs, the annual leafy spurge meeting, the Osmond Expo and Husker Harvest Days. Brochures, postcards and a video about knapweeds are available at the RC&D office.

"Do You Know What You're Drinking? Is Your Water Safe?" is the title of the water quality video. It tells the proper steps for taking a water sample and gives possible causes of nitrate and bacteria contamination. Council members will be offering the video free to each community within the RC&D. It will also be for sale.

A Grant Writing workshop will be held Oct. 5 and 6. Marcia

Roofers show pride

The Big Farmer had a birthday today (Sept. 28), just 10 days after our anniversary. (He wanted to be married before he turned thirty.) It's a tradition at our house that the birthday person chooses the menu. Why was I not surprised that it was meat loaf, mashed potatoes and corn? I threw in a banana cream pie, just for good measure.

Anyway, he had told the kids that all he wanted was the old garage re-roofed, and he would supply the roofing material. So, on Saturday, they congregated here. The guys crowded on the garage, the gals went shopping at the Gretna outlet mall, and the grandkids took naps. Grandma cooked. Isn't that what Grandmas do?

There are several new roofs on Church Road. The parsonage near the church to the west sports a sign that says its new roof was done by "Bob's Construction."

There is a new log home just half a mile away. Its roof was done by Home Pride Roofing. I guess I'll have to put up a sign that says "Home Grown Roofers."

Actually, it isn't quite finished. Three of the four sides are done. Monte made a gallant effort on Sunday, but had to come in at 8:45 p.m. Maybe next weekend, if it doesn't rain.

Almost 50 years ago, my Sunday school teacher put the names and birthdates of her class in a Sunday school newspaper published by our denominational office. I received letters from three people with birthdates on the same day as mine. I still write to one.

Her name is Marilyn and she lives in Chicago. She spent two weeks with us the summer after she graduated, riding the train to Lincoln; and I took the train to Chicago two years later to sing for her wedding.

Sue had a three-day seminar in the windy city two weeks ago, got plane tickets two for the price of one, and I went along for the ride. I swam in the motel pool, ate out, shopped and read two books.

Plus, Marilyn and I "caught up." She took us up Lake Shore Drive, and down the Miracle Mile. We ate Chicago-style pizza at Pizzeria Deu and checked out Michael Jordan's new restaurant.

We also experienced Chicago traffic at 5 p.m. on Friday, spent $50 on a cab to O'Hare and missed our 7 p.m. flight. We made the 10 o'clock, though, and got home safe and sound. A nice break. One hour air time, but all the time and trouble getting in and out of airports!

LEGAL NOTICE OF MEASURES TO BE VOTED UPON NOVEMBER 8, 1994 BALLOT TITLES AND TEXT OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

PROPOSED BY THE NINETY-THIRD LEGISLATURE SECOND SESSION, 1994

Also Included are Statements of Explanation In Italics Prepared By The Executive Board of the Legislative Council

PROPOSED BY THE 1994 LEGISLATURE Proposed Amendment No. 1

A vote FOR this proposal would add a provision authorizing the Legislature to provide for the enforcement of mediation, binding arbitration agreements, and other forms of dispute resolution voluntarily entered into, and which are not revocable other than upon such grounds as exist at law or in equity for the revocation of any contract.

A vote AGAINST this proposal would not add the new language referred to above authorizing the Legislature to enforce other forms of dispute resolution, including binding arbitration agreements voluntarily entered into.

"A constitutional amendment to authorize the Legislature to provide for enforcement of mediation, binding arbitration agreements, and other forms of dispute resolution.

TEXT OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the members of the Ninety-Third Legislature of Nebraska, second session:

Section 1. That at the general election in November 1994 there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska to amend Article I, section 13:

1-13 "All courts shall be open and every person, for any injury done him or her in his or her lands, goods, person, or reputation, shall have a remedy by due course of law, and justice administered without denial or delay, except that the Legislature may provide for the enforcement of mediation, binding arbitration agreements, and other forms of dispute resolution which are entered into voluntarily and which are not revocable other than upon such grounds as exist at law or in equity for the revocation of any contract."

PROPOSED BY THE 1994 LEGISLATURE Proposed Amendment No. 2

A vote FOR this proposal will provide for the creation of the Tax Equalization and Review Commission by January 1, 1996, the members of which would be appointed by the Governor as determined by the Legislature, and whose term of office and compensation would also be determined by law. This commission would have jurisdiction over disputes regarding the state's revenue laws as provided by law, would have the power to review and equalize assessments of property for taxation, plus such other duties as the Legislature may provide for. Thus, a vote for this proposal would result in the elimination of the equalization powers now possessed by the Governor, Tax Commissioner, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, and State Treasurer. Also, this proposal would abolish the reference in the constitution to the office of Tax Commissioner.

A vote AGAINST this proposal would result in the Tax Equalization and Review Commission not being created, would continue reference in the constitution to the office of Tax Commissioner with jurisdiction over the administration of the state's revenue laws, and would continue the equalization powers presently possessed by the Governor, Tax Commissioner, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, and State Treasurer.

"A constitutional amendment to establish and provide powers and duties for the Tax Equalization and Review Commission and to eliminate the equalization powers of the Tax Commissioner, Governor, Secretary of State, State Auditor, and State Treasurer.

Section 1. That at the general election in November 1994 there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska to amend Article IV, section 28:

IV-28 "By January 1, 1996, there shall be a Tax Equalization and Review Commission. The members of the commission, a Tax Commissioner shall be appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. He or she shall have jurisdiction over the administration of disputes regarding the revenue laws of the state as provided by law, and together with the Governor, Secretary of State, State Auditor and State Treasurer, the commission shall have power to review and equalize assessments of property for taxation within the state. He or she shall have such other powers and perform such other duties as the Legislature may provide. His or her term of office and compensation of the members of the commission shall be as provided by law."

PROPOSED BY THE 1994 LEGISLATURE Proposed Amendment No. 3

A vote FOR this proposal will add a new section to the Bill of Rights of the state constitution detailing certain rights to be possessed by the victims of crime or their representatives or guardians, as defined by law, to include: (1) being informed of all criminal court proceedings; (2) the right to be present at the trial unless the court determines that the victim should not be in attendance if necessary for a fair trial for the defendant(s); and (3) to be informed of, be present at, and make an oral or written statement at sentencing, parole, pardon, commutation, and conditional release proceedings. In addition, it will be provided that these rights shall not be construed so as to deny or impair the enforcement of others provided by law or retained by crime victims; that the Legislature shall provide by law for the implementation of the rights detailed above; that there shall be no remedies other than as specifically provided by the Legislature for the enforcement of these rights; and that nothing in this new section shall be a basis for error in favor of a defendant in any criminal proceeding, or be the basis for providing standing to participate as a party to any criminal proceeding, or be a basis to contest the disposition of any charge.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will result in not adding to the Bill of Rights of the state constitution a new section detailing rights to be possessed by the victims of crime, their implementation by the Legislature, and the remedies to be provided.

"A constitutional amendment to prescribe that crime victims shall have certain rights. A crime victim or his or her guardian or representative would have the right to be informed of all criminal court proceedings, the right to be present at trial unless the trial court finds that keeping the victim out is necessary for a fair trial for the defendant, and the right to be informed of, be present at, and make an oral or written statement at sentencing, parole, pardon, commutation, and conditional release proceedings. The Legislature would be required to pass laws for implementation of such rights. There would be no remedies other than as specifically provided by the Legislature for the enforcement of such rights.

TEXT OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the members of the Ninety-Third Legislature of Nebraska, second session:

Section 1. That at the general election in November 1994 there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska to amend Article III, section 24:

III-24 "(1) Except as provided in this section, the Legislature shall not authorize any game of chance or any lottery or gift enterprise when the consideration for a chance to participate involves the payment of money for the purchase of property, services, or a chance or admission ticket or requires an expenditure of substantial effort or time.

(2) The Legislature may authorize and regulate a state lottery pursuant to subsection (3) of this section and other lotteries, raffles, and gift enterprises which are intended solely as business promotions or the proceeds of which are to be used solely for charitable or community betterment purposes, without profit to the promoter of such lotteries, raffles, or gift enterprises.

(3) The Legislature may establish a lottery to be operated and regulated by the State of Nebraska. The proceeds of the lottery shall be appropriated by the Legislature for the costs of establishing and maintaining the lottery and for other purposes as directed by the Legislature. No lottery game shall be conducted as part of the lottery unless the type of game has been approved by a majority of the members of the Legislature.

(4) Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit (a) the enactment of laws providing for the licensing and regulation of wagering on the results of horse races, wherever run, either within or outside of the state, by the parimutuel method, when such wagering is conducted by licensees within a licensed racetrack enclosure at such locations and by such means as are authorized by the Legislature; or (b) the enactment of laws providing for the licensing and regulation of bingo games conducted by nonprofit associations which have been in existence for a period of five years immediately preceding the application for license, except that bingo games cannot be conducted by agents or lessees of such associations on a percentage basis."

PROPOSED BY THE 1994 LEGISLATURE Proposed Amendment No. 5

A vote FOR this proposal will provide that all bills and resolutions, and the amendments thereto, shall be read in their entirety when presented for final passage unless 3/5 of the members of the Legislature vote to dispense with the reading of particular bills, resolutions, and the amendments thereto in their entirety.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will continue the present provision requiring that all bills and resolutions, and the amendments thereto, be read in their entirety when presented for final passage.

"A constitutional amendment to authorize the Legislature to vote upon final passage of a bill when the bill and all amendments thereto are printed, presented, and read at large unless reading at large is waived by three-fifths vote of the members elected to the Legislature.

This limitation on the number of terms shall apply to terms of office beginning on or after January 1, 1995. For purposes of this Section, terms are considered consecutive unless they are at least four years apart.

ELECTION PREVIEW

EDITOR'S NOTE
Nebraskans will be voting on six issues when they go to the General Election polls on November 8. So that voters can better understand this important proposed change to the state Constitution, the Nebraska Press Association in cooperation with this newspaper has prepared a report on this issue. This report briefly defines it, explaining its purpose and finally stating the arguments for and against. This is the first report in the series.

Dispute Resolution

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT 1: Approval of this amendment would allow legal disputes to be resolved by mediators, binding arbitration or other forms of dispute resolution without going to court.

SUPPORT: This will allow citizens to resolve disputes quicker and less expensively, and avoid clogging up courts. Nebraska is one of only a couple of states that doesn't legally recognize mediation and other kinds of dispute resolution.

OPPOSITION: The ballot language doesn't spell out what rights people are giving up. Average folks could sign away their rights to a jury trial or appeals for disputes over insurance, sales and other contracts without knowing it. It won't be cheaper.

State Board of Equalization

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT 2: Passage of this will eliminate the State Board of Equalization and replace it with a Tax Equalization and Review Commission to review and equalize property tax assessments and hear legal disputes over state revenue laws.

SUPPORT: The Board of Equalization, which consists of the governor, secretary of state and other elected officials, is too influenced by political pressure. Tax issues are too complex for part-time attention by busy representatives. Such a commission would free up courts from dealing with many tax cases.

OPPOSITION: Accountability will be lost if tax decisions are shifted to a committee appointed by the governor. Elected officials are more responsive to public desires.

CITY OF WAYNE ORDINANCE NO. 94-29

AN ORDINANCE TO DIRECT THE SALE OF THE VACATED PORTION OF NORTH PEARL STREET LYING NORTH OF WEST 13TH STREET, COLLEGE HILL ADDITION TO WAYNE, WAYNE COUNTY, NEBRASKA.

Section 1. The Mayor and City Council are directed to convey by quitclaim deed to Cahart Lumber Company the property owned by the City and legally described as: North Pearl Street lying north of West 13th Street being 80-foot wide and 180-foot long abutting on Block 5 and Block 6, College Hill Addition to Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska subject to the City of Wayne retaining an easement for utilities over and under the property, for the sum of $8,500.00 cash and other valuable consideration.

Section 2. Notice of the sale and the terms contained in Section 1 shall be published for three consecutive weeks in the Wayne Herald, provided that if a remonstrance against said sale signed by legal electors thereof equal in number to 30% of the electors of the City voting at the last regular municipal election held therein, be filed with the governing body within 30 days of the passage and publication of this ordinance, said property shall not then, nor within one year thereafter, be sold.

Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage, approval, and publication according to law.

Fall is time for weeding

Now is the best time to control many bothersome perennial weeds.

John McNamara, University of Nebraska-Lincoln agronomy assistant, said properly-timed chemical treatment in the fall can be very effective against hemp dogbane, leafy spurge, musk thistle and several other perennial weeds.

Herbicides used for perennial weeds are more effective in the fall because plants are preparing for winter, McNamara wrote in the latest issue of "Crop Watch," an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources newsletter. Before plants become dormant for the winter, they moved, or translocate, nutrients from summer's top growth into their root systems. If herbicides are applied at the right time, they will be carried along with nutrients into the root systems, where they are most damaging to plants, McNamara said.

Most perennial weeds, including hemp dogbane, leafy spurge, Canada thistle, Russian knapweed, field bindweed and many others, should be treated from September through mid-October when they are in the bud stage, McNamara said. Hemp dogbane is the only variety that must be treated before the first frost, which ends its active growth period. Other perennial weeds will keep growing after the first frost. In fact, for most perennial weeds, a light freeze often makes herbicide treatment more effective because the rate of translocation is increased, he said.

The musk thistle, which is actually a biennial or winter annual, needs to be treated slightly later — after Oct. 1. If possible, thistles should be treated when they are still growing, before the first hard freeze, McNamara said. A hard freeze occurs when temperatures drop to 28 degrees or lower for at least four hours, he explained.

A variety of herbicides can be used for perennial weeds. Advice on what herbicides to use and how to use them is available from local extension educators, McNamara said.

Fall treatment is the most effective against perennial weeds, but a good weed control program also should include spring treatments as well, McNamara said. With multiple, correctly-timed treatments, even tough weeds such as musk thistles and leafy spurge can be controlled, he said.

Farm Credit Services meetings pick directors

In a recent series of local annual meetings, customers of Farm Credit Services voted to select their Association Directors and Regional Board members, including several area producers.

Farm Credit Services is a cooperatively-owned agricultural lender providing credit and financial services through local Production Credit Association (PCA) and Federal Land Credit Association (FLCA) offices. Because Farm Credit Services is a cooperative, customers are also stockholders and each year they meet to select other stockholders to represent them as Association Directors and on the PCA and FLCA Regional Boards.

This year's Regional Board members elected by local stockholders include John Kaufman of Newman Grove and Joe Molack of Howells to the FLCA Board, and Jack Todd of Brunswick and Don Kaiser of Spaulding to the PCA Board.

In addition, all amendments to the bylaws of the Associations were approved by the stockholders.

Meetings on pesticides include Norfolk session

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture is hosting a series of informational meetings on pesticide regulations. These meetings will include information regarding Nebraska's new requirements for pesticide certification and record keeping. In addition, there will be informational updates on pesticide enforcement in Nebraska, the Worker Protection Standard and the Endangered Species Program.

Along with Department of Agriculture staff, representatives from the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the Nebraska

Department of Environmental Quality will also participate in the meetings. EPA and DEQ officials will present talks on groundwater protection and secondary containment requirements, respectively.

These informational meetings are intended for business managers, consultants, educators, agriculturalists and other professionals who work with, or have an interest in, pesticides or pesticide regulations. The local meeting is scheduled for Oct. 27 from 9 a.m. to noon at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

These meetings will be an excellent opportunity to obtain the latest regulatory information available from two state agencies and one federal agency. The meetings will also allow time for questions concerning many current regulatory issues. No reservations are required, nor is there any fee.

Farm equipment guide is available at Wayne Library

The 1994 Hot Line Farm Equipment Guide is now available on reference at the Wayne Public Library. This guide contains serial numbers, specifications and prices for tractors, combines, corn and bean heads and all other farm implements by all manufacturers. Ask for help at the desk.

The Wayne Public Library is open daily. The hours are Monday-Friday, 12:30 to 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m.; and Sunday, 2-5 p.m.

Nominations are sought for area ACSC elections

Farmers are asked to nominate candidates from LAA 2 which includes the precincts of Hunter, Logan, Brenna, Plum Creek and Leslie by Oct. 31. Nomination petitions will not be mailed to everyone this year. Only individuals requesting a nomination petition from our office will receive one.

Farmers may circulate or sign nominating petitions for as many candidates as they choose. However, in order for the petition to be valid, petitions must be limited to one nominee each, must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected, must be signed by at least three eligible farm voters in the ASC community and must be received in the county ASCS office by the Oct. 31 deadline.

The nominees will be placed on a ballot for the ASC community committee election that will be conducted from Nov. 25 through Dec. 5.

Do your part, nominate and then vote.

ASCs elections are open to all farmers regardless of race, color, sex, age, disability, religion, marital status or national origin whether owner, landlord, tenant or shareholder.

Which species really up as endangered?

Dr. William Hazeltine of Oroville, Calif., may be on to something. He's filed a petition with the U.S. Department of the Interior to list the Old Order Amish and Mennonites as endangered, under the federal Endangered Species Act. Secretary of the Interior Bruce Babbitt has until sometime in November to decide if Hazeltine's petition has any merit.

Farmers and ranchers have been saying for years that they are the species endangered by the restrictions of the Endangered Species Act. The act limits what they can do with their land and how they can use it to produce income. With these limitations, they're in danger of being forced out of farming and into something else.

Out in California -- of course -- Hazeltine is an environmental consultant, who believes the law should be applied consistently. He explains, "The Endangered Species Act seems to cover humans because they are mammals and the Act clearly covers all mammals without limitation."

The Endangered Species Act allows the listing of any identifiable population of mammals, and the Amish and Mennonites seem to qualify. In place of genetic isolation, these groups are isolated by customs and culture.

Hmmmm. Farmers and ranchers are mammals. There are many fewer now than in 1900. And they are isolated by virtue of distance from town and the unique way they make their living.

Once listed, all agencies of the federal government would be obliged to do everything necessary to assure the survival of the listed population or species.

Midland View

By Cheryl Stubbendieck

Nebraska Farm Bureau

Hmmmm again. Now there's a fantasy: the U.S. government actively working to keep farmers farming. Visions of free markets, 100 percent health insurance tax deductions for the self-employed, and greater respect for private property rights dance in my head. Not to mention TV documentaries about the interesting habits of farmers (seed corn caps, pick-ups, that sort of thing) and telemarketers calling at suppertime to raise funds to save the dwindling population of farmers.

The endangered species law also would protect endangered populations from harassment or other forms of outside interference.

I see an end to endless government paperwork. No more federal and state agency runaround when a farmer protests a wetlands determination. No more federal regulations specifying how far (or near) bathrooms must be to farm fields when non-family members are employed.

Oh, it's a wonderful dream, and I thank Hazeltine for it. But the best thing the federal Endangered Species Act could do for farmers is to not apply to them. They'd much rather be free to farm responsibly, guided by their inherent stewardship ethic, than be endangered by a law whose purpose is supposed to be preservation.

New emission standards may raise farm fuel

New emission standards for off-highway diesels could lead to slight price increases on some farm and construction equipment, according to Robert Grisso, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln engineer.

The new emissions standards adopted by the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency regulate all new off-road compression ignition (CI) engines of 50 horsepower or more, Grisso explained. Those types of engines are used in large, heavy-duty farm and construction equipment like tractors, irrigation systems, combines, and so on. The vast majority of CI engines run on diesel, but the new standards apply regardless of the type of fuel used, he said.

The new standards regulate the nitrogen oxide emissions and smoke of all CI engines of 50 to 175 horsepower. Engines of 175 horsepower and above also are regulated for hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide and particulate matter. Grisso said the regulations were designed to be compatible with California and European standards.

The total national average annual cost of the new standards is estimated at $55 million. Some of that cost will be passed on to consumers. However, the overall impact on individual consumers shouldn't be too overwhelming, Grisso said.

"I don't think we'll see a large increase, in my opinion. Maybe $500 to $1000 on a 150 horsepower tractor," the engineer said.

To ensure that durable emission systems are constructed, the EPA is requiring manufacturers to warranty all emission-related components for 5 years or 3,000 usage hours from the date of purchase. During the warranty period, the manufacturer is liable for all costs of repairs and replacements of the emission-related components. The EPA also will have the authority to recall engine classes that don't meet emission standards during a 7-year/6,000 usage hour testing program.

The EPA plans on introducing the standards for each engine size at staggered intervals. Regulations on 175 to 750 horsepower engines are set to go into effect on Jan. 1, 1996. Regulations covering engines with 100-175 horsepower and 50-100 horsepower will follow later, on Jan. 1, 1997 and Jan. 1, 1998, respectively.

Although all of the dates are tentative, Grisso said he expects the first set of standards to go into effect basically on schedule in early 1996. Consumers probably can expect the first price hikes caused by the new standards to show up then too, he said.

There also will be new standards for small spark-ignited engines under 25 horsepower (most often used in lawn and garden equipment). The target date for implementing those regulations is August of 1996, the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources engineer concluded.
